Dr. Alfred C. Redfield, senior oceanographer emeritus of Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution, who was originally scheduled to lecture on March 7, is unable to do so due to ill health. The fourth lecture of the 1960-1961 Lecture Series will be given by Dr. George Kent, Chairman of the Zoology Department at Louisiana State University, on Wednesday, April 19. The final lecture of the Series will be given on Thursday, May 4, by William L. Shirer, noted author and radio commentator. All lectures are open to the public without charge.

Donna Moros To Present Recital Friday

The Maryville College Division of Fine Arts will present Donna Laubach Moros, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Laubach of East Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania, in her Senior Voice Recital, Friday evening, March 10, at 8:00 p.m. in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center.

Mrs. Moros, a senior voice major, has been a member of the Maryville College Choir for four years, and a soloist in the annual presentation of Handel's MESSIAH for three years. She has been a member of Madrigal Singers and appeared in several Opera Workshop productions. At present Mrs. Moros is president of Student Volunteers.

Her program will include numberr by Vivaldi, Purcell, Bach, Wolf, Chausson and Villa-Lobos. Marguerite Gilly will be accompanist.

Kennedy's Recital To Be March 23

Miss Karen Kennedy from Tarentum, Pennsylvania, will be presented in her senior piano recital on Thursday, March 23, at 8:00 P.M. in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center.

Her program will include French Suite No. 6 in E Major by Bach, Second Piano Sonata by Paul Hindemith, and The Carnival Jest from Vienna, Op. 26 by Robert Schumann.

There will be a reception following the recital in the lobby of the Fine Arts Center. The public is invited.

Coming Next Issue

GORT

1961 SKIT NIGHT TO BE MARCH 11

Skit Night, 1961 will be held on Saturday evening, March 11, at 7:30, in the Alumni Gym, with the four societies competing for honors. The chairmen for the societies are Carl McDonald, Kappa Phi; Webb Spraetz, Alpha Sigma; Connie Beagle, Chi Beta; Lynn Waddington and Sue Lemme, Theta Epsilon. The master of ceremonies for the evening will be Charlie Vaughan.

Judging the competition will be Miss Kathleen Craven, Associate Professor of Drama and Speech, Mr. Arthur S. Bushing, Dean of Men and Associate Professor of English, and Mr. Ed Best, Alcoa official. Theta Epsilon has won first place in Skit Night for the past two years.

Meeting To Be Held March 2-4

The Tennessee Philological Association will hold its fifty-sixth annual meeting March 2-4 at Austin Peay State College at Clarksville, Tennessee. Those who are attending from Maryville College are Dean Arthur Bushing, Miss Jessie Johnson, Miss Jessie Heron, Mr. James Schwam, and Miss Catherine Wilkinson.

There will be two sessions on Frday and one on Saturday for the reading of papers and discussion. Friday evening the annual association dinner will be held at the Hotel Montgomery and will include a musical program by the Music Department of the Austin Peay State College.

FILM SERIES

Tonight, the Maryville Playhouse Film Series will present High Noon featuring Grace Kelly and Gary Cooper. The film, which is distinguished as being considered the best western film ever produced, will be shown in the theater at 8:00 p.m. Admission is 35c per person.

Three Sophomores Do Honor Works

This semester a new honors program for sophomores has been inaugurated into the curriculum of Maryville College.

Three sophomores are now engaged in this program. They are Bill Ward, a biology major from Philadelphia who will be working with German 202; Pat Crossley, an English major from Washington, D. C., will be doing her independent study in philosophy 218; and Mike Garrett, an English major from Monett, Missouri, who will be working with sociology 201.

Each student has his choice in the form of the actual work within the reading, writing, experimentation or any combination of these as long as academically approved by the teacher of the chosen course and by the college.

Recommended to the faculty by the Committee on Independent Study of which Dr. Hunter is chairman, this sophomore honors program will in no way change the Independent Study Program required of all Maryville students in their junior and senior year.

Area To Hold Annual MC Day On Tuesday

On the second annual Maryville College Day, which will be Tuesday, March 7, eighty-six people from this community will sollicite gifts for the Maryville College Annual Fund. One-hundred ten dollars is currently needed to pay for the educational costs that are not covered by student fees and endowments.

Beginning the day with breakfast in Pearsons Hall at 8:30 a.m., the group will visit churches, business firms, and individuals in the college community. Earl Blazer, a local MC alumnus and member of the Board of Directors, is chairman of this project.

The significance of the program was stated by Raymond Brahams, Jr., Director of Development, to be that the people of Maryville are willing to work for and support MC students, who come from everywhere.

Fourth Exchange With Knox College Proves Successful

The fourth in a series of seven exchange weekends with Knoxville College was carried out with success on February 17-19. Six Maryville students, all women, took part in activities at KC, while their roommates acted as hostesses to the seven women who visited at Maryville. One man from KC took part in this exchange.

The exchange program was set up last year, by students, to meet the need for a constructive communication between the two Presbyterian schools. A committee on each campus operates under the leadership of a president who arranges details of each exchange, a corresponding secretary who keeps track of activities on the other campus, and a faculty sponsor for guidance. Members of each committee are chosen through the spontaneous interest of volunteers. Among the anticipated advantages of the program are maturing values and greater understanding for the participants, allowed by the informal atmosphere and consequent freedom in exchange of ideas and friendly relationships.

The next exchange weekend will be March 17-19, followed by another during spring vacation in April and a final one in May. Special arrangements are being made between the schools for the spring vacation periods. Any interested students who are not yet working with program may give their names to Brenda Hewitt or Gary Smith.

VESPERS

Vespers for March 5 will be led by Dr. E. Faye Campbell, recently appointed as the College Chaplain. On the following Sunday evening, March 12, the Reverend Houston R. Payton, Field Director of Christian Education for the Synod of the Mid-South, will be guest speaker.

Editorially Speaking

Propaganda

An American propaganda film entitled "Operation Abolition" is currently being shown in this area. The film deals with the supposedly Communist instigated student demonstrations in San Francisco protesting the hearings of the House UnAmerican Activities Committee. The film is presented as true; the commentator says so repeatedly. However, the chief H.U.A.C. investigator, William Wheeler, has publicly admitted that the film does have inaccuracies and distortations.

The public leaves the film clicking their tongues over the Communist infested youth and giving no thought to the validity of the committee itself. Those who dare to protest the distortions, those who dare present the rest of the facts are Communists, of course. Their phones ring incessantly asking for Nikita and their jobs are in jeopardy. This is exactly what happened at the University of Tennessee last week when two Presbyterian ministers passed out such information prior to campus showings.

America is strong because our ideals are high. We offer the world freedom -- freedom of speech, press, and religion. Our fear of Communism can overcome our ideals of freedom. What then would be our reason for being?

Purloined Periodicals

Periodicals have been disappearing from the library browsing alcove at an alarming rate. Students assigned to read late publications in their field of study often are unable to find the issue they need. Someone evidentally didn't have time to check it out as they rushed to the student center. They meant to bring it back in the morning but then someone borrowed it from their desk. One person, perhaps two got the information and the rest of the class was unable to find the material.

A library is a large part of the academic wealth of a college or university. Maryville College has one of the best college libraries in the South. Our periodical collection includes 402 different publications. It is extremely difficult to replace a lost issue, and the procedure takes several months.

Stealing a periodical is not an injury to the library itself but the entire college, faculty and students. Such thefts can be controlled by placing a monitor at every door to check all books as the students leave or by closing the stacks completely to students. In case of the latter arrangement students would not be able to browse or to get their own books. This is the policy in many libraries.

We have excellent library resources here. We enjoy a great deal of freedom in the use of these resources. Let us accept the responsibility for these privileges.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Vol. 46, No. 10 March 4, 1961

Member of University Press Service

Published bi-weekly during the year by the students of Maryville College

Editorial Staff

Editor ..... Phyllis Stine
News Editors ..... Pat Baker
Helen Anne Easterly
Feature Editor ..... Carolyn Siera
Copy Editor ..... Lynn Herring
Exchange editor ..... Anitra Bard
Sports Editors ..... Kathy Eisenhart
George Roselli
Contributors this issue ..... Patti Paul, Pat Crossley, June Wilson, Ellen Dozier, Carol Wood, Keen Compher, Will Skelton, Andy Hayden
Typists ..... Jean Keller, Gloria Schwam

Business Staff

Business Manager ..... Mike Garrett
Business Assistant ..... Phyllis Deloteus
Circulation Manager ..... Jon Sypher
Faculty Advisors ..... Miss Carolyn Blair, Mr. Frank Layman

Subscription Rate $1.00 Per Semester

Byrons Graphic Arts — Printers

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the Act of Congress of March 8, 1870.

All letters to the editor must be signed, limited to 300 words, and submitted to a staff member by the Saturday prior to tne regular date of publication.

"Abolition" Film Controversial

(UPS) "Operation Abolition" — the widely syndicated Un-American Activities Committee film which claims that the students have been "duped" by Communists—continues to be highly controversial on the campus.

Latest school to react is the University of Wisconsin, which saw the film several months ago. The University's Young Democrats have launched a state-aide drive among YD groups to condemn both the film and the Committee.

Fifty members of Wisconsin's Young Republican Club disagreed with their Democratic counterparts and approved, by acclimation, a resolution supporting the Committee. The Republicans pointed out three areas in which the Committee had made contributions "pertinent to legislation."

The University of Washington's Board of Control voted 10-7-1 to condemn the anonymously-produced film as being a distortion of the facts. Students at Moravian College censured the film last week after viewing it on campus for the first time.

Continental Cursive

Dear Mom,

Just a short letter to let you know that the beady-eyed little creature you see peering out from under the blue books and note cards is your own daughter. In fact, I even came out for a breath the other day.

And while I was out, I made a marvelous discovery! All this news lately, about Russia and Venus, has begun a new—for some of us at least—chain of thought. Like—maybe Man was on Mars, the now quite dead planet, and he got so civilized he couldn't exist there any more, and by some means transported himself to Earth.

Because there'd been no human life here before, these people who first arrived had to begin as savages. And so we have developed once more into a too highly civilized structure—war is inevitable and we'll all be blown to bits. Within my generation, at least! So now Russia is trying to get to Venus, where we know there is life of some sort, and establish man there.

So What?!? Well, if we have to believe this, and I don't—I have more hope than that—why then we had better get busy. We young bloods, with all our vigor and desire to "do something," must get all people in such a condition that when whoever goes to Venus gets there, they won't have to make such a mess of things as we have of Earth.

I have begun, Mom; I have signed my name to the list of those willing to save the world! My full name, Sue de Num, appears high on the list of the SFPCEW (Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Earth Worms). Daily I devote much time to the major operation of avoiding these little serpents, and encouraging my fellow man to act in a like manner. One time I even rescued a particularly squashed and writhing little fellow, and removed him to the comforting arms of Mother Earth.

No time for more, another brainwashing tomorrow. Lots of love from your book worm kid.

OPEN LETTER TO LOUIS EVANS

Maryville College
March 4, 1961

Dear Dr. Evans,

It is with a good deal of inability and kind of uncertainty that this letter is undertaken, for it's just the least bit tempting to do two things: to ask you a few collegian-type questions, and to make this appealing enough to cater to everyone. The first would be irrelevant and the second stupid: Maryville is just beginning to reconcile itself to a return to the chapel schedule. We have, however, become perhaps more tolerant of our own college situation, while at the same time developing sensitivity to a much-needed constructive dissatisfaction with personal areas of our institutional lives.

Like a well known seed packet of Biblical fame, the words you spoke to us fell on a thousand minds in as many ways. But every last one of us reacted somehow; we were unaccustomed to such simple statement of truth with the "take it or leave it" follow-up. If we can say that challenging is not pushbuttoning a mass into automatic action, but forcing individuals to make personal choices—then we have been challenged.

Many have said that MC was "ready" for the February Meetings, and thus the gaping pit of their indifference was partly filled. There are others who hold that your presentation style was the striking factor of the meetings: some feel that it was ineffectual or even detrimental, and most others looked on it as the spur to goad us out of complacency. There will be the pure cynics of us, whose lack of ambition will prevent us from plumbing depths more profound than ourselves, anytime; and some of us, the "open mind"--to use your garbage dump metaphor--who have only been tossed on the high waves of togetherness and a self-imposed "February spirit," and will just as quickly be left high and dry when the tide goes out. 95 percent of us, though, are in the third middle-of-the-road category, the two aspects of which are alike: the honest searchers and the honest doubters. But, being constantly turned, these are the most fertile grounds on which that seed could have fallen.

Whatever the reasons for our individual attitudes, your visit had an effect, for once in MC's life—you uncovered furtive somethings that have been latent a long time. For the first time in years, the entire student body has been moved to a point where they must accept or reject, and has been left with the charge of its own decision: there's no more room for indifference, because the future of our lives, the college—and more important, the world—is at stake. The point is, sir, that you were one of few speakers on this campus in at least four years who has had much to say at all; about the second or third to relate your word to any existence outside the college community; and the only person of any kind—inside or outside MC—to "challenge" us instead of talking about "challenge."

At least we don't have to wonder why "holy matters" should be a big secret. We are thankful to you for having thrown us, raw and naked, into experience; for having confronted us, as no one has ever done, with the real issues. These "facts of life" are so seldom presented to the emotions without dragging in sentimentality; it was refreshing to learn that our emotions could become schooled without depending upon bursts of sentiment.

(Cont. Pg. 6)

Poet's Niche

A Meaninglessness

Sometime before yesterday,
god only knows when,
Man yanked hard at his boot straps and evolved his own little immaculate misconception:
Definitive Classification.

Sometime before yesterday,
god only knows when,
Man looked hard at his tragic situation,
his earthy participation, took a micrometer and measured the circumference of forbidden fruits.

Sometime before yesterday,
god only knows when,
Man mistook Reality for appearance, symbols for systems, and Brave New Worlds popped up to fill the void of skepticism.

Sometime before yesterday,
god only knows when,
radio telescopes and logical positivisms gradually developed a climate of superfluous identities and gave Man his first pair of meaningless glasses that only looked out and never looked in.

Sometime before yesterday,
I don't know when,
Man made himself a science and a transistorized society.
And ever since yesterday, has spelled his "god"
with a lower-case
"g."

—R. Craig Snyder

It is cold outside the house tonight,
it causes me to shiver;
But not as much as being outside the folk inside.

—Arlene Ford

Life is a giver of arrows —
Some hit
and some miss.

Arlene Ford

Your Home Away From Home . . .

STATIONERY to reassure the folks.

College Outline Series – Contemporary Cards

See us soon – Your friends will be here.

WE'RE ALWAYS HAPPY TO SERVE YOU

McCAMMONS

108 E. Broadway Your Hallmark Headquarters

See us First for your EASTER gifts . . .

We feature a fine selection of Easter Cards,
plus a complete line of Whitman,
Belle-Camp & Pangburn Candies!

BYRNE DRUG COMPANY

JFK Proposes Youth Corps

by Keen Compher

Congress is now considering a program ,which would be known as the YCC, Youth Consevation Corps, for young men and women between the ages of 20 and 30. This group would consist of approximately 150,000 youths whose purpose would be to help in the development of underprivileged areas throughout the world. They would also help in combating juvenile delinquency and in conserving the nation's resources. If well-planned, the YCC could be a large factor in upholding our prestige.

The idea, in part, was set forth by President Kennedy in San Francisco just before the election. This idea is also one of the planks of the Democratic platform drawn up last summer and states: "As part of broader concern for young people we recommend establishment of a Youth Conservation Corps, to give underprivileged young people a rewarding experience in a healthful environment." This plan would help us while we in turn are helping others.

Such a bill was passed in the Senate of the 86th Congress, but it did not receive consideration by the House of Representatives before their adjournment last year. Congress did, however, authorize the Colorado State University Research Foundation to study this plan, and their poll responses have been quite favorable. In a recent Gallup poll 71 percent of the people questioned were in favor of the corps.

The idea for a Youth Corps is not entirely new. The Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) was established in 133 and existed until 1942. Camps were set up throughout the United States where a man could come and enroll for work if he met the specified qualifications, such as being in good health, single, and between 17 and 23. Men enrolled for a six months' enlistment, and usually they could re-enroll. Over 150 different types of work were offered by the CCC, and the enrollee was supplied with clothing outfits and other benefits Requirements for the proposed YCC would be that the enrollee have a skill in a special field, possess enthusiasm and maturity, and have the ability to adjust to different types of living conditions. There would also be a 6 to 9 month training period, during which the individual would study the customs of the country and other necessary things. This would be followed by perhaps two years of service. Whether enlistment in the YCC would satisfy selective service requirements is still undetermined, but it is probable that it would.

This is certainly a great challenge to the energetic youth of today, and it shows the faith our seniors have in their future leaders.

CPLATY

See your Student Council representative

Mail Box

Dear Editor,

The February Meetings are intended to be the religious highlight of the year at Maryville College. However, attempting to evaluate this year's program, I have begun to wonder how much of the religious "inspiration" we have received is little more than mass hysteria.

Evangelists such as Billy Graham must encumber their preaching with powerful emotional appeals, for without them the people to whom they speak would not become concerned enough to attempt understanding the messages they present. College students, however, should not require as much emotional bombardment for intellectual stimulation. Perhaps "intellectual bombardment" for limited emotional stimulation would be more suitable. In any case we must learn to recognize when someone is attempting to manipulate us emotionally so that we may prevent our falling prey to hysteria as many people evidently have this year.

Dr. Evans' sermons were particularly valuable because of his peculiar ability to summarize and present, understandably, some of the deep theological conflicts of our century. His preaching reveals depth of thought and a strong faith. These factors contribute to his greatness.

Perhaps next year we will be fortunate enough to receive a speaker who will treat us intellectually and emotionally as college students. Perhaps the treatment will become more objective through the introduction of several speakers from different denominations.

Sincerely,
Bradford Rehm

Interested in being ECHO Editor next year? See Phyl Stine soon for try-out information.

Reprinted from Illinois CHAFF

Annual College Photo Contest Offers Prizes

The Annual College Photo competition and Exhibition announces a new contest. This competition and exhibition is sponsoroed by Kappa Alpha Mu, the national coeducational honorary photojournalism fraternity, National Press Photographers Association, and the Encyclopedia Britannica, with the cooperation of LIFE Magazine.

Deadline for entering this contest is March 15, 1961. Any person regularly enrolled in an accredited College or University is invited to participate. A set of rules and entry forms can be obtaied by writing to Vi Edom, Exechtive Secretary, KAM, 18 Walter Williams Hall, Columbia, Missouri.

The winner in the Portfolio classification earns a set of Encyclopedia Britannica, and a weeklong expense-paid visit to New York as a guest of LIFE Magazine. He will spend the week in the LIFE plant observing their methods and posiblv going on assignments with LIFE photographers. Other awards include the 2-volume Britannica World Language Dictionary, plaques, trophies and certificates. Announcement of the winners and a display of the prize-winning pictures are among the highlights of the KAM convention April 6-8, at the University of Kansas, Lawrence. This exhibit, then, as a travelling show, is displaved throughout the nation.

New Graduate Study Announced

A special summer training program for selected foreign students who have been admitted to graduate study in economics or agricultural economics at U.S. universities and colleges was announced by the Institute of International Education. Sponsored by The American Economic Association, this fourth session of the Economics Institute will be held at the University of Colorado in Boulder, from June 30 to August 30, 1961.

The Economics Instituute provides an intensive review of microeconomic and macro-economic theory, concentrated training and practice in oral and written English, and supplementary training in mathematics. A general introduction to the United States economy and society is also offered.

vicky vaughn as seen in SEVENTEEN

FLIRTY FRENCH LOOK by Vicky Vaughn. A foam of eyelet lace ruffling the front of a floaty cut-away skirt, a lowered 'n' lovely neckline. Delicious refreshment spring thru summer. Cool combed cotton gingham check. Black, blue or lilac with white. 5 to 15.

only the LOOK is expensive $9.90

Badgett Store Company

The BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES

- Check Accounts
- Savings Accounts
- Christmas Club Savings
- Transfer of Funds
- Banking from Your Car
- Night Depository Service

– YOUR COLLEGE BANK –

EVER GET EXCITED ABOUT A SHIRT?

"TAPERED TO A T"

Shapely tapers the new roll-up sleeves as well as the body of this colorful University Club shirt. Result: you look taller, slimmer, smarter. And the Fleur de Lis pattern endows you with special distinction.

$3.98

Minton's

SKIT NIGHT REGULATIONS

I. The president of each society shall appoint one person to be on a skit night committee.
   A. This committee will be responsible for
      1. Publicity
         (a) one poster from each society
         (b) chapel announcements
      2. Collecting the admission fee of twenty-five cents.
         (a) The total fee will be divided equally among the four societies.
      3. Providing a basic set.
      4. Appointing a master of ceremonies.

II. Each skit must
   A. Be approved by the Student Programs Committee.
   B. Be participated in and written by active members only.
   C. Not exceed 20 minutes in length.
   D. Have a maximum budget of $5.00.

III. The Student Organizations Committee shall
   A. See that each skit meets the specifications set up above.
   B. Appoint three judges who
      1. Will judge the skits for
         (a) Originality
         (b) Performance
         (c) Appropriateness
      2. Will vote by ranking each society first, second, third, or fourth. The society receiving the least number of points will receive the trophy.
   C. Appoint a time-keeper who shall meet with the judges and the master of ceremonies, to add one point for each minute that the skit exceeds 20 minutes.

IV. The president of each society shall meet with the master of ceremonies and the Student Organizations Committee chairman immediately before the starting time. At this time the president will draw to determine the order of the skits.

V. The skit night trophy
   A. Shall be given to the sociey receiving the least number of points. This society will retain the trophy until the following year.
   B. Shall be given permanently to the society that wins it three successive years. In this case a new trophy will be bought by the Student Organizations Committee chairman out of the skit night profits of that year.
   C. Shall be given to the winning society for a year whom the name of that society fills the last available name-space on the cup. Thereafter the cup shall be given permanently to the society which has accumulated the greatest number of annual awards.

These regulations were set up by the Social Board and revised by the Social Commitee. February, 1956.

Duel or Duet?

Dear Jim,

~~You see, I'm in this kind of a mood tonight;~~ ~~Tonight I heard a lecture on Marriage and~~ ~~Why don't we~~ ~~Why don't you~~
~~Wouldn't it be nice~~
~~I'm sick and tired of all this coll~~
~~Being an airforce wife wouldn't be so~~
~~Can't you just see us~~
~~Even the two can't live as cheaply as~~ ~~Daddy has always said, "You don't need to go to college to~~ ~~A large family needs young par~~
~~Lets make hay while~~
~~Why don't I fly W~~
~~Why don't you fly E~~
~~Why don't we fly into each other's~~ ~~See, there's this beautiful lot out on~~
~~I sure wouldn't mind~~
~~The more I think about it the better~~
Can't we just
~~All kinds of people marry successfully with many more~~
~~And yesterday I learned how to cook toast without~~ ~~And sew on~~ ~~Your mother has been hinting pretty~~
~~In spring a young~~
~~I feel like a nun in this~~
~~Yesterday Phyllis got a beautiful dia~~
~~Mary sure had the right~~
~~That Marriage and the Family course sure is~~ ~~Marriage sure is~~
~~I sure am~~

Oh, well,
Jean

Whatever you need in the way of pastries or baked goods, for that special occasion, we have just the thing!

VAN'S BAKERY

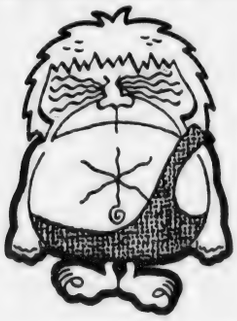
Call the sweetest numbers in town –
YU 2-7920 YU 3-4413

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK
218 COURT STREET

EASTER IDEALS – – EASTER GREETINGS

STUDENTS ALWAYS WELCOME!

YU 3-4982



Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm YU 2-9921

Uncompromising, unimpressed, uninhibited

MURPHY-WEST MOTOR CO.
CHEVROLET OLDSMOBILE

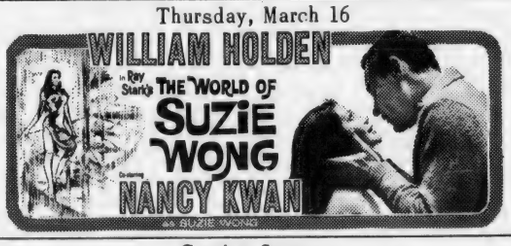
FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

BOWLING

STUDENT RATES TILL 5:30

PARTIES WELCOME ANYTIME

Maryville Bowling Center
Phone YU 2-4092



COMING SOON CAPITOL THEATRE TOP HITS

Now –

Sat. March 11
"MARRIAGE GO ROUND"

Thursday, March 16

– Coming Soon –

"GONE WITH THE WIND"

Be one of the best dressed on Campus –
Send your Cleaning and Laundry to

MARYVILLE Cleaners

Jim Coup–Carnegie Larry Bush–Memorial
Pat Williams–Baldwin Marguerite Gilly–New Dorm
Charlotte Murchison–Pearsons
Quality Work Efficient Friendly Service

Gort To Join Echo Next Issue

Gort has appeared in college publicatins all over the United States during the past year. The strip is the creation of Michael Kelly an alumnus of Millsaps College in Jackson, Mississippi.

Kelly has only two things to say about Gort: "He's drawn with respect for the intelligence and erudition of college students." and "I probably get more of a kick out of him than anybody."

Because Gort expresses a healthy disrespect for all sacred cows there are those who have accused Kelly of being "mad" at segments of society, or society in general, or individual groups, or the world at large. "Mad?" Kelly says innocently. "Me mad? I'm not mad at anybody!" And neither is Gort.

The ECHO staff is proud to add this strip to the publication. It is hoped that the college will enjoy GORT, beginning next issue.

Patronize ECHO Advertisers

SCOTS WIN FOUR-IN-A-ROW

Sachet and Sneakers

The Chi Beta "Sparkplugs," squeaked by with a 10-9 victory over Theta II. Although the score was not very high, that did not take away from the excitement. Both teams had yet to win a game, so they were both very eager to win. The excitement and high spirits were evident by the number of fouls on the teams. Theta's attack was led by a fine forward and ballhandler, Nancy McGill, and by guard Ann McIlhency. Liz Fastige and Nancy Kinsman led the Chi Beta forwards, and Nancy's free shot in the last seconds of play won the game for Chi Beta. Guard Carol Cox's ability to tie up the ball was a hndrance to the Theta team.

Theta I turned the tables on Chi Beta, beating the "Floorburners" 26-7. The Theta team took the lead at first add never gave it up, while they controlled the ball most of the game. Harriet Blankenship led the Theta team with beautiful crisp shots. Backing her up and adding to the score were Emily Wood and Ann Doscher. At the other end of the floor for Theta, guard Lois Lockett headed the Theta defense. Outstanding for Chi Beta were guards Janet Reinke and Joy Umberger.

The basketball tournament is at its half way mark. Chi Beta is leading with seven wins to three defeats, with the "Travelers" undefeated.

Intramural Standings

"A" LEAGUE

	w.	l.
Dixie Ding Donders	3	0
Town Rounders	3	0
Knights	3	2
Vikings	2	1
Amebias	2	3
Pile Drivers	1	2
Subversive 7	1	3
Faculty	0	4

"B" LEAGUE

	w.	l.
Ball Peen Hammers	4	0
Yearlings	4	0
Jousters	4	1
Tons-of-Fun	3	2
Olympians	2	2
Chipmonks	2	3
G-Strings	1	3
Crusaders	1	3
Mountaineers	1	3
AE Band Team	0	5

Martha Holt and Emily Wood jumping for ball in game Theta won 26-7.

WRESTLING TEAM GOES TO MATCH

The Fifteenth Annual Southeastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Tournament this season will be held the weekend of March 3 and 4th., at the University of the South, Sewanee under the direction of Mr. Horace Moore, the coach of the Sewanee squad. The Maryville team will be among seven squads to compete in this tournament which includes the following; Auburn, Chattanooga, Emory, Sewanee plus two new teames: the Universities of Georgia and Alabama. The Maryville squad will be made up of the following boys;

115 lb. Jim Baxter—Jim is the champion at 115, and will be out to defended his title this year. Jim is from Pennsylvania way and is one of two members on the team from last year.

123 lb. Bill Hodgson—Bill is from Washington, D.C. He has been wresling well for us at 130 but for the tournament is moving to 123 to add more strength to the squad.

130 lb. Joe Testa—Joe this season has been hindered by a bad rib but he should be ready and able to be great at 130 for our Scots. Joe is just one of four boys from New Jersey on our squad.

137 lb. Bill Robinson—Bill is our regular 137 and has wrestled very well for us this season like his big win at Auburn, he also is from New Jersey.

147 lb. Steve Rago—Steve, too, is from New Jersey way. He is one our boys who has had to wrestle in a number of weight classes from 177 to 157 and now 147 for the tournament. He is the leading point getter on the squad this season.

157 lb. Don White—Don is the captain of this year's squad. He has been hindered by an injuried shoulder but he should be in good shape for the tournament and some good matches.

167 lb. Bryson Struse—Bryson, is a senior out for the first time, has taken a-liking to wrestling. His great matches at Sewanee and Chattanooga show he will be able to hold our own at 167.

177 lb. Al Ries—Al another boy from New Jersey has shown great promise as wrestler for the Scots the little time he has been out for the team.

191 lb. Ron Mancini—A newcomer out of New York who has shown great strength and some know-how will give the boys in his weight class some headaches.

H.W. Pete Stafford—A local boy has shown the makings of pretty fair heavyweight after his last bout. He has wrestled very well for our Scots this season.

The season's record is not a clear picture of how hard our boys have worked and given up to wrestle for Maryville. Under the direction of Coach Davis our boys will be out to improve our finish of last year and our showing so far this season. Coach Davis this year is President of the Association and looks for a great tournament for all. He also has said the Maryville is going to surprise many people at this tournament. Our squad has been fighting injuries all season and it looks now that all will be in top shape to give their all.

Subscribe Now at Half Price*

You can read this world-famous daily newspaper for the next six months for $5, just half the regular subscription rate.

Get top news coverage. Enjoy special features. Clip for reference work.

Send your order today. Enclose check or money order. Use coupon below.

The Christian Science Monitor P-CN
One Norway St., Boston 15, Mass.

Send your newspaper for the time checked.

☐ 6 months $5 ☐ 1 year $10
☐ College Student ☐ Faculty Member

Name

Address

City Zone State

*This special offer available ONLY to college students, faculty members, and college libraries.

WON'T WRITE ?
CALL WHITE

Keep your typewriter working at its best.

White's factory-trained repairmen are at your service.

WHITE OFFICE MACHINES
YU 3-4762

With the end of the local basketball season the Maryville Scotties have seemed to find the right combination as the home cagers played top-notch basketball in their last four outings to close their season on a high note. On February 18 Maryville met Shorter College of Rome, Georgia and sent the visitors home with a 64-61 loss. Bert Randall proved to be the standout for the Big Orange as he played the entire game and hit for 12 points and roped n 13 rebounds. Captain Bill Owenby also did an outstanding job for the Scots. contibuting 18 points to the victor's cause before leaving the game on fouls. Throughout the contest the visitors refused to let the Scots jump into too big a lead and with one minute remaining the MC'ers had only a one point lead. Bert Randall stepped to the foul line and sank two free tosses and that proved enough for the victory.

This past Saturday night the Marvville squad went to Emory and Henry in Bristol and returned home with a 79-72 victory. For this one the Scots really had to work. Being down by ten points at halftime the team staged a great comeback led by Bert Randall and Bill Owenby. Up to this game the 79 points accumulated by the Scots was the most points scored all season.

The Scotties closed out their 1960-61 with an impressive 69-57 win over Hiawassee College of Madisonville. The home heroes made every shot count for the first hectic 10 minutes of the battle and matched point for point the Tigers. But when Maryville kept up the torid pace Hiawassee soon fell behind never to catch the rolling Scotties. Bill Owenby, Keith Day, Bill Crisp, and Don Heatherly all played their last game in a Scot uniform. The scoring drive was well balanced as Bill Owenby led both teams with 22 points followed by Fred Porter, Felix Daniels and Bill Crisp. Hiawassee was kept in the game mainly on the hot hands of Dick Henry and Jim Shultz. The Scotties built up a ten point half time lead, and though Hiawassee made a determined effort to cut into the lead the Scotties pulled together and stood off the challenge. With their fourth consecutive victory the Scotties ran their season's work sheet to a 7-13 record. Special note should be made to Captain Bill Owenby for his fine record in basketball during his four year stay at Maryville. The Scotties, by their late surge in the final games of the cage season seem to be in excellent condition come next year and Coach Baird has already expressed his feelings that a terrific basketball season is in the making.

Maryville 64		Shorter 61
Daniels	9	Plant	3
Randall	12	Harris	7
Owenby	18	Pierce	20
Crisp	9	Ottinger	11
Porter	6	Potts	5
Heatherly	5	Early	4
Day	1	Stubblefield	11
Cooper	4

Maryville 79		Emory & Henry 72
Daniels	14	Looney	13
Randall	23	Troy	3
Owenby	28	Davidson	16
Crisp	6	Mc Neer	20
Porter	2	Nave	9
Cooper	6	Kidd	2
		Herbert	1
		Brown	8

Maryville 69		Hiawassee 57
Randall	6	Henry	18
Daniels	12	Ralland	11
Owenby	22	Stidham	3
Crisp	12	Shultz	15
Porter	14	Markham	5
Heatherly	1	Watson	3
Day	2	Woosley	2

Agape is not a weak, passive love. It is love in action. Agape is love seeking to preserve and create community. It is insistence on community when one seeks to break it. It is a willingness to forgive, not seven times, but seventy times seven to restore community. He who works against community is working against the whole of creation.

—M. L. King

Fellow citizens of the world: ask not what America will do for you, but what together we can do for freedom of man.

—President Kennedy

Why wait for a Breakdown?

Bring your watch in now during National Watch Inspection Month. Let our expert service department make sure that your watch is put in good running order. Prompt, Professional service

STERCHI'S
Jewelry Dept.
237 W. Broadway

College Hill Grill
Two Blocks from Campus
through the South Gate on Cate Street
Delicious Italian PIZZA
All Meals Served Family Style
Now Under the Management of May Boling

Teaching Machines May Be A Reality

Teachers, who for years have complained that rote teaching allowed them no time to help their students with specific problems, may very well have a solution in the teaching machine.

Still in the experimental stage, the teaching machines present material prepared by the teacher, and programmed into units of very small steps.

The programmed textbook, similar in appearance to an elementary school workbook, or the box machine, which reveals single units of material at a time, presents the material in the form of a statement, or statements. The student is then asked for conclusions, in the form of a constructed answer which he compares with correct answer as given by the machine, or an answer chosen from several offered by the machine, the right answer and the reasons for it then being given by the machine.

Teaching machines, costing only $20 a piece, are said by educators to have several defininte advantages: (1) Subject matter is presented in small units, which enable students to gain full comprehension of the 100 total subject; (2) Students are free to move at their own rate of learning; (3) Teachers are able to give assistance when and where it is needed, without any waste of time; (4) Answers are exposed as the student progresses, ensuring greater accuracy and lessening motivation to cheating; and (5) Teachers can evaluate student progress at any time.

The machines are not designed to, nor can they, replace teachers: rather they enable teachers to help more students more effectively.

Green Urges MC Applicants To USNSA Seminar

Student Body President Bill Green has urged those who feel qualified to make application for the scholarship to the already announced International Student Relations Seminar to be held this summer at University of Pennsylvania. A pamphlet about the Seminar suggests that "Applicants should have proven intellectual ability, character qualificatins, some background in international affairs, experience in extra-curricular activities and a desire to participate in the international student movement."

The Seminar will use case-study methods, combined with guest speakers and Seminar discussions to provide "student leaders with the necessary background and skills to deal with the contemporary problems of international relations as they exist among national and international student organizations in all parts of the world." The scholarships offered will pay all expenses. March 10 is the deadline for application.

During the last two weeks of the Seminar the National Student Association will hold its convention. Student Council has plans for sending several students to this two-week session at the University of Wisconsin.

780 Students Enrolled at MC

There are 780 students enrolled on our Maryville college campus for the 1960-61 year which is an increase of fifty three over the number of students enrolled during the 1959-60 year. Representing thirty-seven states and nine foreign countries our student body is nationally known for being cosmopolitan.

Tennessee stands out as the state with the highest representation with 225 students. New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Kentucky, Maryland, New York and Ohio are all states with a high representation of students.

The number of women students outnumbers the men by 52, and there are more Presbyterians although the Baptists and Methodists constitute a large part of the student body also along religious lines.

Great minds talk about ideas; medium minds talk about things; small minds talk about people.

Campus Calendar

March 4 Film Series 8 p.m. Theater
March 5 Vespers Dr. E. Faye Campbell
March 7 Lecture 8 p.m. FAC
March 10 Senior Recital, Donna Moros 8 p.m. FAC
March 11 Skit Night
March 12 Vespers Rev. Houston R. Pevton
March 17
March 18 Merry Wives of Windsor 9 p.m. Theatre
March 21
March 23 Senior Recital, Karen Kennedy 8 p.m. FAC

SOCIETY NEWS

Alpha Sigma

The Alpha Sigma Sweetheart show was held last week and the following girls were presented: Nina Jo Tarver, Sweetheart; Connie Myers, Gayle Eggers, Martha Stearns and Sandy Poole as Cupids. Alpha Sig would like to think all those who helped to make this show a success.

A joint meeting was held of Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sig on Saturday, Feb. 25. The program for the evening was Dr. Charles De Santo speaking on the "Dead Sea Scrolls and Christianity."

There are a few ingenious members working hard on the show for skit night. This future event should prove to be a very enjoyable evening.

The intramural basketball season is moving along and Sig has been well represented. The Sig teams have compiled the following records:

1. Ball Peen Hammers	4 W - 1 L
2. Pile Drivers	3 W - 2 L
3. Subversive Seven	3 W - 2 L
4. Sig Band	0 W - 5 L

Bob Duggan was elected Alpha Sigma Chaplain and Larry Jenkins song leader for this semester.

New students are cordially invited to attend our meeting and participate in the activities.

Theta Epsilon

Skit night planning is the major point of interest to the Theta girl now. The script, being written by Lynn Waddington and Sue Lemme, Theta's Skit Night Chairmen, is almost completed and the members are anxiously looking forward to trying out for the parts.

Cathy Poole's decision to leave Maryville left Theta with two vacancies — the appointed position on Inter Society Council which was filled by Connie Myers, and the elected position of which was filled by Anna Baker.

The President, Sandy Poole, has been working with Theta's program chairmen and the officers of Sig, and they have come up with tentative plans for a joint meeting at least once a month.

Chi Beta

Accepting the proposed revision of the Chi Beta Constition was the main item of business at the executive cabinet and regular meetings last week. Skit Nite preparation and W.A.A. victories continue but the gals will take time out for a regular program this evening at 6:15. Meetings are how being held in Chi Beta's new "meeting parlor," the New Dorm basement, and the increasing attendence is to be new folding chairs.

School spirit is that inspiration and enthusiasm which comes, in the process of education, from contact with people and ideas greater than the self, from consciousness of a living tradition of a selfless service, from cooperation toward truly great ends, from consciousness of the broad goals of human endeavor.

OPEN LETTER, (Cont.)

There were some obvious effects of the meetings: never before has there been such spontaneous response, serious thinking; nor has a speaker been so much in demand for group and individual conferences, on and off the job; nor has anyone here given so freely of time and conviction. Yet these, while sincere, seem sensational when analyzed collectively. Those who were able to talk with you personally for even a few seconds over a dinner table or on a sidewalk, found the same genuineness that seems to be your trademark. We probably agree, however, that most effective of all was the strength of your presentation—it's a little bewildering at first; we've never before seen anyone here get excited about the practicality of an ideal such as Christianity, and stay consistently and encouragingly so. After thinking about this "youngbloods" business, the expression seems to have interestingly extensive implications for the future. It's good that you were the tool of your message, rather than having made it your personality's fool, as you could easily have done.

The difference that a week of examination has made to some people has unusual media of manfesting itself: such ordinary things as friendship, campus routine, dedication to responsibilities, etc. are becoming significant. And most outstanding of all, hitherto unmoved faculty and students have awakened to take stock of their personal obligations; indeed, a more conscientious, vigorous relationship between the taught and the learned seems essential now. Whether or not we have the impulse of manliness to accept it, we've all received a free lesson about our accountability.

What we're beginning to realize now, of course, is that there are few Louis Evanses around and our chances of acquiring more at MC are slim. But it seems that, at present, anyone at this college who has had the faintest premonition of being able to actualize his potential has no further excuse for avoiding the "truth" that automatically implies "moral responsibility."

Now almost no one has been fool enough to think that February Meetingsism implies automatic salvation or reawakening for any of us. There's a sort of natural skepticism in us that would rightly make us resent being used like that, and it's hard to find a better atomic age antidote for a religion that has previously been presented in comparatively medieval terms. Ice-cream-and-cake roll yellow slips and weather and sign-out boxes are still here, and even the dining hall bell hasn't been returned yet, and some who will "never change" still get very excited about these universal things. But E. A. Robinson wrote once that he thought there were two kinds of gratiude: the "sudden" kind we feel for taking and the "larger" kind we feel for giving. Ours is the "sudden" kind immediately, but we're given the opportunity to make it "larger."

That is, we're carrying the ball now and we wouldn't insult you by labeling you superman or miracle worker or spiritual leader; that kind of person simply doesn't exist. It's just that most students and personnel here feel indebted to you for having shown us something of a duty without trying to do it for us. That's unique, and occasionally borders on the inspiring.

Thanks a million, Coach.

Bill Green

SPECIAL
COLD WAVE PERMANENT $6.95
Complete — No Extras
Michaels
Limited Time Only!
COLLEGE HILL SALON or BUDGET SALON
No Appointment Needed

Shop
Maryville's Newest, Most Complete Stock of Athletic Equipment and Sporting Goods.
Rawlings & Wilson Tennis Rackets .... $4.50 up
Rawlings & Wilson Tennis Balls ..... $1.75 up (Can of 3)
Tennis Oxfords, Ladies ..... $3.95 up
U.S. Ked & Converse, Men's ..... $4.95 up
Tennis Shorts, Shirts, Magic Fleece Athletic Socks Racket Covers & Presses
Rawling & Wilson Baseball Gloves .... $5.95 up
Rawlings Baseball Shoes ..... $5.95 up
GIFF'S
SPORTING GOODS
202 N. Cusick St. YU 3-2166
(Directly behind Proffitt's)

Looking For Something Special?
We carry a complete line of fine quality watches, rings, and accessories designed to please the discriminating buyer. Easy terms are available on request. Why not stop in today?
Quick Repairs — Guaranteed

BROADWAY JEWELERS

The "Y" Store Proudly serves
MAYFIELD'S
Ice Cream and Milk
Smoother, Richer, better Tasting
Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

PARKS-BELK
Maryville's Most Complete Sportswear Department
Stop In and Look Around
Home of Better Values

The Highland Echo

Vol. 46, No. 11 Maryville, Tennessee March 25, 1961

DR. KENT

DR. KENT OF LSU SCIENCE DEPT. WILL LECTURE APRIL 19

The fourth lecture of the 1960-1961 Maryville College Lecture Series will be presented Wednesday evening April 19, at eight o'clock in the Fine Arts Center Music Hall. The lecturer will be Dr. George C. Kent, Jr., Chairman of the Department of Zoology, Physiology and Entomology at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Dr. Kent received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Maryville College in 1937 and holds his graduate degrees from Vanderbilt University. He has instructed at Vanderbilt University and Northwestern State College in Louisiana. He has also served as a research associate at Cornell University. He has been a member of the faculty of Louisiana State University since 1942.

Professor Kent's textbook and laboratory manual in comparative vertebrate anatomy have been widely used throughout the United States. In addition he has written many papers in the fields of histology, embryology and endocrinology. McGraw-Hill Book Company has recently published the Encyclopedia of Science and Technology, in eleven volumes, in which Dr. Kent authored the articles on the thyroid, adrenal, pineal body, and pituitary. He is particularly an authority on the reproduction physiology in the hamster.

He has served as President of the Association of Southeastern Biologists and as President of the Louisiana Academy of Sciences. For ten years he was Editor of the Proceedings of the Louisiana Academy. At Louisiana State University he is chairman of the Committee on Preprofessional Education in the Medical Arts.

The fifth and final lecture of the academic year will be given by William L. Shirer, internationally famous foreign correspondent and author, on Thursday, May 4. Mr. Shirer's most recent book, "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich" was the Book-of-the-Month Club selection for November.

Faculty Club

The Faculty Club will hold its biannual dinner meeting on Monday, April 3, 1961. It will be at 7:00 P. M. in the dining hall. This is the last meeting of the year.

Service To Be On Good Friday

The Good Friday Service will be held on March 31, at 8:00 a.m. in the chapel. Dr. Lloyd will preside at the service.

Meditation upon the seven words from the cross will be given by Mrs. Sarah McNiell, Dr. Edwin Hunter, and Dr. E. Faye Campbell. The Vesper Choir will sing "Go to Dark Gethsemane" (Noble) and "O Come and Mourn with Me" (Bingham).

DEAN'S LIST

First Semester, 1960-1961

SENIORS

Barrett, Rosemary Upshaw	3.45
Darling, Mary Elizabeth	3.31
Doyscher, David E.	3.33
Eaddy, Virginia Bass	3.56
Fagan, Mary Susan	3.29
Gass, Carolyn Dawn	3.80
Gould, Cheryl Elizabeth	3.50
Hall, Miriam Nightingale	3.27
Pearson, Charles Patrick	4.0
Rankin, Una Gow	3.60
Ross, Margaret Stevenson	3.62
Smith, Sarah Rachel	3.25
Springstead, Judith Allison	3.58
Stearns, Martha Messman	3.40
Stefancic, Jean Ann	3.66
Talmage, Jr., John Edward	3.80
Whitelock, Wayne Rodney	3.33
Yates, Richard Grant	3.40

JUNIORS

Bickford, Leonard Richard	3.50
Dalton, Brenda Nadine	3.83
Dozier, Ellen Harris	3.50
Edwards, Ruby G.	3.25
Fuhrman, Harriette Joanne	3.47
Gray, Glenda Ann	3.33
Griffitts, Rebekah Earle	3.46
Jenkins, Larry Parker	3.33
Nakamura, Anne	3.62
Reichardt, Elizabeth Beck	3.40
Smith, Sylvia Elaine	3.50

SOPHOMORES

Bucher, George Scott	3.89
Crossley, Patricia Anne	3.26
Garrett, Michael David	3.35
Gossweiler, Richard Carl	3.75
Jones, Sharon Lambert	3.55
Leland, John Woodmansee	3.43
Lurcott, Carolyn Ann	3.41
Mikeal, Judith Elaine	3.43
Murphy, Donna Mae	3.33
Price, Margaret Susan	3.50
Privette, Janice Lynn	3.72
Smith, David Ross	3.76
Swafford, Peggy Jean	3.57
Walters, Janice Mary	3.45
Ward, III, William Frederick	3.76

FRESHMEN

Ansley, Carole	3.43
Beard, Robert McArthur	3.76
Bowman, Dorothy Jeanne	3.25
Brewer, Meredith Ann	3.62
Cate, Judy Farlene	3.25
Cook, Charlotta Ethel	3.43
Cox, Ernie Pope	3.25
Dodez, Jane Louise	3.25
Dozier, Margaret Johnson	3.62
Ellis, Martha Bess	3.37
Harrison, Kenneth Delano	3.56
Hensley, Herbert Bruce	3.31
Holt, Martha Ann	3.25
Kelleher, Jean Louise	3.25
Kuenzli, Bonnie Kay	3.81
Randall, Albert B.	3.43
Sturmfels, Gloria	3.37
Tripp, Tanya Marie	3.31
Wells, Randall Anthony	3.25

April 2, 1961 -- EASTER SUNRISE SERVICE -- 6:21 A.M.

Debators Vie In National Tourney

Maryville College debators leave today for the National Pi Kappa Delta tournament to be held in Stillwater, Oklahoma, March 25 through April 1. Bob Reidenbach and Don Leo will compete in debate and Don Leo and Joyce Williams in extemporaneous speech and oratory.

This year's tournament is to be the biggest national tournament to be held by Kappa Delta. Over eight hundred students will be in competition.

Maryville students are being accompanied by their coach, Dr. Arda S. Walker.

Junior Recital To Be March 28

Mary Frances Skeen, pianist, assisted by Sue Bloomer, soprano, will be presented in a Junior Recital on Tuesday, March 28, at 4:30 in the Music Hall.

Mrs. Skeen will play "Sonata, Op. 14, no. 1" by Beethoven; "Two Rondos" by Bartok; and "Etude, Op. 25, no. 12" by Chopin.

Miss Bloomer will sing "Rejoice, ye souls" by Bach; "Romance" and "Beau Soir" by Debussy; "L'Esclave" by Lalo; and "L'Invitation au voyage" by Duparc.

McCLELLAND TO SERVE AS SEC.-TRES.

Dean Frank D. McClelland of Maryville College has been elected Secretary-Treasurer of the Tennessee College Association to serve for three years.

The election was on March 16 at the annual meeting of the Association in Memphis. He succeeds Dr. R. F. Thomason, Dean of Admissions, University of Tennessee, who has srved as Secretary-Treasurer of the Association for the past six years.

Dr. Quill Cope, President of Middle Tennessee State College, and former State Commissioner of Education for Tennessee, was elected President of the Association for one year. All officers are elected for one year except the Secretary-Treasurer who is elected for three years. President Lloyd of Maryville College served as President of the Association two years (1942-1944).

The Tennessee College Association, of which Maryville is a charter member, was organized forty-two years ago. It now consists of thirty-seven accredited colleges and universities in this state, both private and tax-supported. Its annual meeting is customarily held just before the meeting of the Tennessee Education Association, usually in Nashville but this year in Memphis.

The Constitution states that the "purpose of the Tennessee College Association shall be the advancement of the cause of higher education by the promotion of interests common to the colleges of Tennessee."

Dean McClelland takes office as Secretary-Treasurer immediately.

DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY ELECT DR. COPELAND AS MC PRESIDENT

Rev. Dr. Joseph J. Copeland forty-six-year-old Pastor of Second Presbyterian Church, Knoxville, Tennessee, has been elcted unanimously as President of Maryville College by the College's Board of Directors, the Board's Chairman Joe C. Gamble announced. The election is subject to Dr. Copeland's acceptance.

Dr. Copeland will succeed Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd, who retires next July, at the age of sixty-eight, after thirty-one years as President of the College. On his thirtieth anniversary last November Dr. Lloyd announced his resignation and requested the Directors to permit him to close his service after the current college year. The Directors have elected him President Emeritus, effective when he retires from the active Presidency. He has not yet announced his future plans.

A native of Texas, Dr. Copeland has been Pastor of Second Presbyterian Church of Knoxville for the past nine years, and has been a member of the Board of Directors of Maryville College for eight years. If he accepts the position he will be the seventh President in the 142 year history of the college.

He is a graduate of Trinity University in Texas and of McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago. He holds the honorary degrees of Doctor of Divinity from Trinity University and Doctor of Laws from Maryville College.

Before coming to Knoxville in 1952 as Pastor of Second Presbyterian Church, Dr. Copeland was for ten years Pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Denton, Texas. During his theological seminary course he was student assistant at Kenwood Community Church, Chicago; and after graduation served for three years as Pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Frederick, Oklahoma, before going to Denton, Texas.

DR. COPELAND

His two last pastorates, extending over almost twenty years, have been in cities with large colleges. Also he has been in demand as a speaker in college religious emphasis programs in many states.

For the past twelve years Dr. Copeland has been a member of the Board of Christian Education of the United Presbyterian Church in the USA. He is Chairman of that Board's Counseling Committee on Social Education and Action; and is Chairman of the Program Committee of the Division of Radio and Television in the Board of National Missions, with general responsibility for the United Presbyterian Church's national radio and television program. During the last five years of his pastorate in Knoxville, he has been Moderator of a weekly television program known as "The Pastor's Study."

In the Synod of Mid-South where both Knoxville and Maryville are located, Dr. Copeland has been Moderator of the Synod, Chairman of Synod's Committee on Westminster Foundations, and a member of Synod's Committee on Higher Education.

Dr. Copeland is married and has one son and one daughter.

Dr. and Mrs. Copeland left Knoxville March 17 for a four-week trip to the Holy Land and Europe.

FROSH PRESENT TALENT SHOW TONIGHT AT 8

Tonight, at eight o'clock in the Theater, the Freshman Class will present their annual class production, "Zombie Jamboree." Tonight's show will be m.c.'ed by Ron Smith and will include various novelty acts and routines, highlighted by a "Human Sacrifice" which is to be offered to the various freshman dieties.

This evening's production was planned by a committee of eight headed by Bruce Jenkins. Admission is free and all Maryville College students are cordially invited to attend.

Y PLANS EASTER WORSHIP PROGRAM

A special Holy Week program is being planned by YM-YWCA which will be held on April 1 at 7 o'clock in the FAC music hall.

The spoken word, symbolic movement, and music will be interwoven in what is hoped will be a unique worship experience for all.

KC Has Stand-Ins At Knox Theaters

Steve Henderson, of Knoxville College for this semester, reports that stand-ins are now taking place in Knoxville theaters. Not yet fully under way, stand-ins have taken place at the Tennessee Theater, and the Riviera is next in line. The managers have so far refused to negotiate, even with Knoxville's Mayor Duncan, thus indicating their convictions, or lack thereof, in this matter.

Students at Knoxville College have invited their friends at Maryville College to assist them in this endeavor. Anyone who is interested may contact Dick Freeman (Carnegie) or Carolyn Siera (224 New Dorm), as soon as possible. Participants will be required to attend a short briefing session. Rev. David Mair has offered his car for transportation. Those who cannot actively participate may join the general boycott on all segregated theaters.

Editorially Speaking

Of Statements . . .

The statement issued to the area press last week by the Student Council concerning the ideals of this student body was an encouraging note in the history of this year's student government. This was the student body speaking to the community, and to itself, saying, "This we believe and this we will uphold." For once we spoke for ourselves rather than letting the administration or faculty say that this is what we should believe or what they think we believe.

In light of current local criticism and insinuations concerning the convictions of the Maryville student body, the statement might well have been stronger and more specific as to our belief in the validity of the first ten amendments to the American constitution.

and Sacks.

Ninety-eight per cent of the student body favors sack suppers on Sunday evening according to a Student Council poll. The kitchen crew certainly likes the idea. We wonder from where the opposition is coming.

A review of THE MERRY WIVES
by Susan Pearson

Ed Note: Mrs. Pearson in a '59 graduate of Maryville College. She was a drama major, president of Playhouse and secretary of Theta Alpha Phi. Other experience includes summer work with Chucky Jack in Gatlinburg and with Knoxville's Carousel Theatre. At present she is teaching in Friendsville High School.

The second performance of The Merry Wives of Windsor, by William Shakespeare, was presented Saturday evening, March 18, by the Maryville College Playhouse in the Theatre to a full house. The production was noteworthy in that it was produced in the Elizabethan style, and that the cast included faculty members.

The set was an authentic reproduction of an Elizabethan style theatre with a large acting area made possible by a platform covering the orchestra pit. The attractive Gothic style costumes and artistic make-up added to the background, helped to sorround the actors with an appropriate setting. Light was noticeably absent in spots, particularly out on the downstage apron.

The omission of Act IV, scene I was understandable, and, though noticed by some, did not detract from the production.

E. Parker Dupler, as the lusty Sir John Falstaff, unfortunately had not attained full mastery of his lines, therefore his characterization was incomplete. His appearance (with the help of a pillow or two) was striking, however his gestures were repetitive as were those of Jarrett LeQuire as the parson, Sir Hugh Evans.

Slender Dave Conklin was amusing, as the lovesick Slenders Simple was overplayed by Ross McGill. John Graulich's voice and diction added polish to his role of Shallow.

As the jealous Ford, and also as the disguised Master Brook, Robert Lynn exhibited a fine deep voice and a flair for comedy. Irma Birkelbach's portrayal of his mischevious wife, Mistress Ford, was clear and believeable.

Arda Walker, in an outstanding characterization of the shrewd Mistress Quickly, infected the audience with her laughter and obvious enjoyment of her role both as an actress and as Mistress Quickly.

Perhaps the loss of some of the lines by some of the players was due to inexperience or difficulty with Shakespearian verse. Some Southern accents also were conspicuous.

Though Harry Page's French accent seemed doubtful at times, he was heard, if not understood, by all. The romantic interest was provided by Jim Miller as Fenton and Mary McCampbell as Anne Page. Her parents were played by Kathryn Smith and Bob Bowman.

Mail Box

Ed Note: We have taken the liberty to print only excepts from the three letters submitted in reply to the letter by Brad Rehm concerning February Meetings printed in the last issue of the ECHO.

Dear Editor,

Are we ever to reach such a plane to intellectual superiority that we can no longer stoop to hear the word of God?

There was an emotional element in the February Meetings, but is was an emotion that put thoughts in turmoil. We had been hit where we live.

—Bonnie Burrow

Dear Miss Editor,

I think the letter of Mr. Rehm disdaining the work of Dr. Evans during February Meetings is exemplary of the feelings of many students on this campus. They seem to feel that their duty is to pick a person apart personally and give little consideration to the work done and emotional and intellectual stimulation given by him.

In high school we are told the facts and what to believe about them; in college we are given the facts and asked to decide. This is what Dr. Evans did: he challenged us to decide for ourselves what we believe.

Don Jackman

Dear Editor,

What was the basis for the use of the word hysteria in the letter of last issue? Where is this hysteria? I've looked all over campus and I can't find it. I think you can stop wondering about mass hysteria on the campus of Maryville College.

Isn't religion something we should become emotional about? I don't mean emotional to the point of hysteria. Heaven forbid! I'm a Presbyterian. But isn't God love? And isn't love an emotion? Must we not feel our religion for it to be true and for us ultimately to be true to it? Shouldn't our religion, therefore, have a strong emotional basis in order for it to be of value to our lives? Reason in religion is meaningless if it does not have a positive purpose. Emotion makes us aware of this purpose.

I don't care how high the walls of religious intellectualism are built. If the walls are not lined with a generous proportion of emotionalism, your resevoir of assurance will not hold very much water.

Respectfully,
Charles W. Feast

American Colleges, Universities Confronted By Un-Americanism
by Ron Pearson

The necessity of providing a balance between the right of a government to protect itself and the right of a people to advocate changes in it has never been more clearly presented than by the operations of the House Un-American Activities Committee. This group was created by a House resolution in 1938 as a special investigating committee. It has been granted a continual existance every year since then, and in 1946 it was made a standing committee of the House of Representatives. It has in the past twenty-three years conducted investigations into the political opinions of nearly every disident minority group in the United States.

The Committee has been challenged in the courts of the United States from the initial period of its inception down to the present time. Hiding behind its cleverly worded name, it has emerged relatively unscathed. Even a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States finds it difficult to declare an action of such a committee un-constitutional, for to do so is to place oneself in the ranks of those who oppose Americanism. As the courts have been frightened so have the people of the United States, until the Committee now rides on a wave of fear that labels all those who oppose its methods as Communists, un-American, or generally un-worthy of living in this country.

The Committee itself may be said to be Un-American for in its methods and in the protections granted to it by Congress and furthered by the reluctance to oppose it the Committee has become something of a super element outside the restrictions of the Constitution. No one would deny to Congress the power to investigate but the power is merely an aid to the power to legislate. Therefore, in any area where Congress has no right to legislate, it logically has no right to investigate, and Congress is forbidden by the guarantees of the First Amendment to the Constitution to legislate in areas which prohibit freedom of speech and assembly. No statement within the Constitution prohibits the discussion of views which are unpopular. The words "Un-American" and "subversive" are the only tests of pertinency which the statute authorizing the establishment of the Committee contains. Since these terms have never been adequately defined, by the statute itself or by any of the subsequent laws of the United States the Committee has been granted the liberty to make that definition.

An example of committee tactics can be clearly noted in the events immediately preceding the San Francisco Riots which brought about the movie "Operation Abolition" and the current controversy surrounding the Committee. On June 11, 1959, the Committee subpoenaed 110 California school teachers, often having Federal Marshalls serve the subpoenas in front of students during class periods. These names were than published in the local papers under the headline "Un-American Activities Committee Charges California Teachers with Communist Infiltration." The teachers involved immediately became the targets of suspicion with social and economic repercussions soon following. The teachers were given no recourse to answer the Committee, and following a loud outcery from the local press at the inaction of the Committee, the committee left town without holding any hearings on these alleged Communists. The mark of suspicion remained long after the Committee left and the teachers involved suffered extensive indignity in not being allowed to give immediate redress to their accusers. In answering the critics of the Committees lack of speed, the Committee indicated that the communist infiltration in this area was so extensive that additional time was needed for further investigation, thus casting an even wider range of suspicion on those teachers not yet named by the Committee.

One who opposes the methods of the Committee will find himself falling under the label of "Communist Dupe" as is often done by the Committee as evidenced in the film "Operation Aboliton." It is obvious that the Committee is going to find its greatest opposition coming from the halls of the colleges and universities of America, and rightly so. We are not defending Communist views—we are defending the good deal we have in this country and our opportunities to dissent where dissention will protect the things we believe in.

"It takes a clever man to turn cynic, and a wise man to be clever enough not to."

Hurst, NEA Journal

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Vol. 46, No. 11 — March 25, 1961

Member of University Press Service

Published bi-weekly during the year by the students of Maryville College

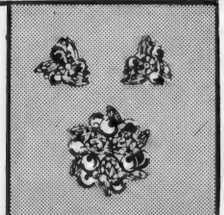
Editorial Staff

Editor ..... Phyllis Stine
News Editors ..... Pat Baker, Helen Anne Easterly
Feature Editor ..... Carolyn Siera
Copy Editor ..... Lynn Herring
Exchange editor ..... Anitra Bard
Sports Editors ..... Kathy Eisenhart, George Roselli
Contributors this issue ..... Patti Paul, Pat Crossley, Arlene Ford, June Wilson, Ellen Dozier
Typists ..... Jean Keller, Gloria Schwam

Business Staff

Business Manager ..... Mike Garrett
Business Assistant ..... Phyllis Deloteus
Circulation Manager ..... Jon Sypher
Faculty Advisors ..... Miss Carolyn Blair, Mr. Frank Layman

Subscription Rate $1.00 Per Semester



Byrons Graphic Arts — Printers

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the Act of Congress of March 8, 1870.

All letters to the editor must be signed, limited to 300 words, and submitted to a staff member by the Saturday prior to tne regular date of publication.

Looking For Something Special?

We carry a complete line of quality Costume Jewelry and fine accessories, designed to perfectly compliment your Easter ensemble. Why not stop in today?

BROADWAY JEWELERS

GOING ON A TRIP?

TAPER PANTS – $2.98 JAMAICAS – $1.98

BLOUSES – Roll up Sleeve, Italian Color in Pastels, Black & White – $1.98

YOUNG MEN'S CASUAL PANTS – $2.99
– All "Wash & Wear" –

THE FAMILY STORE

(Juse back of Byrne Drug Store)

Need Shoes?....

See

HAROLD BROWN AND GEORGE HENRY

At

C. C. MOORE'S

SHOEMAKERS SHOE STORE

"Maryville's Good Shoe Store"

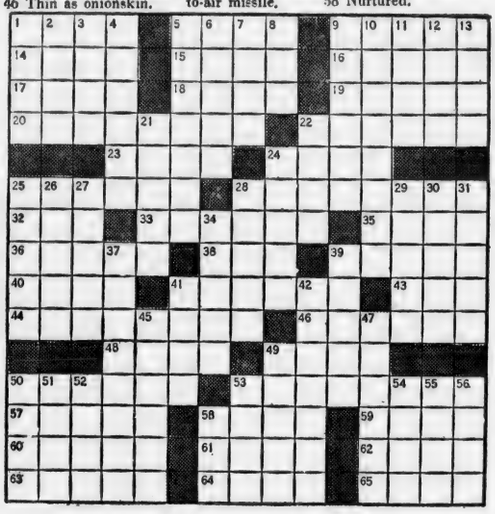
CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK

218 COURT STREET

EASTER IDEALS – – EASTER GREETINGS
EASTER CARDS

STUDENTS ALWAYS WELCOME!

YU 3-4982



Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS

1 Handle of sword.
5 Apiece.
9 Spurious.
14 Part of Saudi Arabia.
15 Venus of ___ 16 Pope's veil.
17 Stout's stout sleuth.
18 Quarry.
19 Creator of Winnie-the-Pooh.
20 Bandanna.
22 Early dictator.
23 Drove.
24 Exhausted.
25 Meadow saxifrage: Bot.
28 Custom.
32 Everything.
33 1959: Rom.
35 Parrots.
36 Cries, as a calf.
38 Dine.
39 Buffets.
40 ___ Coty.
41 Man's name.
43 Social function.
44 Way in.
46 Thin as onionskin.
48 ___ Vallee.
49 One of the Muses.
50 Swift spots in river.
53 Product of imagination.
57 Excuse.
58 Censure harshly.
59 Duet's rival.
60 Small fish.
61 Quiet.
62 Couple.
63 Pluto's abode.
64 Imbued thoroughly.
65 Margin.

DOWN

1 Skein.
2 Conversational phrase: 2 words
3 Railroad in N.Y.c. Abbr.
4 Medicinal lozenge.
5 Based solely on experiment.
6 Ventilated.
7 Musical symbol.
8 Hog-driving call.
9 Air Force ground-to-air missile.
10 Eastern.
11 Gallons: Abbr.
12 Cubitus.
13 Predictor.
21 Steering wheels.
22 Cajole.
24 Draw up or draft.
25 U.S. jet plane.
26 Lochinvar's lady.
27 Bevel.
28 ___ geometry.
29 Incensed.
30 Skip or jump.
31 Literary product.
34 Clemency.
37 Simply awful.
39 Impart color to.
41 Closes.
42 Spread out.
45 Jobs for a C.P.A.
47 Two-quart tankard.
49 Salmon P. ___
50 Ill-considered.
51 Soprano Gluck.
52 Mottled.
53 Act.
54 Unproductive.
55 Chant.
56 See 62 Across.
58 Nurtured.

This Crossword Puzzle Sponsored by

The J & K SUPER STORES

Headquarters For: All your SNACKS, PICNIC and Get-Together FOODS. See us for that eat-out or picnic. Special Orders Get Special Attention.

DROP IN on your way back from town -- Last stop for your favorite goodies, soaps and everyday needs.

THE J & K SUPER – CHURCH STREET

The "Y" Store Proudly serves

MAYFIELD'S Ice Cream and Milk

Smoother, Richer, better Tasting

Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

The BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES

- Check Accounts
- Savings Accounts
- Christmas Club Savings
- Transfer of Funds
- Banking from Your Car
- Night Depository Service

– YOUR COLLEGE BANK –

Student Groups Condemn HUAC Film As Controversy Continues

(A Roundup on Student Activity from numerous College Newspapers)

(UPS) — Students at Moravian College in Representative Francis Walter's home state of Pennsylvania took a dim view of the HUAC film "Operation Abolition" when it was shown there last Wednesday, according to the student newspaper, Comenian.

An audience of nearly 100 students and a panel of four faculty members viewed the film, followed by an open discussion. Dr. John V. Machell, professor of sociology, asserted that the film was "a tragic document" which attempted to show that "anybody who opposes the Committee is either a Communist or a dupe."

The only evident disagreement centred around a controversy over whether the student demonstrators against the HUAC's hearings in San Francisco last May were actually duped by the Communist instigators.

In response to the Congressman's suggestion, the Comenian commented, "But it seems that students' attention had better be directed toward those attempting to intimidate them by labeling them dupes."

In the continuation of a student protest move at Cornell University, a petition calling for abolition of the Committee is being circulated from a booth in the lobby of Willard Straight Hall. The petition will be sent to the House of Representatives and placed as an advertisement in The Cornell Daily Sun or The Ithaca Journal.

At the University of Pennsylvania, the Young Democrats became the first campus group to join what appears to be a nationwide chorus of student protest against the HUAC, reports The Daily Pennsylvanian. In a statement released last week, the Young Democrats called for the abolition of the Committee. A spokesman for the group said, "This resolution was far from unanimous, but it shows that a majority of Penn Young Democrats feel strongly enough about the excesses of HUAC to risk having our fellow Democrats, Congressman Francis Walter (D-Pa.), or J. Edgar Hoover, label us Communist.

"In fact, the only dissent from the resolution came from several members who wanted merely to censure the committee and call for its reconstitution under a liberal chairman, in the hope that under new leadership it would stop witch-hunting."

Three University of Wisconsin students last week took their criticisms of HUAC to the state's legislative Assembly. The three, including the president of the University's Young Democrat Club which has launched a state-aide drive among YD groups to condemn both the film and the Committee, testified before the State Judiciary Committee. The hearing is a result of a resolution introduced into the State legislature supporting HUAC in opposition to Wisconsin's Governor Nelson, who has publically condemned it.

Governor Nelson spoke out against HUAC in reaction to a bitter attack by Congressman Walters on the signers of an advertisement in the New York Times, February 9, which called for abolition of the Committee. Walters called those in opposition to his committee "communist inspired." Nelson called Walters' attack "irresponsible and unwarranted."

Among the signers of the advertisement were three Wisconsin professors. Seven professors from the University of New Mexico were also among the signers. Not long after publication of the ad, a Roswell, New Mexico, American Legion Post came out in full support of the HUAC and its methods of investigation and called for investigation of the University of New Mexico by the governor and the legislature of the State.

Both the Committee and the film have come up for some harsh criticism from the Smith College Sophian. Following the showing of the film by Challenge on the Smith campus, the newspaper commented, "'Operation Abolition' made its debut at Smith. The film was a prime example of a different 'operation abolition', the abolition by HUAC of one of our most precious freedoms, one guaranteed to us in the Bill of Rights, the freedom to disagree without being labeled as a Communist or a Communist dupe."

"Daddy, all the kids say there isn't any Easter Bunny."

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR

Southern Shoes

Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.

116 West Broadway

"B" casuals

Ours alone — but designed with you in mind! Sun and fun-worshipping cotton knits that have gone stripe-happy. Tops, pants go to all lengths to make this fashion point. High-key colors too: avocado green, helio, corn silk yellow. And yes, even our prices are relaxing!

- Solid color cropped top; striped fringe. S, M, L. 1.98
- Fully lined striped capri pants. 8-16. 6.98
- Striped poncho. Sizes S, M, L. 3.98
- Deck pants, rolled-up cuffs. Sizes 8-16. 5.98
- Striped sleeveless top. Sizes S, M, L. 3.59
- Fully lined solid color jamaicas. 4.98
- ¾ sleeve boat-neck in-or-out shirt. 2.98
- Fully lined striped jamaicas. 4.98

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock
of Quality Products Including
a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE
SUPER MARKET

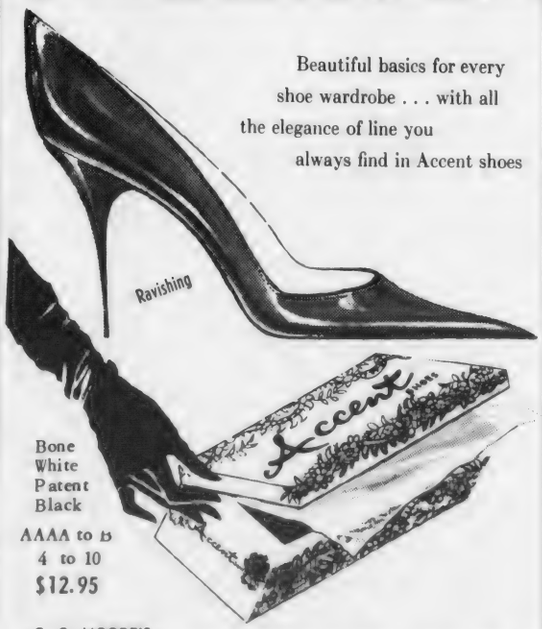
Washington Avenue

Whatever you need in the way of pastries or baked goods, for that special occasion, we have just the thing!

VAN'S BAKERY

Call the sweetest numbers in town –
YU 2-7920 YU 3-4413

RECORDS



Complete selection of Hi-Fi STERO Records—
Quality Repair work on Radios & Record Players

HITCH RADIO and T.V.
Record Department

See us First for your EASTER gifts . . .

We feature a fine selection of Easter Cards,
plus a complete line of Whitman,
Belle-Camp & Pangburn Candies!

BYRNE DRUG COMPANY

Beautiful basics for every shoe wardrobe . . . with all the elegance of line you always find in Accent shoes

Bone
White
Patent
Black

AAAA to B
4 to 10
$12.95

C. C. MOORE'S
SHOEMAKERS SHOE STORE
"Maryville's Good Shoe Store"

KAPPA PHI

Kappa Phi's annual Leading Lady Show was given on February 25th. Leading Ladies selected for 1961 include Misses Zaida Brown, Linda Dobson, Sue Fagan, Phyl Hembree, Peggy Reiter and Elva Yohe. The highly successful Leading Lady production was The King's Dear, written by Henry Weeks and Blair Moffett.

Saturday, March 11, was Annual Skit Night production. Thanks to the efforts of Carl McDonald, Kappa Phi received the highest rating given to a men's society.

One of the most heartening developments for the men of Kappa Phi has been the success enjoyed by its intramural teams. Phi's 8 basketball teams are continuing the society's fine showing this semester. Special praise is due Kappa Phi's freshman team, the Yearlings, who won both the B league championship and the B league tournament. This is the first time that a freshman team has done so well in intramural competition.

SIG NEWS

The first annual Ralph Waldo Lloyd Memorial Award was presented Saturday night March 18th. It is an award given to the person who has done the most for the Alpha Sigma society. This year's recipient was Bill Owenby. Bill has been a very active member of Sig, a good student, and excellent athelete, during his four years at Maryville.

The meeting at which the award was made was a joint Theta-Sig meeting and was held in the FAC music hall. We would like to thank Mr. Bob Ranger, Mr. Triplett, and Dr. Lloyd for their part in helping to make the program a success.

The programs for the remainder of the semester are almost complete and should prove very enjoyable. Some of the events will include a film on the 1960 World Series a guest speaker from the Chinese Mission field.

SOCIETY NEWS

CHI BETA

The Skit Nite trophy was presented to the members of Chi Beta by president Kathy Eisenhart at the meeting last week. Also, two new members, Judy Brown and Terry Brewster, and an honorary member, Mrs. Robinson were introduced.

In connection with the Fred Hope Fund Drive there will be a breakfast tomorrow morning at 7:45 in the New Dorm basement. Members will be admitted by paying the amount which corresponds to her age: all proceeds will be given to Momjepom. In charge of planning are Sylvia Fugate and Barbara Williams and their chapters.

THETA NEWS

The second joint meeting of Sig-Theta was held in the Fine Arts Center Music Hall on March 18. Sig presented their "Man of the Year Program," honoring Bill Owenby.

Skit night was a big success. Among the many Theatas who worked hard on the skit were Sue Lemme and Lynn Waddington who wrote the script, Lois Lockett who worked on costumes, and Carol Cooper who did sound effects.

Theata's all star basketball team, led by Harriette Blankenship, has been practicing.

The new constitution will appear in final form as soon as final action is taken by Student Council as to Society Rush Week plans.

Shower Proof
NYLON
JACKETS
for LADIES & MEN

* Nylon
* Zipper
* Unlined

Reg. $6.95
$4.95

*White * Navy * Yellow
Mint * Charcoal
Beige * Powder Blue
Ladies: White and Pastels

GIFF'S
SPORTING GOODS
202 N. Cusick St. YU 3-2166

Remember loved ones with a floral gift
ORDER Easter Flowers NOW!

Especially at Easter, you can say it better with flowers. This Easter season, let flowers carry your message of love and best wishes. Call at our shop, or see our campus agent, Bill Shanefelt

HORNE'S FLORIST
215 W. Broadway YU 2-2690

to match your "dress up" mood

Buy Your EASTER OUTFIT from DUGGAN'S at BIG SAVINGS!

WASH & WEAR SUITS. 17.95
65% Dacron – 35% Rayon – Pay for it on your Dry Cleaning.

FOUR SEASON SUITS . . . . .24.95 and 27.95
Hard finish Woolens – 55% Dacron and 45% Wool.
Maryville's Most Complete Selection – Over 600 to Choose from.

SPORT COATS . . . . . .14.95 and 17.95
Complete Selection in Four Season Coats and Spring & Summer.

SPRING & SUMMER PANTS
ONE GROUP – 2 pr. 6.99

Nationally Advertised Brand – Others $4.98 & $5.98
Save Over ½ on Carefully Selected Irregulars.

Duggan's
Mens' Store

Kappa Phi Takes Shoe 55 - 36

Sachet and Sneakers

The W.A.A. basketball tournament has come to an end. This sport seems to be the most popular, as evidenced by the large number of participants and also the spectators. The season was very exciting, with some close games such as 12-11, 9-10, 15-16, 20-18 some one-sided scores such as 50-10, 25-6, 36-13, and a "sudden death" play off.

The outstanding team was the Chi Beta Travelers who went undefeated for the second season. The Travelers have been playing basketball as a team for three years, and in that time had only one defeat. The captain is forward Linda Roberts who averaged 19 points a game. Helping her on offense were centers Elsie Harris and Susie Fagan. Leading the defense were Sylvia Fugate and Peggy Williams, a newcomer to the team.

There were many outstanding players in the tournament. An all-star team was picked by members of Women's M Club, events managers, and Miss Leslie. The team and tournament statistics are as follows.

All Star Team

Chi Beta
F. Linda Roberts
F. Elsie Harris
F. Susie Fagan
F. Nancy Hord
F. Shirley Mease
G. Carol Cox
G. Jeanne Price
G. Janet Reinke
G. Joy Umberger
G. Sylvia Fugate
G. Peggy Williams
G. Kathy Eisenhart

Theta Epsilon
F. Harriette Blankenship
F. Emily Wood
F. Shari Simmers
F. Pat Williams
F. Nancy Magill
F. Ann Doscher
F. Carol Cooper
G. Ruth McDade
G. Mary Pettigrew
G. Sandra Burris
G. Ginny Hoskinson
G. Lois Lockett

Team Standings

	W	L
XB Travelers	6	0
XB Floorburners	4	2
Theta I	3	3
Theta II	3	3
XB Sparkplugs	2	4
Theta III	0	6

Leading Scorers

1. Linda Roberts	114
2. Harriette Blankenship	72
3. Pat Williams	68
4. Shirley Mease	68

MSC Proposes New Amendment

At a meeting on Sunday, March 19, the Men's Student Cooperative Council voted to make the following amendment to its constitution: Artcle IV, Section 3a, Paragraph 4 Presiding over the Cooperative Council shall be a Chairman. There shall also be a Secretary-Treasurer.

a. The Chairman shall be elected at the spring election by a majority of the Men's Student Cooperative members voting, and shall assume his duties at the close of the spring semester.

b. The Secretary-Treasurer shall be elected by the Cooperative Council from its own membership at its first meeting in September.

The amendment, if passed, will allow each man living on campus to have a direct voice in the election of the chairman and will permit the functions of the M.S.C. to be carried on in the opening weeks of school as well as during the summer months. The amendment (pending its approval by the Student Council and the Executive Council) will be presented to all men living on campus at a meeting to be held on Easter Sunday, April 2, at 9:45 P.M. in the lobby of Carnegie Hall.

Minds are like parachutes, they only work when open.
DeWar NEA Journal

* * * * * *

A person like myself is often regarded as an extremist in South Africa. If it be extreme to choose justice and not injustice, and not to seek some middle of the road between them. then I am happy to be called an extremist.
Alan Paton

Town Rounders, Kappa Phi Teams Win Tournament

After a most spirited season the Intramural League held its annual post-season tournament games and the Town Rounders and Yearlings of Kappa Phi took top honors. In winning the tournament classic the Town Rounders, led by Charlie Thomas swept past the second-seeded Dixie Ding Dongers in the finals by the score of 39-36. Turning to the B League championship game, the Kappa Phi Yearlings and the Kappa Phi Jousters had quite a time in their battle of champions. Both teams ended the regular season in an exact tie with 8-1 records and spectators at the final game still could not find much difference,—incidently neither did the scorer, as the final game ended in double-overtime win for the Freshman Yearlings. This did not settle matters, for on Saturday the same two teams met for the League championship and again the Yearlings pulled out another squeeker 21-19.

Here are the final standing in the Intramural League:

"A" League

	Won	Lost
Town Rounders	7	0
Dixie Ding Dongers	6	1
Vikings (Kappa Phi)	5	2
Knights (Kappa Phi)	4	3
Amebias (Alpha Sig)	3	4
Pile Drivers (Sig)	2	5
Subversive "7" (Sig)	1	6
Faculty	0	7

"B" League

	Won	Lost
Kappa Phi Yearlings	8	1
Kappa Phi Jousters	8	1
Sig Ball Pen Hammers	7	2
Olympians	6	3
Kappa Phi Tons-O-Fun	5	4
Mountaineers	4	5
Kappa Phi Chipmonks	3	6
Kappa Phi G Strings	3	6
Kappa Phi Crusaders	1	8
Alpha Sig Band Team	0	9

Tournament Results

"A" League

Town Rounders 52, Amebias 43

Knights 39, Pile Drivers 29

Ding Dongers 33, Subversive "7" 29

Vikings 48, Faculty 38

Town Rounders 48, Knights 43

Ding Dongers 46, Vikings 34

Town Rounders 39, Ding Dongers 36

"B" League

Crusaders 24, Chip Monks 21

G-Strings 21, Sig Band 15

Yearlings 40, Tons -O- Fun 28

Olympians 29, Crusaders 27

Jousters 38, Mountaineers 24

Ball Pen Hammers 50, G- Strings 28

Yearlings 38, Olypians 28

Jousters 27, Ball Peen Hammers 22

Yearlings 34, Jousters 31 (double-overtime)

"A" League Final Game

Town Rounders (39)		Ding Dongers (36)
Thomas	18	Kidd	1
Russell	2	Fox	6
Bowers	2	Giffin	7
Phelps	2	Crawford	9
Lingenfelter	15	Webb	2
Stafford, P.	0	Henry	9
Stafford, R.	0	Peterson	2
Renfro	0

"B" League Final Game *

Kappa Phi Yearlings (34)		Kappa Phi Jousters (31)
Howes	16	Brown	6
Fritche	4	Schember	4
Black	4	Parks	2
Svpher	4	Birch	3
Williamson	6	Dumford	16

* Double—Overtime

Play-Off Game for "B" League Championship

Yearlings (21)		Jousters (19)
Fritche	5	Brown	4
Svpher	2	Dumford	9
Howes	7	Park	2
Williamson	4	Birch	4
Black	3	Schember	0

Kappa Phi defeated Alpha Sigma in the annual Stinkin Shoe Game 55-36 played in the Alumni Gym last Tuesday. Outstanding players included Bruce Semple, Dyrk Couser, Bryson Struce, and Bruce Hudson. Kappa Phi took the lead with six minutes gone in the game and never gave it up the rest of the way.

Kappa Phi (55) McGill 4; Brown 7; Tooker 3; Thompson 6; Semple 15; Richmond 5; Poland 2; Murchinson 1; Hudson 10; Mac Donald 2.

Alpha Sigma (36) Couser 15; Petty 3; Ries 2; Struce 13; Doyscher 2; Smith 1.

Spring Sports Schedule

BASEBALL

March 28—Maryland (H)
March 29—Maryland (H)
April 1—Toledo (H)
April 3—Toledo (H)
April 14—Tusculum (H)
April 18—Carson-Newman (H)
April 21—Tusculum (T)
April 22—Emory & Henry (H)
April 24—LMU (T)
April 25—Hiwassee (T)
April 28—Jacksonville State (H)
April 29—Jacksonville State (H)
May 3—Carson-Newman (T)
May 5—U. of Tenn. (H)
May 6—U. of Tenn. (T)
May 13—East Tenn. State (T)
May 15—Hiwassee (H)
May 16—East Tenn. State (H)
May 20—Emory & Henry (T)

TRACK

March 25—Cumberland (H)
April 1—East Tenn. State (H)
April 15—Carson-Newman (T)
April 19—Bryan (H)
April 21—Milligan (T)
May 5-6 State Meet

TENNIS

March 31—Tenn. Wesleyan (T)
April 4—Tenn. Wesleyan (H)
April 13—King (T)
April 14—Emory & Henry (T)
April 18—Chattanooga (H)
April 21—LMU (T)
April 24—Carson-Newman (T)
April 27—King (H)
April 28—Chattanooga (T)
May 1—East Tenn. State (T)
May 2—Milligan (H)
May 8—LMU (H)

Answer to Today's Puzzle

H	I	L	T		E	A	C	H		B	O	G	U	S
A	S	T	R		M	I	L	O		O	R	A	L	E
N	E	R	O		P	R	E	Y		M	I	L	N	E
K	E	R	C	H	I	E	F		C	A	E	S	A	R
			H	E	R	D		W	O	R	N
S	E	S	E	L	I		P	R	A	C	T	I	C	E
A	L	L		M	C	M	L	I	X		A	R	A	S
B	L	A	T	S		E	A	T		S	L	A	P	S
R	E	N	E		E	R	N	E	S	T		T	E	A
E	N	T	R	A	N	C	E		P	A	P	E	R	Y
		R	U	D	Y		C	L	I	O
R	A	P	I	D	S		P	H	A	N	T	A	S	Y
A	L	I	B	I		F	L	A	Y		T	R	I	C
S	M	E	L	T		E	A	S	E		L	I	N	K
H	A	D	E	S		D	Y	E	D		E	D	G	E

I disapprove of what you say, but I will fight to the death for your right to say it.
Tallentyre in The Friends of Voltaire

Is your watch a "wonder watch?"

Do you look at it and wonder exactly what time it is? Our professional watchmaker is an expert at putting this kind of watch in tip-top shape. Why not bring yours in for him to look over? Prompt service. Satisfaction guaranteed.

STERCHI'S
Jewelry Dept.
237 W. Broadway

Relax At The Movies
CAPITOL THEATRE
Enjoy The Best

Starts Sunday

Coming Soon

SALUTING THE CIVIL WAR CENTENNIAL!

LEONARD'S STEAK HOUSE

Now Offers

FOOD FOR THE APPETITE. . .
Steaks, Italian Pizza, and New Specialties

DINNER – 11:15–2:15 SUPPER – 5:00–10:00
EVERY SUNDAY – 11:30–8:00

FOOD FOR THOUGHT. . .
This time, like all other times, is a very good one;
if we only knew what to do with it.

WON'T WRITE?
CALL WHITE
Keep your typewriter working at its best.
White's factory-trained repairmen are at your service.
WHITE OFFICE MACHINES
YU 3-4762

Colleges, Peace Corps Opinions Differ

(UPS) — Reacting quickly to President Kennedy's executive order establishing a temporary Youth Peace Corps, several U. S. colleges and student organizations have come forward with their support, doubts and offers of services.

Columbia University's Student Board unanimously approved sending a letter to Columbia's President Grayson Kirk urging him to "offer Columbia as a regional training center for future Peace Corps personnel."

On record in support of the Corps are Phillips University in Enid, Oklahoma, the University of Oklahoma, the University of Redlands, California, the University of Minnesota, and CCNY.

Doubts come in the form of the much discussed question of the Corps as an alternative to compulsory military training; feeling runs high because the Corps does not serve as such an alternative.

A National Conference on Youth Service Abroad has been scheduled by NSA for March 29, 30 and 31, to enable students to work out these problems and to solidify their opinions on the Peace Corps and their responsibilities in it. A delegate from each student government, with an observer, has been invited to the conference, at which the list of speakers includes, Senator Hubert Humphrey, Congressman Henry S. Reuss, and Sargent Shriver, head of the temporary Peace Corps.

Columbia Univ. Seeks Teachers For E. Africa Plan

Recent consultations have resulted in a plan, sponsored by the International Cooperation Administration to Teachers College, Columbia University, to send 150 young Americans, to teach in secondary schools of East Africa. All of the participants in this program will receive additional training in a variety of subjects including history, geography, politics, economics, and social anthropology of East Africa as well as instruction in the curriculum, methods and foundatons of teaching in the secondary schools of the area.

Upon special completion of orientation and training, participants will be appointed as Education Officers for a two-year period of service by the Territorial Government to which they are assigned. These pople wil be given an allowance to cover such things as housing, clothing, travel, and medical services.

March 31 has been established as the deadline for receiving applications for prospective participants. Additional information and application forms are available in the Personnel Office.

The only people who never make mistakes are those who do nothing. —Thomas Huxley

DISCOUNT SPECIALS!

SPEIDEL IDENTIFICATION BRACELETS
— White or Yellow —
Reg. $4.95, our price $2.98

LADY SHEAFFER PENS —
Reg. $10.00
Our Price $4.95

One Group
WATCH BANDS
½ Price

JEWELRY
Rhinestone and Pearls
Reduced up to 50 percent

STERCHI'S
Jewelry Dept.
237 W. Broadway

HUSH PUPPIES At SHOEMAKER'S
All Colors
All Sizes
All Styles
$9.95

See Your College Student Friends
HAROLD BROWN GEORGE HENRY

C. C. MOORE'S
SHOEMAKERS SHOE STORE
"Maryville's Good Shoe Store"

Thrifty Shops

New Shipments
Arriving Daily !!
Dresses for Every Occasion in the prices you can afford to pay
$5.99 to 16.99
Sizes—7 to 20
14½ to 24½
A Stunning Array of Easter Fashions ...
Pleasing to Both Eye and Pocketbook.

DOWNTOWN
CITY DRUG CO.
108 W. Broadway
ONCE A YEAR SPECIAL
by LANVIN
Arpege Cologne.....$2.50
My Sin Cologne..... $2.00

Be one of the best dressed on Campus —
Send your Cleaning and Laundry to
MARYVILLE Cleaners
Jim Coup—Carnegie
Pat Williams—Baldwin
Dale Steamer—Memorial
Marguerite Gilly—New Dorm
Charlotte Murchison—Pearsons
Quality Work
Efficient Friendly Service

Newest Styles
in famous Deltah
SIMULATED PEARLS

necklace shown
$6.00
Classic earrings—dome shape simulated pearls mounted on 12K Gold Filled screw back mountings.
Choose from a wide selection of exquisite Deltah necklaces, either popular graduated style, or the attractive uniform style shown above.
$6.00 and up
Here's an important new necklace fashion! Uniform size, lustrous, simulated pearls, with brilliant rhinestone-set clasp that adjusts to your neck size.
This exquisite necklace is a Deltah creation, which means it's the most beautiful of its kind—and now offered at a price much less than you'd expect for such fine quality. Both necklace and earrings supplied in rich gift boxes.
EASY CREDIT TERMS
TIPTON
Jewelry
101 Court Street

Make Easter Extra-Special with Fine Foods from our Kitchen. . .

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.
SEYMOUR'S
Open 4 am – 11 pm
YU 2-9921

Look Snappy At Easter
WITH ARROW ACCESSORIES

wherever you go...
you look better
in
ARROW
Tailoring of the finest kind, fit that's perfect, fashion that's unquestionably correct! Whatever Arrow fashion you wear, and wherever you go — you know you've made the right choice when it's Arrow.

Dress Shirts .....$4.50 up
Sport Shirts..... $4.00 up
Neck Ties..... $1.50 up
Hankderchiefs..... .35 up
Proffitt's

The Highland Echo

Vol. 46, No. 12 Maryville, Tennessee April 22, 1961

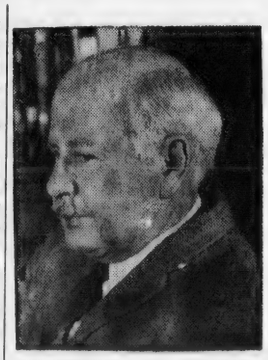
Pat Pearson Wins Danforth Fellowship

MAY COURT

Front row: Rosalind Brown, Linda Roberts, Peggy Burris, Mickie Schimizu, Sue Quigg.
Back row: Bill Ward, Don Harward, Norio Ohta, David Whitaker. Not present Larry Bush.

BURRIS, HARWARD REIGN ON MAY DAY

Peggy Burris and Don Harward will reign as Queen and King of May Day during the May Day Festival which will be held Monday, May 1 in the Amphitheater at 2:30. The Court will be composed of Linda Roberts and Larry Bush, senior representatives; Mickie Schimizu and Norio Ohta, Junior representatives; Rosalind Brown and Bill Ward, sophomore Representatives; and Sue Quigg and Dave Whitaker, freshmen representatives. Anne Baird will be the flower girl and Weldon Baird will be the page.



The setting of the festival will be at a barbeque at an old Southern plantation; Uncle Remus and a little boy will watch the entertainment provided for the King and Queen of May. Besides the traditional May Pole dance, there will be folk dances and modern dances by the physical ed classes. Tumblers, headed by Phyllis Deloteus, will perform, and the Dixieland Band will provide special entertainment. The story of Brer Rabbit and the Tar Baby will also be acted out.

May Day is given by the Physical Education Department, and the conncessions will be handled by the Women's "M" Club. Physical Education majors will head the following committees: Court and Ushers, Lois Lockett; Publicity, Harriette Blankenship; and Story, Ruthanne Campbell.

SHIRER TO SPEAK IN FINAL LECTURE SERIES MAY 4

William L. Shirer, internationally famous foreign correspondant and author, will give the fifth and final lecture in the 1960-61 Lecture Series on Thursday evening, May 4, at eight o'clock in the Maryville College Theatre.

Mr. Shirer, who has lectured extensively throughout the United States for many years, will cover in his address the pressing problems now before the American people from both the national and international points of view.

WILLIAM L. SHIRER

Born in Chicago, he moved to Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and remained there until his graduation from Coe College in 1925. As a reporter for the Chicago Tribune he has travelled extensively in Europe. In 1937 he joined the foreign correspondants' staff of the Columbia Broadcasting System. In 1941 Mr. Shirer's famous Berlin Diary came out and was an immediate best-seller and a Book-of-the-Month Club selection. He has written many other outstanding books, his latest one being The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich, which may well be the definitive history of one of the greatest and most frightening chapters of the history of mankind.

Mr. Shirer has been the recipient of many honors: The George Foster Peabody Award, radio's greatest prize, the Wendell Wilkie One World Award for his outstanding achievements in journalism, and the Legion of Honor from France. He has been president of the Author's Guild, and is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, the Foreign Policy Association, and the Farm Bureau.

Long recognized as a keen observer and a highly able reporter on the state of the nation and the world, Mr. Shirer's lectures have come to be known as virtual front-page reports of the day's developments. His lectures are enriched with a wide variety of personal experiences as an American foreign correspondant, radio commentator, and author.

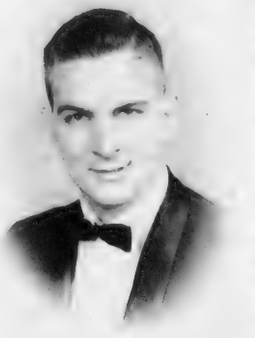
14 Girls To Be In Daisy Chain

Announcement of the traditional Daisy chain has been made for this school year. Selected by the vice president of the junior class, Roger Nooe, the Chain consists of fourteen junior girls who have been outstanding in their service to Maryville College.

Those girls chosen are Judith Agee, English major, Cheyenne, Wyoming; Constance Bondurant, Christian education major, Prairie Village, Kansas; Ellen Dozier, Christian education major, Decatur, Georgia; Rachael Goddard, elementary education major, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Carol Greenwood, elementary education major Mt. Holly, New Jersey; Elsie Harris, English major, Pineville, North Carolina; Glorianna Hutcheson, home economics major, Atlanta, Georgia; Rebeccah Kinnamon, English major, Kernersville, North Carolina; Sue Lemme, English major, Normal, Illinios; Lois Lockett, physical education major, Knoxville, Tennessee; Barbara Nielson, elementary education major, Rutherford, New Jersey; Beth Reichardt, English major, Ashland, Kentucky; Sue Stewart, elementary education major, Wilmington, Delaware; and Jeanne Wilson, home economics major, Silver Springs, Maryland.

On Commencement day, May 31, the girls, dressed alike in gowns made by themselves and carrying a rope of daisies, will form a chain through which the seniors will pass in their graduation procession.

BRIGADOON TO BE GIVEN APRIL 28-29



"Brigadoon," the annual musical production of the Men's Glee Club and Women's Choir will be presented in the Theatre on Friday and Saturday, April 28-29 at 8 p.m.

Dan H. Kinsinger directs the vocal groups, and Lynn Waddington is drama director. The orchestra will be under the direction of John A. Roberts, and choreography is by Mrs. Mitchell R. Van Metre with Carol Fowke serving as technical advisor.

"Brigadoon" is the story of an Eighteenth Century Scottish village which appears only once each hundred years and then disappears. Two Americans, Tommy, played by Philip Eslinger, and Jeff, portrayed by Carl McDonald, happen to be at the right place when the village reappears. Through a delightful musical story, there is a theme of psychological turmoil and final release.

Leading roles, besides the two Americans, are portrayed by Terry Brewster as Fiona; Mary Ann Sumey, Jean; Oscar Downey, Charlie; Don Stupak, Mr. Lundie; and Eleanor Fowler, Meg. Among the favorite tunes featured in "Brigadoon" are "There But for You Go I." "Heather on the Hill," "Almost Like Being in Love," Come to Me, Bend to Me," and "Waiting for My Dearie."

Tickets may be reserved in the treasurer's office or in the theatre lobby during the afternoons; they will also be on sale at the door.

DR. MARK MAY TO BE SPEAKER AT COMMENCEMENT

The Commencement address on May 31 will be given by Dr. Mark A. May, Professor of Educational Psychology and Director of the famous Institute of Human Relations at Yale University.

Dr. May is one of Maryville's most distinguished graduates, and holds earned degrees also from the University of Chicago, Syracuse University, Columbia University, and Yale University.

Among his many civic and national services is that of Chairman of the United States Advisory Committee on Information.

The Baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, May 28 will be given, as in former years, by President Ralph W. Lloyd.

The Commencement Vespers sermon will be given by Rev. Hal Baldwin Lloyd, of the Class of 1943, son of President and Mrs. Lloyd, and Pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Rockford, Illinois.

'20's COMEDY FILM LAST OF SERIES

This evening at 8:00 P.M., the Maryville College Playhouse presents the final Film Series attraction for this year. Tonight's movie, The Golden Age of Comedy, is a collection of the funniest scenes of some of the masters of comedy of the 20's, Laurel and Hardy, Ben Turpin, Will Rogers, Carole Lombard, Jean Harlow, and the Keystone Cops.

College Choir To Give Concert

The Maryville College Choir will present its home concert on Sunday, April 23 at 7:00 p.m. in Wilson Chapel.

The program is divided into three parts. The first part contains "All Breathing Life" (Bach), "O magnum mysterium" (Victoria), "Crucifixus" (Lotti), "O filii et filiae" (Leisring), "Sicut cervus" (Palestrina), and "Alleluia, ascendit Deus" (Byrd). The second part includes "Ecce sacerdos" (Bruckner), "Salvation Is Created" (Tschesnokoff), and three spirituals, "Two Wings," "Koom Ba Yah," and "Ain'a That Good News." The final part of the program contains "Fanfare Noel" (Wright), "Hosanna to the Son of David" (Willan), "O Come and Mourn" (Bingham), "The Lord Reigneth" (Lockwood), and "Blessed Be the Lord" (Harter).

Charles Patrick Pearson, senior English major at Maryville College, has been awarded a Danforth Fellowship for graduate study. He will begin graduate study at Yale University in the fall of 1961, in the fields of medieval and Renaissance literature. The Danforth Foundation was founded in 1927 by Mr. and Mrs. William H. Danforth of St. Louis; the graduate fellowship program was inaugurated in 1951, for the purpose of recruiting and training college teachers with Christian standards and ideals. Approximately one hundred appointments are made each year. Ninety-eight have been made for 1961. Major qualifications for the fellowship are outstanding academic ability, a personality which contributes to constructive creative effort in the classroom, sound character and integrity, and serious inquiry within the Christian tradition.

Mr. Pearson, the first Maryville student ever to receive the Danforth Fellowship, is also the recent winner of a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship. This fellowship has previously been won at Maryville College by Ruth Morris Blakely in the field of biology, 1958; Keith Ham in history, 1959; and John Gilmour in philosophy, 1960.

A member of Alpha Gamma Sigma honor society, Mr. Pearson won the society's sophomore academic award. His record at Maryville consists of a 4.0 standing. He was recently elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. A graduate of Maryville High School, he served with the Army Signal Corps in Europe. He is married and is the father of two children.

Y RETREAT TO BE AT LAUREL LAKE

This afternoon old and new cabinet members of YM-YWCA will travel to Laurel Lake for the annual spring retreat. Saturday's program will include time for discussion groups, planning, recreation, and a dedication service. After a worship service Sunday morning, the new cabinet will meet to plan next year's program.

The retreat will be led by the newly elected Y presidents. Elsie Harris and Mike Garrett. Elsie is an English major from Pineville, North Carolina; Mike, who is from Monett, Missouri, is also an English major. Other executive officers elected to the YW cabinet are Barbara Nielson, vice-president; Lois Ann Jones, secretary; Ann Kuykendall, treasurer; and Janet Lverly, Nu Gamma chairman. YM officers are Webb Spraetz, vice-president; Tim Hanks, secretary; Don McFerron, treasurer; and Keen Compher, sophomore representative.

Fagan To Give Art Exhibit

Miss Mary Susan Fagan, senior art major from Acworth, Georgia, will have an exhibit of her works in the lobby of the Theatre from April 20 through May 6.

Included in the show will be paintings, prints, sculptures, ceramics, and other items in the various media with which she has worked.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

The following are proposed amendments to the constitution:

1. Article V, Sec. 3:
   "WSGA and MSC shall constitute an independent administrative department of the government and shall govern only on matters pertaining to women's and men's residences."
2. Article VII. Sec. 3, para. b:
   "The Student Council shall be responsible for the conducting of all campus-wide elections, and other elections on request."
3. By-Law 1, Sec. 4:
   "The Elections Committee shall conduct all campus elections, all organizational elections, and elections for the various social honors such as for Queens, Kings, attendants, and sponsors."
4. By-Law 1, Sec. 5:
   "The Elections Committee shall conduct other elections when directed by the Student Council and run-off elections as necessary."
5. By-Law 8, Sec. 2:
   "Town Night Committee shall be a standing committee composed of:
   a. a Chairman from the Student Council.
   b. two representatives from each women's dormitory.
   c. two representatives from the MSC Council.
   d. one representative from each of the men's dormitories.

ON THE 26TH . . .

One of the many perennial pressures on the student mind is the matter of choosing, every springtime, at least a nominal head of government for the succeeding two semesters. It's a fast-paced, hectic ratrace, but everyone who enters it—win, lose, or draw—always seems to find it worthwhile from a standpoint of experience, if nothing else.

In talking with these prospective leaders, it becomes evident that each is fully aware, in degrees, of the apparent responsibilities connected with these two major campus jobs. Further, the matter of personalities or abilities would appear not to enter into the campaign: all are well suited and have previously proven themselves capable in areas that are essential to an effective government.

So the difference is in approach. As many philosophies, types of leadership, and means of looking at the college experience are involved as candidates. Each potential is characterized by effectiveness, originality, and power; each volunteer has his or her own view on how to exercise leadership and temper it with a moderate amount of followership. Each is also, and quite rightly so, convinced of an individual ability to do the best possible work. Finally, competence must be measured by sincerity.

That's a fortunate situation, too, because the heart of the matter is this: the only responsibility the student regularly has toward his leaders is to choose those who will be responsible to him. The decision as to superlatives—who is "best" or has the "best" and can bring out the "best" in those who are defeated—can, obviously, be made only by the electorate. And that's made up of individuals who are sufficiently hopeful to build on the progress of the past but also dissatisfied enough with its weaknesses to demand improvement. Personally speaking, I feel as though these five—win or lose, they can all remain leaders—constitute an excellent group to which the future can be entrusted.

—Bill Green

IN MEMORIAM

HOWARD HALL

"And when the earth shall claim your limbs, then shall you truly dance." —Kahlil Gibran

His hyacinths are lovely new—as is the memory of him who worked with God to make them so.
His life was little known to some;
It was just there
as the perfume of the flowers is there in his garden.
A friendly wave,
A game of checkers,
The brave wheel-chair-cast with a new motor, because Spring was coming and earth wanted working.
Spring came, and the next day he left his tools
But his hyacinths still bloom.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Vol. 46, No. 11 April 22, 1961

Member of University Press Service

Published bi-weekly during the year by the students of Maryville College

Editorial Staff

Editor ..... Phyllis Stine
News Editors ..... Helen Anne Easterly
Editor this issue ..... Pat Baker
Feature Editor ..... Carolyn Siera
Copy Editor ..... Lynn Herring
Exchange editor ..... Anitra Bard
Sports Editors ..... Kathy Eisenhart
George Roselli
Contributors this issue ..... Patti Paul, Pat Crossley,
June Wilson, Ellen Dozier, Arlene Ford,
Keen Compher, Marcia Rushworth
Typists ..... Jean Keller, Gloria Schwam

Business Staff

Business Manager ..... Mike Garrett
Business Assistant ..... Phyllis Deloteus
Circulation Manager ..... Jon Sypher
Faculty Advisors ..... Miss Carolyn Blair, Mr. Frank Layman

Subscription Rate $1.00 Per Semester

Byrons Graphic Arts — Printers

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the Act of Congress of March 8, 1870.

All letters to the editor must be signed, limited to 300 words, and submitted to a staff member by the Saturday prior to the regular date of publication.

Editorially Speaking

To Tell The Truth

Truth is getting to be rather old-fashioned these days, have you noticed? No one even says "that's true" anymore; nowdays it has to be dressed up with a lot of adjectives such as "that's the honest-to-goodness-unvarnished truth." Perhaps this is partly the result of the advertising industry whose motto seems to be "Tell the truth, the half-truth, and anything else that will help."

That's advertising, you say, and it doesn't really matter. We take it all with a grain of salt. All right, but what about propaganda —not Communist propaganda—but good American propaganda? Is it always—to use an old-fashioned word—the truth? Or is there sometimes just a little bit of distortion around the edges? Or perhaps more than a little? Well, if there is, you say again, it is only to make America seem better; it doesn't hurt anything because after all, we're right; and besides, the Communists do it. Just plain truth is, frankly, rather dull these days.

What are we honestly afraid of? If the "American Dream" is really the best way to live, our convictions should be based on truth alone. Are we afraid to look at truth in the sunlight because we aren't sure it would be enough? P. M. B.

Word To The Wise

At the risk of sounding like a left-over editorial from the national elections, the Echo would like to urge the student body to take time to study the candidates running for Student Council offices. And, at the risk of sounding like a firecracker going off on the 3rd of July, we would commend the present Student Council for the work they have accomplished this year. P. M. B.

"A classic is something that everybody wants to have read and nobody wants to read." Mark Twain

"The strongest man upon earth is he who stands most alone." Henrik Ibsen

Campaign Letters

No one knows what next year will bring to the Maryville College campus. With this in mind, I sincerely believe that the student body should be informed of a candidate's basic philosophy of Student Body Government—the basis on which he will make decisions and handle situations, requests and problems which do arise. The specific things I would like to see accomplished constitute a campaign platform. Mine is generally based on three goals -- communication, coordination and concern. Such a platform shall be more fully presented as the campaign moves along. My desire in this letter is to present to you my conviction concerning student body government.

I believe that the basis of Student Government should be a unity of concern—a balance of campus awareness and responsible national and world citizenship.

Campus improvement and campus projects grow and will be really successful when individuals are mature and can accept responsibility. As students grow in this respect, I believe that they will be more ready for campus improvement. Strong student government can help make such maturity and responsibility develop within the Maryville College student body.

Students the world over are aware of the place they hold in the current situations. For the student on this campus to go around blindly ignoring the world problem and the role he can play is a disgrace. I believe student government should strive to inform students and stir consciousness and action along these lines.

The student body president should be ready and able to stand for what he believes. I do not think these or any such goals can be accomplished apart from a vital Christian faith.

Campaign platforms are important, but even more so are the basic grounds on which a candidate stands. These are mine; I request your consideration of them and urge anyone who wants to speak to me about any part of this statement or my specific campaign platform to do so.

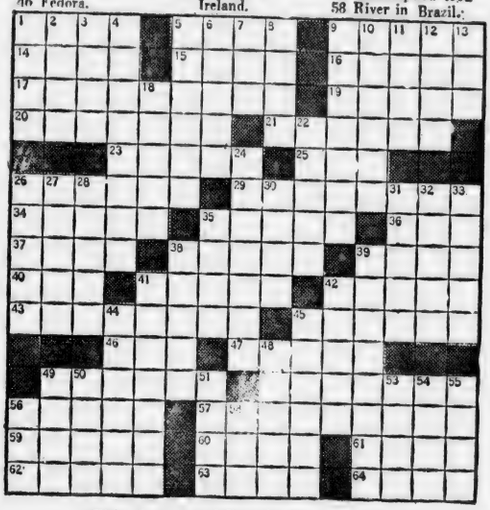
Connie Bondurant

We have achieved milestones in the past few years with the development of student awareness and the creation of a greater world interest. Once again we have reached that point when we must answer the question "Where do we go from here?" Now more than ever we need iniative, acceptance of responsibility, and interest of and for the Student Body.

What are the Students' obligations to the campus, the community, the nation, and the world? Some of the students' primary needs are to have a desire to expand his intellectual pursuits in order that he might be benifical to the campus community, to maintain effective relations with faculty and administration, and to continually strive to gain more definite insight into the ultimate purpose of each phase of our lives. It is necessary that the students' involvement in community life be geared, in some measure, toward the development of an active campus-community relationship through thoughtful and tactful undertakings. Concerning other colleges of a similar nature to Maryville, there could be a federation representing various student bodies. There would be an active correspondence relevent to particular achievements and problems encountered in various areas of student body activities.

Concerning the student and the nation, I feel it vital that students have some means of direct-

Cont'd, Page 4



Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS

1 River of the Pyrenees.
5 Leave out.
9 Phonograph records.
14 Nothing: Fr.
15 The pineapple.
16 Ready for use: 2 words.
17 Mutual destruction: Slang: 3 words.
19 Observable.
20 Oregon city.
21 Remnants.
23 Perch.
25 North Caucasian language.
26 Hero of "A Tale of Two Cities."
29 Everything considered: 3 words.
34 Below: Poet.
35 Dish.
36 — polloi.
37 Knob in the center of a shield.
38 The people.
39 Willie of baseball.
40 Comprehend.
41 Cavity: Anat.
42 Kiel, for example.
43 In a line: 3 words.
45 Confusion.
46 Fedora.
47 — Sainte Marie.
49 Nevertheless: 2 words.
52 Arose: 2 words.
56 Worked diligently.
57 Haphazard: 3 words.
59 Wolfhounds.
60 Freezer.
61 Prayers.
62 Ralph — Emerson.
63 Sculls.
64 Den.

DOWN

1 Earth goddess in the "Ring."
2 Life, in Greek.
3 Regiment: Abbr.
4 Very few: 3 words.
5 Choice.
6 The golden king.
7 Daughter of Cadmus.
8 Labels.
9 Motto of fighting Scotsman: 3 words.
10 Fruitlessly: 2 words.
11 Tread.
12 Roadsters.
13 Seaport: Abbr.
18 Darling, in Ireland.
22 Sects.
24 4th and 5th cen. collections of Jewish laws.
26 Reason enough.
27 Copywriters: 2 words.
28 Clad.
30 Country in Indo-China.
31 Not care 2 words.
32 Faithful.
33 Cotton thread.
35 A signer of the Declaration of Independence.
38 Eats sparingly.
39 Frank and intimate, as a talk: 3 words.
41 Unspecified person: 3 words.
42 Heat: Lat.
44 Finis: 2 words.
45 Teachers.
48 Flower.
49 — Wheeler Wilcox.
50 Bottle.
51 Where Canton is.
53 Jacknife, for one.
54 Purposes.
55 Sound to attract attention.
56 Quadruped's foot.
58 River in Brazil.

This Crossword Puzzle Sponsored by

The J & K SUPER STORES

Headquarters For: All your SNACKS, PICNIC and Get-Together FOODS. See us for that eat-out or picnic. Special Orders Get Special Attention.

DROP IN on your way back from town — Last stop for your favorite goodies, soaps and everyday needs.

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK

218 COURT STREET

RELIGIOUS READING MATERIALS
TO FIT EVERY STUDENT'S NEEDS
STUDENTS ALWAYS WELCOME!

YU 3-4982

BOWLING

STUDENT RATES TILL 5:30

PARTIES WELCOME ANYTIME

MARYVILLE LANES

Now under the Management of Fred Rymer – Phone YU 2-4092

BASEBALLERS PLAY TODAY

The Maryville Scotties play host to Emory and Henry College of Emory, Va. today at 2. The Scotties take a record of 5 wins and 6 defeats into the contest. Probable starting pitcher will be Dave Meneely with Dale Sterner working behind the plate

Since the beginning of the season the home forces have shown some remarkable improvement, but the loss of "Red" Prodhon will definitely hurt the Scotties. "Red" has been on the sidelines because of chipped bones in his ankle. and has been scheduled to undergo an operation soon to heal the injury. Prodhon looked like he was going to have a fine initial season, batting and fielding quite well.

Bill Owenby and Dale Sterner have made a good combination as pitcher and catcher. Dale has also been yeilding the hottest bat with a .400 average. The Scotties team has few upperclassmen and so the outlook for next year already looks bright. Dave West, Stu Miller and Dave Meneely, turned in good pitching so far this season.

Here is a run down of the Scottie work chart so far:

Western Maryland	4	Maryville	2
	11		5
	14		8
	1		4
Toledo	7	Maryville	3
	2		5
Lincoln Memorial	5	Maryville	4
Carson Newman	15	Maryville	3
Tusculum	4	Maryville	7
Maryville	14	Tenn. Wesleyan	7

Tennis Scoreboard

MARYVILLE 7 vs.
TENNESSEE WESLEYAN 2

Singles

Davidson def. Owers 6-3, 6-2
Johnston def. Thomas 6-4, 4-6, 6-3
Allison def. Marx 6-4, 4-6, 8-6
Grote def. Ealy 6-0, 6-2
Nooe def. Roe 6-3, 6-0
Poland def. Reusch 6-4, 6-2

Doubles

Owers—Johnston def. Davidson—Allison 6-4, 6-4
Marx—Grote def. Thomas—Ealy 6-0, 6-1
Nooe—Poland def. Roe—Reusch 6-4, 6-0

Sachet and Sneakers

It was a "Really good Show," that is the W.A.A. swimming meet, where the best swimmers vied for top honors. The meet featured racing, diving, novelty events, form and synchronized swimming. Both societies had equal number of first places but by virtue of the highest number of total points Chi Beta won. Outstanding in the meet were Barbara McCarter who won the diving. Terry Brusstar who won the back stroke race, Sue Evans winner of the free style race and Jane Dodez who won the synchronized form, which was a new event in the meet this year. The teams had good managers with Lois Lockett for Theta and Sharon Walrond for Chi Beta. Ruthanne Campbell, who was events manager, set up the meet.

The Ping Pong tournament ended with a very fast match between Ninajo Tarver and Jan Dearcopp. Jan came up on the winning side after playing three very close games, 28-26, 21-19 and 21-18.

Wrestling Tourney

130 lbs. — Chuck Spencer pinned Don Black
Kirk Copeland pinned Herman Clark
Chuck Spencer dec. Kirk Copeland 5-2
CHAMPION: Chuck Spencer

137 lbs. — Danny Johnston dec. Rich Gossweiler 7-0
CHAMPION: Danny Johnston

147 lbs. — Webb Spraetz dec. Bill DeWeese 2-1
CHAMPION: Webb Spraetz

157 lbs. — Tom Scott pinned Ed Ziegler
CHAMPION: Tom Scott

167 lbs. — Bill Schanefelt dec. Hugh Richmond 13-3
Bill Schanefelt dec. Don Harward 6-0
CHAMPION: Bill Schanefelt.

Heavyweight — Harold Gamble pinned Charles Feast
Bill Cochran dec. Bert Randall 3-2
Bill Cochran dec. Harold Gamble 5-0
CHAMPION: Bill Cochran

"It is in human nature to think wisely and to act in an absurd fashion." Anatole France

HALLMARK CARDS
New by LANVIN
Crescendo Cologne and Perfume

DOWNTOWN CITY DRUG CO. 108 W. Broadway

Be one of the best dressed on Campus –
Send your Cleaning and Laundry to

MARYVILLE Cleaners

Jim Coup–Carnegie
Pat Williams–Baldwin
Dale Steamer–Memorial
Marguerite Gilly–New Dorm
Charlotte Murchison–Pearsons

Quality Work
Efficient Friendly Service

Your Home Away From Home . . .

STATIONERY to reassure the folks.

College Outline Series – Contemporary Cards

See us soon – Your friends will be here.

WE'RE ALWAYS HAPPY TO SERVE YOU

McCAMMONS

108 E. Broadway — Your Hallmark Headquarters

College Hill Grill

Two Blocks from Campus
through the South Gate on Cate Street

Delicious Italian PIZZA

All Meals Served Family Style

Now Under the Management of Otis & Vina Atkins

WON'T WRITE ?
CALL WHITE

Keep your typewriter working at its best.

White's factory-trained repairmen are at your service.

WHITE OFFICE MACHINES

YU 3-4762

CAMPAIGN LETTERS

ing their interests in current events. On such matters as the United States National Student Association it is the difinite responsibility of every student to consider the facts objectively and decide for himself . . . the important question of Yes or No! We need to take full a advantage of every means of communication which will guide all to greater understanding and realization of the college as a dynamic figure in the world community.

In this article I have presented a very brief introduction to my viewpoints concerning the Student Body, and I am looking forward to opportunities for discussing policies of the Student Body at greater length.

Don McFerren

A student government, as do all governments, has as its basic purpose the organization of a group of people into a harmonious society. But it is unique in two respects. 1) It is a part of a process of education and growth. 2) It is not independent, but a co-worker in an administrative partnership which is working toward the overall good of the college.

Concerning the first, student government is a workshop in which we can exercise our growing ability to think clearly and make rational judgments. It is a classroom in which we can learn from experience about the mechanics of politics, its processes, functions, and problems. It is a proving ground for our maturity and growing responsibility.

The second distinction of the student government is that it is not supreme, but that it works with the college administration toward the betterment of the school, which is beneficial to both. The two are united in a common purpose, neither being complete without the other. No single generation of college students should be so bold as to believe that the long history of a college and the reputation of its alumni are dependent upon its personal enrollment, but no college can hope to exist, let alone grow, while ignoring the needs of the present and future. The consequence of this is that both governing bodies must participate in the growth of the college in a spirit of cooperation.

R. Blair Moffett

SPRING FORMAL TO BE HELD MAY 6

The spring formal, "Rendez-Vous in Rome," held in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd, and sponsored by Chi Beta and Kappa Phi Societies, will be held on May 6 from 8:00 to 12:00 P.M.

The lobby and drivewawy of the New Dorm, in the style of a Roman garden, will be open for dancing, with the basement clothed in an Italian restaurant design.

Music will be provided by the Bob Rush Orchestra. Society dance chairmen are Judy Agee and Bill Wade. Sub-committee chairmen include; Becky Kinnamon, Beth Reichardt, and Jim King—decorations; Glorianna Hutchinson and Wade Hampton—publicity; Jeanne Wilson and Shirley Meese—refreshments; Nancy Frame—programs; Donna Murphy—invitations; Sandy Malone—tickets; Dave Styles—lighting; Dave Meneely—clean-up.

Price of admission is $1.50 per couple.

SOCIETY NEWS

Chi Beta

A Chi Beta retreat is being planned by Carol Cox and her committee for next Saturday, April 29 at Walland Pond. The activities will include swimming, hiking, and many other fun-filled activities. Full details will be given at the meeting this evening at 6:15 in the New Dorm basement.

In sports activities the WAA Swim Meet held before Spring Vacation was won by Chi Beta, and the softball competition has begun recently.

A green and white felt banner will soon be ready for use at meeting.

Kappa Phi

Kappa Phi is looking forward to a successful season in softball. The basketball teams won back most of the points lost in football and volleyball, and this year's softball teams show a great deal of potential.

Kappa Phi has four softball teams: the Knights, managed by Bill McGuire; the Pioneers, managed by Bob Washburn; the Yearlings, managed by Jim Whitney; and the Young Bloods, managed by Paul Mitchell.

Answer to Today's Puzzle

E	B	R	O	■	O	M	I	T	■	D	I	S	C	S
R	I	E	N	■	P	I	N	A	■	C	O	N	T	A	P
D	O	G	E	A	T	D	O	G	■	O	V	E	R	T
A	S	T	O	R	I	A	■	S	C	R	A	P	S	■
■	■	■	R	O	O	S	T	■	U	D	I	■	■	■
C	A	R	T	O	N	■	A	L	L	I	N	A	L	L
A	D	D	O	W	N	■	P	L	A	T	E	■	H	O	I
U	M	B	O	■	D	E	M	O	S	■	M	A	Y	S
S	E	E	■	S	I	N	U	S	■	C	A	N	A	L
E	N	D	T	O	E	N	D	■	T	A	N	G	L	E
■	■	■	H	A	T	■	S	A	U	L	T	■	■	■
■	E	V	E	N	S	O	■	S	T	O	O	D	U	P
P	L	I	E	D	■	H	I	T	O	R	M	I	S	S
A	L	A	N	S	■	I	C	E	R	■	A	V	E	S
W	A	L	D	O	■	O	A	R	S	■	N	E	S	T

BAND TO GIVE CONCERT MAY 5

The Maryville College Highlander Concert Band will present a band concert Friday, May 5th, at eight P.M. in the Wilson Chapel Auditorium.

The program will feature two numbers with the accompaniment of the Chapel organ. Two members of the band are to be presented with the group in the popular "Kiddie Ballet." A third member will be featured in a "worried" solo sure to cause re-"percussion" in the audience!

This will also be Band Awards Night, and letters, pins, and special awards will be presented.

Library Books To Rotate In Dorms

In observation of National Library Week, which occurred this past week, a "Revolving Library" has been initiated here on campus. Ten to twelve books have been placed in the lobby of each of the five dorms and are for the general use of the students. The five collections contain a variety of subject matter. For example, in collection IV the books range from deKruif's "Microbe Hunters" to Cronin's "The Green Years," to "Human Destiny" by Leconte du Nouy. All of the books in the five collections may also be found in the Lamar Library.

These collections will be rotated from dorm to dorm at the end of each month. There is no time limit set for keeping out a book, but each student is asked to be considerate of the other people who may wish to read the book. Books must be returned, however, by the end of each month. The books are checked out on a self-help system; just sign out for the book at the desk and check off your name after returning the book.

Art Exhibit To Feature Originals

A group of approximately eighty original etchings, lithographs, woodcuts, and wood engravings, including such modern European artists as Picasso, Matisse, Renoir, Vlaminck, Derain, Dubuffet, and Maillol, go on exhibit at the Art Gallery in the Fine Arts Center Thursday, April 20 and will remain on view through May 6.

While this collection of prints would have an appeal for anyone interested in the graphics of these modern masters, it is especially designed to be investigated by those people who are interested in having an original work of art or for those who can neither afford original paintings by such internationally famous names nor wish to invest in reproductions of their paintings.

These prints are, of course, not designed to replace other media, but stand up as artistic creations in themselves, and are so intended by the artists. All the prints are limited editions, signed by the artists, and will increase in value as time goes on.

The public is invited to visit the Gallery and to inquire about purchases if interested. Prices range from as little as $3.50 to $60.00.

"Accidents exist only in our heads, in our limited perceptions. They are the reflections of the limit of our knowledge." Franz Kafka.

there's a built-on belt on LEVI'S® BELT-ONS

. . . a handsome, color-coordinated web belt that makes these wash-and-wear pleatless slacks your best buy in sportswear today. So get a pair — today!

$4.98 *Olive *Black *Sand *Pewter

in Loden Plaid—$5.95

Minton's

MARYVILLE, TENN.

MURPHY-WEST MOTOR CO.

CHEVROLET OLDSMOBILE

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . . WEAR

Southern Shoes

Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.

116 West Broadway

THE COFFEE HOUSE

YOUR 24 HOUR HOST

Real Home-Made PIE a SPECIALTY

Broadway Downtown

The BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES

* Check Accounts
* Savings Accounts
* Christmas Club Savings
* Transfer of Funds
* Banking from Your Car
* Night Depository Service

— YOUR COLLEGE BANK —

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm YU 2-9921

The "Y" Store Proudly serves

MAYFIELD'S Ice Cream and Milk

Smoother, Richer, better Tasting

Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

The Highland Echo

Vol. 46, No. 13 | Maryville, Tennessee | May 6, 1961

BONDURANT AND SHANEFELT SPEAK TO THE STUDENTS

April 26 was election day for student government leaders; the voting turnout was 82 percent. Connie Bondurant, our new student body president, and Bill Shanefelt, our new vice-president, have written the following letters expressing their thanks to the student body and telling their plans for the future.

I would like to take this opportunity to express a great deal of appreciation not only to those who worked so hard on my campaign, but also to those of you who expressed confidence in me at the polls on election day. Words cannot adequately express my thankfulness.

My concern now is that all of us, no matter what our "political affiliation" during the campaigning work together in a united effort for strong, effective student government. If the enthusiasm, interest and willingness to help that was evidenced throughout the entire campaign could be exhibited not only by the new council but the student body as well, the things which could be accomplished next year would be remarkable. May I encourage those of you who are interested, whether or not you are on council, to contact new council officers and members to give suggestions, indicate a willingness to serve on council committees, or express interest in any future plan. Now is an important formulative time for the new council. Good use of such time will insure a strength of planning, programing and organization in the future. All of us are aware of the job we have to do; a united effort will be invaluable.

Sincerely,
Connie Bondurant

Fellow Students,

I am grateful for this opportunity to thank you for your confidence in me and for placing me in this position of responsibility.

It is my sincere wish that you the student body will feel that I do represent each one of you. I am ready to be held personally accountable to you on any issue.

We are here to learn to live as well educated citizens of the world, and as examples of what we believe to be important. We must continue to emphasize the fact that to live this way demands that we expose ourselves to the rewards which come by working to better our position in the totality of life. Also demanded is the involvement of each of us in matters outside our own little corner of our own little world.

History is being made every day. To become makers of history tomorrow, as the leaders of tomorrow's world, we must continue to broaden our scope of involvement in the government of our college, our nation, and our world.

Today our civilization is in danger of succumbing to the forces of atheistic dictatorship. Every one of us must make it our personal responsibility to smash down the barriers of immaturity, complacency, and defeatism that stand in the way of overcoming these forces. We cannot smash these barriers down in Washington, or such areas as Laos and Cuba without first eliminating them in our own backyard.

It is the responsibility of student leaders to take the initiative in the movement for exposure and involvement, primarity on our own campus.

This coming year presents a great opportunity to grow and to increase our sense of belonging to the world community of which we must either become active participtans or inactive pawns.

I am looking forward to a year of continued progress toward a united community of students and educators.

I feel that my greatest responsibility to the student body is to be the ear for every whisper that shows concern or prompts a miracle.

Again let me say thank you for your support and let me assure you that your continued interest in all phases of student government next year will be invaluable.

--Bill Shanefelt

The Romancers Is Commencement Play

The 1961 commencement play, The Romancers, by Edmond Rostand, will be presented on May 26, 29, and 30.

The cast includes Cynthia Blanchard as Sylvette, Jerry Overall as Percinet, Tom Salmon as Straforel, Bill Green as Pasquinat, Bill Conger as Bergamin, Harry Page as Blaise, and Kathy Eisenhart, Kathryn Smith, Kathleen Reed, Joy Umberger, Joanna McClendon, Barbara Grisdale, and Chris Carlisle.

The play, written by the author of Cyrano de Bergerac, is set in eighteenthh century France. The costumes were designed by Miss Kathleen Craven, the sets by E. Parker Dupler. The costume crew is headed by Carol Rugh. Kathryn Smith is stage manager, and Kathy Scherer is assistant stage manager.

Kinnamon Elected WSGA President

In the recent Women's Student Government Association election, the following executive council was elected: president, Becky Kinnamon; vice president, Sue Stewart; secretary-treasurer, Carol Cox; junior representatives, Phyllis Tepper and Sharon Jones. Other members of the council will be the newly elected house chairmen of the women's dormitories, and freshman representatives from Pearsons and Baldwin.

MC DEBATE TEAM WINS SWEEPSTAKES

At the Smoky Mountain Debate Tournament, held April 21, 22, Maryville's squad won five trophies, including the sweepstakes. In the women's division of debate the team of Ann Harrison and Judith Mikeal placed first; in senior men's, Don Jackman and Dennis Miller, second; and in junior men's, Will Skelton and Ed Fritchie, third. Individual honors in the women's oratory went to Judith Mikeal, first, and to Carolyn McCaskill, second. Paul White placed in the finals of men's oratory. Other awards were won by Jean Dodez, first in extempore speaking; Dennis Miller, first in men's extempore speaking; and Richard Gossweiler, third in men's after-dinner speaking.

PLAYHOUSE HOSTS THIRD RELIGIOUS DRAMA WORKSHOP

Today the Maryville College Drama Department is conducting its third annual religious drama workshop in the theatre. Registration will begin at 9:15 and the program will begin at 10:00 a. m. with a symposium, "Producing the Church Play." Discussion on casting, rehearsals, directing, and production organization will be led by Bruffie Conner of Tusculum College, John Lee Welton of Carson-Newman, Kathleen Craven of Maryville, and E. Parker Dupler of Maryville.

Following a luncheon at 12:30, a workshop on lighting will begin at 2:00, led by Mr. Welton and Mr. Dupler. At 3:00 Miss Craven will lead a discussion on costumes and makeup, and at 3:30 Mr. Dupler will lead a discussion on scenery and properties.

The workshop period will be climaxed by the presentation of an original play, The Cell, by the class in religious drama from Carson-Newman, directed by Mr. Welton. The play will be presented in arena style: in a center stage with the audience seated on all four sides.

Medical School College Day Will Be Held May 13

The Bowman Gray School of Medicine at Winston-Salem, N. C., will sponsor a College Day program Saturday, May 13, for college students who are seriously considering the study of medicine and for their college premedical advisers.

Students — particularly sophomores and juniors — in colleges and universities in six states are invited. Interested Maryville students must make reservations prior to May 6 with Mr. George D. Howell.

The program is designed to give students a realistic view of the various areas of medicine and of medical education.

Dr. Coy C. Carpenter, dean of the medical school, encourages all students to take advantage of this opportunity to visit a modern medical school and hospital.

Tours of the medical school will include demonstrations of open-heart surgery, using the heart-lung machine; the electron microscope; current research in cancer; and an exhibit concerned with human heart sounds and heart sound equipment.

The tour of the hospital will include a view of the physical therapy unit, a demonstration of techniques employed at the hearing center, a view of the sterilization and preparation rooms connected with the operating rooms, and a look at an operating room, the cobalt therapy room and the new 80-bed Progressive Care Center.

The only student from Maryville College who is now studying at the medical school is George Podgorny, BS '58, from Tehran, Iran.

It's not what man does which exalts him, but what man would do.
—Browning

* * * * * *

One should take good care not to grow too wise for so great a pleasure of life as laughter.
—Addison

ALPHA GAMMA SIGMA TO HOLD RECOGNITION CEREMONIES MAY 11

Alpha Gamma Sigma, the Scholarship Honor Society, will hold its annual Recognition Day Ceremonies on May 11 during the regular chapel service. Dr. Warren Ashby, professor of philosophy at the University of North Carolina Woman's College, Greensboro, North Carolina, will be the speaker. Dr. Ashby received his A.B. from Maryville and his Ph.D. from Yale.

The new officers will be president, Edwin J. Best, '36; vice-president, Irma Birkelbach, '58; secretary, J. Newell Witherspoon, '52. Members elected from the senior class are Richard Leonard Bickford, biology major; Mary Darling, home economics major; Carolyn Gass, English major; Sarah Shelley Kelso, English major; Margaret Stevenson Ross, mathematics major; Sarah Rachel Smith, English major; and Jean G. Stefancic, English major, Charles Patrick Pearson, who is also a member, was elected in his junior year.

The induction ceremonies were conducted in a social and business meeting at a buffet supper at the home of President and Mrs. Lloyd on Friday evening, April 14.

Alpha Gamma Sigma was founded in 1934, modeled on the standards of national Phi Beta Kappa, and now has a total membership of 304. The scholarship standard for eligibility is 3.33 at the end of the seventh semester; character and citizenship qualities also must be acceptable. Members elected are in the graduating senior class except occasionally a person of exceptionally high rating may be elected in the junior year, as in the case of Charles Pearson.

The current officers of the society are Viola M. Lighfoot, president; Esther Lerch Williams, vice-president; and Edwin R. Hunter, secretary.

Orchestra Concert To Be Held May 19

The Maryville College-Community Orchestra, John A. Roberts, conductor, will present its last concert of the current season, Friday evening, May 19, in Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel at eight o'clock.

The program includes performance of the winning composition of the Drake University Composition Contest, a Brahms composition with contralto soloist and male chorus, and a number with organ accompaniment. Rosemary Barrett will sing the contralto solo and the male chorus will be composed of Dan Davis, Robert Reichenbach, Lee Odell, Gary Hall, Bruce Jenkins, Michael Garrett, Paul Evans, and Bruce Townsend. Janice Privette will play the organ.

Lloyd, Campbell To Attend Meeting

President Ralph W. Lloyd and Dr. E. Fay Campbell, college chaplain, will attend a meeting of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America. The conference begins in Buffalo, New York, on May 17.

Senior Breakfasts

The Senior Class Breakfasts will be on Friday and Saturday mornings, May 12 and 13, at Morningside. Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd will be host and hostess to half the class on each morning. The breakfasts have become a traditional annual event for the senior class.

Jackman To Head E-T Science Group

The Spring of 1962 Eastern Regional Meeting of the Collegiate Division, Tennessee Academy of Science will be held on the Maryville College campus, the group's president has announced. Maryville College junior Don Jackman of Loudon was elected to the presidency of the organizatioon during a recent meeting on the Tusculum College campus. He is a chemistry major.

The meeting at Greeneville was attended by more than 50 students, and the Maryville College delegation of 10 students and two faculty members was the largest from any college.

Further organizational details of the student scientist group is scheduled during the meeting here in 1962.

Jackman, who is an active member of the debate squad, is a graduate of Loudon High School.

Ramger, Williams Attend Conference

Two members of the Maryville College faculty, Mr. Robert Ramger and Dr. D. B. Williams, attended the annual meeting of the Association of Southeastern Biologists which was held at the University of Kentucky in Lexington. The Meritorious Research Award was made to Dr. William D. Burbanck, professor of biology at Emory University. Dr. Williams did his master's thesis and doctoral dissertation under the direction of Dr. Burbanck.

Earlier this month, Dr. Williams attended, on invitation, the fourteenth annual Radiation Research Conference held by the Biology Division of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory. The theme of the conference held at Gatlinburg was "Recovery of Cells from Injury."

Schoens Conclude Faculty Concerts

Victor and Sallie Schoen, duo-pianists, conclude the season's Faculty Concert Series on Saturday evening, May 20, at eight o'clock, in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center.

The Schoens have had special study in duo-pianism at the International Summer Academy of the Mozarteum in Salzburg, Austria.

Their program will include: "Concerto for Two Pianos in C Major" (Bach); "Variations and Fugue on a Theme of Beethoven, Op. 86" (Reger); and "Sonate" (Poulenc).

Six Counsellors Chosen for '61-62

Senior counsellors for next year have been chosen to serve in Pearsons and Baldwin Halls. Those chosen are Donna Jensen, Glorianna Hutcheson, Ann Kennedy, Sue Lemme, Elsie Harris and Carol Greenwood.

Editorially Speaking

About Moons . . .

Somebody finally hit the moon a few weeks ago, and he was a Russian. An American has already nominated him for TIME Magazine's man-of-the-year, and this appears to be a wholesome approach. It's an awe-inspiring thing no matter who did it; yet few audible local voices have expressed anything except depression. It's too bad we didn't make it first; but would Jules Verne (From the Earth to the Moon) have been very much less joyous about the achievement of his daydream just because the man-in-space wasn't from Indiana or New Jersey, Cornwall or Dover? A Brooklyn accent and a favorite baseball team are not prerequisites for scientific success, although they appear to make it more recognizable.

What's Going on in Our Half of the World . . .

In other colleges, that is: University of Illinois, says a UPS release, has a note-taking service in some courses: mimeographed notes mailed for $4 per semester. Amherst is keeping "under-achievers" in the hope that they will "over-achieve" if given another chance: and apparently they do. University of North Carolina and University of Texas are making moves to boycott segregated theaters. Queens College in New York City has a plan for exchanging books with the Moscow Institute of International Relations. Canada is discussing a Peace Corps of its own, for work in India and Ceylon—not a government project. And you?

And Back to your Psychological Oddities . . .

Those of us in the 1960 College Generation who think are broadly considered "confused." It's becoming a password, along with "complex" and "neurotic" and other petty thieveries from psychoanalytic jargon. Don't accept it too readily, and don't admit it. Nothing is inevitable, and confusion does not equal humility, any more than intellect equals Life.

H. A. E.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Vol. 46, No. 12 May 6, 1961

Member of University Press Service

Published bi-weekly during the year by the students of Maryville College

Editorial Staff

Editor ..... Phyllis Stine
Guest Editor ..... Helen Anne Easterly
News Editor ..... Pat Baker
Feature Editor ..... Carolyn Siera
Copy Editor ..... Lynn Herring
Exchange editor ..... Anitra Bard
Sports Editors ..... Kathy Eisenhart, George Roselli
Contributors this issue ..... Patti Paul, Joyce Williams, Pat Crossley, June Wilson, Marcia Rushworth, Keen Compher
Typists ..... Jean Keller, Gloria Schwam

Business Staff

Business Manager ..... Mike Garrett
Business Assistant ..... Phyllis Deloteus
Circulation Manager ..... Jon Sypher
Faculty Advisors ..... Miss Carolyn Blair, Mr. Frank Layman

Subscription Rate $1.00 Per Semester

Byrons Graphic Arts — Printers

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the Act of Congress of March 8, 1870.

All letters to the editor must be sighed, limited to 300 words, and submitted to a staff member by the Saturday prior to tne regular date of publication.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Washington Avenue

A Review of Brigadoon

by Carolyn Siera

Brigadoon has come and gone again, not to return for another hundred years. The miracle of its appearance was this time marred somewhat by the apparent sleepiness of many of the villagers, but the loveliness of yet others belied any belief that a hundred years' sleep is detrimental to everyone's actions.

Tommy Albright (Philip Eslinger) and Jeff Douglas (Carl McDonald), Americans through whose vision we saw the village, reacted characteristically; Tommy appeared so dazed as to react somewhat falsely to many events, and Jeff accepted the unbelievable with an almost drunken exuberance. This was scarcely dampened by the villager Meg Brockie (Eleanor Fowler), whose outlook on her place in life was delightful. And Fiona Maclaren (Lorna Brustar) awoke on that wedding day to an expression of love's wonder that warmed many hearts.

With Tommy and Jeff we were awed by the explanation of the miracle of Brigadoon as it was given by the dignified and wise dominie, Mr. Lundy (Donald Stupak). The tenderness of the love and marriage of Jean Maclaren (Mary Ann Sumey) and Charlie Dalrymple (Oscar Downey), was that of youth. Perhaps the more passionate depths of the village were best portrayed in the actions and dance of Harry Beaton (Donald White), whose death was most movingly mourned by the girl Maggie Anderson (Barbara McCarter).

The gods of Brigadoon were extremely generous in their direction of the lives of the villagers. The goddess of drama, Lynn Waddington, did a superb job of producing a miracle, especially as she was working in a cast of ordinary people. Orchestral god, John A. Roberts directed his musicians with a fine touch. It seems too bad that the director god, Dan H. Kinsinger, was unable to put more life into the choral presentations of the group, but this lack was fulfilled, at least in part, by the lighting and other co-ordination as directed by Henry Weeks, god of stage management.

Now that Brigadoon has faded once again intoo the mist, we can look back to it visit with pleasure. Possibly we envy Tommy whose belief was powerful enough to completely absorb him, and Fiona, whose wonder was the essence of Brigadoon.

WON'T WRITE?
CALL WHITE

Keep your typewriter working at its best.

White's factory-trained repairmen are at your service.

WHITE OFFICE MACHINES

YU 3-4762

Peace Corps Vols. Will Qualify For Service Deferment

Peace Corps volunteers can be deferred from military service under the present Universal Military Training and Service Act.

This is the opinion of Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service. His views were outlined in an editorial in the Selective Service Bulletin.

"The relationship of the Selective Service System with registrants who become members of the Peace Corps can be handled administratively," Hershey wrote.

He said the classification of registrants in the Peace Corps "can be handled as any other registrant engaged in activities in the national health, safety, or interest."

When they return home, volunteers could qualify for further deferment.

Important factors listed by Hershey for consideration when the volunteer returns home include his age, his physical condition, his marital status, the regulations which apply when he is released "and whether or not the registrant on his return from service with the Peace Corps engages in an activity which permits him to be deferred in the national health, safety, or interest."

Hershey concluded:

"The fact that the registrant has been a member of the Peace Corps will not prevent him from qualifying for further deferment, the same as any other registrant who is engaged in activities vital to the national health, safety, or interest.

Newest Styles in famous Deltah SIMULATED PEARLS

necklace shown $6.00

Classic earrings—dome shape simulated pearls mounted on 12K Gold Filled screw back mountings.

Choose from a wide selection of exquisite Deltah necklaces, either popular graduated style, or the attractive uniform style shown above.

$6.00 and up

Here's an important new necklace fashion! Uniform size, lustrous, simulated pearls, with brilliant rhinestone-set clasp that adjusts to your neck size.

This exquisite necklace is a Deltah creation, which means it's the most beautiful of its kind—and now offered at a price much less than you'd expect for such fine quality. Both necklace and earrings supplied in rich gift boxes.

EASY CREDIT TERMS

TIPTON Jewelry

101 Court Street

Continental Cursive

Dear Mom,

Since I don't especially feel in a letter-writing mood, due to having just read an excellent, action-inspiring article in the latest Atlantic Monthly, by David Riesman, entitled "Where is the College Generation Headed?" I think I'll just tell you about what the man said.

After interviewing several hundred somewhat representative college seniors in 1955, Dr. Riesman found that they rejected, as an ideal, "careerism," in favor of "familism." Especially, they were resistent to work in large organizations, including in this category political groups, government, corporations, and even some professions. Yet most of them planned to enter such organizations upon leaving college; they reflected the general cultural shift in attitude which sees much work as "meaningless per se, save as a source of income, prestige, and sociability . . ." Dr. Riesman felt that this is also indicative of the fact that "people too readily accept their work as it comes, without the hope of making it more meaningful." He spoke of the college generation as "a privileged minority, ignorant of its strength, yet capable of change," and emphasized the prevalence of the depression students encounter when in this context they find their college curriculum unrelated to the problems they face and hopelessly contend that they have no control over the situation.

After citing a list of general complaints of such students, including the restrictions of a library for research only, of administrations, and of departmental requisites, Dr. Riesman states that we as a nation, and especially as a college generation, have come to worship the image of ourselves as incapable of effecting a change. Because individuals are ill with the disease spoken of by socioligists as "pluralistic ignorance," they become individuals "hesitant to reveal feelings they have scarcely voiced to themselves," and hence "misled about what in effect could be done if they expressed themselves, thereby discovering others who might share their views."

With his belief that college is an adult function for most students, not merely an intermediate era of adolescent behavior, Dr. Riesman condemns the extreme emphasis upon academic values and the concept given to many students by their professors, that "all questions are complex, all ideologies suspect, and all larger passions fanatical;" these present the collegians with a seeming realism in which they can have no confidence in any action or reaction.

In summary of the report he gave in 1958, Dr. Riesman said, "What I have principally sought to do in these remarks is to encourage greater and more differentiated realism than many young people already possess, a realism which does not take for granted the social structures which seem so impressive but which looks for the leverage where one's own effort, joined to that of others similarly freed from mythology, might make a difference. In many situations, there is more leeway than students think, and college is a good place to find this out."

With campus elections coming fast, a new president next year, and, I hope, many realistic students, it seems possible, Mom, that MC could change the should be of the content of Dr. Riesman's article into an emphatic, actual is.

Love,

Sue

Tennis Scoreboard

MARYVILLE 3 vs. EMORY & HENRY 6

Singles

Likens def. Owers 4-6,6-3,6-2
Daily def. Marx 7-5,6-2
Johnston def. Lockerby 6-1,6-2
Via def. Grote 7-5,6-3
Nooe def. Kilday 3-6,6-3,6-4
Gregory def. Poland 7-5,6-0

Doubles

Likens-Via def. Owers-Johnston 6-3,6-4
Marx-Grote def. Daily-Lockerby 6-3,5-7,7-5
Gregory-Kilday def. Nooe-Poland 6-8,6-2,6-2

MARYVILLE 5 vs. CARSON-NEWMAN 4

Singles

Moreton def. Owers, 6-2,7-5
Marx def. Steves 2-6,6-3,6-4
Johnston def. Moreland 6-3,6-3
Grote def. Taylor 6-3,1-3,6-4
Whisnant def. Nooe 6-2,7-5
Poland def. Galm 12-10,6-1

Doubles

Moreton-Steves def. Owers-Johnston 6-4,6-1
Moreland-Whisnant def. Marx-Grote 6-1,7-5
Nooe-Poland def. Galm-Taylor 6-0, 10-6,6-2

MARYVILLE 8 vs. KING 1

Singles

Lawson def. Owers 6-2,6-3
Marx def. Kepler 6-1,6-2
Johnston def. T. Lewis 6-1,6-1
Grote def. Van Horn 1-6,6-4,6-2
Nooe def. Peery 6-2,6-3
Poland def. DuPuy 10-12,6-3,6-0

Doubles

Owers-Johnston def. Lawson-Van-Horn 6-2,6-3
Marx-Grote def. Kepler-T. Lewis 6-1,7-5
Poland-Nooe def. E. Lewis-DuPuy 6-3,6-2

Only one things is necessary: to possess God. ---Amiel

Baseball Players Standing

	G.	AB.	R	H.	BA.
Giffin, J.	13	44	12	11	.250
Stemer	9	26	7	10	.384
Owenby	14	52	13	18	.346
Bowers	14	47	9	16	.340
Heatherly	13	34	4	7	.205
Couser	12	38	12	11	.289
Phelps	13	44	8	13	.295
Wolf	6	10	1	2	.200
Petty	7	16	0	3	.187
Weissenburger	10	21	4	5	.238
Marston	8	12	2	5	.416
West	7	12	3	1	.083
Miller	5	7	0	1	.142
Meneely	5	7	1	3	.428
Dunford	3	2	0	0	.000
Stafford	5	4	0	1	.250
Fairchild	5	9	0	0	.000
Kidd	6	7	1	0	.000
Giffin, H.	4	4	1	0	.000
Prudhon	6	16	5	6	.375
Garlund	3	12	4	3	.250
	14	429	86	116	.270

MARYVILLE 0 vs. UNIVERSITY OF CHATTANOOGA 9

Singles

Currin def. Owers 6-0,6-1
Cater def. Marx 6-1,6-4
Brown def. Johnston 6-1,6-1
Hock def. Grote 6-0,6-2
Von Cannon def. Nooe 6-1,8-6
Cannon def. Poland 4-6,6-1,6-3

Doubles

Currin-Cater def. Owers-Johnston 2-6,6-1,6-2
Hock-Brown def. Marx-Grote 6-2, 6-1
Chambliss-Von Cannon def. Nooe-Poland 1-6,6-1,6-2

Sachet and Sneakers

The W.A.A. sports season is coming to an end. Softball is underway, with the remaining sports being tennis and shuffleboard.

All those women who want to get in the Women's M club, and are short of the 400 points needed had bettet get busv. Some already have well over the required amount, for example those who have gone out for almost every sport such as Peggy Williams. Those who are not sure if they have the 400 points had better do some hiking or swimming in the next week so they can get in. The new members will be chosen in time for the M Club Retreat May 13. The new members will be initiated on campus, prior to the testing given them by the old members on the retreat. This overnight retreat is the highlight of the Women's M Club activities.

Everyone is wondering about the Women's intramural trophy. This trophy is given to the society that wins the most sports events during the year. Chi Beta has won for the past two years and if they win this year they will retire the trophy. The trophy winner will be announced later.

The finest kind of friendship is between people who expect a great deal of each other but never ask it.
—Slyvia Bremer

Synchronized Swimming Show May 18

First Row: Skaggs, Brusstar, Dodez, Adsit; Second Row: Walrond. Pollock, Smith, Pierce, Williamson; Third Row: Fowler. Fieg, Wells, Deloteus. McQueen; Fourth Row: Norman. Spraetz.

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm YU 2-9921

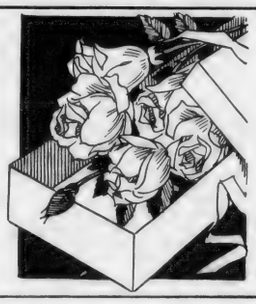
The "Y" Store Proudly serves

MAYFIELD'S Ice Cream and Milk



Smoother, Richer, better Tasting

Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

REMEMBER MOM ON HER DAY –

There is nothing more beautiful than flowers in Spring. And nothing can better express your thoughts on Mother's Day than a lovely floral arrangement from our fine selection
See us Soon!

HORNE'S FLORIST

Your Home Away From Home . . .

STATIONERY to reassure the folks.

College Outline Series – Contemporary Cards

See us soon – Your friends will be here.

Maryville's Finest Selection of Mother's Day Cards

McCAMMONS

108 E. Broadway Your Hallmark Headquarters

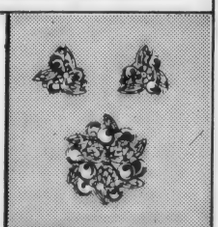
The BANK of MARYVILLE



"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES

- Check Accounts
- Savings Accounts
- Christmas Club Savings
- Transfer of Funds
- Banking from Your Car
- Night Depository Service

– YOUR COLLEGE BANK –

Looking For Something Special?

We carry a complete line of quality Costume Jewelry and fine accessories, designed to perfectly compliment your Spring ensemble. Why not stop in today?

BROADWAY JEWELERS

PARKS-BELK

Maryville's Most Complete Sportswear Department

Stop In and Look Around

Home of Better Values

See us First for Mother's Day Gifts . . .

We feature a fine selection of Mother's Day Day cards, plus a complete line of Whitman, Belle-Camp & Pangburn Candies!

BYRNE DRUG COMPANY

THE COFFEE HOUSE

Broadway Downtown YU 2-1541

Your 24 Hour Host –

REAL HOMEMADE PIE a Specialty

We Deliver Orders of $5.00 or More

Remember the one you love on MOTHER'S DAY
Send Lovely Flowers from

Hartmans Flowers
We Wire Flowers Anywhere

Society News

Kappa Phi

On April 28th, one-hundred per cent of Phi's active members voted for the officers of Kappa Phi for the fall semester of 61-62. Elected to lead the cabinet was Bill Ward, a very active junior. Others elected were Bill Weissenburger, vice-president; Henry Weeks, secretary; Perry Tooker, treasurer; Bert Randall, athletic chairman; Carl McDonald, program chairman; and Lew Pelkey behind the bar for minor duties.

Tonight at 8:00, Kappa Phi and Chi Beta present the spring formal, "Rendezvous in Rome", featuring the Bob Rush Orchestra. The dance is in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Lloyd.

1962-63 FULBRIGHT SCHOLARSHIPS GRANT STUDY ABROAD

Fulbright scholarships for graduate study or pre-doctoral research in 32 countries will be available to over 800 graduate students for the 1962-63 academic year, it was announced by the Institute of International Education which administers the program for the Department of State.

In addition to the Fulbright Scholarships, awards for graduate study in Latin America under the Inter-American Cultural Convention and for graduate study in Ireland under the Scholarship Exchange Program between the U.S. and Ireland will also be offered for 1962-63. Applications for these programs will be available on May 15, 1961.

General eligibility requirements for all categories of awards are: 1) U.S. citizenship at time of application: 2) a bachelor's degree or its equivalent; 3) knowledge of the language of the host country sufficient to carry out the proposed study project and to communicate with the people of the country: 4) good health. In addition, a good academic record and demonstrated capacity for independent study are also necessary. Preference is given to applicants under 35 years of age who have not previously lived or studied abroad.

Applications for scholarships for 1962-63 will be accepted until November 1, 1961. Requests for applications must be postmarked by October 15. Interested students who are enrolled at a college or university should consult their campus Fulbright Program Advisers.

Bobbie Brooks

14.98

The "Dallas" Collar plus a tie is the perfect touch for our roll-sleeve summer cooler in a drip-dry blend of 65% Dacron* polyester and 35% cotton. Choose from a bevy of beautiful colors. Sizes 5 to 15.

*DuPont trademark Charge it At

Minton's

Maryville, Tennessee

Shop

Maryville's Newest, Most Complete Stock of Athletic Equipment and Sporting Goods.

Rawlings & Wilson Tennis Rackets .... $4.50 up
Rawlings & Wilson Tennis Balls ..... $1.75 up (Can of 3)
Tennis Oxfords, Ladies ..... $3.95 up
U.S. Ked & Converse, Men's ..... $4.95 up

Tennis Shorts, Shirts, Magic Fleece Athletic Socks Racket Covers & Presses

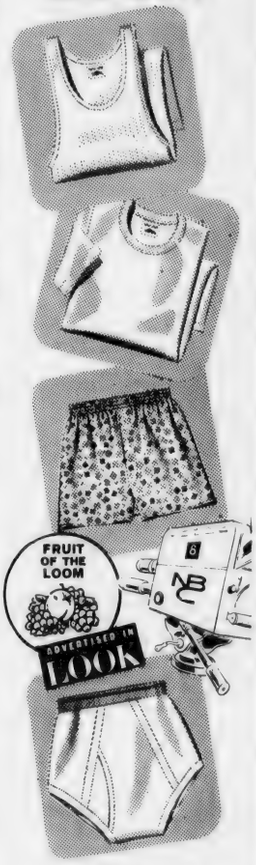
Rawling & Wilson Baseball Gloves .... $5.95 up
Rawlings Baseball Shoes ..... $5.95 up

GIFF'S
SPORTING GOODS
202 N. Cusick St. YU 3-2166
(Directly behind Proffitt's)

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK
218 COURT STREET
RELIGIOUS READING MATERIALS
TO FIT EVERY STUDENT'S NEEDS
STUDENTS ALWAYS WELCOME!
YU 3-4982

HALLMARK CARDS
New by LANVIN
Crescendo
Cologne and Perfume



DOWNTOWN CITY DRUG CO. 108 W. Broadway

Be one of the best dressed on Campus –
Send your Cleaning and Laundry to
MARYVILLE Cleaners
Jim Coup–Carnegie
Pat Williams–Baldwin
Dale Steamer–Memorial
Marguerite Gilly–New Dorm
Charlotte Murchison–Pearsons
Quality Work
Efficient Friendly Service

NBC TV STAR
BILL CULLEN
The Price Is Right
for QUALITY, VALUE, COMFORT, FRUIT OF THE LOOM

ATHLETIC SHIRTS
Soft, springy, absorbent cotton knit. Cut for maximum comfort and smooth fit. Pure white finish that stays fresh-looking washing after washing. Sizes 34-54.
BOX OF 6 2.90
49¢ ea.

TEE SHIRTS
Soft, cotton knit quarter-sleeve shirt. Looks equally well as an undershirt or sport shirt. Long tuck-in won't ride up. Sizes S, M, L, XL.

KNIT BRIEFS
Rib knit cotton briefs that "give" with every movement for full-time comfort. Heat resistant live-elastic waist and leg bands. Sizes 28-44.

WASH and WEAR SHORTS
High-count Sanforized cotton broadcloth that needs no ironing. Full cut and panel seat mean comfortable fit. Reinforced at stress points. In all-over patterns, solid colors or white. Sizes 28-52.
BOX OF 6 4.10
69¢ ea.

Badgett Store Company

SENIOR EDITION 1961

The Highland Echo

Maryville, Tennessee

Vol. 46, No. 14

COMMENCEMENT TO BE HELD MAY 31

INTERCOLLEGIATE COUNCIL CONVENES

One Friday and Saturday, May 12 & 13, a meeting of the Regional Council was held on the Maryville College campus. Schools represented were Emory & Henry, Carson-Newman, Milligan, Virginia Intermont, and Maryville. The meeting began at dinner on Friday evening and was continued in the Y rooms where plans for Saturday were set up and various forms of Student Government were discussed. Particularly interesting were those of Carson-Newman and Emory & Henry whose student governments are set up according to the legislative, executive, and judicial branches. Both schools conduct their elections according to a two-party system on campus. These parties are organized parts of campus life operating actively during the school year by presenting items for consideration to the respective councils and maintaining enthusiasm in their party members.

Saturday morning, six discussion groups met with representatives from each of the member schools. The topics treated by these groups were honor systems, judicial and disciplinary problems, disinterest in student government, academic emphasis, student-faculty relations and town or day student concerns.

Saturday afternoon, the group met to give some organization to the group and to formulate a statement of purpose. Elected as chairman for the 1961-62 Council was Mike Garrett of Maryville; Sue Quigg was appointed secretary for the group. The statement of purpose was adopted as follows:

"Realizing that higher education is concerned not onlw with the pursuit of academic excellence, but also with development of a mature sense of concern and responsibility within the educational community and feeling student government can be a positive force in effecting such a development, we the member schools of the Intercollegiate Council of East Tennessee and Southwestern Virginia dedicate ourselves to broadening the scope, increasing the efficiency, and encouraging the cooperation of the student governments, individually and collectively, in the member schools, through close intercollegiate communication and coordination."

The meeting was adjourned at 2:30 Saturday, afternoon.

Band Awards Presented at Recent Concert

At the final indoor concert of the Maryville Highlander band Friday night, May 5, annual awards were given to students for participation and service. For each student who has been a member four semesters, the award is an orange and garnet band letter. Each student participating six semesters receives a key, and any student who participates a full eight semesters receives a special award.

Band letters were received by Lee Armentrout and Beverly Ball, flute; Pauline Cook and Judith Smith, clarinet; Lynn Herring, saxophone; Anna Baker and Phillip Eslinger, cornet; Dolores Kimber, James Miller, and Ronald Noble, French horn; Perry Tooker, trombone; and William Green and Richard Myers, bass. Keys were received by Larry Jenkins, Cornet; Dwight Howes, trombone; Gary Smith, baritone; Donald Stupak, bass; and Anne Morrell, percussion. The special awards, which are decided upon each year by the band council, were given to Eugenia Miller, flute; Brenda Hewett, saxophone; Tod Jablonski, cornet; William Roberts, trombone; and Dave Gilmore, bagpipes. Ann Mcleod, who has been head majorette for four years, was especially recognized when she received her letter.

Band To Give Final Concert

The Highlander Concert Band in kilts will present a program of "Pops and Marches" from 5:00 to 6:00 P.M. on Saturday, May 27th, in the Fine Arts Center Amphitheater. The program includes "Bugler's Holiday" featuring the trumpet trio composed of Tod Jablonski, Larry Jenkins, and Dean Dobson. Bring your sack supper and munch to music!

IN APPRECIATION

Hard work is an asset, patience a virtue, and progress an important achievement.

To those who displayed these qualities — this year's Echo editor, business manager, and staff — we show our awareness of a need fulfilled, a job well done.

STUDENTS AID MEDICAL CENTER

The Fred Hope Fund this year is to go to build a medical dispensary at Momjepom, an isolated mission station in Cameroun, Africa. At present Momjepom has a twenty-bed dispensary with three African medical assistants and one nurse. Dr. Wallace Greig, who lives 100 miles away at Batouri, goes to Momjepom once each month for work which cannot be handled by these assistants. The new dispensary is being built of brick and cement, to replace an old one which was flooded by every rainfall.

The total amount in the fund at present is $1,647.17. To date 268 pledges have been made, totaling $1,598.00; of this amount, $1,125.60 has been collected. Other gifts which make up the above total are $25 from Chi Beta and $474.07 from the Y-Barnwarming proceeds. A total gift of $2,000 from Maryville College would considerably hasten the building and furnishing of the dispensary at Momjepom.

Class Officers:

Sophomore:
President: Phil Brown
Vice-president: Bill Robinson
Secretary-treasurer: Nancy Haley

Junior:
President: Bruce Semple
Vice-president: Richard Gossweiler
Secretary-treasurer: Midge Slater

Senior:
President: Lew Pelkey
Vice-president: Larry Mease
Secretary-treasurer: Glorianna Hutcheson

SENIOR CALENDAR

FRIDAY, MAY 26
8:30 p.m. Commencement Play—

SATURDAY, MAY 27
8:00 a.m. Senior Class Chapel Service
12:30 p.m.--2:00 p.m. Alumni Class Reunion Luncheons
5:00 p.m. Band Concert
6:30 p.m. Annual Alumni Dinner

SUNDAY, MAY 28
10:30 a.m. Baccalaureate Service—
4:00 p.m. Senior Music Hour
7:30 p.m. Commencement Vespers—

MONDAY, MAY 29
8:00 a.m. Chapel Service —Distribution of Prizes and Music Program
8:30 p.m. Commencement Play—

TUESDAY, MAY 30
8:00 a.m. Chapel Service
3:00 p.m.--5:00 p.m. The President's Reception at Morningside
8:30 p.m. Commencement Play—

WEDNESDAY, MAY 31
10:30 a.m. Commencement

Final Play To Be Comedy

A comedy set in the eighteenth century, "The Romancers" by Edmond Rostand, will be staged Friday, Monday and Tuesday, May 26, 29 and 30, as the Commencement Play. Performances are scheduled in the College Theatre at 8:30 p.m. on each of the nights.

Directing the Maryville College Playhouse production is Kathleen Craven and E. Parker Dupler is designing the sets.

The cast includes Cynthia Blanchard as Sylvette; Jerry Overall, Perincet: Tom Salmon, Straforel; Bill Green, Pasquinot; Bill Conger, Bergamin; and Harry Page, Blaise.

The young, romantic couple think their fathers are mortal enemies. But the fathers are close friends who have feigned great hatred for one another in order to make the clandestine romance flourish. They go too far with amusing and almost disastrous results.

Lloyd's Reception To Be Tuesday

The President's Reception at Morningside Tuesday afternoon is one of the traditional Commencement Week events at Maryville. This reception is planned primarily for seniors, their parents and guests, and visiting alumni.

President and Mrs. Lloyd will receive guests between 3 and 5 p.m. Tuesday, May 30.

Education is a companion which no misfortune can depress.

Yale Professor, MC Graduate, To Address Commencement Audience

DR. MARK A. MAY
Commencement Speaker

Graduation exercises of the College's 142nd year are scheduled for Wednesday, May 31, at 10:30 a.m. in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel. Principal speaker at the graduation exercises will be Dr. Mark A. May, a Maryville College graduate in the Class of 1911 who has had a distinguished career in the fields of education and psychology. There are 99 candidates for degrees plus eight students who completed their degree requirements in January.

President Ralph W. Lloyd presides at the exercises and associated with him in the ceremonies are Dr. Joe C. Gamble, chairman of the Board of Directors, and Dean Frank D. McClelland.

Degrees will be awarded to seniors who completed their courses and met all requirements this Spring. Seniors who completed their studies in January may take part in the graduation exercises.

"Challenge and Opportunity" will be Dr. May's topic. A native of Jonesboro, Tenn., he received the Bachelor of Philosophy degree from the University of Chicago in 1912, a year after he received the Bachelor of Arts degree here. He studied at Union Theological Seminary in 1913-15 and in 1915 received the Master of Arts degree from Columbia University. Two years later he received the Doctor of Philosophy degree from Columbia. Dr. May also holds an M.A. degree awarded by Yale University in 1927 and an honorary Doctor of Laws degree received from Syracuse University in 1949.

Dr. May is chairman of the U.S. Advisory Commission on Information, and former director of the Institute of Human Relations, Yale University.

Dr. May joined the faculty of Syracuse in 1919 following Army service during World War I and remained at Syracuse until 1924, when he became a research associate at the Teachers College Columbia. In 1927 he was named professor of educational psychology and director of the Institute of Human Relations, Yale.

Dr. May received the Army's Certificate of Merit for advisory services during World War II. He is a member of various professional and scientific organizations and fraternities. Also, Dr. May is the author or co-author of numerous books. His latest work, "Learning from Films," was published in 1957.

Annual Alumni Day, May 27

The annual Alumni Day program, May 27, includes a busy schedule for the former students returning to the campus to renew old friendships and revive memories of earlier days.

The Class of 1911 is the 50-year class and will be given special recognition during the Annual Alumni Dinner which is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. in Pearsons Hall. Members of the class will be presented special certificates. The first awarding of citations to Maryville's Distinguished Alumni will be among the highlights of the evening.

Alumni back for the day will have their traditional reunion luncheons Saturday noon. Classes planning special reunions are those at five-year intervals, beginning with the Class of 1956 and going back in time to the Class of 1911.

The Alumni Dinner, in addition to recognizing the classes of earlier years and presentation of the first Distinguished Alumni Citations, features a busy program. Members of the graduating class will be special guests. Alumni President Ernest B. Lowe of the Class of 1935 will extend greetings on behalf of the alumni.

Baccalaureate Plans Released

Sunday, May 28, is "Baccalaureate Sunday" with one of the two formal academic processions of the year scheduled in conjunction wih the Baccalaureate Service at 10:30 a.m. in Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel.

President Ralph W. Lloyd, following tradition, will preach the Baccalaureate Sermon. His topic will be, "Therefore ---."

Commencement Vespers at 7:30 p.m. is the final event scheduled for the day. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Hal Baldwin Lloyd, a member of the Class of 1943 and a son of President and Mrs. Lloyd. Hal Lloyd is a graduate of McCormick Theological Seminary and pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Rockford, Illinois.

Council Names Committee Heads

At the final council meeting of the year, held at Morningside, 8:45, May 10, 1961, the Council elected as secretary-treasurer for next year Beth Reichardt. Standing committee appointments were approved as follows:

Athletics	Don McFerren
Social	Bill Weissenberger
Organizations	Blair Moffett
Pep	Dan Davis
Publicity	Carol Brown
Town Night	Rosalind Brown
Programs	Tim Hanks
Projects	Bill Ward
USNSA Coordinator	Sue Quigg

Editorially Speaking...

REALITY . . . ?

What will the American ideal become to you — dream or reality?

The President is encouraging help for others through his Peace Corps Program. Millions of Americans are responding to his call.

A little girl can bounce through her living room and tease her father while he is holding a press conference to discuss the affairs of the world.

Man-shot into space . . . Astronaut Alan Shepard's feat was the product of the combined efforts and interest of not just a few specialists in nuclear science, but of millions of American people to whom he was a real person. Co-operation, with patience and hard work, was the key.

The American ideal is a "great cause." Only through the faith of the people who make it up can it become a reality. And that means you, because you are the American ideal.

TIME

This tradition we have called time often gets cornered in some sort of a "Tomorrow" concept. It's too bad when time, or the lack of it, has to become an excuse for unconcern or irresponsibility — when we're too busy to care. As our February Meetings speaker pointed out, we're becoming right now what we are going to be; time itself won't make us what we're not, or create in us a feeling we don't possess.

Likewise, that diploma isn't a passport — by a long shot — to freedom from a duty to further learning or concern — nor will it change your ways or find your soul. But with it as a backdrop you can create your own personal awareness of "mutability" — realizing in it a process not of being changed, but of change. Just like thinking . . . you have to do it yourself.

IN CLOSING . . .

The party's over — of that we seniors are aware. We are alumni; and in addition we have been termed humanitarians. The demand for such individuals is slight in our world; but the the need is tremendous. We have been given a great deal and now an even greater amount is silently demanded of us.

Hope, on the finite side of existence is becoming an increasingly empty and hysterical word. The sins of men and of nations are great — in Cuba, Laos, South Korea, Angola, Communist China, and in Montgomery, Alabama. We dare not hope with blinded eyes, lest we fail to see our sin and our responsibility. Yet, we must hope.

A May evening in Vespers, Dr Campbell was reading from Romans; ". . . neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, now powers, nor things present, nor things to come . . . shall be able to seperate us from the love of God." Jets screamed overhead, almost drowning out the words — almost, but not quite.

PJS

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Vol. 46, No. 14 May 25, 1961

Member of University Press Service

Published bi-weekly during the year by the students of Maryville College

Editorial Staff

Editor ..... Phyllis Stine
Today's Editor ..... Beth Reichardt
News Editor ..... Pat Baker
Helen Anne Easterly
Feature Editor ..... Carolyn Siera
Copy Editor ..... Lynn Herring
Exchange editor ..... Anitra Bard
Sports Editors ..... Kathy Eisenhart
George Roselli
Contributors this issue ..... Pat Crossley, June Wilson, Ellen Dozier, Keen Compher
Typists ..... Jean Keller, Gloria Schwam, Linda Roberts

Business Staff

Business Manager ..... Mike Garrett
Business Assistant ..... Phyllis Deloteus
Circulation Manager ..... Jon Sypher
Faculty Advisors ..... Miss Carolyn Blair, Mr. Frank Layman

Subscription Rate $1.00 Per Semester

Byrons Graphic Arts — Printers

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the Act of Congress of March 8, 1870.

All letters to the editor must be signed, limited to 300 words, and submitted to a staff member by the Saturday prior to the regular date of publication

Common Sense In Foreign Affairs

The great yearning on the part of the American people at the present time is to simplify every problem by the attempt to pinpoint one cause as the one and only source of a particular problem. In the desire to resolve problems by the discovery of one cause, over-simplification takes place and the presence of many causes is overlooked or, if perceived, is discarded and neglected. It is also reflected in the attempt to find one solution or course of action for the settlement of a problem, neglecting the fact that solution of problems are oftentimes as complex as are the causes of problems. The attempt seems to be a reaction to the complexity of life which results in a search for simplicity in everything. It also seems to reflect the penchant of Americans for going from one extreme to another.

This fallacy of the single factor is found in all field but particularly it is encountered in the field of international affairs. In the early part of this century it was popular to blame all international ills on absolute monarchy, personified by the Kaiser. Later it was dictatorship, personified by Hitler, which was responsible. More recently it has been Marxian communism, as practiced by Russia under Stalin and Khushchev. Now we find the Chinese communists under Mao Tse-tung emerging as the current devil. Certainly, from the standpoint of focussing anger and attention, it is very convenient to thus be able to simplify problems and shift responsibility elsewhere.

Not only is this over-simplification encountered in the description of the cause of an international problem but also it is found in the solution of such problems. Export the American form of democracy to all countries and the world will be fine. This has long been looked upon as the standard solution by Americans for any country's problems. Increasingly we are coming to realize that what has proven good for us at a particular time in history is not necessarily suitable for others at their particular stage of development. The American form of democracy cannot be imposed from outside or a people whose training and background has not prepared them to accept it and make it work. This has been demonstrated in Latin American since its emancipation from colonial rule and now is being demonstrated in Africa and Asia as the countries in these areas become independent. Despite the Anglophobia which is still present in the United States, credit has to be given to the British who have recognized this necessity and have endeavored to develop the background and give the necessary training in the democratic processes to colonial areas so that democracy might be developed after independence. The Spanish and Portueguese and later the French, Dutch and Belgians have not been so perceptive. For us to step in and to impose our form of democracy without a long period of preparation of the local populace for it is a mistake. The problem of these newly-emerging countries are much more complex than can be solved through the imposition of political democracy.

—Mr. A. D. Ainsworth

Poet's Niche

KNOWLEDGE

. . . Know Thyself . . . Socrates

HELP!
Out of a vast wilderness came a cry
Scarcely heard in the intensity of my own crying.
Once Heard —
I cut off my ears.

I saw the crier then — a man
Crawling up the pock-marked hill, where
I had come to be alone.
He whimpered with a groan.
I twisted my hands into a hard knot.

As he came near, the stench of
His essence penetrated my being.
He was a billboard man, flat and featureless.
His cardboard mouth flapped open;
the cry came again, shrill and intense.
The agony of his onetime eyes pierced my heart;
I lost no blood.

He circled about me and I shrieked for his departure.
My feet became roots.
The cries mounted and merged with the clouds they rent, revealing darkness.
My muted tongue sought no help.

His writhing form was blown over by the wind and flattened out, becoming a pool
Of shredded paper.
Because I could raise him
No higher than the inverse proportion of my sin,
I closed my eyes, and put them in my pocket.

As the tears of disintegration filled the pocked holes in the hill,
I knew the sky to be undistorted mirror.
I knew the cry to be internal echo.

HELL!

Carolyn Siera

2 POEMS

Outside my room the solemn dawn appears
Foretelling of another hurried day
In which the troubled mind might lose itself;
Amidst the weakened light my soul lies still Awaiting inspiration to arrive
And rouse me from the ever-silent world,
Where darkness reigns supreme and souls despair;
The sun girds on her brilliant rays, and I,
Illumined by their mounting glare, find strength
To rise and set the stage, arrange the play.
And meet those seasoned actors cast within
A drama prearranged by destiny,
Or some such force beyond my power to grasp

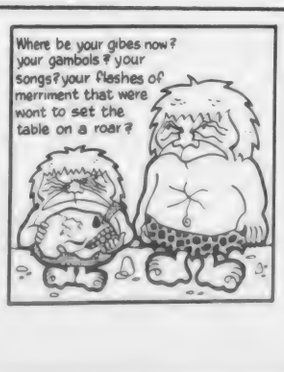
The evening air hangs heavy in my heart
Where stricken joy stands helpless at the bed
Of dying friendship, gasping with despair;
But why must we endure this cruel scene,
Prolonged by doubt and cruel uncertainty?
Shall we not end it with a word or two—
Or must pale friendship sway eternally between
The realms of life and death, unaided by
The hand of God nor silenced by the depths of Hell.

Awake you fools and put away your dreams;
Do not delude yourselves with false ideals;
The world is not as you imagine it;
Search out what little can be had in life,
And take no heed in those who boast of love.
For love is nothing but a monumental lie.

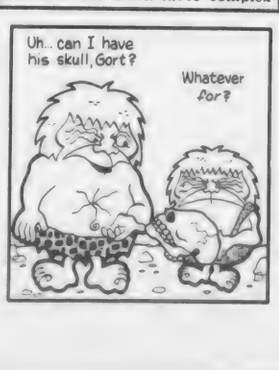
—David W. Pate

Great minds talk about ideas; medium minds talk about things; small minds talk about people.

The BANK of MARYVILLE



"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"



BANKING SERVICES

- Check Accounts
- Savings Accounts
- Christmas Club Savings
- Transfer of Funds
- Banking from Your Car
- Night Depository Service

– YOUR COLLEGE BANK –

Answer to Today's Puzzle

S	P	A	T		T	A	T	A		A	W	O	L	F
H	I	M	A	L	A	Y	A	S		T	A	B	O	R
E	X	P	L	O	R	E	R	I		E	L	O	P	E
L	I	L	I	T	H		P	A	R	A	K	E	E	T
F	E	E		T	E	G		N	O	S	Y
		S	E	E	R	S		D	E	T	A	C	H
N	E	W	O	R	L	E	A	N	S		A	B	O	U
I	R	O	N	Y		E	T	O		A	L	L	O	T
B	I	N	G		S	K	Y	R	O	C	K	E	T	S
S	L	I	S	T		O		R	A	T	T	Y
		T	O	R	E		S	H	E		R	A	E
A	D	O	R	A	B	L	E		E	D	G	A	R	S
B	I	T	E	S		E	V	A	L	U	A	T	E	S
D	I	S	T		H	A	I	L	P	L	A	N	E
B	O	S	S	Y		I	N	D	O		E	L	A	N

WE PRESENT WITH PRIDE... SENIORS 1961

Class Officers

Don Harward ..... President
Tod Jablonski ..... Vice-President
Jean Stefancic ..... Secretary-Treasurer

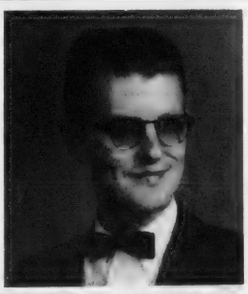
ROSEMARY BARRETT. Nashville, Tenn. Piano. Plans: Graduate School — Indiana U.

ROBERTA ELIZABETH BERGER. Greenville, Ill. Home Economics. Plans: Teacher in Hamilton Township, N.J., Married in June.

HARRIETT BLANKENSHIP. College Park, Ga. Health and Physical Education. Plans: Physical therapy school.



L. R. BICKFORD. Framingham, Mass. Biology. Plans: Graduate school at U. of Chicago.

BONNIE BIRCH. Tenafly, N.J. Biology.

ZAIDA BROWN. Richmond, Va. Sociology. Plans: Presbyterian School of Christian Education, Va.

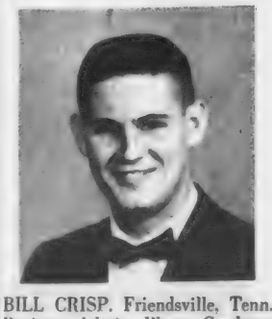
ROBERT E. BURKHARDT. Baltimore, Maryland. Bible-Christian Education. Plans: Union Seminary, Va.

PEGGY BURRIS. Rockford, Tenn. Elementary Education. Plans: Teach in Knox. County.

BONNIE BURROW. Reidsville, N.C. Christian Education. Plans: Director of Christian Education.

LARRY R. BUSH. Avenel, N.J. Psychology. Plans: Graduate School or do Personnel work.

RUTHANNE E. CAMPBELL. Johnson City, N.Y. Physical Education. Plans: Physical Education Teacher, N.Y.



LEO CHEN, Washington, D.C. Chemistry. Plans: Graduate work Ole Miss.

BOB CONNER. Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. History. Plans: U. S. Navy

DYRK COUSER. Ponxsutawney, Penna. History. Plans: Teaching, Ohio.

BILL CRISP. Friendsville, Tenn. Business Admin. Plans: Graduate work at U.T.

ALICE CURD. Louisville, Ky. English. Plans; Library work and travel.

MARY DARLING. Erie, Penna. Home Economics. Plans: Dietetic internship at the U. of Minn. Hospitals.

KEITH DAY. Russelville, Ohio. Health and Physical Education. Plans; Graduate School.

TERRY LEE DICK. Phelps, Ky. Home Economics. Plans; August wedding, D.C.E. in Minn.

LINDA DOBSON. Morresville, Penna. Sociology. Plans: Child Welfare Dept. and Graduate School.

DAVID DOYSCHER. Jackson, Minn. History. Plans: Graduate School.

JOHN MICHAEL DUCEY. Niles, Mich. Philosophy. Plans: Seminary.

ROBERT DUGGAN. Brooklyn, N.Y. English. Plans: Louisville Seminary.

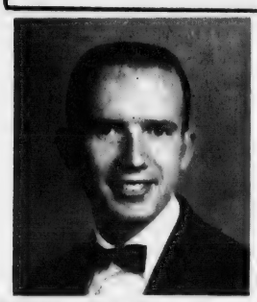
VIRGINIA BASS EADDY. Maryville. Elementary Education. Plans: Teach in Knox County.

KATHY EISENHART. Atlanta, Ga. Christian Education. Plans: D.C.E.

Congratulations
To The Class of 1961

HARTMAN'S FLOWERS

Best Wishes To The
Seniors and The Lloyds



BYRNE DRUG CO.

Best of Luck
To This Year's Senior Class

WHITE OFFICE MACHINES

Thank You To The Faculty and Students at Maryville College for Your Faithful Patronage—"Hurry Back"

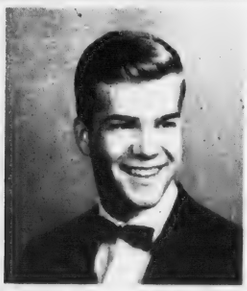
LEONARD'S STEAK HOUSE

ROBERT EMMERT. Glenshaw, Penna. Biology. Plans: Graduate School — Southern Ill. U.

SUE FAGAN. Acworth, Ga. Art. Plans: Art Consultant for Carterville, Ga. school system.



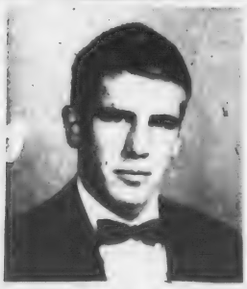
EUGENE FIEG. Greensboro, N.C. English. Plans: Seminary at Ganisville or Pittsburg.

SYLVIA FUGATE. Ewing, Va. Mathematics. Plans: Graduate study at U. of Alabama.

CAROLYN GASS. Maryville. English. Plans: McCormick Seminary.

DAVID LELAND GILMORE. Wheeling, W. Va. History. Plans: Louisville Seminary.

CHERYL GOULD. Momjipom, Cameroun. Christian Education. Plans: Marriage and D.C.E. in Ky.



STEVE GRAHAM. Titusville, Penna. History. Plans: Graduate School.

BILL GREEN. Highstown, N.J. English. Plans: Teach H.S. English at Cleveland, Tenn. and then Graduate School.

GARY HALL. Pittsburgh, Penn. Economics. Plans: Louisville Seminary.

DON HARWARD. Baltimore, Maryland. Philosophy. Plans: Graduate Study.

PHYLLIS HEMBREE. Roselle, N.J. Sociology. Plans: Work with Y-Teens as Program Dir. in the YWCA.

BRENDA HEWETT. Cleveland, Tenn. History. Plans: Teach H. S. history.

J. R. HOEFER. Maryville. Sociology. Plans: YWCA work.

TOD JABLONSKI. Washington College, Tenn. Mathematics. Plans: Teach in private secondary school.

MARY DORCAS JAMES. Greenville, Ga. Bible and Christian Education. Plans: D.C.E. in Morristown, Tenn.

KAREN KENNEDY. Tarentum, Penn. Piano. Plans: Teach music and Graduate School.

ELEANOR KENST. Maryville. German. Plans: Teaching. Nursing, or Social Work.

ALMA RUTH KIDD. Maryville. Christian Education. Plans: Southern Baptist Seminary in Louisville, Ky.

CAROLYN JOAN LACY. Loudonville, N.Y. Sociology. Plans: Social Work, possibly with Red Cross.

HELEN GAY LANDIS. Washington, D.C. Sociology. Plans: Marriage in September and work probably with the government.

LOUVA ANN LAWSON. Townsend, Tenn. Biology. Plans: Graduate School and marriage.

BETSY LYLE LONSINGER. Norristown, Penna. English. Plans: Divinity school at St. Andrew's University, Scotland.

ANN McLEOD. Jacksonville, Fla. Home Economics. Plans. Training for buyer in women's fashions: graduate school in the spring.

NANCY JO MARTIN. Orlando, Fla. History. Plans: An August wedding; Columbia Theological Seminary in the fall.

Our Wish For Success
To the Class of 1961

BADGETT STORE CO.

Congratulations, Seniors!
We've Enjoyed Serving You

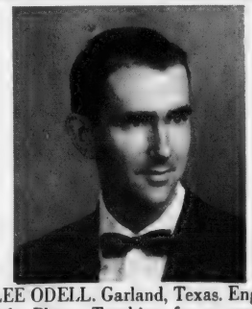
CAPITOL THEATRE

Our Best To The
Graduates of 1961

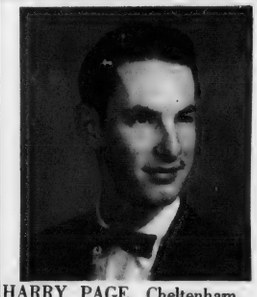
MURPHY–WEST

Congratulations Seniors
On A Job Well Done!

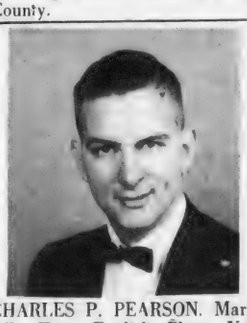
MINTON'S



EUGENIA MILLER. Mt. Pleasant, Iowa. Christian Education. Plans: Teaching second grade in Knox County.

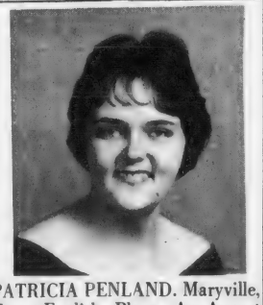


DONNA LAUBACH MOROS. E. Stroudsburg, Penna. Applied Music-Voice. Plans: Princeton Seminary.



EDGAR MOROS. Caracas, Venezuela. Biology. Plans: Princeton Seminary.

LEE ODELL. Garland, Texas. English. Plans: Teaching for a year, then graduate school.



HARRY PAGE. Cheltenham, Penna. Political Science. Plans: Teaching or business.

CHARLES P. PEARSON. Maryville, Tenn. English. Plans: Yale Graduate School for PhD. in English, College teaching.

RONALD BLAIR PEARSON. Maryville, Tenn. Political Science. Plans: Commission in U. S. Marine Corps. Fall, 1961.

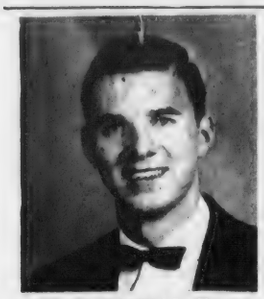
PATRICIA PENLAND. Maryville, Tenn. English. Plans: An August wedding; teaching in Syracuse, N.Y.

GEORGE W. POLAND. Beverly Shores, Indiana. Political Science. Plans: Attend Law School at Vanderbilt University.

SANDRA POOLE. Kingsport, Tenn. Elementary Education. Plans: A June wedding; teaching in Roanoke, N. C.

UNA G. RANKIN. North Arlington, New Jersey. French. Plans: teach or get Master's degree.

JIM RECHTIN. Newport, Kentucky. Psychology. Plans: graduate school; social work.



MARGARET ANN REITER. Miami, Florida. Biology. Plans: A June wedding; work.

LINDA ROBERTS. Alcoa, Tenn. English Education. Plans: teaching in Tennessee.

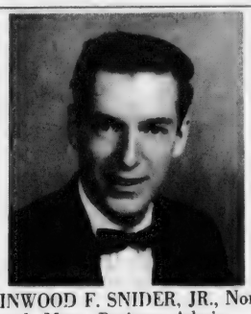
WILLIAM L. ROBERTS. Fairlawn, N.J. English. Plans: Princeton Seminary.

GEORGE ROSELLI. Everett, Mass. Latin. Plans: Graduate School at L.S.U. OR Iowa U.

MARGIE ROSS. Maryville. Mathematics. Plans: Baby.

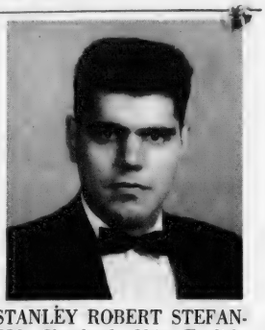
GLORIA SCHWAM. Cordova, Tenn. Sociology. Plans: Graduate School.

CAROLYN L. SIERA. Gatlinburg, Tenn. English. Plans: Eventual graduate work in psychology.



NANCY R. SLACK. Miami, Fla. Psychology. Plans: Eventual graduate study.

KATHRYN ANN SMITH. Williamsburg, Va. Mathematics. Plans: Working as a Mathematician with the National Aeronautics and Space Admin., Va.



SARAH SMITH. Maryville. English Plans: Work on M.A. at U.T. and teach.

LINWOOD F. SNIDER, JR., Norwood, Mass. Business Admin. Plans: Enter the Business field.

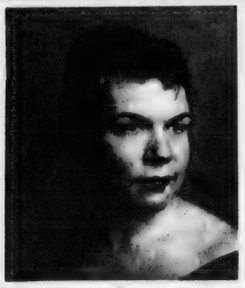
JEAN STEFANCIC. Cleveland, Ohio. English. Plans: Graduate work at Simmons College, Boston, Mass. in Library Science.

STANLEY ROBERT STEFANCIC. Cleveland, Ohio. English. Plans: Harvard Divinity School.

Our Best Wishes to
The Seniors of 1961

BALL OFFICE SUPPLY AND EQUIPMENT CO.

May You Enjoy Success
in the Years Ahead



CITY DRUG

To the Class of '61
Our Very Best Wishes

MARYVILLE CLEANERS

Congratulations Grads!
May You Enjoy Much Happiness

HORNE'S FLORIST

PHYL STINE. Butler, Penn. History. Plans: June wedding and live in N.J.

DON WHITE. Philadelphia, Penna. Mathematics.

BARBARA WILLIAMS. New York City. English. Plans: Teach English in Washington, D.C.

RICHARD GRANT YATES. Maryville. Bible and Religion. Plans: Princeton Seminary.

ELVA YOHE. Monongahela, Penna. Voice. Plans: Teaching music.

HAROLD BROWN. Maryville, Business Admin. Plans: Retail selling until end of summer.

LESTOR BUNTON. Elk Park, N.C. Physical Education. Plans; Teaching.

WILLIAM A. CUNNINGHAM. Philadelphia, Penna. Philosophy. Plans: Graduate School.

NANCY L. HORD. Maryville. Sociology. Plans; Blount County Dept. of Welfare and Graduate School.

SARAH SHELLEY KELSO. Knoxville. English. Plans: Teach or Welfare Work in Chattanooga.

JOHN A. LOCKE. Toronto, Ontario. Bible-Religion. Plans: Wycliffe Theological College, University of Toronto.

JOSEPH E. QUINN, JR. Philadelphia. Penna. History. Plans: Y.M.C.A. work in Pennsylvania.

THOMAS S. SCOTT. Covington, Va. Business Admin. Plans: Probably work in personnel, management, or sales.

T. BRYSON STRUSE III. Phoenixville, Penna. Biology. Plans: Philadelphia College of Osteopathic, and marriage in Dec.

JOHN E. TALMAGE. Taejon, Korea. Mathematics. Plans: Graduate Study in Physics at the U. of Ky.

NINAJO TARVER. College Park, Ga. French. Marriage — Bill Owenby. will reside in Maryville

LEONARD JAMES VOGT. Philadelphia, Penna. German. Plans: McCormick Seminary.

Good Luck to the
Class of 1961

W G A P

May The Years Ahead
Bring Success and Happiness

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK

May All Your Endeavors
Prosper Through The Years

BROADWAY JEWELERS

Our Sincere Best Wishes
To the Class of 1961!

THE CLOTH SHOP

We Are Happy To Extend Our Sincere Appreciation To Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd For Their Devotion and Service To Maryville College

Proffitt's

Serving Maryville College Students and Faculty For 41 Years

Dr. Lloyd Recalls Experiences During Presidency of M.C.

The class of 1961 has a very special graduate. He is Dr. Ralph Waldo Lloyd who has decided to terminate his presidency. When he and Mrs. Lloyd were asked to express what these past thirty years at Maryville have meant to them, they recalled several memories that are very dear to them.

After Dr. Lloyd's acceptance of the presidency he and his family first arrived on campus Nov. 29, 1930. They remember especially the enthusiastic welcome they received. A group of students greeted them with several rousing cheers and songs; the next morning in chapel the entire student body repeated this warm welcome.

Throughout the years the Lloyds' ties here became stronger as they witnessed many great changes. In March, 1947, for example, they suffered a double blow of sorrow. The day after the Voorhees Chapel burned down Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd received news of the sudden death of their three-month-old niece, Ann Baldwin Lloyd. Soon afterward the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lloyd, offered to sponsor the construction of a Fine Arts Center in Ann's memory. Besides being an active memorial to the Lloyds' niece, this new building allowed the Fine Arts Department to expand as a center separate from the chapel. The FAC also marked the first use of modern architecture on campus.

Although the Lloyds no longer live among the students, they remain close to the life of the campus. Each Sunday, for instance, they join the student body for dinner. Thanksgiving is also a time of fellowship for the Lloyds with their "college family." The Lloyds are bound closely to Maryville also because their four children grew up here, and eventually each of them graduated from the college. Their oldest son, Vernon, who is now a lawyer in California, graduated in 1941; Hal, a minister in Illinois, received his degree during the summer of 1944. Ruth is a housewife in Indiana and a '47 grad, and Louise, of the class of '51, who was only a year and a half old when she came to Maryville, is now the wife of a missionary in the Philippines. Mrs. Lloyd recalls that their daughters were among the first children to take part in the annual May Day program.

In addition to their numerous sentiments about the last thirty years, the Lloyds can look back upon the many accomplishments. Deserving mention among these are the accreditation of the college by the Association of American Universities, the American Association of University Women, and the National Association of Schools of Music. It is also noteworthy that during Dr. Lloyd's presidency the book value of the college plant has increased from $700,000 to $4,000,000; the endowment has doubled to $3,000,000; and the yearly operating budget of the college has risen from $300,000 to more than $1,000,000.

Dr. Lloyd has served the longest term of any of the six presidents in the history of Maryville College. He has signed and awarded diplomas to 71 percent of all Maryville graduates since its founding in 1819 and 81 percent of all graduates now living.

President Lloyd announced his resignation on his thirtieth anniversary, December 1, 1960. He and Mrs. Lloyd were greatly impressed the following evening, when three hundred students gathered at "Morningside" to wish them well. Reminding them of their first arrival, this serenade has been placed among the Lloyd's precious memories of thirty fruitful years at Maryville.

TOP—Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd, retiring this summer after 31 years of service to Maryville College and community; BELOW—Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd dining on the sun porch at Morningside, the President's home; RIGHT—The Lloyds at Christmas, 1960, showing the Lloyd's four children and their husbands and wives.

Alliance President, Lloyd, To Visit Trouble Spots of World, Church

President Ralph W. Lloyd has just announced that he will give the coming year to a world-wide Presidential Visitation for the World Presbyterian Alliance.

Immediately after closing his work as President of Maryville College on the coming July 31, he and Mrs. Lloyd will fly to Amsterdam, Holland, for a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Alliance. They will spend all of August in Europe. After a week in Holland they will fly to Warsaw, Poland, behind the Iron Curtain, where Dr. Lloyd is to speak in the Reformed Church Cathedral; then to Denmark and Norway for speaking engagements in Copenhagen and Oslo; and to Zurich and Geneva, Switzerland, for conferences.

In September they will start on a two-month, twelve thousand mile visitation around Africa, visiting Presbyterian and Reformed Churches in the following countries, for addresses and conferences: Liberia, Ghana, Nigeria, Cameroun, Rio Muni, Angola, Union of South Africa, Mozambique, Nyasaland, Kenya, Ethiopia, Sudan, and Egypt.

Near East

In the middle of November they will go from Cairo, Egypt, to New Delhi, India, for the Third Assembly of the World Council of Churches. Their plan is to spend all of December in India, then go to Thailand and on to the Philippines where they will visit their daughter, Louise, in January.

From the Philippines the Visitation schedule will take them to Indonesia, Australia, New Zealand, and perhaps New Hebrides; then to Hong Kong, Formosa, Korea, Japan, and Hawaii, before returning to the Unied States in July 1962.

Since Dr. Lloyd and other Presbyterian and Reformed leaders spent several weeks in Latin America in 1958 and 1959, he will not return there on this trip.

Elected in '59

Dr. Lloyd was elected President of the World Presbyterian Alliance, known also as the World Alliance of Reformed Churches, at its 18th General Council, Sao Paulo, Brazil. in 1959. His term as President is for five years.

Dr. Lloyd's Presidential Visitation has been made possible by a providential combination of circumstances: He is the first President in the Alliance's long history whose personal plans and health have made possible a year of such service; the Visitation is in accord with the Alliance's expanding program of acquaintance, interpretation, mission, and unity; and funds have been made available from foundation and personal sources outside the Alliance.

Schedule and appointments are being made directly by Dr. Lloyd and by Dr. Marcel Pradervand, General Secretary of the Alliance, who recently visited Dr. Lloyd in Maryville and spoke in chapel, and his staff in Geneva. Visitations in different countries of the world will vary in length and program.

Mrs. "Special"

Dr. Lloyd, as President of the World Alliance, will hold consultations with church and government officials; will speak in churches, conferences, and educational institutions; and will participate in regional and world-wide cooperative planning by Presbyterian and Reformed Churches. Mrs. Lloyd will be a special representative of the Department of Women's Work.

"The primary aim of this Presidental Visitation," Dr. Lloyd says, "is to increase the acquaintance, the sense of world fellowship and unity, and the understanding of the distinctive Reformed contribution to our times and to the ecumenical movement among this most extensive of Protestant families of Churches around the World."

DO YOU REMEMBER?

Time is running out and soon many of us will be mere members of the Alumni Association and settle back to enjoy our age and "earned?" degree. To help the graduates recall just some of the highlites in the world of sports that have taken place in the past four years, it was suggested that a brief summary be given of the various sports and the outstanding events be noted.

In the year 1957 the word got around the Maryville Scottie football team was headed for one of its most successful pigskin campaigns in recent years. The home forces opened with two straight wins and the omens seemed to be on our side. But with the trip to Jacksonville State, nearly two-thirds of our team returned to M.C. and the Infirmary. The flu not only put our football team out of working order but even attacked the coaching staff. An S.O.S. spread quickly throughout the campus that recruits were needed for the final contest against our arch rivals; the Eagles of Carson-Newman, who rolled into town favored by as much as thirty points. Suprising our opponents with a T-formation and a few newly discovered football heroes, the big orange sent the visitors home with a mere 13-13 tie, having made the foes score in the last 15 seconds of the game to tie. Considering the flu paid us an over-stayed visit, the 3-5-1 record was not too bad and next year certainly looked like a great year for football.

Some one must have misread the crystal ball for certainly radiant sunshine did not exactly cover the Honaker field area. The team went down to defeat nine times in nine games and all that should or needs to be noted was that the fortune teller was fired and a more favorable interpreter was hired.

With the football season of 1959, the outstanding attraction of the sports world was the last football game of the year and one of the best ever played on Honaker field. For the senior issue it seemed fitting that the write-up of that now unforgetable game should be quoated from the Chilhowean of that year:

The headlines read "Scots Edge Carson-Newman;" The bell rang and rang; the student body shouted itself hoarse; the coach and team were carried off the field; the girls were given late permission to join a snake dance — all these added to the Scottie conquest of our arch-rivals, the Eagles of Carson-Newman. It may have taken sixteen games for a victory, but if all our victories can come like this one, it would be well worth the wait..... MARYVILLE 14, CARSON-NEWMAN 13, with the Eagles failing to get two points after scoring a T.D. with 1:03 remaining in the game.

The last year saw the Highlanders improve considerably and win more than their share of the contests. The Homecoming game finally ended up in a victory for the Scots and ended a perfect day.

At the end of the regular season Maryville was asked to participate in the first annual Rocket Bowl game in Huntsville, Alabama against Millsaps College of Jackson, Missippippi. With the band, cheerleaders, and many rooters the Maryville team took the field and walked off with the honors to the tune of 19-0 to wind up a fine season. At the annual sports banquet for the football and baseball teams, Bill Owenby was selected as the most valuable player and Denny Mobbs was chosen as the most improved player. The captains for the 1961 Scots are to be Bill Owenby and Pete Stafford. The Knoxville News-Sentinel chose Bill Owenby and Pete Stafford, on the first Tennessee Small College All-Star Team and Tyson McClanhan and Bill Woodby were selected on the second All-Star team.

On the Basketball scene there was little jovous news for the first two years as the team was hurt by lack of height and depth. The season of 1959-1061 saw some of the most exciting ball games ever to be played in the Alumni gym as the Scotties won all but one of their home games. Tom Morris was the outstanding player for the home five as he poured in 59 points to lead the Maryville team to a big victory over Chattanooga. It was also this season that the Alumni gym many times overflowed with fans as the Scots mowed down such opposition as Tennessee Wessleyan (even with their bongo drums and native dancers), The Eagles of Carson-Newman, and the University of Tennessee. The cage campaign of 1960-61 had the Scotties come out on the short end of the line in the victory department, but the team really started to jell and took the last four games to improve their work sheet.

The Wrestling team under the captaincy of Don White gave the fans some exciting moments this past winter and produced two outstanding wrestlers in Steve Rago and Jim Baxter. It was Jim Baxter who took the SEO wrestling championship for the second year in a row. At the season's end Jim was elected to captain the team next year.

The track and tennis teams improved steadily with each of the four past years and this year saw the netters wind up the campaign with an even record in the win and loss column and a trip to S... lens (or was that a few years back?). The track stars had the best mile relay team last year going undefeated in all its meets.

The baseball season has just ended and the Scots did a good job with the material they had. Much improvement was noticed since the beginning of the year and mention should be made of the fine work of Bill Owenby during the season. The best baseball season was 1959-1960 when the team lost only four games (one to umpire of the AA and not the American Association).

Bill Owenby, Tom Bowers, Dyrk Couser, and Dale Sterner led the team in the hitting department and Owenby and West, along with Dave Meneely did the large share of the pitching for the Scots this past season.

CHI BETA, KAPPA PHI TAKE TITLES

THE INTRAMURAL SEASON HAD JUST BEEN COMPLETED AND THE CHAMPIONS ARE CHI BETA AND KAPPA PHI. 74 per cent of the men on campus participated in the intramural program this year compared to 64 per cent last season. Football, soccer, volleyball, basketball, wrestling, and softball made up the men's program this vear. The following is a summary of the season in the women's and men's intramural program.

Women's Sports

Chi Beta has retired the W. A. A. intramural trophy permanently, after winning it for the third season in succession. The trophy is awarded to the society that wins the most sports that are played. This year eleven sports have been completed and Chi Beta has won eight of them.

The year opened with the horseshoe tournament that was won in the mud by Peggy Murrah, Chi Beta. Volley ball was the first team sport offered and was won in close competition by Chi Beta. Harriett Blankenship for Theta won the badminton tournament with ease. The powderpuff football game is one of the highlights of the year for the women's societis. They practice hard for about four weeks for the classic game. This year's game was very exciting with Chi Beta winning by one touchdown. Jan Dearcopp for Chi Beta took the fencing competition. Soccer, which seems to be one of the most rugged sports offered by W. A. A., was won 3-2 by Chi Beta.

Basketball started off second semester. By the turnout at the games it is evident that this is one of the most popular sports offered in the intramural program. The tournament was won by Chi Beta, in some fast and exciting games. The season was finished out with an all-star game which was won by Theta. The swimming meet was one of the highlights of the semester. Both societies have excellent swimmers and good teams coached by Lois Lockett for Theta and Sharon Walrond for Chi Beta. Outstanding swimmers and divers were Barbara McCarter, Sue Evans, Jane Dodez and Terry Brustar. The ping pong tournament was divided into divisions, mixed doubles and singles. Bill Owenby and Tina Jo Tarver won the doubles for Theta and Jan Dearcopp won the singles for Chi Beta. The

(Continued Page 10)

Intramural Report 1960-61

PARTICIPATION RECORD:

Football	104
Soccer	69
Volleyball	144
Basketball	160
Wrestling	17
Softball	198
	602

Number of different men taking part in the program:

Students	231
Faculty & Staff	13
Total	244
Men in school	314
Students taking part in program	231
Percentage of Student Participation	75 percent

Final Tabulations

FOOTBALL:

First Half

	W	L	T
Chinese Bandits	6	0	0
Kappa Phi Knights	5	1	0
Alpha Sig Sledgehammers	4	2	0
Alpha Sig Tackhammers	2	4	0
Alpha Sig Hammers	1	4	1
Kappa Phi Dukes	1	4	1
Kappa Phi Barons	1	5	0

Second Half

Chinese Bandits	6	0	1
Kappa Phi Knights	5	1	1
Alpha Sig Sledgehammers	4	2	0
Alpha Sig Hammers	2	3	1
Alpha Sig Tackhammers	1	3	2
Kappa Phi Dukes	1	4	1
Kappa Phi Barons	0	6	0

All-Stars 14 Chinese Bandits 13

SOCCER:

	W	L
Kappa Phi Jesters	7	1
Olympians	6	2
Alpha Sig No. 1	4	4
Alpha Sig No. 2	1	7
Scarlet Knights	0	8

VOLLEYBALL:

	W	L
Kappa Phi Knights	12	0
Alpha Sig Air Hammers	10	2
Olympians	8	4
Kappa Phi Dukes	8	4
Kappa Phi Barons	7	5
Alpha Sig Sledgehammers	6	6
Faculty	6	6
Alpha Sig Boilermakers	5	7
Alpha Sig Ball Peen Hammers	5	7
Kappa Phi Squires	5	7
Alpha Sig Tackhammers	3	9
Kappa Phi Jesters	1	11
Kappa Phi Friars	0	12

SOFTBALL:

	W	L
Alpha Sig Ball Peen Hammers	7	0
Wooly Wooops	6	1
Kappa Phi Knights	4	3
Alpha Sig Piledrivers	3	4
Kappa Phi Yearlings	3	4
Kappa Phi Young Bloods	3	4
Alpha Sig Hammers	1	6
Kappa Phi Pioneers	0	7

Letter Winners on Points: (500 or more)

Danny Johnston	Managers:
Charlie Vaughan	Tod Jablonski
Ed Ziegler	(Senior Manager)
Bill McQuire	Bob Washburn
Lew Pelkey	George Flack
Phil Brown	(Assistants)
Jim Whitcney

BASKETBALL:

"A" League

	W	L
Town Rounders	7	0
Dixie Ding Dongers	6	1
Kappa Phi Vikings	5	2
Kappa Phi Knights	4	3
Alpha Sig Amoebias	3	4
Alpha Sig Piledrivers	2	5
Alpha Sig Subversive "7"	1	6
Faculty	0	7

Tournament winner: Town Rounders

"B" League

Kappa Phi Yearlings	9	1
Kappa Phi Jousters	8	2
Alpha Sig Peen Hammer	7	2
Olympians	6	3
Kappa Phi Tons-O-Fun	5	4
Mountaineers	4	5
Kappa Phi Chipmonks	3	6
Kappa Phi G-Strings	3	6
Kappa Phi Crusaders	1	8
Alpha Sig Band Team	0	9

Tournament winner: Yearlings

WRESTLING:

Champions:

130 lbs.—	Chuck Spencer
137 lbs.—	Danny Johnston
147 lbs.—	Webb Spraetz
157 lbs.—	Tom Scott
167 lbs.—	Bill Schanefelt
Heavy—	Bill Cochran

POINT TOTALS:

	Kappa Phi	Alpha Sig	Town
Football	45 Men—4407 Points	48 Men—4780 Points	11 Men—2129 Points
Soccer	15 " — 647 "	35 " — 622 "	19 " — 732 "
Volleyball	66 " —3354 "	53 " —2477 "	12 " — 616 "
Basketball	65 " —7335 "	47 " —4216 "	39 " —3945 "
Wrestling	6 " — 35 "	7 " — 54 "	4 " — 19 "
Softball	57 " —3232 "	38 " —2043 "	13 " —1074 "
Totals	254 Men—19,010 Points	228 Men 14,192 Points	98 Men—8515 Points

(Faculty had 13 men in Volleyball and 9 in Basketball)

Want to receive the ECHO next year?

See a member of your ECHO staff today and ask about the special subscription rates available to seniors.

Library Museum

The Library has expanded its facilities to include most of what was formerly the College Maid Shop on the ground floor of Thaw Hall. In addition to shelving for papers and periodicals, the space is used for the Museum and the Elizabeth Gowdy Baker Art Collection. Formerly the Museum was in the east corner of the main library floor. For several years the Baker pictures have not been exhibited, although formerly the classrooms in Anderson Hall now used by Dr. Hunter and Miss Blair were set aside as an art gallery.

The collection consists of approximately two hundred original water color and oil paintings by Elizabeth Gowdy Baker, who was long an eminent artist in New York prior to her death about thirty years ago. About fifty of the paintings are portraits or portrait studies and the others are marines, landscapes and other scenes painted by Mrs. Baker as she traveled in America, Europe, and Africa. The collection was given to Maryville College by her husband, Mr. Daniel B. Baker, who after his wife's death came to Maryville to live.

The Library has hung twenty of these pictures and from time to time will exchange some of them for others now in storage. This is a very valuable collection and one which it is hoped will become familiar to students in the future years as it was to the students generations of two decades ago.

MC STUDENT WITNESSES STARTLING CHANGES IN VENEZUELA

In the two weeks that I spent in Venezuela during the month of March, I was impressed by the changes that have taken place there since I left three years ago.

Like many other countries in the world, Venezuela is passing through a social revolution that promises to bring about radical changes. It is true that hunger, poverty, and ignorance are still existent; but, on the other hand, the number of professionals, businessmen, teachers, and students are increasing very quickly. Furthermore, there is a great concern and a new consciousness of these problems in the minds of these intellectuals.

It was surprising to hear how in the streets, restaurants, schools, and universities, national as well as international problems are being discussed with a passion never seen before.

Nationalism is extending in gigantic proportions into every corner of the country.

Venezuela for the first time is facing its problems and trying to find ways to develop its resources in order to produce a new country with high standards of living.

A fast-growing minority of the population has taken up communism as the answer to these problems.

I was disturbed by feelings of hatred towards the United States and its capitalistic system. Together with Fidel Castro, thousands of Venezuelan students shout that the United States has done nothing but exploit and rob the Latin American Countries.

It was a shock for me to find that most of my high school mates were passionately and furiously Communist. Few, if any at all, were willing to see a bit of good in the policies of the United States.

I found out how these small groups of Communists are working hard to convert the whole country into a communistic state very much like Cuba.

As a matter of fact Communists are the only ones who have a concrete and definite answer to the problems of the Nation. Day after day a feeling grows stronger that the only answer to our problems is Communism.

But is Communism the only answer? Is there any hope in the friendship to the United States? What about the church, has it anything to offer the growing ranks of the Communists?

These questions, dear readers, I invite you to try to answer, because they are the same that are being asked in Africa and Thailand and the rest of the backward countries.

The Communists have a great purpose for their lives and an answer for the world's problems. Do we have a greater one or anything to offer against communism?

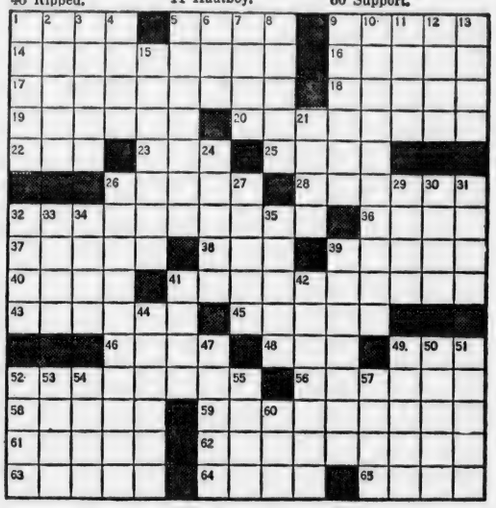
I fear that if these questions cannot be answered adequately, and if each one of us here in America doesn't find a way to counteract what is being done by the Communists with something better and more constructive, numerous "second Cubas" are going to be appearing very soon all over South America.

Less talk and more action are needed both by the American Government and by all of its citizens.

However this action cannot be like the past American intervention in Cuba. A genuine concern for the underdeveloped peoples, something called AGAPE is needed in our world today.

On whether we can find effective ways to express AGAPE hinges the future of Venezuela and of the whole world.

Edgar Moros
Student from Venezuela



Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS

1 Squabble.
5 Bye-bye.
9 "— in sheep's clothing:" 2 words.
14 Highest mountains.
16 Small drum.
17 U.S. satellite.
18 Marry in haste.
19 Adam's first wife, in Jewish folklore.
20 Budgereegah of Australia.
22 Charge.
23 Young sheep.
25 Like a busybody.
26 Men of vision.
28 Disengage.
32 Largest city of the South.
36 His "name led all the rest."
37 Sarcasm.
38 SHAEF theatre.
39 Give out shares.
40 Rudolf ——.
41 Rises rapidly: Colloq: 2 words.
43 Tackles earnestly, as work: 2 words.
45 Shabby: Slang.
46 Ripped.
48 Who stoops to conquer?
49 Rachel's nickname.
52 Lovely: Colloq.
56 Hoover and others.
58 Takes the bait.
59 Takes stock.
61 Pindar or Horace.
62 Postal transportation since 1918: 2 words.
63 Cow or calf.
64 —-China.
65 Dash.

DOWN

1 Place for Harvard Classics.
2 Sprite.
3 Spacious.
4 Anklebones.
5 North Carolina, the — State.
6 Affirmative.
7 Waterproof canvas: Colloq.
8 Oriental.
9 NCO's command: 2 words.
10 Type of intercom radio: 2 words.
11 Hautboy.
12 Easy gait.
13 Be vexed.
15 Sweepstakes.
21 Dowels.
24 Xenephon's tongue.
26 Singer.
27 Sylvan deity.
29 Capable.
30 Web-footed bird.
31 Quonsets.
32 Sharp prongs.
33 Shipping center in Pa.
34 Custom.
35 Ballerina Kaye and namesakes.
39 Played pranks: 2 words.
41 Relative of an apple tree.
42 Shakespearean tragedy.
44 Warm: Colloq.
47 Varnish material.
49 Amount of assessment.
50 Place of assembly.
51 Ruhr metropolis.
52 Nodding: Poet.
53 Prank: Colloq.
54 Colonial orator.
55 Welshman's name.
57 High wind.
60 Support.

This Crossword Puzzle Sponsored by

The J & K SUPER STORES

Headquarters For: All your SNACKS, PICNIC and Get-Together FOODS. See us for that eat-out or picnic. Special Orders Get Special Attention.

DROP IN on your way back from town—Last stop for your favorite goodies, soaps and everyday needs.

THE J & K SUPER STORE – CHURCH STREET

Continental Cursive

May 15, 1961

Dear Mom,

I don't know what to write about, Mom. This is my last letter to you as a collegian, and my young blood feels a little tired, having reached the wisdom of knowing that four years' chance at knowledge is nearly ended.

Knowledge—Wisdom? Which and what? I came here to learn, I thought, knowledge; to drain books of their every printed word. It seems that I'm going to leave with less knowledge and more wisdom, in a sense, than I had bargained for.

Let me explain just a little: I'm sitting on a bench, looking at the mountains. I've been thinking for half an hour, trying to find something to write that would not make it sound as if I were sad about leaving this place that for four years I've been waiting to "escape." I've remembered a lot of things — good memories and bad — from the first evening of my arrival to this very day. And I've tried to sort out this mixture of glad and sad, to see which was greater, and why.

I think it's mostly glad, tinged with sad. Now that takes some mental gyrations, but it pretty well works out if you think of it like this: I'm glad, because this is the end of what once seemed to be an interminable length of time. Four years of classes, papers, finals, and grades — coming to an end. Not really, for I'll be going on to graduate school, but this is the longest span, and the one that has been full of the most growth. Glad because this is the place I am leaving, not some other school. Glad that just now, at the end of it all, I am finding out that I've learned so very much, and that at last I can say, "I'm ready, or nearly so, to go out and face the world, and prove that I can accept the full responsibilities, the joys and sorrows, that will be in that facing. Glad to have known teachers who, without my realizing it, have worked hard to help me be ready for this. Glad, too, to have made so many friends, and glad to know that these are lasting friendships.

The sadness comes only in knowing that the closeness of these glad things is about to end. It will end only in the sense of there being no daily contact, not in a final sense; but this daily contact has fed my growth for four years, and even though one knows that everything will not stop, one also wonders, just a little, what happens to a transplanted flower, and how new surroundings will seem to it.

It seems strange, having come here for knowledge, and having gained a certain amount of it, I can say with assurance that this is the least important of the things I'll carry away from here, all rolled up in a neatly tied ribbon. Far more important are the things that didn't come labelled English 206, or Philosphy 311, or History 102. They are intangibles: a set of values finally congealed and become real and workable. They are measures, of the world and of people. They state firmly that all things have a relativity, a place and purpose, that is not necessarily totally comprehensible. But this vagueness is not frightening, it is a challenge to further test this wisdom, and develop more. And the certainty of knowing that former trials make future tribulations easier is followed fast with a sense of gratitude for those who were the defending attorneys. I can't say much more, I seem to be getting more and more vague. Just this — I'm glad to have been here, and many thanks to those who have made it possible for me to walk away with my head held high.

Love,
Commencement Sue

The "Y" Store Proudly serves

MAYFIELD'S Ice Cream and Milk

Smoother, Richer, better Tasting

Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

THE COFFEE HOUSE

YOUR 24 HOUR HOST

Real Home-Made PIE a SPECIALTY

Broadway Downtown

College Hill Grill

Two Blocks from Campus through the South Gate on Cate Street

Delicious Italian PIZZA

All Meals Served Family Style

Now Under Management of Otis & Vina Atkins

Copeland Accepts

On April 23 Dr. Joseph J. Copeland officially accepted the position as President of Maryville College. He will begin his service at the college around July 1, 1961.

Dr. Copeland is a native of Texas; he has been Pastor of Second Presbyterian Church, Knoxville, for the past nine years, and has been a member of the Board of Directors of Maryville College for eight years. He has been Vice-Chairman of the Board of Directors for four years and a member of its Committee on Administration for six years.

He is a graduate of Trinity University in Texas, and of McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago, and holds the honorary degrees of Doctor of Divinity from Trinity University and Doctor of Laws from Maryville College.

Before coming to Knoxville in 1952, Dr. Copeland was for ten years pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Denton, Texas. His last two pastorates have been in cities with large colleges. Also he has been in demand for religious emphasis weeks at many colleges and universities. He was the very effective leader of the Maryville College February Meetings in 1954 and 1959.

For the past twelve years Dr. Copeland has been a member of the Board of Christian Education of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. He is Chairman of that Board's Counseling Committee on the Church and Society; and is Chairman of the Program Committee of the Division of Radio and Television, related to the Board of National Missions.

In the United Presbyerian Synod of Mid-South he has been Moderator of the Synod, Chairman of Synod's Committee on Westminister Foundations, and a member of Synod's Committee on Higher Education.

School spirit is that inspiration and enthusiasm which comes, in the process of education, from contact with people and ideas greater than the self, from consciousness of a living tradition of a selfless service, from cooperation toward truly great ends, from consciousness of the broad goals of human endeavor.

Senior Chapel

Saturday, May 27, the senior class will present the annual Senior Chapel. Officers of the class, Don Harward, Tod Jablonski, and Jean Stefancic, will lead the service. The class history will be written and read by Mike Ducey, Bill Green, Pat Penland, and Peggy Reiter. Special music will be furnished by senior music majors. At the close of the service the senior class position will be passed to the incoming senior class.

Agape is not a weak, passive love. It is love in action. Agape is love seeking to preserve and create community. It is insistence on community when one seeks to break it. M. L. King

---

Bible Translation Presented To M.C.

A member of the Maryville College Class of 1935 has presented to the college a copy of the New Testament in Maya, a translation which he helped to make. The Rev. Ernest D. Mathews, who also holds two degrees from Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary, was a member of the translation committee.

Mr. Mathews resides in Merida, a city on the Yucatan Peninsula of Mexico. The Mayas once had a great civilization in southern Mexico and southward into Central America.

Mr. Mathews wrote inside the cover of the copy of the New Testament which he sent:

"This New Testament in the Maya language of Yucatan, Mexico, is presented with gratitude and affection to my alma mater, Maryville College, where I first developed a love of foreign languages and where one is constantly inspired to take "the Word" to the uttermost parts of the earth."

Mrs. Mathews is the former Eula Sibey. She also is a member of the Class of 1935.

The American Bible Society sponsored the publication last month of 2,000 copies of the translation, which is accompanied by a Spanish translation of the New Testament. The printing was done in Mexico City.

SOCIETY NEWS

Chi Beta News

Congratulations are in order for the Chi Beta team which contributed to the 1961 W A A championship. This victory entitles the society to permanent possession of the trophy which is to be retired after being won three consecutive years.

The newly elected fall officers are: President, Glorianna Hutchison; Vice-President, Anne Nakamura; Secretary, Sandy Malone; Treasurer, Sandy Stewart; Program Chairman, Liz Fastige and Jeanne Price; and Bar Maid, Barb Nielson. They were formally installed at the final meeting of the semester which was followed by a party with Kappa Phi.

The chapter chairmen for next semester are being elected by the various chapters instead of being appointed as in past years.

Kappa Phi News

Kappa Phi just elected and installed their new officers for next year. They are: President Bill Ward, Vice President Bill Weissenburger, Secretary Henry Weeks, Treasurer Perry Tooker, Program Chairman Carl McDonald, Athletic Chairman Bert Randall, and Lew Pelky as Bar Tender. The Spring Formal was the most successful and colorful dance in many a year to be held on the campus. Everyone complimented Miss Judy Agee and Mr. Bill Ward for their outstanding efforts. On Tuesday morning the men of Kappa Phi received the Intramural League trophy for the second consecutive year and need to win the race next year and then shall get to keep the trophy permanently.

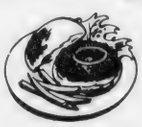
WOMEN'S SPORTS, Cont'd.

softball tournament, which had a large turnout, was won by Theta, as was the all-star game. The season was rounded out with the tennis tournament, shuffleboard and the track meet.

This whole year girls have been working toward earning enough points so that they might be elligible for membership in the Women's M Club. Points are earned on the basis of the amount of sports that are participated in and may also be earned by taking hikes and swimming. Four hundred points are the minimum requirement for membership. Those chosen this year were; Terry Brusstar, Ginna Coon, Jane Hickey, Jeanne Price, Carol Cox, Francis Frost, Anna Baker, Lois Lockett, Jan Dearcopp, Janet Reinke, Joy Umberger, Nancy Kinsman, Micki Peterino, Sandy Harris, Judy Clemons, Mary Biggs, and Peggy Williams. The new members were initiated on campus properly and then they were taken on an overnight retreat to Walden Creek where they were further initiated. Ginna Coon and Terry Brusstar were taught how to SNIPE hunt. Sylvia Fugate, outgoing president of the Women's M Club, installed the new members. Officers for the next year were elected as follows; President; Nancy Kinsman, Vice President; Carol Cox, Secretary; Jeanne Price, Treasurer; Jane Hickey, Program Chairman; Joy Umberger, and Publicity Chairman Jan Dearcopp. Miss Leslie is the advisor of the group.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands



OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock
of Quality Products Including
a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE
SUPER MARKET
Washington Avenue

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm YU 2-9921

Whatever you need in the way of pastries or baked goods, for that special occasion, we have just the thing!

VAN'S BAKERY

Call the sweetest numbers in town –
YU 2-7920 YU 3-4413

RECORDS

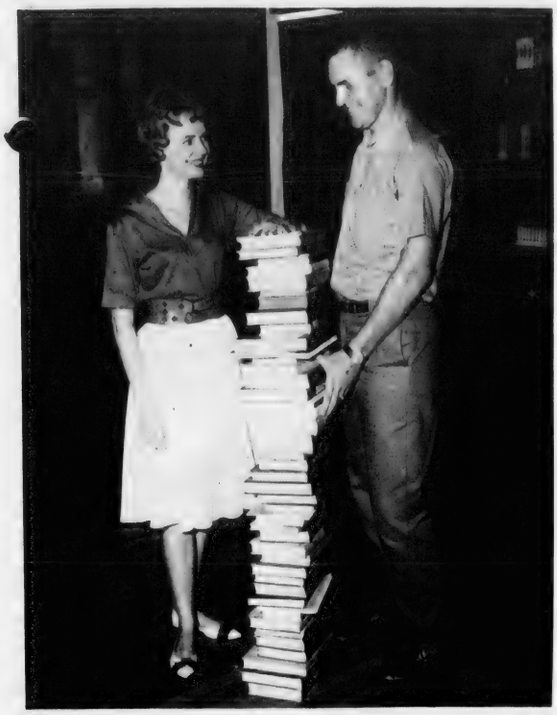
Complete selection of Hi-Fi STERO Records—
Quality Repair work on Radios & Record Players

HITCH RADIO and T.V.
Record Department

-- Congratulations To The Seniors --

WE AT MICHAEL'S WISH YOU THE BEST IN THE FUTURE AND INVITE YOU TO GO HOME LOOKING YOUR BEST

Special- COLD WAVE PERMANENT $6.95 CONTACT ANY OF MICHAEL'S SALONS NO APPOINTMENT NEEDED



1961 - 1962

The Highland Echo

Maryville College

Vol. 47 | Maryville, Tenn., September 16, 1961 | No. 1

Y CONTINUES WELCOME

Freshmen Students Jeanie Paine, Maryville, and Charles Everett, Jr., Alcoa, scrutinize books representing four years of work at Maryville.

SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED

Fifteen outstanding freshmen from eleven states have been named as winners of the John L. and Elsbeth V. Kind Memorial Scholarships. The scholarships, made possible by the bequest of Mrs. Kind, carry stipends of $150 for the academic year.

Winners of the Kind Scholarships were chosen after they had been accepted for admission to the college. Applicants for the scholarships had to achieve a high score on either set of two nationally-recognized college tests and also were interviewed personally.

Dr. and Mrs. Kind were Knoxville residents who were interested in Maryville College for many years and decided to establish a plan to help the type of student who attends Maryville. This is the second year the scholarships have been awarded to outstanding young people already accepted as freshmen. The Kinds died during the 1950s.

The Kind Scholarship Winners for 1961-62 are listed as follows: John David Clinkman, Jr., Marblehead, Mass.; Linda Ruth Delaney, Alcoa; David R. Evans, Stratford, Conn.; Sara F. Fulton, Columbia, Tenn.; Jon B. Hinderer, Philadelphia; Mary Jeanne Kent, Boonville, N. Y.

Frederic R. Kolb, Morrisown, N. J.; Janet K. Melville, Jackson, Mich.; John D. Minear, Vero Beach, Fla.; Ellen A. Saint, Detroit, Mich.; Barbara Jean Stryker, Baltimore, Md.; Judith Ann Wasson, Shelbyville, Ind.; Phyllis L. Weaver, Cochituate, Mass.; H. Kendrick Young, Clinton, N. Y.; and Elizabeth L. Lee, Coral Gables, Fla.

INAUGURATION TO BE HELD OCT. 28

An historic occasion in the life of Maryville College, which is one of the 50 oldest colleges in the U.S.A., is planned for Oct. 28. Dr. Joseph J. Copeland will be formally inaugurated as president. The ceremonies will come almost three months to the day after Dr. Copeland succeeded Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd, President Emeritus.

Plans for the inauguration on Oct. 28 and a series of events Oct. 26-28 were announced Tuesday by Joe C. Gamble, Chairman of the Board of Directors, and Maryville attorney.

Two historic policies of the college, high academic standards and a positive Christian but nonsectarian emphasis, will be emphasized during the events. There also will be the traditional Homecoming Game.

This will be the first presidential inauguraion a Maryville in a generation and only the seventh in the 143 years since the college was established. Dr. Lloyd assumed the Presidency in 1930.

Dr. Copeland, who long has been interested in the field of education, came to the Maryville campus in August from the pastorate of the Second Presbyerian Church of Knoxville. He served on the Board of Directors of the College and is a member of the denomination's Board of Christian Education.

Cont'd Page 3, Col. 5

FACULTY PROMOTIONS

The advancement of Dr. Elizabeth H. Jackson to succeed Dr. Edwin R. Hunter as chairman of the Division of Languages and Literature is among eight promotions approved by the Board of Directors.

Dr. Jackson, who came to Maryville in 1935 from the staff of Webster's New International Dictionary, hold degrees from Smith College, the University of Michigan and the University of Colorado. Dr. Hunter, who has reached retirement age, will teach one course and assist students in independent studies during this academic year.

Other promotions approved by the Board are listed as follows:

Dr. Harry H. Harter and Dr. Arda S. Walker, to be Professor;

Mr. A. D. Ainsworth and Dr. Katherine Crews, to be Associate Professor;

Mrs. Dorathea K. Beard, Miss Irma Birkelbach and Mr. Roy E. Lindahl, Jr., to be Assistant Professor.

Members of YM-YWCA were busy all summer preparing for the Y Welcome of new students. Now that the freshmen, as well as the upperclassmen, have been welcomed to MC with cheerful hellos, much-needed directions about rooms, meals, etc., and assistance with baggage, Y members are almost ready to settle down to another year. Two more major events of the Y Welcome still remain—the Big-Little Sis and Big-Little Brother parties to be held this evening. These parties, which begin at 8:00 P.M., will be followed by a joint square dance and watermelon pow wow.

On Sunday at 1:30 P.M. Y members will present a play called "I Have Spoken to My Children" by Darius Leauder Swann. This play deals with the role of the Christian in the problem of racial prejudice.

At 9:30 P.M. on Sunday evening, September 24, Y Radio, one of the many committees working under Y, will present the Y presidents, Elsie Harris and Mike Garrett, and the Student Council president, Connie Bondurant, discussing their plans and hopes for the coming year.

The Membership Drive for Y has already begun. Women interested in joining YW should see their Nu Gamma leaders or any of the cabinet members. Men are asked to contact Mike Garrett, Webb Spratz or one of the Ten Key Men.

STAFF ADDITIONS

Four persons with earlier associations with Maryville College are among the two men and three women serving in staff posts under recent appointments.

The new staff members are Hugh R. Crawford, Jr., Class of 1935 and a longtime Maryville businessman, appointed assistant business manager; Robert E. Kallstrom, Class of 1960, proctor of men's residence; Mrs. Evelyn Norton Queener, longtime faculty member, who has been on a leave of absence, head housemother of Pearsons Hall; Mrs. Edwin J. Best, Class of 1936, appointed circulation librarian; and Georgia Conley, former librarian of Sheldon Jackson Junior College, Sitka, Alaska, appointed an assistant in the library.

Mr. Crawford, who assumed his new duties Sept. 1, works as an assistant in the office of Mr. Frank Layman, College Treasurer and business manager. Mr. Crawford is serving as assistant business manager. He has been a partner in the hardware firm of Crawford and Caldwell on Broadway in downtown Maryville since his graduation.

APPOINTMENTS MADE TO FACULTY

A graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, Maryville College alumni and graduates of various other state and private colleges and university are among eleven new faculty members of the College.

Mrs. Ralph Bennett, who has been a graduate student at the University of Tennessee since her graduation in 1960 from Vanderbilt University, serves as an instructor in mathematics.

Mrs. Fred DeLozier, of Maryville serves as an instructor in home economics on a part-time basis. Mrs. DeLozier is a graduate of MC and holds a Master of Science degree from the University of Tennessee. She has served on the faculties of both Maryville and the University of Tennessee.

Mr. Austin P. Cooley, who has been residing in Paris, has an appointment as an instructor in French. He holds the diploma of l'Ecole libre des Sciences Politique in France, and he also has the graduate work at Columbia University. Mr. Cooley has visited in Europe for extended intervals since the 1920s. He also has served as an instructor at Thiel College in Greeneville, Pa.

Mr. Charles P. Dodson, newly-appointed instructor in English, received the Master of Arts degree at the University of Indiana commencement earlier this month. He is a graduate of DePauw University in his native Indiana.

Mr. James Phillip Griffin, assistant professor of philosophy and religion, came to Maryville from Boston University, where he has done advanced graduate studies. A native of North Carolina, Mr. Griffin is a graduate of Bob Jones College, studied at Harvard Divinity School in 1952-53, received the Master of Arts degree from Boston University in 1954, and has done additional graduate study.

Dr. Earl W. Henry, a Maryville graduate with the Class of 1950, received the doctorate this spring from the University of Tennessee. He taught in the Blount County school system during 1954-59. Dr. Henry serves as an assistant professor of education.

Mr. Charles R. Herms, instructor in mathematics, graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis in 1930 and retired less than a year ago as a captain. Since retiring, he has been a student at Purdue University in preparation for entering a career as a college teacher, and he has received the Master of Arts degree. Mr. Herms, a native of Portsmouth, Ohio, was a student of naval science and engineering at the Naval Post Graduate School in 1936-38, and in 1959 he completed six hours of educational courses through the extension program of Roosevelt University.

Mr. Guy William Koehne serves as an instructor in biology. He is a graduate of Kentucky Wesleyan College and this year received the Master of Arts degree from Vanderbilt University, where he served as a laboratory assistant.

Miss Barbara A. Mueller, who graduated from MC in 1959, returns to the campus as an instructor in art. She has studied at the State University of Iowa since her graduation here and received the Master of Arts degree.

Mr. Kent Perry, instructor in music, served on the Maryville faculty in 1957-58 while a faculty member was on leave. A violinist. Mr. Perry completed his undergraduate studies at the University of Tennessee, and he has studied at Northwestern University.

Mrs. Newell Witherspoon serves as an instructor in English. Mrs. Witherspoon, class of 1956, holds the M.A. degree from the University of Tennessee and has taught English at the University.

Mr. Frederick S. Wyman, instructor in music, most recently served as a teacher and as chairman of the music department of the Community School at Teheran, Iran. A 1957 graduate of Maryville, he studied at the Eastman School of Music of the University of Rochester in 1957-58 and furthered his studies this summer.

COMING EVENTS

September 17	Vespers, 7:00 p.m., Chapel, Dr. E. Fay Campbell, College Chaplain.
September 22	Faculty Recital Series, Kent Perry, instructor in music; violin, piano sonata. Linda Sue Waggoner accompanist. 8:00 p.m., Music Hall.
September 24	Vespers, 7:00 p.m., Chapel, Dr. E. Fay Campbell, College Chaplain.
September 26	Annual Convocation, Chapel, 8:00 a.m.
September 30	Football Game — Maryville College v. Centre College of Danville, Kentucky — 8:00 p.m.

Faculty Travels

Maryville College faculty members visited such diverse areas as Greece, Alaska, Germany, and Switzerland during the summer.

Miss Viola Lightfoot, registrar, and Dr. Arda Walker, professor of history, visited Greece and the Mediterranean area generally during a month-long tour.

Dr. Robert A. Lynn and his family spent the summer in Alaska, where he worked for a radio station.

Also visiting Alaska this summer was Mrs. Thelma H. Kramer, assistant professor of education.

Miss Willard Pate, instructor in English, was scheduled to visit the Soviet Union briefly while on an extended European tour this summer.

Miss Irma Birkelbach, assistant professor of German, spent most of the summer in Germany.

Associate Professor A. D. Ainsworth spent the summer in Switzerland, where he has been doing graduate studies at the University of Lausanne for several summers.

EDITOR'S CHOICE

Consider yourself . . .

So another year begins. For some of us this makes two, or three . . . or even four — but for others this is a maiden voyage, a first try. And yet, for all of us it is a new step in learning. We need to keep that idea in mind — through every bitter trial we may encounter this year. You know, freshmen are among the world's greatest wonders; they are eager, optimistic, interested, courageous and . . . well, just a bit scared. With a little seasoning, a good combination. And a good rule to measure by no matter how high you already are. Better a bit damp behind the ears and a bit starry within the eyes than slightly cold from the big toe up. Between what you can be and what you will be lies a vast empty page. Which will it be for you?

Consider your school . . .

This school you have chosen to be a part of, whether for the first time or the fourth — this Maryville College — have you really considered it, dissected it piece by piece? If you haven't, friend, you soon will. But I'll wager that when you do, if done honestly, you'll come up with a Grade A analysis in the long run. Sure, it's got its faults and its brick walls and we'll fight what we feel is wrong as long as we're here to do so. That's why it grows. But you've got your faults, too. And a college, like anything else, is only as good or bad as that which makes it up. An alive and alert campus is only so when the people walk its paths with concern. To tell you how much Maryville means to us would take more than a paragraph. We do hold, though, that never again in your life will you live and work together with a group of people quite like these here; never again will your every move be met with such unique challenges and opportunities for service, education, and personal growth. We hope you will use them while you may.

Consider the Echo . . .

A newspaper's main purpose is obvious. But, in addition, we would like to feel that the Echo will be, throughout the year, a voice of the students it serves. This is our hope and our goal. To report news and ideas is our responsibility to you. To take, and express, an active interest in the campus and world situation is your responsibility to your world and yourself. The Contributor's Column is open to any creative writing, poetry or prose, the reader would like to submit. Letters to the editor must not be more than 300 words and submitted the Saturday prior to the date of publication. Items for either of these sections must be typewritten, signed and placed in the box designated for them in the Echo office or given to any stafff member. Names will be withheld whenever requested. The Echo reserves the right to cut any articles it may find necessary and to withhold from print any in extreme deviation from the policy of the paper. In addition, the Echo office is open for your suggestions, we sincerely hope you will make use of it.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 47, No. 1 September 16, 1961

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the Act of Congress of March 8, 1870.

Editor ..... Beth Reichardt
Managing Editor ..... Lynn Herring
News Editor ..... Helen Anne Easterly
Feature Editor ..... Pat Baker
Sports Editors ..... John Mitchell
Jeanne Price
Exchange Editor ..... Anitra Bard
Contributors ..... Ellen Dozier, Keen Compher, Pat Crossley, Margaret Dozier, Bass Ellis, Bill Shanefelt, Ann Kennedy
Business Manager ..... Mike Garrett
Bussiness Assistant ..... Phyllis Deloteus
Faculty Advisors ..... Dr. Carolyn Blair
Mr. Frank Layman

Subscription Rate $1.00 per semester
$1.75 per year

Byron's Graphic Arts — Printers

Member of University Press Service
Published bi-weekly during the year by the students of Maryville College.

Best Sellers

(Based on the New York Harold Tribune — August 21)

I. FICTION

1. THE AGONY AND THE ECTASY — Irving Stone
2. TO KILL A MOCKING BIRD — Harper Lee
3. THE WINTER OF OUR DISCONTENT— John Steinbeck
4. MILA 18 — Leon Uris
5. THE EDGE OF SADNESS — Edwin O'Conner
6. THE CARPETBAGGERS — Harold Robbins
7. TROPIC OF CANCER — Henry Miller
8. REMBRANDT— Gladys Schmitt
9. THE INCREDIBLE JOURNEY—Sheila Burnford
10. HAWAII—James A. Michner

II. NON-FICTION

1. A NATION OF SHEEP— William J. Lederer
2. THE RISE AND FALL OF THE THIRD REICH— William L. Shirer
3. THE MAKING OF THE PRESIDENT, 1960— Theodore H. White
4. INSIDE EUROPE TODAY— John Gunther
5. THE NEW ENGLISH BIBLE —New Testament

"The Kennedy Administration: The First 200 Days"

by
Robert A. Lynn
Associate Professor of Business Administration, Maryville College

*EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of faculty responses to campus, local, and world events which we hope will be able to be continued throughout the year.

When John F. Kennedy took office as President of the United States it was not uncommon to hear or read predictions that his first 100 days in office would produce spectacular results. This, of course, was the expectation that Kennedy would fellow a course parallel to that of Franklin D. Roosevelt's famous first "100 days" of the New Deal in 1933. This expectation did not materialize. Where FDR set out on numerous depression recovery measures designed, for example, to raise the price of pigs; Kennedy found himself, after three months in office, bogged down in near disaster in Cuba's Bay of Pigs. Although this blunder in Cuba was extremely unfortunate, it may be considered as the point at which the new administration hit bottom, the point after which Kennedy began to pick up the pieces and to demonstrate the resoluteness that was so generally admired in his inaugural address. Thus after 200 days it is possible to have at least a little perspective on a period which, though far less spectacular than 1933 in terms of tangible achievement, nevertheless represents an analogous degree of determined leadership in a time when the problems are perhaps more complex and subtle than ever.

The complexity comes primarily from the fact that international affairs largely beyond American control shape the most urgent issues. This is enough of a problem within the Western Alliance. Britain's shift from the "outer seven" European free trade group to the "inner six" reverberates not only throughout Europe but over the whole British Commonwealth. France has shown her ability to be much less than the easiest partner to live with in her savage retaliation in Tunisia over the Bizerte Naval Base and her flaunting of the United Nations on the issue. This is true even considering our potentially similar problem at Guantanemo Bay in Cuba. West Germany, focal point of the current crisis, scarcely helps the Berlin tension with its politicians' constant insistence that their country be reunified. This is neither a palatable thought to the Soviet bloc nor an attractive prospect to most of Western Europe either.

Any complexity within the Western alliance, however, is heavily overshadowed by the fact that the most pressing problem of the Kennedy Administration has come from the need to cope with the vagaries of the mind of Nikita Khrushchev. Khrushchev and his associates are able to keep the initiative primarily because of the fact that their only task is stirring up issues and doing so without any need to worry about avoiding inconsistency, uncouthness, or plain waste. Perhap the need to solidify his position within the Soviet Union and satisfy the people with promises of a bright 1980 partially explain this. At any rate the democracies have not seen fit to take the initiative in stirring up cold war crises, but rather have attempted to counter them. Countering the Soviet arms buildup and the threat to force the allies out of West Berlin has undoubtedly been the occasion for President Kennedy's greatest performance during his seven months in office. The President took a firm stand, and one which would have been shocking even in money terms a short time earlier. And yet he was able to marshal the backing of not only the diverse elements within the United States, but of the whole free world as well.

It is somewhat ironic that Khrushchev's crude manuvers have given the President the occasion to rise to a new peak of leadership. Less so but still ironic is the fact that in effect Khrushchev has apparently been the force that will stop early progress on such domestic welfare measures as medical care for the aged under Social Security and significant federal aid to education. The only consolation on these latter points is the small one that defense spending will undoubtedly induce a rise in national income, and this may make the need for the federal welfare measures a little less pressing.

About the only negative comment that can be made regarding the President's reaction on Berlin is that he found it necessary to employ such massive measures to make his point. We already have a fine, and certainly expensive, defense establishment. Did this most

Cont'd. on Page 5

WON'T WRITE ?
CALL WHITE

Keep your typewriter working at its best.

White's factory-trained repairmen are at your service.

WHITE OFFICE MACHINES
983-4762

To know that we know what we know, and that we do not know what we do not know, that is true knowledge. — Confucius

UNDER COVER

By Margaret Dozier

Jean Anouilh in his play, Becket or The Honor of God, might have borrowed from the originator of George Washington's episode with the cherry tree. Although the basic facts are true and a few human weaknesses are hinted at, Thomas A. Becket is portrayed as the only intelligent man in the land of England at this time. The king is a blundering oaf who is not capable of maintaining order in his family, much less in the entire kingdom.

The author stresses the fact that Henry II is so blinded both by his love for and confidence in Becket that he fails to see that Becket is going to work toward the betterment of any position he holds, whether it be Chancellor of England or Archbishop of Canterbury.

Anouilh builds up the desire of the Church of England for wealth and political power in order to emphasize the saintly qualities of Becket. The author takes the liberty of twisting history to strengthen Becket's character by ignoring recent findings proving Becket was not of the Saxon race.

Anouilh sets out to depict the inner chaos of a man forced to choose between directing his efforts toward the honor of the land of England or the honor of God. Becket's struggle to convince himself that his duty is to serve God becomes more acute by continual reminders of what Becket is fighting against, the unsaintliness of both the English Church and the state.

Anouilh spices his work with subtle humor which satirizes the confusion and distrust existing in the government and religion of England.

Although Henry II is a weak and unintelligent king and although the ambition of the Church of England is for political dominion, Becket is so willing to stand against this corruption and face martyrdom that he becomes unreal to the reader.

Taking the play as a whole, Anouilh blends fact and fiction to provide an entertaining drama of a memorable character in an exciting period of history.

Cabbages & Kings

For, lo, the summer is past, the heat is over and gone; the red leaves appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds is done, and the voice of the student is heard in our land.

* * * *

The time has come, the Walrus said, to speak of many things (And the line forms here to my right, children). Now today, continues the Walrus, we are gathered together at Maryville College, which, as you know was established in 1819 by the Synod of Tennessee of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. to which it is still related, and is a four-year co-educational college of liberal arts and sciences (Stay in line, please.).

And, in short, my friends, we welcome you — with many mixed quotations — to our campus of unusual natural beauty, composed of 375 acres at an elevation of one thousand feet. Now, the lecture being concluded, you are dismissed; a new line will form on the opposite end of the campus.

* * * *

The staff of the Highland Echo (rated the number 1 paper on the Maryville College campus) would also like to welcome the student body, faculty, and staff — whether new, old, or undecided.

* * * *

The Walrus and I, being of sound mind and body, took a walk around the campus (of unusual natural beauty, etc.) this morning and noticed that it had a rather cluttered look. This was due, we decided, to the students who seemed to be constantly out of doors. Have they never heard of sunstroke? These beautiful sunny days are the perfect opportunity for them to remain indoors, looking out. When the rainy season starts there will be plenty of opportunity for the students to go out of doors in the clean fresh rain. (The above opinion is held by the Walrus, and is not necessarily one shared by all. I was forced to write it since he was standing over me with his tusks pointed. And I am a coward.)

* * * *

This column has the dubious privilege of being the only one which is allowed to have no continuity and no point. Therefore, the Walrus and I shall enjoy this privilege to the fullest.

THE END

THUMBS UP!

by John Mitchell

Greetings! Every year about this time two things occur: school opens and sports begin. So I would like to welcome you to both.

Your sports editor needs HELP! If any of you muscle-bound, literary-minded fellows are interested in sports writing, contact me personally or through the Echo office. Besides sports coverage around the campus, we need national sports articles, personal views about teams, players, and so forth, or just any type of comment connected with sports. Full-time or just-any-time assignments are available.

In reply to the attention the backfield men were getting, a burly lineman once said, "Any ole grandma can run with the ball, but it takes a man to play on the line."

We won't argue the point one way or the other, but we sure would like to see a few Merry Widow Waltzes through the goal posts to the tune of Centre Rock or the Georgetown Trot, linemen leading, of course.

Co-captains for this year's team are Bill Owenby and Pete Stafford. Incidentally, Bill was an All East Tennessee end last year, Pete earned the same honor as a tackle.

Cheerleaders will be elected in the next week or so. I'm for the gals with the big mouths and loud voices. Frills and curls are mighty nice, but they aren't the most inspiring thing in the world during one of our "Scots and Water" games.

The American College Dictionary defines football this way: "a game played with a large, inflated leather ball on a field at either end of which there is a goal post. Each team, consisting of eleven players, tries to score touchdowns by running or passing the ball to its opponents' goal line and field goals by kicking the ball over the crossbars of the opponents' goal post."

That definition may be all right, I suppose, but the number five explanation ought to have a little more meaning for the players: "any thing or person treated roughly, casually (I don't quite understand how this word got in there.), etc."

Those of you who are avid followers of Kennedy might try intramurals for your physical fitness.

You who are feeling a little aboriginal might like an Indian sport dating back two or three thousand years. The only equipment needed is a throwing stick for each player and a circular object called a discoidal or "Chunky stone." The stone is rolled forward on the ground from a starting line, and the player whose stick lands closest to the stopping place of the discoidal wins.

The Indians had one variation which made chunky somewhat more interesting for them; they gambled away their wives and homes.

Chunky, anyone?

If my draft board should call, I'm going to recommend some of you football players to go in my place since you could do a better job of whooping the enemy.

Intramural Scene

In a few weeks the intramural program will get under way with one of its most active and competative sports — touch football. Our type of game has been streamlined to seven men, and success depends on skill and speed rather than strength, but any veteran will tell you it gets plenty rough at times.

As usual there will be three particularly strong teams: the Chinese Bandits, the Kappa Phi Knights, and the Alpha Sigma Sledgehammers. These three placed in the above order in last year's season. The Bandits have been defending champions for the past two years and during that time went undefeated in regular season play, the Knights tieing them once. However, they were edged out in the last all-star game. The Knights have gradually become a powerful team in the past few years, and the Sledgehammers have always been a strong team to contend with.

Of course, there are several other teams from the societies and independent teams out to have good records too, and they seldom are underrated.

In addition to the various championships, there is another goal aimed at by the societies — the intramural trophy. This award is based not only on accomplishment, but also on participation. Since three consecutive wins entitle the victor to retain the large trophy permanently, there will be fierce competition between the societies since Kappa Phi has won it the past two times.

Want to send a copy of the Highland Echo to your family or friends? Subscription rate $1.75 a year or $1.00 a semester. See any member of the Echo staff.

A GLIMPSE AT FOOTBALL HOPES

'61 Schedule		'60 Results
Centre	Sept. 30	L 6-17
Georgetown	Oct. 7	L 6-20
Emory and Henry	Oct. 14	T 0-0
Bridgewater	Oct. 21	W 36-0
Southwestern	Oct. 28	X
Millsaps	Nov. 4	W 19-0 (Rocket Bowl)
Frederick	Nov. 11	X
Carson-Newman	Nov. 18	L 0-7

Sometimes a little hindsight is worth a lot of foresight; so we'll take a peck at both.

Our Scotties have an eight-game schedule for the 1961 football season, three of the teams being added this year. As illustrated above, of these there were two losses, one tie, and two wins in 1960; so if past experience does mean anything we have a good chance to break even again and always the possibility of having a winning season.

The first two games will be here with Centre and Georgetown, both victors in the previous meeting. We scored on them then, and we can do it again. However, these two opponents likely will have strong teams again this year, and it will take quite a bit of effort

We were more fortunate with the next two teams. The Scots held Emory and Henry to a scoreless tie to engineer a big upset since the Wasps were favored four touchdowns. It was a rough game, and the same can be expected again since they are looking forward to returning the sting.

Coming from this moral victory, the team literally ran over Bridgewater 36-0.

Homecoming will be with Southwestern of Memphis, Tennessee, one of the new teams. It should be right interesting because we can find out how the Presbyterians an the other end of the state are faring. Let's hope it's uphill all the way for them.

Though Millsaps is a new addition to the regular schedule, we have had some experiene with them since they were our opponents in the first Rocket Bowl in Huntsville, Alabama, which resulted in a 19-0 victory for us.

Without intending to be unfriendly, may our first experience with Frederick College be unpleasant for them as far as the score is concerned.

Carson-Newman — that archrival for all time — won the last encounter by one TD. We surely would like to return the favor in November. The bout will be here and in the afternoon.

Maryville has no easy schedule, and anything we gain will require a lot of effort on the part of the players and a lot of support and push from the students. Here's hoping neither one lets the other down.

KARDATZKE NAMED ASSISTANT COACH

Lauren F. Kardatzke

Mr. Lauren F. Kardatzke, instructor in physical education, will serve as an assistant (backfield) coach in football and will coach tennis. He graduated from William and Mary in 1959 after a successful career as a student and athlete. In 1960 he received the Master of Education degree, and as a graduate student was an assistant coach to the freshman football squad.

During his under-graduate years Mr. Kardatzke was named the outstanding inter-collegiate athlete at the college, captained the football team during the 1959 season, was named to the Southeastern Conference Academic team for 1959, and received honorable mention to the All Southern Conference football team for the same year, and also was named to the second team in football of the All Big Five. On the campus, he was winner of the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award for leadership and influence for leadership and influence for good with his fellowmen. Mr. Kardatzke is a native of Ohio.

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK

218 COURT STREET

A Warm Welcome to Maryville College

See us for a Complete Line of Books and Greeting Cards.

Welcome

we could feel the difference while you were away.

WE'RE GLAD YOU'RE BACK

See us for all your Jewelry Needs

*Charms *Guaranteed Watch Repair

BROADWAY JEWELERS

Start School At Your Best

See us for the Best in Dry Cleaning

MARYVILLE Cleaners

We Welcome Maryville College Students Old and New.

Best of Luck for the year ahead!

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . . WEAR

Southern Shoes

Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.

116 West Broadway

The Friendly Folks at City Drug extend a cordial Welcome to All Maryville College Students during your stay at Maryville!

SEE US FOR ALL YOUR DRUG NEEDS

– Prescription Experts –

City Drug Company

108 W. Broadway Phone 982-7162

N S A CONGRESS REPORT

To evaluate the United States National Student Association in terms of membership is indeed a difficult task. More particularly it is difficult to try to place an estimate on the worth of our membership after attendance at the National Congress. As Maryville College's delegate to the Congress in Madison, Wisconsin, August 16-30, I was able to form additional opinion about the organization and our relationship to it.

I feel that there are two major reason why a college would belong to this organization. First, for the benefits it offers to an individual campus in the way of press services, campus programing, student government information services and student travel plans. This is the area we need to investigate and attempt to use more fully during the coming year.

Secondly, a college would join in order to be represented nationally and internationally as part of the student world. It is in this realm that the major criticism of NSA arises—the representation of students as set forth by the action of the Congress and the National Executive Committee. Having attended the Congress, I feel that while NSA is the only national organ through which a student body may organize for representation, it is in need of further change and observation in order to be truly representative of student opinion and action. The Southern schools, by choice, are virtually not represented as are many other schools in our nation. The legislative set-up is such that opinion and action tend to be bogged down in parliamentary procedure and political affiliations.

The Congress was not a place from which I could "bring back plans" for our campus. The worth of this meeting to me was the philosophical orientation to student government and its role in the educational task of an institution as well as its role in the nation and world. The sharing of ideas with students on all aspects of student life, student government, and national and world problems helps to give student leaders an insight into their roles and enables them to better understand and carry out programs on their individual campuses.

Certainly anyone attending the National Student Congress expecting to find pat answers or to see his own personal ideas triumph will be sorely dissappointed. A delegate must attend with the fact in mind that this is a representative meeting and as such all types of people, ideas and forms of action will be present.

Connie Bondurant
Student Body President

Thank God! Safe again for nine months.

HONOR ROLL

SECOND SEMESTER 1961

Seniors

Barrett, Rosemary Upshaw	3.48
Bickford, Leonard Richard	3.57
Birch, Bonnie Jean	3.41
Darling, Mary Elizabeth	3.85
Doyscher, David E.	3.60
Emmert, Robert Schafer	3.37
Gass, Carolyn Dawn	3.40
Gould, Cheryl Elizabeth	3.60
Landis, Helen Gay	3.46
Lonsinger, Betsy Lyle	3.40
Pearson, Charles Patrick	4.00
Ross, Margaret Stevenson	3.63
Smith, Sarah Rachel	3.40
Stefancic, Jean Ann	3.60
Talmage, John Edward, Jr	3.62
Yates, Richard Gran	3.60

Juniors

Brackbill, Evelyn Jane	3.40
Dalton, Brenda Nadine	3.95
Dozier, Ellen Harris	4.00
Fuhrman, Harriette Joanne	3.33
Gray, Glenda	3.65
Irwin, Marion Prentice	3.41
Jenkins, Larry Parker	3.48
Kinnamon, Rebecca	3.43
Leo, Donald William	3.47
Smith, Sylvia Elaine	3.62
Turnbull, Martha Jean	3.31

Sophomores

Biggers, Paul Jon	3.29
Bucher, George Scott	3.57
Chadwick, Gail Dee	3.28
Garrett, Michael David	3.38
Jeferies, Robert Aaron	3.93
Jones, Sharon Lambert	3.35
Leland, John Woodmansee	3.37
McCoy, Sue Ellen	3.51
Mikeal, Judith Elaine	3.27
Privette, Janice Lynn	3.72
Seely, Clarissa Jane	3.35
Smith, David Ross	3.94
Swafford, Peggy Jean	3.60
Walters, Janice Mary	3.80
Ward, William Fred III	3.54

Freshmen

Anderson, Patricia Troy	3.31
Blessing, Emily Jeanne	3.41
Cate, Judy Earlene	3.93
Cook, Charlotta Ethel	3.93
Cox, Ernie Pope	3.25
Dozier, Margaret J.	3.95
Ellis, Martha Bess	3.31
Ford, Kathy Rice	3.25
Harrison, Franklin Delano	3.50
Holt, Martha Ann	3.31
Kuenzli, Bonnie Kay	3.87
Marston, David Weese	3.31
Spangler, John Joseph	3.37
Sturmfels, Gloria	3.55

Russian To Be Taught

The addition of a beginner's course in Russian to the offerings in languages, increasing to six the number of foreign and classical languages taught, highlights curriculum news. The new course is being taught by Mr. Richard V. Fridenbergs, a refugee from Communism.

Mr. Fridenbergs, a native of the small Baltic country of Latvia, is returning to teaching after an interval of almost two-years spent in working as a bibliographer for a well-known bookshop in New York City.

Mr. Fridenbergs, whose experience in language teaching dates back to the 1920s, was a practicing lawyer in Riga, Latvia from 1926 until the German occupation days of World War II. Latvia later was occupied by the Soviet Union. Mr. Fridenbergs worked with relief agencies in Western Europe between 1947 and 1950. In 1950 he made his way to France, where he was employed in various capacities.

Russian is being added to the course offerings in recognition of the fact that an increasing amount of scientific papers now are available in that language and thus graduate schools are accepting Russian in meeting language requirements for advanced degrees. Dean Frank D. McClelland also observed that Maryville College always has striven to help its graduates equip themselves for the challenges of life, and that those students who study Russian and gain through great Russian literature some insights into the Russians, should be able to better meet the Communistic threat.

The College has wanted for sometime to be able to add Russian to its language offerings but had difficulty in finding an expert teacher sensitive to the Christian heritage and our Western culture. Dean McClelland observed that Mr. Fridenbergs has suffered much as a result of the Communists, has been a refugee from the Communists ever since World War II and meets the standards for appointment to the Maryville faculty. Mr. Fridenbergs was recommended by the American Council for Emigres in the Professions, an organization which carefully screens professional people.

Mr. Fridenbergs is qualified to teach the Latvian, German, French, Russian and English languages. He is natively trilingual, having spoken Latvian, German and Russian since childhood.

After completing an institute for teachers in his native Latvia, Mr. Fridenbergs attended a commercial school in St. Petersburg, now Leningrad. Later, he was headmaster of a primary school and then he enrolled in the University of Riga. He first studied philology but then transferred to the Faculty of Laws, graduating in 1926 with the degree "Magister juris," L.L.M.

Dean McClelland said that upon advice of Mr. Fridenbergs, enrollment in the Russian language class will be limited. The newly-appointed instructor also will teach some of the German classes.

INVOLVEMENT!

As a part of Student Council's program of involvement, the first council-sponsored study groups will be held in Thaw Hall on September 26. These study groups will continue throughout the year and should benefit every student with a mature sense of concern. The threat of international communism to our way of life will be the first subject to be studied. Other groups will be organized at various times during the year. Anyone who may be interested in participating in one of these groups should contact Bill Schanefelt, Sue Quigg, or your student council representative.

It is the Council's opinion that interest and involvement in the affairs of today's world aid in the development of good citizens for tomorrow's world.

Artist Series Plans

The Maryville College-Community Artist Series Committee is announcing its plans for the coming college year. The season will open on October 26 with noted bass baritone, William Warfield, in an evening of music. Mr. Warfield, along with other outstanding events of his career, can be remembered for his singing in MGM's "Show Boat" and for his heartwarming performance as De Lawd on the NBC-TV production of "The Green Pastures." The other program planned for the first semester will take place on November 21 when the Barter Theatre, the well-known State Theatre of Virginia, will present its performance of Shakspere "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

The Artist Series will get under way early in the second semester when, on January 26 the Italian chamber orchestra, I Musici (The Musicians) will appear. Each of the members of this group is well-known in his own right; they play without a conductor and perform in both ensemble and solo parts, recreating as they do a style prominent in Seventeenth and Eighteenth Century Italy. Richard Cass, a young pianist who has toured in Europe, the United States, and Canada, will close this year's season on March 1. Mr. Cass was the winning performer in the 1953 Young Artist Audition of the National Association of Music Clubs.

INAUGURATION, Cont'd.

The first program of the three days will be the opening concert of the 1961-62 season of the Maryville College-Community Artists Series. Noted baritone William Warfield will be heard in concert Thursday night, Oct. 26.

Maryville College students and faculty will dine together that Friday night and hear Dr. William Morrison, executive secretary of the Board of Christian Education of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. Maryville is one of 45 colleges of the United Presbyterian Church.

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"
BANKING SERVICES
*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
*CHECK ACCOUNTS
*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
*TRANSFER OF FUNDS
— Your College Bank —
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

BADGETT STORE
WELCOMES
OLD AND NEW STUDENTS
We invite you to come in and look around. Many students at Maryville College have learned to depend on our low prices and quality goods.
109 W. Broadway Phone 983-1651

Copeland Assumes Duties

On August 1, 1961, Dr. Joseph J. Copeland assumed his duties as President of Maryville College. A native of Texas, Dr. Copeland has been the pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Knoxville for the past nine years.

In 1936 he received his A.B. degree from Trinity University in Texas where he majored in English and minored in speech. He was active in dramatics and debating and was a member of Who's Who in American Colleges. Dr. Copeland received his B.D. degree in 1939 from McCormick Theological Seminary where he was president of the student body. He holds the honorary degrees of Doctor of Divinity from Trinity University and Doctor of Laws from Maryville College.

Dr. Copeland comes to Maryville with a long record of service in the Presbyterian Church. Before coming to Knoxville he was pastor of churches in Oklahoma and Texas. For the past twelve years he has been a member of the Board of Christian Education of the United Presbyterian Church. He is chairman of the Synod's Committee on Westminister Foundations, and from 1959-1960 he served as Moderator of the Synod of Mid-South. For the past eight years he has been a member of the Board of Directors of Maryville.

Dr. Copeland and his family will reside at Morningside. Mrs. Copeland is interested in music; she plays the piano and sings and in former years played the organ and violin. The Copelands have two children, Kirk attended McCallie School for two years, then finished his last two years at West High in Knoxville, and was a student at Maryville this past year. Karen, who is eleven, will enter junior high in Maryville. She enjoys playing the piano, but her greatest loves are horseback riding and swimming. The whole family erected a cabin in the Smoky Mountains with very little professional help. This is their source of physical relaxation, and they are still building on it.

In the August issue of the Maryville College Bulletin, Dr. Copeland had this to say about moving to Maryville: "We see a college with an honorable purpose and a noble achievement." "We see a student body seriously searching for knowledge and openly pursuing the meaning of Truth." "We see a committed faculty and staff." "And we see much more, all of which brings us to a sense of deep appreciation and somewhat awesome committment. No one can 'fill' the indelible footprints of Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd, but we will do our maximum. At the same time, we shall attempt to fulfill God's endowments with us. No one can qualify the trust laid upon him by the PEOPLE who believe in Maryville College—the students, faculty, graduates, the church, community leaders, etc., but try we will. No one can meet the challenge portrayed by the action of the Board of Directors, but with your help and God's presence we set our faces forward."

SOCIETY NEWS

Don't put those pencils away! The big dates are yet to come. Carol Cox, rush-week chairman, has a lot of exciting plans up her kimono sleeve, so you will want to put a double circle around September 28 and 29. On Thursday, the 28th, Chi Beta's teahouse will be open to honor all new students. Then, on the evening of September 29th, Chi Beta joins with Kappa Phi to present the big rush week show. This year's show was written by Helen Anne Easterly and Carl McDonald. These honorable members aren't revealing the details, but we can tell from their sly winks that it will be most interesting and most entertaining!

Mark these dates, they're your que
for an interesting start of things to do!

Welcome students, old and new! Chi Beta heartily welcomes you.

There are several dates in the near future that you will want to circle for sure, so get those red pencils ready!

Attention Chi Beta members! Your first circle goes around September 16 — that's today. Tonight is our first business meeting. It will be brief, but very important, so be sure to be in the New Dorm basement at 6:15 sharp. You will want to be in on all the plans, so don't be late.

All new women students! You'll want to dig out your red pencils, too. September 23 is the date, and you are invited to come along to the New Dorm basement where the members of Chi Beta will entertain you. Those of you who are new to our campus will find the program to be of special interest, we know. The time is 6:15 — we'll be looking for you then.

Following the tradition of "togetherness" Alpha Sigma and Theta Epsilon believe that close relationships between brother and sister societies make for a successful campus social life. Emphasizing "togetherness," Sig and Theta hold many varied inter-related functions. For example, the able Sig coaches training Theta's football and basketball teams — the Sig-Theta picnics underneath the big oak — the suspense awaiting the announcement of the superlatives — and those spaghetti suppers .....! The theme of "togetherness" is also carried over into many constructive projects including homecoming floats. decorating for the annual formal dance, and of course, RUSH WEEK!

BEST WISHES TO ALL
FOR A SUCCESSFUL COLLEGE YEAR!

ENJOY FINE FOOD HERE!

Always at Reasonable Prices

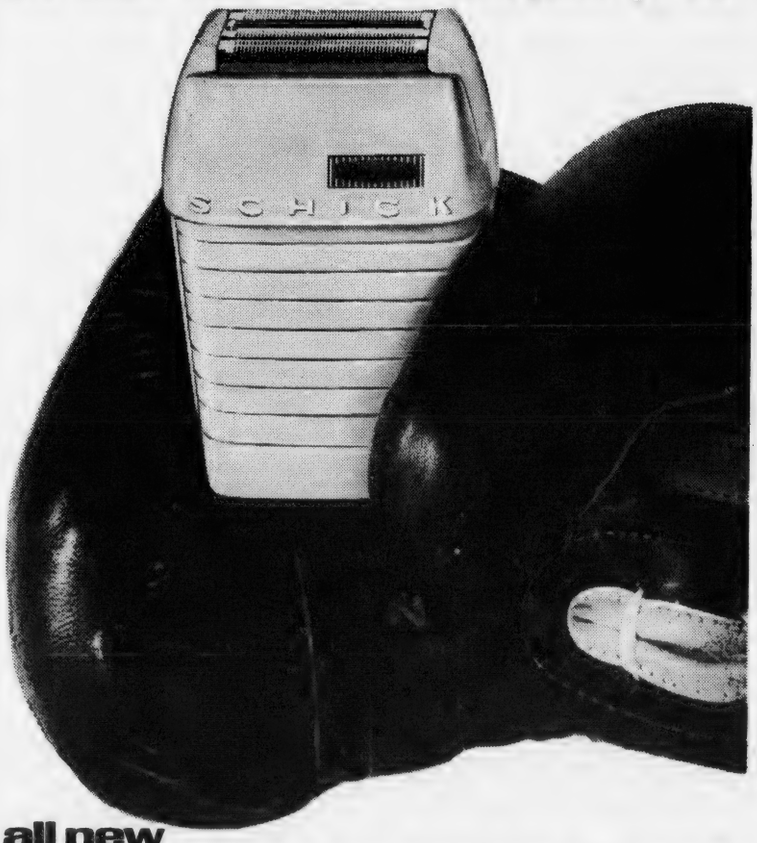
College Hill Grill

Atkins Otis, Manager

MR* CATALINA

*MAN RELAXED SWEATERS

RELAX IN "VACATIONER V," a British rib pullover tailored to travel you smartly . . . of 100% Imported Australian Lambswool. $12.95



FREE – Men's Wardrobe and Ladies Wardrobe! (Open to all Maryville College Students)

REGISTER between Sept. 16 and Sept. 30, Winners will be announced in the Highland Echo

Make Minton's Your Headquarters for Fashionable School Wear. We Feature the Finest — Charge Accounts Invited!

Minton's

He-man shaver at a compact price!

all new
SCHICK compact

Shaving with the Compact actually costs less than shaving with a blade! Now from Schick—America's one and only Compact electric shaver! In just one year the Compact more than pays for itself with what you save in blades! And the Compact's the he-man shaver, with a muscular motor and adjustable head for cleaner shaves—plus the world's only washable stainless steel head. (What a gift—no one will guess how little you paid!)

$12.95

TIPTON JEWELRY

The Jewelry Store with the Red Door
(At the Side of Byrne Drug Store)

KENNEDY — Cont'd.

recent of Khrushchev's many clumsy threats require such a heavy increase on our part? Could the desired result have been attained by reminders to Russia of what we already have, and by some appropriate redeployment of forces? There is reason to suspect that we could have, but it is hard to argue with the President's reluctance to gamble on survival — particularly in view of the shaky state of U.S. intelligence as shown up by the CIA'S part in the Cuban fiasco. We may be in a position where it is safer to throw our weight around, since we are at least certain of its impression.

The President's Berlin speech showed another important point. He is not prepared to accept either the suggestion that we start a preventive war or the idea that there is no middle ground between nuclear war and appeasement. Neither proposition can serve as a rational basis for either hope or policy and it is regrettable that such sentiments are voiced by persons of significant influence and following.

The subtle side of the story of the administration comes as we turn our investigation inward to our own country. Here there is general agreement on ideals and goals but much controversy on how to achieve them. The controversy is still very much on the plane of the interest of various private groups. The medical care for the aged program could serve as an example for those who wish to study one. Certain problems — notably racial integration — seem like they are insoluble, until we recall the progress of the past six or eight years. Even so, there is the question of how our international voice sounds when it carries the impediment of ideals and practices that do not match.

On the domestic economic front the Kennedy administration seems to be about rid of the recession that may well be the factor that tilted the scales so lightly against the Republican nominee in 1960. The arms buildup and the natural emptying of inventories are the main reasons for the recession's end. Unfortunately this upturn will still leave largely unsolved many problems faced by workers, notably the perennial modern ones of automation and chronically depressed areas. One hope is that the coming prosperity will encourage many to relocate to new industries and active areas.

On balance the first 200 days of the Kennedy administration give a record of some trial and error. But they also show the vital abilities to learn from mistakes and to develop a working organization that can meet future problems effectively. Competent persons both in and outside the cabinet have been secured and now form a flexible and workable organization for the most part. A conspicuously good job was that of Treasury Secretary Dillon at the recent Alliance for Progress conference in Uruguay. The only negative points to be noted are the early tendency to pass off many problems to study task forces that often produced reports too weighty for assimilation, and the fact that quite a few appointments will lay the administration open to charges of nepotism and cronyism.

The days before us increasingly hold the hope that the idealism and achievement of the American dream are capable of new accomplishment that is based on work and intelligence such as the president called for when he said "Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country."

A SPECIAL STAFF MEETING

will be held September 19, at 6:30 on the steps of Thaw Hall. Old staff members and interested persons are encouraged to attend.

calling all Coeds!

It's back to school in "BAYSHORES"

Famous "P-F"* ®

CANVAS SHOES

MADE IN AMERICA BY

Step out to school in fashionably fine "P-F" Canvas Shoes by B.F.Goodrich. They're comfortably coed—casually right for gym and just everywhere!

B.F.Goodrich

"P-F"—Posture Foundation—makes the big difference . . helps reduce foot and leg strain—helps you go your best longer. You'll look your smartest wearing "P-F" Oxfords. It's the B.F.Goodrich Bayshore for you . . . and all other smart students!

*POSTURE FOUNDATION

Black, White High Top or Oxfords $5.99

C. C. MOORE'S

SHOEMAKERS SHOE STORE

"Maryville's Good Shoe Store"

A Letter To The Campus Family

The campus family is composed of various groups, each group having its own importance, each having its own expressions, and each one contributing to the total family.

You who are related to Maryville College have already taught me these truths about the Maryville College family. You students, faculty and staff members, and administrators have revealed to me the importance of each distinctive part of the college family, and yet have demonstrated the vital significance of each part working constructively for the welfare of the whole family.

Paul put it vividly when he pointed out the importance of each part of the body having its own expression yet contributing to the total welfare. As with the physical body so it is with the campus family.

I am anticipating with enthusiasm the close cooperation of all groups composing the Maryville College family — all working under the same motivation and purpose of becoming mature Christians under the guidance of God's Holy Spirit.

Joseph J. Copeland

The only way to make a man trustworthy is to trust him; and the surest way to make him untrustworthy is to distrust him and show your distrust.

—Henry Lewis Stimson

Whatever the Season . . .
Whatever the Occasion . . .

You can convey your message better with flowers.
We can supply all your floral needs.

See our agent on Campus – Bill Schanefelt
Remember to say it with flowers from . . .

HORNE'S FLORIST

215 W. Broadway 982-2690

Freshmen Sophomores Juniors Seniors

NEW STUDENT, OR OLD, You'll soon learn that Scotties' favorite hang-out at any hour of the day or night is 'THE COFFEE HOUSE"

SCOTTIE FAVORITES

Deluxe Hamburger with French Fries

Chipped Ham Sandwich

Orange, Lemon or Lime Freeze

Golden Brown Pancakes with Maple Syrup and Bacon

The Best Coffee in Town—

Latest Hit Parade Records on the Juke Box

We now feature our own homemade pies.

Orders of $5.00 or more delivered to the dorms at any hour

We Make Our Own HOL'N ONE DONUTS Fresh Daily

GILBERT'S COFFEE HOUSE

Broadway at the Bus Terminal 982-1541

An American Views East and West Berlin—
See Page 2

The Highland Echo

Maryville College

Vol. 47 | Maryville, Tennessee, September 30, 1961 | No. 2

Improvements Many at MC

According to Mr. Frank Layman, Maryville College treasurer, nearly $20,000 more than the $125,000 average was spent by the Maryville College maintenance department during the past year. This figure includes expenses for such things as coal, lights, and water.

The biggest project was undertaken in Fayerweather Science Hall. In the first floor of this building, the floor was leveled, and where necessary, flooring was replaced. In the chemistry lab albarend stone sinks were installed. These sinks are the newest thing and are supposed to last fifty years. In the first floor hall the radiators were relocated, new fluorescent lights were installed, and an arched opening to the chemistry lab was constructed. On the second floor, Dr. Williams' classroom was completely redone with a new blackboard, a new floor, new chairs, and new lights installed. Professor Tolar's offices were also redecorated.

As most returning students have undoubtedly already noticed, the library has been painted for the first time since 1942. The lobby to Thaw has also been redone.

Anderson Hall was cleaned and repainted. And on the third floor of this building, where the plaster fell in two classrooms last year, new fluorescent lights were installed and the plaster was patched as needed.

The most extensive work in the dorms was accomplished in Baldwin Hall, where the rear steps were repaired. The exterior of this building was redone, and some screens were replaced. Mr. Layman reports that each dormitory is repainted on the average of once every three years, while the bathrooms are redone twice a year.

Several improvements were made in the theatre. These include the installation of shelves in the dressing rooms, a new storage room for tools and hardware, and some additional tools, including a power saw.

Orr Book To Be Published Oct. 9

Christian Ethics for Practical Living, a book by the late Dr. Horace E. Orr, is scheduled to be published Oct. 9 by The Westminster Press. Dr. Orr, who was a beloved member of the faculty from 1920 until Nov. 1, 1958, was Professor of Religion and Philosophy.

The book grew out of lectures given by Dr. Orr during the years he taught ethics.

A. Thomas Horst, assistant professor of philosophy and religion, prepared the final manuscript for the printer and wrote the preface. Mr. Horst currently is on leave from Maryville, and is studying toward his doctorate at Emory University in Atlanta.

Dr. Orr, a native of Arkansas, studied at Maryville, Lane Theological Seminary, the University of Tennessee, Northwestern University and the University of Chicago.

Christian Ethics for Practical Living will be available through the College Bookstore. Price of the book will be $3.00.

OPERA WORKSHOP NOW IN PROGRESS

In the opera workshop — presented alternate years — voice students and members of the Division of Fine Arts cooperate in producing several short operas. This fall, on the evenings of October 13 and 14, two operas, Riders to the Sea by Ralph Vaughan-Williams and Gallantry by Douglas Moore, will be presented with alternate casts. The two operas will be directed by Dr. Harry Harter, with Mr. Dan Kinsinger assisting. Ticket sales will be managed by Marcia Keesling.

Written in 1936, Riders to the Sea is a tragedy with a cast consisting of: An old woman, played by Sue Bloomer and Patt O'Neill; Bartley, her son, Phil Eslinger and Bruce Townsend; Cathleen, her daughter, Virginia Pratt; and Nora, her younger daughter, Glenda Grey and Carole Webster. Sharon Jones will be the accompanist.

In contrast, the one-act comedy, Gallantry, is a satire on radio and television soap operas. Collaborating in the the past with Kirt Wilde in producng the famous opera ballad, Down in the Valley -- presented at Maryville College in two different workshop productions — Arnold Sundgaard handles the libretto for this opera. The announcer is portrayed by Jean Dorscheid and Martha Hall; Dr. Gregg, Paul Evans; Lola, Carole Cooper; and Donald, Dan Davis and Bruce Jenkins. Sue Lemme is the choreographer for a dance in this opera. Peggy Swafford will be the accompanist for Gallantry.

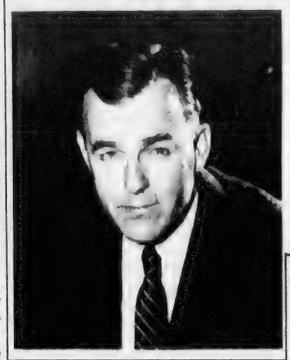
Messiah Rehearsals To Begin October 9

On Monday, October 9, at 7:15 p.m., rehearsals will begin for this year's presentation of Handel's Messiah, to be given on Sunday afternoon, December 10, at 3:00 p.m. The chorus will meet in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center, while the orchestra will practice in room 101 of that building. Both orchestra and chorus will be open to all students, faculty, and staff of the College, as well as to musicians of the Maryville community.



With a nucleus composed of the College Choir, Women's Choir, and Men's Glee Club, the chorus numbers from 200 to 250 singers each year. In ten rehearsals approximately twelve choruses are prepared, and two-thirds of the oratorio — including solos, orchestration, an overture, and a pastoral symphony — is presented.

This year, as in 1958, the chorus will join with the Knoxville Symphony in presenting the Messiah as one of the subscription concerts of the symphony in the New Civic Auditorium on Tuesday, December 12.

COMING FILMS

Playhouse Film Series will present, on November 25, The 39 Steps; on December 15, Mexican Busride; on January 6, Mr. Hulot's Holiday; on February 24, Romeo and Juliet; on March 16, The Mouse That Roared; and on April 13, It Happened One Night.

McCABE IS INAUGURAL SPEAKER

Dr. Joseph E. McCabe, president of Coe College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, since February of 1958, will be the principal speaker for the inauguration of Dr. Joseph J. Copeland as the seventh president of Maryville College. The inauguration is scheduled Saturday, Oct. 28, but a series of events commencing Oct. 26 and continuing through the Homecoming Game the night of Oct. 28 is planned.

Dr. McCabe holds five earned degrees, plus two honorary doctorates. He is an active contributor to a number of professional and religious journals and also has written two books. His most recent work, "A Service Book for Ministers," was published this year by McGraw-Hill. An earlier work, "The Power of God in a Parish Program," was the June 1959 selection of the Religious Book Club.

Dr. McCabe is a great-great-great grandson of Dr. John McMillan, a Presbyterian minister of Scotch-Irish descent, who founded the present-day Washington and Jefferson College, the first college west of the Allegheny Mountains.

A sea-going chaplain with the Navy during World War II, he was aboard the aircraft carrier Shipley Bay in the Pacific during 1944-45.

He went to Coe after four years as senior minister of the Presbyterian Church of Chestnut Hill near Philadelphia.

Dr. McCabe completed his undergraduate studies at Muskingum College in 1937 and in 1940 received the Master of Arts degree from Ohio State University. He received the Bachelor of Theology degree from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1943, and following his naval service, he returned to the seminary and completed the Master of Theology degree. He was awarded the Doctor of Philosphy degree by the University of Edinburgh in Scotland in 1951. Muskingum and Monmouth College have awarded honorary degrees to Dr. McCabe.

Drama Workshop Will Present "Gay Nineties Review"

On October 6, the Maryville College Playhouse will present it's first Workshop production. A Gay Nineties Revue. The program will consist of authentic entertainment of the type popular in the period, including songs, dances, specialty numbers, recitations, and sketches. Refreshments and an opportunity for audience participation are waiting for all who attend. The admission is free.

The members of the cast are: SKETCH — Faint Heart Never Won Fair Lady — Mrs. Slushington — Lynn Waddington; Nellie — Merilee Knott; Elmer — Henry Weeks.

MELLERDRAMA — The Great Bottlenick Diamond -- Major Moo — David Styles; Allergy Moo — Cynthia Blanchard; Crescendo Moo — Kathy Scherer; Alonzo Means -- Tom Salmon; Davideous Jones — Paul Elliott; Mannahanna — Rachael Goddard.

STANLEY AND HIS AFRICAN PYGMIES — Stanley — Bill Conger; Pygmies — Linda Clopton, Jinny Hoskinson, Barbara McCarter, Shirley Mease, Priscilla Newcomer, Dottie Saint.

Special Entertainers — Sue Lemme, Tom Dickerson, Arlette Roselli, Caroline McCaskill, Patt O'Neill. RECITATION — The Face on the Barroom Floor — Bill Conger. TONSORIAL QUARTETTE — Oscar Downy, Bruce Townsend, Mike Garrett, Larry Mease. ACCOMPANIST — Bob Reichbach. RECITATION — Curfew Must Not Ring Tonight — Tanya Tripp.

TV Social Science Course Offered

The first nationally televised college course in the social science field, American Government, began September 25, 1961, under the combined sponsorship of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, the American Political Science Association, the National Council for the Social Studies, and the National Broadcasting Company. The pattern of previous Continental Classroom courses will be followed, with the 160 half hour presentations being telecast Monday through Friday. 6:30 a.m. to 7 a.m., local time.

Planned especially for teachers and college students, the American Government course will be taught by Dr. Peter Odegard, professor of political science of the University of California. An advisory board of eleven educators from the sponsoring groups will work with Dr. Odegard.

College Choir Chosen for '61-'62

The following students have been selected as members in the Maryville College Choir for the year 1961-1962.

Soprano I: C. Webster, L. Clopton, V. Pratt, M. Stults, J. Hutchison, C. Grays, S. Lynch, C. Cooper, Soprano II: P. O'Neill, T. Berger, J. Koch, J. Swetnam, S. Blomer, M. Williamson, J. Dorscheid, M. Hall, E. Saint, W. Compton.

Alto I: P. Tepper, C. Speigner, S. Walrond, C. Seely, M. Slater, D. Glenn, P. Williams, J. Walters, S. Wylie.

Alto II: A. Morrell, N. Keasling, M. L. Knott, M. Irwin, A. Roselli, E. Brackbill, J. Kilgard, L. Dixon.

Tenor I: B. Reichenbach, W. Greenawalt, D. Davis, T. Dickerson, D. Dobson, K. Fortenberry.

Tenor II: L. Mease, D. Rineer, D. Black, T. Hanks, R. Norman, R. Blair.

Bass I: M. Garrett, B. Jenkins, J. Dotter, M. Dodson, P. Eslinger, C. Carlisle, D. Clinkman, A. Hoke.

Bass II: B. Moffett, D. Evans, R. Greeman, H. Laster, P. Evans, R. Mease, C. Moffett, B. Townsend, D. Conklin, R. Beard, J. Spangler.

CHEMISTS TO MEET OCTOBER 6 and 7

The Maryville College campus next Friday and Saturday, Oct. 6, 7, will be a center of interest for chemistry professors from many colleges in several states. The meeting will be the South Central Independent College Association of Chemists, and this is the first time that the group has met on the MC campus.

A dinner meeting Friday evening at the Green Meadow Country Club will open the fifth annual meeting of the association. The chemists will meet in Fayerweather Science Hall throughout the following morning.

Dr. Fred Griffitts is vice president of the association and has played an important role in its activities for several years. Other officers are Dr. Albert Myers of Carson-Newman College, president, and Dr. Thomas R. Beebe of Berea College, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Griffitts reported a good, early registration and predicted that about 40 persons will attend the dinner meeting Friday.

Members of the association teach chemistry in independent or privately-supported colleges in Kentucky, Ohio, Tennessee, Virginia, Indiana, Alabama, North Carolina and Georgia. However, meetings customarily are attended only by persons from colleges in the states nearer the meeting place.

Featured speakers will be Dr. David C. Savles, from the Army Ordnance Missile Command at Redstone Arsenal in Alabama, and Mr. Arthur M. Doty of Pittsburgh, executive secretary of the Aluminum Company of America Foundation.

Correction

Due to an error in the Personnel Office Dick Freeman's name was omitted from the Dean's List published in the last issue. His standing is 3:36.

First Playhouse Production Oct. 6

Playhouse plans for the 1961-1962 season have been announced to Maryville drama majors, both new and experienced. Already in rehearsal are A Gay Nineties Revue, the first Workshop producion, to be presented October 6, and Arsenic and Old Lace, the major presentation, which will be given on November 3 and 4.

Another major play planned for this year is Land of the Dragon — a fantasy the dates of which will be December 1 and 2. This play will tour local cities on weekends in December and January. On January 27, it will go to Oak Ridge, where two performances will be sponsored by the Children's Theater.

Noah, by the French playwright Andre Obey, to be presented on March 9 and 10, and George Bernard Shaw's comedy, Candida, on May 25, 28, and 29, are the remaining major productions. Additional Workshop activity is being planned.

EDITOR'S CHOICE

How to effect communication in a world so full of brick walls, fear, and even insincerity: this is indeed a problem. Not the kind of small talk communication that hovers in every corner of the world where people associate. Granted, this "small talk" is an important part of human relationships, but it is not the soul of life and thought. Then why is it so prominent? Why is there is little real — and by real is meant sincere — probing and thoughtfulness? Because small talk is easier — because thinking is hard — because believing requires giving a part of oneself.

Thinking is hard — undeniably hard. Sorting out facts from fiction, truth from just talk is often bewildering. But in spite of the confusion, the obvious indecision as to which way to go, we realize that it is time to do some of this thinking — real and hard — and this communication. And the more one thinks, the more there is left to think about.

The opportunity for communication rides on every word that passes between two people. How many international, national — and even campus — problems and concerns have been left unsolved, maybe even untried because of a lack or fear of communication? By isolating oneself, refusing to yield to the soul of another, not allowing oneself to become a part of a person, an ideal, a belief can cause people to remain strangers — not only to others but to themselves as well. And so with the nations of the world. Getting outside oneself, freely pouring out ideas and dreams, and accepting the flow of ideas abounding in others — these are all a part of the process of learning and communicating. A person can be destroyed if denied the right of communication, of shared ideas — many have died for it. No man is — nor ought to desire to be — an island, complete in himself. No man is that right, that perfect.

There is another area touched by communication. The need for it here is higher than all things that seem and inclusive in all things that are.

* * * * * *

We heard an announcement recently that various areas of religious life on the Maryville campus are to be evaluated in the future. This evaluation is for the benefit of us, the students of the college. Our cooperation will be appreciated — and vital to the progress of the project.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 47, No. 2 September 30, 1961

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the Act of Congress of March 8, 1870.

Editor ..... Beth Reichardt
Managing Editor ..... Lynn Herring
News Editor ..... Helen Anne Easterly
Feature Editor ..... Pat Baker
Sports Editors ..... John Mitchell
Jeanne Price
Exchange Editor ..... Anitra Bard
Contributors ..... Paul Evans, Dave Marston, Jean Kelleher, Keen Compher, Pat Crossley, Mary Gay Boettecher, Alice Stengel, Patti Paul, Arlene Ford, Tom Salmon, Ellen Dozier, Sharon Ruggles, Nancy Haley
Business Manager ..... Mike Garrett
Bussiness Assistant ..... Phyllis Deloteus
Circulation Manager ..... Norman Marschner
Faculty Advisors ..... Dr. Carolyn Blair
Mr. Frank Layman

Subscription Rate $1.00 per semester
$1.75 per year

Byron's Graphic Arts — Printers

Member of University Press Service
Published bi-weekly during the year by the students of Maryville College.

ARTIST SERIES

by Blair Moffett

Just as New Yorkers are often the last to see the Statue of Liberty, so we as MC students often fail to realize some of the truly wonderful cultural opportunities available to us. A case in point is the Artist Series.

Begun as a YMCA Lyceum, the Artist Series presented top personalities of the performing artists yearly until the chapel burned in 1947. When this disaster halted the college series, the community began its own. In 1954 with the new chapel available, the reactivated college committee joined with interested people of the community to form what we now know as the College-Community Artist Series Committee.

Down through the years the series in one form or another has brought to Maryville such outstanding artists as Vladimir Horowitz, Charles Laughton, the Trapp Family Singers, the Roger Wagner Chorale, Cornelius Otis Skinner, Basil Rathbone, Nell Rankin, and many other outstanding personalities and groups in music and drama.

For its 1961-62 season the committee is proud to present William Warfield, a baritone known for his role in "Porgy and Bess" and "Showboat". Mr. Warfield has appeared on the series previously in 1951. The season will continue with Richard Cass, a young pianist who is making a place for himself in the music world; "i musici", a widely known string chamber orchestra; and the Barter Theater of Virginia which will present Shakespere's "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Amazing as it may seem, a student may purchase a season ticket for the reserve seat of his choice for one dollar. These same four attractions seen in New York City would easily cost fifteen dollars! Individual tickets to Maryville community people are priced at three dollars per concert. Students may purchase single tickets for thirty-five cents. Season tickets will go on sale beginning October 10 in Pearsons Hall and the Treasurer's Office.

BERLIN - East and West

(Editor's Note: Miss Birklebuch visited Germany this summer.)

by Irma Birklebach

(Assistant Professor of German)

It has been said that the magical charm of Berlin quickly makes the visitor feel completely at home. Perhaps the "at home-ness" I felt was due to the fact that in West Berlin I recognized a way of life so similar to my own. In this thriving metropolis of over 2½ million people, an American easily finds himself at home with the skyscrapers, modern housing developments, ultra-fashionable shops, innumerable consumer goods, universities dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge and the alert, intelligent, and aggressive population.

Having survived a war, a blockade and separation from West Germany, the West Berliners are justifiably proud of their new city which has arisen out of the chaos of the Second World War. It is a testimony to the determination and industriousness of the Berliner and the free enterprise system. Representative of the rebirth of West Berlin is the intriguing "Kurfurstendamn." This thoroughfare, affectionately called "Ku-damn" by the Berliner, was practically eradicated by the war. Today, because of vision and hard work, it is once more Berlin's most sparkling and interesting street. Its bright lights, wonderful exclusive shops, business offices, hotels and intriguing sidewalk cafes catch the newcomer up in the excitement of a throbbing "Weltstadt."

Ku-damn serves as the hub from which spring other streets also full of interest and alive with activity. It is fitting that on this street one should also find a reminder that life was not always so prosperous in West Berlin. At the end of "Ku-damn" stands a rather grotesque ruin. It is unusual for two reasons: one, because war ruins are practically non-existent in West Berlin, and two, because of the incongruous ultra-modern structure attached to it. The ruin, the former steeple of the Kaiser Wilhelm Gedachtnis Kirche (memorial church) remains today as a stark reminder of the war which no adult German should forget. The new building, on the other hand, represents reborn Berlin, built on the democratic principle of freedom for the individual.

After only a short time in West Berlin, I was impressed by the material development of this western outpost of freedom, but perhaps even more so I was impressed by the people. They are extremely calm and carry on their activities with a relaxation to be envied, which is almost unbelievable under present circumstances in that city. The proximity to the iron-curtain does not outwardly affect the West Berliner's actions. He has not lost sight of the situation and is keenly aware of his precarious position, but it has turned into something which he accepts as a part of his existence. In the past the Berliner has been characterized as fun-loving and optimistic with an ability to endure what others would consider intolerable situations. The West Berliner of today seems to also bear out this characterization, enduring bravely and almost lightheartedly the anxiety caused by the division of his city into two sectors.

For as one passes through the Brandenburg gate, one becomes quite aware that there is a division. To suddenly leave the intensely vital western part of Berlin and to enter the so-called "people's paradise" is quite a shock, and the American immediately loses his feeling of "at home-ness." No longer does one see hustling people with purposeful looks on their faces. The streets lose their freshness and interest and the visitor is appalled by the dirt and amount of ruins. The war's remains are still quite evident. I soon stopped looking for stores filled to overflowing with goods, because there are apparently none. On the contrary, there seems to be an extreme scarcity of goods and what there is, is not of good quality and is quite high priced. The ever-present "HO" for "Handelsorganization" (government owned store) made me aware that the term "Grosshandler" (private merchant) must be going out of the East Berlin vocabulary. Another discovery was that the "freedom and equality" for women, stressed so strongly by the East Berlin government did not merely mean woman's right to vote and to an education. It also includes woman's "right" to dig ditches, sweep streets and build houses. After experiencing a little of the life in East Berlin, I could better understand the resigned at-

Cont'd. Page 3

Scots and Soda

by Dave Marston

Look around. A good percentage of last year's student body is gone. The Army grabbed some—a few graduated. Some transferred voluntarily, others were asked to "seriously consider the advisability of continuing your college education at Maryville." The remainder dropped out for any of a dozen different reasons, ranging from marriage to malnutrition.

But scores more came back. They left convertibles in garages, said good-bye to parents who let them stay out after eleven on Saturday night, and returned to Maryville. Once here, the first thing these collegians did was sign away their rights to late dates, innerspring mattresses and midnight snacks for nine months.

All for higher education? Hardly. Let's look at the more colorful reasons that young bloods make such sacrifices to attend college. First, maybe Maryville isn't exactly a marriage mill, but there are two different sexes running around campus, and you're not likely to find many more than that anywhere, even at a big university. Obviously, college is a good place for people who like people.

Next, there's a group of young men on campus committed to the idea that the toughest instructors at college aren't half as tough as the ones at Parris Island. They figure it's better to be flunked by a dozen PhD's than passed by one D.I. Sure, Maryville students get sick (Note: Flu shots are available as this issue goes to press) but East Tennessee is still a lot healthier than West Berlin.

Some people come south to college just to get warm. And there's always the freshman who was here last year. Working as a ditch digger after his senior year in high school, he was told to dig a fifty-yard trench for a pipeline. After a good deal of sweaty digging, he finally finished the job, only to find out his ditch was in the wrong place. When they told him to start over, he decided then and there to come to college.

Nevertheless, some people do pick up an education while they're here. For instance, a bright Yankee can learn in a week that a "cool guy" up north is a "good ole boy" down south. And many a Southern coed discovers for the first time in college that New York is a suburb of New Jersey.

There's still one other big reason why people keep returning to college. In today's troubled world, Maryville offers the collegian unparalleled security. Where else are people so vitally interested in you, that every Tuesday morning, they ask what you did last Sunday?

Cabbages and Kings

"I have made a resolution," declared the Walrus. "I have decided to become a noted authority on languages" He shifted a dictionary from one flipper to another and looked pleased.

"How are you going to do that?" I asked.

"Well, for a start," he said, "I'm going to see if I can take Russian."

"You might be a bit behind," I suggested.

"I learn fast. Besides I already know how to speak Danish."

"Really? Say something in Danish."

"Hrosshvair," he said with a pleased smile.

"God bless you."

"I didn't sneeze," he cried indignantly. "I said hrosshvair—it means walrus—or literally "horse whale." He opened his dictionary and showed me. Sure enough, hrosshvair. "A massive sea-animal of the seal family," he read, "having two tusks, protruding from the upper jaw; a thick mustache; a thick hide; and a heavy layer of blubber." He closed the book with a hurt look on his face. "They didn't really have to mention the blubber," he said. There were tears in his eyes.

"Don't take it so hard," I told him. "After all, it says you have thick hide."

So he cheered up and walked out with the dictionary balanced on his tusks.

* * * * * * *

Now that the Walrus has gone, maybe this column will get written. He is a kind and generous soul, but his writing ability leaves much to be desired.

* * * * * * *

At this time we would like to make an announcement of great concern and interest to all. A few years ago, as you may remember, the New Women's Dormitory was built. During this time there must have been a paper shortage for the workmen were often forced to do their addition and subtraction on the walls. Now here is the distressing part: in the third floor (East bathroom there is a radical mistake. 36 plus 36 plus 12 are said to equal 78 instead of 84. When I told the Walrus he agreed with me that this glaring mistake should be brought to the attention of the whole campus. For if someday the New Dorm should fall crashing down we will know that it was caused by a lack of 6 somethings.

Contributors Column

WASTELAND AUDIBILITY

How lightly steps an early rain across the wastes . . .
now to moisten,
now to touch,
on virgin feet.

How childlike steals the mist away in colored haze . . .
so quietly
the waste reclaims its own.

How splendid noiseless sounds
as these are heard . . .
by echo of a heartbeat,
not by ear.

—R. Craig Snyder

HE CARES

His hands are lightly tanned,
Slim,
And strong.
His gestures make me
Smile,
And sing!
His golden hands move quickly,
Sure
And strong.
His hand rests gently on my shoulder;
Calms
My fear.
I am not afraid when
His hand
Holds mine.

—Merelee Knott

(The Contributor's Column is open to any creative writing, poetry or prose, the reader would like to submit. However, all contributions must be submitted the Saturday prior to the date of publication.)

INSIDE LEBANON

by Priscilla Newcomer

EDITOR'S NOTE Priscilla Newcomer spent last year in Lebanon as a Junior Year Abroad student at the American University of Beirut.

There was a tug at my sleeve and I knew before I looked down what it was. Oh, why didn't I leave a minute sooner or later! Maybe I could have avoided it. What should I do now? I was caught. As I turned I saw the familiar sight, the little brown face framed with stringy hair, the dark eyes pleading intently, the shabby flowered dress which hung to her bare feet and most important the outstretched hands, one thrusting a box of penny Chicklets and the other an empty palm. So many times last year this scene was repeated and each time there was a tug at my conscience.

What could I do to help these peoples? A few piasters for one little girl did not solve the bigger problem. Many times my eyes looked out upon tragedy, misery, and poverty and I thanked God that I did not see it in America. At least our people have food to eat and clothes to wear or perhaps I should say there are laws against begging on the streets. Later I was to learn a lesson I shall never forget.

Upon invitation I spent three days in a Lebanese village in the mountains. The family I stayed with consisted of a mother, a father and four small children. Their five room home was built of hand-hewn stone, plain and modest. In fact they might even be considered poor by our standards for they had no running water or electric lights. But let me tell you what can be learned while walking to a well for water or sitting under the hiss and shadow of a lantern.

One evening after the children had gone t bed, the mother, father and I were perched on pillows around the charcoal fire, which was built in a hole in the corner of the dining room. We were warming ourselves before going to bed, for of course the bedrooms were not heated. The mother was wearing a flowered skirt, an old blue sweater, an apron and a scarf which tied back her hair. The father had on a plaid flanned shirt, a suit-coat, and faded brown trousers. It was the end of another day. The coals were glowing and the room was filled with a revenent stillness. Finally the woman turned to her husband and said, "She is so far away from home. She is the only one, how can her family let her go?" However these words were only sounds until her husband translated them for she was speaking in Arabic. I could only look at her, smile, and nod my understanding. Then she turned her eyes back to the fire, and I learned my head against the cold wall. Again she looked with concerned eyes and said, "I do not think she is happy here, in a place where no one can speak her language. I am sorry I do not know English. I wish I could talk to her." How could I tell her that I knew her love and concern had crossed the barriers of language and customs, that we did not need to speak words to be in fellowship with one another.

BERLIN, Cont'd.

titude of an East Berlin family which I had met in the train traveling through the East Zone to Berlin. The wife's last words to me were, "We don't like it; we don't like being subjected, but we have to go back."

The only thing that provides a momentary uplift in the rather depressing picture presented by East Berlin is "Stalinallee." A magnificent thoroughfare lined with buildings built in majestic Georgian style, "Stalinallee" is a delight to the eye. The East Berliners point to it with pride — and well they might. But one cannot help comparing it with the abject poverty which one sees along the way to it, and the dismal picture which the rest of East Berlin presents. All too often our guide pointed to a ruin and said, "This was the former—" but nothing has been done to rebuild it or remove it to make way for something new. "Stalinallee" simply is not enough to stir up the feeling of being in a growing community looking forward to a promising future. To tell the truth, I was glad to leave the "democratic" part of Berlin and enter the "capitalistic" part, for it was then that the sense of aliveness returned.

In West Berlin we see what a democratic ideology can do for a city, for a people. I came away agreeing more and more that defense of West Berlin is not merely defense of some thousands of square feet of western territory, but a defense of our own ideology, our own way of life. When we defend West Berlin we defend not just the "Ku-damm" or the Conrad Hilton Hotel or Grunewald Park. We defend the human being's right to progress, to intellectual freedom and to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

PROSPECTIVE

Motivation may seem a rather strange topic for thought in an article under Student Council head. However, motivation plays such an integral part in our lives that it is something we must not and cannot ignore. At this time of year, perhaps it is a good idea for all of us to stop and simply ask ourselves—why am I in college? Besides accepting academic responsibility, we accept the responsibilities of an office, a committee, a team on an athletic field. Each one of us needs to try to get at his basic motivation—the reason why he has involved himself. To accept responsibility with small or no motivation is in effect to accept trouble. For when personal glory fails to come or when one runs headlong into an obstacle, the world of the individual is greatly shaken. Then out of a depth of discouragement or despair we are forced to ask ourselves why—and often there is no answer.

Involvement for the sake of involvement is not the solution—we must each one seek a greater cause. Here at Maryville, surely we must acknowledge a plan greater than we ourselves and a God to whom we owe allegiance. In light of this, let our motivation be a faithful concern—for the totality—campus, community, nation and world.

—Connie Bondurant

UNDER COVER

by Paul Evans

C. S. Lewis has written over a score of books, the most recent of which is The Four Loves. Although he is one of the outstanding spokesmen of modern Christianity, Lewis is not a clergyman. Rather, he is a professor of literature at Cambridge and is a well-known scholar as well as a lay theologian. His writings, such as The Screwtape Letters, Mere Christianity, The Allegory of Love, and The Lion, The Witch, and The Wardrobe, indicate his ability to treat equally well such subjects as practical Christianity, literary criticism, and children's stories. He has even written a series of science fiction novels.

In The Four Loves Lewis discusses Love with his characteristic ability to express our nebulous ideas in strikingly concrete terms. The book centers around Love in its four aspects—"Affection," "Friendship," "Eros," and "Charity." In treating the characteristics, causes, and consequences of these Loves, Lewis' views are primarily orthodox, as shown by his comparison of "Affection" to the "Love" Paul describes in I Corinthians. His division of Love into four aspects enables him to achieve greater depth and lucidity in his treatment, dealing with each of them as a separate entity as well as in their relation to one another.

The discussion of "Eros" is the weakest of the four, possibly because of Lewis' bacheorhood. Here he deals with sex (Venus, as he calls it) as more comic than serious. On the other hand, his treatment of "Friendship" is essentially spiritual in that it is "free from instinct, free from all duties but those which love has freely assumed, almost wholly free from jealousy . . ." Charity, the Love of God, is that which ties all Love together. "The natural loves," says Lewis, "are not self-sufficient." In this section Lewis also points out a danger in Love—"To love at all is to be vulnerable." He sums up this problem by remarking that "The only place outside Heaven where you can be perfectly safe from all the dangers and perturbations of love is Hell."

The book as a whole is an excellent exposition on Love, and is one more example of the outstanding work C. S. Lewis produces.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock
of Quality Products Including
a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE
SUPER MARKET

Washington Avenue

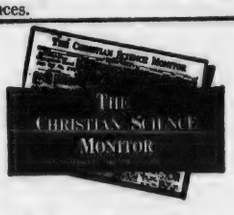
WELCOME SCOTS!

You're always Welcome Here.

Whatever Your Drug and Cosmetic Needs,

SEE US

BYRNE DRUG COMPANY



Start School At Your Best

See us for the Best in Dry Cleaning

MARYVILLE Cleaners

We Welcome Maryville College Students Old and New.

Best of Luck for the year ahead!

Subscribe Now at Half Price*

You can read this world-famous daily newspaper for the next six months for $5, just half the regular subscription rate.

Get top news coverage. Enjoy special features. Clip for reference work.

Send your order today. Enclose check or money order. Use coupon below.

The Christian Science Monitor P-CN
One Norway St., Boston 15, Mass.

Send your newspaper for the time checked.

☐ 6 months $5 ☐ 1 year $10
☐ College Student ☐ Faculty Member

Name

Address

City Zone State

*This special offer available ONLY to college students, faculty members, and college libraries.

CENTRE TONIGHT GEORGETOWN NEXT

By Chuck Spencer and Phil Jerome

Experience is the key word to the hopes of the Maryville College football team this year. With eighteen returning lettermen, including a veteran in every position, the Scots open their 1961 grid season against Centre, and they are out to avenge last season's 17-6 loss at the hands of the Praying Colonels.

The opening game promises to be one of the toughest of the season for the forces of Coach Baird since Centre has a long history of fine football teams. Under a new head coach and with eight returning lettermen, you can be sure the Colonels will be out to spoil the Scotties' 1961 debut.

The second game will also find the Scots at home, this time hosting the Georgetown team. According to Coach Baird, this school always has big, strong teams, and this year proves to be no exception. Last year Georgetown downed the Highlanders by the score of 20-6.

Both schools will have played games before meeting Maryville, Centre opening with Denison and Georgetown with Hanover. On the basis of these games, the Maryville coaching staff hopes to gain some knowledge of their abilities, which would give us an advantage. Coach Baird is particularly anxious to win these first two games, not only for the students but also because it would give the team added impetus for the rest of the season.

Our success will lie in eighteen returning lettermen backed up by a group of transfers and freshmen. Transfers include Eddie Bruce, a promising quarterback from the University of Chattanooga; Bobby Oxendine, hard running halfback from Carson-Newman; and sophomore Stan Wrinkle, guard from Mars Hill.

Leading the freshman candidates is halfback Mack Hall of Lanier, who was named most valuable player of his team in an all-star game played recently. Also singled out were Don Ware, Bill Napier, Gary Dutton, Clint Abbott, Keith Bailey, Roland McClanahan, Mike McBride, and Charlie Everett.

What is the reason Maryville was selected by a nationally published magazine as one of the best teams in the Southeast after two mediocre seasons? Coach Baird believes the answer is experience. He can fill every position with at least one letterman. The strongest position is fullback, where the Scots will have 180-pounder Ken Berry backed up by two other lettermen—Al Ries and Jim Renfro. The right side of the line also appears to be strong with co-captains Bill Owenby and Pete Stafford holding down the end and tackle positions, respectively. Also on the right side is Art Fairchild and Don Elia fighting for the guard position.

The middle of the forward wall

Cont'd. Page 6

CONCERNING WAA

By Jeanne Price

The Women's Athletic Association opened its semester program with a party held in the intramural gym for both new and old members on Tuesday, September 26. Members of Women's "M" Club presented a skit announcing all sports offered, and the point system was explained. Refreshments were served.

The Inter-Coordinating Council of Women's Athletics has set up the intramural program for this semester. It will include sports that will interest all women on campus.

Horseshoes will set the season off beginning October 3. All interested persons should report to the horseshoe area on that day so that the tournament may get under way.

Volleyball will follow horseshoes. This is always one of the season's best attended sports. Preparations are also being made for the traditional Powder Puff football game between Chi Beta and Theta.

The annual fall hike of the women's "M" Club will be held the weekend of October 21. Plans are now under way for a wonderful weekend of fun ahead for the group, which includes Nancy Kinsman, Carol Cox, Jane Hickey, Jeanne Price, Janet Reinke, Jan Dearcopp, Lois Lockett, Anna Baker, Frances Frost, Terry Brewster, Ginna Coon, Joy Umberger, Micki Patterino, Judy Clemons, Sandy Harris, Miss Leslie, and Mrs. Largen.

WAA is an important part of the life of Maryville College in that it provides opportunity for competition, as well as a chance to use energy that otherwise would have no outlet. Girls, let's make this the best year MC has had in women's athletics! It's all yours!

Intramurals Begin Monday

By Todd Owers

Attention all athletes, frustrated or otherwise! Want to get rid of that excess poundage you've accumulated over the summer and gain the increased admiration of that special gal as well? Then intramural football is for you! So if you haven't already, get your name on the nearest sign-up sheet and head for the intramural field. You'll find plenty of fun and excitement, and, best of all, you don't need a lot of ability to play. In our intramural football program we try to stress desire and enthusiasm for play; so if you have these two qualities you'll find yourself quite at home! So come and join us — we need you!

The intramural field has become an increasingly busy spot on campus with the advent of October and the cooler weather. Footballs have been filling the air as teams have been getting in some preliminary practice before the season begins. Rosters are not yet complete, but it is hoped that each of the men's societies will be able to enter four teams this year, along with an entry or two of independent teams.

Briefly, the program is run in this manner. A regular league schedule is divided into two halves, with each team playing the others twice. Teams winning the first and second halves then play each other for the championship. After the championship game an all-star game is usually played, with the championship team playing an all-star team composed of players selected by all participants in the intramural program. The all-star game climaxes football on the intramural level and is generally a very exciting and well-played contest.

Cont'd. Page 6

THUMBS UP!

By John Mitchell

Check this: I did get some response to my plea for assistance, and the fine fellows are Chuck Spencer, Todd Owers, and Phil Jerome. Even better, they have had experience (which is more than I can say for their editor). Chuck was sports editor for his high school paper and also did special reporting for his town newspaper. Todd contributed to his high school paper and did some sports scripts for Y-Radio his freshman year here. Phil, one of those enthusiastic freshmen, wrote up junior high sports for his local paper and edited the sports section for speech broadcasts.

Another fellow you're going to hear a lot about in the sports field is John Gamble. Just as an introduction—he won't like this—he is the brother of Jim Gamble and is my "Little Brother."

This year, as in the past, teams will be made up of seven players each. Rules are generally the same as they were last year, although there is one major change: players will now wear a flag at each side, and an opposing ball carrier will be stopped by pulling one flag from him, instead of tagging him, as was done previously. This is an innovation here at Maryville, but "flag ball" has been tried with a considerable degree of success at other colleges. The main purpose of this rule is, of course, to cut down as much as possible on the injuries resulting from playing.

This year Coach John A. Davis has been appointed to supervise and coordinate the intramural football program. Coach Davis has had a great deal of experience in coaching and is widely known for the fine caliber of wrestling teams he produces each year. Working closely with Coach Davis will be George Flack, senior intramural manager this year. George, in turn, will be assisted by two junior intramural managers.

All men not out for varsity football are eligible to play, and it is hoped that great interest will be shown this year so that the program will be very successful.

While interest in football naturally runs high with the first game practically here, tennis has also been very popular ever since the opening of school. On Monday, September 25, an intramural tennis tournament began under the direction and supervision of George Flack.

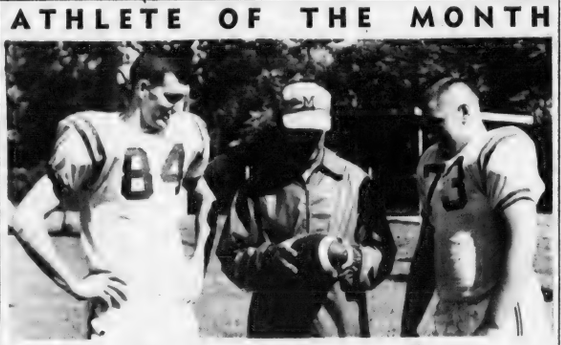
He'll be working as an assistant to Mr. Alsmeyer, Director of Public Relations, in the sports department. John will be the man in charge of game statistics and press releases. He has had quite a bit of experience, too. Not only was he editor of his high school paper, but he also wrote several articles for the Associated Press. I know he will be a big help to the school, and I hope I can get some work out of him for the Echo.

Rumors on and off campus indicate we have one of the strongest football teams in quite some time. I even heard we were rated fourth in small colleges in the Southeast. I can't verify that, but it sounds good anyway.

Some basis for the rumor might be found in the article by Chuck and Phil.

Some of you may not know that Bill Woodby is assisting with football coaching along with the three full-time coaches. Bill graduated last year from Maryville and was a member of the second team on the Tennessee Small College All-Stars. Maybe some of his talent will rub off on the linemen he is coaching.

There will be a dance after the game tonight in the Alumni Gym, and it will be sponsored by the sophomore class. If you won't dance, come anyway; there may be refreshments. I hope this dance will be one of those victory dances I'm always hearing about. It seems they have it whether there's a victory or not.



Recently an English cricket star was banned for life from his league for being nasty to an umpire and throwing the ball at an opponent. Do you suppose some similar action prompted the expression uncricket?

Wonder where the Colonels got the qualifying adjective Praying? Perhaps it originated among their linemen after facing a player or two near 'bouts the middle of our line.

Maris had himself incorporated for September 16. Hope he doesn't wear coonskin caps..

Forgive me for closing with a sad note, but dear ole C-N lost their opener 12-10.

ATHLETE OF THE MONTH

Bill Owenby, Coach Baird, Pete Stafford

Athlete of the Month is a new addition to the Echo sports page and will continue throughout the year. Selection will be made by the Echo sports staff and will be based on performance in varsity sports primarily, but not necessarily.

Since no game has been played yet, the staff choose the co-captains, Pete Stafford and Bill Owenby, since they have already proven themselves; and, since their achievement is already well known among students, no elaboration will be made. What is the secret behind their record? They're both married; could there be any correlation?

We would like to wish them continuing success in their own participation and in their leadership of our Scots. Look for them in tonight's game.

Shop
Maryville's Newest, Most Complete Stock of Athletic Equipment and Sporting Goods.

Rawlings & Wilson Tennis Rackets .... $4.50 up
Rawlings & Wilson Tennis Balls ..... $1.75 up
(Can of 3)
Tennis Oxfords, Ladies ..... $3.95 up
U.S. Ked & Converse, Men's ..... $4.95 up

Tennis Shorts, Shirts, Magic Fleece Athletic Socks Racket Covers & Presses

Rawling & Wilson Baseball Gloves .... $5.95 up
Rawlings Baseball Shoes ..... $5.95 up

GIFF'S
SPORTING GOODS
202 N. Cusick St. YU 3-2166
(Directly behind Proffitt's)

WON'T WRITE ?
CALL WHITE
Keep your typewriter working at its best.
White's factory-trained repairmen are at your service.
WHITE
OFFICE MACHINES
983-4762

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.
SEYMOUR'S
Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921.

SOCIETY NEWS

This time a ring goes around the date September 30. Since the first football game is really a big event, Chi Beta and Kappa Phi plan to make the evening extra special. The excitement begins this afternoon at 4:00 when all members will want to join the hike to the woods for a picnic in the college picnic area.

Following the picnic the group under the leadership of Jane Hickey and Jim Kring, will form a card section to add to the pep and fun of the game. Ocober 6 is pledge day. Pledge secretary this year is Phyllis Deloteus. For the program at the regular meeting October 7 the program chairmen, Jeanne Price and Liz Fastige, plan a fashion show. Kathy Ford and Sharon Waldron are float chairmen for Homecoming.

* * * * * *

First a thought to freshman men. The time soon approaches when you will face the decision; what society, or any society. Choose a society, not to be a joiner, but the one you will be willing to work for, and more important the one you will be willing to work with.

In the first frantic weeks of school Alpha Sigma has been busy with organization for the coming year. To the limelight of Alpha Sigma come the names of Steve Rago, the new treasurer, and Don McFerren, representative to the inter-society council. Also in the Organization we have a secret weapon — something different for the intramural field this year.

* * * * * *

The Theta Fashion Show was held Monday, September 25, at 4:00 P. M. in the New Dorm Lobby with wonderful clothes from Minton's. Refreshments were served. The Rush Show — The Roaring 20's Revue, was held in the theater at 8:00 on Tuesday, September 26, with authentic styles of the 20's. There were songs and dances of the period, as well as a humorous take-off on silent films.

Intramural sports for the next few weeks will be horseshoes, starting October 3, followed by volleyball.

FAC To Exhibit Graphics in Oct.

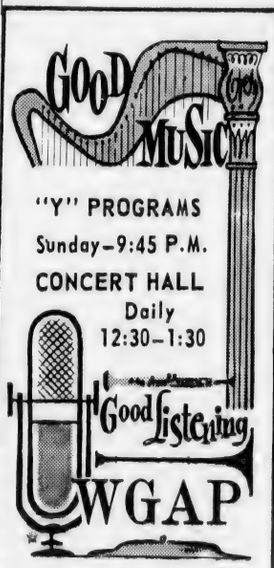
Mr. and Mrs. Beard, recently returned from Ohio State University where both did graduate art work while on sabbatical leave from Maryville College have not completely severed ties with that institution. Along with Mr. Sid Chafetz and Mr. Robert Gatrell of Ohio State's graphics department, Mr. Beard helped organize a traveling graphics exhibition, which will be the October show in our fine arts gallery.

Consisting of lithographs, woodcuts and etchings, the collection represents the best in graphics done in the past five years by undergraduates, graduate students, and faculty members at the University. Of note is the fact that Mr. Beard will have two works of his included in the display.

In recent years there has been a great graphics revival in the United States, and it is in the midwestern universities with their excellent facilities that the trends are being set. Thus, this showing should represent the latest things being done in that medium.

Sue, Stuwart, 1961 Band Sponsor; Ron Noble, Drum Major; Anne Morrell, Bagpiper

GRANT TO BEGIN LECTURE SERIES



A look at this year's guest lecturers in our 1961-1962 Lecture Series presentation shows a group of wide and varied experience. Four lectures will be given, to which the public is invited. There is no admission charge.

The first lecture will be given on Friday evening, December 8, by Donald Grant, well-known British international affairs lecturer. Since 1936, Mr. Grant has been on nine lecture tours of the United States, last lecturing at Maryville College in 1958. After World War I he started the student relief work which became the World University Service and in this connection participated in Russian famine relief work under Herbert Hoover. He later originated and edited the three-language international student magazine Vox Studentium. Following World War II he worked for the American Military Government in Germany.

Dr. James Nielson, former president of the College Band Directors Association and director of the Oklahoma City University band and choir, will preesnt the second lecture Friday evening, February 9. Dr. Nielson is both a composer and arranger as well as former musical director of the CBS broadcast of Paul Rader's Chicago Gospel Tabernacle. His particular interest is music education in the public schools.

Tuesday evening March 20, will feature a lecture by Harloco Shapley, former Paine Professor of Astronomy at Harvard University and Director of the Harvard Observatory. Awarded honorary doctorates by many American and foreign universities, Professor Shapley has been a lecturer at a number of American and foreign schools. The author of numerous articles and books, his most recent books are The Inner Metagalaxy, 1957, and Of Stars and Men, 1958. During World War II he was associated with the U. S. Office of Scientific Research and Development. After the second world war he helped organize the now-famed UNESCO (the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization).

The fourth and final lecture will be given by John Mason Brown, nationally known author and critic. Mr. Brown is one of the editors of the Saturday Review, to which he contributes a column entitled "Seeing Things." He has been a frequent panelist on radio and television, including CBS's Of Men and Books, the BBC's Trans-Atlantic Quiz with Alistair Cooke and Christopher Morley, ABC's Critic At Large, CBS's Tonight on Broadway, and on Invitation to Learning, Who Said That?, and The Last Word. He is writing his eighteenth book, which will be entitled The Worlds of Robert E. Sherwood. Other books include Broadway in Review, Two on the Aisle, The Art of Playgoing, Upstage, and Letters from Greenroom Ghosts.

Dial 1400

The "Y" Store Proudly serves

MAYFIELD'S Ice Cream and Milk

Smoother, Richer, Better Tasting

Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR

Southern Shoes

Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.

116 West Broadway

Looking For Something Special?

We carry a complete line of fine quality watches, rings, and accessories designed to please the discriminating buyer. Easy terms are available on request. Why not stop in today?

Quick Repairs – Guaranteed

BROADWAY JEWELERS

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES

*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

*CHECK ACCOUNTS

*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS

*TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

DINE AT NIGHT . . .
BY CANDLELIGHT –

Featuring the finest STEAKS. . .
Also PIZZA PIES are a Specialty. . .

LEONARD'S STEAK HOUSE

Open Daily, including Sunday – on West Broadway

CENTRE, Cont'd.

appears well set with lettermen Charlie Thomas and Gene Smith supported by Eddie Paul. On the left side we have Wilbur Ramsey, another letterman, and Rex Stafford at end; at the tackle and guard positions the Scots have Bill Cochran and John McCaulley, who both have lettered.

A real battle for the starting quarterback position has been going on between Denny Mobbs and Jack Moore, both veterans from last year, and pushing them are Eddie Bruce and Dave Wayland. At halfback Coach Baird can call on four lettermen: Tyson McClanahan, Tom Bowers, Ron Lingenfelter, and Donnie Phelps. Backing up this quartet will be Mack Hall.

And backing up all the players are the students. Coach Baird points out that support which the student body has given the team, even during losing seasons, has been terrific, thus inspiring the team to go all out in its efforts. So keep up the good work.

What about a return trip to the Rocket Bowl or some other post-season game? Coach Baird's reply: "I'm just looking for improvement; that's my song, just improvement."

I say, Coach Baird, o' boy, is that what you're really thinking?

PAWNS OR PARTICIPANTS?

This year a group of students have formed a study seminar for the purpose of examining the relationship that the Christian should have toward the International Communist Movement. The opportunity is open to each of us to broaden our scope of involvement in the affairs of our college, our nation and our world.

The Christian student in the United States shares a privilege that is unique in the world. To him is given the privilege of choosing whether to actively advance his own personal glory or the glory of his Lord and his Lord's Kingdom. It is as we work to increase our sense of belonging to this world community, that we become the active particiapnts in the Salvation or the inactive pawns of its Distruction. Involvement is the key!

CHILHOWEAN HIGHLIGHTS

The tables outside the dining-hall after meals for the purpose of ordering "Chilhoweans" is the only visible sign seen as yet this year as to the progress of the 61-62 staff. But behind the scenes, work has been going on for months. The main objective is to create a fresher, more original yearbook, by a wider use of color, not only in the literal sense of the word, but also in the choice and treatment of subject matter.

In this area of "subject matter" are the new additions to content instituted by this year's staff. The excitement of homecoming will be preserved in a four-page spread including the football game, the queen and her court, as well as the inauguration. "Barnwarming" is also going to be represented by its own page highlighting the events of the evening; and a separate section is being planned for each curicular department.

Individual class pictures are to be taken in October and all students are being urged to have this accomplished as soon after October 1st as possible for the first deadline is to be the end of the same month.

INTRAMURAL, Cont'd.

Considerable interest was shown, and so two tournaments were played: one for varsity lettermen and experienced players, and another for those of less experience. Approximately twenty players participated in the tournaments and played in both singles and double events.

A bowling tournament will be held after the football season is over if enough interest is shown. Last season, the intramural program had its most successful year, with 74 percent of all the men participating. Competition will be keen again this year, and it is hoped that the men will show interest in the program and support it well.

If all our misfortunes were laid in one common heap, whence everyone must take a equal portion, most people would be content to take their own and depart.
—Socrates

The Friendly Folks at City Drug extend a cordial Welcome to All
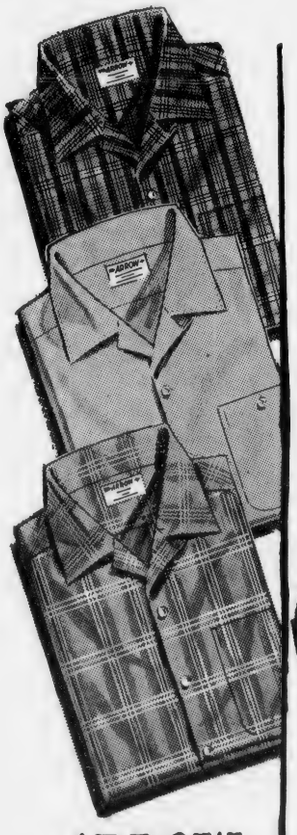
Maryville College Students
during your stay at Maryville!

SEE US FOR ALL YOUR DRUG NEEDS

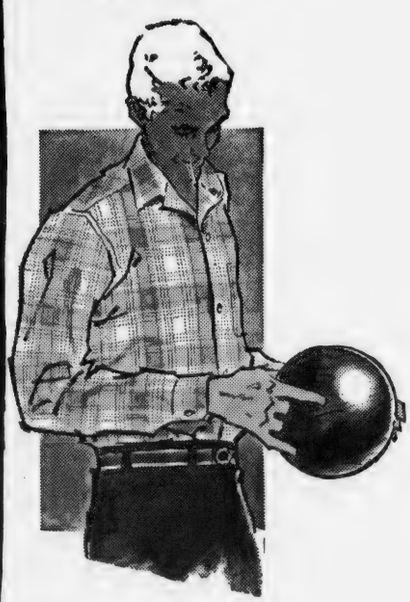
– Prescription Experts –

City Drug Company



108 W. Broadway Phone 982-7162

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK



218 COURT STREET

A Warm Welcome to
Maryville College

See us for a Complete Line of Books and Greeting Cards.

exciting... inviting... delighting...

ARROW

SPORT SHIRTS

... come see our selection of fabrics, colors, patterns

$4.00 and up

These shirts are packed with appeal! Not only are they dashingly handsome but they're made in your exact sleeve length. Here's the kind of casual comfort and fit that makes a lasting hit... in a fine choice of conventional or wash and wear fabrics, inspired patterns and colors. All with the flawless tailoring that is distinctly Arrow.

Proffitt's

Parks-Belk

Home of Better Values

MARYVILLE'S FINEST

Shop In Our
Sportswear
Department

10th ANNIVERSARY SAVINGS

Remember How Long Permanents Used to Last?

Ours Still Do!

Michaels

COLD WAVE

The permanent that snaps back with the Flick of a Comb – Postively Guaranteed excepting tinted hair.

"Ours Exclusively"

COLD WAVE

$6.95 COMPLETE

* College Hill Salon — 27 Stanley Ave.

PERSONAL LETTER FROM PAST PRESIDENT LLOYD (See Page 3)

The Highland Echo

Maryville College

Vol. 47 | Maryville, Tennessee, October 14, 1961 | No. 3

YM – YW Co-operate In Off-Campus Plans

The Y program this year includes many off-campus activities in which both YMCA and YWCA co-operate.

Twice a week, a group goes to Asbury Acres (the home for the aged), where they carry on a program for the residents. The Christian Education Committee, in conjunction with the Christian Education Department, has a program which includes Sunday School, a week-day study program, Bible study, crafts and recreation programs, youth fellowship and a Saturday afternoon program on the last two weekends in each month. They work in three underprivileged areas: Home Avenue, Sunnybrook Chapel, and Parrum Hill.

There is one Y-sponsored Girl Scout Troop, with two more developing for the near future. Last weekend the members of the Children's Home committee took their little brothers and sisters from the Home for a weekend in the Mountains at Camp Montvale. They left Saturday afternoon and returned Sunday morning, with a trip back for the Maryville-Georgetown Game Saturday night. Each child has a big brother or sister who visits him once a week. All students are invited to go on Wednesday or Thursday afternoons to the home. Two students from the Interacial committee teach Spanish and a history course, which would not otherwise be available, at Hale School. Several other students help out, and on campus there is a discussion group which is interacial. Y also works with and encourages the exchanges with Knoxville College.

FRESHMEN ELECT MOYERS AND KING

The freshman class elections were held on October 6 with 73 per cent of the class voting. Those elected were president, Mike Moyers; vice-president Dave King; secretary-treasurer, Annette Sensening; Student Council representatives, Sue Lynch, Harold Laster, Rich Boyd, and Ann Alexander.

Carole Cooper, Dan Davis, Martha Hall, and Paul Evans of "Gallantry."

Opera Workshop Presents Tragedy, Comedy Tonight

Tonight Opera Workshop presents its final productions of "Riders to the Sea," by Ralph Vaughan-Williams and "Gallantry," by Douglas Moore. The operas will be presented in the theater at 8:00 p.m.

"Riders to the Sea" is a one-act tragedy based on the play by J. M. Synge. The story centers around Maurya, an old woman who has lost her husband and five of her six sons to the sea. Bartley is to leave for the sea, leaving only Maurya and her two daughters, Cathleen and Nora, should he die.

"Gallantry" is a one-act satire on modern-day soap opera, sponsored by Lochinvar Soap and Billie Boy Wax. The story revolves around the eternal triangle of doctor, nurse, and patient.

The operas are being directed by Harry H. Harter with Dan Kinsinger as assistant director.

Speak what you think now in hard words and tomorrow speak what tomorrow thinks in hard words again, though it contradict everything you said today.

—Ralph Waldo Emerson

Class of '63 Rates High

As in previous years, the sophomore test results were well above the national median. The test, taken by the sophomore class last May, had five parts, consisting of: literature, science, mathematics, social science, and fine arts. For the entire test, Maryville sophomores ranked 16 percentile points above the national median. The scores for the respective parts are as follows: 17 percent, 15 percent, 13 percent, 8 percent, and 7 percent. The class of 1962 ranked 25 percentile points above the national median of that year, which is the highest for several previous years.

RELIGIOUS LIFE COMMITTEE MEETS

The Student-Faculty Religious Life and Activities Committee held its first meeting on Monday, October 9. During the year this committee intends to make a study of the various facets of the religious life and activities on campus, beginning with such matters as required church attendance and the use of Sunday in general. Members of the committee are: Dr. Campbell, Dean Bushing, Mr. Brahams, Dr. Blair, Chuck Moffett, Charlie Feast, Priscilla Newcomer, and Ellen Dozier. Any suggestions from students or faculty will be welcomed.

NEW MAJORETTES

Majorettes chosen for the 1961 season are Jane Dodez, head majorette, from Wooster, Ohio; Mary Dilks of Iselin, New Jersey; Sandra Presley, of Acworth, Georgia; Mary Lee Gentry of Knoxville, Tennessee; Carolyn Faust of Clinton, Tennessee; and Carolyn Sims of Maryville, Tennessee.

Appreciation

Jim Gamble has asked the ECHO to extend his sincere thanks to those of the college — students, faculty, administration — who have remembered him through visits, cards, and blood donations during his illness. At home now and feeling better, he sends his deep appreciation.

COMING EVENTS

October 13-14	Opera Workshop presents RIDERS TO THE SEA by Vaughan-Williams, and GALLANTRY by Douglas Moore, 8:00 p.m. The Theatre.
October 14	YWCA Hike
October 15	Vespers, 7:00 P.M. Dr. Joseph J. Copeland.
October 22	Vespers, 7:00 P.M. The Rev. David T. Mair, pastor of the Highland Presbyterian Church.
October 24	Student Recital, 4:30 P.M. The Music Hall.
October 26	Maryville College-Community Artists Series presents William Warfield, 8:15 P.M., Wilson Chapel.
October 28	The Inauguration of Dr. Joseph J. Copeland as the seventh president of Maryville College, 10:00 A.M., Wilson Chapel. Homecoming Parade through the downtown area, 3:00 P.M. Afternoon Tea, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Copeland, The President's Home, 3:30-5:30 P.M. Alumni Homecoming Barbecue, Baseball field. Football Game-Homecoming Game-Maryville College vs. Southwestern of Memphis, 8:00 P.M.
October 29	Vespers, 7:00 P.M. The Rev. William Harold Hunter, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, Knoxville.

PLANS IN PROGRESS FOR INAUGURATION

Plans and preparations for the Inauguration-Homecoming Day events of Oct. 28 are reported progressing rapidly with students, faculty, administrators, directors, and townspeople busily at work.

The Inauguration events schedule, beginning with the concert by William Warfield on Oct. 26 and continuing through the Homecoming Game the night of Oct. 28, is the subject of special attention by a recently named Inauguration Central Committee. Dean Frank D. McClelland is serving as committee chairman with Mrs. Joe C. Gamble, wife of the Chairman of the Board of Directors, serving as vice chairman. Miss Nancy B. Hunter, secretary to the president, serves the committee as secretary.

Approximately 125 delegates from many colleges, universities, and other educational institutions will march in the formal procession at the inaugural ceremony at 10 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 28. Today, Oct. 14, is the deadline for institutions to submit the names of delegates, so the final tally will be higher.

The Inauguration Central Committee members quickly agreed during their first meeting that additional persons would be named to various posts, as the need arises.

The Central Committee has divided into subcommittes concerned with these areas: Program, Hospitality and Publicity. Also, Mr. Raymond I. Brahams, Jr., Director of Development and Acting Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association, is coordinating alumni events and plans for the day.

Dean McClelland is directing efforts of the program subcommittee and Dean Arthur S. Bushing is chairman of the hospitality subcommittee. Mr. Henry L. Alsmeyer, Jr., Director of Public Relations, is chairman of the publicity subcommittee.

Other members of the committee include Board Chairman Joe C. Gamble; Miss Constance S. Bondurant, President of the Student Body; Mrs. Lea Callaway, Director's Wife; Mr. Mike Garrett, President of the YMCA; Miss Elsie M. Harris, President of the YWCA: Miss Clemmie J. Henry, Recorder of the Board;

Dr. Edwin R. Hunter, Professor of English; Mrs. James W. King, Director's wife; Miss Rebeccah A. Kinnamon, President of the Woman's Student Government Association; Mr. D. Frank Layman, Treasurer; Miss E. Frances Massey, Dean of Women;

Mr. David R. Meneely, Chairman of Men's Student Cooperative; Mrs. D. W. Proffitt, Director's Wife; Mrs. W. M. Queener, Head of Pearsons Hall; and Miss Margaret S. Ware, Dietitian for the College.

BARNWARMING TRYOUTS OCT. 18

Tryouts for "Out of the Hat," Barnwarming title for 1961, will begin on Tuesday, October 18th. Crews will be determined at this time also.

The play, a musical comedy, was written by Patricia Baker and the musical score was created by Janet Kilgard, and Sue Bloomer. The technical director of the production will be Bruce Jenkins and the dramatic director, Lynn Waddington. The show will be presented Thanksgiving night. The proceeds will go toward fulfilling a project to be decided by the student body.

Drama Production Planned For Nov. 4

The Maryville College Playhouse will present its first major production, Arsenic and Old Lace, on November 3 and 4. The play is a comedy by Joseph Kesselring, for which rehearsals began on September 27.

The cast is as follows: Abby Brewster, Mary Gay Boettcher; the Rev. Dr. Harper, Dave Styles; Teddy Brewster, Oscar Downey; Officer Brophy, Lloyd Bogart; Officer Klein, Ross Kerr; Martha Brewster, Janet Purcilla; Elaine Harper, Libby Lee; Mortimer Brewster, Gerald Bolden; Mr. Gibbs, Al Manus; Jonathan Brewster, Dave Clinkman; Dr. Einstein, Phil Jerome; Officer O'Hara, Paul Elliott; Lt. Rooney, James Miller; Witherspoon, Bill Schanefelt.

Bill Conger is stage manager.

Vesper Speakers For October

The following are scheduled to conduct the Vesper Services for the remainder of October: October 15—Dr. Copeland; October 22—The Reverend David T. Mair of the Highland Presbyterian Church; on October 29, Dr. Hunter's son, the Reverend William Harold Hunter, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church of Knoxville, Tennessee.

Y HIKES TODAY

At 1:30 this afternoon, the girls will leave for Camp Montvale on the Y Hike. There will be fun, fellowship, food, and, of course, hiking, for all. The group will return at 10:30 Saturday evening.

YM will also leave after lunch for it's annual overnight hike. Destination is Spence Field where the group will spend the night, and return Sunday afternoon.

MC Students Win Minton's Wardrobes

Maryville College students, Nancy Frame and Oscar Downey, have been named as winners in the drawing for a man's and lady's wardrobe sponsored by Minton's in downtown Maryville.

The contest was announced in the September 16 issue of the Highland Echo, and Minton's reports that many students registered for the free drawing that was held the last Saturday in September.

Miss Frame chose a skirt and sweater ensemble for her prize, and Downey selected slacks and a sport shirt.

EDITOR'S CHOICE

I would that I had America at my ear for, you see, I could tell her many things. I've watched the people when she could not watch them. I've watched them around corners, over fences, through keyholes, and down alleys and I know them almost as well as I know myself. I've seen their newspapers lie on the sofa unopened until they needed something in which to wrap their garbage. I've seen them yawn over the President's pleas to help those — starving — in strange lands to which their minds have not even taken them, much less their souls. But I've seen them shout, yes even holler, in the midst of a ball game — or when those — starving — in strange lands threatened to disrupt their paychecks or their lives. I could tell America of those for whom the election did not go "their way" who are now shiftily avoiding and cursing the "alien" government. At this, America's desperate hour, when they could make it her finest, they play petty politics. I could tell her of these who do not see that this is not a time to be partisan, but a time to be American.

Yes indeed, I could tell her a thing or two. I see just what's lurking around the corner for America, that's why I've got to tell her what I know — the America who at this very moment faces a crisis.

But then I guess I've seen others too — perhaps even the majority, now that I think about it — aware and concerned. Perhaps I should tell America about these too — maybe they could really give her something to think about. Why, these people—I've seen them walk, not across their living rooms but across their minds and their land, not to close the door against a noisy street, but to open the door to the American dream. I've seen them lift little boys to their shoulders and tell them not of the warped egotisms of immature minds, but of the great ideals of possibility for them to fulfill.

All of a sudden, a strange feeling. I guess, after all, I don't really need to whisper all these things in America's ear. Thinking is only the beginning of a dream. Being an American, I need only to act and America will hear me — and perhaps even the whole world will listen. For, you see, within myself lies the potential for the American dream.

B. R.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED

"Trying to decide what is the easiest project a student can attack . . ." a phrase stocked with simple words and shouting insincerities. TRYING is an important word if it is not misrepresented. EASIEST can never modify PROJECT, neither can it complement the verb ATTACK, nor can it accompany the truest sense of DECISION.

What is all this leading up to? The pursuit of an object—no object left but NEGATIVISM. And negativism involves not pursuit, but rather the easy way out . . . And the word omitted? STUDENT.

A student doesn't misrepresent; a student never looks for the easy way; a student attacks a project worthwhile and loses himself in positive and constructive thinking.

The foolish turn their eyes inward. Thinking themselves above reproach they waste all their energies in chastising the school, the administration, and the professors for not giving them a "fair shake" during this important part of their career.

The students find value in the opinions of others and look outside themselves to seek their first goal—learning. In the process they look for ways to change the unsatisfactory, but they remember always to elevate the good they see about them.

The foolish and the wise—and to gain wisdom we must first be students.

L. H.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 47, No. 3 October 14, 1961

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the Act of Congress of March 8, 1870.

Editor ..... Beth Reichardt
Assistant Editor ..... Lynn Herring
News Editor ..... Helen Anne Easterly
Feature Editor ..... Pat Baker
Sports Editors ..... John Mitchell
Jeanne Price
Exchange Editor ..... Anitra Bard
Contributors ..... Sharon Ruggles, Ellen Dozier, Connie Bondurant, Sue Bloomer, Keen Compher, Pat Crossley, Jean Kelleher, Alice Stengel, Tom Salmon, Mary Gay Boettcher, Bill Schanefelt
Business Manager ..... Mike Garrett
Business Assistant ..... Phyllis Deloteus
Circulation Manager ..... Norman Marschner
Faculty Advisors ..... Dr. Carolyn Blair
Mr. Frank Layman

Subscription Rate $1.00 per semester
$1.75 per year

Byron's Graphic Arts — Printers

Member of University Press Service. Published bi-weekly during the year by the students of Maryville College.

I have protracted my work till most of those whom I wished to please have sunk into the grave; and success and miscarriage are empty sounds.
—Samuel Johnson

You may scold a carpenter who has made you a bad table, though you cannot make a table. It is not your trade to make tables.
—Samuel Johnson

PROSPECTIVE

The word responsibility as we most often employ it is becoming over-used. We use it the majority of the time in relation to the expectations of a particular office, a committee, or position. This is all good. But how much more there is to responsible citizenship on campus and in the world. How much more it is when an individual takes the tasks of his office and goes the second mile—doing the job better, more completely than is really expected of him. How much more it is when an individual can see a need and take steps to meet it without having the glory of an official title. There are people on this campus who operate in both of these respects—do you know them or are one of them?

To exercise a vote or to express an opinion are such basic responsibilities that they should need no mention. The depth of responsibility needed and possible is the action of a constructive concern and a willingness to lose the self in a task needing thought and work. As we examine why we are doing things, it is a good idea to take an appraisal of what it is we are doing and the way in which we are going about it.

—Connie Bondurant

CAMPBELL SPEAKS OF U. S. NEED FOR ACTIVE PACIFISM

Helen Anne Easterly

Marine recruiters on campus the other day were heard to mutter, "I wish these students would stop asking me about pacifism and the chaplaincy. I don't know a thing about either."

Such was the aftermath of a discussion on pacifism, led by Dr. E. Fay Campbell, college chaplain, at the October 8 meeting of Student Volunteers. This particular remark stems from the interest of certain students in the role of a pacifist in the armed forces: Is it cricket for a pacifist to enter the chaplaincy? Dr. Campbell's answer to this particular question mentioned the fact that an Armed Forces chaplain need not bear arms, and is there not to further the war but to care for the people.

Dr. Campbell opened the discussion by giving a brief history of the pacifist movement in twentieth-century America: Although the first-century Christians were almost entirely pacifistic, the only American groups to be uniformly pacifist were the "plain people"—the Amish and similar Christian groups. But World War I brought a revival of pacifism in the western world. The Pacifist Movement grew up in England, in the belief that the world war was only a struggle for power, having nothing to do with idealism. American students in such youth movements as Student Christian Movement, YMCA, and World Student Christian Federation were under strong Pacifist influence during the years 1915-1925.

Around 1930, with the rise of Hitler, the complexion of the peace movement changed. The old liberalism, based on the idea that man could solve the problems of the world through the use of the Christian ethic, gave way to a period of despair. Such men as Reinhold Niebuhr, who was at that time the leading American Pacifist, was among those who changed from that point of view to the "neo-orthodox" — more fundamental, more Biblical, and, with these changes, more expedient. Another theologian who decided that man was not capable of solving world problems was Karl Barth. The absolute pacifist ethic no longer seemed practical; these theological leaders now held the position that ethical compromise was essential, that no course of action was absolutely infallible. They supported the principle of "high-minded, intelligent, courageous expediency . . . the best we can do." Many students were persuaded, through the efforts of these and other men, to give up their "naive" pacifism.

During World War II, Protestantism was dominated by the view that the Christian could have no ethical absolute. Dietrich Bonhoeffer, another eminent theologian, left Union Seminary for Germany after a reversal of his pacifist views; he was killed by the Hitler regime shortly before the end of the war. So thorough was the reversal of Bonhoeffer's viewpoint that he was, before his death, one of a group who attempted an assassination of Hitler.

Cont'd. Page 6

Cabbages and Kings

On the way over to the dining hall the other day the Walrus and I were swapping tall tales, and he came up with one that he swears is true. He says that two Swedish seamen told him the story once in the middle of the Arctic Ocean—a rather doubtful statement since the location of the tale is in East Tennessee.

Nevertheless, the story concerns a Tennessee farmer who had a watermelon patch. One night, just as the watermelons were getting ripe, he heard a noise. "Ah, ha," he thought, springing to his feet and grabbing his shotgun, "There's somebody in my watermelon patch." He crept down the path, and there in the moonlight he saw a man with a knife cutting open his largest watermelon.

The farmer was just getting ready to pull the trigger, when to his surprise, the stranger fell down on his knees and cried, "O Lord I thank 'ee kindly for the watermelon, but I'd be mighty obliged if You'd provide a little tad of salt."

I didn't get a chance to laugh at the Walrus' story, however, because we were by then in the dining hall, and the chimes had rung.

* * * * * *

The Walrus and I attended the Gay Nineties Revue, and as we left I asked him, "How did you like it?"

"It was good," he said, "except for Stanley's African Pygmies —they looked so sad. I wonder why they were unhappy? "Perhaps," he added after a short pause, "perhaps they were so small that they Got Stepped On."

* * * * * *

At this time, my public-spirited friend the Walrus would like to make a pronouncement:

"A newspaper," he declares (as he climbs on his soapbox), "is the voice of the people. The Echo, therefore, is the voice of the campus. But, as is implied by the name, the Echo is not one voice speaking alone, but a chorus of voices that echo and re-echo.

"In short, my friends, the editor of this paper would appreciate hearing the voices and opinions of the student body, faculty, and staff. These voices, moreover, should not shout at her (especially across campus during rush-to-class-hours), but should take the form of Letters To The Editor.

"I hope you will take this message to heart," continues the Walrus (as he climbs down from his soapbox), "For our editor is most unhappy when she doesn't get any letters—and it is a sad thing to see an editor cry."

* * * * * *

(Carpenter's Note) My friend the Walrus has put his tusk in his mouth again, to quote an old expression. For no sooner were the above words out of his typewriter than lo! a letter appeared. And it is a good thing to see an editor laugh.

Contributors Column

UNIVERSAL FALL

Sitting across from—Being next to—
Walking along with—
Not knowing—
How to say—

Knowing only that my heart is full,
While strings of memories within my head
Are tangled up in fears that leave them dumb;
No melody to make another dance.

Feeling lonely, being far away
Lonelier still to know that if two souls
Are parting now, the memories will die
Leaving graves forgotten and no tears.

Remembering—spring started with a walk;
The first of many violets and skies,
Rainbows painted with the brush of love;
Colors blending in companionship.

Crying, fearing violets have died
And pinks and yellows hardened in the brush.
Wanting to sing, and walk, and paint again;
Afraid that now too late—not knowing how.

Knowing only
Feeling lonely
Remembering
And crying.

—Lynn Herring

Cont'd. Page 3

Library Features World Newsmap

Notice the large detailed map of the world on display in the library? If you haven't be sure and make a point of doing so soon, for it's a recent innovation by the library for the purpose of keeping Maryville students informed of international and national news. This "Newsmap of the Week" contains an analysis of the important happenings of the past week, and points out their geographical locations on the map.

Modern man is not becoming sinless; he is just becoming lacking in the sense of sin.
—Church of England's Archbishop of York

Scots and Soda

by Dave Marston

Football is bigger than ever. Last year's mediocre season was followed by an organizational shake-up in every branch of the Maryville College family tree. Even in the Big Ten, most schools are content to change coaches after a bad year. Not Maryville—we changed presidents. Then, being a Christian college, we hired a chaplain and inserted an invocation in our football program. Next, we called up a new coach from our farm system at William and Mary. And rumor has it that athletic scholarships are on the way—they're not giving out convertibles yet, but they are giving the ball players an extra half-pint of milk at every meal, and that's a start.

Under this vigorous program, Maryville football has made visible progress. Previously, most fellows didn't bother to get dates for the game—very few girls could grasp the justification for that man in our backfield who kept throwing his flag, and boys figured it was easier to go stag than explain why they kept taking the ball from us.

This year is different. Even a girl can understand 34-0. At least most girls can—the one I was next to thought we should take on U.T. next week. Her date suggested we'd better wait till after Thanksgiving—or we might not have anything left to be thankful for. They say success justifies itself—maybe not, but it sure is a lot more fun to talk about.

And some people get carried away talking about it. If you're seeing visions of Cotton Bowls in that pep rally smoke, here's a sure cure: drop by the infirmary and watch the boys taking their flu shots. No doubt about it—they're human. Yesterday a halfback who ran circles around 250-pound linemen passed out cold when a 120-pound nurse pinched his arm. And the big tackle next in line took one look at the play and shot the gap for the door. Remember though—discretion is the better part of valor.

Last down: The other day in practice, the quarterback set up in a Formation Right. The halfback took the ball across the right side, only to be hit with terrific force by the defensive guard, tackle and end. The back went down and out. When the smoke finally cleared, Coach Baird was right there, demanding to know what play had been called. The back rubbed his battered head. "I don't know, Coach," he groaned. "Must have been a Cremation Right."

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

For lack of an epic talent and a mind that can long pursue a single thought, I would like to offer some observations on the water that has passed under or over the bridge (depending on the state of your independent study) since that glorious day that ushered in the academic year.

Most of us who are in our third or fourth year have no doubt noticed a gradual improvement in the morning chapel service. This year our leaders seem to be continuing the past progress with even greater sincerity and conscientious effort. I for one would like to express my appreciation to the students and faculty who have started us off each morning with a thoughtful and inspiring meditation.

* * * * * *

The Annual Convocation address by our president put into words attitudes and ideas we had already seen in action as we have observed Dr. Copeland in the pursuit of his duties from the floor of the Intramural Gym to the conference table. I thank you sir for your interest in us.

* * * * * *

The "Y" prayer meeting "Time Out" is a very rewarding and strengthening experience for care-worn students.

* * * * * *

With the many elections we have on our campus it might be well for us to remember that supporting our leaders involves more than wearing campaign buttons.

R. Blair Moffett

CONTRIBUTORS COLUMN, Cont'd.

INHUMANITY?

As years repeat like ditto marks, a weary mother mutely moaned her war-starved child and echoed age-old lamentations:
"man's inhumanity to man!"

Bolting up, she knocked the pile of bones from off her lap
and beat her empty, withered breasts and cried for all that justice which was never there.
"man's inhumanity to man!"

And thus it's always been,
and thus it will be too.
Mankind's exodus . . . mankind's
Egypt, so daily tabloids scream with fright and profit . . .
THOUSANDS GASSED AT AUSCHWITZ!
"man's inhumanity to man!"

Creator-destroyer, antithetical man . . .
so many endless opposites
find haven in your heart, all lovely Combinations . . .
Lost in separation.
And yet your glossy religions still condemn with trumped up charges.
"man's inhumanity to man!"

Ah, only a play on words . . .
to be taken with a grain of understanding.

—R. Craig Snyder

LETTER RECEIVED FROM DR. LLOYD

(The following paragaphs are excerpts from a letter from President Emeritus Lloyd, who is on a four connected with his duties as President of the World Presbyterian Alliance.)

Yaounde, Cameroun
27 September 1961

There has not been much time to write since we left Accra. It was night on the 12th when we reached Lagos, Nigeria, to find that we were due in Enugu, five hundred miles away, as guests of Sir Francis Ibiam, Governor of Eastern Nigeria — and Mrs. Lloyd to speak to a group of women invited by Lady Ibiam from various parts of the country — next country — next afternoon, but no plane going for two days. After much effort by the Superintendent of Methodist work in Nigeria (there is no Presbyterian work in Lagos) we took a plane early next morning to Port Harcourt and rented a taxi to drive two hundred miles to Enugu, arriving in a blinding rain an hour late, but found the women patiently waiting in the elegant new Governor's mansion, where we spent the night. Next morning the Governor sent us in his car (one of his cars) fifty miles to a mission center on what proved the beginning of a week of travel in jeeps and station wagons over some of the world's roughest roads, to schools, colleges, hospitals, leper colonies, and churches, both of us speaking once or twice or three times each day, sleeping at a different place, with different mosquitoes, each night. Two nights we spent with doctors at leper colonies, at one of which I spoke to five hundred in an evening service where the "organ" was a brass band of lepers. One night at a Nigerian teachers college representatives of eight tribes put on eight tribal dances with great vigor (out doors in paint and headdress and spears), after which I addressed them concerning the elements of good teaching! Finally we came to Calabar, made famous by the biographies of Mary Slessor of Calabar.

We then made an unscheduled flight from Calabar to Tiko in the British Cameroons (which becomes part of Cameroun October 1 — we will attend celebrations here) to visit with officers of the Church there; chartered a plane and flew to Cameroun, saving a back-tracking of seven hundred miles to Lagos, the only city from which commercial airlines fly from Nigeria to Cameroun. We spent the night in Douala and flew here to Yaounde, the capital.

Monday and Tuesday we spent in Elat, where Fred Hope is still famous. Tomorrow we go to Libamba to Cameroun Christian College. We will not see the Goulds; they are far from here and temporarily away from Momjepom, which also is a two-day trip from here. We have a note from them.

This is the rainy season — downpours each day and night, making roads often impassable. We were lucky to get through the 110 miles from Elat yesterday. We go by train — the one R.R. — tomorrow.

Next Tuesday we fly to Brazzaville and Wednesday to Johannesburg if we are not detained in Congo.

Cordially,
Ralph W. Lloyd

IN EVERY PRICE RANGE

Perfect For The Homecoming Game!

Whether you prefer elegant orchids, or fragrant carnations, we can meet your specifications at a price that will please.

Call or see our Campus Representative

REMEMBER TO SEE US –

Hartmans Flowers

982-7500 333 E. Broadway

Citizenship And Responsibility

by Bill Schanefelt

Unfortunately, all too often each of us finds himself dwelling only in his own little corner of his own little world. Fortunately we also ocasionally experience the satisfaction, the sense of direction, and the feeling of achievement which comes when we drift out of our little corner and work to expand our position in the totality that is life. As has often been said, college is a place to grow. Our years in college are the most productive and formative of our lives. In order to most effectively grow during these years, we must expose ourselves to all of the opportunities afforded us by this world of which we are, by nature of our very existence, citizens.

Under the sponsorship of Student Council and the Y's, a series of seminars has been set up for the purpose of helping every one of us in this college community to step a little farther out of his corner and grow in the understanding of his responsibilities as a citizen of this world.

The first of these study seminars has been framed to examine and explore the relationship which the Christian student should have toward the International Communist Movement.

A premise has been drawn up which states our position and our reason for forming such a seminar, and from which our study will proceed. This premise wa drawn up for two reasons. The first reason being that the fundamental tenets of the Soviet brand of Communism refute most of the assumptions upon which our government and our faith are based. The second being that in reaction to International Communism, certain organs and organizations seem to be acting out of a zeal which is backed by little real understanding. The group's premise is as follows: "The communistic political ideologies which are practiced today by the countries of the 'Eastern Political Bloc' constitute a grave challenge to the historical heritage and religious beliefs of the countries of our own 'Western World'. Therefore it should be the duty of every mature thinking Christian to better inform himself concerning the theories of this challenge and the relationship of these theories to his own Christian-democratic beliefs, in order that he may more effectively witness to and advance the Gospel of Jesus Christ."

Longfellow, commenting on character, said, "In this world a man must either be anvil or hammer." Which are we . . . or more important, which WILL we be?

SOCIETY NEWS

"All right everybody, number 3, NUMBER THREE! Ready? Go!" Sound familiar? It should if you have been in the Chi Beta, Kappa Phi card section at a couple of the bail games. The card section has really added a lot of spirit and fun to these games. Thanks goes to Jane Hickey and Jim Kring who planned and led the group.

We welcome the new Chi Beta pledges, and are looking forward to a good year with them. In addition to the pledges, we welcome other new members, Phyllis Boone, LeAnn Luttrell, and Carol Sue McNabb.

Tonight there will be a business meeting in the New Dorm basement at 6:15. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Next week, October 21, Mrs. Sarah B. McNiell will speak to the group on the topic "Sex and Courtship." A question and answer period will follow her talk. This

Cont'd. Page 5

THE BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES

*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

*CHECK ACCOUNTS

*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS

*TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

THUMBS UP!

By John Mitchell

I hope some of you freshmen and other new students now have a better understanding of the name of this column, but evidently our football team thought we meant "Thumbs Down!" to our first two opponents. I certainly hope they keep that attitude.

I was glad to see our brown and white canine friend marching with the band again this year. He appears to have picked up quite a knowledge of such things over the past few years. I'm going to sign him up when he starts singing "The Star-Spangled Banner."

A word of praise goes to the band for their performance during the halves, and the majorettes have become a first class group.

From the grandstand viewpoint our success can be attributed to two factors: the linemen have maintained excellent blocking and tackling, and the runners never stopped running until they were put on the ground. Now let's work on some pass defense.

I noticed Centre's coach had on a gold coat. Orange and garnet, Mr. Baird?

A prophet rated Maryville a 3.5 favorite over Centre. Whot Hoppened? In the third quarter Centre got to our ten yard line, but the unholy seven went in, and four plays later they had twenty-four yards to go for a first down.

I was glad to see Eddie Bruce "eat" a few balls rather than risk a bad pass.

If you want to see something fierce, stand at the fence and watch the linemen make their initial contact. Who was it that hit the Georgetown center when they tried to kick their first extra point? Gene Smith seems to take keen delight in crashing through from lineback position to slam someone to the ground.

There was a new sound at the game last week, cor-rect—n—rosy.

A recent sports article said it was time C-N got some bounces. Maybe we can give them a few. By the way, they finally won a game — and it was impressive.

Men who have been initiated into flag football, I quote a line from the last issue of the Echo: "The main purpose . . . is, of course (definitely), to cut down as much as possible on the injuries resulting from playing." Comments, anyone?

At least in some fields the Yanks are ahead of the Reds. Has there been any pronouncement on the Americanness or lack thereof concerning a group quite prominent on the sports pages right now?

WOMEN'S SPORTS

By Jeanne Price

Women's Intramurals at Maryville College are an important part of our curriculum, and I feel should be worked in our co-ed's schedule. Often I've heard repeated, "I don't possibly have the time for WAA," or "Oh, but I'm not at all the athletic type," and still others plead "I don't need athletics." Now girls, the two hours you spend in WAA every week you'll end up wasting regardless, and to you who claim you are not athletic, come out and learn to the best of your ability how to play some sports. To those of you who declare you don't need the athletics, I'll say if you want to stay that perfect 115: 35—23—35 for that certain Mister Wonderful, then you'd better come to the gym on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

During the course of a typical, eventful day the normal student becomes frustrated, confused, angry and humiliated many times. A very good outlet for these built-up emotions can become the volley ball, soccer ball, badmitten birdie or basketball.

Beginning Tuesday, October 7, horseshoes set the season off to a good start, reported Anna Baker. The societies will begin clashing as volley ball will get into full swing this Tuesday. It is hoped there will be enough girls representing both Chi Beta and Theta to have six teams. Everyone's spirit and co-operation will be needed for a successful volley ball season, which will continue for two weeks. All semester interesting sports each week make their appearence. Possibly a field day with another college will be arranged. Points are given for each sport, and these points are accumulated throughout the year. Any person acquiring a total of 400 points by the end of the spring semester, will be invited to join the seventeen lively co-eds on campus who comprise the Women's M Club.

The M Club gals are now planning to spend the weekend of October 21 at Cades Cove, deep in the Smokies, along with their advisors Miss Leslie and Mrs. Largen. Retreats like this are anxiously awaited for each fall and spring, and members start smelling steaks and tasting som'mors. In the last issue of the Echo the names of Peggy Williams and Mary Biggs were unintentionally ommitted from the list of M Club members.

We are indeed very fortunate on our campus to have an intramural program as WAA, which offers such a variety of sports. In order to live in our world today leadership, respect for others and unselfishness are necessary for a person to have a happy life. Through an effective sports program individuals are helped to develop these characteristics.

WE GOT THE TEAM

By Chuck Spencer

The Maryville College Scots, rated highly by both professional and amateur, have met the pre-season expectations not only by winning both of the opening games but also by doing it with good form.

With bells ringing and students cheering, the Scots opened the season with a 34-0 victory over Centre College. Under the expert signal calling of Eddie Bruce, Denny Mobbs, and Jack Moore, the team ran up a total of 333 yards, of which 132 were in the air. The throwing arms of the field generals accounted for three touchdowns and set up another.

Maryville threatened to score the first time they had the ball, but a fumble on the Centre forty ended the drive. But on the next series they marched to the Centre twenty-two yard line, where Eddie Bruce and Ron Lingenfelter teamed up for the score. Jim Renfro's kick was wide; so the quarter ended with the Highlanders leading 6-0.

Shortly after the second period began, Donnie Phelps took the ball and ran forty-three yards down the sidelines for the touchdown after Gary Dutton threw the deciding block. Al Ries's goal was good. With only thirty seconds left in the half, Bruce hit Lingenfelter again for the third score, and this time for thirty-two yards. Tyson McClanahan scored two points on an end run, and the Scots took a 21-0 halftime lead back to the dressing room.

The majority of the third quarter was played between the thirty yard lines with the defense stealing the show. The final quarter was a different story. A pass from Mobbs to Bobby Oxendine put the ball on the Centre one. Then Ries took a hand-off and plunged over for a score.

The final points came with only thirty seconds remaining in the game. Moore passed to freshman Dan Besch, who made a fine diving catch. Renfro added the final point to bring the total to 34-0.

It would be hard to single out any particularly outstanding players in this game, but it would be hard for anyone to miss the passing of Eddie Bruce, the running of Ken Berry and Donnie Phelps, the pass receiving of Ron Lingenfelter and Dan Besch, and the red-dogging tactics of Gene Smith. The whole team was a first class, first-down team.

The Scots also scuttled Georgetown in the second game, though it did not come as easy as the first. Wilbur Ramsey opened the scoring by grabbing a high and short punt on the Tiger eighteen and running the remainder of the way to score. Jim Renfro kicked the point. In the second quarter Tom Bowers made a thirty-five yard score after Bruce passed to him, and Lingenfelter ran for the two extra points.

In the third quarter the lead was lengthened to twenty-one points on a ten yard run by Lingenfelter. The Tigers then came to life after remembering they could pass too and quickly made fourteen points. But late in the game Bill Owenby blocked a kick, and Smith recovered it in the end zone. With Owenby leading the defense, the Scots stopped a final threat by Georgetown.

The Scots looked good in the first half, but a weakening pass defense in the second half cast some shadow on their success. And, no doubt, Emory and Henry took notice. The team does look good, but still has some tough games ahead.

To know that we know what we know, and that we do not know what we do not know what we do not know, that is true knowledge. — Confucius

Co-ed Intramurals?

Recently an intramural council was organized for the purpose of promoting co-educational sports activities. The intention is not to replace the separate programs of the men and the women, but to supplement them. The aim is more interest, participants, and variety in intramurals, and the idea is strictly on a trial basis. Co-ed volleyball, tennis, horseshoes, badminton, and such as that are under consideration, and even the possibility of intramural dancing—particularly in the way of a dance contest including both social and modern dance.

Faculty sponsors are Miss Leslie and Mr. Kardatzke. Representatives were chosen from the societies, the town students, and the president of the Women's "M" Club and are as follows: Charlie Vaughan, Jim Coup, John Mitchell, Ron Howes, Terry Brustar, Ginna Coon, Micki Patterino, Nancy Magill, Tom Crawford, and Nancy Kinsman. If you like the idea or have any suggestions, let these people know about it.

Results of the tennis tournament are as follows: A-Bracket — Owers over Marx (6-1, 6-3); B-Bracket — Greenawalt over Hill (6-4, 6-3); Doubles — Owers and Grote over Johnston and Nooe (6-2, 6-4).

Football has been under way only one week, but we do have these results: Sig Hammers 6 (Scheideler) — Sig Ball Peen Hammers 0; Sig Sledgehammers 6 (Petty) — Bandits 6 (Stinnett); Phi Knights 20 (Brown, Garrett, Murchison; extra points, Meneely and Mitchell) — Sig Ball Peen Hammers 7 (Moore; extra point, Tomkin); Sig Sledgehammers 6 (Petty) — Sig Hammers 6 (Fiedler).

If there is adequate interest, a bowling league will be created next semester. At least twenty men are needed.

*Homemade Pies
*Breakfast Anytime
*Complete Short Order Menu
*Hol 'n One Donuts & Fine Coffee

FREE DELIVERY
on Orders of $5.00 or More

YOUR 24 HOUR HOST – WE NEVER CLOSE
Broadway Downtown 982-1541

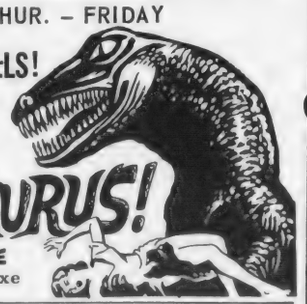
THE COFFEE HOUSE

Dial 1400

Enjoy The Best CAPITOL THEATRE Adm. .35 – .60

SUN. – MON. – TUE.

JERRY'S BIGGEST, BROADEST, FUNNIEST EVER!



Jerry Lewis as The Ladies Man???

Co-starring HELEN TRAUBEL
KATHLEEN FREEMAN • HOPE HOLIDAY • LYNN ROSS

Technicolor®

WED. – THUR. – FRIDAY

ALIVE WITH THRILLS!

JACK H. HARRIS' production of DINOSAURUS!
CINEMASCOPE
COLOR by DeLuxe

COLUMBIA PICTURES PRESENTS COMING SOON

GREGORY PECK · DAVID NIVEN
ANTHONY QUINN in CAROL FOREMAN'S
THE GUNS OF NAVARONE

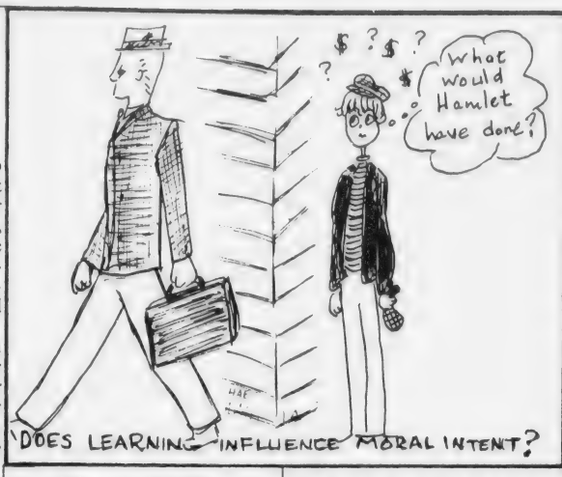
COLOR AND CINEMASCOPE

To sustain the tremendous suspense, see it from the beginning.

Applications For Fulbright Awards Now Being Accepted

Only a short time remains to apply for over 700 Fulbright scholarships for graduate study or research in 31 countries in Europe, Latin America and the Asia-Pacific areas, The Institute of International Education has announced. Applications will be accepted until November 1.

Applications for Inter-American Cultural Convention awards for study in Latin America, and for awards for study in Ireland under the Scholarship Exchange Program between the U.S. and Ireland have the same filing deadline.



Recipients of Fulbright awards will receive tuition, maintenance and round-trip travel. The terms of awards to Ireland are the same as those for the Fulbright grants. IACC scholarhips cover transportation, tuition and partial maintenance costs.

Fulbright Travel Grants to supplement maintenance and tuition scholarships awarded from other sources are also available to American students receiving awards for study and|or research in universities in Austria, Denmark, France, Germany, Israel, Italy and The Netherlands.

General eligibility requirements for these programs are: 1) U.S. citizenship at time of application; 2) a bachelor's degree or its equivalent before the beginning date of the award; 3) knowledge of the language of the host country; and 4) good health. A demonstrated capacity for independent study and a good academic record are expected. Preference is given to applicants under 35 years of age who have not previously lived or studied abroad.

Applicants will be required to submit a plan of proposed study that can be carried out profitably within the year abroad. Successful candidates are required to be affiliated with approved institutions of higher learning abroad.

Students may write to the Information and Counseling Division, Institute of International Education, 800 Second Avenue, New York 17, New York, or to any of IIE's regional offices.

Why Freshmen Fail

by Sharon Ruggles

The following is a very brief summation of a rather noteworthy article appearing in the September issue of the Atlantic Monthly (which should be of particular interest to freshmen college students) entitled "Why Freshman Fail" by Harold G. Ridlon, assistant professor of English at Tufts University in Massachusetts.

According to Professor Ridlen, although colleges primarily admit only the cream of the crop, the dropout rate among freshmen is increasing steadily. Reasons for freshmen ineffectiveness appear to fall under two categories: skills and attitudes.

Firstly, and most mportant, good reading skills are essential for success in studies. However, most freshmen fail to get out of the reading what they should get. Speed, too, is vitally important in good reading skills, as is broad reading as opposed to deep reading; and also flexibility among sources is equally essential. Nevertheless, most freshmen, due to a deficiency in secondary school training, lack these reading skills.

Another slightly less important skill is that of listening constructively. This is an obvious weakness among all ages, but particularly the entering student.

And thirdly, "candid, dispassionate, objective thinking," meaning distinction between the important and the unimportant is a basic skill every student should possess.

Concerning attitudes which constitute failure, the author states that conflicts between the aims of the high school and those of the college inflict pains upon the stu- from "unwholesome conceptions of the relationship between self and society." Nevertheless, even though the dropout rate is increasing, the greater majority of freshmen survive their first year and are likely even to find it pleasurable.

Therefore, both college and parent can help the entering student, the college through a reading and study improvement course, and the parent by not imposing psychological burdens on the child the importance of frequent letters home should not be overemphasized due to severe demands already placed on the new student.

But, by and large, the author is trying to convey the point that "self development" is the real significance of college experience, and without this, grades are of only secndary importance. Courage, insight, and responsiveness then are the primary goals to be attained.

I Was Just Thinking . .

by Patty Johnson
from FAMILY WEEKLY

This is the top of the world and the dark heaven no higher than a heartbeat.

On such a plateau as this, Keats might have lain and from his exquisite mind produced a perfect sonnet. On such grass a man might stand and achieve greatness in the soft sigh of this night wind.

Here at the world's end and the beginning of the universe is a wreath of trees in single blossoms. And here the daily coming of the ant is as significant as the seeking and finding of those who crush it beneath their feet. For there is no distinction at this pinnacle among any of us and the least is mighty as the giant.

On this spot on this night, majesty descends like a coronet of stardust. It is somehow fitting that the glory is dimmed by the sweep of clouds and transcended by the flicker of lightning.

The top of the world is a dark pearl set in baguettes of brilliance. And one of them is the pool of a filling station and one the shaft of a factory and one the stammered repetition of neon on a truck stop. But they are soundless dreams, only a trick tired eyes play upon themselves, only the remembered mortality of a weary brain.

It seems a travesty to confess that this place for poetry, this fantasy drawn by night and signed by the stars, is the first tee on a golf course. It is a kind of admission of the inadequate to reveal the presence of a country club down the hill. But it is so, perhaps better so. This night, this finale are, above all, things resplendent with honesty.

Nor is there any pretense between the ant and the man above him and this affinity for the infinite given both of them.

For what is man that thou art mindful of him?

DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands
OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You
Featuring a Fine Stock
of Quality Products Including
a Complete Variety of Cheeses.
DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Washington Avenue

ALWAYS HAPPY TO SERVE YOU. . .
We feature the finest names in quality college supplies from pencils to furnishings for your room.
Let us help you before you buy.
SEE US FOR ALL YOUR HALLOWEEN PARTY NEEDS
McCAMMONS
108 E. Broadway Your Hallmark Headquarters

Parks-Belk
Home of Better Values
MARYVILLE'S FINEST
Shop In Our Sportswear Department

MURPHY-WEST MOTOR CO.
CHEVROLET OLDSMOBILE

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK
218 COURT STREET
RSV Bible – Dummelow Commentary
New English Bible – Westminster Bible Dictionary
Just Arrived
Christian Ethics for Practical Living
MARYVILLE STUDENTS ALWAYS WELCOME

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure
Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.
SEYMOUR'S
Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

Always Look Your Best
See us for all your Dry Cleaning Needs
MARYVILLE Cleaners
SEE YOUR DORMITORY AGENT

SOCIETY NEWS, Cont'd.

meeting will also be at 6:15 in the New Dorm basement.

It's time to start looking forward to the annual Chi Beta banquet. Joan Creadick, chairman, is planning the event for November.

* * * * * *

The Big Thing in Theta's future is the overnight slumber party at Laurel Lake on November 4 and 5. The girls will leave late Saturday afternoon and return in time for Sunday dinner.

First, though, there is a lot of work to do on the Alpha Sigma-Theta Epsilon Homecoming float. The old members will be getting plenty of help on the float from the Freshman pledges, who will be working for part of the hours required for membership.

In sports, horseshoes started October 10, and volleyball will begin on October 17. All those interested in playing football should keep an eye open for practice signs and then support their society on a team.

Texans Ban Texts As "Communist"

(The following article is a press release, not expressive of the opinions of a majority of thinking Americans.)

AUSTIN, TEXAS (UPS). — Two patriotic groups, Texans for America and the Daughters of the American Revolution, have objected to several grade school and high school texts because of their communistic and socialistic influence on Texas school chidren.

Among the books the State Textbook Committee was asked to reject is a high school history text by a Southern Methodist University professor. J. Evetts Haley, a leader of Texans for America, objected to the book on the grounds that its author had "Communist-front connections." According to the publisher of the text in question, the organization Haley mentioned is not on the Attorney General's list of subversive groups.

The written objection to the book read in part: "We further object to this book because recognized authorities on subversion have pointed out that statements, associations and affiliations of the above named writers (mentioned in the text) have called their loyalties into question."

The statement listed the following "questionable" writers: Sherwood Anderson, Maxwell Anderson, Stephen Benet, Ralph Bunche, Aaron Copeland, Bruce Bliver, Jr., Henry S. Commager, Charlie Chaplin, Theodore Dreiser, W. E. Dodd, A. Einstein, William Faulkner, Dorothy Canfield Fisher, Ernest Hemingway, Sinclair Lewis, Allan Nevins, Eugene O'Neill, Paul Robeson, Upton Sinclair, Ida M. Tarbell, Carl Sandburg and Willa Cather.

The publisher, in rebuttal, said: "The persons listed here were selected for inclusion on the basis of their stature in their chosen fields. Their political philosophy was in no way involved."

He also pointed out that, "To discuss, for example, American literature, without mentioning Theodore Dreiser, Eugene O'Neill, Sherwood Anderson, Sinclair Lewis, Carl Sandburg, Ernest Hemingway, or Willa Cather would be highly misleading to the student."

CAMPBELL. Cont'd.

So Protestantism — the National Council of Churches, the World Council of Churches — was colored, after the second World War, by neo-orthodoxy: theology based on the Bible, but the resulting ethic not absolute.

The emergence, in the past five to ten years, of Martin Luther King as a Negro leader has shattered the idea that pacifism has nothing to say to the modern world. King's complete dependence on non-violent tactics has been so effective against the social evil of racial discrimination as to make modern leaders reconsider. Many leaders have said that in a problem like race relations, pacifism works, but that it is not practical for promoting international peace.

Dr. Campbell expressed the feeling that Martin Luther King's use of Christian pacifism is not based upon its expediency alone. Indeed, "pacifism" based on expediency is not pacifism at all.

Dr. Campbell went on to say that Christian pacifism is connected with the idea of God revealed in Christ through the fellowship of Christians of all races, economies, nationalities — a fellowship at the heart of life, which will in time leaven the whole of society. Sometimes this pacifism will "work" in a given case, and sometimes it will not. The pacifist movement will probably not ever wield great political influence, but it does make a contribution; if one accepts the need of the world for fellowship between those whose central allegiance is to Christ, then there is a need for Christian pacifism. And the movement renders a service, Dr. Campbell added, that is out of all proportion to the number of pacifists.

Violence corrupts, Dr. Campbell said, and if one nation would try pacifism it would work internationally — would rally the human race back to sanity, save it from suicide. People today are afraid, and thus react irrationally; as long as the world wants security, it is doomed. The human race must take a gamble to survive.

When asked what nonviolent action may be taken to promote world peace, Dr. Campbell mentioned the programs of such statesmen as Bowles, Fulbright, and Stevenson for international action. He spoke of three major attitudes of United States citizens today: indifference (and thus, personal extravagance), hopelessness, and anger (giving rise to such movements as the John Birch society). These attitudes, if they continue, he went on, will drag the United States down until we are isolated, a third-rate people. The Christian Church should revitalize the American people.

In any case, Dr. Campbell concluded, the contemporary ethic of "Absolutely no absolutes" is not acceptable to him. There is a place for the man who will stand firm for peace in an active pacifism — in peaceful action based on the world fellowship of Christians. The pacifist movement is not dead; it is active as it was in the early part of our century. E. E. Cummings, poet, and ambulance driver for the allied forces in France during World War I, wrote about a persecuted pacifist in that war:

Christ (of His mercy infinite) i pray to see; and Olaf, too preponderatingly because unless statistics lie he was more brave than me: more blond than you

There is precious little in civilization to appeal to a yeti (abominable snowman).

—Sir Edmund Hillary

ENJOY FINE FOOD HERE!

ALWAYS AT REASONABLE PRICES

College Hill Grill

Otis Atkins, Manager

AT Minton's

Operation Ram Jet

by McGREGOR

Out of flight research zooms "CURON,"* the sensational foam interlining that packs added warmth without weight and drag. McGregor tailors it of rugged rayon and cotton DRIZZLER cloth . . . now guaranteed water-repellent for two full years. Spot and stain resistant, too. A proud achievement! Rib knit collar and cuffs. Zipper front.

DRIZZLER RAM JET $19.95

Minton's

As Homecoming Nears. . .

Remember that flowers convey your message best. We feature the finest in cut flowers and corsages to brighten Homecoming for that special someone.

See our agent on Campus – Bill Schanefelt

Remember to say it with flowers from . . .

HORNE'S FLORIST

215 W. Broadway 982-2690

BOWL FREE!

Saturday, October 21, 9:00-5:00

– MARYVILLE COLLEGE DAY –

All Faculty and Students of Maryville College are invited to bowl free at our all-new lanes.

* Automatic Tele Scores
* Automatic Pin Finders
* Automatic Pin Setters

NO OBLIGATION – NO STRINGS ATTACHED

Just bring your student activity card for your FREE GAME – Shoes Included.

With Party of 8

3 Games – $1.00 (Shoes Free)

Call for Reservation

Ask for

Glen or Yogi

982-4092

CROWN LANES

Knock 'Em Down . . . At Crown!

WON'T WRITE? CALL WHITE

Keep your typewriter working at its best.

White's factory-trained repairmen are at your service.

WHITE OFFICE MACHINES

983-4762

Subscribe Now at Half Price*

You can read this world-famous daily newspaper for the next six months for $5, just half the regular subscription rate.

Get top news coverage. Enjoy special features. Clip for reference work.

Send your order today. Enclose check or money order. Use coupon below.

The Christian Science Monitor P-CN
One Norway St., Boston 15, Mass.

Send your newspaper for the time checked.

☐ 6 months $5 ☐ 1 year $10
☐ College Student ☐ Faculty Member

Name

Address

City Zone State

*This special offer available ONLY to college students, faculty members, and college libraries.

LEMME REIGNS OVER HOMECOMING

Misses Lockett, Lemme, Harris

Miss Sue Lemme, senior English major from Normal, Illinois, is the choice of the student body for homecoming queen. Her attendants are Miss Elsie Harris, senior English major from Pineville, North Carolina, and Miss Lois Lockett, senior physical education major from Knoxville, Tennessee. Miss Lemme will be escorted at the game by Dr. William Wood, president of the Alumni Association. Miss Harris will be escorted by senior class president Lew Pelkey, and Miss Lockett's escort is Bill Schanefelt, vice-president of the student body.

In the homecoming parade, the queen and her attendants will ride on the float designed and built by the senior class.

Miss Lemme, who is vice-president of Theta Epsilon Society, has been active in Student Council activities, the Maryville College Playhouse, and Nu Gamma in YWCA. In 1959 she was freshman attendant in the May Day pageant; in her junior year she was a member of the Daisy Chain. She is a senior counsellor in Pearsons Hall.

Miss Harris, president of YWCA and senior counsellor in Pearsons Hall, has been active in Nu Gamma, Christian Education Club, Chi Beta Society and Women's Choir. Miss Lockett, president of Theta Epsilon society, has been active in Physical Education Club, Women's Athletic Association, and Women's M Club. She is presently engaged in student teaching.

The queen will be presented during the half time, after a band program based on the 1812 Overture. She and her escort, the attendants, and their escorts will ride onto the field by automobile, where Miss Lemme will be crowned queen. She will return to the stands to view the rest of the game from her throne. Other half-time activities include the showing of parade floats on the field, and the awarding of prizes to the winning floats and the winning dormitory for its decorations.

After the game, at a dance sponsored by the senior class, Miss Lemme and her escort will have the first dance alone, while the college dance band plays. The gym will be decorated on a fall theme, with the queen's throne from her float moved into the gym to complete the decorations.

Scots Beat Tennessee 11–0! (See Page 6)

The Highland Echo

Maryville College

Vol. 47 Maryville, Tennessee, October 28, 1961 No. 4

THEME FEATURED IN FLOATS, DORMS IS "NEW RÉGIME"

The annual homecoming parade through downtown Maryville, which begins at 2:30 this afternoon, will feature eight floats, two clowns, the Highlander marching band, and a number of area high school bands. The homecoming queen and her attendants will ride on the senior class float; the president of the Alumni Association, the officers of WSGA, and the cheerleaders will ride in separate cars.

The floats, sponsored by the four classes, the YMCA and the YWCA, and the four societies, will each represent some aspect of this year's theme, "The New Regime." The YM-YW float is built around the theme, "There'll Be Some Changes Made"; Chi Beta, "Scots Will Reign"; Kappa Phi, "Crowned with Success"; Theta Epsilon and Aipha Sigma, "The New Regime Steps In"; the junior class, "In Like A Lion"; the sophomore class, "Expecting Victory"; and the freshman class, "The New Regime Emerges."

After the parade, the floats will be taken to Honaker Field, where they will stay for the remaining homecoming activities.

Judges will be Mrs. Barnett Eby, wife of the pastor of New Providence Presbyterian Church; Mr. Judson Murphy, of the Murphy-West Chevrolet Company; and Mr. C. M. Bailes of City Drug.

Dan Davis, Chairman of the Pep Committee, has been in charge of the preparations and homecoming decorations for the parade and campus.

The dormitory decorations of Baldwin Hall and Pearsons Hall which will also be judged this afternoon represent some aspect of this year's homecoming theme, "The New Regime." The theme of Baldwin Hall is "Past, Present. and Future" while the theme of Pearsons Hall is "Things are looking up."

Judges of the decorations will be Dr. Arda S. Walker, Dr. Carolyn L. Blair, and Mrs. Ann B. Stidham.

Cast Announced For Barnwarming

This year's Barnwarming presentation, Out of the Hat, a magical comedy of magicians and rabbits in a unique town, has been cast as follows: David, David Evans; Melrose, Patt O'Neill; Toby, John Spangler; Gayle. Glenda Gray; Cindy Lu, Lynn Herring; Candy Sue, Janet Smith; Ferdinand, David Styles; Grandpa, Al Mannis: Grandma, Merelee Knott; April, Carole Webster; May, Barbara McCarter; June, Jeannie Paine; Julie, Libby Lee; Mayor Holtzsterne, Harold Laster; Little Red Riding Hood, Arlene Ford.

The play, to be given on Thanksgiving evening, is an original script by Pat Baker, using completely original scores by Janet Kilgard and Sue Bloomer. Lynn Waddington is dramatic director and the technical director is Bruce Jenkins.

There will be Y-Radio coverage of the play on Saturday, November 18.

MESSIAH CHORUS TO SING WITH KNOX SYMPHONY

The Maryville College Messiah Chorus, on invitation, will combine with the Knoxville Symphony in a performance of Handel's Oratorio on Tuesday, December 12th at 8:15 p.m. in the new Knoxville Civic Auditorium. The concert will be for those holding subscription tickets, although single tickets will be sold at the door.

The conductor for this performance will be David Van Vactor, who will be on campus for several of the later rehearsals. Several of the Maryville orchestra members will be a part of the chorus at Knoxville on December 12. The college program, on December 10, will contain the same selections and will feature Maryville soloists; however, the Symphony will provide its own soloists for the Knoxville performance.

This will mark the second combined performance, the first having been in 1958.

MC SPEARHEADS INTERCOLLEGIATE COUNCIL IN '61-'62

According to Sue Quigg, secretary, the newly-formed Intercollegiate Council (ICC) is an organization of small colleges in the area established for the purpose of exchanging ideas and problem solutions, and of promoting cooperation among regional small colleges. Maryville students have been instrumental in the formation of this group. The ICC's first meeting was held on this campus last May; chairman Mike Garrett of Maryville will call this year's first meeting here in November.

In a letter sent out to member schools this summer, Mike made the following proposals concerning the future: 1) That an exchange of student publications be initiated at the beginnig of the 1961-1962 school year; 2) That an ICC display be prepared in individual schools, and that attention be called to these displays through announcements in assembly and/or the school newspaper; 3) That members of the ICC be encouraged to prepare assembly programs that could be presented on other campuses; 4) That interested schools submit a list of projected activities for the 1961-1962 school year, in which they would welcome participation from other campuses; and 5) That two meetings of the Council be held during the coming school year, one to occur early in the first semester, with the hope of acting upon the previous suggestions.

Members of the ICC now include Virginia Intermont, Emory and Henry, Carson-Newman, Milligan, and Maryville. A number of other schools have expressed an interest in the Council, and will be sending delegates to the conference in November.

At the organizational meeting last May, the following pertinent problems were discussed by the delegates: Disinterest in student government and ways to promote interest, judiciary and discipline problems, honor systems, academic emphasis, day student programs, and student-faculty relations.

DELEGATES REPRESENT 250 INSTITUTIONS IN INAUGURAL CEREMONY

All of the colorful symbolism of a presidential inauguration at an old and respected institution was seen this morning as Dr. Joseph J. Copeland formally became the seventh president of Maryville College.

More than 400 persons, including representatives of more than 235 colleges, universities and seminaries, and 16 learned societies marched in the procession. Ministers from the Synod of the Mid-South — latest report at presstime 25 in number—were among those who would march in the procession. Also in the line of march were the Directors, administrators, staff, and College Choir.

Harvard University, founded in 1636, was first in the ranks of delegates, who take their places according to the date of founding of the college or university.

Dr. Joseph E. McCabe, president of Coe College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, delivered the principal address of the morning.

Dr. Joseph J. Copeland spoke briefly after the formal words of inauguration.

The inaugural ceremony program this morning was central to the busy schedule of events which began Thursday evening with a concert by William Warfield and continues through this Saturday night.

Planning for the events and handling the details has been the Inaugural Central Committee. This committee assumed its reponsibilities under the action of the Board of Directors. Serving on this committee have been students, faculty and staff, administrators, and townspeople. Dr. Joe C. Gamble, Chairman of the Board, was among the 21 persons meeting as the committee organized. Through subcommittees, additional persons have been added as necessary.

Dean Frank D. McClelland serves as chairman of this Central Committee. Mrs. Joe C. Gamble serves as vice chairman, and Miss Nancy B. Hunter as secretary.

The Friday evening dinner for directors, students and faculty promised to be among the highlights of the many events. Closed circuit television was to be used

Cont'd. on Page 8

Janice Walters Receives Honor Society Award

Janice Walters, a junior Spanish major from New Jersey, received the Alpha Gamma Sigma Scholarship Award for 1961-62, according to a recent announcement by Mr. Newell Witherspoon, secretary of Alpha Gamma Sigma Scholarhip Honor Society. This award is given at the beginning of the first semester every year to the returning Maryville College junior who has the highest scholastic standing at the completion of the first two years of college.

The award consists of the income earned annually from the Alpha Gamma Sigma Scholarship fund, a fund raised by the Society several years ago and increased from time to time by additional contributions from members of the Society and other interested individuals. This year the amount of the award was $73.75. The award is one of the efforts of the society to foster academic excellence at Maryville.

Membership in Alpha Gamma Sigma Society is open to Maryville College seniors who qualify on the basis of scholastic standing. The requirements for membership are similar to those of Phi Beta Kappa. Ten percent of the graduating class may be admittted provided the members have a grade point ratio of 3.33. A special chapel program is held during the spring semester to recognize the new members of the society.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

MARYVILLE COLLEGE

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Member of University Press Service. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester; $1.75 per year.

Beth Reichardt, Editor

Lynn Herring, Assistant Helen Anne Easterly, News

Pat Baker, Features

John Mitchell, Jeanne Price, Sports Anitra Bard, Exchange

Mike Garrett, Business Manager

Phyllis Deloteus, Assistant Norman Marschner, Circulation

Dr. Carolyn Blair, Mr. Frank Layman, Faculty Advisors

Contributors: Sharon Ruggles, Ellen Dozier, Connie Bondurant, Tom Salmon, Chuck Spencer, Todd Owers, John Gamble, Pat Crossley, Koen Compher, Jean Kelleher, Jeanette Peckham, Alice Stengel, Charlotta Cook, Mary Gay Boettcher, Margaret Dozier, Phil Jerome.

EDITOR'S CHOICE

With Krushchevs and Castros and ourselves to deal with in this modern world, we are desperately in need of a quality that is often sadly lacking — real courage. With our many package deals and brightly-wrapped bundles of pretense, false courage of many types is often able to seep successfully into our fast-moving way of life. We are hard put to tell the difference; and almost afraid to try, lest we uncover our own hypocrisy. John F. Kennedy, in his best-seller Profiles in Courage, rightfully mentions as examples of this false courage such tendencies as fanaticism of certain types, the expression of erratic temperament, and the "inveterate objector" — what, to him, is the man who invariably opposes every measure for the sake of opposition. Consider these in relation to the college campus situation.

To quote Mr. Kennedy: "A nation which has forgotten the quality of courage which in the past has been brought to public life is not as likely to insist upon or reward that quality in its chosen leaders today — and in fact we have forgotten."

Cabbages and Kings

Have you ever seen a jealous walrus? My fine-flippered friend is—and of all things—he's jealous of the sports' page! "They have pictures," he mutters; "they have interviews and athletes of the month. What do we have? Nothing."

And then, yesterday, he was struck by A Great Idea. "I've got it!" he cried, "we shall have an Animal of the Month!"

"Well," I grumbled, "I don't have time to talk to animals. If you want an animal you'll have to find him yourself."

"All right," he said, taping a press card to his right tusk. "I shall."

And he did.

ANIMAL OF THE MONTH

by The Walrus

CHILI

The following is an interview between myself and the Echo Animal of the Month Chili.

Walrus: Chili, you have just been chosen animal of the month.

Chili: Bow wow! !

Walrus: Would you mind speaking English, please. Most of the people don't understand Dogish.

Chili: Not at all. I was just saying, "Thank you."

Walrus: If you don't mind, I'd like to ask you a few questions. First of all, in case some people don't know, who belongs to you?

Chili: My special human is Miss Ware—but (Here he modestly lowered his eyes) I rather like to think of all the people on campus as being my adopted humans.

Walrus: And how long have you been here?

Chili: Since September a year ago, and if I may add, there is no place else I've been in my 1½ years of life that I've liked as well.

Walrus: What are some of the things you like to do best?

Chili: Eat, most of all. I have two meals a day, brunch and supper, and I eat only meat—stewed beef and chicken are my favorites. My human (Miss Ware) always makes me take vitamin pills, too. And then when I'm not eating I like to sleep—preferably in the back of the closet. I sleep with a "Blue Monkey"—a little stuffed toy Anne Nakamura gave me—it's worn out several covers and Mrs. Buchanan made some more to replace the old ones.

Walrus: Don't you ever have any recreation?

Chili: I was just coming to that. My favorite games are ball and jumping. And—oh, yes, there are two other sports: chase-the-pigeons and chase-the-squirrels. Then, there's one game I play with humans called please-scratch-me-behind-the-ears.

Walrus: Well, thank you. I guess that's all, unless you have something else to say.

Chili: (Wistfully) I was going to tell you about my vacations.

Walrus: Go ahead.

Chili: You remember my assistant human Chester who used to take me out for ball games so much? Well, he's had an operation and hasn't been to work for a while. But the last two week-ends I've gone to visit him. It's been quite a treat—though, of course, it's wonderful coming back here again—I love this place.

Walrus: Any words you'd like to address to the campus?

Chili: What about to the football team?

Walrus: All right.

Chili: BEAT 'EM, SCOTS! !

Letter To The Editor

This is the end! For the last time have I missed an important meeting! For the last time have I been told, "well it was announced in chapel this morning," while being given that semi-sarcastic sneer which can only mean, "what's the matter, weren't you paying attention?" I feel I must speak out.

It seems that the few minutes which Dean McClelland devotes each morning to the reading of announcements is the unofficially designated time among the student body for sneezing, coughing, clearing the throat, greeting long lost chums, coordinating last week's assignments, conniving next week's dates, placing books under seats, and, in general, creating a constant little buzz of confusion.

If, indeed, a note of importance should filter through this hum to interested students, they immediately add to the din by commenting on their new knowledge to all and sundry, which in turn leads to a chorus of "Huh? What'd he say?", regarding following announcements. The result is that many notes go unnoticed.

Rather than deprive my fellow students of this stimulating exercise in sound-sifting (which serves as a second alarm clock to some), I have a suggestion. Let the announcements be read as usual, but . . . In addition, let them be typed and posted on the bulletin board next to the bookstore. (Their volume is never so great that this could not be done by not later than "B" hour.) Doing this will not only make the announcements available to be checked and rechecked for times and places by students with not very acute hearing, but will also put to some regular use a very good bulletin board which seems to serve largely a decorative purpose.

I hope this slight exaggeration of a very definite problem will cause corrective steps to be taken soon.

—J. L. P.

CAMPUS SURVEY MADE CONCERNING USE OF SUNDAY

Editor's Note: A survey was taken in connection with the work of the Religious Life and Activities Committee which is dealing with the use of Sunday on our campus. These are the opinions of students and faculty concerning the question: Do you think athletic facilities should be open on Sunday afternoon?

Sue Bloomer: All those activities that do not involve supervision should be opened. Because Sunday should be a day of relaxation, people should not have to work; if such places as the swimming pool were open this would be necessary. The Fine Arts Center should be open.

Larry Mease: Yes. Athletics give people relaxation on Sunday which they don't have time for on other days because of study.

Joyce Hutchinson: Yes. We should have leisure activities for athletic use. The practice rooms in the Fine Arts Center should be open in the afternoon for a few hours.

Bess Ellis: No. I don't think it is necessary. It is not in accord with the principles of the school.

Dr. Briggs: If given the right setting and understanding, it would be all right—with intelligent uses, yes.

Cont'd. on Page 3

Scots and Soda

by Dave Marston

In a recent survey, 57 percent of Maryville's students said they attend breakfast regularly, 34 percent indicated they never go to breakfast, and 6 percent were undecided. (The remaining 3 percent replied that they hated sack lunches, which is an interesting response, but cannot be considered relevant to this survey.) So barely half the student body goes — What's wrong with breakfast?

To start with, if it were a television show, we would say breakfast has a bad time slot. It comes about three hours after bedtime, two hours before time to get up, and it's still dark and cold outside. This is bad, but there's something worse—you have to get dressed to go to breakfast. Which isn't so tough on the boys, but which means that girls have to take down their hair, or put it up, or on, or whatever it is girls do with their hair, and I'm told this is quite a chore. So that's one strike against breakfast.

And that's just the beginning. Once you get there, the first thing you do is get in a fruit line, which is something like a bread line. When you get to the front, there's a big, closely-guarded tray, filled with apples or grapefruit. Now it's decision time — which apple is ripe on both sides, which grapefruit has five seeds instead of fifty. In the middle of the night, this is impossible. You can't tell unless you touch it, and you can't touch it unless you take it, so I usually just skip the fruit line and get an egg, unless they have raisins. Because eggs won't fool you.

After this, eating is pretty routine. Eggs, fruit, cereal, milk and toast. The cereal is of the standard, tried-and-true variety, with one notable exception — All Bran Buds.

I hate All Bran Buds. I don't like the name, the box is too skinny, and they make a noise like a cement mixer when you shake them. Given a choice, All Bran Buds and I sit at different tables. But there are more of them every day. I'm sure nobody would eat them, and they wouldn't re-order a cereal nobody eats, but still, All Bran Buds are having a population explosion. How. I have a theory. In milk, they look a whole lot like something I saw under a microscope in biology that was bumping into each other and making more of itself. Maybe I'm wrong, but if I ever see a biology field trip start out at breakfast, I'm through. All Bran Buds make two strikes against breakfast.

Finally, the people. They grumble, they stare into their coffee, they take the apple I had picked out, and they squirt grapefruit juice in my eye. They're all sleepy and irritable, except for one or two: these are bubbling and bright, which is worse, because they always look at you like you must've been on a binge all night to look so lousy bright and early in the morning. Nothing personal, but the people there make it three strikes against breakfast.

That's one out. Anyone for brunch at the grill?

Contributors Column

Editor's Note: A manuscript, from which the following portion was taken, was recently discovered in the back files of the Highland Echo. Portions of this manuscript were illegible, and the date of authorsip could not be ascertained. However, research did reveal the fact that the manuscript was submitted to the Echo for publication some fifteen years ago by one Llewellyn Gulliver, a sixth generation descendent of the noted traveler and author, Lemeul Gulliver. A previous date of publication could not be determined.

I had been at home well above a month, when I was visited by a dear friend from a previous travel. After he had been made comfortable and we had spent some time reliving our past experiences, my friend invited me to journey with him again to a new area of the world. Interested at once, I pressed him for further details, which he gladly supplied. The strangeness of the new land described by my friend left me powerless to resist his offer. Requiring only a fortnight to arrange our respective affairs, we bid each other an excited farewell, vowing to sail at the earliest opportunity. (Manuscript at this point is badly deteriorated. Story resumes as Gulliver and his friend arrive, having had great difficulty in locating their destination, which they find is much secluded from the rest of the world.)

Arriving at last on the outskirts of what appeared to be an old, but well-preserved community, we encountered a young lad walking toward us. He was heavily loaded with a burden many times his size, and his progress was hindered by large mounds which we observed in the road as far as the eye could perceive in either direction. Feeling compassion for his obvious fatigue, and desiring to question him concerning this country in which we found ourselves, we hastened to his side and bade him rest with us beside the road. This he gladly did, and proved to be an intelligent lad, eager to answer our questions. He informed us that we were in the province of Mariavillensia, and that he was on his way to a neighboring village some five miles in distance to deliver his bundle. He explained that he made this journey as often as possible to earn money so that he could maintain his residence in Mariavillensia. We supposed that he made a great deal of money for such an exertion of physical labor, but he informed us that he made very little, at best averaging only a shilling per week. We suggested that he use a mechanized vehicle or a horse for his travels, so that he could increase the size of the burden he carried, thereby increasing his income. At this the lad informed us that his pay was not determined by how much he did, but on the basis of how long he labored, and he was therefore quite content to continue as always. My friend and I thought this rather wasteful, and were further shocked when the youth indicated that motorized vehicles were not allowed to people of his class, and that he supposed possession of horses were also illegal, although he had not recently read the codification of province law on that point. At this my friend and I were quite distressed, but said nothing more as the lad was eager to be on his way, lest his employer learn of this delay. Helping him to shoulder his burden, we watched him tread slowly away.

Cont'd. on Page 3

CONTRIBUTORS COLUMN, (Cont'd.)

and resolved to learn more of the strange province that lay ahead. (Many of the observations made by Gulliver and his friend no longer seem apropos to our time, but the following comments do seem pertinent.)

One of the most interesting aspects of Mariavillensian culture was the social structure which my friend and I encountered. Basically, there were two classes, distinguishable in some cases by intelligence, but generally on the basis of longevity, with the upper position being accorded to those of greater age. This upper class was segmented into two loosely defined groups and served two purposes as best my friend and I could observe: 1) To dispense wisdom; 2) To perpetuate the mores of the province.

The lower class, loosely organized into four groups, also served two functions: 1) To justify the existence of the upper class by seeking the dispensation of wisdom; 2) To aid in the perpetuation of cultural mores.

This latter function was accomplished by grouping segments of lower class population into various organizations. Organization members were easily recognized, as they were required by law to carry a book signifying their membership in an organization. My friend and I gained much enjoyment by observing this class, as many individuals attempted to carry a multitude of volumes, and succeeded only in dropping them many times each day, causing all matter of confusion. This made us wonder at the type of wisdom being distributed by the upper class, as many individuals were known who dropped books throughout the time they resided in the province. My friend, who is a very practical man, reasoned to me many times that it seemed to him a simple matter to solve this problem. Either the books should be organized so that they might be carried more easily, or perhaps only one book should be carried at a time. However, the dropping of books did not seem to bother the lower class. In fact, ridicule was sometimes heaped upon those who carried their books well, another fact much lamented by my friend.

The most interesting organizations were those known as fun clubs. There were four of these clubs: two for men, and two designated for women. These clubs met periodically while we resided in Mariavillensia, but my friend and I could never ascertain the purpose of their existence. I was invited several times to examine their books, but I found them in every instance so uninteresting that I fancied even a child would soon tire of their contents. Nevertheless, the club members took special pride in carrying these books, and much bitterness was directed against individuals who offered even the slightest of criticisms, so that I dared not express my feelings. Elaborate induction ceremonies were held by each club, although there were rumors circulated that these would soon be curtailed. My friend and I were much disturbed by this news, as the induction ceremony seemed one of the few positive accomplishments made by many of these clubs.

The most elaborate induction ceremonies observed were those carried on by a fifth club of selective membership. My practical friend, being little impressed by this organization, characterized the club as "Deluded . . . Unnecessary . . . Definitely Superfluous." The actions of this group went largely unnoticed by the general populace, but my friend and I noticed they were particularly given to secluded meeting, greatly resembling the gathering of donkeys at a circular through, such as we had observed in previous travels. Contrary to provincial law, members of this club rarely carried their books, and it was only by chance that I was allowed to examine one at some length. The book was entitled Raison d'Etre, but consisted only of blank pages, which was quite disconcerting, as the title interested me greatly . . .

We concluded our stay by the year's end, and left with much sadness, as we had grown quite fond of life in the province. Never a day passed but what my friend and I enjoyed the peculiarities and quirks of the two classes in that secluded part of the world. And to this day, when the cold of winter forces my friend and I to halt our travels, we enjoy nothing more than settling ourselves before a warm fire and reliving those pleasant months spent in the province of Mariavillensia.

—Mike Garrett

Warfield Called World's Finest, "Cultural Emissary"

William Warfield a magnificent artist and one of the world's finest vocalists, will appear in Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel on Thursday, October 26, 1961, at 8:15 p.m. Endowed with a rich voice, demonstrating great artistry, and projecting a warm, compelling personality, this distinguished baritone has been chosen on four occasions as a cultural emissary to foreign shores by the United States State Department and has been praised on every continent across the seas as one of the most powerful good will ambassadors that the United States has ever sent them.

In 1958, Warfield's concerts took him around the world twice. For the State Department, he gave 28 recitals across Asia in Iran, Pakistan, India, Burma, Thailand, Malaya, Vietnam, Formosa, and the Philippines. Then, after some 20 performances in the United States, the artist sang 38 concerts in Australia. En route back to the States, he gave a recital for the government at the Brussels World's Fair.

Previous to 1958, Mr. Warfield made a four-month, unprecedented recital tour, a vital mission for the United States Government. In 1956, he traveled to the heart of Africa and brought music to people who had never heard it before. Following this tour, Warfield concertized in the Near East and the major cities of Europe. In Vienna, they hailed him as "a magnificent singer and musician who possesses everything a great vocal artist must have."

His successes at home have been equally overwhelming. Between Christmas and May of 1956, Warfield gave 35 concerts, including performances of Handel's "Messiah" with the New York Philharmonic under Leonard Bernstein, and Brahms "Requiem" with Bruno Walter and the Chicago Symphony.

Headline news this spring was the stirring quality of Warfield's performances as Porgy in the revival of "Porgy and Bess" at New York's City Center. The artist also appeared in New York with Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic in a cycle of Copland songs, both at Carnegie Hall and on television.

With all of the many remarkable achievements of which Warfield's career is composed, the phenomenal speed with which he reached success and widespread recognition is not the least. Born in West Helena, Arkansas, William Warfield, midst various jobs, studied for the ministry and is the Pastor of Rochester, New York's Mount Vernon Baptist Church. In his youth, he sang in the church choir and made a serious study of piano and voice. Winning first prize in the regional competition of the National Music Educators League in St. Louis, Mo., Warfield's award was a scholarship to Eastman School of Music at Rochester University, where he earned his B.A. and M.A. degrees after four years military service during World War II.

Following military service, Warfield starred in "Call Me Mister", Dorothy Heyward's "Set My People Free", the Marc Blitzstein-Lillian Hellman "Regina"; performed in nightclubs; and on March 19, 1950, gave his Town Hall recital, his New York debut, which was a complete success. Soon after this recital, Mr. Warfield was signed by MGM for the part of Joe in the new color version of "Showboat", in which he sang "Ol' Man River".

CAMPUS SURVEY, (Cont'd.)

Mr. Tolar: I think they should be open on Sunday afternoon. Either that or have a five day class schedule with a day off. This would result in better academic standards.
Dave Cost: Open those not requiring someone else to work.
Becky Kinnamon: Although it may seem unreasonable that we are not allowed to exercise or relax through athletic activities on Sunday afternoon, I personally prefer the peaceful, restful atmosphere that now prevails. Sunday should be a day set apart.
Charlie Vaughn: Yes. Athletics relieve tensions built up in the body after a week of study. To be able to concentrate successfully week after week, one must relieve his tensions periodically. Athletics build the body and mind.
Miss Pute: Yes. Because Sunday afternoons are a good time for relaxation and fun.
Dr. Harter: I personally don't see any harm in it. It depends on how it's used.
John Spangler: Why should we set Sunday apart from the rest of the week as a day of "special Christian emphasis" if we believe that Christianity is an either-or proposition that applies to each and every day of the week. In light of our Christianity, certainly anything which is wholesome and beneficial enough to merit our doing or participating in is just as easily wholesome, beneficial and therefore applicable to Sunday.
Mrs. Cummings: No. For many people Sunday is a day of quiet, and athletics would result in noise. While there is nothing wrong in doing them, we must be concerned for the whole community.
Bill Robinson: Yes. Sunday isn't all a day of rest. People who don't want to participate, don't have to go, and they wouldn't detract from the college.
Jane Hickey: Yes, definitely. For Sunday is a day of relaxing from work and many people find this in golf, swimming, etc.
Sue Lynch: Things like the tennis courts and golf courts, yes, but not things that take people to work such as the swimming pool.
Mike Moyers: No.
Miss Birkelbach: Yes, it's good to have a nice form of recreation rather than having to stay in the dorm all afternoon. It's good for one's health.
Mrs. Largen: I wouldn't object.
Dave King: No. Sunday should be a day for worship.
Midge Slater: Yes. Sunday is a day of rest, and athletics is the means many people use to rest and relax. I don't think so many people would use them that confusion would result.

PROSPECTIVE

In doing some reading for my independent study this summer, I came across some ideas in the book, Not Minds Alone, by Kenneth I. Brown — the expression of a student's bill of rights as proposed by President Edward A. Fitzpatrick of Mount Mary College. These were the definite expectations a student should hold when he applies for admittance to a church-related college. Perhaps these rights or expectations are worth our thought and consideration.

1. "The encouragement to be a Christian" — with the right to reject it as well.
2. "The friendly counsel of the faculty" — to aid in the search for religious understanding, patience, cooperation and growth.
3. "A student fellowship of kindred minds" — a compatible quality of students who have chosen the church-related college.
4. "Arrows of direction for the years ahead" — the endowment or encouragement of a sense of direction and purpose in life.
5. "Channels for social action" — a place in which the student can exercise Christian citizenship and make a significant contribution to the religious and sociological life of the community.

Are these the things we expect of a church related college. Or do we know what we expect? Why did each one of us decide to make this our College? Before we can expect to make constructive contributions to Maryville, we must know why we are here and what we expected to find when we came.

Connie Bondurant

Remember How Long Permanents Used to Last?

Ours Still Do!

Michaels

COLD WAVE

The permanent that snaps back with the Flick of a Comb — Postively Guaranteed excepting tinted hair.

"Ours Exclusively"

COLD WAVE

$6.95 COMPLETE

* College Hill Salon — 27 Stanley Ave.

* Michael's Budget Salon — 111 E. Broadway

Always Look Your Best

See us for all your Dry Cleaning Needs

MARYVILLE Cleaners

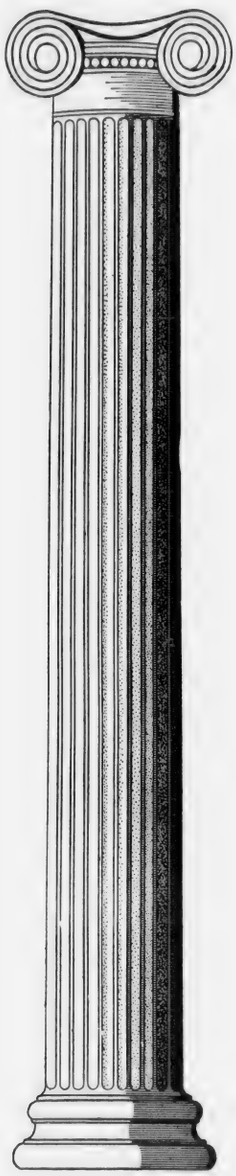
SEE YOUR DORMITORY AGENT

A SINCERE WELCOME

TO STUDENTS AND ALUMNI!

We hope you'll stop in and see us during Homecoming.

WE'RE BOOSTING THE SCOTS . . .



AND THE NEW PRESIDENT!

Byrne Drug Company

120 East Broadway 982-1461

MARYVILLE'S

A TIME FOR PRESIDENTS...

Dr. Joseph J. Copeland

Dr. Joseph J. Copeland, newly-inaugurated President of Maryville College, is a native of central Texas. He attended Trinity University, where he majored in English and minored in speech, graduating in 1936. He received his Bachelor of Divinity degree from McCormick Theological Seminary, where he was president of his senior class. Following graduation, Dr. Copeland was called by the First Presbyterian Church in Frederick, Oklahoma. Serving there until 1942, he became pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Denton, Texas, where he remained until 1952, when he accepted the call of the Second Presbyterian Church of Knoxville.

Dr. Copeland has been closely related to Maryville College for nearly a decade. He became a director of the college in 1952, and twice led February Meetings — in 1954, and again in 1959.

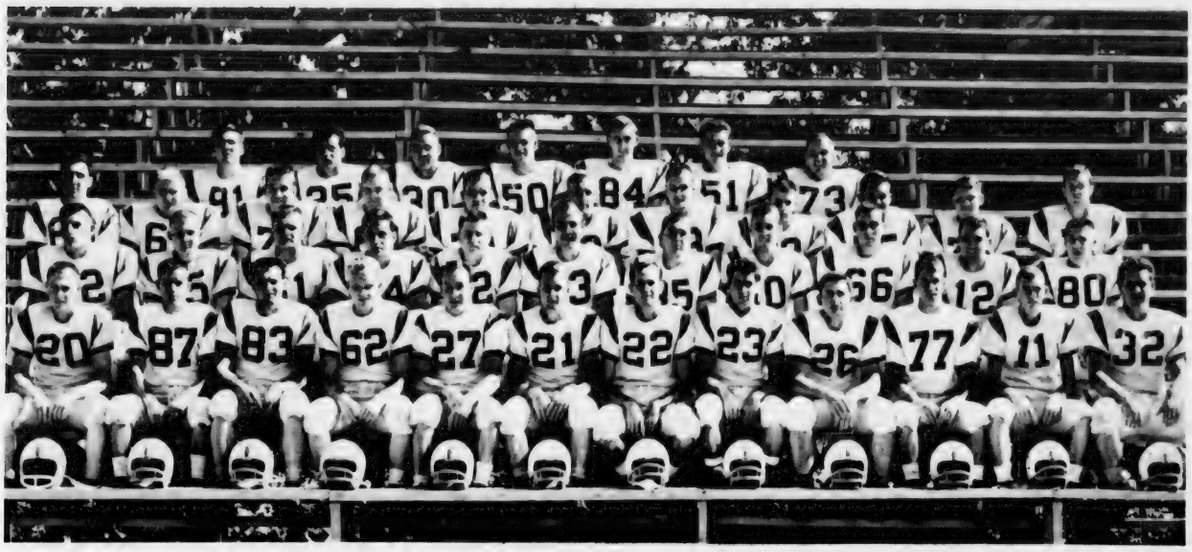
TO INAUGURATE MEANS:
TO INDUCT INTO OFFICE FORMALLY.
TO CONSECRATE.
TO BEGIN UNDER FAVORABLE CONDITIONS.
TO INITIATE UNDER AUSPICIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES.

All of these have been accomplished and I wish to thank you who achieved them.

To the students and faculty, to the special speakers and greeters, to the delegates representing colleges, universities, societies, and Synod, to the musicians, citizens, and committee members, to the board of directors — to all I express my gratitude.

Every great institution is but the lengthened shadow of great individuals. Maryville College has been made distinctive by great teachers, dedicated staff members, sensitive students, concerned directors, and faithful friends. Her past presidents have left indelible character influences and eternal inspirational challenges.

In part her future now lies in this new relationship sealed today in this inauguration. To Maryville College and her objectives I commit myself.



In complete agreement with her noble purpose of "academic excellence in a Christian orientation," in accord with her objected future as set forth in the Sesquicentennial development program, I join my energy with yours with the prayer that her latter being may be greater even than her former.

Joseph J. Copeland

You have Our Heartfelt Wish For a Long and Rewarding Time in Office STERCHI'S	Our Hopes and Prayers are With You as You Begin Your Time in Office CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK	Best of Luck in the Months and Years that lie ahead. CROWN LANES	Our Thoughts are with You In This New Undertaking BADGETT STORE COMPANY
THE J and K SUPER STORES	Our Sincere Wishes For A Fruitful Term of Service BALL OFFICE SUPPLY CO.	Congratulations and Welcome to Dr. Copeland CITY DRUG CO.	Best Wishes to Maryville's New President HORNE'S FLORIST

HOMECOMING

A TIME FOR PIGSKINS!

Nickname — "Highlanders" or "Scots"
Colors — Orange and Garnet
Head Coach — Boydson H. Baird

Line Coach — Howard J. Tomlinson
Backfield Coach — Lauren J. Kardatske
Assistant Line Coach — Bill Woodby

MARYVILLE COLLEGE – vs – SOUTHWESTERN

Probable Starters

LE	LT	LG	C	RT	RG	RE
Ramsey 81	Cochran 71	McCauley 66	Smith 50	Stafford 73	Elia 64	Owenby 84

QB Bruce 12

LHB Bowers 25

RHB Lingenfelter 22

FB Berry 32

GOOD LUCK SCOTTIES!
MOSER'S

Best Wishes to The Scots and The Homecoming Queen
BROADWAY JEWELERS

We're Pushing for A Homecoming Victory, Good Luck!
PARKS–BELK

We'll Be Rooting For A Scottie Victory Tonight
GIFF'S SPORTING GOODS

Fight, Scots, Fight! We're With You All The Way
SEYMOUR'S

We're Proud of THE SCOTTIES– Good Luck Tonight
WHITE OFFICE MACHINES

We've Always Been A Scottie Fan– Let's Beat Southwestern!
Proffitt's

Best Wishes From Your Campus Agent
Bruce Semple and
HARTMAN'S FLOWERS

Davies Will Be On Campus October 30 For Interviews

On Monday, October 30, Dr. Paul Davies, professor of New Testament Greek and Exegesis at McCormick Theological Seminary, will be on the campus.

Dr. Davies will be available for interviews with students who are interested in McCormick Seminary from 9:00—5:00 on Monday. These interviews will be held in the green room in the chapel. A chart will be placed outside this room so that students may sign up to see Dr. Davies.

Dr. Davies, brother of Miss Katherine Davies, chairman of the division of Fine Arts, is a graduate of McCormick and holds a B.A. degree from Princeton and a Ph.D. degree in theology from the University of Edinburgh, Scotland. Before going to McCormick in 1931, Dr. Davies was the pastor of Presbyterian churches in Ohio and Minnesota. He has traveled throughout Europe and some of the Asiatic countries.

Highlander Band Makes Two Trips

On October 14, at 5:30 a.m. the Highlander marching band embarked, with breakfast in the dining hall, on the first of two trips. At 6:00 the band boarded a Trailways bus for Emory and Henry and departed just as the sound of alarm clocks began to gain momentum.

The band arrived, ate, dressed and gave a performance in very grey and forbidding weather which turned into rain at the finale. Soon after the show the band boarded another Trailways bus and arrived home at 11:30 p.m.

Off again on October 19 the band traveled to Dandridge, Tennessee, as guest performers of Maury High School to participate in their homecoming activities. The bus arrived at Dandridge in an uncertain drizzle at 6:30 p.m., and band members were provided with a meal. A rehearsal got under way and was stopped for show alterations when it was discovered that the performance area was to be one-fourth of the field, and located in the forthest corner because of the mud. Itain came, but the show did go on, and at 9:00 p.m. the band damply boarded the bus to return home.

CAMPBELL SPEAKS TO THREE GROUPS

Dr. Campbell returned Wednesday, October 25, from the annual meeting of the Council of Theological Education of the United Presbyterian Church at Buck Hill Falls, Pennsylvania. On November 4 and 5, Dr. Campbell will be at Montreat, North Carolina, the assembly grounds of the Presbyterian Church U.S.

Representatives of the seven theological seminaries of the Presbyterian church participated in the meeting of the Council of Theological Education; they discussed the theological education of the church. Gaylord M. Couchman, President of Dubuque Seminary, is the president of the Council, and Dr. Campbell is the secretary.

At Montreat Dr. Campbell will speak to the staff members of the United Presbyterian Women's Work and the staff of the Board of Women's Work of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. as they join for a retreat.

When society requires to be rebuilt, there is no use in attempting to rebuild it on the old plan.
—John Stuart Mill

SOME OF THE DOCUMENTS expressing congratulations to the Maryville College 'family' upon the election and inauguration of Dr. Joseph J. Copeland are being examined. Pictured above seated, are Mrs. Joe C. Gamble, vice chairman of the Inauguration Central Committee, and Jane Huddleston, assistant in the Personnel Office. Dean Frank D. McClelland, not pictured, is chairman of the Inauguration Central Committee. Standing left to right, are Henry L. Alsmeyer, Jr., Director of Public Relations, and Dean Arthur S. Bushing, each chairman of a subcommittee of the Central Committee.

INAUGURAL, (Cont'd.)

in Pearsons Hall.

The Christian "thrust" of the College was to be underscored in the address Friday night by Dr. William A. Morrison, while the intellectual "thrust" was underscored in the address by Dr. McCabe at the inaugural ceremony.

Dr. Morrison is the General Secretary of the Board of Christian Education of the United Presbyterian Church U.S.A. He carries central administrative responsibility in the Board's task of assisting United Presbyterian congregations and institutions in their educational efforts.

Dr. Edwin R. Hunter was to serve as master of ceremonies for the dinner. The dinner on Friday night was for the "campus family;" the luncheon following the inaugural ceremony is for delegates to the ceremony and other special guests of the College.

Dean Arthur S. Bushing heads the subcommittee charged with making the arrangements for the delegates and other guests of the College.

Plans for alumni participation are being coordinated by Raymond I. Brahams, Jr., Director of Development, and news coverage and other publicity details are the responsibility of a subcommittee headed by Henry L. Alsmeyer, Jr., Director of Public Relations.

Aztec Ruins Shorn

The cutting of shrubbery in the vicinity of the much-frequented "Aztec Ruins," near the campus entry back of Carnegie Hall, alarmed many students when they found that the new concrete area is now in plain view of the street.

A spokesman for the Maintenance Department stated that because of an over-growth in a certain vine called cutshaw, the shrubbery had to be trimmed along with the vines to preserve future growth. If allowed to remain, the vines would have choked the shrubbery and all vegetation in the area would have died. It will take another year for the shrubbery to grow back to cover the view from the street, according to the informant.

The Aztec Ruins were used several years ago as the only place on campus students could smoke. The shack which originally stood there is now reduced to the concrete floor, and the overall campus rule which prohibits smoking any where but in the dormitory smoking lounges now excludes that area.

COUNSELORS SEEK NEW STUDENTS

The department for recruiting new students is now a major project of the Development Office. A full time admissions counselor works for the college, traveling most of the year.

"We are going out to high schools throughout the Eastern U.S. in an attempt to match the student with this college. We want one who thinks it will be a challenge to attend here, and above all, one who can meet the high requirements," stated Raymond I. Brahams, Director of the Development Office. "It is not the number of students we find, but the kind of student," Brahams said in an Echo interview.

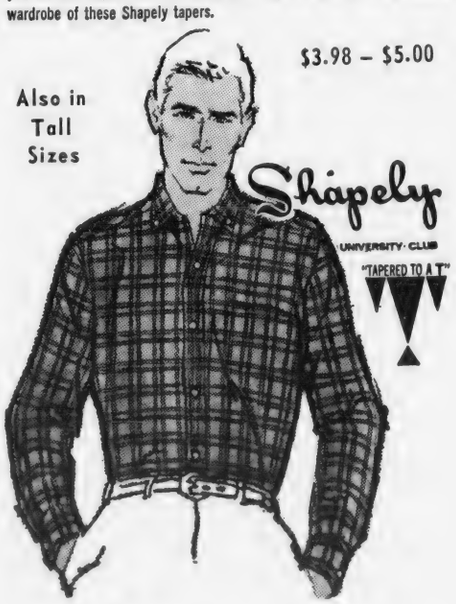
Miss Elaine Louise Brininger, a 1960 MC graduate, is Admissions Counselor. She begins in late September and travels throughout the South; in the Spring she travels in the North until March, visiting high schools and churches. Miss Elizabeth Welsh, assistant in the Alumni Office, Mr. Brahams, and Dean E. Frances Massey also travel as admissions counselors. Miss Viola Lightfoot, Registrar, travels also, and was in western North Carolina only two weeks ago. Sometimes as many as three travel simultaneously.

In explaining how the counseling system works, Brahams stated that MC counselors work through high school guidance counselors, who are more in contact with the students. They also visit Presbyterian churches, and speak to ministers or others leaders of students. If a high school requests information about MC, they send information and then send the counselor to the school. The number of schools visited in any one year sometimes exceeds 500 or more.

The counselor is supplied a car by a local automobile agency for the trips. Since 57 percent of the students enrolled are from the South, she concentrates on the "home" area, which is the South-East. This also includes all area high schools.

This system has proven effective in securing top notch students from throughout the nation, and is considered by the college administration as a valuable asset to the college.

NEWS RELEASES, TV, RADIO PUBLICIZE INAUGURATION



Press, radio and television coverage of the inauguration has been coordinated through the public relations activities of the Development Office.

A news story about Maryville College students and inauguration plans has been sent to every home town and home city newspaper as a part of the extensive news coverage of Inauguration and Homecoming plans.

The home town news stories were sent out on all students who completed the public relations form during the registration process, Director of Public Relations Henry L. Alsmeyer, Jr., said.

Special stories have been sent in recent weeks to the religious press, regional newspapers and other periodicals, in addition to the stories released for publication in Maryville, Knoxville and this area.

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

AT Minton's
see what this Tapered Shirt does for you! It trims you and slims you—gives you the new Tapered-to-a-T look for Fall. Try one. You'll want a whole wardrobe of these Shapely tapers.
$3.98 – $5.00
Also in Tall Sizes

Minton's

DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands
OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You
Featuring a Fine Stock
of Quality Products Including
a Complete Variety of Cheeses.
DIXIE
SUPER MARKET
Washington Avenue

MARYVILLE
VS
CARSON-NEWMAN
2:30

The Highland Echo

Maryville College

Vol. 47 | Maryville, Tennessee, November 18, 1961 | No. 5

HUTCHESON, MENEELY BARNWARMING ROYALTY

Glorianna Hutcheson, senior home economics major from Atlanta, Georgia, and Dave Meneely senior sociology major from Levittown, Pennsylvania, were chosen by the student body to reign as king and queen over Barnwarming Thanksgiving night.

The court of the king and queen is made up of attendants from each of the classes: Judy Agee, senior English major from Cheyenne, Wyoming; Grace Rosser, junior art major from Baltimore, Maryland; Pam Poole, sophomore art major from Atlanta, Georgia; and Margaret Hanson, freshman pre-med major from Belle Center, Ohio. The attendants will be escorted by the presidents of their classes: Lou Pelkey, Bruce Semple, Phil Brown and Mike Movers, respectively.

Presentation of the king and queen and their court will take place before the Barnwarming play. As the attendants are presented, they will form a semi-circle for the queen. Glorianna will then take her place at the head of the semi-circle to be crowned. Afterwards, the royalty will be entertained with this year's Barnwarming production, Out of the Hat.

The play is the story of a magical town and two magicians who both claim to have made it. The original musical comedy, student-written and directed, uses original music created by Janet Kilgard and Sue Bloomer. Pat Baker wrote the script, Lynn Waddington is the dramatic director, and Bruce Jenkins the technical director.

Unlike previous years, there will be no fair-booths. Refreshments will be sold by Nu Gamma leaders. The show will begin at 8 p.m. in the alumni gym and admssion will be $1.00 adults, $ .75 students, and $ .50 children.

The first two hundred dollars of the proceeds will go toward a scholarship for a Korean student to attend Union Christian College in Seoul, Korea. The additional money will be used to procure supplies and equipment, perhaps including a record player and playground materials, for Home Avenue and Sunnybrook chapels.

There will be Y-radio coverage of the play Sunday, November 19.

Dublin Gate Theatre Presents Shakspere, "Moby Dick"

The Dublin Gate Theatre company will present "Taming of the Shrew" at 3:30 p.m. Monday in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel. Admission for MC students will be at the special price of 75 cents each.

The Dublin company will present "Moby Dick" at 8:15 p.m. in the Chapel as the second event of the season in the Maryville College-Community Artists Series. Admission to this performance will be at the usual price of 35 cents plus college activities card.

"Taming of the Shrew," with its infectious humor of Shakspere is an old favorite of theatregoers, while "Moby Dick," first was performed in June of 1955 in London.

The Gate Theatre production of "Moby Dick," as announced earlier, is to be filmed for the Library of Congress while the company is in Washington and later is to appear on Broadway.

The adaptation of the world classic "Moby Dick" received rave reviews and enthusiastic response from the public when presented for the first time.

The Gate Theatre presentation was presented for the first time in February of this year.

Scott Middleton, who has a background of early training at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London, will play in the dual capacities of Biondello in the Shaksperian production and as a sailor in "Moby Dick." He appeared on Broadway with Julie Harris in "The Little Moon of Albion" and also has appeared on the American Heritage Series with such outstanding personalities as Raymond Massey, Dean Jagger and Hugh O'Brien. In the British Isles, he has been a member of both repertory companies and resident theatres.

Laura McFarlane, whose early training was at the Bristol Old Vic Theatre School, will portray the shrew. She also has to her credit appearances with the Perty Repertory Company in Scotland.

Miss MacFarlane, as well as other members of the company, has had the privilege of working with the Irish playwright Brendan Behan and the recent good fortune to be a member of his world-renowed hit, "The Hostage."

Peleg in "Moby Dick" and Hortensio in "Taming of the Shrew" will be portrayed by Gerard Burke, whose early theatrical training was at the Abbey Theatre. He has played extensively in Ireland and Great Britain and in 1952-53 made his first tour of the United States.

John Brandon will play contrasting parts. He will have the role of the solemn Starbuck in "Moby Dick" and that of the foolish suitor Gremio in "Taming of the Shrew." After training at the London Academy of Music and Dramatic Arts he has appeared in stage and radio productions on both sides of the Atlantic. Also, he has appeared on television plays in this county and his road tours include "Caine Mutiny Court Martial," "Mr. Roberts" and "Stalag 17."

"THE 39 STEPS" SHOWN NOV. 25

The first film of the Maryville College Playhouse Film Series is one of Alfred Hitchcock's earliest and best known hits — The 39 Steps, which will be shown November 25. Starred in the film are Madeliene Carroll and Robert Donat.

Robert Donat plays the leading role of a man who must, in order to clear himself of a murder charge, track down a notorious spy ring known as the "39 Steps," before they smuggle the plans for a secret weapon out of the country. One of the memorable scenes in the play—a long and exciting chase over the Scottish moors—is famous as one of the highest peaks attained in movie mysteries.

MC Recognized By Blount County Civic Group

Maryville College Monday received a Certificate of Recognition from the Tennessee Recreation Society—the first such award made to a Tennessee college or university so far as could be learned locally.

The honor was in recognition of the College's cooperation with the Blount County Consolidated Recreation Council. Presentation of the certificate was made to Coach Boydson H. Baird Monday morning in opening-day activities of the three-day conference of the society. The conference was held at the Andrew Johnson Hotel in Knoxville.

Walter Coker of the local recreation Council said that he was "tickled" about the College receiving the award.

Maryville College, Coker said, never refused the Recreation Council the use of any facility. The College actually has been a strong backer of the program from its inception, and Dean Frank D. McClelland was honored several years ago by the presentation of a certificate from the state society.

The local recreation group uses the College's swimming pool, courts and athletic fields. Also, other facilities have been used for meetings.

The Tennessee Recreation Society is composed of professional recreation leaders.

SCHOLARSHIPS ARE AVAILABLE

The College has available some funds to be given as scholarships to students who meet certain qualifications. Those who are interested and can qualify should make application at the Student-Help Office without delay.

To be considered for one of these scholarships, a student must:

1. be a member of the sophomore, junior, or senior class;
2. have a good academic record;
3. be able to demonstrate need;
4. be taking responsibility for earning part or all of his educational expenses;
5. be a good campus citizen with promise of future usefulness.

Choir To Present "Magnificat in C"

The Maryville College Choir, directed by Dr. Harry H. Harter, will present "Magnificat in C" at the Vesper Service, Sunday, November 26, in the college chapel.

The "Magnificat," written by Johann Pachelbel, is based on the Biblical text from Luke 1:46-55, and is sung traditionally at evening services in all Christian liturgical faiths. Although the work was written before J. S. Bach was born, it was not available for performance in the United States until 1951, when Dr. Henry Woodward, Head of the Music Department of Carleton College, Northfield, Minnesota, discovered it in the archives of Saint Michael's College, Tenbury, Worcestor, England, and was given permission to copy it for publication in America.

Soloists will be Virginia Pratt, Sue Bloomer, Paul Evans, and Bruce Jenkins. The choir will be accompanied by a brass ensemble, tympani, and Mr. James Bloy at the organ.

Outlook Discusses Current Affairs

The Outlook discussion group, meeting on Wednesday nights at eight o'clock in the "Y" rooms, gives students an opportunity to express and hear opinions on current events. The main topics of discussion, both national and international, have included the Berlin crisis, the atomic testing situation in the world, the possible split between Russia and Red China, and the question of U. S. withdrawal from the U.N. Charlie Vaughan leads this group of interested students and faculty members.

Mrs. Tooze Speaks On Books, S-E Asia

Mrs. Ruth Tooze, a dynamic figure in the world of children's literature, will bring a display of 800 books and deliver some challenging talks on campus November 27-29. Presented by SNEA, she will bring talks both to those on campus and those in the community who are interested.

Mrs. Tooze will speak at the college on the topic, "Books, A Rich Resource for Teaching," November 27 at 7:30. An exhibit of 800 books will be opened to the public November 28 at 4:30 p.m. There will be an opportunity at this time to speak to Mrs. Tooze informally. That night at 7:30 p.m., she will speak in the music hall on "The challenge of South East Asia." "Your Children Want to Read" will be her topic November 29, 7:30 p.m. at the college.

Mrs. Tooze, who has traveled extensively, is from Evanston, Illinois graduated with an A.B. degree from Oberlin College. and studied graduate work at Columbia University and Stanford University.

COMING EVENTS

November 18	Football Game — Maryville College vs. Carson-Newman College, 2 p.m.
November 19	Vespers, Dr. Samuel Franklin. 7 p.m.
November 20	Maryville College-Community Artists Series, Dublin Gate Theatre (Ireland), Orson Welles' Adaptation of Moby Dick, 8:15 p.m. Wilson Chapel. Dublin Gate Theatre presents an afternoon matinee performance of Shakspere's "The Taming of the Shrew" at 3:30 p.m. Wilson Chapel. This is not included as a part of the regular Maryville College-Community Artists Series. Special price for Maryville College students, faculty and staff —.75. MSC-WSGA will sponsor an after-dinner coffee in the basement of the New Dorm before the evening performance.
November 23	Barnwarming, 8 p.m. Alumni Gym. 50 cents for children, 75 cents for students, 1.00 for adults.
November 24	Faculty Recital Series, Roger Wagner, pianist, 8 p.m. The Music Hall.
November 25	Maryville College Playhouse Film Society, "The 39 Steps," 8 p.m. The Theatre. 50 cents for adults, 35 cents for any student.
November 26	Vespers, Pachelbel, "Magnificat in C.," Maryville College Choir, 7 p.m. Wilson Chapel.
November 27, 28, 29	The Student Education Association will present Mrs. Ruth Tooze, Director of the Children's Book Caravan. A display of 800 books will be set up in 201 Thaw. Mrs. Tooze will speak at various times to students in various classes of the public schools, to public school teachers and to parents.
November 28	Student Recital, 4:30 p.m. The Music Hall.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

MARYVILLE COLLEGE

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Member of University Press Service. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester; $1.75 per year.

Beth Reichardt, Editor

Lynn Herring, Assistant Helen Anne Easterly, News

Pat Baker, Features

John Mitchell, Jeanne Price, Sports Anitra Bard, Exchange

Mike Garrett, Business Manager

Phyllis Deloteus, Assistant Norman Marschner, Circulation

Dr. Carolyn Blair, Mr. Frank Layman, Faculty Advisors

Contributors: Sharon Ruggles, Ellen Dozier, Connie Bondurant, Tom Salmon, Chuck Spencer, Todd Owers, John Gamble, Pat Crossley, Keen Compher, Jean Kelleher, Jeanette Peckham, Alice Stengel, Charlotta Cook, Mary Gay Boettcher, Margaret Dozier, Phil Jerome.

EDITOR'S CHOICE

Evaluation and objective interpretation are important, we might even say necessary, aids to any individual or organization. Take the college campus, for instance. Its set-up and its effectiveness need to be evaluated and re-evaluated rigorously and regularly, with sincerity and insight, by all those participating, in order that it may be of value and of service.

There are various ways of going about an evaluation of the effectiveness and the maturity of a college campus. One method might be to look at the trend of student conversation. What, in reality, do the students discuss, how self-centered is their discussion, what is important to them? Often much unnecessary small talk goes on, as well as destructive criticism and chronic complaining.

Another method of evaluation might be in a thorough analysis of the campus outreach. The total campus impact can be so strong that it engulfs many ideas beyond its parochialism, that its concern for happenings beyond its borders result in a communicative spirit, that its ideas and activities influence a larger group than itself. The campus must be larger than itself, its citizens must realize themselves a part of a larger whole. How broad, then, or how narrow is the campus outreach? What kind of persons is it sending out into the world?

Each member of this college holds a responsibility for analyzing the total campus effectiveness, as well as his individual part in it. And he has a duty to do something, effectively and constructively.

The college is educating persons for an even broader step into the world. If the evaluation of its set-up and its citizens does not uncover something worthwhile, the total campus impact might as well be engulfed in the desperate flounderings of an already-confused world.

HUNTER REVIEWS THE POWER AND THE GLORY

A recent (October 29th) television production of Graham Greene's novel, The Power and the Glory (1940) in which Sir Laurence Olivier played the role of the renegade priest sent me back to reread the novel.

Graham Greene is a British novelist of established position and mature genius. The Power and the Glory is set in Mexico at the time when the Revolution had closed the churches and expelled the priests, setting a price on the head of any priest still found in the country practicing his function under cover. There is in the book remarkable portrayal of the squalid life of the villagers and keen insight into their character: their fears, their apathy, their failure to realize the liberation offered by the Revolution. But the heart of the story is the nameless priest, drunken, immoral, cowardly, yet with a compelling sense of obligation to stay and be available to the wretched people. They must not be left without a representative of God. His wonder is that he has the power to "put God in a man's mouth," and his determining purpose that he must convey to contrite men the glory of salvation.

But all the while he is deeply grieved by his own unfitness. After many narrow escapes from capture and many helpless lapses into drunkenness, interspersed with flashes of the glory as he brings the words and the bread of reconciliation to hungry souls, he is called on to give the last rites of the Church to an American bandit who has been run to ground and shot by the same police who are looking even more avidly for him. He recognizes the summons as a trap, but he also is sure that at least the desperate need of a dying man is real. So he goes and does his priestly office and, that done, he is taken by the police. He is depraved and cowardly but he is God's only priest and he could not, in such an emergency have put aside responsibility.

One more problem faces him before the end. He must confess his own sins. He sends for a makeshift priest who has defected to the revolutionaries, who refuses to come. So he is driven to confess without intermediary priest. This scene is stronger in the television version than in the novel. Olivier made a thing of poignant beauty of it and the savor of it lingers on as the priest goes before the firing squad and is riddled by the soldiers' bullets. This final scene is sordid and full of human weakness and cowardice and to speak of Power and Glory in connection with it seems ironic. But the irony lessens as one realizes that this weak depraved humanity which cannot save itself is somehow caught up and sustained and used by God. It is not a Power and Glory that inheres in man; it is conferred by the Divine.

In an incisive little book of religious essays by Professor Alexander Miller called The Renewal of Man (1955) there is a first chapter with the suggestive title, "Man at the End of his Tether." In this chapter Miller points to the increasing frequency with which imaginative literature treats the dilemma of man's spiritual frailty and lostness, and his inability to find an answer. He illustrates by reference to three recent books: Arthur Koestler's The Yogi and the Commissar, Graham Greene's The Power and the Glory, and Robert Penn Warren's Brother to Dragons. Each of these books in its own way presents man's helplessness to save himself. None of them, except indirectly Greene's, suggests the Christian answer. But it is surely significant to find entirely outside the confines of formal theological writing, in the field of creative secular literature an admission of man's ineffectualness and the desperate dilemma to which his humanity so often brings him. If theology in our day has swung back to the old doctrines of original sin and innate depravity, so has the genius of the novelist and playwright and poet. Look for this in the new books you read and the new plays. Read these books of Mr. Miller's list and also the later writing of Eliot, and Fry, and Auden. The end note of so many is a cry of despair, but also, in some, a far hint of hope.

Our civilization is a sardonic joke; our culture is a mockery; our efforts to live together in a narrowing world seem ship-wrecked. Man the master of his fate, the captain of his soul? How clear the emptiness of such boasts appears! Mr. Miller ends his chapter with these words:

There is at least the suggestion . . . that the human dilemma will need for its resolution not a resolve but a rescue. "Oh that thou wouldst rend the heavens and come down . . ." "Oh sinful man that I am, who will deliver me from this body of death?" —ERH

BEST SELLERS

(From Time Magazine, October 27, 1961)

I. Fiction

*1. The Agony and the Ecstasy —Stone
2. Franny and Zooey—Salinger
*3. To Kill A Mockingbird—Lee
4. The Carpetbaggers—Robbins
5. Tropic of Cancer—Miller
6. Clock Without Hands—McCullers
*7. Mila 18—Uris
*8. The Winter of Our Discontent —Steinbeck
9. The Edge Of Sadness—O'Connor
10. Rembrandt—Schmitt

II. Non-Fiction

1. A Nation of Sheep—Lederer
*2. The Making of the President 1960—White
*3. The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich—Shirer
4. Inside Europe Today—Gunther
*5. The Age of Reason Begins—Will & Ariel Durrant
6. Citizen Hearst—Swanberg
*7. The New English Bible
8. The Sheppard Murder Case —Holmes
9. Ring of Bright Water—Maxwell
10. The Spanish Civil War—Thomas

(*Books found in the Maryville Library)

WANTED: YOUR THOUGHTS

Have you ever stopped to think how much information you "take in" here at Maryville, and how little you "give out"? Many good thoughts never come out simply because there is no time to express them.

Your campus "Y" feels this is a very real problem, and to cope with it, the "Y" plans to have very informal discussions each Sunday evening from 8:30 p.m. until 9:30 p.m. in the "Y" rooms behind Thaw Hall.

The major objective of these discussions is to provide a time for all students to come together for informal Christian fellowship. It's a time for you to give out a little on the various topics to be discussed.

The meetings will begin tomorrow, November 19th, with a discussion centered around "Contemporary Literature and Theology." On November 27th a discussion of "Socialism and Communism" is planned.

Each Sunday evening an authority on the particular topic to be discussed will be present to provide informal leadership and to try to answer the many questions which are sure to arise.

These programs should not only be interesting but also a great deal of fun. So let your hair down and come to the "Y" rooms tomorrow night right after Vespers at 8:30.

Cabbages and Kings

"Well, Walrus," I said, sticking a clean sheet of paper in my typewriter, "it's time to write an article about Thanksgiving."

The Walrus, who was busy reading a small booklet he had just found, only gave a grunt. "Tell me," I asked, "what are you thankful for?"

"Ah," he said, paying attention at last, "I'm thankful that Maryville is better than it used to be."

"In what way?"

Waving the booklet in the air, he cried, "Just listen to this — it's from the 'Standards and Requirements in 1940: In general, Maryville College expects from all connected with it conduct becoming ladies and gentlemen engaged seriously in a program of higher education . . .' "

"Well," I remarked, "what's wrong with that? Perhaps the wording is a trifle old fashioned but —"

"Listen," he interrupted (in a quite ungentlemanly way), "I'm just getting to the good part: 'In general, whatever interferes with regularity and efficiency in the work of the College and whatever thereby tends to deprive the student of his educational privileges, is a matter of serious concern to the College authorities. For example, in order to avoid interference with the regular work of the College, students must secure special permission before engaging in any entertainment outside the College.' "

"Any entertainment?"

"Any," he answered firmly. "And here is a wonderful section about dating: 'To assist all students in making the wisest use of their time and money, to encourage the highest of ideals and best of taste in the relationship between men and women and to maintain the good name of the College and its students, certain limitations are set upon the times and places of 'dating.' The nature of these limitations is determined by ideals and experience in such matters on the campus where there is a large compact co-educational group. In general, 'dating' on week-days is permitted in the central area of the campus and in the business section of Maryville, during the hours between breakfast and supper; also at authorized evening activities on the campus, and at Sunday morning church services in Maryville.' "

"I seem to be getting the point."

"My friend," said The Walrus, " 'you ain't heard nothing yet' as the expression goes. Listen now: 'It is believed that, at Maryville College with its particular background and balanced emphasis and program, some of the most distinctive and constructive elements (spiritual, democratic, financial, cultural) which have been built into and are a part of the life and influence of the College would be sacrificed by some of the factors incident to present-day dances. For this reason social dancing is not permitted.' "

The Walrus closed the book. "I'll never be able to go to a dance again," he said, "without thinking of all the elements (spiritual, democratic, financial, cultural) which the College is sacrificing."

Scots and Soda

by DAVE MARSTON

Yesterday I heard a doctor say, "Breathe shallowly". This startled me — until he explained that with all the fall-out in the air today, Rex Morgan is the only doctor left who's fool enough to say "Breathe deeply".

Most people don't like to think much about fall-out and bombs — they've buried their heads in the sand. But now it's time to wake up and look around, because chances are the sand is radioactive. Given a big dose of fall-out, you might have children with webbed feet or gills. Probably you're thinking that's not so bad, with the amount of rain we get here, but nevertheless, this thing is serious.

Here's why. A good map will show you that the spot where Chilhowee's lofty craters point the azure sky is about three minutes, by air, from Oak Ridge. To put it bluntly, this campus is as near the bullseye as William Tell ever was. Then there's the Alcoa aluminum plant right down the road. And even if there's a slip-up and Oak Ridge and Alcoa are forgotten, there's another prime target in the area — the transmitters of Great WATE Radio, which rank only with Radio Free Europe in local importance.

So make no mistake — we're in a potential target area, and we're unprepared. And while we can't change the target area, we can, both as individuals and as a group, get ready.

Individually, probably the best we can do is wrap towels around our heads, and put on trench coats and sun glasses. Girls tell me the coat and towel idea is like aspirin — good for everything. Of course the sun glasses will protect our eyes, and anyway, they always look collegiate with trench coats. So much for what to wear.

Now we're dressed up with no place to go. You're thinking, that's nothing new, it happens every Saturday night, but the point is we need a shelter. Somebody suggested the woods, but it was decided that's not quite the type of shelter the CD people have in mind. Another suggested refuge was Kelly's — a committee is investigating this lead. Of course, Kelly's would only be available to those who have not previously used all their town nights. This is all we can suggest at the present time; however, a full committee report is expected in the near future.

So there you have the full picture, and it's pretty black. But don't let it wreck your Thanksgiving — it may not really be as bad as it looks. In fact, just last week, Harry Truman told reporters that the whole fuss about fall-out was a lot of baloney. He declared that fall-out is probably harmless, and he's not even sure it exists. With this reassuring thought, we close, for Mr. Truman certainly knows as much about baloney as anyone.

WEST SPEAKS ON BIRCH SOCIETY

by Helen Anne Easterly

Rev. Robert West, pastor of the Tennessee Valley Unitarian Church in Knoxville, spoke to the Student Volunteer Movement Sunday, November 12, on the John Birch Society.

Organizationally, the John Birch Society is monolithic, based on the personal dedication of the members to Welch, Mr. West said. Welch has the power to expel anyone from the Society; he wants no parliamentary prodecure, no debating or questioning of policy. With one million dedicated followers, Welch believes, he can make the United States what it should be, and save the world from Communism.

Three publications of the Society are these: the Black Book, a 300 page letter from Welch to Society members, giving his opinion of what is happening in the United States, and pointing out as conscious agents of Communism such leaders as Dulles, Eisenhower, and Bowles; the Blue Book, containing everything he said to the December meeting which formed the society; and the White Book, including all the bulletins which Welch personally writes each month. The Black Book has been withdrawn from circulation, because it was questioned by some of Welch's followers. The others are available from this address: John Birch Society, Belmont 28, Massachusetts.

The principle upon which the Society bases its action, Mr. West said, is that to defeat Communism he must adopt their tactics. This would include front groups, dissemination of literature, election of society leaders to public office. Since John Birchers are the elite, Welch believes, they should lead the United States, whose democracy he calls a fraud, since the US is really a republic.

Some of the specific targets of Welch's opposition are these: the Supreme Court, Civil Rights, Martin Luther King, the Summit Conference, the National Council of Churches, income tax, fluoridation, TVA, foreign aid, social security, UN, NATO, UNICEF, Earl Warren, Richard M. Nixon, Dag Hammarskjold, some movies ("Inherit the Wind," "Spartacus").

On the other hand, he supports these things: nuclear tests, Barry Goldwater, the movie "The Alamo," Strom Thurmond, General Walker, and "Operation Abolition." He speaks of the apathy of the American people (and here Mr. West agrees, adding that we are victims of anxiety).

Organized into local chapters which are semi-secret in some locales, the John Birch Society charges $24 per year membership for a man, $12 for a woman, or $1000 for a life membership.

The program of the society is comparable, Mr. West said, to the Communist program itself in many respects. For example:

The Communists attempt to weaken NATO so its troops may not advance in Europe; the Society wishes to remove US troops from NATO, thus removing its strength. The Communist wish to wreck the UN by their veto power; the John Birch Society wishes to withdraw the US from the UN, thus leaving the Communists in control. The Communists encourage underdeveloped nations to refuse US aid; Welch wishes to withdraw it.

The Communists labor to convince Americans that Communism imposes no external military threat; the John Birch Society contends that the Communist danger is almost entirely from internal treason, with very little danger outside. The Communists try to persuade the US Government to cut its defense budget; Welch decries military spending and advocates abolition of the income tax. The Communists charge the United States with racism, and Welch wishes to impeach Supreme Court Justice Warren because of the school integration decree. Both the Communist Party and the John Birch Society infiltrate union, political, and civic groups; in both is the feeling that the end justifies the means, that lies to accomplish the final goal are justifiable.

Mr. West quoted an unnamed source as saying that if the John Birch Society did not already exist, the Communists might have to invent one. The group fosters fear and distrust, West explained, and if its purposes are carried out, the American people fall into the trap the Communists desire. Hitler and Mussolini, he pointed out, were against Communism too; we remember them, however, rather for the cause they supported. The John Birch Society is a fascist organization, he continued, whose members have been duped in their efforts to help the United States fight Communism. The John Birch Society sees everything as a sinister conspiracy, with a Communist influence over the whole US government. Khruschev, Welch says, caused the 1930 depression; Stalin dreamed up US foreign aid; the Federal Reserve plan is part of Point 5 in the Communist Manifesto. Most of Welch's program is negative, advocating repeal. The members of the Society confuse socialism with social legislation; they make no distinction between socialism and Communism. This, Mr. West concluded, is the weakest point of the John Birch Society; a militaristic fascistic organization is not necessary in the fight against Communism.

In answer to a question concerning the motives of intelligent people in joining the Society, West cited many ulterior motives, such as the fear of doctors of socialized medicine and the distaste of southern citizens for integration. Welch's program, he said, is a public relations facade, with a good sales technique employed in molding the organization. Further, many members are there because the Socitey offers a simple answer to their problems, and thus appeals to the individuals' authoritarian tendencies. The Society's answers, West added, are too simple; it wants to overcome Communism — but what does that involve? It would rather be dead than Red — but there are other choices. For people who want quick answers and personal security, the simple solutions — leave the UN, get rid of NATO — look good, but it isn't that kind of world. West believes personally that if our government did the kind of thing Welch advocates, the US would be in worse condition, with no individual freedom. The group dislikes open discussion, and Welch considers the two extant political parties useless in preserving freedom.

In addition to its activities under its own name, the John Birch Society influences other movements, infiltrating churches, parent-teacher associations, civic clubs, and such movements as Project Alert. Membership in the society itself is irrelevant; many other groups unwittingly carry out its plans, through use of its movies on Communism and its printed material. Communism, Mr. West said, should be taught by qualified teachers so it can effectively be opposed as such. Many of the ideas opposed by the John Birch Society are individual political and economic conditions which should be handled individually,

Con't. on Page 6

A tense scene in the rehersals of the Barnwarming Show Out of the Hat produces various reactions. Ferdinand the Greatest (David Styles) presents his card to David the Great (David Evans) and Melrose (Patt O'Neill), while May (Barbara McCarter), June (Jeannie Paine), and Julie (Elizabeth Lee), look on.

Out of the Hat will be presented on Thanksgiving night at 8:00 p.m. in the alumni gym. $1.00 for adults, $.75 for students, and $.50 for children will be charged; the proceeds will be used for a scholarship for a Korean student and for the Faith Co-operative Parish.

Religious Life Committee Meets

During the first weeks of November the Student-Faculty Religious Life and Activities Committee has held two meetings. At the first of these the committee met with various ministers from the churches in the community. The need to foster better relations between the churches and the students was the main topic of discussion. The ministers agreed that they and their members should take more responsibility in this area and expressed a desire to do so. At the same time it was recognized that the attitude and response of the students were also important. The requirement of church and Sunday School attendance was also discussed along with the pros and cons of the honor reports.

On November 9 the committee met with the Student Body President, Connie Bondurant, and the YWCA president, Elsie Harris. The question of what we should do to help students feel more a part of the local churches and of the use of Sunday afternoons were discussed.

MESSIAH CHORUS HAS 300 VOICES

Approximately 300 vocalists, as well as the Maryville College-Community orchestra, are practicing each Monday night in preparation for the 29th annual performance of "Messiah" on the Maryville College campus. The oratorio by George Frederic Handel will be presented on Sunday, December 10, beginning at 3 p.m.

The Maryville group will be in Knoxville on Tuesday, Dec. 12 to present the "Messiah" with the Knoxville Symphony Orchestra.

Dr. Harry H. Harter, who is a professor of music at Maryville, will be directing "Messiah" here for the fifteenth time.

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!
Office Supplies? We got 'em
Office Equipment? like wise
Office machines? our middle name.
Service? on all we sell (with a smile)
Delivery? Fastest and best.
Parking? Free, 10 feet from the door.
WHITE OFFICE MACHINES
" WON'T WRITE – CALL WHITE"
Court St. 983-4762

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

The "Y" Store Proudly serves
MAYFIELD'S
Ice Cream and Milk
Smoother, Richer, better Tasting
Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

GOOD MUSIC
"Y" PROGRAMS
Sunday–9:30 P.M.
CONCERT HALL
Daily
12:30–1:30
Good Listening
WGAP
Dial 1400

DINE AT NIGHT . . .
BY CANDLELIGHT –

CHOICE STEAKS Served Sizzling Hot . . .
Real ITALIAN PIZZA A Specialty
Leonard's is the perfect place to bring parents or friends for fine foods and delightful atmosphere.
Smorgasbord Every Sunday – 11:30 to 7:00
LEONARD'S STEAK HOUSE

TOP PICTURE: Kappa Phi Knights, champions of second half intramural football. Standing left to right: Bob Johnston, Dave Marston, Mike Garrett, Bill McGuire, Dick Murchison. Kneeling: Phil Brown, Lew Pelkey, Dave Meneely, John Mitchell. Not shown: Bill Weissenburger. BOTTOM PICTURE: Chinese Bandits, champions of first half intramural football. Standing left to right: Gayle Giffin, Don Sentell, Tom Headrick, Lynn Webb, Don Peterson. Kneeling: Buddy Stinnett, Gene Dixon, Tator Brown, Tom Crawford. Not shown: B. L. Irvin, George Herron, Joel Giffin.

Knights Win 19-12

The improving Kappa Phi Knights upset the high flying Chinese Bandits last Thursday afternoon to the tune of 19-12, in what was a very exciting and interesing game. By virtue of this victory, the Knights now lead the intramural league and are favored to win the second half championship.

The Chinese Bandits drew first blood in the first quarter as a pass play from Lynn Webb to Don Sentell netted six points. The attempted extra point was missed. In the second quarter the men of Kappa Phi struck back fast, as quarterback Mike Garrett hit Dave Meneely with a touchdown pass that tied the game. Dick Murchison scored the extra point, putting the Knights in a lead they never relinquished.

In the third quarter the Knights again found the scoring column to their liking, culminating their drive in a beautiful pass play from Mike Garrett to Dick Murchison. The extra point try failed. In a fourth quarter filled with action, each team scored once. Don Peterson put the Bandits back in the ball game by intercepting a pass and going all the way for the score. The try for point was no good, and the score remained 13-12, with the Knights leading. This one point lead was increased shortly after, however, as once again Mike Garrett passed to Dave Meneely for six points. For all practical purposes, the game appeared to be over, but still the Chinese Bandits were not through. They drove down the field and scored on the very last play of the game, but the touchdown was nullified as the play was called back because of an illegal procedure penalty.

Coming events department: the playoff for the league championship will be Wednesday afternoon, November 22. Friday, November 24, balloting for the all-star teams will take place at the intramural office in Bartlett Hall between 3:30 and 6:00 p.m.

All men who have played intramural football this year are eligible to vote. Saturday afternoon, November 25, immediately following the Powder Puff Game the annual Stinkin' Shoe classic will be played on Honaker field.

The All-Star Game also will be played on Honaker Field, with kickoff time set for 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, November 29.

Volleyball gets under way beginning Monday, December 4. All team rosters should be turned in to George Flack no later than Monday, November 27.

Intramural Football Standing

Team	Won	Lost
Knights	4	0
Bandits	3	1
Hammers	3	1
Sledgehammers	2	2
Squires	2	2
Ball Peen Hammers	1	3
Barons	1	3
Dukes	0	4

CLASH WITH C-N TODAY

This afternoon at Honaker Field the Maryville Scots close their highly successful 1961 season in the annual clash with the Carson-Newman Eagles. It will be the thirty-eighth time the two teams have met. Maryville holds the lead in the overall series with nineteen wins, fourteen loses; three games have ended in ties.

The rivalry began in 1903 when Maryville beat the Eagles 72-0. Only two other games have been as lopsided. In 1915 Maryville won 99-0, and in 1958 Carson-Newman buried the Scots 75-0. As a rule, most of the games are extremely close. Last year the Eagles won 7-0 in a well-played game.

Carson-Newman has won two and lost six this year, but they have improved with each game. The two victories have been over Newberry 34-7 and U.T. Martin Branch 10-8. When asked what their weaknesses are, Coach Baird replied, "They haven't got any; they're good all the way around. It's going to be a real tough game." Coach Woodby, who has scouted them, said, "They have improved immensely."

Maryville, on the other hand, has won six and lost only one. The team performed excellently against Southwestern of Memphis to beat them 22-10 in the homecoming game. Then the Scots "drowned" Millsaps, last year's Rocket Bowl opponent, 6-0, luckily scoring in the last quarter. However, the team did not meet expectations in their game with Frederick last week. After Frederick, who is having its first football experience, led 7-0 most of the game, Maryville came up with a touchdown in the last quarter, gambled on a try for two points, and came out 8-7 victors.

If Carson-Newman is constantly improving and if Maryville is not using its potential, it could be a sad day for the Scots despite their superior record. Both teams, regardless of the results of previous games, will face each other with rugged determination this afternoon, and, as in the past, team spirit will be the deciding factor.

SOCCER TEAM LOSES OPENER

The Maryville College newly-organized soccer team lost to Carson-Newman College by a score of 6-2 in a game played here on the fourth of November.

The game was the first for the team, and it also marked the first time Maryville College has been represented by an inter-collegiate soccer team since 1959.

In the first half the Carson-Newman team took advantage of their superior size, aggressiveness, and experience to submerge Maryville by a 6-1 score. The team was led by their star, a Brazilian center who scored three times and was responsible for setting up the other three. Art Ihrig kicked the only goal for Maryville in the first half.

The second half was a somewhat different story. Maryville took note of the fact that they were being out-hustled. Thus, they took the field with a more determined attitude, and it payed off in a much more exciting and well-played game. Jim Whitney scored early in the half by banging a pass from Sing Changtrakul through the goal. This was the only goal in the half for MC, but the center halfback played a brilliant defensive game in holding the Brazilian star scoreless.

The game ended with Carson-Newman on top by a 6-2 score, but Maryville gained a wealth of experience for future games.

J. V. Loses 14-7

The Maryville College junior varsity lost its only game of the year to Castle Heights Military Academy by a score of 14-7. The game, played the afternoon before homecoming, was characterized by defensive play. Castle Heights led 7-0 at the end of the first half and scored again in the second.

Maryville's score came in the last two minutes of the game when Keith Bailey dove over for a touchdown, climaxing a long drive sparked by a 35-yard pass from Jack Moore to Mack Hall. Mike McBride kicked the extra point.

Parks-Belk
Home of Better Values

MARYVILLE'S FINEST

Shop In Our Sportswear Department

Shimmering Cotton Satin Tops.
Color-Blender Corduroy Slim Pants, cut narrow as an arrow.
Over Blouse has mandarin neckline.
Kookie Shirt shaped long and lean!

$5.99

CAPITOL THEATRE
SUN. – WED.

WE'VE CHANGED LOCATIONS
But We Want To Keep Our Friends

In our new quarters, we offer you the same quality goods and friendly service you've come to expect. Y'all come see us . . .

Religious Books
Greeting Cards

Thanksgiving Ideals
Study Aids

Now In Midland Shopping Center
We Invite Your Continued Patronage

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK

Free Bus Rides from Ellis and College

THUMBS UP!

By John Mitchell

This afternoon's game will be the climax of the season for the Maryville Scotties. It has been said that it didn't matter if they lost all of their other games as long as the Scots beat Carson-Newman. I'm thinking (quite rationally, for once) that we will win it and quite a few of the others (as if we hadn't already).

C-N should produce a lot of glamor today since they were on TV last Saturday, but after this game I'm afraid they will look more like buzzards than eagles.

Said a freshman running off the intramural field, "If it is true that the bigger they are the harder they fall, I must be a mighty big man."

Does the big X on the practice jerseys of the football team mean anything, or is it just there to discourage borrowing?

If some of us had Warfield's breath control, we might not get out of breath so often while playing sports.

Have you noticed the green grass inside the baseball diamond? But let's not get too carried away with baseball yet; we still have basketball before us. And if you want to see just how close in front of us it is, take a peek in the alumni gym sometime. Those aren't ghosts making all that noise in the "barn."

The dance band was quite sporty after the homecoming game. Keep up the good work.

Intramural teams customarily give a cheer for their opponents after the game. There are some teams — a very small minority — that consistently don't do this. Maybe good sportsmanship is too sissy for them.

The Powder Puff game and the Stinking Shoe game will be played the same day. The men won't be the only ones hobbling around the next week or so. Why not a game between the men and women some time as a casual test to see which is the stronger sex. Any challenges, women?

Remember the thought for the day: Pluck that Eagle!

Athlete of the Month

The man taking the honors for this month is lineman Gene Smith, a sophomore from Belvidere, New Jersey. Gene is an alternate center, but his specialty is playing linebacker on defense. That number 50 you see in the opponent's backfield several times during a game is Gene.

As you can see, he already has and will play a big part in plucking the tail feathers out of the Carson-Newman Eagles.

Magnavox

The Stereograph
All-in-one stereo phonograph. Magnavox Micromatic record player with 1/10-ounce pressure. Records can last a lifetime. Diamond stylus guaranteed for 10 years against discernible wear. In a variety of colors.

$99.90

$69.90

The Playfellow— 4-speed monaural. 8" speaker. Micromatic record player. 10 year diamond stylus guarantee. Plays all records.

$79.90

The Saratoga—Stereo phono. Micromatic record player. 10 year diamond stylus guarantee. Two separate speakers.

See them at either of our two convenient locations
W. Church Street — Midland Shopping Center

HITCH'S

CIRCLE K MOTTO IS "WE BUILD"

The Circle K Club is not a fraternity or a secret society, but a men's service organization, sponsored by Kiwanis International, which serves the campus, the school and the community on a college level. This club, under the motto "We Build," adopted from its sponsor, encourages and promotes the following ideals:

"To give primary to the human and spiritual rather than to the material values of life. To encourage the daily living of the Golden Rule in all human relationships. To promote the adoption and the application of higher social, business and professional standards.

"To develop by precept and example, a more intelligent, aggressive, and serviceable citizenship. To provide through Circle K clubs, a practical means to form enduring friendships, to render altruistic service, and to build better communities. To cooperate in creating and maintaining that sound public opinion and high idealism which makes possible the increase of righteousness, justice, patriotism, and good will."

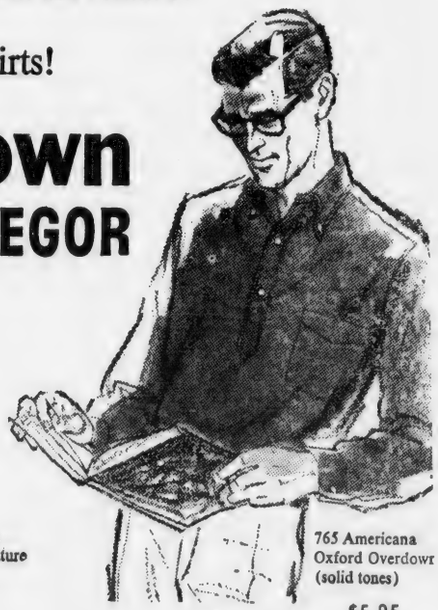
Circle K is not a society with a pre-planned or set program. Each club bases its activities on the needs of its campus or community. The work and service of the club is carried out by committees, and each member must be active in this program of service projects by working on one or more of these committees.

A member who falls below the minimum scholastic standard of the school or club jeopardizes his membership.

The officers of the Maryville Circle K Club, under the Circle K International, are James Skeen, president; Art Ihrig, vice president; Gordon Stewart, secretary; Edward Perantoni, treasurer; and Ernest Cox, Don Jackman, Ronald Elly, and John Showalter, directors.

Kiwanians guide and counsel the club in all its activities. Two of the Circle K members meet with the Kiwanians at their weekly meetings on a rotating basis.

CHRISTMAS IS "JUST AROUND— — —"



Get your favorite Boy Friend an Ivy Sport Shirt from Proffitt's!

New Direction in Sportshirts!

overdown by McGREGOR

765 Persian Batik Overdown (miniature batik) $5.95

765 Americana Oxford Overdown (solid tones) $5.95

765 Dusk Tone Overdown (dark madder tones) $5.95

Easy-on, easy-off OVERDOWNS are over-the-head shirts with button-down collars. McGregor tailors them with an authentic air: natural lines, long stay-put tails in rich cottons that spell dressy sportshirting and relaxed sportshirting!

Proffitt's

Row 1: Neilson, Gray, Hutcheson. Row 2: Dozier, Reichardt, Harris, Lemme. Row 3: Bondurant, Evans, Moffett, Hanks, Kinnamon.

Twelve Seniors Make "Who's Who"

Twelve Maryville seniors were selected recently for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. This publication provides a reference list of outstanding college students for business firms and other employers.

The honored students are Constance Sue Bondurant, Christian education major from Prairie Village, Kansas, and president of the Student Body; Ellen Harris Dozier, Christian education major from Decatur, Georgia, President of the former Christian Education Club and present chairman of that YWCA committee; Paul Clyde Evans, English major from Stratford Connecticut, and a member of Tau Kappa Chi and the Vesper Choir; Glenda Ann Gray, mathematics major from Alcoa, Tennessee, officer of Tau Kappa Chi, member of the Vesper Choir, and former recipient of the Alpha Gamma Sigma scholarship; Arthur Timothy Hanks, sociology major from Orlando, Florida, secretary of YMCA, member of Student Council, and a winner of the Catechism scholarship; Elsie May Harris, English major from Pineville, North Carolina, president of YWCA, and a senior counselor.

Glorianna Natalie Hutcheson, home economics major from Atlanta, Georgia, president of Chi Beta, and a senior counselor; Rebeccah Ann Kinnamon, English major from Kernersville, North Carolina, and president of WSGA; Sue Ann Lemme, English major from Normal, Illinois, vice-president of Theta Epsilon, and a senior counselor; Robert Blair Moffett English major from Oyster Bay, New York, member of the Vesper Choir, Student Council, the Artist Series Committee; Barbara Alice Nielson, elementary education major from Rutherford, New Jersey, and vice-president of both SNEA and YWCA; and Elizabeth Beck Reichardt, English major from Ashland, Kentucky, editor of the Highland Echo, and secretary-treasurer of the Student Council.

The four national qualifications for election to "Who's Who" include excellence and sincerity in scholarship, leadership and participation in extracurricular and academic activities, citizenship and service to the college, and promise of future success in business and society.

All senior students, faculty members, and administrative officers could participate in the selection. First, each of them chose fourteen candidates from the upper third of the graduating class. Then each voted a second time for fourteen students in the top two-thirds of the original group. The Dean of the college and the Student Body President tabulated the final list.

Library System Has Been Changed

The library has made the following revisions in its system concerning overdue books:

Available at the circulation desk are self-notification cards, which will be sent to the dormitories the day before the books are due.

There will be no overdue notices sent this year. It is considered the responsibility of the student to return books on time.

There will be no "charge" system for paying fines. Fines must be paid when the books are returned, unless the student has permission from the circulation librarian to pay at a later time.

If fines are not paid promptly, a negligence fee of fifty cents will be added.

The library urges the students to look in the back of the book for the date when it is due, and to make use of the self-notification cards. Any further questions from students will be answered at the library.

FAC Activities Include Concerts, Faculty Recital

Among Fine Arts activities in past weeks have been the orchestra concert on November 10, and the fall serenade of the glee club and women's choir last night (November 17), and these activities will be continued next week with the faculty recital by Roger Wagner, pianist.

The orchestra this year is possibly the largest in Maryville's history, consisting of forty-five players, forty-one of whom took part in the concert. The string section, with seventeen players, is especially impressive. The program for the concert included March Hongroise, by Berlioz; Variations on a Theme by Haydn, Op. 56a and 56b, by Brahms; Funeral March of the Marionettes, by Gounod; Praeludium, by Jaanefelt; and an English Folk Song Suite, consisting of three folksongs by Vaughan-Williams.

The orchestra's plans for the year include playing for Messiah and a spring concert in April, as well as some performances which are indefinite at the time.

"Calendar Daze," presented by the Glee Clubs last night in their Fall Serenade, took the audience from New Year's Eve through the year to New Year's Eve, stopping along the way at each season and many special days during the year. About fourteen soloists and small ensembles provided the specialty numbers, while the entire group gave an outstanding performance.

Roger Wagner, pianist, will perform at a Faculty Recital on November 24 at 8 p.m. His program will consist of music by Bach, Beethoven, Schumann, Bartok, Brahms and Chopin.

WEST SPEAKS
Con't. from Page 3

rather than lumped together as "Communism." There are films other than those put out by the Birch Society which can be used to combat Communism; yet many organizations use Birch film whose element of fear distorts the problem. Indeed, the whole Society program is based on an appeal to the emotions. The answer to the problem is education and free discussion. Mr. West said his answer to a typical Birch Society question, "Are you a member of a group actively engaged in fighting Communism?" is, "Yes"; he is a citizen of the United States. A majority of Americans are not interested n the Birch Society. according to a Gallup Poll made some time ago; they neither support it nor actively oppose it.

Concerning the Birch Society's attitude toward religion, West said it has no religious conflict with anyone, although its denials of anti-Semitism have been denied by the Anti-Defamation League B'nai B'rith. Welch says there a 7,000 Communist sympathizers in American pulpits. but does not name them.

In conluding, West said that there are many books of accurate information on Communism, and that the FBI is another good source. The major threat, Mr. West feels, is not in American Communists, but in outside aggression. Above all, he added, lies are not necessary in proving that democracy is superior to Communism.

Franklin To Speak In Vespers Nov. 19

On November 19, Dr. Samuel Franklin will be the Vesper speaker. Dr. Franklin is a graduate of Maryville College in the class of 1924. He received his B.D. degree from McCormick Seminary in Chicago; he then went to the University of Edinbourgh in Scotland where he studied for a year. He has studied at Union Seminary in New York while on furlough in the United States.

Dr. Franklin and his wife are members of the faculty at Union Theological Seminary in Tokyo, Japan. They plan to return to Japan in December.

Dr. Franklin is very interested in talking with students interested in missions and will be available for this purpose Monday morning. Students may sign up on the sheet in Dr. Campbell's office to talk with Dr. Franklin.

Modern man is not becoming sinless; he is just becoming lacking in the sense of sin.

—Church of England's Archbishop of York

*Homemade Pies
*Breakfast Anytime
*Complete Short Order Menu
*Hol 'n One Donuts & Fine Coffee

FREE DELIVERY
on Orders of $5.00 or More

YOUR 24 HOUR HOST — WE NEVER CLOSE
Broadway Downtown 982-1541

THE COFFEE HOUSE

SPECIAL

Offered To
MARYVILLE COLLEGE
Students & Personnel

Michaels

COLD WAVE

The permanent that snaps back with the Flick of a Comb — Positively Guaranteed excepting tinted hair.

$6.95 COMPLETE

Offered for a Limited Time Only By . . .
COLLEGE HILL SALON — Stanley Avenue

MODERN!

FLORSHEIM
High Risers

$24.95
*Black
*Black Gold
*Expresso Brown

This is the height of fashion! Sweeping lines rise to meet today's higher cuffline . . . slim and flatter the foot. Come in for a try-on.

C. C. MOORE'S
SHOEMAKERS SHOE STORE
Maryville's Good Shoe Store

The Highland Echo

Maryville College

Vol. 47 | Maryville, Tennessee, December 2, 1961 | No. 6

Holiday Ball Held Pearsons Tonight

The annual Christmas formal, Holiday Ball, sponsored by Kappa Phi and Chi Beta, will be held in the dining hall tonight from 8:00 until 12:00. This year the dance will be in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Copeland.

For the first time the formal is to be held in the dining hall, which will be adorned in true holiday fashion. A fourteen foot Christmas tree will stand in the center of the room, and two artificial trees will decorate the back dining hall. Candles and Christmas wreaths in the windows, snowflakes suspended from the ceiling, and six artificial chandeliers will complement the center attraction, the traditional Christmas tree. Colored lights, strung from the trees on the walkway of Pearsons, will brighten the path to this holiday ball.

The lobby will be used for a coat check, the front part of the dining hall for dancing, and the back section for the serving tables. The college dance band will play for the occasion.

Lois Ann Jones and Rich Gossweiler are serving as chairmen. Miss Lindamood, the Ramgers, the Stidhams, the Roberts, and the Harters will be chaperoning.

Elliott Directs "No Exit" Dec. 16

"No Exit," a workshop production written by the French playwright Jean Paul Sartre and directed by Paul Elliott will be presented in the theatre December 16.

The cast includes four persons trapped in Hell portrayed by Carole Ansley as Estelle; Barbara McCarter as Inez, Tom Dickerson as Garcin, and William Conger as Valet.

This production tends to be unusual in that Hell is the setting, and that the theme, carried throughout, is existentialism. Dr. E. Fay Campbell will speak after the play about the philosophy pretoo, is light comedy.

Copeland, McClelland To Attend Meetings

President Joseph J. Copeland and Dean Frank D. McClelland will be in Miami Beach, Florida, for several days next week to attend the 66th annual meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and related organizations.

Dr. Copeland is scheduled to leave this Saturday morning, so as to attend a Maryville College alumni meeting at Lake Wales, Florida, today and tomorrow. This will be the annual gathering of MC alumni in Florida.

He will then go to Miami Beach for the Southern Association meeting which is scheduled to open on Monday.

Dean McClelland plans to leave Monday night for the meeting of an affiliated group, the Conference of Academic Deans. He is scheduled to return to Maryville on Thursday night.

The Southern Association meeting, which will end on Thursday, will hear President Andrew D. Holt of the University of Tennessee during the general session on Tuesday evening.

FOREIGN FILMS ARE FEATURED

The next two films on the Maryville College Film Series agenda are "Mexican Bus Ride" which will be shown the evening of December 16, and "Mr. Hulot's Holiday" which will be shown January 6th, also in the evening.

"Mexican Bus Ride," filmed in Mexico, has been recognized as one of the best movies to come out of Mexico's motion picture industry. The film received a "Best Film" award at the Cannes Festival. It is a comedy, light and amusing, with English subtitles; the stars are almost entirely unknown Mexican actors.

"Mr. Hulot's Holiday," a French film, stars Jacques Tati, and it, too, is light comedy.

Best Negative Team

MC SPEECH TEAM WINS HONORS AT EMORY UNIVERSITY TOURNEY

An attractive silver bowl symbolizing top honors for a speech team is on the Maryville College campus following the return of debaters and speakers from their first major speech tournament of the season. This was the Peach Tree Debate Tournament held on the Emory University campus in Atlanta with approximately 100 entrants from 15 colleges and universities in six states.

Jane Dodez and Judith Mikeal teamed to win top honors as the best negative team" and received the trophy in recognition of this fact.

Winning third place honors as the best four-member team were Don Jackman, Don Leo, Gloria Sturmfels and Joyce Williams.

Mr. Leo and Mr. Jackman took third place honors as the best negative team in their competition.

Honorable mention as a four-member team was won by Tom Stanley, Brad Rehm, Miss Mikeal and Miss Dodez.

Don Leo in individual debating won a "superior" rating and ranked third in the entire competition in this classification. The "superior" rating is the highest possible rating and only five persons were so honored.

Jane Dodez received an "excellent" rating, one of five persons so honored.

The Maryville College team left on Friday, November 10 and returned late Saturday.

Dr. Arda S. Walker coaches the MC speakers and debaters.

Messiah Soloists Are Announced

Student soloists have been chosen for the twenty-ninth annual Maryville College presentation of George Frederick Handel's "Messiah." The oratorio will be presented in the college chapel on Sunday, December 10, at 3 p.m., and in Knoxville on Tuesday, December 12, with the Knoxville Symphony Orchestra.

The soloists participating are the following: Dan Davis, "Comfort ye my people" and "Every valley shall be exalted"; Philip Eslinger, "Thus saith the Lord"; Bruce Townsend, "But who may abide"; Arlette Roselli, "Behold, a virgin shall conceive" and "O Thou that tellest good tidings"; David Evans, "For behold darkness shall cover the earth" and "The people that walked in darkness"; Carole Webster, "There were Shepherds" and And the angel said unto them"; Joyce Koch, "And Lo! the angel of the Lord" and "And suddenly there was with the angel"; Carol Cooper, "Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion"; and Jean Dorschied, "Then shall the eves" and "He shall feed his flock."

Pat O'Neill, "He was despised"; Susan Bloomer and Glenda Gray, "How beautiful are the feet"; Virginia Pratt, "I know that My Redeemer Liveth"; Martha Hall, "Come unto them"; Bruce Jenkins, "Thy Rebuke" and "Behold and see"; Mr. Dan Kinsinger, "He was cut off" and "But Thou didst not"; and Paul Evans, "Behold I tell you a mystery" and "The Trumpet shall sound."

Dr. Harry H. Harter, professor of music, Marvville College, will be directing the "Messiah" at the college for the fifteenth time.

University Of The Seven Seas Planned

The University of the Seven Seas, a new concept in education, is being readied for its first round-the-world voyage, and will depart from an East Coast Port in October of 1962 with 500 students and thirty-five faculty members.

The brainchild of William T. Hughes, California industrialist, the University was originally sponsored by the Rotary Club of Whittier, California. Since then it has become a not-for-profit corporation devoted to education and chartered in the State of California.

Home of the University will be the S. S. Jerusalem, of the Zim-Israeli Company, a recently constructed ship which is completely air-conditoned and equipped with stabilizers. Comfortable accommodations, ample space for classrooms and study areas, plus the elimination of roll make the ship an ideal educational headquarters.

The first semester trip, October 1962, will be from an East Coast Port around the world to a West Coast Port. It will include stops in many countries including: Liberia, Ghana, Nigeria, Union of South Africa, Mozambique, Kenya, India, Ceylon, Malaya, Formosa, Japan, Hawaii, and, finally, a port on the West Coast of the United States. Here the students will leave the floating campus, and return to their various colleges and universities throughout the world.

At the end of each semester, the work of the student body will be evaluated by an impartial committee of educators selected from the faculty of colleges and universities throughout the United States and Canada.

Briefly, the mission of the University of the Seven Seas is to present an educational challenge to the problem of man in his world using the insights of his nation and cultures.

Further information and application blanks may be obtained by writing to Dr. E. Ray Nichols, Jr., Executive Director, University of the Seven Seas, P. O. Box 71, Whittier, California.

Edinburgh Graduate

DONALD GRANT WILL LECTURE ON "USA AND USSR" DECEMBER 8

Donald Grant

The first lecture of the 1961-1962 Lecture Series will be given by Donald Grant, M. A., F. R. G. S., of London, England, on Friday evening, December 8, at eight o'clock in the College Theatre. Mr. Grant is making his tenth lecture tour of the United States and has included Maryville College in several of his tours during the past quarter century. His lecture topic will be "USA and USSR."

Mr. Grant is an honors graduate of Edinburgh University. After World War I he started the student relief work in Vienna which grew into the World University Service of today. He launched and edited for many years the international three-language student monthly Vox Studentium. He was associated with Nansen and Hoover in the Russian famine relief program following World War I. In recognition of his work the ancient universities of Vienna and Innsbruck have conferred upon him honoris causa, the gold medal of the University. In 1933 he acted as interpreter for Albert Einstein when he addressed the journalists at the World Disarmament Conference at Geneva. For a time he was Director of the New Zealand Student Christian Movement. After World War II Mr. Grant worked for the American Military Government in Germanv.

While in this area Mr. Grant will address the Maryville Rotary Club, the Knoxville Civitan Club, and Tennessee Epsilon Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu. On Saturday, December 9, he will talk to the International Relations class at 8:30 in Thaw No. 214 on the subject of "Germany—The Question Mark of Europe." Anyone interested in this topic is invited to attend.

Mr. Grant will also be available if other groups or classes wish to have him speak on December 7, 8 and 9. He will have with him color slides on England, London, Scotland and the Highlands.

USNSA Provides Travel Abroad

U.S.N.S.A. again this year makes possible travel abroad at low costs to all students by means of their Student Travel Program. The wide variety of travel programs for 1962 include general interest tours, study tours, a work-camp program, and a hosteling program. These plans include travel through Western and Eastern Europe, Latin America, Japan, and also a trip around the world. Special programs such as the Festival of Music and Arts Tour are for students with particular interests.

One of the main advantages of N.S.A. travel is the low cost. In addition, travel scholarships and loans are offered to deserving participants. Students attending schools which are members of N.S.A. can travel at lower rates than students of non-member schools. An international student identity card, which can be purchased by the student for one dollar, entitles the holder to discounts or free admission to museums, galleries, hostels, and the like in twenty-eight countries.

Other advantages of N.S.A. travel are their graduate student guides, the orientation programs, the opportunity for informal meeting with foreign students, the time allowed for individual pursuits, and travel with an all-student group.

Theatre Presents Chinese Play In Dec. 2 Matinee

Land of the Dragon, a playhouse production, will be presented to the public in the theatre Friday, December 1st at 8:00 p.m., and Saturday, December 2nd at 3:30 p.m.

This play, written for children, is patterned almost entirely after the Chinese theatre.

The cast and staff are as follows: Stage manager, Linda Schug; Property man, Mary Beth Judkins; Princess Jude Pure, Jan Rickards; Twenty-first Cousin, Elaine Coleman; Twenty-second Cousin, Jo Ann Renn; Twenty-third Cousin, Cecelia Bridges; Twenty-fourth Cousin, Janet Courley; Precious Harp, Michaele Ann Douglas; Covet Spring, Betsy Fowler; Road Wanderer, Marsha Stern; Small One, David Alsmeyer.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

MARYVILLE COLLEGE

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Member of University Press Service. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester; $1.75 per year.

Beth Reichardt, Editor

Lynn Herring, Assistant Helen Anne Easterly, News

Pat Baker, Features

Chuck Spencer, Sports (This Issue) Anitra Bard, Exchange

Mike Garrett, Business Manager

Phyllis Deloteus, Assistant Norman Marschner, Circulation

Dr. Carolyn Blair, Mr. Frank Layman, Faculty Advisors

Contributors: Sharon Ruggles, Ellen Dozier, Connie Bondurant, Tom Salmon, Todd Owers, John Gamble, Pat Crossley, Keen Compher, Jean Kelleher, Jeanette Peckham, Alice Stengel, Charlotta Cook, Mary Gay Boettcher, Margaret Dozier, Phil Jerome, John Mitchell, Jeanne Price.

Contributors' Column

MONOLOGUE

by Lynn Waddington

Anne Ladybug ladybug fly away home
Mary The only thing that bothers me about loving Anne is that you have to be loved
Anne That isn't your objective
Mary My objection
Anne Come on little ladybug
Can't you see what's good for you
Come on Fly away
Mary The sky is closing in
Anne It is Oh look
The silhouette of that old grandfather tree
Mary It can't protect us though
Anne Mary you're always afraid something's going to get you
Mary Someday it is
Anne Someday what is
Mary Those stars are all moving
Anne Everything moves
Even when you hold your breath
Mary And that poor skinny naked
old tree is no protection
Anne let's go climb that tree
Anne Don't be ridiculous
Mary I've always wanted to climb it
It's so tall and strong you could sit up there like God himself and look out over this whole valley
You could climb out real careful on that left limb and swing just slightly so the wind would blow a lullaby through your hair
Anne It wouldn't work It couldn't
That tree's been dead so many years it's brittle Must be
It only looks that strong
Mary Is that why nobody's allowed to climb it
Anne Nobody Aren't you either
Mary I only know one person to have done it
Tommy Stack And he was killed
Anne You're the dumbest ladybug I've ever seen
Mary I'd never be able to reach the lowest branches which aren't much lower than the top ones
And those are almost out of sight
Anyway the design is beautiful
Anne Have you ever wondered if the air is offended when we push it aside
Well you needn't be We belong here too
We were put here without any choice
Besides you have all that space you can go to Mary Anne do you love me
Anne Nope
Mary Have you ever loved anyone
Besides that math teacher of yours
Anne That's called idol worship
I'm over that now Thank God
I love that tree
Mary It looks almost like it's holding up the sky now
Anne You're a cute little ladybug
Mary Anne
Anne What's the matter
Mary It's coming after me
Anne Oh for Pete's sake Here we go again
Mary It is
Anne What is Mary The sky

For CHRISTMAS...
A SPECIAL KIND OF GIFT!
Regardless of what you want in the way of FINE JEWELRY –
Or how expensive your Taste –
We invite you to check our superb selection for a Gift that's sure to please.
BROADWAY JEWELERS

UNEDITORIAL

I had the strangest dream the other night. I was walking along the sidewalk with a friend, in the dream, and someone came charging out of a house to yell frantically, "They say on the radio that there are Russian planes flying over the United States." My friend and I went on down the street, and we didn't feel particularly frightened. After a few minutes we looked up and there were several Russian planes flying rather low above us. We kept walking calmly, expecting bombs to fall. We reached the house safely without hurrying, and we weren't worried. But we looked out the window and saw a car park in the drive. Six or eight people swarmed out of the car and into the house, where they efficiently and quietly began to take over the household chores.

One black fellow didn't work, but sat on the arm of a chair and regarded us with piercing grey eyes. He was small and thin and his features gave me the fleeting impression that he was from India. I wondered about the relevance of that. The invaders didn't threaten us. They were rather reserved, and they talked to each other, but only in Russian. My first feeling of panic rose at the thought, "We'll never be able to communicate, because I don't speak Russian. These people will think I'm stupid. I can't speak their language." I snatched frantically for phrases of French and German that I remembered from college courses, hoping to prove to them that I was not entirely ignorant. At the same time I wanted suddenly to talk to my friend, but he seemed detached, although he sat only a few yards away. As I wondered whether to try, "Je parle francais" or "Sprechen sie Deutsch," one of the invaders turned and spoke to me — in English. Just at that moment I woke up, and was relieved to hear the radio announcer blare, "The Russians set off a test bomb in Siberia today estimated to be more than fifty megatons in volume . . ."

—H.A.E.

Out of Eternity
This new Day is born;
Into Eternity
At night, will return.
—Thomas Carlyle

Cabbages and Kings

"Do you think it will snow?" I asked the Walrus as he sat in front of the open window, drinking ice water.

"If it doesn't soon," he grumbled, "I'll have to migrate to the North Pole—this warm weather is killing me."

"Warm? Why it hasn't been above fifty for days."

"Anything above zero is hot," he said, and as I left the room, he began to sing his favorite song: "Where Alaska's frozen icebergs, pierce the Artic through, proudly stands the old North Pole, noble, cold, and blue."

* * * * * * *

Have you ever noticed the significant issues that are brought by in house meetings? For instance, last week in our meeting we discussed the problem of whether to keep the New York Times, the Saturday Evening Post, or the Readers' Digest, or whether to get rid of all three or whether to keep some and if so which. After this great problem was solved, we had to decide whether to get orange juice put in the milk machine, thereby making everything 15c or whether to do without orange juice and have 10c milk.

Next came several important announcements. There was the one telling us we can't paint in our rooms, in the halls, or in the basement anymore; however, we can paint in the laundry rooms if we don't mind a little bit of water dripping down. Then we were warned not to mix putty in the sinks. Also we learned that the housemother had put "pad jobs" in the kitchens for us to use when we cook. (I don't quite understand what "pad jobs" are, but it was a very kind thing to do, and maybe the housemother is going "beat.")

Finally we moved on to the greater issues of phones for desks, booths, or boothettes, and kitchens for Chi Betas, couples, or girls. Next the housechairman announced that there have been several requests for a green Christmas tree as opposed to a White Stick—for this problem we set up a special committee.

At last we adjourned this important meeting with the famous battle cry, "And for heaven's sake, keep the noise down in the halls!"

Dr. E. Fay Campbell: Man For The Students

by Tom Salmon

When Dr. Lloyd announced last year that Maryville would again have a college chaplain, my first reaction was—ye gods—required chapel every day (including Tuesday morning confession), required Sunday School and Church, required Bible classes, and now a chaplain to stare us in the face every morning. I also suspected that the chaplain was brought here to enforce religion much as the Dean enforces the M book. Not until the beginning of this year, when I first met Dr. E. Fay Campbell, did my opinion change. I found him a warm, personable man, unencumbered with either a badge or a narrow mind. I found him a man ideally suited for his job—a man with both feet firmly on the ground, and with a broad enough reach to anchor drifting souls.

The other day I wandered into Dr. Campbell's office with nothing in particular on my mind except getting a story. As might be expected, I quickly lost sight of my purpose, and we drifted into casual conversation. As I sat and listened to this man, his interest in the students—as individuals and as a group—became increasingly evident. Here was a man, so I imagined, who would not bristle even at the mention of the word "transfer." Whether he came from the Vatican or Sing-Sing really doesn't matter. The important thing is the man—what he is and what he thinks. Here is my story, scattered fragments of my conversation with Dr. Campbell:

"The chaplain in a church related college should be a pastor at large to the academic community. He should not serve on committees in charge of discipline because he must be free to be a pastor in the true sense of that word. He must be free to talk to any member of the academic community about anything without his fearing reprisal or use of the information in anything that has to do with the college administration.

"Some rules at Maryville are antiquated. Our present rule book should be discarded, and we should start over with new rules to meet the present situation. We must look at the college now in the mid-twentieth century. The best way we can show ourselves loyal to the great past of this college is to plan for the present and future in the light of our current needs.

"It seems to me that you must teach people about sex and then trust them.

"It is a great privilege to be in this academic community as a creative and imaginative new president takes over. There is a tremendous spirit of renewal in the whole life of the institution. We seem to be moving ahead to a stronger and stronger college.

"Personally, I should put the

Cont'd. Page 4

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

Parks-Belk
Home of Better Values

MARYVILLE'S FINEST
Shop In Our
Sportswear
Department

Knights, Phi Win

Kappa Phi reigned over the flag football season with the Knights winning the league championship and the society winning the Stinking Shoe game.

The Knights and the Chinese Bandits met for the championship play-off, and the Knights came out with a 30-20 win over the Bandits, champions for the last three years. Each team had defeated the other in previous games; so it was a rough, show-down game.

The Bandits scored first with Titus Webb and Don Peterson teaming up on a 45-yard pass play. The extra point attempt was not good. The Knights struck back and scored twice in the second period, first on a 5-yard pass from Mike Garrett to Dave Meneely and then on a 75-yard pass from Garrett to Rich Murchison to give them a 12-6 halftime lead.

The third quarter saw the Bandits recapture the lead on a Peterson pass to George Herron covering six yards, and Tom Hendricks made the catch for the extra point. Going into the final quarter it was Bandits 13, Knights 12.

Garrett and Meneely hooked up again for another score, giving the Knights a 18-13 lead. But soon afterwards Peterson passed to Webb and then to Herron for seven points, putting the town team ahead 20-18.

With fifty-six seconds left in the game Murchison took a pass from Garrett to put the Knights in the lead again. Garrett clinched the game for them when he intercepted a pass with twenty seconds left and raced sixty yards for a touchdown, giving the Knights the 1961 championship, the first in many a year.

The Knights will play the all-star team Wednesday for the final game of the season.

For the second year in a row Kappa Phi was able to win a hard-fought victory over Alpha Sigma in the annual Stinking Shoe game by a score of 9-7.

Phi opened the scoring with two points which proved to be the winning margin; Paul Biggers caught Sig's quarterback in his own end zone for a safety and two points.

Sig's score came when Jerry Stewart took a pass from "Chick" Hallen and raced fifty yards for the score. "Red" Prudon added the point.

Phi scored again in the final quarter on a pass from Mike Garrett to Ken Young, and the same two combined efforts for the extra point to give Phi a 9-7 lead, never to be relinquished.

The remainder of the game was a defensive battle. For Phi, Lew Pelkey, Dave Meneely, and Phil Brown played outstanding ball, and Buck Petty, Ray Williams, and Prudon did the same for Sig.

Both teams played a great game with all the players taking a spirited part.

Basketball Begins

With the first basketball game only four days away, Coach Baird has had his basketball candidates hard at work. Hampered by the fact that he has been busy with football, the team is just now beginning to take shape.

This year's squad will be small, both in size and in number. Right now there are only ten men out for the team, but there may be more when the football players rest up from their season. Bert Randall is the only returning letterman, so he will be the mainstay of the team. George Herron, Dave West and Dale Sterner saw some action last year and will be counted on heavily. Also fighting for positions on the squad are freshmen Mike Moyers, Will Mitchell, Tom Phelps, and John Livingston. Sophomores Earl Jordan and Gerald Russell will probably see a lot of action too.

With a small, inexperienced team on hand, Coach Baird's forces will, in all probability, play a defensive game with special emphasis on ball control.

The season starts December 6 at Tusculum, and then on the 10th, 11th, and 12th, the Scotty quintet will be at the Western Carolina Invitational tournament, to meet teams from Howard, Western Carolina College, and Pfieffer College.

Sachet and Sneakers

Chi Beta won the volleyball tournament against Theta Epsilon, winning 8 of the 12 games played. Mug's Monks completed the season undefeated while the Beta Bombers lost only one of their games. Other Chi Beta teams include Cookie's Crumbs, the Do Watts, and the Gay Blades who also had a successful season.

Theta teams were the Chi Bumma Cigs, the Smokey Thetas, the Theta All Thumbs, the Theps, and the Sig-Etes. Points were given to each girl playing on a team and to referees, scorers, and time-keepers which will go toward "M" Club membership.

WAA council and Women's M Club has selected nine girls to make up a volleyball All Star team. These nine players are eligible to participate in a college volleyball day at East Tennessee State College in Johnson City, Tennessee, the weekend of December 2nd. Representatives will be from many colleges and universities in the East Tennessee area. The tournament will be patterned after a "round robin" elimination, contest.

Those All Stars representing Maryville at the tournament include: Ann Docher, Nancy Magill, Nancy Kinsman, Ginna Coon, Terry Brewster, Jeanne Price, Peggy Williams, Janet Reinke, and Arlette Rosselli.

EAGLES NIP SCOTS

The Maryville College football team ended its highly successful 1961 grid season with a 29-20 loss to the Carson-Newman Eagles. The loss gave the Scots a 6-2 record for the year.

The Scots tallied first when Eddie Bruce hit Ron Lingenfelter with a pass good for 35 yards and six points. Albie Ries added the extra point, and Maryville led 7-0. The Scots tallied again in the second period on a 10 yard pass from halfback Tommy Bowers to Ron Lingenfelter. Jim Renfro added the extra point to put Maryville ahead 14-0. But the Eagles struck for two quick touchdowns and led at the half 15-14.

The Highlanders were able to score again in the fourth quarter on a one yard pass from Ron Lingenfelter to Wilbur Ramsey, but Carson-Newman added two more touchdowns in the second half and won the hard-fought contest 29-20.

Three seniors ended their college careers with this game; they are Art Fairchild, Bill Owenby, and Jim Renfro. Bill Owenby provided one of the game's highlights when he kicked a punt good for 69 yards, one of the longest for Maryville College.

The 1961 season will be looked on as one of the best in recent Maryville College history, as the 6-2 record indicates. Leading the scoring for the Scots were Ronnie Lingenfelter with 40 points, Donnie Phelps with 30, and Bill Owenby with 22. The team scored 148 points in eight games for an average of 18.5 per game while holding their opponents to just 9 points per game. Bill Owenby and Ron Lingenfelter both caught four touchdown passes, and Donnie Phelps averaged 10.5 yards per carry to lead the Scots to their impressive record.

THUMBS UP!

By John Mitchell

Football has come and gone again, but this time it has left a pleasant memory. Four years ago I hoped for a season like this one before I graduated, and thanks to the coaches and the players I got one. For myself and the other seniors, thanks.

Basketball already? Shore 'nuff, and the first game is next Wednesday. But don't burn up your enthusiasm in immediate excitement. It will be December 16 before we get our chance to yell for the team and to shout at the refs — a growing sport at MC. I know some girls will be grateful because they seem to know a little more about what is going on in the gym than on the football field.

Those who like man-to-man combat will be pleased to know that wrestling is here. Mat men are the only privileged beings on campus allowed to run around without even a T-shirt. My, my! Oh yes, if you like T.V. wrestling, don't come; these boys mean business.

Post-mortem: We did get one feather.

An alumnus at homecoming suggested the only reason for "thumbs up" that I have heard: One of the directors must own a deodorant company.

During the C-N game I thought Owenby's spectacular punt was a flying egg he had kicked out from under a certain type of bird.

Dilemma of a sentimental, desiring-to-graduate senior: whether to work on independent studies or to go to that last pep rally.

Speaking of pep rallys, who is the varmint that builds those fires? I got a spark in my jacket and almost burned up before I even knew I was on fire.

I noticed a lot of big-name schools on the wrestling schedule. Like old times, no?

Sticky fingers can be a legal asset. Ask Paul Biggers, Ken Young, "Red" Prudon, and Jerry Stewart. The two guys with the best combination of spirit and accomplishment in the Stinking Shoe game were Dave Meneely and Ray Williams; both played their hearts out.

Another Powder Puff game was dusted off with feminine modestly preventing any scoring.

The new intramural football champions might complain to the city of Knoxville about plagiarism on the part of a certain team there.

Believe me, Alabama had rather beat Auburn than win any national football championship. So I would be willing to wager a chapter of independent studies (the one I haven't done yet) that they win today. Do I hear any "War Eagles" amidst the Tide?

Soccer Team Loses

Unable to contain Carson-Newman's scoring punch, the Scottie soccer team dropped their second game in as many starts, this one 6-1. Led by co-captains John Vordonis and Bill Ward, the Scots were unable to overcome the superior depth of the bigger and more experienced Eagles.

Maryville scored its only goal late in the game on a pass from Art Ihrig to Phil Jerome. The team also lost the services of Jim Whitney, who is out for the season with a leg injury.

The last game of the season is here today with Warren Wilson. It will begin at 2:30.

Mat Men Train

For the past several weeks Bartlett Hall has been a beehive of activity as fourteen young men have been hard at work preparing for the 1961-1962 wrestling season. J. D. Davis is their coach. Heading the list of hopefuls are sophomore lettermen Steve Rago and Bill Robinson and junior letterman Jim Baxter, who is also captain. Baxter has been conference champ in the 115-pound class for two years.

There are four other returning men with some experience. They are Joe Kucinski, Dave Settlemyer, Bill Hodgson, and Don Elia, all sophomores. Newcomers are Gene Dixon, Bob Tomkin, Eldon Ross, Bill Deweese, Bob McConnahay, Dave Marx, and Bob Bryon.

The team opened the season last night against the Knoxville YMCA and will meet Appalachian State and compete in the Chattanooga Invitational Tournament before the Christmas holidays.

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

Office Supplies? We got 'em

Office Equipment? like wise

Office machines? our middle name.

Service? on all we sell (with a smile)

Delivery? Fastest and best.

Parking? Free, 10 feet from the door.

WHITE OFFICE MACHINES

"WON'T WRITE — CALL WHITE"

Court Street 983-4762

Hallmark Cards

McCAMMONS

Broadway — Maryville

Order Your PERSONALIZED CHRISTMAS CARDS from our vast collection. . . gay holiday scenes, religious motifs, family settings.

INDIVIDUAL CARDS for members of your family. HALLMARK Initial Notes. Stationery to suit everyone. Napkins, Stationery can be imprinted.

CHRISTMAS GIFT TREASURES

PERFUMES — COLOGNES —

*Lanvin (My Sin), (Argege) * Chanel *Prince Machibelli

*Rubinstein *Yardley *Shulton *Tussy

*Revlon *Jean Nate

CANDIES —

*Whitman *Russell Stover

Downtown City Drug Company 108 W. Broadway

Always Look Your Best

See us for all your Dry Cleaning Needs

Maryville Cleaners

CONTACT YOUR DORMITORY AGENT

A Review of "Out of the Hat"

by Carole Ansley

"Skit, skat, work, hat!"

Well, we wouldn't know if it were the magic in the hat or what, but someone, possibly the Misses Baker, Kilgard, and Bloomer, worked a bit of magic in Thursday evening's Barnwarming musical comedy, "Out of the Hat."

Except for a slight incongruity caused by the unexpectedly serious moral at the end of a spun-sugar confection, the whole production was well-integrated. The abstract set was quite effective and Miss Waddington certainly deserved a chocolate-covered bunny for her direction of the play.

The tempo was pleasantly rapid, the dialogue and songs outstandingly good (can we ever forget "The Rabbit Habit?"), and the acting, for the most part, adequate. David Evans was particularly good as David the Great. We understand that he had one foot in the infirmary, but "the show must go on." Ferdinand the Greatest, as played by Dave Styles, was the traditional cape-flourishing villain. The young lovers were perhaps embarrassed by the scrutiny of the audience (We have noticed a similar effect produced by the house mothers' gazes.) for their love scenes were noticeably stiff. We would criticize one of the months, perhaps the one that follows June, for an excessive display of absorption in her part. Janet Smith and Lynn Herring, as Cindy Lou and Candy Sue, practically stole the show as the appealing, dear brats of Hat Town.

The production, on the whole, was a tribute to the hard work of all those connected with it, and a most entertaining show. We enjoyed it, but perhaps the finest compliment of all was the absorption of a little girl, about nine or ten years old, who sat behind us, completely enthralled by the magic of "Out of the Hat."

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands
OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You
Featuring a Fine Stock
of Quality Products Including
a Complete Variety of Cheeses.
DIXIE
SUPER MARKET
Washington Avenue

CAMPBELL, Cont'd.

hours from Saturday noon to Sunday night in one package. This should be a time of refreshment. I feel sure that we can make room for games, walks, reading, informal athletics, dancing, and of course, above all, for worship. I am not what used to be called a Sabbaterian. There are no hours in the week more sacred than any others. The Sabbath was made for man, not man for the Sabbath. We should use the day, not worship it. Man must worship or dry up. And he also must relax and play or he will cease to be good company.

"I do not think tha we should expect students to sign up and say 'I attended church.' It is my opinion that we should find some way to involve the ministers of the churches of Maryville more deeply in our Sunday worship program. We have every reason to assume that they are concerned and ready to cooperate. I hope and believe that a way can be found to help all of the students to have a church home at college. For those students who find it hard to be at home in a church, we must do something special. Here is a chance for the faculty and ministers and adminstration to work together, so that no student can leave this place without realizing that the church is concerned for him or her and not for statistics,"

As I left Dr. Campbell's office, I felt just a little bit better than I had when I went in. And I had the strangely wonderful feeling that I was not on anyone's blacklist.

I had done all I could; and no man is well pleased to have his all neglected, be it ever so little.
—Samuel Johnson

BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

Dec. 6	Tusculum	There
Dec. 11	Western Carolina	There
Dec. 12	Western Carolina	There
Dec. 13	Western Carolina	There
Dec. 16	Hiwassee	Here
Dec. 18	Bryan	Here
Jan. 6	L. M. U.	There
Jan. 11	L. M. U.	Here
Jan. 13	King	There
Jan. 25	Emory and Henry	Here
Jan. 27	Chattanooga	Here
Jan. 29	Carson-Newman	There
Feb. 3	Tusculum	Here
Feb. 5	Carson-Newman	Here
Feb. 7	Chattanooga	There
Feb. 10	Bryan (2:30)	There
Feb. 12	Emory and Henry	There
Feb. 17	King	Here
Feb. 23	Cumberland	There
Feb. 24	Centre	There
Feb. 27	Hiwassee	There

WRESTLING SCHEDULE

Dec. 1	Knoxville Y.M.C.A.	There
Dec. 9	Appalchian State	Here
Dec. 15, 16	Chattanooga Invitational	There
Jan. 13	University of Chattanooga	Here
Jan. 27	University of Chattanooga	There
Feb. 1	University of Alabama	There
Feb. 2	University of Georgia	There
Feb. 10	University of the South	Here
Feb. 17	Emory University	Here
Feb. 23	Auburn	Here
March 2-3	S.E.C. Tournament	Auburn U.

ENJOY FINE FOOD HERE!
ALWAYS AT REASONABLE PRICES
College Hill Grill
Otis Atkins, Manager

The "Y" Store Proudly serves
MAYFIELD'S Ice Cream and Milk
Smoother, Richer, better Tasting
Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

GOOD MUSIC
"Y" PROGRAMS
Sunday—9:30 P.M.
CONCERT HALL
Daily
12:30—1:30
Good Listening
WGAP
Dial 1400

Minton's

Matching Shirt & Sweater Sets
Perfect for Christmas For You or a Friend!
Bobbie Brooks
Success story . . . told in figure-slim, double-knit wool that's sashed and sleeveless. Your pet bangles will be its favorite characters. Colors galore. Sizes 5 to 15. $24.98
CHARGE ACCOUNTS INVITED!
Minton's

Some Implications of Space Nutrition
Page 3

The Highland Echo

Maryville College

Vol. 47 | Maryville, Tennessee, December 16, 1961 | No. 7

FRED HOPE FUND FOR TAEGU, KOREA

The Fred Hope Fund will be directed toward raising money which will be sent to Taegu, Korea where a mobile hospital is needed to reach all patients. This mobile hospital is a part of the Taegu Presbyterian Hospital where Dr. Howard Moffett is superintendent. The hospital is now in the process of being built and will cost $9,000. $3,000 is very desperately needed, to complete the hospital and this will be the goal of the Maryville students.

The Fred Hope Fund project was student initiated, decided upon by the YWCA and YMCA cabinets, and voted upon by the Fred Hope Fund committee which consists of Mike Garrett, Elsie Harris, Connie Bondurant, Steve Henderson, Miss Mary Miles, Mr. Frank Layman, Dean Massey, Dean Bushing, Dean McClelland, and Dr. Copeland.

On January 10, Dr. Howard F. Moffett will speak in chapel at which time the students will make pledges to the Fund.

The Fred Hope Fund was begun many years ago on Maryville's campus when Fred Hope, a former student, went to Africa as a missionary. The college helped support him there as he worked. Throughout the years we have kept this tradition as a project for the YWCA and YMCA.

Dr. Moffett carries his position of superintendent of the Presbyterian Hospital at Taegu with responsibility. At the hospital there is a division for lepers, with one thousand patients; a division of orphans; and clinics which last year took care of over 103,000 patients.

A three-year nursing course and residency training program is carried on. A large staff of well trained, active Christian personnel run the hospital. Since 1948 Dr. Moffett, his wife and four children have been in Taegu, although at the present time the family is in the United States on furlough for a year before their return to Korea in the summer of 1962.

YMCA Starts New Boys Club Project

YMCA president Mike Garrett announces a new Y project, that of working with the Maryville Boys Club. Tom Salmon has been appointed chairman of the Boys Club committee, whose other members are Jack Dotter, Dennis Edelman, Phil Jerome, Ed Fritchie, John Spangler, and Ron Charters.

Y hopes to start an intramural program and an arts and crafts program shortly after the end of the first semester. Preliminary plans for these programs are being made. A general meeting of all those interested in working with Boys Club will be called shortly after the Christmas holidays. Additional men will be needed to help in both arts and crafts and intramurals. Men with boxing or weight-lifting experience are especially needed, as well as coaches for teams.

More than three hundred boys are active enough in Boys Club to have paid dues. Supervising the boys at the present time are one paid director and one volunteer worker.

Schedule Planned For Choir Tour

The 1962 tour of the Maryville College Choir is scheduled between March 23 and April 3 and will include performances in various churches in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio. Also, there will be one tour performance in Tennessee, in addition to concerts at other times in this immediate area.

The tour itinerary is being arranged by the Director of Public Relations, Henry L. Alsmeyer, Jr., in cooperation with the Choir Director, Dr. Harry H. Harter.

Definite appearances of the Choir already are scheduled at Centralia, Bloomington and in the general Chicago area, in Central Indiana, the Detroit area, and in Cincinnati and vicinity.

Resolution Passed, Sent To USNSA

A resolution expressing Maryville College's stand with regard to nuclear testing has been sent to the United States National Student Association along with a full report of minority votes and previous ballots. This resolution is as follows:

"We the students of Maryville College, realizing that we are not sufficiently aware of all the factors important to a solution of the problem of nuclear testing, express our confidence in the leaders of the United States to work toward an international agreement conducive to world peace."

There had been two votes, the first being a preliminary to choose the resolution, the second to decide whether to accept this resolution as reflecting Maryville's views in this area. There were five choices on the preliminary ballot, one not in favor of forming resolutions and four resolutions. The four resolutions received respectively 12.2 percent, 26.8 percent, 15.6 percent, 34.1 percent, and the remaining choice, 16.3 percent. In the final vote 50 percent of the student body voted in contrast to a 56 percent vote in the preliminary voting.

The interest aroused by the question on Maryville's stand on this important issue is equal to that of the student body's response.

Opinion Board In Pearsons Hall

An "opinion board" has been placed in Pearsons Hall lobby by the Student Council through Bill Ward for the expression of student opinion. It is unobtrusive and identical to many others in the area except for the mammoth crowds that gather around it before meals. The only requirement for posting opinions is that they be typewritten and signed by the writer. To date, contributions have ranged from terse notes concerning offending-bananas-left-on-fire extinguishers to views concerning the recent nuclear test resolution. The board seems to be fulfilling its purpose.

Maryville Graduate

Brubaker To Lead February Meetings

Dr. Edward Brubaker

The 1962 February Meetings to be held February 14 through February 22, will be led by a distinguished graduate of Maryville College, the Rev. Dr. Edward Brubaker, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Englewood, New Jersey. A member of the class of 1938, Dr. Brubaker has served as a chaplain with the Marine Corps, a student leader and a pastor. This will be his second visit to the campus as a February Meetings leader, as he was here in 1957. The 1962 meetings will be the eighty-sixth annual series of religious emphasis services.

Dr. Brubaker became pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Englewood in 1960 after serving as pastor of the Tabernacle Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, and director of the Westminster Foundation at the University of Pennsylvania. Also, he was supervisor of Presbyterian college student work in the entire Philadelphia area where there are 40 colleges and universities.

Dr. Brubaker was elected to the Board of Directors of Maryville College in June. At the graduation exercises in 1956 he was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity in recognition of "effective service as a pastor and as a minister of youth."

Dr. Brubaker, who was born in Birmingham, Ala., where his father was a Presbyterian minister, received the Bachelor of Arts degree, cum laude, with a major in English from Maryville College. He studied at Princeton Theological Seminary, which awarded him the Bachelor of Theology degree, and he also has done graduate study at Union Theolgical Seminary, in New York City.

From 1941 to 1943 he was an assistant pastor, and then he served as a chaplain with the Marines. Attached to the Second Marine Division, Dr. Brubaker saw service during the battles of Saipan, Tinian and Okinawa. Immediately after VJ-Day he was in Nagasaki, Japan. For heroic service he was awarded the Bronze Star.

Dr. Brubaker studied at Union Seminary following his service with the Marines and then he became pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church of Fayetteville, Arkansas, and director of the Westminster Foundation at the University of Arkansas. Following five years of service there, in 1953, he accepted a call to the Tabernacle Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia.

Two Sophs Take Honors Program

Two sophomores, Martha Bess Ellis and David W. Marston, are enrolled this semester in the Sophomore Honors Program, Registrar Viola Lightfoot has announced.

Miss Ellis, a history major, is doing sophomore honors work in the field of English.

Mr. Marston, an English major, is doing his work in the field of history.

The honors program provides an opportunity for superior students to do independent study in connection with a sophomore-level course which he may be carrying. The honors work consists of considerable independent study beyond the usual requirements of the course.

Satisfactory completion of the honors work, with at least a B on the entire course, entitles the student to an additional semester hour of credit, plus the designation "Honors" for the course on the student's permanent record.

Miss Ellis is from Elizabethton, Tennessee, and Mr. Marston is from Wyncote, Pennsylvania.

Cummings To Study Abroad

Mrs. Margaret Cummings, Assistant Professor of Bible and Christian Education, will be taking a semester's leave of absence, beginning in February, to study at the American University in Beirut, Lebanon. She will leave from New York City February 9, 1962, and fly by jet to Beirut, where she will be living in the Beirut College of Women which is affiliated with the Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Cummings plans to take courses in archaeology, in the history of the Near East, and in the religions of the Near East. During her spring vacation she hopes to visit Biblical sites in Syria and Jordan.

In June Mrs. Cummings will go to Cairo, Egypt, to meet her son, who has been teaching in Pakistan, and from there will travel with him through Europe by car. They will arrive in the United States in July.

CHRISTMAS VESPERS

Christmas Vespers, a special service combining music and the spoken word, will be presented on December 17 at 7:00 p.m.

Dr. E. Faye Campbell will preside over the service and will speak on "The Humanity of God."

A prelude of instrumental music will be provided by Mr. James Bloy at the organ, the string ensemble under the direction of Dr. Katherine Crews, and the brass ensemble under the direction of Mr. John Roberts.

The prelude will be followed by a candlelight procession by the Women's Choir, the Men's Glee Club, and the College Choir. The instrumentalists and singers participating in the service will combine in presenting "Fanfare for Christmas Day" by Martin Shaw.

Each choral group will sing several appropriate selections. The College Choir, under the direction of Dr. Harry Harter, will present two selections by Healey Willan, a contemporary Canadian composer. "An Apostrophe to the Heavenly Host" is a large choral work for double choirs and three mystic choirs. The text is taken from Eastern orthodox liturgy, ending with the first verse of a German choral melody. The second selection is based on the familiar Christmas text "Hodie, Christus natus est."

The Women's Choir and Men's Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Dan Kinsinger, will sing a group of carols and folk songs including "Cherry Tree Carol," an American folk carol arranged by Fred Waring; "Mary Had a Baby," a Negro spiritual; and "Carol of the New Prince" by Sitton.

Following the candlelight recessional by the choral organizations, they will sing Christmas carols in the lobby.

Approximately two hundred people will be participating in the service. The Christmas decorations in the chapel are under the direction of Deanne Sturgell.

PRESIDENT, DEAN TO ATTEND AAC

President Joseph J. Copeland and Dean Frank D. McClelland are scheduled to attend the 1962 meeting in Cleveland of the Association of American Colleges shortly after the holidays. The meeting will commence on Jan. 9 and will conclude on Jan. 11.

Dr. Copeland and Dean McClelland also will attend meetings of auxiliary organizations while in Cleveland for the AAC meeting.

Student Paintings On Sale At F.A.C.

Looking for the perfect Christmas gift? The art department may have what you want—a nice painting perhaps? About 75 water colors and paintings are on a clearance sale in the art lobby until December 20. These paintings include works collected from art students of the past nine years and the works of some faculty members.

Mr. Beard said the paintings, some worth at least $20 or $30, are priced at $2.50 and $5 so that more students will have an opportunity to buy them. The proceeds will go towards equipment for the art department.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

MARYVILLE COLLEGE

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Member of University Press Service. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester; $1.75 per year.

Beth Reichardt, Editor

Lynn Herring, Assistant Helen Anne Easterly, News

Pat Baker, Features

John Mitchell, Jeanne Price, Sports Anitra Bard, Exchange

Mike Garrett, Business Manager

Phyllis Deloteus, Assistant Norman Marschner, Circulation

Dr. Carolyn Blair, Mr. Frank Layman, Faculty Advisors

Contributors: Sharon Ruggles, Ellen Dozier, Connie Bondurant, Tom Salmon, Chuck Spencer, Todd Owers, John Gamble, Pat Crossley, Keen Compher, Jean Kelleher, Jeanette Peckham, Alice Stengel, Charlotta Cook, Mary Gay Boettcher, Margaret Dozier, Phil Jerome.

EDITOR'S CHOICE

Let me ask you to think about the situation in your country. Let me ask you to decide for yourself why each of you, in certain areas throughout the world, might very well, as a citizen of your country, be thought of as an "Ugly American."

A decrepit Negro high school in Kentucky is being torn down. Negro and white students together are moving into a newly-constructed school. This is integration—and progress. But what kind of insincere process is it when intelligent, well-educated Negro leaders and teachers go out of use with an old building?

As long as America remains sugar-coated on the top and so often spineless and reasonless in rock-bottom reality, any leader of any other nation has a perfect right to point his finger at us and ask why. Nor can America answer in any other way than lame excuses until she has turned her value system inside out and come to terms with herself.

Leaders and peoples of many nations still rely on us as the only possible hope in the struggle for a free world. They know our ideals and believe, as we do, in our potential for carrying them out. If we could not do it, that would be another matter.But knowing we can presents an obligation to carry out these goals. But in all honesty, we cannot expect actions inconsistent with basic ideals to bring about anything but turmoil and doubt. It takes only realization of this belief and obligation and sincere action upon it to change the "Ugly American" into the American image of the free man.

Christmas Story

by Jeanette Peckham

It was a perfect Christmas tree—tall and green and beautiful. All it needed was a few decorations.

We added the lights first. They brightened the tree, even as the cradled Christ brought light to the world many years ago.

We hung the Christmas balls on the tree next. They shined as they reflected the light, and were smooth and round. Something round has always seemed comforting to me—there is no limit, no sharp edges—it just goes on and on in a circle . . . There is no limit, no complication in the love expressed in the ageless Christmas story.

The tree was ready now for the silver tinsel—it glistened as we threw it on the branches. Silver always reminded me of peace—Christmas. If we would only lift a prayer for the sweetest truth of Christmas—God's gift to us of perfect peace and love.

As we placed the star at the top of the tree, we heard Christmas chimes echo across the town . . . "Peace on earth, good will towards men."

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

There are a number of students on this campus who are doing something. This group, made up of members of Student Council and the newly-formed Circle K club, is discussing the possibilities and problems involved in the building of a new Student Center. Such a project could turn into a real success with student support backing it.

* * * * * *

The new opinion board in Pearsons lobby is an excellent opportunity for students to express themselves on matters of concern. So far it is being well-used and well-read. The Projects Committee of Student Council is to be commended for this addition.

GHANIAN PERSONALITY

by Joan Ellis

(Editor's note: Last summer Joan Ellis went to a work camp in Ghana.)

No visitor to Ghana can fail to be impressed by its culture, many traditions, and way of life. But the thing that makes the most singular impression—one which you can never forget—is the personality of the Ghanian people themselves.

The warmth and friendliness of the Ghanian people was everywhere evident. When we arrived at Accra we were met by Ghanian friends and presented with typical hats and baskets bearing the word "Welcome." Traveling throughout Ghana we were received by chiefs and regional commissioners and made to feel entirely at home. Wherever we went there were always a group of children who were curious but delighted by these "strange" people who kept taking their pictures.

After we settled down in Aburi we spent weekends with Ghanian families. During these weekends the hospitality was overwhelming. Our hosts were very frank in answering questions about Ghanian society, religion, and politics, and did not hesitate to ask about segregation in the U. S. These people have within them great determination; I'll never forget a gentleman visited in Akropong who, though blind and crippled so as to be confined to a wheelchair, was making a translation of the Bible into one of the native dialects.

A book about Ghana, The Roadmakers, closes with this statement: "Most of the world has spoken. In our age, we have yet to be heard." With the personality and the determination of the Ghanian people, to succeed, I don't think this statement can remain unchanged for long.

Cabbages and Kings

The Walrus and I were strolling across campus the other afternoon when an eager freshman bounded up and cried, "Oh, Mr. Walrus, you've been to the North Pole—tell me truly, is there a Santa Claus?"

The Walrus looked at me and murmured, "These freshman seem to be getting younger every year." Then he patted her on the head and said gently, "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus."

"My name isn't Virginia," she said, walking away and looking back at us strangely over her shoulder.

* * * * * *

The door just banged open and the Walrus came in with angry tears in his eyes. "It isn't fair," he burst out. "It just isn't fair."

The first thing to do, I thought, is to get him calm "Sit down," I said quickly, "and—and—have an orange."

That stopped him. "An orange?"

"It's the only thing I have to offer," I said lamely. "Well, now what's the matter?"

He looked unhappy again. "I have an opinion," he began. "I have had an opinion for several days. In fact, I even typed it neatly and signed it. And every meal I start out for the dining hall at least twenty minutes early, carefully carrying my opinion and a thumb tack. But, alas, there are always so many people gathered around the opinion board, I can never get through to put my opinion up. And even if I could get through, there isn't enough room on the board.

Inspiration struck. "I've got it!" I cried. "Why don't you wait till everyone leaves for Christmas vacation. Then you can run over to the board and get your opinion up so it will be there when everybody gets back?"

Somehow he didn't look cheered up at all. "It won't work," he said sadly.

"Of course it will. It's a perfect plan. Nothing could go wrong."

"You don't know what my opinion is," he said. "You see, what I wanted to put up on the board was, 'In my opinion, everyone should have a Merry Christmas!' "

Scots and Soda

by Dave Marston

When they heard Perry Como sing "The Twelve Days of Christmas," somebody near the top of our Maryville College family tree took him at his word. Check your calendar—Christmas vacation is just twelve days, unless you throw in New Year's, making it thirteen. When I think that nearly every college in the country, and Carson-Newman too, is on vacation today, I feel like I did when I found out that it usually isn't frostbite that gives Santa a nose like a cherry.

But more important, this rationed vacation has serious economic implications; in plain English, if you don't get home until almost Christmas Eve, your chances of getting a Christmas job are pretty slim. Which means you won't have any milk-and-pie money second semester, so that by April, you too may be pretty slim.

But is it really that bad? After all, twelve days is twelve times as long as our Thanksgiving vacation. (Sure, you remember Thanksgiving—that week with two Sundays). Now let's be reasonable—most schools have a Christmas vacation about four times as long as Thanksgiving; nobody anywhere has one twelve times longer. So we have no cause for complaint; on the contrary, our twelve days are obviously a rather generous endowment.

Not only generous, but Maryville vacations are so predictable. They start on Wednesday and end on Wednesday. Probably this is so we can benefit from that extra Saturday night meal here, or maybe it keeps us out of the dangerous week end traffic. At any rate, I'm certain there's an excellent reason for it; I'm just wondering why Wednesday wasn't our day off for Thanksgiving, instead of Thursday.

As a matter of fact, one day seems like pretty brief remembrance anyway for a celebration that the Pilgrims fiddled around with for a week in 1621. But then, their big wild turkeys took longer to cook, and they invited a lot of Indians over for dinner. Today, pressure cookers and twentieth century efficiency have made one day plenty of time to go home, attend church, have a big family dinner, and return to college. Besides, there are no Indians.

So don't complain about short vacations—be thankful, or maybe next year we won't have any. Whether you have a white Christmas or a blue, blue Christmas, just be sure it's a Merry Christmas. And if your nose turns red, just be sure it's from frostbite!

Review Of Laurence Durrell's The Alexandria Quartet

by Arlene Ford

Laurence Durrell, an author who has become widely known only in the past four years, is one of the new novelists who is to be taken seriously and analyzed; a writer with a concern for our age. His theme is the interpretation of modern love, which he conceives through a menagerie of characters who use bodily congress to find soulmates and to find themselves. His work is unique because it embraces not one book but four—which, taken together, form a unit. This unit is known as The Alexandria Quartet. Its four parts are named for main characters used throughout: Justine, Balthazar, Mountolive, and Clea. They all take place in the sensuous city of Alexandria, "the great wine press of love." Here near the desert the heat and bizarre philosophies of its inhabitants create an electric atmosphere for the events Durrell relates.

Justine concerns the nymphomaniac Jewess who is the wife of Nessim, a wealthy Coptic official. She is seen through the eyes of the writer Darley, with whom she is having an affair. She is presented as a passionate love goddess who delivers her body indiscriminately, but is not capable of sharing her soul. The diary of her first husband Arnauti provides the reader with an ironic commentary on unrequited love, while the suffering of Melissa, Darley's former mistress, ends tragically in death. The book glows with the warmth of a lover extolling his mistress, perfect in his eyes.

Balthazar, however, gives a different view of Justine. Balthazar is head of the Cabal, a gathering of people seeking the answers to the mysteries of life by discussing the ancient philosophies of Egypt and Greece. He represents the wise philosopher who turns to homosexuality for satisfaction. His primary function is to prick Darley's beliefs about Justine. It seems that Justine had used their affair to protect her real lover, the now-dead Pursewarden. Introduced in this book are Narouz, the wild desert brother of cultured Nessim, and his mother Leila, a former beauty whose pock-marked face remains hidden behind a veil. Clea, the artist, is afraid to give herself to any man, but her friendship for Darley promises to ripen into a love relationship later.

Mountolive is the story of the stuffy British colonial officer whose platonic love for Leila sustains him for most of his adulthood. The novel again presents a different perspective of the events of Justine. Through Mountolive we learn of Nessim and Justine's plot to overthrow the ruling element of Egypt with the help of Israel. Thus Justine's motivation is now viewed as political. In the course of action Narouz, now a religious fanatic, dies tragically. We also learn the details of Pursewarden's death and of his incestuous relationship with his blind sister.

Clea crowns the Quartet as a spire does a cathedral, for it le[ads] the analyzation of Justine and completes the action of its characters. Darley returns to Alexandria after a self-imposed exile. He meets Justine and Nessim, now political prisoners. None of the rosy haze through which he saw his former mistress in Justine remains. He begins an affair with the painter Clea, which in any other book would culminate his search. But we are not allowed a happy love ending, for Durrell feels modern love is not capable of such fulfillment. A near-fatal accident provides Clea

Cont'd. Page 7

Contributors' Column

(Editor's Note: The following poems have been accepted by the National Poetry Association and will be printed in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry.)

Exhortation To A Downcast Heart

Up heart! And laugh and love and sing,
For gay is life and gayer spring.
Away small tears, forecasting pain;
God's clouds must bring the only rain.

Up heart! And laugh at life and pride.
Disappointments will come — you can not hide
Come healing laughter, sparkling hope,
Why pass a pretty day to mope?

Up heart! And laugh in spite of loss,
For life is just a ball to toss;
And if you laugh and refuse to care,
You'll find the hurt no longer there.

—Linda Clopton

Window

Through my window
I gaze upon the street below
And watch the mass
Struggling through the dreary day.

To my window
My hand, unnoticed, steals slowly
To raise the sash
To offer to share the warmth.

From my window
My hand drops again to my side
Thinking perhaps
Of the coldness of the day.

At my window
I stand looking over streets
Watching the mass
Struggle through the dreary day.

—Charlotta Cook

Perfection

Perfection —
What is that:
The pure flame of a diamond's
hard brilliance;
The guileless blue with storm clouds hung just below the horizon;
The crumbling clay of the Greek ideal;
Or the keen-edged sword that splits lovers in two?

Carole Ansley

ENJOY FINE FOOD HERE!

ALWAYS AT REASONABLE PRICES

College Hill Grill

Otis Atkins, Manager

Parks-Belk
Home of Better Values

MARYVILLE'S FINEST

Shop In Our Sportswear Department

YM-YW Readings Presented Dec. 10

Maryville's annual Christmas Readings were held Sunday night, December 10th at 7:30 in Pearsons Hall. Everyone gathered around the fireplace to hear the Christmas selections. The only other objects in the setting were a lamp and a chair for the speakers.

The readings began with Christmas carols led by Bob McGruther. Then, Professor Tolar of the Mathematics department read three selections. Following Professor Tolar was Cynthia Blanchard who read a story entitled "The Other Wiseman." The third reader was Mike Garrett who read selections from the all time favorite A Christmas Carol by Charles Dickens. Then, in closing, Dr. Blair read the Christmas story from Luke 2:8-16, the finishing touch to the holiday season. The readings were closed with the singing of "Silent Night."

MC SWEPT BY YULETIDE SPIRIT

by John Gamble

The Christmas spirit has swept over the Maryville College campus these past two weeks, and students are enthusiastically taking part in Yule season activities.

The various dormitories are helping out by decorating. The foreign language classes are teaching their students Christmas songs in their respective languages. The Highlander Band has paraded through Maryville as a part of the city-wide festivities.

The New Dorm is gaily decorated for the Yule season. Students had a Christmas party last Saturday night. They decorated a tree, and decorated four corners of the lobby with scences from foreign countries at Christmas times.

Carnegie Hall, the largest men's residence on campus, has a large tree decorated on the outside ledge over the main entrance. The tree has been lighted every night since it was put up two weeks ago. Pearson's was expertly decorated in the downstairs and second floor lobbies.

All other dormitories spent much time in decorating also.

The Highlander Band took part in the city of Maryville's Christmas Parade on December 5. The kilt-robed Maryville students played Christmas songs as they passed through the main section of the town.

Mr. Fridenberg, one of Maryville College's newest additions to the faculty. has been teaching his German and Russian classes Yule songs in the respective tongues. Other foreign language instructors have been doing the same.

Over three hundred students took part in the annual presentation of Handel's "Messiah." The presentation was given in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel on Sunday afternoon, December 10.

Several teachers took part and decorated their rooms with Christmas decorations. Students put holly and Christmas candles and bells in their dorm windows. Every one has taken part in making the Yule season a gay one. Several organizations, such as the YMCA and the YWCA have collected food to distribute to the needy people in the town. Other groups have sent out carolers to sing Christmas songs.

The big event of the Christmas season however, is the annual holiday. Many students will be going home for the first time in over three months. The holidays begin at 12:20 on December 20, and end January 3.

THE IMPLICATIONS OF SPACE NUTRITION

by Miss Gertrude Meiselwitz
Professor of Home Economics

They said it couldn't be done, and then someone came along and did it. From earliest times men have said it couldn't be done — then someone invented the wheel. They said it couldn't be done, but we have telephones, automobiles, radios, television, airplanes, and immumerable pieces of equipment beyond the vision of people even a few short years ago.

Each invention or discovery has changed man's way of life. Dr. Detlev Bronk, President of the National Academy of Sciences, said at a symposium, "As man creates new environments in which to live he creates new problems, new opportunities, and new hazards."

If man is going to the moon 240,000 miles away, to Venus over 2 million miles away, or to Mars even farther away, how long will it take him to get there, and how will man survive while on his way? How long will he want to stay, and what survival problems will he encounter?

All of these questions have brought about an entirely new field of study—Astro-ecology, the study of man in a space environment.

The physical environment of the space traveler is a limiting factor. He will have to travel in a pressurized suit in a sealed cabin because the low air density of space makes it impossible to sufficiently compress that rarified gas for breathing without producing lethal temperatures. This means a constant renewal of oxygen supply as man uses it, as well as a constant removal of wastes and moisture.

The very nature of a trip into space involves food problems. The first of these is weightlessness—that phenomenon which occurs when a space ship is neither accelerating nor decelerating, just floating in space vacuum. It becomes a major issue in feeding. Once the food reaches the mouth it can be held there by closing the lips. Solids float loose in the mouth until pushed back to where throat muscles can act. Swallowing then is still another matter, but the techniques can be learned.

But what of the food preparation period? How would you as

Cont'd. Page 7

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

Office Supplies? We got 'em
Office Equipment? like wise
Office machines? our middle name.
Service? on all we sell (with a smile)
Delivery? Fastest and best.
Parking? Free, 10 feet from the door.

WHITE OFFICE MACHINES

"WON'T WRITE — CALL WHITE"

Court St. 983-4762

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR

Southern Shoes

Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.

116 West Broadway

Season's Greetings

We extend to you our warmest wishes at this festive time of the year, and thank you for your support and patronage in the past year.

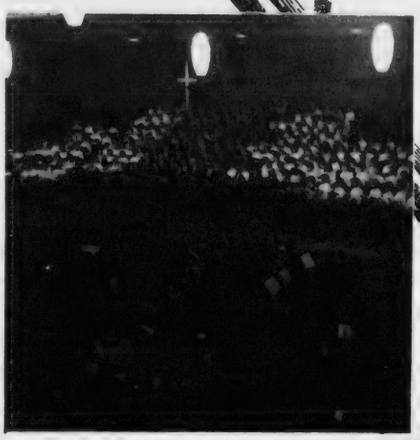
We suggest, too, that there is no better way to insure a Happy New Year than to place the use of milk and dairy products at the very top of your resolutions!

PET

DAIRY PRODUCTS CO.

CHRISTMAS

Popcorn strings and tinsel. . . the smell of pine and fir. . .it could only be Christmas! Nothing adds to the cheer of Christmas more than the traditional tree... bedecked in splendor, reminding us of other Christmases, other times. . .and home.



Have you ever looked long and deep into the heart of a shining Christmas tree ornament? So twinkling and bright. . .and yet so wonderously mysterious. How much it is like the very Spirit of Christmas. . .and how closely akin to the heart of a child.

Our Best Wishes To You At Christmastime LEONARD'S STEAK HOUSE	May You Enjoy The Merriest Of Christmases BYRNE DRUG COMPANY	A Merry Christmas To You and Yours GIFF'S SPORTING GOODS	May The Blessings Of This Season Be Yours BADGETT STORE COMPANY
May This Holiday Season Be Your Best MOSER'S	A Sincere Wish For A Merry Christmas GILBERT'S COFFEE HOUSE	May Your New Year Be Rich With Blessing MURPHY-WEST	Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year SEYMOUR'S

GREETINGS

Beneath the sparkle and glitter of Christmas there is a simple and moving story: A crude stable and a small child warmed by swaddling cloths; a shining star and Magi from the East; angelic choirs and cowering shepherds—Hallelujah! Hallelujah! For the Lord God omnipotent reigneth!

And, of course, there are the stories of Christmas. The wonders that are wrought in the heart of Ebeneezer Scrooge; the long quest of the other Wise Man. And yet, Christmas is more than all this—more than trees and ornaments; more than song and story. For Christmas is of the heart. . .and Christmas is from God.

May The Light Of Christmas Be Ever In Your Hearts CITY DRUG CO.	Seasons Greeting To You and Yours HITCH'S	May You Enjoy This Season To Its Fullest VAN'S BAKERY	the J&K SUPER STORES
May The Spirit Of Christmas Abide With You Always BROADWAY JEWELERS	Our Fond Wish For A Wonderful Vacation CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK	May You and Yours Be Richly Blessed CROWN LANES	May You Long Remember This Christmas As Your Best HORNE'S FLORIST

THUMBS UP!

by John Mitchell

It has been said that men are in athletics for two reasons — women and glory. I think even a further limitation of motive can be made, but that's beside the point. Since the ladies do exert some influence on the manly arts, I presented this question to a number of them: What is your favorate men's varsity sport — football, basketball, wrestling, baseball, track — and, briefly, why?

There were several unanticipated elements I had to face in making such an inquiry, as there always are when dealing with the opposite, or should I say contrary, sex. For one thing, the girls wanted to make varsity sports out of everything from ping-pong to Sadie Hawkins Day races. And my final disillusion was including the word briefly.

My motives for this survey? First, an excuse for dealing with the thing of "infinite variety," and, as one of my friends said, "And those things do best please me that befall prepost'rously." Of course, there is the value to the athletic-minded (whatever connotation you choose) men who would enjoy knowing the feminine whims so that they might accomodate them. Personally, I hoped the trend would be toward basketball so that the squad might suddenly and unexplainably expand. And, finally, I have been engaged, rather independently, in some writing of my own and thought it would be a good idea to let others share my writing chores.

What I am trying to say is that I didn't have anything for "Thumbs Up!," was getting desperate, and hit upon this idea.

FOOTBALL:

Because I think it's more exciting, and when the guys fall they have on more padding than when they fall on a hard floor. Besides, I like being outside.

Because even though I can't keep up with the ball I like the excitement. Also the band at halftime.

I like it because it is active, and exciting, and one feels that it is he himself participating in the game.

Although I don't really understand it, I like to watch it in the cold — especially when there is an arm strong heater around.

Football, of course. There is more excitement and enjoyment. The game is rough and proves the men's athletic ability, also their sportsmanship.

Because it's an all man's game and the thumbs up is so unifying.

Because I have to like it. My father was a football player and he was disappointed because I wasn't a boy so that I could play football. He finally recognized me as part of the family when I started playing powderpuff football.

Because I used to go with a boy who played football.

I like to see the many different plays.

Night outside, yells, the extra pep.

BASKETBALL:

Basketball by far! I understand it better, and it has faster action. The ball is nearer and easier to keep up with.

I understand some of the rules and reasons behind the plays.

Fast and interesting game, one that easily keeps interest of spectators. Most girls, myself, know more about it.

I know what's going on.

It's much easier to follow five men than eleven.

There's more action — the ball is always moving.

I like basketball best! I understand it.

I like to watch a good player in action. He exhibits a smooth coordination which is absent from most sports, an exception being track.

It's got a lot of action and suspense. Will the ball go through the basket or not? Does the referee need glasses or what? Anyway, I just like basketball.

It requires physical endurance plus the ability to decide what plays and movements in a very rapid time.

I can't understand the rules of football or baseball, and I don't like track or wrestling.

WRESTLING:

I don't have to understand the rules to enjoy it; you don't have a messy conglomeration of people cluttering up a field to keep track of; and you can project yourself into some feeling of work without doing any yourself. I feel sort of suspicious of football players' strength when they have to be wrapped up and padded like a baby! (I was going to refrain from editorial comment, but, wow!)

It takes most coordination and strength. This sport really shows what a guy's got.

I enjoy seeing a true contest of strength without intermission to plot tactics of rough play. Here it's every man for himself with no one behind you for support.

Need I say more.

TRACK:

I think it is more of an athletic event than a show.

I enjoy more than one type of event and especially the running events.

Track and field are my favorite men's sports because these activities show the grace and speed possessed by men.

Especially when the boys are running after the girls! !

BASEBALL:

I don't know why; I just do.

Show more skill than the brute force of football.

MISCELLANEOUS:

I can't think of anything to say; I just like sports.

I definitely think the tennis sport should be added to the list. It is the gentleman's sport.

Depends on who is playing.

CONCLUSION:

There is only one thing that can compete with a man's ego, and that is a woman's vanity.

ATHLETE OF THE MONTH

The intention of this feature being to include all phases of sports at MC, Richard Murchinson's achievements have afforded an opportunity to include intramurals. Dick, who played end for the Knights, is the first man to win the trophy for having scored the most points in intramural football for a single season. The total was over 110 points. His closest rival, Joe Schielder, was about twenty points behind, and Buck Petty came next, having about thirty points under the winning total. Congratulations to Dick Murchinson for a most outstanding performance.

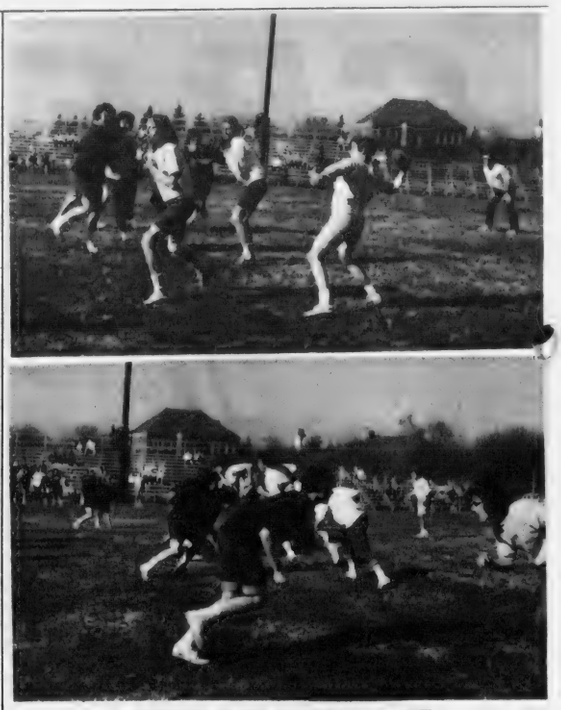
Sports News

The Women's "M" Club will hold its Christmas Party on Monday. Each girl will bring a gift which will be thrown into a grab bag and then the members will each grab for a present. Refreshments will also be served.

* * * * * *

Last Thursday, December 7, a field hockey game was played on our campus. Because this is the first year Maryville College has had the necessary equipment for hockey WAA Council did not include it as an intramural sport, but since interest was shown an actual game was organized and played. It was a strenuous but enjoyable game.

SPORTS SUMMARY



SOCCER: The soccer team lost their final game by a score of 3-0. Carson-Newman was the victor.

FOOTBALL: At the annual banquet last Thursday night for the football team, Charlie Thomas and Pete Stafford were named co-captains for next year's team. Donnie Phelps was named Most Improved Player, and Bill Owenby the Most Valuable Player. Thomas was also chosen to be center for the News-Sentinel's All East Tennessee Team.

BASKETBALL: The Scots lost the opener to Tusculum College 56-41. Gerald Russell led scoring for the losers, having twelve points.

WRESTLING: The Scots lost to the Knoxville YMCA 19-11 and to Appalachian 25-8.

INTRAMURALS: The Kappa Phi Knights, 1961 intramural champions, made it a clean sweep for the year by defeating the All Star team 34-6. Scoring for the All Stars was "Chick" Hallen, and for the Knights, Mike Garrett, Dick Murchinson, Phil Brown, Lew Pelkey. Most surprising play of the game was a pass from Garrett to Bill McGuire to Lew Pelkey for a touchdown.

POWDER PUFF FOOTBALL GAME

Proffitt's

HEADQUARTERS FOR McGREGOR SPORTSWEAR

from our TREASURE CHEST Collection by McGREGOR

Great new "Carpetbagger"... a truly distinctive print from tapestry weaves and colonial patterns. Muted tones inspired by the warm, deep prints out of American history. Created in a rustic cotton hopsacking that's wash 'n wear. Today's button-down collar model in easy pullover styling.

765 CARPETBAGGER AUTHENTIC OVERDOWN $5.95

Proffitt's

1961 BASKETBALL TEAM: Left to right, Dave West, John Livingston, Dale Sterner, Bert Randall, Gerald Russell, Mike Moyers, George Herron, Earl Jordan, Tom Phelps.

REVIEW. Cont'd.

with the incentive to seek further realization in Europe. And Darley, for the first time in several years, is able tremblingly to trace the first words of a new novel.

What has Durrell accomplished? He has created from his imagination a powerful image of the city Alexandria which pervades after the reading of the Quartet. He has shown his ability to write poetic prose infused with fresh metaphors. By his word choice the sounds convey the sensuousness of the scene. The description in Clea of Darley and Clea's idyllic love-island where disaster later intrudes is magnificent. Critics are divided as to whether the Quartet is a success as a complete unit. I feel that Clea could be much stronger than it is. Justine, which took much longer to write than any of the others, has a polish to it that Clea lacks. And it is in Justine that the mood of love is best sustained. This could be due to the fact that in his later books Durrell's eye was focused on the publishers' deadline. However, writing four exceptional books of fiction which are capable of being accepted each on its own merit in addition to being a cohesive unit is an accomplishment in itself: one that few authors have ever attained.

Error of opinion may be tolerated where reason is left free to combat it.

—Jefferson

ALL-STAR vs. KNIGHTS

SPACE NUTRITION, Cont'd.

semble a traditional meal on a plate under conditions of weightlessness? The answer is, "You couldn't." Just imagine opening a package of cornflakes, and consider each little flake suspended between the package and the bowl, assuming of course that the bowl is fastened to something, and is not also floating. How will milk act when poured from a container? Will it pour, fall as a lump, or just stay in the container? Nobody knows the answers as yet.

To date an experimental condition of weightlessness cannot be maintained for even one minute.

In any case, in this situation of weightlessness, meals would certainly not be of the type to which we are accustomed. The answer to adequate space nutrition for short trips rests in specially concocted mixtures of the slushy type, with all the essentials of a normal diet included. Eating then would be simply a matter of piping these semiliquids to the mouth from a bottle, or perhaps squeezing items from a collapsible metal tube like tooth paste. The concentration of such food is a physical hazard in digestion, and the monotony of it is certainly a psychological hazard.

No matter how adequate, such preparations will not be practical for longer trips. Under present conditions it is estimated that a trip to Venus would involve six months of time, and a trip to Mars and return would take between four and five years. Suitable foods must be found, preferably self-perpetuating types economical of space and weight.

Algae is particularly suitable for food, and studies of algae as food supply have been going on since 1949. Since 1954 the Japanese have been using dried algae to enrich such foods as bread, noodles, and ice cream just as we enrich flour with minerals and vitamins.

It has been established that five pounds of algae can produce enough oxygen to support one man, and at the same time clear a given area of man's respired carbon dioxide. The food potential of these little plants is unbelievable. Some green algae double their weight twelve times in a day, almost faster than man could consume them. Theoretically a man could survive on this cycle of food production and sanitary engineering indefinitely. I wouldn't, however, suggest that you go to the nearest pond and dip up a bucketful of algae for your next meal. It seems that there are edible and inedible algaes, just as there are mushrooms and toadstools. You just might not live long enough to find out how all of this turns out.

We may assume that we have anticipated most of the problems in space flight, both mechanical and human, but we actually cannot know until man has traveled into space. Stresses and strains on equipment can be measured and adjusted, but every man is different from every other man, physically and emotionally. What he will and can do we cannot predict.

If past history is any indication at all, the time has passed when we can say, "It can't be done." All man really needs is a challenge and a goal, and sooner or later he gets there—usually sooner. We now know more about outer space than we knew about remote places on earth 50 years ago. In the words of Carl Sandburg. "Now man has taken this ball of earth and made of it a little thing."

The liberty of the individual must be thus far limited; he must not make himself a nuisance to other people.

—John Stuart Mill

The God who gave us life gave us liberty at the same time.

—Jefferson

Words are men's daughter, but God's sons are things.

—Johnson

Intramural Football All-Stars:

Standing, left to right, Bob Young, "Red" Prudhon, Joe Scheideler, Carl McDonald, Don McFerren, Dave Cost, Paul Biggers, Titus Webb; Kneeling, left to right, John Gardepe, "Chick" Hallen, Ray Williams, "Buck" Petty, Don Petterson, Charlie Vaughn.

CAPITOL THEATRE STARTING SUNDAY

ECSTATIC ROMANCE...EXOTIC DANCES...EXCITING MUSIC IN THE WORLD'S LUSHEST PARADISE OF SONG!

Pledge System For Societies

Each society has reported that the new pledge system which was put into effect this semester is working very well. The purposes of the pledge system are: 1) to develop a spirit which will prevail throughout the college years of the pledge; 2) to give each pledge ample time and opportunity to select the society of his choice; 3) to provide each society with a "working force." Pledges from the four societies have been working very hard for the past months in order to have their fifteen hours completed by the beginning of the second semester.

There are certain requirements that a pledge must meet in order for him to become a full member in a society. A pledge must have acquired an average of 2.0 in academic subjects. If this average is not met he will remain a pledge until a semester when he receives a 2.0 average. A pledge must also work up to fifteen hours for his society, on projects, floats, and activities.

The pledges have been permitted to take part in all meetings of the socities and all activities. However, they are not permitted to vote on any issues concerning the society and will not be allowed to vote in the election of second semester officers of the societies.

"Y" COMMITTEES PRESENT PARTIES

The Asbury Acres Committee of YWCA and interested students from the college spent an enjoyable afternoon on Thursday, December 7, with the residents of Asbury Acres. A Christmas program was presented and the students met many interesting people through the party. Each week during the semester the committee, headed by Kathy Ford, has gone to Asbury Acres and visited with the residents.

A Christmas Party for the children of the Children's Home was held at the Home on Thursday, December 14, by the Children's Home Committee, headed by Roberta Bryson, of YWCA. Fun and good times were enjoyed both by the children and by the committee members, as each student going to the home has an adopted little sister or little brother which he visits weekly. The Y-Radio program on Sunday evening at 9:30 will present the children from the Home as they attend the party.

Special FAC Items Impede Completion

The completion of additional facilities for art and instrumental music teaching at the Fine Arts Center awaits the arrival of especially-manufactured items, a representative of the contractor told the Echo. The spokesman said that construction was approximately 90 percent completed, but he hesitated to say when the additions would be finished, as this depended upon the arrival of such various manufactured items as metal work.

The contractor is B. F. Churchille and Sons.

An addition to the art wing of the Fine Arts Center will be used for two studios and in turn considerable rearranging will be done in the present art wing. One new studio will be used for design work and the other will be used for graphics.

The new hall being built for band and orchestra work has a large room with a 20-foot ceiling as a rehearsal area. This space, it is hoped, will be acoustically perfect. Among the things being done to allow good acoustics is the installation of an aluminum baffle along one entire wall.

The ground level of this hall will include a large instrumental library, an office, a large storage area and even larger room for use as a classroom or as a storage area.

Foreign Students Present Program

Several students will tell of Christmas in their respective homelands to present the program Sunday at 4 p.m. at the St. Paul AME Methodist Church in Alcoa.

Arrangements concerning the students and their appearance at the Church are being coordinated through the "Y's" and the Development Office.

John Vordonis, a junior from Greece, and Norio Ohta, a junior from Japan, are the young men from the YMCA who will tell of the Christmas season and their respective nations.

Beatriz Marroquin, a sophomore from Mexico, and Margaret Schmidt, a freshman from Germany will represent the YWCA and tell about the Christmas season in their homelands. Priscilla Newcomer, a senior who spent her junior year in Beirut, Lebanon, will tell about the Christmas season there.

MC Band Clinic To Be Feb. 9–10

The Highlander Band and five bands from area high schools will gain the benefits of working under the direction of one of the more outstanding musicians of America when the Maryville College invitational Band Clinic is held on the campus February 9, 10. Plans for the clinic were announced by Mr. John A. Roberts, music instructor and director of the college band.

Each of the six bands is scheduled to present two numbers during a concert on February 10.

Mr. Roberts said that Dr. Neilson, who is director of the Oklahoma City University Band and Choir and Professor of Instrumental Music, will share the duties of directing the College Band at this concert.

Selected high school bands in each of three classes, classes established by the size of the school in terms of pupils, are being invited to participate in the activities here on February 9, 10.

Dr. Neilson will rehearse three of the bands on each day.

The clinic is especially noteworthy to school bands, as the East Tennessee Band and Orchestra Festival will be held March 28, 29, 30.

Dr. Neilson will speak the evening of February 9 as the second lecturer in the 1961-62 Lecture Series. His topic will be "The Conductor Looks at Modern Music."

Dr. Neilson, who has been at Oklahoma City since 1936, is a past president of the College Band Directors National Association. He has been a guest professor on the summer school music faculty of the University.

The author of numerous articles for professional publications and the co-author of a music workbook series, he also is the composer and arranger of several works.

Dr. Neilson was educated at the Chicago Musical College and the Julliard School of Music. Recently he was presented an honorary Doctor of Music degree by McMurray College at Abilene, Texas.

Always Look Your Best

See us for all your Dry Cleaning Needs

MARYVILLE Cleaners

CONTACT YOUR DORMITORY AGENT

THE BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

– BANKING SERVICES –

*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

*CHECK ACCOUNTS

*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS

*TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

The "Y" Store Proudly serves

MAYFIELD'S Ice Cream and Milk

Smoother, Richer, better Tasting

Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

Merry Christmas from the ECHO STAFF

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year

*

We extend to you our very best wishes during this Holiday Season.

DO YOUR LAST-MINUTE SHOPPING HERE –

Minton's features the finest in styles and colors for the fashionable dresser—at a price your Christmas budget can afford.

AND REMEMBER –

Minton's will be glad to exchange any nationally advertised clothing that you receive. Too big? Too small?. . .We'll be glad to assist you in choosing just the right item.

Minton's

Dial 1400

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Washington Avenue

The Highland Echo

Maryville College

Vol. 47 | Maryville, Tennessee, January 13, 1962 | No. 8

MC GRADUATE IS WEBSTER EDITOR

J. Edward Gates, graduate of Maryville College, is one of fifty-six assistant editors of the Merriam-Webster Editorial Staff who prepared Webster's Third New International Dictionary (unabridged). Mr. Gates, who has been on the staff since 1956, received a B.D. degree from Yale University and an S.T.M. degree from Harvard University. He was formerly a teacher at Gerard Institute in Sidon, Lebanon.

The Webster's Third New International Dictionary is a completely new work, redesigned, restyled, and reset. It is eighth in a series which began with Noah Webster's American Dictionary of the English Language in 1828. Preparation of this edition required 757 editor-years and represents the work of assistant editors, typists, and 200 consultants. It appears after ten years of active full-time preparation.

Upon the death of Noah Webster in 1843, unsold copies and publishing rights of his dictionary were acquired by George and Charles Webster, who established the present Merriam-Webster publishing company.

Kinsinger Recital To Include Purcell

A faculty recital will be given on February 8 by Mr. Don H Kinsinger, assistant professor of music, at 8 p.m. in the music hall of the fine arts center. Accompanying him on the piano will be his wife, Mrs. Dan H. Kinsinger.

The selections to be sung include "Three Divine Hymns" by Henry Purcell, the Coventine of Vladamir from the opera "Prince Igor" by Borodine, and an aria from the canto "Grantius" by Edward Elgar. Of special interest will be a cycle of six songs from the "Land of Lost Content" by John Ireland, which is an adaptation from R. E. Housman's "Shropshire Lad."

I Musici, Chamber Orchestra, To Perform Jan. 26

"I Musici," considered by many as the leading chamber orchestra of the present day, will be presented in concert Jan. 26 by the Maryville College-Community Artists Series. The concert will begin at 8 p.m. in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel.

The virtuoso orchestra was termed "a perfect chamber orchestra" by Arturo Toscani when he heard the group perform shortly after its debut in 1952. Similar praise has been extended internationally. This is the fourth American tour for "I Musici." These tours, with the ensemble's Epic and Angel label recordings, have firmly established the reputation of the orchestra.

The twelve musicians are all individually acclaimed artists in European concert circles. In a unique revival of Seventeenth and Eighteenth Century virtuoso traditions, they play together without a conductor, each member of the group taking both solo and ensemble parts.

The twelve "Musici" are Felix Ayo, Maria Teresa Garrati, Vincenzo Altobelli, Italo Colandrea, Anna Maria Cotogni, Lucio Buccarella, Mario Centurione, Carmela Franco, Walter Gallozzi, Robert Michelucci, Luciano Vicari and Alfonso Ghedin. Their instruments are the violin, viola d'amore, cello contrabass and piano.

The current, ten week, fifty concert itinerary for the famed Italian ensemble included appearances in such cities as New York, Washington, Baltimore, Chicago, Louisville, Denver, Houston, Los Angeles, Atlanta, New Orleans, Indianapolis and Minneapolis.

A spokesman for the Artist Series said that inquiries concerning the local appearance have come from a considerable distance.

The international reputation of "I Musici" was established within a year after their debut, as in 1953 the ensemble toured throughout Spain, Portugal and France. The group has garnered additional praise in subsequent tours to all the cities of Western Europe and at the Edinburgh, Holland, Bordeau, Menton and Graz Festivals. The New York Times critic wrote in January, 1955, after the first New York City appearance of "I Musici." "The ensemble is perfect! As smooth and mellow a string tone as one is likely to hear in the world today." The group also made concert tours in America in 1956 and 1959.

Harriette Fuhrman Fifth Candidate For Wilson Fellowship

Each year since 1958 a Maryville College senior has won a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, which provides funds for the first year of graduate study to "able and promising" seniors considering college teaching as their profession. Ruth Morris (now Mrs. R. M. Blakely), a 1958 graduate in Botany, attended Cornell University; in 1959 Keith Ham used his fellowship at the University of North Carolina toward a degree in American History; John Gilmour, who received a B. A. in Philosophy in 1960, accepted an Honorary Fellowship; and last year Charles Patrick Pearson won a fellowship for continued study in English at Yale.

The Maryville College candidate this year is Harriette Joanne Fuhrman, an English major from Atlanta, Georgia. She has reached the semi-final stage of the competition; on January 5 she flew to Nashville for an interview by regional representatives of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation. Hoping to begin work on her M.A. in the field of English Romanticism next fall, Harriette has applied to three graduate schools: the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, Bryn Mawr, near Philadelphia, and Tufts in Medford, Massachusetts. She is awaiting the decision of the national selection committee, of which she will learn before March 15.

In order to become eligible for a Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship, a student must be nominated by any member or members of the faculty or administration of his college. After being notified of his nomination, the student must submit an autobiographical sketch, including his statement of purpose, three letters of recommendation, and a transcript of his academic records.

Approximately 25 percent of those nominated are invited for interviews at regional centers. Generally about half of them become Woodrow Wilson Fellows; those interviewed, but not elected to fellowships, are awarded Honorable Mention. At least 1000 fellowships will be awarded for the year 1962-1963. Each fellowship consists of payment to the graduate institution of tuition and fees and an allowance of fifteen hundred dollars, plus dependency grants for wife and children, if necessary, to each Fellow.

Copeland, McClelland Attend Meetings

President Joseph J. Copeland and Dean Frank D. McClelland were in Cleveland, Ohio, this week for the Association of American Colleges conference. They also attended the Presbyterian College Union meeting held at Cleveland. The two administrators were scheduled to attend various sessions on Monday through Thursday.

Seven To Graduate At End of Semester

At the completion of their final exams in just over a week, six or seven seniors will graduate from Maryville College. There will be no graduation ceremony. There will be no speaker. These students will slip, quietly and almost unnoticed, from campus life.

January graduates will include Joel Breitenhirt, philosophy major from Maryville, Tennessee; Tyson McClanahan, Physical Education major also from Maryville; William McGuire, Business Administration major from Asheville, North Carlina; Angelita Briseno, philosophy major from Mexico City, Mexico; Glenda Gray, math major from Alcoa, Tennessee; and James Rechtin, psychology major from Maryville. As we go to press a seventh senior, Shelby Jean Flynn, home economics major from Maryville, is undecided as to whether she should graduate in January or continue at Maryville until June.

Roberts To Present Mozart in Recital

Mozart selections have been chosen by Maryville College faculty member John A. Roberts for the faculty recital he will present Jan. 12 at 8 p.m.

Mr. Roberts will, in turn, perform on the clarinet, the bassoon and the piano.

He joined the Maryville College faculty in 1960 after receiving his master of Music degree from the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, New York. He earlier earned his Bachelor of Music degree at Oklahoma City University and has studied at Trinity University in San Antonio, Texas. Mr. Roberts directs the Maryville College-Community Orchestra and the Highlander Band and is a member of the Knoxville Symphony Orchestra.

Mr. Roberts studied piano with Dr. Clarence Burg at O.C.U. and Jose Echaniz, artist teacher at Eastman. He studied clarinet with Everett Gates and Leland Munger, principal clarinetists with the San Antonio Symphony Orchestra, and Anthony Bruno at Eastman, and studied voice with Floryce Downs and Vera Redgrove Neilson, O.C.U.

He served two years with the U. S. Army at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and has taught instrumental music in the Oklahoma City public schools.

Assisting Mr. Roberts at the recital will be Kent Perry, violin; Elizabeth French, violin; Katherine Crews, viola; Harold Clark, cello; and Roger Wagner, piano.

Mr. Roberts will open the recital with "Concerto for Clarinet, K. 622." On the bassoon he will play "In Diesen Hielgen Hallen" (The Magic Flute); "Madamina (The Catalog Aria) (Don Giovanni); and "Concerto for Bassoon, K. 191."

Following the intermission, Mr. Roberts will play the "Concerto for Piano in E flat Major, K. 432" with Mr. Wagner at the second piano.

1962 FRED HOPE FUND DRIVE INVOLVES WEEK'S ACTIVITIES

A week of activity has just inaugurated this year's Fred Hope Fund drive. A library display of Taegu, Korea, Dr. Howard Moffett, and the hospital mobile unit, including photographs, enabled students to picture the existing situation.

The Tuesday morning chapel address was given by Miss Elsie Harris, president of YWCA. Lew [illegible], president of the senior class, read the scripture and gave a prayer. Miss Harris explained the Fred Hope Fund: the reason for its inauguration, its aims, a description of this year's project, and the mechanics of pledging. She stated that this year's goal is $3,000. In addition to individual pledging, the combined Y's are planning to conduct a paper drive and hope to sponsor some major event next semester. It is hoped that other organizations will also sponsor projects. After chapel an "Echo Extra" was distributed, which explained in detail the points of the Fred Hope Fund and gave a list of past projects. This brochure was compiled by Steve Henderson, president of Student Volunteers.

In preparation for Dr. Howard Moffett's talk in Wednesday morning's service, posters appeared throughout the campus entreating students to "wake up and listen." Dr. Howard Moffett is the brother of Dr. Samuel Moffett who addressed the student body late last year concerning the challenge of communism. Dr. Howard Moffett, a medical doctor and a graduate of Northwestern University Medical School, is also a former naval medical officer and Presbyterian missionary to China. He is presently superintendent of the Presbyterian Hospital in Taegu, Korea. He, his wife Margaret, and their four children are in the United States on furlough until this summer.

Dr. Moffett pictured the existing situation and its urgent need. His hospital is the only one in a province of four million people. The hospital possesses one mobile medical unit which served 93,000 people last year. A second unit can greatly increase this number.

Chilhowean Has Modernistic Trend

The Chilhowean staff is working at the present to get the final material for the 1962 yearbook in to the publishers. The layout and cover design were completed some time ago. Sixty-five per cent of the material is in the hands of the publishers. The entire class section and segments of the other sections have been submitted. All the portions of this year's Chilhowean have a modernistic appearance because of the use of color. The remaining material to be obtained consists of pictures for spring sports, February meetings, and society officers for both first and second semesters.

The sale of annuals will continue until February the fifth. The possibility of including the cost of the yearbook in next year's activity fee is being investigated.

CORRECTION

Through an oversight, the name of Gordon Stewart was omitted from a list of YMCA men on campus who are working with the Maryville Boys Club.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

MARYVILLE COLLEGE

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Member of University Press Service. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester; $1.75 per year.

Beth Reichardt, Editor

Lynn Herring, Assistant Helen Anne Easterly, News

Pat Baker, Features

John Mitchell, Jeanne Price, Sports Anitra Bard, Exchange

Mike Garrett, Business Manager

Phyllis Deloteus, Assistant Norman Marschner, Circulation

Dr. Carolyn Blair, Mr. Frank Layman, Faculty Advisors

Contributors: Sharon Ruggles, Ellen Dozier, Connie Bondurant, Tom Salmon, Chuck Spencer, Todd Owers, John Gamble, Pat Crossley, Keen Compher, Jean Kelleher, Jeanette Peckham, Alice Stengel, Charlotta Cook, Mary Gay Boettcher, Margaret Dozier, Phil Jerome.

EDITOR'S CHOICE

A well-balanced sense of reality is an important quality to possess in the world today, in our participation in events both within and without our campus. We are not fooling anyone with our puffed-up concern for a cause, a problem, a person. We are not taking the load off anyone else's shoulders by running on about what is not and what should be, according to our standards—and what "they" should do about it. Nor are we pushing anything ahead when we run out with flaming torches to undo all the wrong that has been done, or take upon ourselves personally the whole world's problems.

Reality cannot be pushed, or changed, or cheated. It must be accepted and dealt with. And it will not be challenged by a one-sided viewpoint, be it positive or negative. As we read in "Scots and Soda," we can't puncture reality if our idea of being a positive thinker is guessing "true" on every true and false test, or if our idea of being negative is blasting every aspect of everything with which we do not agree.

When reality hits hard, as it has done several times this year, we are called upon to face up to it — often on its terms and not ours. We are forced to think and decide and act, for both immediate and long-range consequences depend on our ability to cope with reality. And the well-balanced sense of reality will arise from a person's deep conviction and realization of purpose.

* * * * * *

Our campus has been touched by reality this year, and we have created the opportunity to respond to it. The Student Council has voted to contribute a sum of fifty dollars to form the basis for a fund to be given by Maryville College to Leukemia research. The senior class will add one hundred dollars to this basic sum, and personal contributions have been called for. Here is a way in which we can show our sense of reality and turn our concern outward instead of inward. If it is important enough to us, ability can conquer this disease. But will and concern are necessary.

SUMMER SERVICE - 1962

by Patricia Baker

Now that Christmas has been carefully packed away until next year, do you find yourself wondering just what you are going to do with that large block of empty time called "Summer Vacation"? A handy bulletin, entitled "Summer Service Bulletin 1962," put out by the Presbyterian Church, offers a number of suggestions for a worthwhile vacation.

First of all, you may ask, what is a summer service project? It is "an opportunity to work and to serve. Its purposes are to meet human needs through physical labor, teaching, studying and working with others in the name of Christ."

There are four major types of summer service projects: ecumenical work camps, community service projects, study seminars, and working seminars. Some of these are in America and others are overseas.

"A work camp," the bulletin explains, "always involves hard physical labor in a situation where energy, eagerness and good leadership can accomplish a project of Christian concern." One work camp will be held this year in Puerto Rico during July and August. Involving hard manual labor, the project will also provide an "introduction in depth to the people of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico." This year there will be other work camps both in the United States and in at least 35 foreign countries.

In a community service project, students work in teams in various places of social tension or community need. In this kind of summer service work, scholarships are often granted on basis of need. One interesting project this year will be held in Southeastern Alaska from June 8 to August 10. Both men and women with two or more years of college experience will be needed to conduct vacation church schools in various Indian fishing villages on the islands and in immigrant communities on the mainland.

Another community service project will be sponsored by the Chicago, Illinois, Neighborhood House Program. Students will work in the different neighborhood houses in the Chicago area, conducting day camps and leading educational programs for both young people and adults. There will be weekly staring sessions with others working in the Chicago programs for worship, study, and discussion.

Study seminars, held at home and abroad, "bring together young men and women to study a particular question in depth and to exchange views in an atmosphere of informality and freedom." From June 26 to August 25 there will be an East Asian Study Seminar on the theme "Encounter with Resurgent Asia." Work-study sessions will be held in Hong Kong, Japan, and the Philippines. There are several other study seminars, including a summer theatre and workshop in Stony Point, New York, and a U.S.A.—U.S.S.R. Exchange.

Working seminars offer college students opportunities to learn and earn at the same time. The participants live together and share mutual responsibility, while working in office jobs or doing industry work. The group life also offers opportunity for study and worship together. This summer at Ghost Ranch, New Mexico, the center for technological study and lay training of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., students will work at various maintenance jobs during the day with group study programs three evenings each week. The seminar will deal with "The Life and Mission of the Church in the U.S.A." Leaders in political science, theology, technology, and the arts will assist in the study group work.

For further information about any type of summer projects, write: Presbyterian Summer Service and Study Projects, 825 Witherspoon Building, Philadelphia 7, Pennsylvania.

Summer Service work is no "vacation," but it is instead a tremendous opportunity for service and growth. The Summer Service Bulletin contains these words: "Come if you love people; if you can bring some resources; if you can accept the challenge; if you will give the time of your life. 'For the Son of man also came not to be served but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many.' "

PROSPECTIVE

From the appearance of the newly-made opinion board students are not all of the same opinion. are not necessarily content with the status quo, are not afraid to make their feelings known. This is good, but it goes only so far. One of the perennial problems of the Maryville College campus—both students, faculty, and administration — is an over-abundance of opinion and a lack of concrete action. We as students have the responsibility to take the opinions we have and transform them into something workable and good. We must examine the status quo, discover that which is good about it and work to improve this. In the process, there wlil doubtless be many things we must change, In the process, there will doubtless who post or voice an opinion would at the same time outline a workable plan, a constructive change. a positive course of action which would alleviate their particular complaint. With something concrete upon which to work, student leaders have some place to go. It is not the function of a student council to dream up projects to take up its time—but rather to meet the needs and demands of the student body it serves. Unless we know why students want things, and exactly what they think the answers should be, we are operating with a major handicap in trying to meet the needs of the student body.

—Connie Bondurant

Theatre News

by Sharon Ruggles

For the theatre-minded patrons, the Maryville College Playhouse presents another exciting play entitled "Noah," written by a French author Andre Obey who also produced the play, based on the Biblical Noah, in 1900. However, it was not produced in the United States until 1935, when there was an extremely successful production in New York.

The next movie on campus is "Romeo and Juliet," which will be shown February 24. This movie is beautifully done and all young women who have never viewed Laurence Harvey, star of the award winning film, "Room at the Top," will certainly be devastated upon viewing him as Romeo. He received "best actor" award in England a year or two ago and is one of the greatest talents to hit the screen and stage in many a year. Juliet is played by a "discovered" young girl named Susan Shental.

Cabbages and Kings

"Did you have a happy New Year?" I asked the Walrus soon after we got back here to our happy home away from home.

"More or less," he responded.

"That doesn't sound too convincing. What's wrong?"

"Well, for one thing, I'm worried about 1962."

"Oh," I said, trying to cheer him up, "I wouldn't worry about it, if I were you. Let this year take care of itself. Besides, 1962 shows a lot of promise."

"That's just it—exactly!" he cried. "Everyone keeps saying that 1962 has a lot of promise. But," he added more softly, "no one seems to be sure what it is promising."

* * * * * *

Nothing ever happens in the middle of January. Aside from final exams and things. "Let's invent something," said the Walrus. "Let's invent a world."

"What kind of a world?" I asked.

"An animal world. That's the best kind."

"No people?"

"People haven't done very well with this world so far, have they?"

I had to admit he had a point there. But still it seemed rather unfair to rule out all people. Like me, for instance. If there's one thing I hate, it's being ruled out.

"Maybe a few people, then," he said. "If they're good and don't go around doing things like starting wars and making paper boxes."

"What do you have against boxes?"

"They're useless. Men have too many useless things. Animals wouldn't be caught dead making paper boxes."

It did seem reasonable. There were still a few things, however, that weren't clear. "But what would you do for a living?" I asked. "What kind of useful productive work could animals do on their own? Would you have factories and stores and trade?"

"No," he said with a smile, "we wouldn't have things like that."

"Then what would you do?"

"Why," he answered, "we'd do something people never seem to have enough time for—we'd live."

Scots and Soda

(The following remarks are excerpts from the forthcoming book. "How to Win at Final Exams." The author, due to the official recognition he recently received for his work. "How to Win at Income Tax," prefers to remain anonymous.)

Finals can be fun. First off, have a healthy attitude. Which means simply, remember that nice guys finish last, and a moral victory is like kissing your sister. In short, don't be content to settle for less than setting the curve—at one end or the other. With this goal in mind, there are several techniques that can insure your success.

Number one, check your study habits. Be realistic—by the end of the semester, you either know the material or you don't. If you know it, go to the movies, or take a date out to the circle drive. Relax. If you don't know it, don't panic—just calmly cram. Actually, this is probably the most advisable of the two choices anyway—cramming leaves your mind uncluttered for future tests. (That's a polite way of saying empty.)

Next, check your equipment. Make sure your pencils are sharp and your pens working. And don't get over-confident if your pen can write on butter—unless you have some to smear on your blue book, it may not write on paper. Which brings up another point: if you can avoid it, don't use blue books—the somber blue color is apt to dampen your mental attitude. One famous Rhodes scholar had his test books especially colored in peppermint stripes, as sort of a stimulant. But suit your own taste—often plaids are just as effective.

Last, be a positive thinker. This doesn't just mean that when you guess on the True and False, you guess True. It's deeper than that. When you have to exchange test booklets with your neighbor after you've painstakingly written all of the answers in yours with invisible ink, act cheerful, like you've just been handed ten shares of A.T.&T. instead of a blank blue book.

This is disconcerting to everyone. If you must guess at an answer, do it recklessly—but don't flip a coin—it's a dead giveaway. Finally, don't fall for this fad of staggering around unwashed and unshaven during exam week—it doesn't smell good.

That's all there is to it. Maybe you won't always set the curve, but you're sure to distort it a little.

Contributor's Column

ONCE UPON A DEATH

Once upon a death, he fell.
An honest man—down to realms told of by social christs, but not believed—he fell.

Once upon a death, he fell.
A scornful man—and shook his Fist against the gods who damned
all forms of doubt . . . and him, but they heard not his knuckles Rap the chambers of eternity . . .

—R. Craig Snyder

THUMBS UP

By John Mitchell

I finally got around to seeing my first live hockey game, and I enjoyed it so much that I thought I would share some of the highlighs.

Fortunately Mr. Kallstrom, our dorm proctor, afforded me and my companion a ride into Knoxville on a very rainy night. You might be surprised to know that he is practice goalie for the Knoxville Knights and during their home games is statistician. Look down at the "north" end of the rink, and you will see him perched up high on a platform — out of range of fying pucks.

After we had sat down on the fifty yard line, what to the wonder of our eye should appear but the Carson-Newman band. It seems that their conductor has composed a special piece of music for the Knights, and, believe me, they played it at every opportunity. With all that noise it's no wonder that C-N gets better write-ups than we. However, Maryville was not left completely in the shadows. There was an announcement that Porky and the Simple Seven would be back for a return performance, and there was loud applause from at least one Maryville fan somewhere in the audience.

During the break between one of the three quarters the majoretes put on a little show to the tune of a jived-up denominational band. Do you remember that tall blond? The man next to me thought they were going to do the Twist and was whistling quite audibly, but to no avail. But there were a few gyrations that might bring to mind the popular American folk dance.

At the end of the second thirder, it was me for a coke. One gentleman at the counter, having waited five minutes after his order, became impatient when a group of later-comers were served before he. He spoke — rather harshly — to the coke-tender, and the group of young men replied in like manner. I thought it unfair to have five against one in such a rhetorical battle, but, when the gentleman pulled out his wallet and produced a card for self-assertion, I felt sure he was safe. The others weren't too impressed, at least not until later when the police removed them from the stands to the embarrassment of their dates. Imagine my surprise a few moments later when I realized that the happy whistler next to me was the man with the card.

I was particularly impressed with the gals from U-T. From a distance they were attractive in a sophisticated way, and when they got up close they were as pretty as a picture, that is, if you like that much paint on one canvas.

And then there was the woman across the way who got hit in the head with a puck, and the two players who blocked each other clean over the rail onto the runway.

Yes, ice hockey is an interesting sport. By the way, Knoxville won.

U-C Grapplers Here

The scene of battle is the Alumni Gym; the time is 7:30 p.m.; and it's wrestling that enjoys the spotlight tonight as the Scot matmen don their leotards and play host to a very strong University of Chattanooga team. After dropping their first two matches, the Maryville team came back from the holidays intent on getting in the win column, and the boys have been working long and hard. Last Saturday night was the first outing of the new year for the Scot wrestlers as they met the Knoxville Y.M.C.A. team at home in an attempt to reverse an earlier defeat at their hands.

Maryville teams also compete against the University of Chattanooga on the basketball floor and the tennis court, but thus far it has been Coach John A. Davis's fine wrestling teams that have enjoyed the greatest degree of success against our visitors from the southwest. Thus a keen rivalry will be renewed tonight as the two schools compete: Maryville and Chattanooga athletic contests have always been characterized by a very vigorous and healthy spirit of competition, and each year both schools when they engage each other in athletic contests, always go all-out to be at their peak.

Both teams should be at nearly full strength for the match, and if past experience is any indication at all, tonight's contest promises to be one of the very best of the year.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Bill Owenby, outstanding Maryville College athlete, has received five professional football feelers, the Sports Information Department has reported. Owenby, who ranked among the nation's top punters last year in small colleges and had a 39.0 average this year, was contacted by five pro clubs and was put on the "preferred list" of one of them. Owenby made Honorable Mention of the All-American team for small colleges. He has received feelers from the Chicago Bears, Green Bay Packers, Minnesota Vikings, Baltimore Colts, and the Washington Red Skins. The Packers have shown much interest and have contacted Public Relations three times about Bill, contacted the coaches and the Ahletic Department numerous times, and also Owenby himself.

Bill has not had a solid offer to date, however, and he plans to enter high school coaching in the area upon graduation if no pro offer comes through.

* * * * * *

Some twenty candidates for the baseball team turned out at a meeting last week for prospective baseball players. Coach Boydson Baird held a brief meeting for estimation of new equipment, etc., and to get the names of the new prospects.

* * * * * *

Bert Randall, sophomore veteran from Amarillo, Texas, is leading the basketball team in scoring with a 14.5 average per game. Before the game with L.M.U. last Saturday night, Randall had a total of 87 points in six games. He also leads in rebounds wth 57.

Athlete of the Month

This month it's hats off to 123-pound Jim Baxter, a junior physical education major who comes from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Jim captains the wrestling team and already this year has earned enough points to win his third wrestling letter in three years. For his fine competitive spirit and excellent wrestling know-how, Jim's name has become practically synonymous with the word wrestling on the Maryville campus.

At the Southeastern Conference Tournament held in Chattanooga December 15-16, Jim came in second in the 123-pound weight class, losing only in the finals to the representative from V.P.I. For this fine effort we salute you, Jim Baxter, and wish you and the wrestling team the very best of luck throughout the season.

MARYVILLE BASKETBALL STATISTICS

CUMULATIVE THROUGH DEC. 18

PLAYER-POS.	FGA	FG	FTA	FT	SM	RB	PF	TP
Bert Randall, F	66	38	35	26	37	57	14	87
Dale Sterner, F	40	21	9	7	21	22	12	49
Gerald Russell, C	49	24	23	13	35	45	11	65
George Herron, G	81	32	24	15	58	24	16	79
Dave West, G	11	2	9	6	12	12	7	10
Earl Jordon, G	13	4	4	1	12	5	12	9
Mike Movers, C	31	8	7	3	26	33	8	19
MARYVILLE TOTAL	291	129	111	77	201	198	80	329

(Symbols in colmns defined: FGA-field goals attempted, FG-Field goal, FTA-free throws attempted, FT-free throws made, SM-shots missed total, RB-rebounds, PF-personal fouls, Tp-total points scored.)

MARYVILLE'S TOP SCORERS

Player-Pos.	FG	FT	TP	APG*
B. Randall, F	38	26	87	14.5
G. Herron, G	32	15	79	13.3
G. Russell, C	24	13	65	10.8

* Denotes average per game

Rough Start for Scots

The out-manned but never outspirited Maryville basketball team has had rough going during the early parts of the 1961-62 campaign; they have been able to capture only one victory in their first six games.

After the loss of the opening game to Tusculum, 56-41, the Scottie quintet traveled to South Carolina to take part in the Western Carolina Tournament. The Highlanders, however, were unable to pick up a single win in three games, losing on successive nights to Pfieffer 59-50, Howard 71-46, and Western Carolina 86-68. The big guns for the Scots in the tournament were Gerald Russell and Bert Randall, the latter scoring twenty-eight points in the Western Carolina game.

Fortune took a turn for the better when the team was able to eke a 74-70 victory over Hiwassee in their home debut. The game was exciting all the way, an overtime being necessary since Hiwassee tied the game at the end of regulation time, the score being sixty-eight points for each team. Leading the Scots to the win was senior Dale Sterner with fourteen points, five of them coming in the overtime.

The Scots moved back to the shorter end of the figures when Bryan beat them 88-40 in the last game before the Christmas break.

Tonight the team travels to King for a little recreation before the break for examinations.

No government can be long secure without a formidable opposition.

—Benjamin Disraeli

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Washington Avenue

The "Y" Store Proudly serves

MAYFIELD'S Ice Cream and Milk

Smoother, Richer, better Tasting

Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

MC Participates In Preaching Mission

Maryville College, both officially and through individual actions, will be participating in the United Christian Preaching Mission to be held in Maryville Sunday, January 14, through Friday, January 19. Outstanding speakers representing four denominations are being brought to this area to preach during various services.

The Maryville College Choir will participate in the opening services tomorrow both in Knoxville and in Maryville. A portion of the service scheduled at 3 p.m. in Knoxville at the Second Methodist Church will be televised by Station WATE-TV. The service in Maryville is scheduled to commence at 7:30 p.m. on January 14, at the First Baptist Church of Maryville.

The Women's Choir of MC will sing on Monday evening at the services at the First Baptist Church. As the College Choir is singing Sunday night at the service here, the College Vespers will be the local opening service of the United Christian Preaching Mission. Dr. Clifford E. Barbour, Acting President of the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, former pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Knoxville, and a Director of Maryville College, will be the speaker at the opening services both in Knoxville and Maryville.

Five other outstanding theologians and ministers are scheduled to speak during the series of services here. These services are scheduled at 12 o'clock noon at the Broadway Methodist Church Monday through Friday and at 7:30 p.m. Sunday through Friday at the First Baptist Church.

President Copeland will preside at the service on Friday evening. He also is serving as chairman of the committee which has made arrangements for telecasts.

Dr. Harry H. Harter serves as chairman of the committee making arrangements for music at the services here, and Mr. Dan H. Kinsinger is a committeeman.

The United Christian Preaching Mission will be held simultaneously in Knoxville, Lenoir City, Clinton and Maryville with seven outstanding speakers participating. The Ministerial Associations sponsor the annual series of services which are evangelistic in nature. The primary purpose is to challenge the Christian people to a closer walk with their Lord, a more active place of service in the local church, and a deeper sense of Christian stewardship.

The speakers to be heard here, in addition to Dr. Barbour, include Dr. Morris Harrison Tynes, pastor of the Monumental Baptist Church in Chicago; Dr. Earl G. Hunt, Jr., president of Emory and Henry College since 1956; Dr. Luther Joe Thompson, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Chattanooga; Rev. Gary W. Demarest, pastor of the Hamburg Presbyterian Church in Hamburg, N.Y.; and Bishop Reuben H. Mueller, Bishop of the West Central Area of The Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Burke To Lecture

On January 18 at 8:00 p.m. the University of Tennessee Student Lecture-Forum Series will present Dr. Albert Burke, a producer and star of the television program, "A Way of Thinking." This weekly series provides a stimulating, in-depth analysis of national and international events and evaluates the causes and effects of current political history.

MC To Sponsor Band Clinic

Two of the local school bands are among five high school bands scheduled to participate in the Maryville College Invitational Band Clinic on Feb. 9, 10. Mr. John A. Roberts, MC music instructor and director of the Highlander Band, made the announcement today and explained that a representative group of school bands were to participate in the Band Clinic, which is being sponsored by the College.

The Maryville Junior and Senior High School Bands and the MC Highlander Band also will participate in the clinic.

Dr. James Neilson of Oklahoma City University will serve as clinician. A past president of the College Band Directors National Association, he will work separately with each of three bands on Friday, Feb. 9. On the following day, he will work with each of the remaining three bands.

A concert is scheduled on that Saturday night, Feb. 10, with each of the six bands to play two selections.

The bands scheduled to participate in the clinic include the Lenoir City High School band, the Rhea County Schools Band from Dayton, Central High School of Knoxville.

The clinic is planned to help advance the interest and proficiency of bandsmen and the general cause of band music in this area, Mr. Roberts said.

The Band Clinic will allow each of the bands to benefit from the personal criticism of the leading band director, Mr. Roberts said. He explained that due to the limited time Dr. Neilson has for a visit to the Maryville College campus, only a few bands could be invited. It seemed most fair, Mr. Roberts continued, to have bands from schools of various sizes and both junior and senior high school bands.

Dr. Neilson has been a member of the faculty of Oklahoma City University since 1936, and under his direction the musical organizations of the university have presented concerts and appeared in person and by the media of radio and television from coast-to-coast.

Dr. Neilson, while on the Maryville College campus, will present the second lecture of the 1961-62 Lecture Series. This lecture is scheduled to start at 8 p.m. on Feb. 9, and the announced topic is, "The Conductor Looks at Modern Music."

The concert scheduled as part of the clinic is planned to open at 7:30 p.m. on Feb. 10 in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel. The school bands will appear under the batons of their directors while Dr. Neilson has consented to serve as guest conductor of the Highlander Band.

The rehearsals led by Dr. Neilson will be open to interested observers.

SEMESTER ENDS AS FINALS BEGIN

The end of the first semester of the 1961-62 year at Maryville is rapidly approaching, bringing with it final exams, social opportunities and the quiet rush of preparation for the second semester.

Exams begin on Wednesday, January 17, at 9:30 a.m., and continue through Tuesday, January 23, exams being held from 9:30 to 11:30 and from 1:30 to 3:30 each day during that period except Sunday. The semester break begins on January 23 and second semester classes begin on January 26.

On the evenings of January 23 and 24 women students will be permitted to take town nights which will not be counted on their regular town night limit. There will be a film the evening of January 23. On January 25, the Maryville basketball team will take on Emory and Henry, and on the 26th, Artist Series will present I Musici. The officers of several classes have been considering plans for activities during semester break, but these plans are still indefinite.

The bookstore will be open on January 23 and 24 from 9:00-11:00 a.m. and from 1:30-4:00 p.m. for those students who wish to get their books for the second semester. All bills for the second semester must be paid in the Treasurer's office by noon of January 27 to avoid penalty of the late payment fee.

Always Look Your Best

See us for all your Dry Cleaning Needs

Maryville Cleaners

CONTACT YOUR DORMITORY AGENT

THE BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

– BANKING SERVICES –

*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

*CHECK ACCOUNTS

*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS

*TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

Office Supplies? We got 'em

Office Equipment? like wise

Office machines? our middle name.

Service? on all we sell (with a smile)

Delivery? Fastest and best.

Parking? Free, 10 feet from the door.

WHITE OFFICE MACHINES

" WON'T WRITE – CALL WHITE"

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .

WEAR

Southern Shoes

Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.

116 West Broadway

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

Proffitt's DEPT. STORE

Offers

Specially Priced Merchandise During Their January Sales

Reduction in Sport Shirts

$5.95 and up Values – NOW $4.99
$5.00 Values – – – – NOW $3.99
$4.00 Values – – – – NOW $3.49

Irregular Socks

If Firsts would be $1.50 Value

Now 2 for $1.00

Name Brand

NYLON REVERSIBLE JACKETS

A $19.95 Value

Only $12.99

Proffitt's

The Highland Echo

Maryville College

Vol. 47 | Maryville, Tennessee, February 10, 1962 | No. 9

COLLEGE RECEIVES SEVERAL GRANTS

Two grants for a total of $3,000 have been received recently by Maryville College.

The latest grant, for $1,000, was announced by the Grants Committee of the Association of College and Research Libraries, a division of the American Library Association, and will be used to help finance establishment of a microcard system in the library. Microcards—three by five-inch cards—contain in miniature the text of as many as 48 pages from a book or periodical.

The Esso Education Foundation representatives formally presented a check for a $2,000 unrestricted grant to President Joseph J. Copeland. The use of this grant was not determined immediately. The Foundation, established in 1955 by the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) also is supported by five domestic affiliates including Humble Oil and Refining Company. Unrestricted grants totaling nearly $900,000 have been announced by the Foundation.

The American Library Association Grant and grants to 77 other college and university libraries were made possible by the following companies and corporation foundations: McGraw-Hill Publishing Company, Microcard Foundation, Micro Photo, Inc., National Biscuit Company, Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, Pitney-Bowes, Inc., Reader's Digest, Time, Inc., and the United States Steel Foundation, Inc.

The $1,000 grant made to Maryville is equaled in size by grants to only three other colleges: Dana College, Blair, Nebraska; Macalester College. St. Paul; and Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio.

The grants program was established in 1955, and in 1958-59 the library received a $300 grant to help finance purchase of equipment needed for the browsing area.

Librarian Virginia Turrentine said that the microcard reader will be purchased this semester. The College will finance purchase of the reader, the grant being used to purchase microcards of periodicals in several fields of study.

The $2,000 unrestricted grant from the Esso Foundation was presented to Dr. Copeland in an informal ceremony at his office. Appreciation for the grant was expressed by Dr. Copeland, who said that such gifts by industry and businesses, individuals and churches are a vital part of the College's more than $1 million budget.

In addition the College recently received two anonymous gifts of $10,000 each and also has received a conditional grant of $25,000—all toward the estimated $235,000 cost of rehabilitating Fayerweather

Cont'd Page 6

New Film Shown

The Innocents, a new suspense film, is currently playing at the Tennessee Theatre in Knoxville. Under the title The Turn of the Screw, this play ran for several years on Broadway. Starring Deborah Kerr, this film, based on a work by Henry James, centers around four main characters: a governess, two children, and a ghost.

Cast, Committees Of NOAH Announced

The cast for Noah, the Maryville College Playhouse production scheduled for March 9 and 10, has been announced as follows: Noah, Dave Evans; Mrs. Noah, Jean Kelleher; Shem, Dave Styles; Ham, Paul Elliott; Japhet, John Spangler; Ada, Mary Beth Judkins; Sella, Carolyn Foust; Norma, Eileen Hahn; The Man, Bill Conger.

The Animal Cast includes: Wolf, Betsy Fowler; Cow, Marsha Sturm; Tiger, Janet Courly; Hare, Linda Schug; Tortoise, Cecilia Bridges; Lion, Nancy Self; Monkey, Elizabeth Lee; Lamb, Sandra Satterfield; Bear, Bob Kidd; Elephant, Diane Eneboe.

Mary Gay Boettcher will act as stage manager. The Construction Crew, headed by Dave Styles, includes Connie Bondurant, Sandra Presley, Janet Smith, Lou Pelkey, Bob Reichenbach, Robert Kidd, Hall Blankenship, David Clinkman, and Phil Jerome. Paul Elliott heads the Paint Crew with Libby Lee, Kathy Ford, Ginnie Jefferson, Caroline McCaskill, Lynn Webb, and Tom Phelps assisting.

Nancy Self is in charge of costumes, aided by Martha Cook, Patti Paul. Alice Hamilton, Sondra Bracken. Animal Masks will be made by Sally Everett, Penny Whaley, Libby Lee, Marcia Sturm, Diane Eneboe, Connie Williams, Carolyn Foust, Alice Hamilton, George Randles, Robert Kidd, Tom Phelps, and Lynn Webb, with Mary Gay Boettcher as Chairman.

Properties are headed by Carol Greenwood, with Vickie Green and Mary Gleason helping. James Rugh is in charge of Lighting, and Merelee Knott, Connie Williams, and George Randles compose his committee. Hall Blankenship will do the Sound, and Marcia Sturm is in charge of Make-Up. Janet Purcilla heads the ticket committee with the help of Bobbi Dick and Lloyd Bogart.

SOUTHERN ASSOCIATION MAKES ACADEMIC RECOMMENDATIONS FOR MARYVILLE COLLEGE

It will be next fall before official consideration of the report of the visitation team of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, but College officials say that indications by the visitors bear out findings of the College's own extensive self-study begun in 1956 as part of the long range planning and development program.

The report will be considered at the next meeting of the Southern Association, which is scheduled during the fall.

In line with the long range planning program carried out from 1956 to 1959 and the self-study carried out during 1960-61 the Executive Committee of the Faculty recently (Feb. 1) recommitted itself to a program centered upon academic excellence and proficiency and efficiency in plant and facilities use.

Implementation of the self-study findings in certain fields, as was already planned, will begin as quickly as details are worked out.

Maryville is fully accredited by the national, regional and state accrediting bodies including the Southern Association.

Visitation teams from the Southern Association have as a basic goal the assisting of the college or university in strengthening its program. Accreditation rarely is at stake.

The accreditation team which visited the campus about three months ago had high praise for the Maryville College program in general. Its basic recommendation, and one which already has been provided for in the budget, is to secure additional faculty members holding the doctorate. Also, several present members of the faculty are expected to receive doctorates within a short time. The goal is to have a person or persons holding the doctorate in each area of study in which a major is offered, and to elevate remuneration throughout the instructional divisions.

Concern for the need to have more doctorates on the faculty was stated in the findings of the College's self-study.

The Executive Council's recommitment to academic excellence and proficiency involves such areas as faculty training, curriculum offerings, intra- and inter-college planning and cooperation, and faculty-student ratio.

The efficiency in plant and facilities use recommitment involves such areas as a continuing program of institutional research and planning and the use of facilities.

CAST ANNOUNCED FOR CAROUSEL

"Carousel" by Rogers and Hammerstein is the spring musical production of the Women's Choir and Men's Glee Club to be given on March 23 and 24. "Carousel," an adaptation from the play Liliom by Molnar, was first produced in 1948 in New York and later made into a movie.

The cast for "Carousel" includes Sue Lemme as Julie, Dianne Eneboe as Carrie, Oscar Downey as Billy, Jim Whitney as Enoch Snow, Dale Huddler as Jigger, Judy Smith as Nettie. Don Stupak as Bascombe, Tanya Tripp as Mrs. Mullin, Bob Orr as Enoch Snow, Jr., Ed Perintoni as the doctor, Carl McDonald as the heavenly friend, and Bob Hutchenson as the starkeeper. Understudies for Julie and Billy are Terry Brusstar and Jerry Bolden.

The setting of the play is a small New England town in the late 1800's. When Billy Bigolow, a carousel barker, marries an innocent mill worker, Julie, the whole town disapproves of the match. The young couple has no income and when they learn that Julie is expecting a child, Billy attempts a remorse because of this he commits suicide. After his death, Billy finds he must redeem his soul to get into heaven. Taking a star with him he returns to earth where he sees his daughter, now a maladjusted teenager. Billy is able to bring her some happiness and he receives forgiveness.

Some of the well-known songs from "Carousel" include "You'll Never Walk Alone," "If I Loved You," "June Is Bustin' Out," "What's the Use of Wondering," and "Billy's Soliloquy."

Mr. Dan Kinsinger, director of the Men's Glee Club and Women's Choir, is the musical director for the show. Lynn Waddington, a senior French major will be the dramatic director for the production; she has worked with Barnwarming for the past two years and directed last year's musical.

CIRCLE K MAKES PLANS FOR FUTURE

The newly formed Circle K Club of Maryville College began second semester activities with a car wash on January 6, in order to earn funds for future operation. Among its plans are a program for welcoming incoming freshmen and helping them to adjust to campus life, and its present work with the Student Council in planning a new student center.

The Circle K Club on this campus was officially chartered on November 30, 1961, at a meeting led by Mr. J. P. Huddleston, president of the Maryville Kiwanis Club, and attended by Mr. William R. Fryer, Circle K Internation Trustee, officers and members of Maryville and Alcoa Kiwanis Clubs and of the University of Tennessee Circle K.

Mr. H. C. Evans, Circle K District Chairman for Kentucky and Tennessee, presented the Maryville Club with its charter, and Mr. William Fryer installed the officers.

Maryville Circle K President Jim Skeen accepted gifts of a Circle K banner anl an American flag from the Maryville and Alcoa Kiwanis Clubs and a gong from the UT Circle K.

Orchestra Elects 1962 Officers

News of the Maryville College-Community Orchestra includes an organizational matter and plans for a special concert for pupils of the Maryville elementary schools.

Recently-elected as officers were Dorothea Saint, president; Ron Charters, vice president; Anna Baker, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Margaret Stevenson Ross, community representative.

Director John A. Roberts announced that the Orchestra, under cosponsorship of the PTA, will present the educational concert for public school pupils on March 6. The concert is scheduled at 1:45 p.m. on that Tuesday in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel. Several hundred grade school children will attend the concert being planned especially for their enjoyment.

Mr. Roberts said that an approximately 40-minute concert will be played.

Magill, Barraclough Return in February

Dr. John Magill of the MC Class of '39 will return as song leader in the 1962 February Meetings. Accompanying at the piano will be Dr. Henry Barraclough. Both Dr. Magill and Dr. Barraclough are well-known on campus for their services in these capacities in former years.

Dr. Magill last served as song leader in the 1959 February Meetings; Dr. Barraclough returns for his eleventh year of uninterrupted accompanying.

...tivity Fee Doubled

'62 - '63 Rise In Fees Deemed Necessary

Statistics for the nation show that education at the college level now costs twice what it did ten years ago, and authorities forecast another 100 per cent rise in fees within the next ten years.

Higher costs have made it necessary for the College to increase fees for the college year beginning Sept. 11, 1962, a College official was scheduled to announce during chapel this Saturday morning.

Expenses each semester will total $585 for campus resident students and $315 for students not rooming or boarding on the campus. By way of comparison, the present charges total $510 for dormitory resident students and $250 for commuting students.

Tuition and other fees would be much higher if it were not for the thousands of dollars in gifts and grants made to the College yearly, plus the return from the College's endowment funds which total more than $3 million. The local Maryville College Day giving, scheduled to be held this year on March 6, adds materially to the financial resources of the College.

Total expenses to the Maryville student are in line with the pattern at other colleges in this area.

The major increase in the fees for 1962-63 is for tuition. The new fee will be $290 a semester, up $50. The student activities fee will be increased from $10 to $20, and room charges are to be an average of $5 higher each semester.

No recommendations have been made yet concerning disbursement of the activities fee, but several deficits in this area have been reported.

The health fee is being made compulsory, but the resulting group insurance policy will provide additional protection and benefits for all students. The health fee will be $10 a semester for residents, and commuting students will pay $5 for group insurance. Many students now pay a voluntary health insurance charge of $9. Health fee coverage includes dispensary services.

The last changes in fees were effective for the 1958-59 college year and involved tuition and board fees.

Letters to the Editor

Voice for Progress

When any college student sits down with such intentions as mine, he first feels that it is both necessary and essential to explain just what he intends to do, and why he is going to do it. Therefore, I wish in this article to tell you, the student body of Maryville College, exactly what my intentions are.

I plan to write a series of articles for this campus newspaper to describe what I feel are the major deterrents to a healthy social and intellectual atmosphere and to bring out into the open the things which are discussed by so many of us but are constantly put aside as being something that we can do nothing about. It is my belief that something can, should, and would be done if we had the courage to stand up for what we believe is right. It is my hope that when these things are brought out, they will smack the student body squarely in the face and leave an unforgettable impression. I wish to cover in my articles such things as: why there is such a gap between the will of the administration and that of the student body, why the student government is not as effective as it should be, why Maryville's religious policy hampers students' Christian development, and why there is a lack of initiative on the part of the student body as a whole. I do not, however, profess to be an absolute authority on these subjects.

As a student body we talk about many things, but we are afraid to take any positive action. The time for talking should be over. It is way past the time when action should have been taken to introduce changes into the present system under which Maryville is operating. The question undoubtedly arises in your mind: what does he think we can possibly do when we are constantly under the thumb of the administration? I hope to offer some constructive answers.

Through writing these articles, I hope to impress upon the minds of each student the tremendous amount of potential that the student body, working as a group, possesses. I want to place special emphasis on this phrase, "working as a group," for this is the only way that this potential can be realized. I am amazed that the administration can possibly overlook the importance of the student body, as they apparently seem to do, in so many of the decisions that they make. All of the faculty, administration, and buildings of this entire campus are of little significance to the campus without the students. We are important to this college and without us it could not exist. Slowly but surely we are losing this important part of the college. Consider the appalling number of people who left Maryville just last semester. In my coming articles, I hope to show some of the reasons why I think they have left.

In these articles I wish to give you a sincere challenge. I challenge you to read these ideas and come to some decision as to what you honestly think about each and every statement I make. I challenge you to speak out for your beliefs either negatively or positively. And I would like you to keep in mind this applicable statement: "God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom to know the difference." I challenge you to use wisdom in your decision as to what can or cannot be changed. I honestly believe that some of these things can be altered if we realize our importance as a student body working together.

In writing these articles, I am not pretending to be a crusader, for, as I have already stated, the individual alone has no chance to bring about these reforms. I am merely attempting to encourage you to express your own opinions pro or con. Only by speaking our minds can we expect any progress whatsoever. We have been led to believe that some of this progress is coming in the future, but the future never seems to arrive. I believe that the only hope we will ever have for progress at Maryville is to work for it until we achieve it. I ask you to add your voice for progress at Maryville College.

Jim Stewart

* * * * * *

To whom do students turn in times of emotional upheaval during their college life? To whom can a student talk when he has problems relating to his adjustment to a new situation, such as dormitory life, a roommate, or in learning to study effectively? There are the deans who are al-

Cont'd. Page 3

EDITOR'S CHOICE

A realization of the power and pertinency of proper communication . . . of the need for digression from small talk . . . of the meaning of a well-balanced sense of reality . . . and of the necessity and worth of criticism in the struggle for progress . . .

An article entitled "Dissent in a Free Society" in the issue of The Atlantic magazine for February of this year deals with the value of criticism in the modern world. In this article John Kenneth Galbraith, United States Ambassador in India, says that "criticism is the engine of change." He suggests that the effectiveness of criticism depends on the type of society in which it is employed. Criticism is necessary in what he labels an "open" society. This type of society, he notes, is open to the consideration of all ideas and is not bound by "an ordained and settled system of doctrine which it is pointless for any person or group to hope to alter." For instance, he notes, during World War II people did not criticize the Soviet government for the very reason that they had no hope that it would do any good.

Galbraith suggests that attitudes toward change are very important and varied. Since criticism is the "engine of change," various groups react differently toward it. To those who are interested in retaining the past, he contends, criticism is unwelcome and perhaps even "unwise" and "defamatory." On the other hand, however, criticism is seen as a source of truth by those who seek change with the belief that improvement will result.

We have here a contrast between what seems to be an open and a closed society. One doctrine would hold that the majority of individuals will respond to a challenge and a struggle when there is any hope that their struggle and their convictions will have any effect on the area about which they are concerned. When no such hope exists, there is a decline in conviction, in spirit, in effort. Criticism may often turn to chronic complaining when an individual or group of individuals realize the loss of acceptance or effectiveness of constructive criticism as the most valuable factor in progress and change.

* * * * * *

Maryville College students and faculty have an opportunity to get outside themselves, to play a part in the world scene, to be of service. And, because of this opportunity presented to us and our acceptance of it, we have a responsibility to act.

The Fred Hope Fund drive this year has taken as its project the purchase of a mobile unit for the Presbyterian Hospital in Taegu, Korea, with $3000 set as its goal. At the present time only $1252 have been pledged and only $350 paid; contributing to this total sum have been 101 students and 34 faculty members. The percentage of this contributing group in comparison with the total number of students and faculty is, to say the least, not high.

Any persons wishing to make contributions may do so to the YMCA or YWCA presidents, to the Student Body president, or to the Student Help office. In addition, contribution boxes will be set up over the campus in the near future.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

MARYVILLE COLLEGE

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Member of University Press Service. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester; $1.75 per year.

Beth Reichardt, Editor

Lynn Herring, Assistant Helen Anne Easterly, News

Pat Baker, Features

John Mitchell, Jeanne Price, Sports Anitra Bard, Exchange

Mike Garrett, Business Manager

Phyllis Deloteus, Assistant Norman Marschner, Circulation

Dr. Carolyn Blair, Mr. Frank Layman, Faculty Advisors

Contributors: Sharon Ruggles, Ellen Dozier, Connie Bondurant, Tom Salmon, Chuck Spencer, Todd Owers, John Gamble, Pat Crossley, Keen Compher, Jean Kelleher, Jeanette Peckham, Alice Stengel, Charlotta Cook, Mary Gay Boettcher, Margaret Dozier, Phil Jerome.

PROSPECTIVE

As students on the Maryville College campus get a new semester under way, there are probably dozens of good intentions in the minds and ambitions of us all. This semester is going to be the one in which we will not procrastinate. Yet, within a few weeks, if not already, intentions are put aside, and we sink back into our old routine. We must set a standard, a high one, and strive to achieve and maintain that goal with consistency.

One of the perennial problems of student government on the Maryville campus is this problem of inertia. Each year, the interest, the thought, the concern and the activity seem to dwindle to the place that to excite anyone about anything is not only difficult but nearly impossible. How deep is our concern if we cannot operate with some degree of consistency? We in student government need to remember our responsibility — that a term of office lasts an entire school year, but over and above this, we need the continual interest and support of the student body. Only as this is present, can the council strive to adequately meet the needs of this student body.

Connie Bondurant

Scots and Soda

by Dave Marston

Everything's sky high. There was a time when a library fine was three cents, a coke was five, and a game of pool cost a dime. Now the library offers everything from the nickel Regular to the dollar Christmas Special. You can get a coke for a dime—sometimes—but this is the only school around where the gamblers lose more money on the coke machines than the basketball team. And that game of pool—it costs three demerits.

All of this inflation is pretty tough on college students. Low grades are serious enough, but low grades and high bills are apt to bring reactions from home. And with Kennedy raising postage stamps to a nickel, most students can't even afford to write home and complain. This is bad—you'd think anybody spending $92.5 billion of someone else's money would hand out stamps free like a supermarket.

Nevertheless, by careful planning, it's still possible to keep your head above water, even when it rains for a week. There are two possible answers: either increase your income, or cut down your expenses.

The best way to increase your income is to sell—anything. They say you can fool some of the people all of the time, so on a campus this size you shouldn't have any trouble finding a sucker. Sell your books, your Bible chart, your girl's picture, your sack lunch—if you can find a buyer, sell. Hire yourself out as a typist or a chaperone. This latter is especially profitable—for every couple that'll pay you to chaperone, there's another one that'll pay you twice as much not to. Clearly then, student help isn't the only way to make money.

Cutting down expenses is a little more difficult. But you can save quite a bit on travel expenses if you're sensible—which means don't try to go home during your Thanksgiving vacation or semester break, because you just can't make it. Aside from that, it will help make ends meet if you never buy magazines (use the library), shaving cream (you can make lather from soap), or high octane gasoline. These little savings go a long way.

If after all of this selling and saving you still end up broke every month, don't be discouraged. This month everyone should make it with money to spare. Because two weeks ago, someone gave two anonymous $10,000 gifts to the college, and that works out to $28.57 apiece.

Cabbages & Kings

For a few minutes I stood and watched the Walrus typing with his tusks at the rate of about two words a minute. "What are you working so hard on?" I asked.

"Just one more word," he said, "and I'll be through. Then you can read it yourself." With one last jab of his right tusk, he finished. "Here," he said, giving me the paper. "It's the minutes from our last meeting."

ANIMAL COUNCIL MEETING

College Farm
8:30 p.m.
February 9, 1962

ATTENDANCE: Absent were Paula Parrakeet (excused; she couldn't get out of the cage tonight) and Oliver Owl (unexcused; he was chasing a mouse).

The President called the meeting to order and led the group in a moment of braying at the moon.

The minutes of the last meeting were approved, and the treasurer reported a balance of 16 bones, 5 ears of corn, 123 nuts, and 1 can of dog food.

STANDING COMMITTEE REPORTS:

Organizations: The Honorable Hens Society in cooperation with the Rabbits for Easter Club are already working hard on their project of supplying eggs for Easter. All those who have ideas on different designs for the eggs are urged to see Peter Rabbit or Hearietta Hen as soon as possible.

Publicity: The Pidgeons Publicity Committee will have a meeting Monday at 1:30 in front of the library to make plans for the rest of the month.

Elections: The election of the Leading Lady Bugs will be held again tomorrow, since two of the winners of last week's election have been eaten by Albert Sparrow.

Projects: At the last meeting of the Projects Committee, it was decided that until someone comes up with a project, it is useless to have this committee meet.

Social: The birds will present an air show above the College farm Saturday afternoon at three o'clock. All are invited to look.

BUSINESS:

Last Friday at the meeting of the Admirable Animal Honor Committee, it was agreed that since most animals are neither admirable nor honorable, it will be necessary to change the name of this group. Suggestions for a new name should be given to the President of the Animal Council.

A search party is being organized by the Squirrels in order that they may recover nuts which have been hidden and lost. All those animals small enough and unencumbered by farm duties are urged to help in this crisis. Anyone knowing where any nuts are, will report this fact to the nearest squirrel.

The Animal-Insect Senate is studying the question of whether or not large animals are considered guilty when they step on insects. It is hoped that the insects, especially the fleas, will not declare war until the Senate has had time to study this question in more detail.

The meeting was abruptly adjourned at 9:23 when the farmer entered the barnyard to see what the noise was about.

The Walrus
Secretary-Treasurer, 1961-1962

Contributor's Column

SIR MARVIL

Here is a tale of passing worth
About Sir Marvil, high of birth,
A knight waxed old, complacent, lulled,
Wits once sharp, now rusting, dulled.
So long he slept, his dreams had curled,
How sad, his missing so much of the world.
In ivory tower he'd rested too long
And time had come to amend his wrong.
Despite his age he looked well-preserved,
Oft-helped by praise he had once deserved.
His deep orange cheeks, faint-tinged with red
And thumbs-up spirit now mocked his bed;
And spring revived his heart and soul
The bells in his head rang their yearly toll;
Memories of adventures past and gone
Nurtured resolve and spurred him on.
Aspiring to find some new Godly truth
He decided to seek the fountain of youth;
Nothing would stop him, this time the hour
Had come to descend from the ivy-grown bower.
A gentle Squire he had at his call,
Very young, had been with him six months in all;
Not seasoned for battle, but eager to learn
To cope with new lands he'd inherited in turn.
Now our old knight in council took pride
In telling his new, industrious side.
But oh! the squelch when he spoke his plan,
His family had qualms for the misguided man;
They'd long planned his days, one after the other,
His sister Regis and Admin his brother.
They loved him and oft devised underhand schemes
"For his own good" to curb his impossible dreams.
Alarms were sounded to countrymen all,
They met Monday night in the columned hall
And stuffed with fried chicken, began to debate
How to keep our old knight inside the gate.
From Brigginston and Andershire
They came, and also Thawlibe Square.
And arguments rose in old tradition,
"Remember his age and poor condition;
He's not aware of common sense;
In fact, we'd say he's rather dense."
"And should he find such fount of youth,
In search of this new Godly truth,
He'd adopt degrading jollities,
Caught up in life's frivolities."
The one solution they conspired
Would be to kid him, make him tired;
Then he would see his headstrong ways,
Be content to sleep his remaining days;
He'd had spring fancies oft before,
They'd gently divert his mind once more.
Having thus decided, his friends and kin,
They adjourned the talk with a grand Amen.

The Knight and Squire, meanwhile, had fed
Their horses, and by the reins had led
Them to the gate. Our squire was worried,
Afraid he'd been much too much hurried.
"Hurry up!" shouted Marvil, "surely you see,
This moment they're planning to sidetrack me."
The squire stood fixed in moral debate:
Should he flee to the hall or go out the gate?
Sir Marvil had mounted, was ready to move,
Toward our squire he looked with a glance to reprove.
And the squire glanced back, which way to bend?
(Now no good tale is complete to the end:
The plot is thick with all sides shown,
The untangling, each must make his own.)

—Lynn Herring

LETTERS, cont'd. from pg. 2

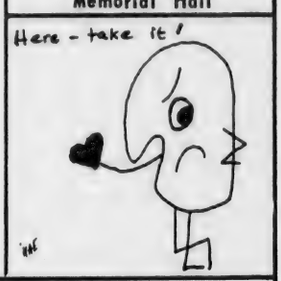
ready overburdened with problems of administration and curriculum; the instructors who already have many responsibilities in their classroom teaching which must be tended to outside of class hours; and there is the chaplain whose duties are also many.

It has come to my attention in the past few weeks that there is a definite need on the Maryville College campus for a qualified psychologist who is also skilled in the art of guidance and counseling.

Many students find college a difficult situation to adjust to and one which may become a traumatic experience. I am sure there have been times in each one of our lives when we would have liked to talk to someone, but didn't know where to turn.

A full time psychologist on this campus could study the problems of dormitory life and make suggestions for good adjustment, and he could have a counseling program for those students who feel they need help with their individual problems. The effects of this program would not only result in students with better emotional approaches to the problems of life, but it would also result in fewer physiological problems, because a person who can deal with his emotional problems effectively also knows the essence of good health.

There would be, of course, many problems arising with the installation of such a revolutionary program, the main one being the availability of adequate funds. However, when something is of vital necessity for a group, I am sure there can be found many areas in which there is an excess of funds.



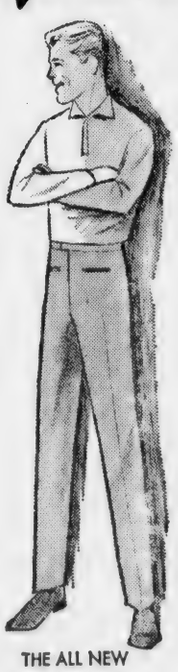
It has often been said that the youth of today are tomorrow's leaders. Why not prepare them for this role by helping them attain sound moral principles, a basic Christian philosophy, and a stable emotional outlook on living?

—Ottilee Feddern

RACKETS RESTRUNG
Reasonably

See
GEORGE FLACK
Memorial Hall

Candy



Byrne's Features The Finest

* WHITMAN'S * PANGBURN'S
* BELLE-CAMP

We also stock fine jewelry and cosmetics —
Perfect for your Valentine

BYRNE DRUG COMPANY

Minton's

THE ALL NEW Blade
Design Patent Applied For ORIGINATED BY
Dickies Casuals

- Pockets straight-cut across the front
- Tailored and tapered to 15" cuffless bottoms
- Beltless and pleatless for slim, uncluttered appearance

ONLY $5.98

Minton's

with Flowers

Nothing conveys your message better than a Gift of Flowers. . .

Bouquets . . . Corsages . . . Arrangements
See Carl McDonald — Campus Agent for

HORNE'S FLORIST

Stay at the
CONGRESS INN
Lexington, Kentucky

- Quiet, well back from Hwy.
- Newly decorated units
- Air-conditioning, tile baths
- 24-hour laundry & cleaning service
- Swimming pool
- Restaurant & cocktail lounge on the premises
- Orchestra for dinner dancing
- Banquet rooms available

1700 N. Broadway — US 27 & 68, N., Lexington Ky.

FREE!
Write for new TRAVEL GUIDE listing fine motels from coast to coast, inspected and approved by Congress of Motor Hotels.

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

— Banking Services —

*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
*CHECK ACCOUNTS
*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
*TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

THUMBS UP!

By John Mitchell

Dave Meneely and George Flack's amusement with a couple of kites the other day reminded me of my kite-flying days. I used to take a pair of long, thin kindling sticks and tie them together to make a cross. Then I would connect the ends with string to form a sort of diamond. Placing this on a newspaper, I cut out the desired shape and folded the excess paper over the string and pasted it to the main body to hold it. Of course the paste was made out of flour and water. If a person was ambitious enough, he could paint his kite. I usually settled for the print design.

Dave and George were faced with the usual problems of flying kites. George got his string entangled in a tree but eventually got it out. Not the most patient person in the world in such circumstances, he still had to wait fifty-five minutes to roll in his line. The moral: Don't bother with a high-flying kite.

Dave's experience was a little different. When he began to roll in his line, it broke. Naturally it didn't take him as long as it did George to retrieve his string. After going to the pig pen on the college farm to get his kite, he explained that a large part of his line was still over someone's house.

Since it was a windy day, fairly long tails were needed. Well, those old ties that I have been accumulating over the years . . . .

The new blood in the basketball line-up is making a difference, but I'm afraid even new blood has to circulate a while before it can get hot enough to produce a winning game. I noticed at the Tusculum game that movies were being made. That's a new one for me. For T.V. maybe?

D. J. Brittain, a retired schoolmaster from Oliver Springs, picked an all-time Maryville football team over the past seventy years for a Knoxville newspaper. Bill Owenby was one of the ends. That's quite a compliment.

He spoke of one player who was seven feet tall and weighed nearly three hundred pounds. I wondered how the U.T. students and fans reacted to his mentioning our defeat of them once upon a time. Perhaps they just weren't up for the game.

During the break, I found an excellent way to entertain myself while standing in the rain making like a cheerful hitch-hiker. You and your companion try to guess which car will give you a ride. So you say, pick a number between one and a thousand. Then you count--and wait. There are variations too. For instance, a car going behind you doesn't count, nor trucks full of chickens, furniture, and screaming kids.

Signs indicating destination help, except in a few cases. A driver going to Knoxville ignored our Maryville sign. I concluded that he was a Carson-Newman fan.

One driver, a soldier, upon figuring his gas mileage, asked if three from eight was four. I scratched my head, thought a moment, and said, no, I think it is five.

My friends, that's what is defending our life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness.

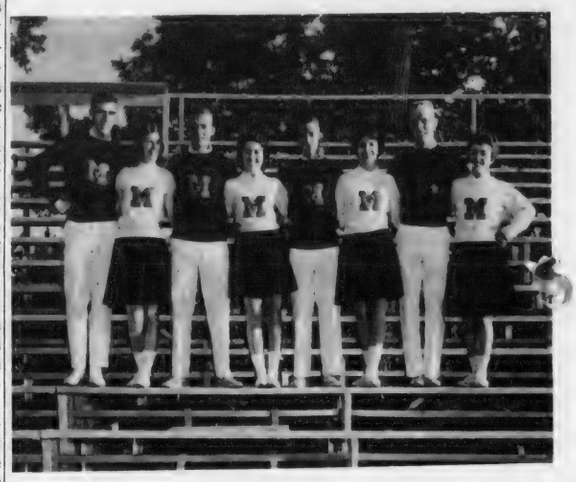
BASKETBALL BITS

Coach Baird leaned against his desk and talked quite frankly about a favorite subject of his—his basketball team. With the season nearing the halfway point, a visit with the peppery Maryville mentor proved a good way of gaining insight into the team, as well as giving some indication about what to look for in the future.

Coach Baird is currently plagued with the usual mid-season miseries that befall most coaches during the course of a season. The injury problem is always tough to deal with, no matter what sport may be involved. Mike Moyers has been fighting a bout with the flu, and Earl Jordan has been out of action because of an ankle injury sustained in practice.

There is a brighter side, however. The addition of five new players since the beginning of the semester has given the team a big boost in morale and has helped the team's performance both on the practice floor and in the games themselves.

The victory over King College on the 13th of January was by far the best team effort of the year, and coach pointed out that a few more games like this one would certainly be welcomed. He also brought out a point that may have been noticed by the students attending the games, that being the quality of the team's general all-around play. Streaky play has proved costly, as it usually does. Sometimes the boys will play a terrific brand of basketball for ten minutes; then the next ten minutes are marred by floor mistakes and the like. Naturally this keeps the points from adding up on the scoreboard. Developing a steady, efficient all-around game is something that takes a long time, and is attained only through continuous play and hard work as a team.



This afternoon the Scots travel to Bryan College, with tip-off time set for 2:30 p.m. The team plays at home next Saturday night for the last time this year, hosting King College, whom they defeated earlier this year. Following this game are two road games to close out the season: Centre and Hiwassee, respectively. The Cumberland game, previously scheduled for Feb. 23, has been cancelled.

Intramural Record

Alpha Sigma dominated the just-completed volleyball season. The Pusseywillows went undefeated in six games of A-league play and then beat the B-league champions, the Kappa Phi Squires, who had a 5-1 tally.

Basketball has begun, with seven teams in the A-league and nine in the B-league. There will be a double elimination tournament at the end of the season.

In the intramural point race Kappa Phi currently has 8,697 points and Alpha Sigma 7,392.

MARYVILLE CHEERLEADERS: Left to right, Wade Hampton, Kathy Burgess, Dave Gritzmacher, Marguerite Gilly, Kirk Copeland, Sandy Stewart, Chuck Steele, and Linda Brumley.

A SALUTE TO THE CHEERLEADERS

By Phil Jerome

The life of a cheerleader at Maryville College is fun, hard work, hazardous, amusing, embarrassing, and tiresome. At least that is what the eight experts on the subject say. The experts are Maryville's 1961-62 crew of cheerleaders: Marguerite Gilly, Kathy Burgess, Linda Brumley, Sandy Stewart, Wade Hampton, Chuck Steele, Kirk Copeland, and Dave Gritzmacher.

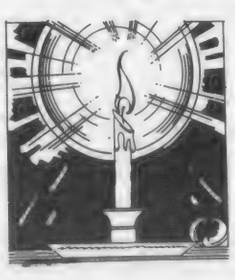
These people are responsible for the pepability of Maryville College. Marguerite Gilly, the head cheerleader, feels that the reason the cheerleaders have been doing a better job this year than in the past is the closeness of the group. She says that practice sessions seem to be a lot more fun. The result is more frequent practices and thus better performance of the cheers.

One of the reasons for the closeness is the friendly rivalry between the Northerners and the Southerners. Marguerite, Kathy, and Kirk are all from south of the Mason-Dixon Line; whereas Sandy, Linda, Dave, Wade, and Chuck come from the North. This rivalry comes out in the F-ah-g-h-t, get the ball y'all, and Murieville cheers.

One of the most embarrassing things that ever happened to the group occurred when they were making a film for television. They were doing a cheer that ended in a grand finale with the boys lifting the girls high in the air. Everything went faultlessly with one exception. The team of Dave Gritzmacher and Marguerite Gilly was going up while the other three were coming down.

And there are certain hazards to being a cheerleader. One of these is the ever present danger of ending up in the front row of the stands. However, most of the hazards are prevalent during football season. There is the danger of flying batons and the physical impossibility of doing a cheer that requires twenty feet of space in the available four feet. Another problem is that of cleaning the mud-splattered uniforms after cheering in the rain for two hours. However, this problem is no longer as serious as it once was. The cheerleaders have found just the right detergent to use — Cheer.

No people can be bound to acknowledge and adore the invisible hand, which conducts the affairs of men, more than the people of the United States.



—George Washington

Parks-Belk
Home of Better Values
MARYVILLE'S FINEST
Shop In Our Sportswear Department

DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands
OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You
Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses.
DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Washington Avenue

GOOD MUSIC
"Y" PROGRAMS
Sunday–9:45 P.M.
CONCERT HALL
Daily
12:30–1:30
Good Listening
WGAP
Dial 1400

LEONARD'S STEAK HOUSE

Perfect for you on Valentine's Day
Leonard's invites you to make up a Valentine Party and Enjoy Fine Foods by Candlelight!
For table reservations call 982-9920
LEONARD'S STEAK HOUSE

CONTRIBUTOR'S COLUMN, Cont'd. from pg. 3

AFRAID TO LOVE

In a dream, I found myself existing in a chill dark void. There were no bright flames, no leering devils, just a dull voice, slowly saying, "Your only sin: you were afraid to love."

On a walk I passed a boy. I wanted to say, hi. But he might think me forward, so I watched the ground and did not speak. Next I met a girl I knew. She wasn't popular, and, well, I hurried past with just a glance. Being seen with her might not be too good. Then another girl passed, a friend. I smiled, but she forgot to nod. I repented that one gift. And I never learned how sad she had been that day. I saw a boy coming, and my heart leaped. He was the one I longed to see. But what if he laughed at me? I looked away. Glancing back, to my surprise, I noticed a look of hurt in his eyes.

Then I knew what Hell was like. It was just the loneliness from proud and thoughtless sin, the fear to love.

Later along my walk, someone smiled. Then I knew how much a smile could really mean. For suddenly, somewhere, I found the poise to smile to those I met. A sad face passed, and, feeling a bit silly still, I smiled. The sad face brightened some.

Now I know what Heaven is. It's more than just forgetting pride. It's the freedom of not fearing love.

—Merelee Knott

Newcomers in MC Athletics

The Maryville College Athletic Department has announced that six new athletes have registered for second semester work, and they will be eligible for sports competition now. Four of the six are transfer athletes. Five of the newcomers play basketball, three football, and two baseball.

The new transfer students include: Bill Schellenger, 5-10, 170-lbs., from Pitman, New Jersey, who transfered here from the Air Force Academy. Schellenger plays basketball and football. He is a freshman.

Charles Finley, a 6-2, 180 pounder who transfered from East Tennessee State College, plays basketball and football. He also is a freshman.

Rich Holt, a 6-2, 185-lbs. transfer from Cumberland College is a junior, who plays basketball. He is a former Alcoa High athlete.

Benny Monroe, a 6-1, 185 pounder who is a sophomore transfer from the University of Kentucky, is a former standout with McMinn County High in football and baseball.

The new students participating in sports include Ed Krusman, a 5-9, 180-pounder, who will be a sophomore. He plays basketball and baseball, and played basketball last year with Maryville.

Jimmy Henderson, a leading player for Porter High School last year, is a freshman now and will play basketball. The 5-8, 160-pounder was one of the top scorers for Porter's 1960-61 team.

Coach Boydson Baird stated that all the new players are good prospects. Baird has been using the basketball newcomers in several games giving them valuable game experience.

WAA Basketball Teams Announced

Women's Athletic Association started off the new semester with a "dribble and a swish" as basketball got underway. Three teams representing Chi Beta and three teams representing Theta, and a newly formed Town Girl's team spent last week practicing in order that competition will be keen on the court. Peggy Williams and Lois Lockett are the managers for basketball which will continue during the month of February. Games will be scheduled for 3:30 and 4:30 each Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

The Town Girls' team consists of the following girls: Judy Clemons, Sandy Harris, Linda Stinnett, Penny Whaley, Jane McDade, Ruth McDade, Melinda Frier, Lucile Petree, Sue Best, Judy Queener. Theta teams have elected captains; they and their players include: Sue Kish, Ann Alexander, Emily Wood, Joy Cole, Lois Lockett, Mary Biggs, Ann Kennedy, and Barbara Pettigrew; Lorrane Briggs, Jeanne Pollock, Jean Steele, Arlene Loiser, Cynthia Blanchard, Karen Fieg, Carolyn Ellis, and Teddie Gillespie; Ginnie West, Ann Docher, Carol Cooper, Linda Brunly, Joyce Hoops, Lois Anthony, Mary Pettigrew, Linda Sword, and Nancy Whits. Teams for Chi Beta are as follows: Peggy Williams, Elsie Harris, Terry Brewster, Ann Flany, Ginna Coon, Janet Reinke, and Joy Cole; Jan Dearcopp, Marilyn Jackson, Frances Frost, Virginia Idol, Judy Wassum, Jeannette Peckham and Cheryl Robbins; Jane Hickey, Carol Cox, Jeanne Price, Nancy Kinsman, Shirley Mease, Charlotte Cook, Gaylyn Smith and Margie Loeffler.

Socks and Sneakers

By Jeanne Price

The rich aroma of steaks cooking and plenty of other good food made a wonderful time for the Women's M Club as they and Miss Leslie spent last Saturday evening in the Y rooms. After a delicious dinner the lively co-eds decided it was time to relax with Doris Day in "Please Don't Eat the Daisies."

As most of you know the WAA program this year has not had good attendance. Remember that if another year there is a poor Women's Intramural program it will be the fault of the co-eds on campus. In order for us to have a sports program we can be proud of, we must have keen, competitive sports which will make people want to come join us and have fun by helping their teams win, and as a long range goal help their society win the trophy. The only way any of us can learn a sport is to practice; and you will soon see how much fun you can have even though you may not be the best player on the team. Instead of taking that afternoon nap, (which doesn't help the figure one bit), or spending that hour playing cards, or going to the student center or the grill, come to the intramural gym every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon, and I promise, you will enjoy every minute of the time you spend there.

During the second semester some of our most fascinating sports are offered. After basketball comes swimming which is really fun and can include all kinds of swimmers — fast, funny, pretty, diving, and underwater. Tennis is something to look forward to during the spring and softball is always interesting. Did you know we have a track meet in WAA? Wait till May and you will see what fun throwing the disk and running the dash can become. As you can see there is a place for YOU in our sports program so we'll be seeing you soon.

From the girls playing basketball, at the end of the season a Maryville All Star team will be selected which may be able to look forward to a game with another college.

Remember The One You Love
on Valentine's Day
Send Lovely Flowers
From –

Hartmans Flowers

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921.

Valentine Gifts

Whatever your needs for that Special Someone on Valentine's Day

City Drug has gifts that are sure to please –

* Hallmark Cards
* Delicious Candies
* Fragrant Perfumes

City Drug Company

– STUDENTS –
We now have
VALENTINE IDEALS
and
VALENTINE CARDS
CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!
Office Supplies? We got 'em
Office Equipment? like wise
Office machines? our middle name.
Service? on all we sell (with a smile)
Delivery? Fastest and best.
Parking? Free, 10 feet from the door.
WHITE OFFICE MACHINES
" WON'T WRITE – CALL WHITE"
Court St. 983-4762

The "Y" Store Proudly serves
MAYFIELD'S
Ice Cream
and Milk
Smoother, Richer, better Tasting
Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

Always Look Your Best
See us for all your Dry Cleaning Needs
Maryville Cleaners
CONTACT YOUR DORMITORY AGENT

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

NEED ANYTHING?

The Student Council Social Committee doesn't have everything but this they do have in the way of equipment available for students use:

Piano, record player, table cloths, chrome tray and card tables—See Miss Massey.

Aluminum pitchers, 2 large sauce pans and a ladle—see Miss Ware.

If you need anything else "Shop-Downtown."

USNSA Offers Exchange Program

The International Program of the United States National Student Association offers many benefits to the campus with intellectually curious students. This program includes numerous projects, seminars, and conferences. The Foreign Student Leadership Project in the past five years has brought eighty-four foreign students to USNSA member schools. Increased understanding between United States students and foreign students is a direct and immeasurable effect of this program. In an attempt to increase contact between U.S. students and Eastern European students, the USNSA Exchange Program includes exchanges with the Soviet Union and Poland.

Twenty International Student Relation Seminars are sponsored by USNSA annually. These provide background in a field of increasing concern for over 350 U.S. student leaders. In addition. American students have an opportunity to work and study with students around the world through the International Student Conference, meeting every eighteen months to discuss topics of concern and to plan a variety of projects and studies.

Regular publications by USNSA, distributed to member colleges, provide information about foreign student problems in this land and encourage campus activities in this field. Other publications include material on foreign student programs on American campuses, the relationships of student governments to foreign students, and reports on a variety of programs such as Peace Corps. Through USNSA American colleges can also register protests concerning injustices done to foreign students in other lands.

This International Program is carried out by the International Affairs Vice President, the Commission Staff, and special programs. The IAVP heads the program for a one year term and keeps member schools informed about his commission's work. The Commission Staff is composed of about thirteen people who fulfill each project of USNSA. All member schools can apply for representation at special programs and delegations.

Highlander Band At Hockey Game

The Maryville College Highlander Band, under the direction of Mr. John Roberts, played at the Knoxville Knights' hockey game on Saturday evening, February 3. The band performed by invitation as the Knights started into the finals.

Highlights of the band's performance before a sold-out house included Miss Anne Morrell, who played her bagpipes on the ice between periods, and a fine show by the Maryville College majorettes, Miss Jane Dodez, Miss Mary Dilkes, Miss Sandra Presley, Miss Carolyn Foust, and Miss Carolyn Simms, under the direction of Miss Dodez. The girls twirled on the ice between periods.

Besides playing at every break in the game, the Highlander Band tried to jinx the Knights' opponents by playing a spooky melody by the name of Mountain King each time they appeared and each time one of their players was sent to the penalty box. There is a possibility that the band will receive another invitation to perform at one of the Knights' games.

GRANTS, cont'd. from pg. 1

Science Hall and providing needed equipment.

The grant of $25,000 by the Kresge Foundation of Detroit, Mich., is conditioned upon the college raising by July 1, 1963, the additional funds required for the project.

"Maryville College has a proud record of undergraduate training in the sciences, but the rehabilitation of Fayerweather Hall and the purchase of necessary new equipment have become vital needs," President Joseph J. Copeland said.

The Fayerweather Hall improvements were outlined under the College's ten-year Sesquicentennial Development Program. The rehabilitation of Fayerweather Hall, which was constructed in 1898, will proceed after construction of a new science building immediately to the rear. The new building will be used for chemistry and physics offerings, and Fayerweather Hall will be used for biology, mathematics and home economics studies.

Funds in the amount of $650,000 are being sought to finance construction of the new building.

BANDS PRESENT EVENING CONCERT

Music by the Highlander Band and five outstanding high school bands will be heard during a concert scheduled at 7:30 p.m. today in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel as the final event of the Maryville College Invitational Band Clinic. There is no admission charge for the concert.

Each of the bands will play two selections during the concert, and the Highlander Band will play "Fanfare and Allegro" and "Brighton Beach March," Director John A. Roberts has announced. He also is serving as director of the Band Clinic.

Dr. James Neilson of Oklahoma City University and one of the country's more outstanding musicians is the clinician working with the bands. He will be guest conductor of the Highlander Band for one of the two selections tonight under plans announced earlier by Mr. Roberts. Dr. Neilson also was scheduled to lecture Friday night on the subject of "The Conductor Looks at Modern Music" as the second in the 1961-62 Lecture Series.

Approximately 475 musicians are involved in plans for the Band Clinic and the concert this evening. The clinic began on Friday with Dr. Neilson working, in turn, with the Maryville Junior High School, Maryville High School and the Highlander Bands. Today he is scheduled to rehearse high school bands from Lenoir City, Central (Knoxville), and Rhea County (Dayton). Each rehearsal will last for about two hours.

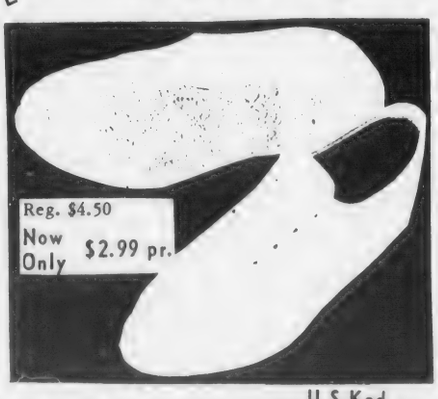
Mr. Roberts said that today the bands, following individual sessions with Dr. Neilson, will remain on the campus and wait to present their portion of the concert. These visits will represent opportunities for everyone on the Maryville campus to extend courtesies to the visitors.

All five of the high school bands participating in the clinic achieved "I" or Superior ratings last year at the East Tennessee Band and Orchestra Association competition.

There is no limit, other than our own resolve, to the temporal goals we set before ourselves—as free individuals joined in a team of our fellows; as a free nation in the community of nations.

—Dwight D. Eisenhower

FREE TRANSPORTATION
on all
White Star Line Buses
From ELLIS STREET To
MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER
AND Return



MARYVILLE-KNOXVILLE WEEKDAY BUS SCHEDULE

O – OLD HIGHWAY
N – NEW HIGHWAY

Lv. Maryville	Lv. Knoxville
O– 5:30 A.M.	O– 6:30 A.M.
N– 6:00	N– 7:00
O– 6:30	O– 7:50
O– 7:00	N– 8:00
N– 7:00	O– 8:30
O– 7:30	N– 9:00
N– 7:45*	O– 9:30
O– 8:00	N–10:00
N– 8:00	O–10:30
O– 8:30	N–11:00
N– 9:00	O–11:30
O– 9:30	N–12:00 Noon
N–10:00	O–12:30 P.M.
O–10:30	N– 1:00
N–11:00	O– 1:30
O–11:30	N– 2:00
N–12:00 Noon	O– 2:30
O–12:30 P.M.	N– 3:00
N– 1:00	O– 3:30
O– 1:30	O– 4:00
N– 2:00	N– 4:00
O– 2:30	O– 4:30
O– 3:00	O– 5:00
N– 3:00	N– 5:00
O– 3:30	O– 5:30
N– 4:00	O– 6:00
O– 4:30	N– 6:00
O– 5:00	O– 7:00
N– 5:00	N–11:15
O– 6:00	*Does not operate on Saturday
N– 8:00
O–10:00 via N.P.

This Ad and Transportation Paid for by
Merchants of
MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

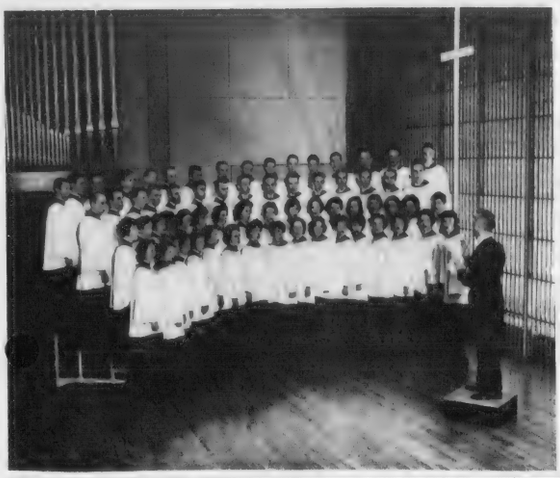
SPECIAL FOR COLLEGE WOMEN ONLY

Ladies Sizes 4–9
N & M Widths

U S Ked
CHAMPION OXFORD
Tapered Toe

"Keds Shockproof Arch Cushion"

GIFF'S
SPORTING GOODS
202 N. Cusick
983-2166



BOWLING IS REAL FUN!

Bowling is one of America's fastest-growing sports. More people are experiencing the fun of bowling each day. Why Don't YOU Join in the Fun?

We offer special
STUDENT RATES –
35¢ per line
Until 6:00 each evening.
SPECIAL GROUP RATES
Also Available, Call 982-4092

CROWN LANES

SPRING CHOIR TOUR INCLUDES 5 STATES

The Maryville College Choir will present concerts or participate in worship services in five states during the tour, scheduled March 23 through April 3. The Choir will present a concert on the evening of March 23 at McMinnville, Tenn., before traveling to Centralia, Illinois. The Choir also will visit the Second Presbyterian Church of Bloomington, Illinois on March 25, the same day that it will participate in the morning worship service of the First Presbyterian Church of Centralia.

The itinerary, as arranged by the Development Office in cooperation with Dr. Harry H. Harter, the Choir Director, and announced today, schedules appearances in Connersville, Kokomo, and Gary, Indiana, following the Centralia and Bloomington stops. The Choir will visit both churches and high schools in Connersville and Kokomo, and the First Presbyterian Church of Gary.

On March 29 the Choir will visit Chicago and its northern suburb of Libertyville. In the morning the Choir will sing in the chapel of McCormick Theological Seminary and that evening will present a concert in the First Presbyterian Church of Libertyville. On the following day the Choir will travel to Niles, Michigan, presenting a concert there that night.

Sunday, April 1, is the busiest day on the itinerary with visits to two churches in Detroit and to the First Presbyterian Church of nearby Birmingham, Michigan, scheduled.

Choir members will see western Ohio on the following day as they travel to Hamilton, which is a short distance North of Cincinnatti. On Tuesday, April 3, the choir will sing at the Georgetown (Ohio) High School in the morning and present a concert at the Mount Auburn Presbyterian Church of Cincinnatti in the evening. Following the concert, the Choir members begin the trip back to the campus.

Mr. Raymond I. Brahams, Jr., Director of Development, will serve as Tour Manager.

The Highland Echo

Maryville College

Vol. 47 | Maryville, Tennessee, February 24, 1962 | No. 10

SCIENCE STUDENTS RECEIVE AWARDS

Three students receiving honors recently for their scholarship in scientific fields were Priscilla Newcomer, a graduating senior, majoring in chemistry; Ernie Pope Cox, a sophomore, honored as the outstanding student in first-year chemistry; and Bob Beard, also a sophomore, honored as the outstanding student in first-year physics.

Priscilla Newcomer was granted the one-year membership in the American Chemical Society upon the basis of having the best record of any graduating senior majoring in chemistry. The East Tennessee Section of the American Chemical Society (ACS) grants memberships to the outstanding senior at each of several area colleges and universities.

Both Cox and Beard received copies of the "Handbook of Chemistry and Physics." The Chemical Rubber Co. of Cleveland, Ohio, each year makes possible the gift of the handbooks, Dr. Fred A. Griffitts, Chairman of the Division of Natural Sciences, said.

COOPER, EVANS IN JUNIOR RECITALS

The Fine Arts Division of Maryville College will present Miss Carole Cooper, soprano, and Mr. Paul Evans, pianist, in their Junior Recitals on February 27, at 4:30 p.m. in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center.

Miss Cooper is a junior voice major studying under Dr. Harry Harter, and is a native of Kentucky. She is a member of the College Choir and has appeared as a Messiah soloist and in the Opera Workshop production of Gallantry. Included on her program will be seven lieder from Schumann's song cycle Leiderkreis, and two arias from Donizetti's opera "La Fille du regiment" ("The Daughter of the Regiment"). Miss Cooper's accompanist is Clarissa Seely.

Mr. Evans is a senior English major from Stratford, Connecticut, and has studied piano at Maryville under Mrs. Victor Schoen and Mr. Roger Wagner. Mr. Evans also is a member of the College Choir and has appeared as a soloist in the Messiah, Pachebel's Magnificat in C, and in the Opera Workshop production of Gallantry. Included in Mr. Evans' program will be selections by Scarlatti Brahms, and Debussy.

Miss Pratt To Sing Buxtehude Cantata

The Fine Arts Department of Maryville College will present Miss Virginia May Pratt, senior voice major, in her Senior Recital on Friday, March 2, at 8:00 p.m. in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center. Included in her program is a Buxtehude solo cantata "Singet dem Herrn," for voice, organ, and violin. Mr. Kent Perry will accompany Miss Pratt on the violin and Miss Sharon Jones will accompany her on the organ. Also included on the program are selections by Robert Schumann, von Weber, Ravel, Persichetti, and William Schuman.

Miss Pratt is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Pratt of Riverside, California, formerly of Winter Haven, Florida where Miss Pratt gave a recital in her last year of high school after studying voice with Virginia Davidson for two years. Miss Pratt's musical activities at Maryville include membership in the College Choir and Tau Kappa Chi, honorary music society. She has been a soloist in the college presentation of Handel's Messiah for the past three years, and has sung in the Madrigal Singers and the Opera Workshop production, Riders to the Sea, by Ralph Vaughan Williams. She was also soprano soloist in the choir's presentation of Pachebel's Magnificat in C, and has sung for various other campus and community functions.

BLOY TO PRESENT RECITAL ON MARCH 8

On Thursday, March 8, at 8:00 p.m. in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center, The Fine Arts Department will present Mr. James Bloy in an organ recital as part of their faculty recital series. Included on his recital will be works of Lubeck, Franck, J. S. Bach, Hindemith, Dupre, and Mulet. Also included on the program will be Three Preludes on Lowell Mason hymns by Seth Bingham. These preludes are written on hymn tunes popular in America, such as "Work, for the night is coming," and "Blest be the tie that binds."

Mr. Bloy is a native of Wisconsin and received his Bachelor of Arts and Music degrees from North Central College in Naperville, Illinois. He received his Master of Music from Eastman School of Music and has studied in Frankfort, Germany with Helmut Walcha and at the Mozarteum in Salzburg, Austria. For the past two years, he has studied at the School of Sacred Music of Union Theological Seminary in New York City where all of the course work toward his doctorate has been completed. Mr. Bloy has been at Maryville since 1953.

Y's To Host Seminar, March 10, 11

Next week end, March 10 and 11, students from several southern colleges will come to Maryville for a Human Relations Seminar sponsored by the regional council of the YWCA. Maryville College and Knoxville College Y's will be hosts for the seminar, whose theme will be "The Role of the Student in the Changing South."

At two o'clock Saturday the conference will open with a symposium moderated by Miss Ella Baker of the regional YWCA special projects staff. Five leaders in their fields will speak in the symposium, each discussing a different phase of interracial relations.

The areas of emphasis and the speakers are public education: Dr. Leslie Patton, Dean of the School of Education at East Tennessee State College; the church: Mr. Jack Marion, of the staff of the Presbyterian Church, Nashville; employment: Dr. Ralph Martin, of Knoxville College; the student movement: Mr. Marion Barry; voting: the Rev. Mr. Frank Gordon, of Shiloh Presbyterian Church, Knoxville.

Folk singing and dancing led by Guy Carrawn of Knoxville is planned for Friday night.

Dr. E. Fay Campbell will lead the group in worship Sunday morning. The program for the day also includes a session on liturgical jazz, a discussion workshop and reports from interest groups held the previous day. Sunday evening Vespers will close the conference.

Maryville College Y's have invited delegates from Carson-Newman, U. T., Morristown, East Tennessee State, King, Tusculum, Virginia Intermount, Greenville, Tennessee Wesleyan, Emory and Henry, Fisk, Tennessee Polytechnic Institute and the University of Chattanooga. The delegates will stay on this campus.

Any student from Maryville College may participate in the conference. Sign-up sheets will be posted.

CASS TO PRESENT PIANO CONCERT

Richard Cass, young American pianist, will be Artist Series performer on Thursday, March 1. Since 1953, when he won the Twentieth Bienniel Young Artists Auditions of the National Federation of Music Clubs, Richard Cass has been a popular musician in much demand. After studying abroad for two years on a Fulbright scholarship, he traveled to Vercelli, Italy, where he was a winner of the Viotti International Contest. The result of this honor was numerous concert and radio engagements in Switzerland and Paris.

After a debut at New York Town Hall, press reports announced an important new musical talent. His performance since then has included recitals with major orchestras and a concert in Manhattan's Carnegie Hall. Richard Cass is one of the busiest and most talented among modern artists.

1962 ENROLLMENT SHOWS DECREASE OF 6.8 PERCENT

A smaller than average dropoff in enrollment from the first semester is a key factor behind the enrollment of 682 students for this semester, Miss Viola Lightfoot, College Registrar, said. A total of 732 students registered in September.

Graduation, scholastic difficulties and other reasons caused a total of 73 students not to enroll for the second semester. Transfer students entering the College for this semester numbered 23.

The net loss between first and second semesters is placed at 6.8 percent as compared with more than 9 percent for 1960-61 and 1959-60, Miss Lightfoot said.

NOAH, March 9-10, Suggests Failure of Divine Plan

The Maryville College Playhouse production of Noah will be presented in the college theater March 9 and 10. Noah, which was written by the French playwright Andre Obey, is a fantasy written in the spirit of a classical myth. The play is based upon the story of the Flood which is related in Genesis.

Noah, by command from God, builds the ark without telling his family about it because he realizes that they will not understand his motivation. Because of their doubts, Noah has a hard time convincing his family to follow his example of obedience to the Divine Will. As the play ends, Noah realizes by the reactions of his family to the world after the flood, and the return of the animals to their native aggressiveness, that the divine plan has failed.

The characters in the play include Noah and Mrs. Noah; their three sons, Shem, Ham, and Japhet; and the three girls, Ada, Norma, and Sella, whom the sons marry near the end of the play. In addition, there are ten animal characters: Lion, Tiger, Hare, Tortoise, Wolf, Cow, Monkey, Lamb, Bear, and Elephant.

The costumes and set are highly stylized in design to convey the fantasy of the play.

Noah was first performed in Paris, on January 17, 1931. The first performance of the play in America, an adaptation by Arthur Wilmurt, was on February 13, 1935, in the Longacre Theater in New York City.

Letters to the Editor

An honor system is, first of all, not a negative, but a positive thing. It is based not on the assumption that everyone is going to cheat and therefore should be watched, but on the assumption that everyone is honorable and therefore should not have to be watched. It does not require that all students spend examination time policing their neighbors; it requires only that the individual student make sure that he himself is honorable enough not to cheat.

Someone will argue, Why, then, does the system include a clause saying that a student must report a neighbor who is seen cheating? Does this not mean that all students must be forever on guard to make sure that others do not get away with cheating?" Not at all. If we assume that all people are going to be honest, there will be no need for a constant guard.

I will agree that we must be practical and realize that there will be some few who will cheat. This, however, does not demand that the remaining students spend their time attempting to catch the cheaters; it demands only that someone be reported if his cheating is so obvious that a person sitting near him cannot help noticing. This is not a police action, but a method for ridding the majority of those few who choose not to be honorable.

It should be remembered also that such a system would not mean that the campus would run rampant with violations and that every other person would be accused of cheating. Most people, I am sure, have enough belief in the integrity of and enough regard for the rights of their fellow students not to accuse them unjustly and without sufficient evidence. This, combined with the fact that a majority of the students at Maryville College should have enough honor not to cheat, would mean that the cases brought before the honor council would be few.

The past few days have made rather clear the general student rejection of the proposed honor system for Marvville College. After reading the opinions on the board in the lobby of Pearsons Hall and after hearing the views of the students in my own classes, I feel compelled to answer some of the negative arguments that have been presented. Let me say first that I recognize quite clearly that the suggested system is not perfect. It, like any other plan which has never been put to the test of usage, has many flaws. But what is important is that it represents a step in a forward direction. It is at least a beginning, and there must be some sort of beginning before there can be a workable system.

Actually, though, the majority of the arguments have not been against the mechanics of the system, but against the very idea of an honor system. Many have insisted that it would be no more than a "police force" which would demand that every student spy on his neighbors at all times. Others argue that it would be but a new set of rules that would allow the administration and the faculty to keep the students in perpetual bondage. Another feeling is that it is founded on the faculty's desire to shirk the responsibility of sitting in the classroom and proctoring tests. And then there is the vague reference to the idea that honor is a matter of personal responsibility. What this last means, I am not really sure. It may mean that since honor is a matter of personal responsibility, a person can no longer be responsible for his own honor under any sort of system. Or it may mean that a person is not considered responsible for his own honor under an honor system because someone else will be watching at all times.

But whatever the reasoning behind this objection, I think it and the others can be answered if we look at the question — Just what is an honor sysem?

Actually, a sincere faith in the honesty of students is the basic reason for the faculty's supporting an honor system. By saying that they favor trying the proposed system, faculty members are in effect saying that they trust their students, that they consider them to be honorable human beings who do not have to be watched to be kept from cheating. And as to the faculty's being willing to let students handle those cases of dishonesty which might come up, this is very much an indication of a belief in the maturity of the students at Maryville. It is a positive statement of the belief that students are capable of taking responsibility, and it is a positive statement of the belief that students have a sense of fair play toward their fellow students. Altogether, the faculty's support of the honor system is a positive statement of a belief in human integrity.

In conclusion, let me say that I have not attempted to answer every argument that has been presented against the honor system. Nor am I trying to imply that an honor system is such a perfect thing that it would be one hundred per cent workable. What I am suggesting, however, is that there are many good points to such a system. Finally, I am not attempting to force anyone to accept the honor system; all I am asking is that each person examine, with an open mind, the good points along with the bad before making a final decision.

—Willard Pate

Voice for Progress

Maryville College is often referred to as "a family." If this is so, there is a very evident lack of rapport between the parents and the children of this family. There should be a much closer relationship between these two groups, and I believe that the main hindrance to this closer relationship is a profound lack of communication. In order to have a well-adjusted family, it is essential that both the parents and children be able to communicate their needs and desires. More important, each should respect the other's reasoning. At an early stage, the children are simply expected to take their parents' restrictions and rules as being what the parents think best; but as they mature, they begin to ask why, and they expect answers. If the answers are not given, the children are likely to rebel. On the Maryville campus, I beiieve there are three main effects arising out of the lack of sufficient communication.

First, it is evident that there is very little understanding on the part of the student body as to why the administration imposes and inforces many of the rules that it does. In many cases, it is not the rules that bother students, but rather the fact that the administration fails to communicate their reasons behind these rules. The administration should not be able to stand up to a student body and say that we must "take it" or leave. We have every right as students to challenge the reasons behind any rule imposed on us, and we have the right to expect good, understandable answers to our questions. If there were better communication

Cont'd. Page 4

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

MARYVILLE COLLEGE

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Member of University Press Service. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester; $1.75 per year.

Beth Reichardt, Editor

Lynn Herring, Assistant Pat Crossley, News

Pat Baker, Features

John Mitchell, Jeanne Price, Sports Anitra Bard, Exchange

Mike Garrett, Business Manager

Phyllis Deloteus, Assistant Norman Marschner, Circulation

Dr. Carolyn Blair, Mr. Frank Layman, Faculty Advisors

Contributors: Sharon Ruggles, Ellen Dozier, Connie Bondurant, Tom Salmon, Chuck Spencer, Todd Owers, John Gamble, Keen Compher, Jean Kelleher, Jeanette Peckham, Alice Stengel, Charlotta Cook, Mary Gay Boettcher, Margaret Dozier, Phil Jerome, Helen Anne Easterly

RECORD REVIEW

by Elizabeth Lee

A Review of The Passions, Les Baxter, featuring Bas Sheva, Capital Records

The Passions is a laudable attempt to capture in music the illusive emotions in life. Les Baxter, in this original conception, uses as an instrument the remarkably sensitive voice of Bas Sheva — a voice whose vivid colorations range from the gutteral snarl of savagery to a delicate lyric beauty.

In dealing with such abstract elements as human passions it is logical that the most effective selections would be those which give the individual the greatest freedom of selection in mental images. "Dispair" can be as easily the emotion of Juliet at the sight of her dead lover as the passion of Jesus at Golgotha. "Hate" can be either the sadism of a Bengal tiger toying with a wounded prey or perhaps the resentment of a psychologically maladjusted adolescent boy toward his parents.

"Terror" suggests an obvious situation, and this is less broadly effective. The mechanics which achieve the nightmarish panic sounds are far from the subtle methods employed in the above selections. The carefree confidence of a children's melody is cut by three well spaced rattling sounds. If the listener, throughout the ensuing gasps, sobs, screams, and rattles, can resist the mental picture of a nervous woman being pursued by a rather predictable sounding diamondback rattler, he may find the selection rewarding. The snake nightmare will lose its even limited effectiveness on the third, fourth, and fifteenth playing.

The other selections are less successful. The use of a male chorus and violent dance rhythms invariably limit the image of "Lust" to orgy, without the shades of sensuality.

"Jealousy" is a passion Mr. Baxter could have left to the ingenuity of man; the recording studio could do it only a vague justice.

The choice of a child's wandering song to depict "Joy" is honest, as is the approach to "Ecstacy." Yet neither have the subtle effectiveness of "Hate" and "Despair."

To the six voice mixed choir Bas Sheva's talents, and modern technical recording effects add flutes, wood blocks, harp, and tom-tom and one is bound, at any rate, to have interesting listening.

Cabbages & Kings

"I have learned a new saying," the Walrus cried the other day as he came out of Pearsons.

"What on earth is a new saying?" I asked.

"It's just like an old saying except it's much younger."

"Well, all right. What is your important new saying?"

"It goes like this," the Walrus said, " 'An old opinion board never dies; it just gets tucked away.' "

"Perhaps I can think of one, too," I answered. "Let's see. How about, 'There are only 359 more shopping days until February Meetings'?"

"That's pretty good," he agreed. "And don't forget, 'Into every life some bells must ring.' " And with that, he left for class.

* * * * * *

"What are you doing, Walrus?" I asked as I entered the room and saw him peering intently at himself in the mirror.

"I'm conducting a self-study program. But somehow," he said, turning first one way and then another, "I can't seem to see the back of my head."

"My foolish friend," I cried, "don't you know that you can never see all of yourself in only one mirror?"

* * * * * *

"If you don't mind, Carpenter, I should like to talk to the students for a while," the Walrus said later.

"Not at all. Go right ahead."

Twisting his flippers shyly, he began, "The other day I was over in Bartlett watching pictures being developed in the dark room. Now I'm not a preacher, or even a writer of editorials, but I noticed two things that made me think. First, every positive print—or picture—came from a negative. And second, the negative had to be developed and changed before there could even be a picture that was of any use to anyone."

"Is that all you want to say, Walrus? It's a rather short speech."

"Don't insult the intelligence of the readers, Carpenter. It's enough."

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

Office Supplies? We got 'em

Office Equipment? like wise

Office machines? our middle name.

Service? on all we sell (with a smile)

Delivery? Fastest and best.

Parking? Free, 10 feet from the door.

WHITE OFFICE MACHINES

" WON'T WRITE — CALL WHITE"

Court St. 983-4762

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. — 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Washington Avenue

The "Y" Store Proudly serves

MAYFIELD'S Ice Cream and Milk

Smoother, Richer, better Tasting

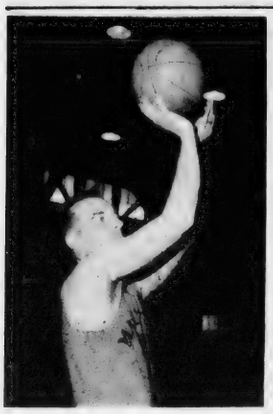
Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

THUMBS UP!

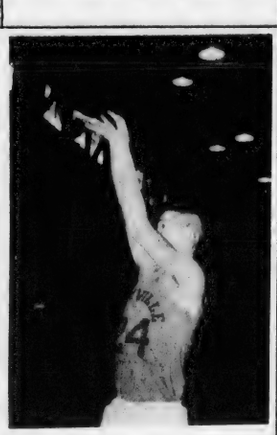
By John Mitchell

I think I saw the fastest wrestling match last Saturday night that has occurred since I have been at Maryville. In case you are wondering what got into the boys, I hear that there was a two-dollar pot for the fellow who pinned his man in the shortest time. All I can say is that Don Elia must have really needed pocket money because he didn't waste any time getting down to business. In less than thirty seconds his man was upside down, with his back flat on the mat, counting his toes as the ref gave the deciding signal. And Pete Stafford didn't have any flies on him either; it took him a little over sixty seconds to pin his man. I'm in favor of more two-dollar pots!

I understand that they're working in boxing and wrestling between plays during some of the intramural basketball games. What makes it interesting is the fact that everything's so spontaneous.



I sat in on one of the girls' basketball games the other day to see their version. Two things were very noticeable — no naughty words (no audible ones, at least) or fights when someone was handled a little roughly and no violent criticism of the refs. The girls even laughed and helped each other up after knock-downs. Even more impressive was the accuracy that some of the players had with their shots.



Have you noticed all the people running around in the area near the football field? At first I thought they were getting in shape for spring fever, the draft, or the peace corps; but then it dawned on me that spring sports are just around the corner.

The members of the tennis team are required to trip the light fantastic with their rackets in their hands. Must be a form of psychological warfare. One thing's for sure; the team will be in shape for the first match. If you don't believe it, ask some of the candidates.

The track candidates and the batteries (pitchers and catchers) of the baseball team are also working out in the afternoons.

With spring coming on I guess two of my favorite sports — ice hockey and kite flying — will pass quietly into the background. But there's always marble shooting and tiddley-winks to look forward to.

ATHLETES OF THE MONTH

The athletes of the month are the co-captains of Maryville's 1961-62 basketball team, Dale Sterner and George Herron.

Dale and George are alike in many ways. They are both seniors, six feet tall, and starting guards. They both list the one hand jump shot as their favorate shot and are effective clutch players. However, the reasons for their being coach Baird's starting guards are exactly opposite. George is the offensive specialist, and Dale the defensive specialist.

George is the floor leader of the Scotties' offense. It is his responsibility to set the pace of the game, and to set up the offensive system. Since he is an excellent ball handler, George is chiefly responsible for bringing the ball up the court against a press. George is also a potent scorer. Currently he is battling Bert Randall for the scoring leadership with an approximate average of 15 points per game. His high game was 24 points against King College.

Dale Sterner is the defensive ace of the Scotties. Dale is always handed the responsibility of guarding the best scorer on the other team, regardless of his position. Dale considers his best game to have been the first game against Hiwassee. In this game Dale held Bryant's Little All-American, Bell, to 12 points. Bell had been averaging 30 points a game. In addition Dale scored 14 himself. Although not a prolific scorer, Dale has one of the best set shots on the team and has one of the leading field goal percentages. Because of his long-range accurcy, Maryville's strategy in a tight game is to get Dale clear for a final shot in the closing seconds.

The Highland Echo congratulates both of these seniors for their contribution to Maryville College athletics.

SCOTS PIN EMORY

Perhaps the happiest person in the Alumni Gymnasium Saturday night was Maryville's wrestling coach John A. Davis, The reason? Saturday night was "pin night" for his charges as they handed their visitors from Emory University a whopping 33-5 defeat, in one of the most awesome displays of power and strength a Maryville team has ever exhibited to the home fans. This match was slated as the second half of the basketball-wrestling doubleheader. Minutes after King College had fallen before a packed house, 63-58 in basketball, captain Jim Baxter walked to the mat for the evening's first match and pinned his man, little knowing that he was establishing the pattern that his teammates were to follow.

From the stands cheers resounded loudly and frequently, as Jim Baxter, Gene Dixon, Bill Robinson, Don Elia, Joe Kucinski, and Pete Stafford all stepped from the mat into the bedlam created by their jubilant teammates—all victors via the pin route. Don Elia's match was almost over before it started and was the shortest of the evening. As a matter of fact, it could have been missed entirely, if the fan's attention happened to be contered on something else at the time. It lasted a grand total of 29 seconds. Pete Stafford almost matched him, pinning his man in 47 seconds.

This was victory number one for the Maryville grapplers, and a great deal can be said for it. The team went into this match with a 0-6 season record, but they wasted little time Saturday night in breaking into the win column in a very big way. Improvement is something that every coach looks for in his team over the course of a season. Perhaps this factor played a very big part in the victory, and certainly was one of the main reasons Coach Davis was so pleased.

Some Scots already have enough points for a wrestling letter this year, and several others are close. Captain Jim Baxter, Don Elia, Clint Abbot, Joe Kucinski, and Pete Stafford have earned their letters; and Gene Dixon, Bill DeWeese, Bill Robinson, Dave Settlemyre, Steve Rago, Eldon Ross, and Dave Marx are not far from earning theirs.

Friday night the Maryville matmen played host to Auburn University in their final home appearance this season. Next Thursday the team leaves for Alabama for the S.E.C. Tournament, which is to be held at Auburn University. This tournament will be the official season close-out, and a good showing will indeed be a fitting way to end the year. Regardless of the final record, however, it seems to be a good bet that the spectacular victory over Emory will be the season's highlight and something long to be remembered by the Maryville fans.

Intramural Note

The two basketball leagues are well under way. With a 5-0 record the Mountaineers lead the B-league, and there is a three-way tie in the A-league. The Townrounders, Pussywillows, and Knights are undefeated with three wins each. The leadership will be partially settled this week when the Townrounders meet the Pussywillows.

HERRON, RANDALL SPARK WINS

Combining good team play with excellent shooting, the Maryville basketball team came into its own with recent wins over Emory and Henry and King College, the first being an upset and the second a rout.

The team scored a 77-75 win to turn the tables on the Wasps of Emory and Henry. The victory halted the Scots' losing streak and avenged an earlier 60-49 loss to the Wasps.

In the series of losses, two were at the hands of powerful Carson-Newman and another pair to the University of Chattanooga. The Highlanders also dropped a 45-42 decision to Tusculum, with some spotty play preventing a victory.

Team work was the important factor in beating Emory and Henry as four Maryville players hit in the double figures. George Herron led all scorers with 21 points. Gerald Russell bucketed 15, Charles Finley 14, and Bert Randall 11. Randall also did a good job under the boards. The Scots held a 41-39 half time lead and streached it to seven points with only a few minutes left. The Wasps rallied, but the Scots held on to pull out the win. The losers used an all court press in the later parts of the second half, only to give the Highlanders a lot of foul shots. Lapses at the foul line kept the margin of victory from being larger.

The Scots closed their 1961-62 home basketball season, with a 63-58 dubbing of King College. Although the Scots were smaller than the visitors, they managed to control the boards, primarily through the efforts of Herron, Randall, and Russell.

The home team jumped to an early lead and were never behind. With a 36-24 lead at half time, the Highlanders boosted the difference to 20 points with eight minutes left. However, the final buzzer bought to an end a spirited King rally.

The whole team played an excellent game, one of the best of the season. Randall led the scoring with 22 points, and Herron followed with 14. Nearly every player got into the scoring column.

The final games are with Centre, and Hiwassee.

Socks and Sneakers

by Jeanne Price

"Captains ready?" A wave of two hands goes up, but suddenly a shout "Wait!" is heard as a noble Traveller bends over to tie her sneaker, and the referee waits patiently. Yes, the Intramural gym has been the scene for plenty of excitement these last two weeks. With Theta and Chi Beta, and the Dixie Darlings, a town girl's team, the competition has been keen and some good basketball has been played each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon. Beginning very soon will be the swimming meet; as I said in my last article the swim meet can use all kinds, shapes and styles of swimmers, so plan now to come and have a good time in the pool.

As the paper goes to print Chi Beta has won five games of the eight which have been played and Theta has won three. The Travellers and the Floorburners have yet to be defeated although four games remain to be played this week. As you fans are reading the Echo, however, we will have ended the basketball season for another year but everyone participating will remember the good times they had as they jumped and dribbled and oops — made a basket!

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 6 am – 11 pm 982-9921

GOOD MUSIC

"Y" PROGRAMS
Sunday—9:45 P.M.
CONCERT HALL
Daily
12:30—1:30

Good Listening

WGAP

Dial 1400

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR

Southern Shoes

Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.

116 West Broadway

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

– Banking Services –

*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
*CHECK ACCOUNTS
*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
*TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

LETTERS, Cont. from page 2

between administration and students, the administration could make sure that we understand their reasoning. Such understanding, I believe, would reduce considerably the resentment of the students.

I feel that the objective of the student body, so far as many of the rules of Maryville are concerned, is not a complete, radical change, but rather a revolution of the present rules to make them conform to the times. Maryville has, without doubt, made considerable changes to benefit students over the many years. But Maryville does not progress with the times, and this seems to be the main point of contention with students. The student body has been making progressive steps towards eliminating this lack of communication through such things as the opinion board, student-faculty senate, and various committees that are concerned primarily with student grievances. However, it is important that the students are not thwarted in their efforts by having their wishes forgotten without receiving good understandable objections to their desires. Many times various ideas of the students have reached a certain administrative committee and have never been heard about again. As a result, students become frustrated in their attempts to make the college a better place for them. If the student body is wrong, it has a right to know why. I have recently become aware of the administration's willingness to explain themselves at any time to any student who questions them. I strongly advocate exercising this right! I believe, however, that the administration should be willing to view situations involving the student body with an open mind to both sides. Student wishes cannot be cast aside as unimportant simply because they do not conform with former Maryville policy.

The third effect of this lack of communication is rumor. Some of these rumors are not important, but many are exaggerated, and students tend to believe many things that in actuality are not true. Rumors arise mainly through the uninformed. To clear up many of these rumors, students should find out individually what the truth is. This, in many cases, can be accomplished simply by asking a member of the administration. At the same time the administration should be willing to make every effort to let the students know the facts about all rumors that are brought to their attention. At this point I would like to retract a statement, based on rumor; that I made in my first article. In referring to the number of students who left last semester, I used the word "appalling." Actually, the number of students who left was under forty and this is not really what I consider an appalling number. I use this as an example of what a rumor can lead a student to believe.

The administration should realize that Maryville students are ready for many changes; anything that even sounds like a possibility of change, we grasp immediately and consider as being fact. When we find that our conception has been based on a misleading rumor, we are discouraged and disappointed. The lack of communication is readily evidenced—consider the length of time a rumor is allowed to exist before it is finally cleared up by the administration.

I would like to pose a question to the parents of this family: Do you think that we are mature enough to take on many of the responsibilities that you are denying us? If not, why not? And when do you think we will be mature enough? If you cannot grant us responsibilities now, how can you feel safe in intrusting them to us after we have left the confines of your home as the future generation? I ask that you communicate to us the answers to these questions.

—Jim Stewart

No people can be bound to acknowledge and adore the invisible hand, which conducts the affairs of men, more than the people of the United States.

—George Washington

Science Expansion To Require $900,000; $145,000 Now Rec'd

The College administration is seeking the additional funds necessary to finance the improvement and expansion of facilities used in teaching biology, chemistry, physics, mathematics and home economics. A total of $900,000 is the estimated cost of building and rehabilitating Fayerweather Science Hall.

The $100,000 grant announced recently by the Alcoa Foundation plus funds covered in announcements made earlier this year, makes a total of $145,000 received or promised toward the $900,000. Two anonymous gifts of $10,000 each have been received, and the Kresge Foundation of Detroit, Michigan, has made a conditional grant of $25,000. This grant is conditioned upon the College raising by July 1, 1963, the additional sum required for rehabilitating Fayerweather Hall. This sum is estimated at $235,000.

Due to the interrelationships between facilities in Fayerweather, and the facilities to become available with completion of the new science building, work on the projects must be fairly simultaneous.

These improvements to the science facilities are a part of the $6,000,000 Sesquicentennial Development Program. This program was planned in conjunction with the College's sesquicentennial, which will be observed in 1969.

The Development Office has the prime responsibility for all phases of the development program. Director of Development, Raymond I. Brahams, Jr., works closely with other members of the administration in the continuing program of contracting foundations and other prospective donors.

KNOXVILLE CIVIC COLISEUM
THURS, MARCH 8 – 8:00 P.M.

By Irresistable Demand – John Ringley
Presents

RAY CHARLES

HIS ORCHESTRA AND VOCALISTS
Featuring
THE RAELETS
HIT THE ROAD JACK – GEORGIA and many other Great Hits!

ADVANCE TICKETS ON SALE AT THE COLISEUM BOX OFFICE – $2.00, $2.50 & $3.00

FINE JEWELRY
QUALITY SERVICE
Whatever you need in the way of jewelry or guarantted watch repair, see us.
Also a complete selection of Charms & Pendants.

BROADWAY JEWELERS

Always Look Your Best
See us for all your Dry Cleaning Needs
MARYVILLE Cleaners
CONTACT YOUR DORMITORY AGENT

Stay at the
CONGRESS INN
Lexington, Kentucky
- Quiet, well back from Hwy.
- Newly decorated units
- Air-conditioning, tile baths
- 24-hour laundry & cleaning service
- Swimming pool
- Restaurant & cocktail lounge on the premises
- Orchestra for dinner dancing
- Banquet rooms available

1700 N. Broadway – US 27 & 68, N., Lexington Ky.

FREE!
Write for new TRAVEL GUIDE listing fine motels from coast to coast, inspected and approved by Congress of Motor Hotels.

FREE FREE FREE
TRANSPORTATION
on all
White Star Line Buses
From ELLIS STREET To
MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER
AND Return

MARYVILLE-KNOXVILLE WEEKDAY BUS SCHEDULE
O – OLD HIGHWAY
N – NEW HIGHWAY

Lv. Maryville	Lv. Knoxville
O– 5:30 A.M.	O– 6:30 A.M.
N– 6:00	N– 7:00
O– 6:30	O– 7:50
O– 7:00	N– 8:00
N– 7:00	O– 8:30
O– 7:30	N– 9:00
N– 7:45*	O– 9:30
O– 8:00	N–10:00
N– 8:00	O–10:30
O– 8:30	N–11:00
N– 9:00	O–11:30
O– 9:30	N–12:00 Noon
N–10:00	O–12:30 P.M.
O–10:30	N– 1:00
N–11:00	O– 1:30
O–11:30	N– 2:00
N–12:00 Noon	O– 2:30
O–12:30 P.M.	N– 3:00
N– 1:00	O– 3:30
O– 1:30	O– 4:00
N– 2:00	N– 4:00
O– 2:30	O– 4:30
O– 3:00	O– 5:00
N– 3:00	N– 5:00
O– 3:30	O– 5:30
N– 4:00	O– 6:00
O– 4:30	N– 6:00
O– 5:00	O– 7:00
N– 5:00	N–11:15
O– 6:00
N– 8:00
O–10:00 via N.P.

*Does not operate on Saturday

This Ad and Transportation Paid for by
Merchants of
MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

The Highland Echo

Maryville College

Vol. 47 | Maryville, Tennessee, March 10, 1962 | No. 11

Joint Committee Reports Changes

In recent weeks the Religious Life and Activities Committee and the Social Life Evaluation Committee have been meeting together studying specifically the use of Sunday afternoon. They worked first on a statement of their philosophy which, briefly stated, is that Sunday should be set aside primarily as a day of worship, but that the most complete revitalization takes place in an environment that provides, in addition to worship, opportunities for wholesome recreation and leisurely relaxation.

Several suggestions have been under consideration and at their recent meeting, the Executive Council gave approval to two of these. First, that freshman and sophomore women may date on Sunday afternoon. Second, that couples and women students may be in the town night area of the city as well as residential Maryville on Sunday afternoon. Those wishing to have supper in town may indicate this on their sign-out cards and return by 7:00 p.m. If they plan to go to Vespers before returning to the residence hall, this too should be indicated on the sign-out card.

Representatives from the Committees will be in the dormitories on Sunday night to make further explanations and answer questions. The plan is expected to be ready for operation by Sunday, March 18.

NINETEEN SENIORS MAKE DEAN'S LIST

The Dean's List for the first semester, as released by the Personnel Office, includes a total of sixty-five persons: nineteen seniors, sixteen juniors, twelve sophomores, and eighteen freshmen. There are forty-six women and nineteen men on the list, which is as follows:

SENIORS

Baker, Patricia	3.4
Brokering, Sharlene	3.61
Dalton, Brenda	4.0
Dozier, Ellen	3.8
Evans, Paul	3.6
Fuhrman, Harriette	3.5
Gray, Glenda	4.0
Hall, Miriam	3.66
Harris, Elsie	3.25
Irwin, Marion	3.37
Jensen, Donna	3.4
Johnston, Robert	3.83
Kinnamon, Rebeccah	3.4
Lemme, Sue	3.4
Leo, Donald	3.5
Nakamura, Anne	3.37
Nielson, Barbara	3.8
Park, Richard	3.4
Smith, Sylvia	3.64

JUNIORS

Bucher, Scott	4.0
Cortese, Alda	3.4
Elliott, Paul	3.4
Everett, Sally	3.29
Fuqua, Elizabeth	3.27
Giffin, Joel	3.33
Herring, Mary Lynn	3.39
Jones, Sharon	3.89
Mikeal, Judith	3.66
Miles, Mildred	3.25
Seely, Clarissa	3.55
Spencer, Charles	3.5
Swafford, Peggy	3.53
Walters, Janice	3.79
Ward, William	3.33
Williams, Joyce	3.25

Harriette Fuhrman Wins Fellowship

Miss Harriette Joanne Fuhrman, senior English major from Atlanta, Ga., has won a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship for 1962-63. For graduate study at the institution of her choice, Miss Fuhrman will receive an allowance of $1500 in addition to the payment of tuition and fees.

Miss Fuhrman is the fifth Maryville graduate in the last five years to become a Woodrow Wilson Fellow. Later this semester the W. W. Foundation will sponsor a dinner in her honor to inform undergraduate students here of the fellowship program.

The purpose of the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Foundation is to encourage and enable promising students to enter the profession of college teaching. Approximately 1000 W. W. Fellowships are being awarded for the coming year.

Bloomer, Swafford In Junior Recital

The Fine Arts Department will present Miss Susan Bloomer, soprano, and Miss Peggy Swafford, organist, in their Junior Recitals on March 13 at 4:30 p.m. in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center.

Miss Bloomer is a senior music-history major from Berwyn, Pennsylvania, and has studied voice under Dr. Harry Harter. She is a member of the College Choir and has appeared as a Messiah soloist and in the Opera Workshop production of Riders to the Sea. Included on her program will be works by Handel, Richard Strauss, Barber, Dello Joio, and Sacco and an aria from Wagner's opera Tannhaüser. Mr. Paul Evans is Miss Bloomer's accompanist.

Miss Swafford, a native of Maryville, is a junior organ major and has studied organ under Mr. James Bloy. She is a member of the honorary music society, Tau Kappa Chi, and accompanied the opera workshop. Miss Swafford is the organist at the First Baptist Church of Maryville. Works on her program include compositions of Bach and Langlais, and a prelude and fugue on B.A.C.H. by Liszt.

SOPHOMORES

Blanchard, Cynthia	3.44
Brewer, Meredith	3.29
Bryson, Roberta	3.6
Cate, Judy	3.56
Compher, Keen	3.27
Cook, Charlotta	3.75
Dodez, Jane	3.43
Dozier, Margaret	3.72
Leland, John	3.25
Lewis, Alice	3.33
Paul, Harry	3.37
Webster, Bette Carole	3.65

FRESHMEN

Bridges, Cecelia Louise	3.43
Carter, Ruth	3.31
Coleman, Elaine	3.37
Criner, Jane	3.25
Flanary, Lois	3.9
Han, Eileen	3.5
Hanson, Margaret	3.33
Higgins, Thomas	3.31
Hinderer, Jon	3.93
Huff, Carolyn	3.62
Jerome, Philip	3.62
Minear, John	3.31
Mitchell, William	3.29
Moyers, Michael	3.75
Renne, Roland	3.25
Walker, Sharon	3.43
Walters, Judith	3.64
Wasson, Judith	3.81

DEBATERS ACHIEVE SUPERIOR RATINGS

Maryville College debaters brought superior ratings from the Magnolia Speech Tournament in Columbus, Mississippi last week, March 1, 2, and 3. The combined teams of Jane Dodez and Lori Sturmfels, and Ed Fritchie and Will Mitchell made the second highest record in the junior division.

Judith Mikeal received the superior rating in the oral reading division for her rendering of "The Laboratory," by Robert Browning.

Jim Miller, Don Leo, and Jane Dodez were rated superior in oratory. Mr. Miller spoke about legalized wire tapping by the federal government. Mr. Leo's oration was "Moral Diplomacy." Miss Dodez spoke on the responsibility of the press. Both Mr. Leo and Miss Dodez earned superior ratings in extemporaneous speaking.

At the Tennessee State Tournament, February 9, 10, and 11, Miss Dodez won first place in the peace oratory contest. She has recorded her speech on tape for competition in the national contest.

The resolution for all the debates this year is: "Resolved: that labor unions should be under the jurisdiction of anti-trust legislation."

EMILION WILLEMS IS 6th LECTURER

Emilion Willems, Professor of Anthropology at Vanderbilt University will visit the Maryville College campus on May 1 as a sixth lecturer in the current Lecture Series. His announced topic will be "Changing Latin America."

Dr. Willems is an American Anthropological Visiting Lecturer during the current academic year under a grant from the National Science Foundation. His field of specialization is social anthropology in the Latin American area, with particular emphasis on Brazil.

Professor Willems received his doctorate from the University of Berlin in 1930 and after further study at the University of Sao Paul in Brazil, he served on the faculty of that institution between 1937 and 1949. He has been Professor of Anthropology at Vanderbilt since 1949.

Dr. Willems has studied minority groups and mestizo cultures in Brazil on numerous field trips. He is the author of some twelve books, mostly in Portuguese, several pamphlets and some seventy articles in various scholarly journals.

COLLEGE WILL HOST E-T BAND FESTIVAL

Maryville College will be host this year to the Band Festival staged each spring by the East Tennessee Band and Orchestra Association, which is an organization of public school musicians. The Festival will be staged on the campus March 28-30.

Approximately 3,700 bandsmen and 69 bands from junior and senior high schools throughout East Tennessee are expected to participate. Each band will be judged separately against set standards.

Serving as the director of the Festival will be Mr. John A. Roberts.

Dr. Harlow Shapley To Lecture March 20

Dr. Harlow Shapley, the eminent Harvard astronomer, will be the third lecturer in the 1961-1962 Maryville College Lecture Series. He comes to the campus as a Danforth Visiting Lecturer, sponsored jointly by the Association of American Colleges and the Danforth Foundation. The purpose of the Danforth Visiting Lecturer program is "to strengthen the intellectual, the religious and the cultural aspects of liberal education in the United States."

Dr. Shapley will lecture on Tuesday evening, March 20, at eight o'clock in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center on the subject "Galaxies and Man's Place in the Universe." On Monday, March 19, and on Tuesday, March 20, he will lecture to various classes and groups in science and Bible on the subjects "Science Ponders Religion" and "The Origin and Development of Life." Further announcement of this schedule will be given later.

Dr. Shapley is credited by some of his colleagues with having delivered more lectures on science, especially astronomy, than any other ranking American scientist. His wit, verve and eloquence, combined with his mastery of his own field and his knowledge of other fields of science, have kept him in constant demand for many years. His interests extend from the physiology of the lowly ant (on which he has written three technical papers) to the farthest reaches of space.

Following completion of his formal education at Carthage Academy, the University of Missouri and Princeton University, Dr. Shapley was on the staff of the Mount Wilson Observatory at Pasadena, California, for seven years. For the following 31 years he was director of the Harvard College Observatory at Cambridge. From 1952 to 1956 he was Lecturer on Cosmography at Harvard University.

Honorary degrees have been awarded to Dr. Shapley by 16 universities, including those of Delhi, Honolulu, Ireland, Mexico, Toronto, Copenhagen, Princeton and Harvard. He has been made honorary foreign member of the national academies of ten countries, and has been awarded medals and prizes by the Vatican, India, Mexico, England, France and other countries. He is a trustee of several institutions, including the Massachusettts Institute of Technology, Worcester Foundation for Experimental Biology, The Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute, and Science Service, Inc. He has been president of eight nationwide scientific organizations.

Lectureships held by Dr. Shapley include the Halley (Oxford), Sigma Xi (Yale and Oberlin), Darwin (London), Patten (Indiana), Harris (Northwestern) and an exchange lectureship at Belgian universities. In 1957-58 he was a Phi Beta Kappa resident lecturer, and was a Danforth Visiting Lecturer in 1959-60.

Among the publications of Dr. Shapley are half a dozen books and more than 200 technical scientific articles, chiefly in the field of astronomy. One of his latest books is Of Stars and Men, which provides a resounding "yes" to that most provocative of all scientific questions: "Is there life on other planets?" Dr. Shapley feels that some forms of life may far surpass Homo sapiens in intellectual capacity, and believes that highly-developed life may exist on a hundred million planets—perhaps even more.

Of Stars and Men has been published in Swedish, Japanese, Italian and Hindi; it is also in a paperback edition, and is being made into a full-length motion picture. Another volume, Science Ponders Religion, appeared in November, 1960, and is a book club selection.

The tours of Dr. Shapley as a Danforth Visiting Lecturer will take him to 23 outstanding colleges and universities.

Prof. Beard's Works In 2 Art Exhibitions

Richard Beard, Professor of Art at Maryville College, is preparing a one-man exhibition to be displayed at Middle Tennessee State College during the month of April and at the University of Tennessee in October.

Professor Beard has his work included in two juried shows. The first is the Mid-South Exhibition of Paintings held at Brooks Memorial Art Gallery in Memphis, Tennessee, which will last from March third to twenty-sixth. The second is the Third Dixie Annual Exhibition, a print and drawing show, which will be in the Montgomery Museum of Fine Arts, Montgomery, Alabama, from March fourth to thirtieth, and at the Louisiana State Art Commission in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, from April eighth to twenty-ninth.

Vesper Speaker Is An 'on-the-spot" Aid

Mr. Jack Marion of Nashville, Tennessee will be the Vesper speaker on March 11 at 7:00 p.m. in the Chapel. Mr. Marion is a special field representative of the Office of Church and Society of the United Presbyterian Church. In this capacity Mr. Marion serves as an "on-the-spot counselor" for local churches and presbyteries. Working in the Synod of Mid-South and various other sections of the U. S., he deals with all types of social problems, such as housing and race relations, that are disturbing the church and community.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

MARYVILLE COLLEGE

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Member of University Press Service. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester; $1.75 per year.

Beth Reichardt, Editor

Lynn Herring, Assistant Pat Crossley, News

Pat Baker, Features

John Mitchell, Jeanne Price, Sports Anitra Bard, Exchange

Mike Garrett, Business Manager

Phyllis Deloteus, Assistant Norman Marschner, Circulation

Dr. Carolyn Blair, Mr. Frank Layman, Faculty Advisors

Contributors: Ellen Dozier, Connie Bondurant, Chuck Spencer, Todd Owers, John Gamble, Jean Kelleher, Jeanette Peckham, Charlotta Cook, Mary Gay Boettcher, Margaret Dozier, Phil Jerome, Sue Bloomer, Arlene Ford, Ann Harrison

Editorial Comments

Forgive me for interrupting. You were thinking, weren't you? Perhaps your thoughts were running along the lines of how nice it was to see progress being made. Now, that's a noble thought. But are you one of the people who are willing to go out and make progress happen, not just wait for it to come to you? Are you ready to acknowledge the progress that does come your way and support it? Or do you just sit by and cheer the parade on with your "spirit," and perhaps hop on the bandwagon when it passes by? It's sort of like the town "leader," the only man in the community who is really "concerned" — but who "forgets" to vote on election day. We have plenty of complainers, an overabundance of martyrs, and a great supply of appreciators, but we are much in need of a few loyal supporters. It's about time to unwind from the dream and the asking and start living the returns.

* * * * * *

The library staff is to be commended for the fine job it is doing with the displays set up periodically on the table in front of the circulation desk. These displays are attractive, timely, informative, and well worth the attention of anyone passing through the library. They are for our enjoyment and information and give evidence of considerable thought and work on the part of the library staff.

The Highland Echo hopes that these will continue and that both students and faculty will take time to be concerned and to make note of each new display as it appears.

Scots and Soda

by Dave Marston

How come a lot of the fellows on campus, apparently normal red-blooded American boys who eat their potatoes and drink their milk, don't date? Most girls figure Dr. Brubaker's concern for campus sex problems was optimistic—the only problem the sexes have here is getting together. But the boys have endless excuses: maybe it's a girl back home (this is forgiveable); some complain about the rules, saying you need a compass to stay on the circle walk; others say they can't date without a car. But these are just excuses; probably some of these guys wouldn't date if you gave them a Rambler and tickets to the drive-in. Nevertheless, there is one deterrent to dating on this campus—it's the communication problem.

Say you want to call a girl. If you don't know her number, pick an interesting one from the list scribbled on the phone booth wall. Now get a dime—phones don't make change. OK, the line's not busy and you're connected to Pearsons Hall. Somebody answers; it sounds like Mrs. Pearsons: "I'm sorry young man, but our girls may not receive personal calls on the office phone. Please call the booth." That's one dime shot. You get another. Now the line's busy. Again—still busy. Finally, a half hour later, your call gets through. But that same sweet, understanding voice answers: "I'm sorry, but our girls may not receive phone calls after eleven o'clock. Good night, young man." And what's worse, when you occasionally get through this initial barrier, the girls are never in their rooms. So that's one aspect of the communications problem.

Here's another side of it. If you can't win on the telephone, try the student center. This should be ideal—they have a juke box, a TV, and an ice cream line a mile long. They even have girls there. But there's one problem: if a boy's even a little shy, when he casually tries to isolate a girl from her friends at the table so he can ask her for a date, he's sure to be so nervous he'll spill his Coke. Whoever said there's safety in numbers was right—if a boy has trouble with one girl, he probably won't even try wih three or four around. This doesn't mean girls should always go solo, but as a rule, two girls will get more dates than four girls.

Finally, there's apt to be communication trouble inside the girls' dorms. (That is, if you're lucky enough to avoid the wild dog packs in the outlying areas of campus and make it to the dorm). Your only hope is that buzzer, and the answering service is as predictable as the weather. If you get your girl's floor, she probably moved last semester. If you finally find her, she won't be in her room. And when she finally comes down, totally surprised, her hair is in curlers and her face is in wet clay, or something pretty much like it. Probably one glance convinces you that you really didn't want a date anyway. And it's all because it's so tough to communicate.

But the Space Age is going to change all of this. If John Glenn can tell us everything over Australia is A-OK, it's just a matter of time until they break through to the girls' dorms. In fact, when the boys' thoughts turn to what the girls have been thinking about all winter, chances are they'll figure out some way to communicate without any telephones or buzzers.

PROSPECTIVE

It has been my feeling for some time that we as students on the Maryville College campus are at a crucial point in the lives of all of us. Within the past few and the next few weeks, I feel that we will decide the tone of the campus for years to come. It will be our actions and attitudes that will promote either an apathy, a negativism, or a constructive attitude. We will be largely responsible for the future generations of Maryville College students. We, as at no other time, are beginning to realize the degree to which we can exercise the responsibility we have been given and are also being given new responsibility. How we accept this and what we do with it is a big concern. This is our opportunity to really exhibit what the students on this campus are like and what our real concerns are. We can show ourselves to be mature and responsible by accepting our tasks or we can will to future college students an apathy and a negativity which will stifle their college careers as much as they have ours.

—Connie Bondurant

KIERKEGAARD AND MODERN THEOLOGY

by Barbara McCarter

Joseph Barnhart, philosophy instructor at Western Carolina College, lectured to the Biblical Colloquium at Knoxville College on Tuesday evening, the 27th of February, in and around a paper on the subject of Kierkegaard and his influence on modern theology.

In order to comprehend any of the Christian Existentialist point of view, Mr. Barnhart had to explain the "intellectual cannibalism" of Hegel, who believed that Man had become God. Kierkegaard, "brilliant but not systematic," was compelled to counter Hegel, and he expostulated that when man tries to become God, he shatters the image of God. Reason is by its nature limited. Thus, one must crucify reason to have certainty. Uncertainty is hell, but certainty is faith in Luther's sense of justification by faith.

Finally, according to Mr. Barnhart, Kierkegaard believed that the core of the matter, the essence, is the Incarnation. Certainty or Faith cannot be gained entirely by any other so-called divine authority. The Bible, which Kierkegaard contends is ever in the making both philosophically and linguistically, cannot be the authority, nor "the mouse that roars"—the church—with its sectarianism and its circular argumentation in establishing its very reason for existing.

The basis for this essential faith which men must have is only, absurdly, the fact of the Incarnation. Man can live in infinitude, but he does not exist now—he is becoming. This faith is the key—his somehow encountering God. Yet man's subjectivity, Kierkegaard's pitfall and his private hell, does not allow him to break with himself in thinking—himself being in this sense his reason.

Kierkegaard seems to have an infinite capacity for asking questions. For what will a man die? Does the incarnation give man something worth dying for? Was the life more important than the Logo that was before the world? Is the fact the suffering or the temptation? Kierkegaard says all of this, asks all of this, states it all, is rationally sure that man cannot get to God intellectually. His finitude crashes in on him. What to say, how to add, subtract or refute? The real inside of Kierkegaard is not his philosophy, but his psychology—one sees oneself.

Cabbages & Kings

"Tell me," said the Walrus, "why humans rarely have the quality that in animals we call animal dignity?"

After thinking a bit I replied, "Oh, but we do, Walrus; it is called human dignity."

"Ah. Human dignity. Just so. And who has it?"

"Gracious, Walrus," I answered impatiently, "why, humans have it, of course."

"Yes, but if one human should take away another human's dignity, even for a time, is that considered good?"

"No, certainly not. But then, it rarely happens so. At least not in our country—the home of the brave and the land of the free. In some bad countries, surely, it occurs, but not here, Walrus, not here."

The Walrus said with a sad smile, "That is not what I hear, Carpenter. And I will tell you what I have heard in the form of a story so that only those with open eyes and ears may understand. It seems that once long ago there was a prince who lived in a small, but Christian, country. Now this prince had a big brother, who often humiliated and mistreated him. 'If I should ever be King,' he thought, 'I would not treat others the way my big brother treats me. I should respect their human dignity.'

"And a last it came to pass that the young prince did become King. For a while he was very happy at being able to rule his kingdom, but soon he began to worry whether or not his subjects really respected and feared him. So at last he devised a plan. 'For 364 days,' he said, 'I will be kind to everyone. But one day a year I will demand that they give me perfect obedience and do anything I require, whether it be funny or sad or humiliating. Not only will this show me that I have respect, but it will also be a good way to give the people a unified spirit, and it will build their characters. My brother treated me this way, and I am certainly a fine man now.'

"So when the 365th day came, the King carried out his plan. All day he went around devising various things for his people to do. Along toward evening he suddenly thought of a marvelous plan for the smallest man in his palace to do. 'Since this man really needs to overcome his inhibitions,' thought the King, 'I will make him hunt for a pearl in the trash heap.' So the King hid a pearl and stood watching happily while the young man crawled through the garbage searching for the pearl.

"But suddenly the King saw a stranger coming along the road. The stranger stopped and stared with amzement. 'What is that man doing?' he cried.

" 'Why,' said the king, 'I have hidden a pearl in that heap and he is searching for it. It is a very character-building thing he is doing. Can't you see?'

" 'I can see,' said the stranger, 'that this man has had his human dignity taken away from him to please you.'

" 'It is only for one day," the King replied. 'It does not even touch his soul. Later when it is over, he will be glad he was man enough to go through with it.'

"But the stranger, who was very wise, could see things more clearly than the King. 'King,' he said, 'I see this man's soul. A soul without human dignity is a suffering thing. And this man's soul is dying within him.'

" 'Nonsense,' answered the King. 'It is only meant in fun.'

" 'In fun!' the stranger exclaimed. And then he looked at the King more closely. When he spoke again, his voice was very sad. 'O King, I see now why you do this thing. For, look—can you not see? Your own soul, King, your own soul is already dead.' "

Why Teach?

by Ann Harrison

What attracts a person into the field of college teaching? Why do they stick with it? The Echo put these questions to the three members of the Maryville College faculty who were handed their bouquets of roses in honor of twenty-five years of service at the recent meeting of the Faculty Club.

The three honorees were Miss Katherine C. Davies, professor of music; Dr. David H. Briggs, professor of psychology; and Dr. L. L. Williams, professor of biology.

Miss Davies was interested in college teaching when she was an undergraduate student herself. She thought, both then and now, that no other field has greater opportunity for service and continued growth. "You have to keep running, and stay young to be an effective teacher," she said.

"The field of music is exciting because things are constantly changing," Miss Davies also commented, "yet the changes rise from firm foundations."

Because she considers broad foundations essential to any study, Miss Davies strongly endorses a liberal arts education for a specialist in the fine arts. "The understanding of basic principles of life," she explained, "is basic to understanding developments in the arts."

She is equally emphatic concerning the importance of an appreciation of the fine arts to any liberally educated person. "Even one course can open the door to an exciting field of appreciation," she said.

According to Miss Davies, twenty-five years have made a sharp difference in the status of music in colleges. In 1936 music was tacked-on to college programs. Now it is recognized as a field which involves the development of the whole person, physically, mentally, emotionally, and esthetically.

This development of the person is what Dr. Briggs finds important in teaching. "Teaching," he said, "challenges one's total capacity to bring the human being into contact with ideas so that development can take place."

Dr. Briggs entered the educational field as an athletic coach; then he was a high school principal and later a supervisor. The politics involved in these positions displeased him and he decided to go into college teaching.

Like Miss Davies, Dr. Briggs thinks that teaching keeps one young. He added to this the advantage of dealing with one of the most interesting aspects of life—human beings.

"The teacher is working in the most potential field for the solving of human problems," Dr. Briggs continued. "Only through the right type of education—education with a moral and spiritual thrust—can we hope to develop a world in which reason, justice and peace can exist."

The time to go fishing which academic vacations provide is an advantage that Dr. Briggs does not overlook.

Cont'd Page 6

Contributor's Column

DEFINITION OF LOVE

Sweet as when I kissed your feet
That day of rain and wind and flowers.
Tender as the violets
Drinking at a brim of crystal.
Flaming as the falling star
In its trail of crackling friction.
Splendid like crimson magic Splashed upon the azure sky.
Sacred as the whispered prayer
Lifted by doves to heaven.
Silent like the white ice-flowers
Resting and melting on your brow.
Poignant as a dying sigh
Or the hope-cry of new-born breath.
Subtle like a gentle wind
Shimmering the sun-green grasses.

—Bonnie Woodward

THREE POEMS

Come, Commies, come!
See student run.
See student in the pot,
Ideal for a gun.

Sing freedom's song.
Sing U.S. is wrong.
Sing it in a minor key.
Now it won't be long.

Fight, Commies, Fight!
Tyranny is right!
Give each kid a flag to wave.
Kill a god tonight.

* * * * * *

Haiku
about Harry Harter

His hands—
two birds naked but not immodest—dive flightingly through air.

* * * * * *

How love goes its tair way, fierce-tender as a windy day.
It fairly whips my soul into response, and stings my flesh,
the while it lifts the corners of my cape,
and peeks beneath.

—Nancy R. Slack

Reliability in Space

by Bradford E. Rehm

Several days ago a friend and I were chatting, along with the rest of the world, about Colonel Glenn's space flight. And as we talked it became apparent that there were more than just a few miracles of technology working for the astronaut on his trip.

When our space shots are delayed and when they are shot down instead of up, a lot of us wonder if the fellows who run Canaveral haven't been spending too much time at the beach. Somehow, I always have to force myself to realize that in many ways our missles are among the most reliable machines we have made. D. S. Halacy did a fine job, last year, of hammering that point into stubborn people like myself. His article in December's Electronics World made it clear that even the little progress we have made so far has been nothing short of amazing, reliability-wise.

Now Mr. Halacy explains that reliability is sometimes given in terms of hours. That is, once a machine is operating, it can be expected to keep on working for a certain length of time. This is called "MTBF" or Mean Time Between Failures. And the grand surprise is that the short-range Minuteman missle has a MTBF of 7000 hours. All things considered this is about the same as running 30,000 TV sets for a year and not having a single repair bill. Hmmm, maybe the space ago will be a disaster for some people.

Of course these technical advances are impressive, but they are insignificant in terms of the philosophic revolution space exploration will bring. At last man will see how small he is. And the myth of the "sacred earth" will end if life is discovered on other planets. Even more important, unhampered by being earthbound, we will more easily uncover the basic secrets of the universe. And now no one can tell how profoundly that will affect our worship of God.

To explain the basic idea behind reliability, Mr. Halacy used an example of a cave man. This prehistoric brother of ours ventures into the wilds of present-day Greenwich Village to hunt for tomorrow's steak. His trusty weapon, a bow, a la Abercrombie and Fitch, but rather well-worn, will work only eight out of ten times. So it has a reliability of 80 percent. But his string and arrows also have reliabilities of 80 percent each. What is the reliability of his weapons system? Not 80 percent; but .8x.8x.8, or 51 percent. Just think of what the price of steak would have been in those days!

Well, to get back to missles, it is easy to see that if a space ship with more than ten working parts is to get off the ground at all, it must have rather reliable parts. A ship with only 500 components, each with a reliability of 99 percent would have a total reliability of one percent. Increasing the individual reliabilities to 99.9 percent would raise the total to only 60 percent. At this rate we can imagine what those beachcombers at the Cape are up against, trying to make missles with literally millions of separate parts even stand on end.

The manufacturers are doing their best to help our spacemen by setting unbelievably high goals for their products. For simple components like transistors and condensers, the Motorola Products Division is aiming for reliabilities in the order of 99.9993 percent. That's high! It means that these little things have failure rates of .0007 percent, and a transistorized Noah's ark made of them could be expected to last about 15,000 years before failure.

Y-RADIO OFFERS VARIED PROGRAMS

by Anitra Bard

When Maryville College students first began producing Y-Radio, it was a devotional type program. During the years the emphasis has changed, and this year's programs have stressed information and variety.

These Sunday night programs have included a panel discussion with Miss Irma Birkelbach about her visit in Berlin last summer, an interview with Dr. Edward Brubaker during his February Meeting series, and The Second Shepherds' Play done by the Playhouse. This past year Y-Radio has used its facilities to make a closer contact between "The Hill" and the community and to give the students a broader look at campus events. A part of this link with the community has been provided by the campus news spots, which are a first in the Y-Radio programs.

Every other week Y-Radio presents a musical program, which is introduced with a descriptive commentary about the composer or some special feature of the music. These programs draw on campus talent, and, whenever possible, use music from faculty and student recitals. One of the recent music programs was the delayed broadcast of several selections from the Band Clinic Concert.

Y-Radio is a committee under the leadership of the YMCA and YWCA organizations. There are twelve to fifteen members on the committee who are responsible for writing all the material, announcing, and the technical aspect of radio production. Each member has the opportunity to plan and organize a program. All of the programs are recorded in the Fine Arts Center, then rebroadcasted by radio station WGAP.

Looking ahead, the committee is preparing a special Easter play, under the direction of David Styles of Playhouse. It will be heard April 22.

Mr. Henry Alysmeyer, of the Public Relations Department, and advisor for the group, has given his guidance and aid during the year.

Parks-Belk
Home of Better Values

MARYVILLE'S FINEST
Shop In Our Sportswear Department

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

– BANKING SERVICES –
*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
*CHECK ACCOUNTS
*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
*TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

NEW SPRING SLACKS

TRIM and SLIM BY Buccaneer
- Low rise
- Narrow thigh
- Narrow knee
- Tapered bottom

The slender slack for young men

$6.98 Now At –
Proffitt's

CAPITOL THEATRE
MARCH 11 – 15
FIVE BIG DAYS !!

BILLY WILDER'S EXPLOSIVE NEW COMEDY
STARRING JAMES CAGNEY, HORST BUCHHOLZ, PAMELA TIFFIN, ARLENE FRANCIS
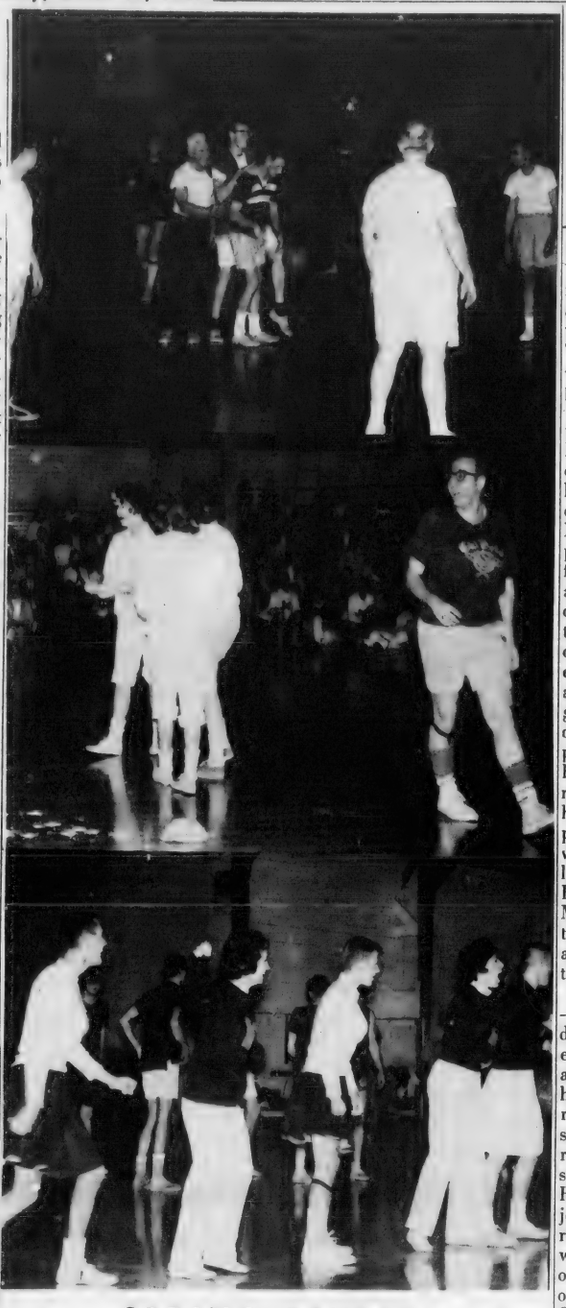
CO-STARRING
HOWARD ST. JOHN HANNS LOTHAR & LILO PULVER
FILMED IN PANAVISION • SCREEN PLAY BY BILLY WILDER AND I.A.L. DIAMOND • PRODUCED AND DIRECTED BY BILLY WILDER • MUSIC ADAPTED AND CONDUCTED BY ANDRE PREVIN • PRESENTED BY THE MIRISCH COMPANY, INC. IN ASSOCIATION WITH PYRAMID PRODUCTIONS, A U-I RELEASED THROUGH UNITED ARTISTS

THUMBS UP!

By John Mitchell



(Perhaps my recent critic will agree that the size of this issue's heading is more proportionate to the quality of this column.)

As one of the sport writers predicted in the last issue, Maryville made a good showing in the Southeastern Intercollegiate wrestling tournament last week. Considering the opponents — Sewanee, Chattanooga, Auburn, Alabama, Georgia, Emory, and Florida State University — I would say that they did better than good. Auburn must be trying to establish a monopoly on first place.

Wilt Chamberlaine scored 100 points in a basketball game the other night as the Philadelphia Warriors beat the New York Knickerbockers 169-147. That's about fourteen points per foot of him (not counting the extra inch), a good example of self-realization.

Dale Sterner, George Herron, Bert Randall, Dave West, Gerald Russell, Charles Finley, and Mike Moyers won letters in basketball, and all but one will be back — we hope — next year.

I had several reactions to the student-faculty basketball game: how ridiculous can a game get, how does pie taste when it is thrust upon you, and some of the faculty members aren't slouches when it comes to shooting a basketball. Evidently one player thought it was going to be a football game, and there was at least one yogi. Who won the game anyway?

SPRING FEVER?

SCOT MATMEN PLACE THIRD

The Maryville College wrestling squad garnered fifty-four points and won third place in the Southeastern Conference Intercollegiate Wrestling Championships, held at Auburn, Alabama, last weekend. The entire Maryville team reached the quarterfinal round, with many boys going into the semifinal and final rounds. As a team, the Highlanders copped seven medals by virtue of one first place win, three second place wins, one third place win, and two fourth place wins.

Captain Jim Baxter walked off with the 115-pound crown for the third year in a row, and has established a new record in Maryville College wrestling annals. Don Elia finished second in the 157-pound division; Joe Kuckinski finished second in the 177-pound weight class; and Pete Stafford finished second for Maryville in the heavyweight division. Eldon Ross took fourth place in the 123-pound class; Gene Dixon won fourth position in the 130-pound class; and in the 191-pound weight class, Al Ries won third place.

By divisions, this is how the team fared:

115-POUND CLASS: Jim Baxter pinned Tommy Wilhite of Sewannee in the quarterfinals, received a bye in the semifinals because there was no man for him to wrestle, and then won his division by pinning Woody Strozier of Alabama in the finals.

123-POUND CLASS: Eldon Ross was decisioned by Hank Haynes of Sewannee in the quarterfinals, but won his consolation match against Ben Branch of Emory by virtue of a decision in a match that was extended into overtime. Haynes went to the division finals.

130-POUND CLASS: Gene Dixon pinned George Martin of Emory in the quarterfinals and was decisioned by Paul Looney of Auburn in the semifinals. Looney went to the division finals.

137-POUND CLASS: Jay Paty of Sewannee pinned Bill De Weese of Maryville in the quarterfinal round, and then went to the division finals.

147-POUND CLASS: Henry McDonald of Chattanooga decisioned Dave Settlemeyer in the quarterfinals.

157-POUND CLASS: Don Elia decisioned David York of Auburn in the quarterfinals, decisioned Fred Wunderlich of Sewannee in the semifinal round, and was then beaten in the finals by George Harless of Chattanooga, 7-5, in a very close decision.

167-POUND CLASS: Clint Abbot reached the quarterfinals and was decisioned by Frank Pinney of Sewannee, Pinney went to the division finals.

177-POUND CLASS: Joe Kucinski received a bye in the quarterfinals, decisioned Henno Kiviranna of Auburn 7-2 in the semifinals, and was beaten in the finals by Bill Yates of Sewannee.

191-POUND CLASS: Al Ries pinned Joe Rogers of Florida State University in the quarterfinals, and was decisioned by Wayne Farmer of Chattanooga in the semifinals, but won his consolation match against Charles Boyd of Alabama.

HEAVYWEIGHT CLASS: Pete Stafford pinned Dave Garner of Emory in the quarterfinals, decisioned Mike Cole of Georgia in the semifinals, and was pinned by George Gross of Auburn in the finals.

Wrestling mentor John A. Davis has named nine boys who will receive wrestling letters this year. They are: Jim Baxter, Eldon Ross, Gene Dixon, Dave Settlemeyer, Don Elia, Clint Abbot, Joe Kucinski, Al Ries, and Pete Stafford.

The Highland Echo congratulates Coach Davis and the entire wrestling team on a fine tournament showing and for their sustained effort throughout the season.

MC Net Forecast

There is an old saying in sports in regard to male tennis players and all girls in general. The advice to the young ladies is this: "Never go out with a tennis player —all they ever want to do is to play love games."

This may be trite perhaps, but the fact remains that there have been quate a few love games played (games ending in a score of 40-love) these afternoons on the courts in back of Baldwin as the Maryville netmen seek to win their positions on the team, with the first match just two short weeks away. This is done by a series of challenge-matches, which also have the added effect of simulating competition and giving the boys experience under the conditions of actual match-play. As the paper goes to press, the first round of challenge matches has been completed with Bob Johnston being the big winner and George Flack running a close second. Both boys have been playing good tennis, displaying some mid-season form with an occassional flash of brillance. Gordon Stewart, Bob Paul, Fred Kolb, Gary Sypher, and Dave Marston are all newcomers to the team and have shown fine play as they seek to find berths on the team.

There is another newcomer too —the coach. Coach Lauren Kardatske is in his first year as teacher and coach here at Maryville, and aside from his other duties, has been assigned to handle the reigns of the tennis team this spring. He is blessed with four returning lettermen—Bob Johnston, Jeff Grote, Todd Owners, Roger Nooe — with the main objective of bettering last year's 7-7 record. The highlight of that year was, of course, the fine 5-4 victory over the Carson-Newman Eagles on their home courts in Jefferson City. This win marked the first time a Maryville athletic team had defeated Carson-Newman in an athletic event during the 1960-61 school year.

The Scot racketeers open their season with a road trip to Georgia on the 23rd and 24th of March to play Oglethorpe University and then Shorter College before returning home. After spring vacation, the team goes right back into action, playing Cumberland College at home on Saturday afternoon, April 7th.

GOOD MUSIC
"Y" PROGRAMS
Sunday—9:45 P.M.
CONCERT HALL
Daily
12:30—1:30
Good Listening
WGAP
Dial 1400

Always Look Your Best
See us for all your Dry Cleaning Needs
MARYVILLE Cleaners
CONTACT YOUR DORMITORY AGENT

DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands
OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You
Featuring a Fine Stock
of Quality Products Including
a Complete Variety of Cheeses.
DIXIE
SUPER MARKET
Washington Avenue

The "Y" Store Proudly serves
MAYFIELD'S
Ice Cream
and Milk
Smoother, Richer, better Tasting
Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

MARCH CALENDAR

March 10	A two-day YM-YW Regional Seminar opens at 2 p.m. with a symposium on interracial relations. Maryville College Playhouse presents the final performance of "Noah" by Andre Obey, 8 p.m. in the Theatre.
March 11	Vespers, the Reverend John R. Marion.
March 13	Junior Recital, Susan Bloomer, soprano, and Peggy Swafford, organist, 4:30 p.m. in the Music Hall.
March 16	Film Series, The Mouse That Roared, 8 p.m. in the Theatre.
March 19-31	Paintings by French School Children on exhibition in the Art Gallery.
March 20	Lecture Series, Dr. Harlow Shapley, Danforth Visiting Lecturer, "Galaxies and Man's Place in the Universe," 8 p.m. in the Music Hall.
March 23-24	Glee Clubs' musical show, Carousel, by Rodgers and Hammerstein, 8 p.m. in the Theatre.
March 28	Spring vacation begins. Through March 30 the East Tennessee Band and Orchestra Association will meet from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily in the FAC and Wilson Chapel.

Scholarships For Teachers of Deaf

Congress has appropriated nearly one and one-half million dollars for the purpose of educating teachers of the deaf, according to Dr. Freeman McConnell, head of the division of hearing and speech at U-T. U-T expects to have a share of this sum for scholarships.

In a program before a large meeting of the Student National Education Association here in January, Dr. McConnell announced that scholarships will be granted at both the graduate and undergraduate levels. For graduate students grants will be $2000 plus tuition, for undergraduates $1600 plus tuition.

Those who desire additional information about the government scholarships at U-T should contact Dr. Truman Pouncey, Dean of Admissions University of Tennessee, Knoxville.

K. Crews To Attend National Convention

Dr. Katherine Crews will attend the Music Educator's National Conference (MENC) to be held this year in Chicago from March 16-19. Music leaders and educators from all over the world will be present. The agenda includes various phases and aspects of music education. Grade school, junior high, senior high, and college choirs will perform; music publishers will have demonstrations set up of the most modern musical instruments. One night is designated as "Chicago night," when choirs from the surrounding area will perform.

The MENC is the music section of the National Education Association. Every other year a national conference is held; during alternate years there is a regional conference. Last year the Maryville College Choir performed at the regional conference held at Asheville.

No government can be long secure without a formidable opposition.

—Benjamin Disraeli

MC Swimmers Appear In Aquatic Symposium

Maryville College was well represented in a new area for the college, synchronized swimming. Jane Dodez, Terry Brusstar, and Phyllis Deloteus attended the Southeastern Sectional Symposium of the International Academy of Aquatic Art held on February 16-17 at the University of Tennessee. Under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gundling, the symposium was a participation clinic sparking intercollegiate competition. Mrs. Gundling has the distinction of having won the National Senior Solo Championship five years consecutively, and is well known throughout the United States and Canada.

Fifteen colleges and universities and several aquatic clubs presented some thirty compositions for analysis. Maryville's trio performed "Dusk's Dimensions" to "My Reverie" based on Debussy's "Reverie." This composition won approval of both critics and other 100-150 swimmers at the symposium. Recognized for their superior swimming skill and delightful smiles, Jane, Terry, and Phyllis were chosen to persent their routine Saturday night in the climactic public exhibition. They were chosen to swim in the honor spot just before Mrs. Gundling's sensational composition, "Oriental."

Some of the comments from those attending the two-day symposium were: "a good opportunity to demonstrate the big up-swig in aquatic art;" "Beulah Gundling is a true expert and amazing swimmer;" "Learned a lot—the experience was very beneficial," and "it was just plain fun!"

MC swimmers appearing in Symposium are from left to right: Phyllis Deloteus, Terry Brusstar, and Jane Dodez

Elected from Chi Beta and Theta as WAA All Stars are — Standing: Briggs, Williams, Dearcopp Kneeling: Gillespie, Lockett, and Flanary

Socks and Sneakers

by Jeanne Price

Chi Beta won the WAA Basketball Tournament by winning five games to Theta's four in a twelve game series. The "Travellers," a Chi Beta team, have a record of three consecutive years undefeated. A novelty game with "Porky and the Simple Seven" completed the "Travellers" season.

With the closing of the basketball season, Miss Leslie and other basketball officials elected an All Star team. The forwards on this team are Ann Flanary, Jan Dearcopp and Lorraine Briggs; the guards include Peggy Williams, Lois Lockett, and Joan Gillespie. Sue Kish, Anna Baker, and Jeanne Price served as officials at the games.

During the past week, fencing has been going on in the intramural gym. A round robin tournament composed of seven girls took place the other day, showing some of the switching ways of warfare that can occur during a competitive fencing battle.

The annual WAA Swimming Meet will be held on March 22. Novelty racing, such as a ping-pong race, a mu-mu race, and speed races, will be presented. Diving and form swimming, featuring the backstroke, sidestroke, and breast stroke, will also be among the attractions. To be eligible for the meet, participants must have spent at least two hours of practice before the event. Each society should have the teams organized and ready to begin practice by Tuesday.

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.
SEYMOUR'S
Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!
Office Supplies? We got 'em
Office Equipment? like wise
Office machines? our middle name.
Service? on all we sell (with a smile)
Delivery? Fastest and best.
Parking? Free, 10 feet from the door.
WHITE OFFICE MACHINES
" WON'T WRITE – CALL WHITE"
Court St. 983-4762

Whatever you need in the way of pastries or baked goods, for that special occasion, we have just the thing!
Come visit us in our new location at the
Midland Shopping Center
FREE BUS TRANSPORTATION or call the sweetest number in town for free delivery to the college – 982-7920
VAN'S BAKERY

Stay at the
CONGRESS INN
Lexington, Kentucky
- Quiet, well back from Hwy.
- Newly decorated units
- Air-conditioning, tile baths
- 24-hour laundry & cleaning service
- Swimming pool
- Restaurant & cocktail lounge on the premises
- Orchestra for dinner dancing
- Banquet rooms available

1700 N. Broadway – US 27 & 68, N., Lexington Ky.
FREE!
Write for new TRAVEL GUIDE listing fine motels from coast to coast, Inspected and approved by Congress of Motor Hotels.

SPECIAL STUDENT BODY MEETING FEATURES 5 COMMITTEE REPORTS

Approximately 200 students, in addition to members of the faculty and administration, attended a special student body meeting in the chapel at 7:30 on March 6. The purpose of the meeting was to improve campus communication. Chairmen of five Student Council committees reported their activities and answered questions about the reports. A period of open discussion on communication and representation concluded the meeting.

In the first report, Sue Quigg, chairman of the National Student Association Committee, stated that students will vote soon after spring vacation to decide whether Maryville College will remain a member of the organization. She said that the NSA, consisting of 400 member colleges and universities, is the recognized body through which students may express their opinions on matters of national and world concern.

NSA provides students with fact sheets about current affairs. Beginning this week, these fact sheets will be kept in a folder at the circulation desk of the college library where they will be available to all students. Any interested students may also attend the meetings of the NSA Committee each Monday at 4:30 in the Student Council office.

On April 14 from 1:30 to 5:30 P.M. the Student Council Committee on Leadership Development will sponsor a conference for college and high school students. Committee chairman Bruce Semple announced that the program will feature Dr. Lea Callaway of Maryville as guest speaker.

Charles Moffett presented the combined report of the Religious Life and Activities Committee and the Social Committee. He indicated that the recent shift to voluntary church attendance was the result of cooperative action by the Religious Life Committee, Student-Faculty Senate, and Executive Council. Also, joint recommendations of the Religious Life and Social Committees concerning Sunday afternoon activities have been submitted to the Executive Council.

The Vacations Committee terminated its activities as its chairman Philip Brown announced the newly-approved holiday schedule for next year:
Thanksgiving, Thurs., Nov. 22 through Sun., Nov. 25; Christmas, 12:30 P.M. Thurs., Dec. 20 to 12:30 P.M. Thurs., Jan. 3; semester break, 12:30 P.M. Sat., Jan. 26 through Mon., Jan. 28; spring vacation, 12:30 P.M. Sat., March 30 through Mon., April 8.

While Orientation will begin Sept. 11, 1962, and Commencement will take place on June 5, 1963, this schedule includes seven additional days of vacation.

The Student Center project, the final report, was presented by Bill Ward. He pointed out that all student projects to aid in the financing of the cener must be handled through the Development Office. After opinions and suggestions have been gathered from students, a representative plan will be submitted to that office.

A proposal for a joint committee including both faculty and students has been recommended. The Student Council committee felt that a goal of such a committee should be to have an architectural sketch of the center completed by the end of this semester.

COPELAND TRAVELS

President Joseph J. Copeland will be in Irwin, Tennessee, on March 15-16 to conduct a Preaching Mission, and on Sunday, March 18, he and the Choir will be at the Second Presbyterian Church of Knoxville for that congregation's annual Maryville College Day.

President Copeland was in New York City on March 1 and 2 to attend a meeting of the Division of Radio and Television of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

Magazine Contest Offers Cash Awards To Fiction Writers

Cash prizes totalling $2000 await collegiate authors in a short story contest designed to discover talented young American writers. Eligible to compete is any college or university student or member of the Armed Forces accredited to educational institutions anywhere in the world. Contest winners will have their stories published in an annual hard-cover volume, "Best College Writing."

The best short story submitted will be awarded $500. The number-two entry will win $350, and the third-place composition, $250. The next eighteen winners will receive honorable mention awards of $50 apiece.

The contest deadline is April 20, 1962. Manuscripts which must be certified by a faculty member, should be from 1500 to 9000 words in length. They should be sent to Story Magazine College Contest, c/o The Reader's Digest, Pleasantville, N. Y.

Bennett of Knoxville Fills Staff Vacancy

Duncan C. Bennett of Knoxville has been appointed Director of Information Services at Maryville College effective March 19, 1962, replacing Henry L. Alesmeyer, Jr., it was announced by President Joseph J. Copeland.

Alsmeyer, presently Director of Public Relations, has accepted a position as of March 10, in the News Bureau of Texas A. and M.

Bennett, a native of Pennsylvania, is a graduate of Maryville College in the class of 1950, and has completed most of the requirements for the master's degree at the University of Tennessee. He received his bachelor's degree in the field of English and was graduated cum laude.

For the past six years he has been a copyreader for the Knoxville News-Sentinel. Prior to that time he was editor for three years of the Clinton Courier-News, Clinton, Tennessee, and for one year of the Maryville Enterprise.

Mrs. Bennett, the former Ilda Mosby, is also a graduate of Maryville College, a member of the class of 1949. The Bennetts have four children, three girls and a boy.

Bennett is a member of the Knoxville chapter of the American Newspaper Guild and has been president of the chapter as well as of the Clinton Optimist Club.

He will be responsible in his new assignment for the college's publicity and publications program, will handle many campus and community events open to the public, and will edit the college's Bulletin which is published eight times yearly.

In making the announcement, President Copeland said, "we have been fortunate in finding persons of outstanding ability and excellent prior experience to fill this particular position in the college's administrative organization. We are looking forward to Duncan Bennett's arrival and to what we know will be a fruitful and helpful service on behalf of the college."

WHY TEACH,
Cont'd from Page 2

When Dr. Williams discussed the rewards of college teaching, he too mentioned his enthusiasm for the outdoors. Field study is a part of teaching he enjoys greatly, and students who have been with him are aware of his love and knowledge of the natural world.

A sense of duty is the force that has kept Dr. Williams in teaching. The real reward of teaching for him, he said, is the response of the good students who have come through his department.

Dr. Williams follows the careers of his students with interest. Thirteen of them are listed in New American Men of Science, a new four-volume work now on the new book table in the library.

Summer Job Directory Available To Students

The Summer Employment Directory now available gives the names and addresses of 1,367 organizations which want to employ college students. It also gives the positions open, salary, and suggestions on how to make application — a sample letter of application and a personal data sheet.

There are all types of summer camp jobs listed in every state; there are jobs at resorts in the New England States, the Northeastern States, the Great Lakes area, and the Western States. College students are needed in: 20 national parks and national monuments, 34 ranches in the West and New York State, summer theatres in 15 states, business and industry at scattered locations, and various departments of the government. In addition to these popular summer employers, many other organizations list their needs for summer help.

The Summer Employment Directory is available in the office of the Dean of Men. Students who wish to have a Summer Employment Directory for their own use may obtain a copy by sending $3.00 to the publisher: National Directory Service, Dept. C, Box 32065, Cincinnati 32, Ohio.

Glee Clubs Schedule Carousel Mar. 23, 24

Carousel will be presented by the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs on the 23rd and 24th of March at 8:00 p.m. in the Theatre. Tickets will be sold in the foyer of the Theatre although reservations may be obtained.

There are two themes interlacing and complementing each other in Carousel. These are the love stories of, respectively, Carrie and Snow and Julie and Billy. The latter is a failure in all respects, except that their marriage produces the child Louise who is visited by the dead Billie at the close of the play. In contrast, the romance between Snow and Carrie is a source of great success both in marriage and in business.

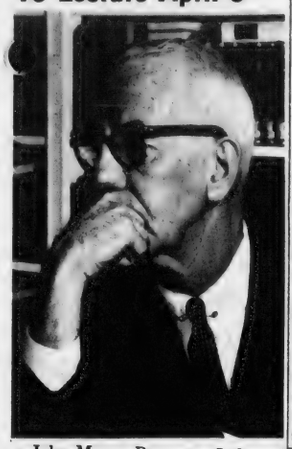
The songs featured in Carousel include "You'll Never Walk Alone," "If I Loved You," "June is Bustin' Out All Over," "This is a Real Nice Clambake," "Mr. Snow," "Blow High, Blow Low," and "What's the Use of Wonderin'."

Direction will be done by Lynn Waddington, stage design by Paul Elliott, choreography by Mrs. Cheryl VanMetre, choral direction by Mr. Dan Kinsinger, and orchestral direction by Mr. Roberts.

Shoemaker's
DISCOUNT SHOE SALE
FOR MEN
Sale Held over on MONDAY for the College Men!
All Mens Shoes from Regular Stock
Reduced 10% — —
10 % OFF
Florsheim — Rand — Winthrop — Hush Puppies
Randcraft — Evans — Goodrick
GROUP No. 1 Men & Young Men Values to $9.99 $7
GROUP No. 2 Men's Arch Styles Values to $16.99 $10
GROUP No. 3 Discontinued Florsheims Were 24.95 & 27.95 $20
MEN'S SOCKS — 50% Off
FREE COKES
FREE SHINE with purchase of Mens Sale Shoes
C. C. MOORE'S
SHOEMAKERS SHOE STORE
"Maryville's Good Shoe Store"

FREE FREE FREE
TRANSPORTATION
on all
White Star Line Buses
From ELLIS STREET To
MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER
AND Return
MARYVILLE-KNOXVILLE WEEKDAY BUS SCHEDULE
O — OLD HIGHWAY
N — NEW HIGHWAY

Lv. Maryville	Lv. Knoxville
O— 5:30 A.M.	O— 6:30 A.M.
N— 6:00	N— 7:00
O— 6:30	O— 7:50
O— 7:00	N— 8:00
N— 7:00	O— 8:30
O— 7:30	N— 9:00
N— 7:45*	O— 9:30
O— 8:00	N—10:00
N— 8:00	O—10:30
O— 8:30	N—11:00
N— 9:00	O—11:30
O— 9:30	N—12:00 Noon
N—10:00	O—12:30 P.M.
O—10:30	N— 1:00
N—11:00	O— 1:30
O—11:30	N— 2:00
N—12:00 Noon	O— 2:30
O—12:30 P.M.	N— 3:00
N— 1:00	O— 3:30
O— 1:30	O— 4:00
N— 2:00	N— 4:00
O— 2:30	O— 4:30
O— 3:00	O— 5:00
N— 3:00	N— 5:00
O— 3:30	O— 5:30
N— 4:00	O— 6:00
O— 4:30	N— 6:00
O— 5:00	O— 7:00
N— 5:00	N—11:15
O— 6:00
N— 8:00
O—10:00 via N.P.



*Does not operate on Saturday
This Ad and Transportation Paid for by
Merchants of
MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

The Highland Echo

Maryville College

Vol. 47 | Maryville, Tennessee, Saturday, March 24, 1962 | No. 12

John Mason Brown To Lecture April 6

John Mason Brown, a Judge of the Book-of-the-Month Club, and an Editor-at-Large of The Saturday Review, will speak in the Maryville College Chapel on Friday evening, April 6, at eight o'clock, as the fourth lecturer of the 1961-1962 Lecture Series.

Mr. Brown's talk here will be entitled "SEEING THINGS" — a discussion of the present day world as reflected in plays, books, and films.

Mr. Brown has won wide acclaim as a lecturer, author and dramatic critic. He is known, too, not only for his brilliance, but also for his wisdom and understanding of people. "What happiness is, no person can say for another. But no one, I am convinced, can be happy who lives for himself. The joy of living comes from immersion in something — more accurately, anything — we know to be bigger, better, more enduring and worthier than we are."

Cont'd on Page 6

Fine Arts Competion For MC Scholarships

Today the annual scholarship awards based upon competitions in music and art will be held on our campus. The awards offered are $400 in the fields of piano, voice, organ, and string instruments, $200 in wind instruments, and $200 in art.

This is the twelfth year that these awards have been offered for the purpose of encouraging achievement in the fine arts among talented young people.

This year high school students from New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, and Tennessee will be participating in the fields of organ, art, voice, piano. The competitions will be held in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center and the chapel.

Miss Gilly Presents Senior Piano Recital

On April 13 at 8:00 p.m. in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center, the Fine Arts Division will present Miss Marguerite Gilly, senior piano major, in her Senior Recital. Included on her program are the "Sonata in A major" by Schubert, two sonatas by Scarlatti, "Fantasia in C minor" by Bach, and two works of Bartok.

Miss Gilly, now from Clinton, Maryland, studied piano for eleven years while living in Harlan, Kentucky. While at Maryville she has studied piano under Miss Catherine Davies, chairman of the division of Fine Arts. Miss Gilly has served on the Artist Series Committee and has accompanied voice students and for the Theta and Sig Rush Show.

GOOD NIGHT, SWEET PRINCE! Mourning the death of Billy Bigelow are Carousel cast members (left to right) Jim Whitney, Diane Eneboe, Oscar Downey, Sue Lemme, and Judy Smith.

MC HOSTS DEBATE TOURNAMENT; OVER 100 STUDENTS PARTICIPATE

Over one-hundred students are speaking in the Smoky Mountain Debate Tournament, which began yesterday on the Maryville College campus. The participants have come from several other schools, the most distant of which is Waynesburg College at Waynesburg, Pennsylvania. Mr. Forest L. Conklin of Carson-Newman is chairman of the tournament.

Debates are being held in numerous places on the campus. Each team participates in six rounds, and twenty-five rounds are in progress at once.

Awards will be given for debate, oratory, oral interpretation, after-dinner speaking, and extemporaneous speaking at the final assembly at one o'clock today.

Representing Maryville in the debates are Lori Sturmfels and Phyllis Weaver, Richard Gossweiler and Brad Rehm, Ed Fritchie and Tom Stanley, Don Jackman and Don Leo, Jane Hickey and Annette Sensenig, Jane Dodez, Judith Mikeal, Ed Fritchie and Jim Miller are entered in oratory; Lori Sturmfels and Jim Miller in after-dinner; Judith Mikeal and Jim Miller in oral interpretation; and Jane Dodez, Judith Mikeal, Don Leo and Jim Miller in extemporaneous speaking.

Lindahl's Ordination To Be At Vespers

Union Presbytery will hold the Service of Ordination for Mr. Roy E. Lindahl, Jr., at the Vesper service on March 25, 1962, at 7:00 p.m. Dr. Joseph J. Copeland will preach the sermon, on the subject, "Ordained for Miracles."

Mr. Lindahl, who graduated from Monmouth College, Monmouth, Illinois, in 1954, received his Bachelor of Divinity degree from Pitt-Xenia Seminary in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. He was awarded the M.A. degree from the University of Michigan in 1959.

Since 1960, Mr. Lindahl has taught Bible and Classical Languages at Maryville College.

STUDENTS APPEAR IN CAROUSEL; FINAL PERFORMANCE TO BE TONIGHT

Tonight at 8 p.m. in the theatre, the combined Men's Glee Club and Women's Choir will present their final performance of Rogers and Hammerstein's immortal musical, "Carousel." It is one of the most beloved of Rogers and Hammerstein's musicals and was first performed in New York in 1948. The plot of "Carousel" is based on Ferenc Molnar's play, Liliom.

The cast of "Carousel" includes Sue Lemme as Julie, Dianne Eneboe as Carrie, Oscar Downey as Billy, Jim Whitney as Enoch Snow, Dale Huddler as Jigger, Judy Smith as Nettie, Don Stupak as Bascombe, Tanya Tripp as Mrs. Mullin, Martha Bess Ellis as Louise, Bob Orr as Enoch Snow, Jr., Ed Perintoni as the doctor, Carl McDonald as the heavenly friend, and Dave Scotchmer as the starkeeper.

One of the highlights of this production is the ballet scene danced by Martha Bess Ellis and Ed Perintoni, supported by members of the Glee Club and Women's Choir and community children. The ballet expresses the conflict of girl and woman in the adolescent Louise, and her need of acceptence by those by whom she has been rejected.

The setting is a small New England town in the late 1800's. The story compares the lives and romances of two friends, Julie and Carrie. Carrie marries the staid and proper Mr. Snow while Julie marries a worthless carousel barker Billy Bigelow. The young couple is rejected by the town and when they learn that Julie is expecting a child, Billie attempts to provide for her by committing a robbery. When that fails, he kills himself. After death, Billy gets a chance to redeem himself by bringing to his daughter new understanding of her father and herself.

Some of the songs to be heard in this performance are: "Carousel", "You'll Never Walk Alone," "If I Loved You," "June is Bustin' Out All Over," and "What's the Use of Wondrin, ".

The production is under the direction of Mr. Dan Kinsinger, musical director, and Lynn Waddington, drama director. Mr. John Roberts prepared and directs the orchestra. Mrs. Cherl VanMetre serves as choreographer and Margaret Hanson as accompanist.

USNSA: WHAT DOES IT OFFER MC?

The first in a series by Margaret Dozier

At the close of this school year the student body will express its opinion as to whether it will continue as a member school of the United States' National Student Association. In order to cast an intelligent vote, students must have an idea of what projects and undertakings this organization sponsors.

Recently, a project organized by a group of University of Chicago students has been supported and publicized by USNSA. This is a book ordering service, available to schools which are members of NSA, making it possible for a student to obtain any book ordered quickly as possible and offering financial benefits to participating schools. The fee per student for permanent membership is one dollar. Orders can be made by the individual student or through a campus agent. The order is promptly filled; if a book cannot be delivered in twenty days, a notice is sent and the student has an option to cancel the order. This service seeks to supply any type of book the student desires. Since this is a non-profit cooperative owned and operated by student customers, the profit returns are distributed to participant schools. A rebate of 10 percent on texts and 25 percent on other books is generally guaranteed.

Secondly, in order to stimulate participation in the affairs of USNSA in the Kentucky-Tennessee Region, a conference will be held on March 30 and 31 at Bellarmine College in Louisville. The main purpose of the conference is to discuss means by which NSA can promote student activities. Also, NSA programs for campus international and national affairs will be discussed. Any student who is interested in representing Maryville is urged to contact a member of the NSA committee.

A third project planned is the International Student Relations Seminar conducted each summer as an eleven week course for the purpose of better enabling student leaders to deal with contemporary problems of international relations. The Seminar studies international student affairs through a consideration of current problems, discussion of political, economic, and social trends which affect student attitudes, study of former organizations of international student cooperation, and a thorough evaluation of NSA as compared to national student organizations throughout the world. The Seminar strives to prepare students for leadership in the field of contact with students over the world. All participants take an active part in

Cont'd on Page 6

ONLY SIXTY PERCENT OF PLEDGES IN; YET SO FAR 'MC DAY' REAPS $16,000

Reports from Maryville College Day held in the community on March 6, show a total of gifts and pledges to the Maryville College Annual Fund of more than $16,000 with 60 percent of the prospect cards returned.

Some 125 local citizens, including a number of Alumni, participated in the campaign which began in the College dining hall with a Kick-Off Breakfast. Following the breakfast, teams of two visited area business firms and individuals for gifts to the Annual Fund. These gifts become a part of the $100,000 sought annually from all sources to provide the difference between student tuition and endowment income taken together, and total educational cost for each student.

In previous years Maryville College Day efforts have resulted in gifts totaling $20,000 and it is expected that this year's final total will exceed this amount. Other large amounts come from the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., from other than local Alumni who are contacted by mail from individual churches, and from a large group of friends of the College who have supported it through the years.

All of these groups and people help each year to provide a part of the education each Maryville College student receives. Such giving is a time honored tradition in the system of private higher education in America, and one deeply appreciated by the College and by students who have benefitted from it.

CIRCLE K MEMBERS SPONSOR PROJECTS

Seven college men have recently acquired membership in the Circle K Club, the Maryville College chapter of the national Kiwanis Club. They are David West, Denny Eddleman, Norman Price, Ron Mease, Edward Paul, David Marston and Rolland Renne.

During the month of March the club has been buying lamps and setting up study rooms for group study in Carnegie Hall. The building of a bicycle shelter to accommodate at least a dozen bikes is another project of this service organization.

The members consider their most important project at present to be a collection of used text books for Asian students. Anyone willing to contribute to this "Asian Book Drive" may deposit his donation in the boxes in the dormitories. These books will be sent to an agency in San Francisco, which will distribute them.

This club is hoping to send at least two delegates to the Kentucky-Tennessee District Convention in Owenville, Kentucky on April 7 and 8.

EDITOR'S CHOICE

We are just about to be confronted with "that time of year" again. Seniors begin to become restless as they look forward to graduation and to the new experiences ahead. But the future of the freshmen, sophomores, and juniors lies within Maryville College, and their challenge is in making each year a valuable experience for every person associated with the school. They have the responsibility, as upperclassmen, for giving to next year's freshmen the basis for the attitudes they will hold for their four years on the campus.

"That time of year," too, indicates a time for an evaluation of the past and a concentration on the coming months. It is a time for the election of officers for the various organizations on campus, as well as the student body itself. Each student needs to be particularly thoughtful now; it is no asset to elect insufficient leaders to campus positions, for there will come a time next year when questions will need to be answered and decisions made. Electing is not just filling the vacancies left by retiring seniors; it is a setting up of the foundations on which the immediate future will build. This fact itself is a reason why those running for offices need to be just as thoughtful about the positions and the school as those electing.

One student generation spans but a short period in the history of the College. What is accomplished must be based on a clear understanding of the past, balanced by a comprehensive view of the present and the future needs. Sheer determination and patience are keys if backed by a thorough understanding of purpose and a sincere concern for the results of action.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

MARYVILLE COLLEGE

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Member of University Press Service. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester; $1.75 per year.

Beth Reichardt, Editor

Lynn Herring, Assistant — Pat Crossley, News

Pat Baker, Features

John Mitchell, Jeanne Price, Sports — Anitra Bard, Exchange

Mike Garrett, Business Manager

Phyllis Deloteus, Assistant — Norman Marschner, Circulation

Dr. Carolyn Blair, Mr. Frank Layman, Faculty Advisors

Contributors: Ellen Dozier, Connie Bondurant, Chuck Spencer, Todd Owers, John Gamble, Jean Kelleher, Jeanette Peckham, Charlotta Cook, Mary Gay Boettcher, Margaret Dozier, Phil Jerome, Sue Bloomer, Arlene Ford, Ann Harrison

College Calendars Go Modern

by Ann Harrison

"It is a wry commentary on our colleges, presumably the incubators of progressive ideas, that they are operating on a system geared to the seventeenth century." These are the words of Dr. Grayson Kirk, the president of Columbia University, referring to the operation of colleges on a nine month, four year basis.

The wails lamenting rising college expenses, low teacher salaries and inadequate facilities sound across the nation. Meanwhile most colleges and universities operate on the traditional nine month basis, with only partial use of facilities for summer schools. This was practical in an agrarian society. Now it is luxury, a too expensive luxury for the student, the parents and the whole society.

This is why many educators are considering a trimester system—three fifteen-week terms a year.

At first thought of going to school eleven months a year, most students have torn their hair and shouted no. When the University of Pittsburgh proposed such a plan in 1957, two-thirds of the students were against it. Pitt began the program anyhow in the fall of 1959. The administration decided to be satisfied if 2500 of the institution's 15,000 students enrolled for the summer term. 5026 registered!

The three fifteen-week terms leave seven weeks of vacation—typically three weeks in August and four weeks scattered throughout the year. The first term runs from September through December, the second January through mid-April and the third mid-April through the first week of August.

If he goes straight through on the trimester system, a student can get the bachelor's degree in two and two-thirds years, and the master's degree in three and one-third years.

Dr. Kirk of Columbia believes that this steady study system would promote better attitudes toward "the serious business of getting an education." He thinks that benefit is the strongest recommendation for the system.

The philosophy behind the trimester system at the University of Pittsburgh is a belief in the importance of every student's getting both a liberal and professional education. This system eliminates much of the time barrier to reaching that goal.

Many students feel the need for summer vacations to earn money for the following year. Dr. Kirk, who feels that students should finish undergraduate study in two and two-thirds years, cites many scholarships and loans available, notably the NDEA loans.

To those who object to incurring a debt before they even start their careers, he points out that the average student nets $1100 in three summers of work, while the median starting income for a college graduate is $5200. This means that the graduate comes out $4100 ahead in the one year saved by going straight through college.

Students who want to work as they go through college can take the vacation any trimester they choose. The resulting distribution of vacation time would benefit students, employers and the national economy.

Faculty members who wonder what their lot would be in a trimester school may be assured that eleven month use of facilities will not mean eleven month teaching loads. They are required to teach four trimesters during two years, the same as under the semester system. A teacher may teach two trimesters and take one off, or teach four and take two off at a time, thus getting the equivalent of a sabbatical with pay every other year.

Cont'd on Page 4

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A production of the college theatre is not on the same level as a high school production. There are two factors which contribute to this difference: facilities and work.

Maryville has $500,000 worth of theatre facilities, but these are useless without adequate direction and an adequate core of steady workers. The many hours of work required for a single production can only be partly provided by volunteers, who only have limited time to give. The greatest part of the work is done by a core group of drama majors who are the crew heads and who provide the necessary "shoves." A drama major contributes 45 hours each semester toward theater work. This is the backbone of any production.

The playhouse is going to be in serious trouble if the drama major is dropped. The quality of theater productions will not remain at its present level. The student body can do something about these conditions if it will encourage building up the theater and not tearing out its supports.

—Lloyd M. Bogart

* * * * * *

There is an annex to the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel which cost $500,000 to build. It is called the Theatre. It is overburdened with the whole-hearted support of the entire college family. The catalog does a superb job of informing prospective students about the potential and accomplishments embodied in our model plant. Every performance is sold out. People clamor to take advantage of this cultural medium. It is unfortunate that everyone seems to feel that the theatre can continue with any manner of proficiency without offering a major in this field. The college has drawn some students who managed to read between the lines and recognize that we have a theatre. But do five or two people shrug their shoulders and change their major, taking on play-acting as a hobby because of all the other tremendous advantages of the school? In five years we will have to rent the stage to civic organizations or girl scout troops to get any use out of it. This is a liberal arts school, but self-improvement seems to mean can theatre glorify the atom. Does anyone care?

—Barbara McCarter

* * * * * *

Voice for Progress

At first, Maryville College gives an impression of "closeness" — a necessary factor in the strength of any student body to keep the students moving in a positive direction towards achievement. While this closeness is, for the most part, evident, the potential of the student body for achieving any common goal is being held back because the students are unable to work together as a whole. Several factors, I feel, contribute to this hindrance of the student body's potential, and I would like to set them down for your consideration.

First, many of us are constantly shirking the responsibilities which we should be more than willing to accept. Too many of us are quite content with the idea that we have expressed our opinions about various things and this is all we can do. If we are willing to complain about a situation, we should be even more willing to do something positive towards change. We cannot sit back and wait for someone to ask us to accept our responsibilities. We must make more of an effort to let others know that we are willing to take on these responsibilities. If we are concerned about a certain matter, we should be willing to work for a satisfactory change, and I believe that our efforts will be rewarded if we accept such a challenge through our own initiative. If we are not interested enough to go at least this far then we have no right to complain. I believe we would be surprised to find what can be achieved if more of us were willing to work towards correcting various situations which disturb us, rather than just talking about them.

Second, and closely connected with our failura to accept responsibility, is the lack of unity. There is a need for more unity between groups of students on campus. The lack of unity lies within the campus as a whole and also within the separate classes. More of us should actively concern ourselves with the workings of our student government whether we are members of the student council or not. We complain about some activities of council, but we are not willing to attend council meetings, express our opinions, and in this way make council stronger. Only with more student participation can council become more effective. Actions or inactions of council committees seem to be among the bigger areas of dissatisfaction among the students. Most of these committees, however, are open to anyone's participation, and if we are dissatisfied with their effectiveness we should attend council meetings and volunteer for committee membership. This is our responsibility.

Lack of class unity results from lack of recognition of the [illegible] of the various groups within the class. This problem is twofold—it lies in the hands of those who hold offices and of those who do not. Class officers should take all factions of the class into consideration when they are making appointments to class committees. In this way, I believe the wills of more students within a class can be represented instead of just the will of a single group. We students would help solve this problem by approaching our class officers and expressing our desires to work on class committees. If we do not

Cont'd on Page 4

Scots and Soda

by Dave Marston

Ninety-six hours left. It doesn't seem right to pay good money to come to college and then count the days till you can leave, so I count the hours. And in less than a hundred, this campus will be closed up tighter than Baldwin Hall at 11:01 p.m. Now let's be realistic—even though Miss Ware's new salad dressings are good, and that voluntary church idea works fine (I know a fellow who tried it out last week), it's going to be great to get away for a few days.

If, by some fortunate failure in the Post Office, your parents haven't received your grades from last semester or your cancelled checks from last month, you'll probably want to go home. Otherwise, maybe you'll head south to Florida, just to see if you can have as much fun as they do in the movies. Or if you like adventure, probably you'll spend your vacation in the North, aiding in the search for New Jersey. It washed away in that last storm, and nobody's seen it since. Or maybe you'll go west with the choir—at any rate, you'll want to go somewhere, even if it's only to Knoxville.

This means you're going to need transportation. After spending a couple of years here in the Highlands, perhaps you could use a brief refresher course on transportation. Actually, walking isn't the only way to move from place to place. Airplanes are generally pretty efficient, and sometimes they're fairly safe, although you'd better not have your parents keep your dinner warm if you fly. The train, on the other hand, almost always gets through, but it's likely to leave you in a condition not really ideal for greeting your parents. Then there's always the bus—this is a dependable way to travel, especially if you're not going much farther than Knoxville. When you come right down to it, there's no perfect transportation, so take what's most convenient.

Now that you're decided where and how you're going, you're ready to move. But one last reminder: if you don't want to be a close second to Alcoa as a contributor to the Maryville College treasury, be sure you return those library books before you go. Then have a good spring vacation.

Cabbages & Kings

"Have you noticed that it is almost spring?" asked the Walrus.

"No," I replied, getting up to close the window and turning on the radiator, "I hadn't. It still seems rather cold to me."

"But, Carpenter, it must be spring because the Indomitable Daffodil is almost six inches high."

"The which?"

"The Indomitable Daffodil. Don't tell me you haven't noticed. It's growing outside of the New Dorm in the middle of the sidewalk."

"You mean they built a sidewalk around a flower?"

"Of course not," the Walrus said, smiling at me as if I were a retarded child. "They built the sidewalk over the Daffodil. But the Daffodil," he cried dramatically, "refused to be conquered or subdued. Last year while hundreds of students watched breathlessly, this small flower, bit by bit, forced its way through the asphalt, and at last, triumphantly, burst into bloom. The whole campus cheered; the flower was christened the Indomitable Daffodil, and it stands today, in all its glory, six inches high, in a small hole in the center of the walk!"

"Oh," I said, after a while, seeing that he expected a comment, "that's—nice."

The Walrus gave me a disgusted look. "You wouldn't recognize courage if you saw it," he said.

* * * * * *

The Walrus is wrong though—I do recognize courage sometimes. And here's been a lot of courage around here lately. It is never very easy to make changes—it is never easy to break through the asphalt of custom. But this year we have seen what can happen when many people work together with courage. And the Walrus and I, well, we'd just like to say, "Thank you."

Contributor's Column

BALLROOM STRATEGY

By John Mitchell

The ability to dance well is almost a social necessity for an aspiring young man. He doesn't have to like dances, but since girls are crazy about them he is forced to participate. A further argument for dancing is the fact that almost all social functions include dances. And, besides, there is no easier way for meeting the opposite sex.

Yes, dancing is important, but I can't dance! Don't get the wrong idea; I have tried to learn. I took dancing lessons for six weeks; and at the graduation dance, when my teacher asked why I wasn't dancing, I replied, "I don't know how."

Realizing that my case was hopeless, I had to develop a technique that would allow me to overcome my social handicap.

My first device I use when asking a girl to dance with me. After carefully examining the prospects along the sidelines, I approach a girl who looks as if she would jump at the opportunity to dance with anyone. Then I ask, "May I step on your toes next?" This question has two values. At first the girl thinks that it is a very clever joke. Later, when she discovers the contrary, she cannot be angry with me, because I did warn her.

After stepping on her feet several times, I may subtly mention that dancing authorities say it is the girl's fault if her partner steps on her toes; it indicates that she is a poor follower. If this remark doesn't go over, I ask to stand on my feet so that there will be no possibility of a personal foul. If she doesn't think this is funny, I take her to the refreshments and drink cokes until I am forced to take to the dance floor again.

When my partner is unusually attractive, I make a special effort to please her. Using the advice of my grandmother, I pull her close to me and whisper, "I can't dance well, but I sure do like to practice positions." If she responds favorably, I shut my eyes, smile, and relax. Chances are we won't even realize we have feet.

DRINK, LOVE, AND FREEZE TO DEATH

Imagination running in the wind,
Trembling sighs, a fearful cradle-sea;
No escaping from that blackest void
But blinded by a burst of honesty;
Honesty running, stumbling, trembling,
Fearing, searing, blinding, winding
Round smooth soul-strings aching, breaking,
Buttermilk foam to wash the hurt away.

Honesty, a pregnant winter sun,
False glass, reflecting diamond-sparkle snow
While frosty fingers ice a shallow heart,
Once filled with spring-buds, now a shadowed glow;
Glowing, snowing, chilling, filling,
Falling, sprawling, crying, trying
Now to kindle fires dying
Embers cooled to freeze the hurt away.

Disguise complete is man's self-mocking laugh,
The roaring wind condemns true consciousness,
Then frost and fire mix for one brief span
And gain is lost and loss is gain to miss;
Turning, burning, teasing, freezing,
Raining, gaining, losing, choosing
Now to grow from muddy oozing,
Grasping love to laugh the hurt away.

—Lynn Herring

REPLY TO CRISEYDE

(with due respects to Chaucer)

False Criseyde, not your love, but Moral virtue grounded upon truth,
This length of time will not undo
Nor mutable Fortune deface.

—John Mitchell

YOU KNOW – LIVING

Heraclitean Fire
Fed by nothingness
Unquenchable
Eternal
Bottomlessly burning

Torch of Discontent
Borne by spirits
Taunting
Mocking
Unreal reality

False Existences
Mocked by "purpose"
Circumstantial
Timeless
Yearless yesterdays

Contented Foolishness
Wooed by desperation
Insensitive
Desperate
Believing unbelief

—Lynn Herring

Peabody Grad Student Studies MC Library

Miss Betty Ingle, a graduate student at the George Peabody College Library School in Nashville, Tennessee, made a special study of the Maryville College Library from March 12 to 16. In connection with a course in field work, Miss Ingle observed and evaluated the efficiency of the library here.

Miss Ingle stated that the purpose of her study was to allow her to become familiar with the administration of a library. Rather than limit her observation to a particular area, she chose to get an "over-view" of the Maryville College Library.

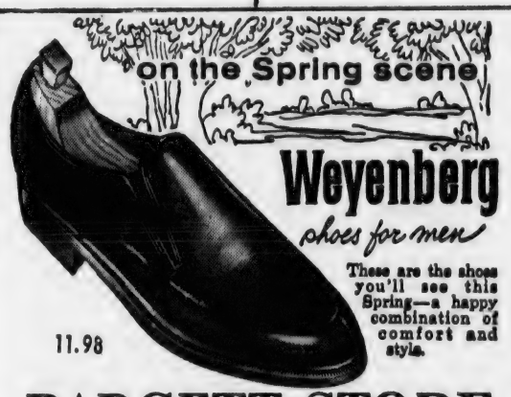
Expecting to receive the Master of Arts degree in Library Science this June, Miss Ingle has been working as a cataloger for the State Library in Nashville. Since her graduation from Peabody College in 1956 she has also participated in summer linguistics studies at the University of Oklahoma and in Mexico.

Y's Create Projects For Fred Hope Drive

The YMCA and YWCA are featuring various clever money-raising projects in connection with their annual Fred Hope Fund Drive. The objective of this year's campaign is to contribute $3,000 toward the purchase of a mobile hospital unit for mission work in Taegue, Korea. Total funds so far reach $1,109.

Today in the courtyard of the Tyndale Wilson Chapel both faculty members and students will "sell" their services at a "Slave Auction." In order to regain their freedom, all "slaves" will have to perform a favor for their "master."

Until the second week in April, both students and towns-people will collect newpapers; on Saturday evening, April 28, the Y's will also present the motion picture. "Imitation of Life."



You have not converted a man because you have silenced him.
—Lord Morley

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

Office Supplies? We got 'em
Office Equipment? like wise
Office machines? our middle name.
Service? on all we sell (with a smile)
Delivery? Fastest and best.
Parking? Free, 10 feet from the door.

WHITE OFFICE MACHINES

"WON'T WRITE – CALL WHITE"
Court St. 983-4762

BADGETT STORE

The "Y" Store Proudly serves

MAYFIELD'S Ice Cream and Milk

Smoother, Richer, better Tasting

Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

Shop
Maryville's Newest, Most Complete Stock of Athletic Equipment and Sporting Goods.

Rawlings & Wilson Tennis Rackets .... $4.50 up
Rawlings & Wilson Tennis Balls ..... $1.75 up
(Can of 3)
Tennis Oxfords, Ladies ..... $3.95 up
U.S. Ked & Converse, Men's ..... $4.95 up

Tennis Shorts, Shirts, Magic Fleece Athletic Socks Racket Covers & Presses

Rawling & Wilson Baseball Gloves .... $5.95 up
Rawlings Baseball Shoes ..... $5.95 up

GIFF'S
SPORTING GOODS
202 N. Cusick St. YU 3-2166
(Directly behind Proffitt's)

New Binding Available For Paperback Books

A new way to rebind paperbacks has been perfected and marketed. Vinabind is a hard binding which give a hard-cloth cover and spine to old paperbacks. Produced by SanVal, Incorporated, an average eight-inch book can be rebound for $1.00. This discovery has many implications. For a library it makes paperback collections worthwhile; this type of rebinding guarantees fifty circulations of the book, whereas the former figure was ten. It also means more books for less money and less space.

From Singapore

(Editor's Note: The following article is from a letter sent to the Echo from Randy Wells, a freshman last year at Maryville. At present he is hosteling in Europe and Asia, and this letter comes from Singapore.)

"The shirt I bought two years ago to visit Maryville is in Singapore. I'm in it. Perhaps you'd like to hear about this Maryville-influenced journey.

"In Teheran, Iran, Tom and I (he's my best friend, attends Northwestern University) stayed five days with Rev. and Mrs. Robert Y. Bucher, the parents of Joy Bucher, who was at Maryville last year. Also, we had dinner with Joy Hayes, a Maryville graduate . . . and we met the Patersons, on their way home from New Delhi, who know Sue Quigg.

"Two days after Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd left, we arrived at Liz Foster's home in Silakot, West Pakistan. I managed to stretch to two weeks my convalescence from an amoeba so that I could enjoy her parent's hospitality . . . Later I traveled to Mussoorie, an Indian hill station where "Woodstock," the former school of Liz Foster, Dean Dobson, July Brown, and Jim and Carol Rugh, is located.

"Then I went to Gordon College in Rawalpindi for two days with Jim Cummings, the son of Mrs. Cummings who teaches at Maryville; he saw me off on the train to Taxila, where I spent two days with Judy Brown's family.

"The old school kept turning up, and in Bangkok, I spent an afternoon with Singtoh Chantrkul's uncle's family. And even as I write now I am unnerved by certain tunes from downstairs that I heard last year in Folk Dancing Class!

"Next . . . to Japan! See you.
Randy"

Nat'l. Library Week Encourages Displays

Much activity will be seen in the college library as preparations are made for the fifth annual observance of National Library Week, April 8th to 14th. On the college campus the aim is to promote "ever-greater awareness and use of the library by the campus family."

Miss Virginia Turrentine, Maryville College librarian, has been chosen chairman of the Blount County observance of National Library Week. This is the first year a county-wide program has been initiated. Through use of radio, newspapers, television, and school and store displays, it is hoped that thorough publicity will be given. Clubs and organizations will be asked to stress the values of reading and of library collections in their April meetings. The main purpose of this campaign is to extend better library service in Tennessee to every community.

At the Maryville College Library Mrs. Hugh Crawford is in charge of two displays. On the main display table will be a history of written language, showing man's struggle for expression. In the picture gallery in the ground floor of Thaw Hall under the reading room will be a reproduction of the Bayeaux Tapestry with appropriate books' interpretations of the Norman Conquest. To encourage the acquiring of personal libraries by students, any college student who wishes to display his personal library in the reading room may do so. An attempt will be made to publicize the paperback "Guide to Good Reading," by making it available to students in the bookstore.

Maryville College has, comparatively, one of the largest college libraries in Tennessee, encompassing approximately 68,000 volumes. In a spot-check of books and periodicals (excluding reserve books) checked out within a two-week period, the results showed 563 out of 682 registered students checking out books. This 83 percent participation puts Maryville considerably above the national average. The average daily circulation in February was 328. Of these 328 materials, only 182 were books, thereby showing the increasing importance of periodicals in study.

In the intensive self-study program conducted by Maryville, the library staff compared our library with six other colleges: Drury, Lake Forest, Lynchburg, Southwestern at Memphis, Westminster (Mo.), and Wofford. Taking into account the differences in library procedure, Maryville was first in faculty borrowing and second in student borrowing.

Our library has, comparatively, a liberal circulation policy. There is no limit on the number of books one may check out. Also, it is very rare for a library to let periodicals be checked out of the building proper. Many extra services such as inter-library loans, dorm collections, and new book displays are rendered. Through all of its services the year-round objective of the Maryville College library staff is to promote life-time reading habits through the library and through personal collections.

You are not only good yourself, but the cause of goodness in others.

—Socrates

LETTERS, Cont'd from Page 2

have this desire we cannot complain about the actions of our class officers.

The implication is plain—too many of us do not seem to care enough about our student governments to concern ourselves with making them more satisfactory. We tend to rely too much on our representatives to handle all situations. While these people, for the most part, are quite capable of performing their duties, they cannot perform effectively without our support. If we participate in and support our student governments to a greater degree, we will, I believe, realize more of our potential and achieve many of the goals we desire. We will become a working student body.

--Jim Stewart

COLLEGE CALENDAR, Cont'd from Page 3

A college would need added teachers for the trimester plan but the teachers could use their skills more effectively. As more colleges and universities adopt the plan, teachers can be fed back into the colleges to help alleviate the shortage in much less time than is possible now.

The idea is spreading fast as many colleges and universities plan for fuller use of their facilities. Next fall all the schools of the Florida State University system will begin using trimester program. The Florida Board of Controls feels that it meets two criteria which they set for their educational system: maximum time for instruction, and minimum time for "academic housekeeping."

At least one small college, Ta[illegible]kio College in Missouri, a Presbyterian college of 350 students, has announced a change to trimesters next fall.

Fullness of knowledge always and necessarily means some understanding of the depths of our ignorance, and that is always conducive to both humility and reverence. —Robert A. Millikan

Amusement is the happiness of those that cannot think.

—Alexander Pope

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Washington Avenue

FREE FREE FREE

TRANSPORTATION

on all

White Star Line Buses

From ELLIS STREET To

MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

AND Return

MARYVILLE-KNOXVILLE WEEKDAY BUS SCHEDULE

O – OLD HIGHWAY

N – NEW HIGHWAY

Lv. Maryville	Lv. Knoxville
O– 5:30 A.M.	O– 6:30 A.M.
N– 6:00	N– 7:00
O– 6:30	O– 7:30
O– 7:00	N– 8:00
N– 7:00	O– 8:30
O– 7:30	N– 9:00
N– 7:45*	O– 9:30
O– 8:00	N–10:00
N– 8:00	O–10:30
O– 8:30	N–11:00
N– 9:00	O–11:30
O– 9:30	N–12:00 Noon
N–10:00	O–12:30 P.M.
O–10:30	N– 1:00
N–11:00	O– 1:30
O–11:30	N– 2:00
N–12:00 Noon	O– 2:30
O–12:30 P.M.	N– 3:00
N– 1:00	O– 3:30
O– 1:30	O– 4:00
N– 2:00	N– 4:00
O– 2:30	O– 4:30
O– 3:00	O– 5:00
N– 3:00	N– 5:00
O– 3:30	O– 5:30
N– 4:00	O– 6:00
O– 4:30	N– 6:00
O– 5:00	O– 7:00
N– 5:00	N–11:15
O– 6:00
N– 8:00
O–10:00 via N.P.

*Does not operate on Saturday

This Ad and Transportation Paid for by

Merchants of

MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

GOOD MUSIC

"Y" PROGRAMS

Sunday–9:30 P.M.

CONCERT HALL

Daily

12:30–1:30

Dial 1400

THE

BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

– BANKING SERVICES –

*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

*CHECK ACCOUNTS

*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS

*TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

SPRING SPORTS

1962 TENNIS SCHEDULE

Shorter College	Mar. 23	T
Oglethorpe University	24	T
Cumberland College	Apr. 7	H
Tennessee Wesleyan	10	H
Milligan	12	T
East Tennessee State (tentative)	13	T
Emory & Henry	14	T
Tennessee Wesleyan	16	T
Chattanooga	18	H
Lincoln Memorial University	20	H
Milligan	21	H
Chattanooga	24	T
Carson-Newman	27	H
Carson-Newman	May 1	T
Lincoln Memorial University	44	T
East Tennessee State	5	H
Emory & Henry	12	H

1962 TRACK SCHEDULE

Bryan	Mar. 24	T
Cumberland	Apr. 7	H
Furman Relays	14	T
Milligan	21	H
Carson-Newman	25	H
TIAC Meet	May 4&5	T
East Tenn. State	11	H

1962 BASEBALL SCHEDULE

Hanover College	Apr. 4	H
Alma College	6	H
Alma College	7	H
Tusculum College	9	T
Lincoln Memorial	12	H
Lincoln Memorial	14	T
Bowling Green	17	H
Bowling Green	18	H
Milligan College	21	H
Toledo University	23	H
Hiwassee College	25	T
Emory & Henry	27	T
Milligan College	28	T
Tusculum College	30	H
University of Tennessee	May 4	T
University of Tennessee	5	H
Carson-Newman	7	T
East Tennessee State	10	T
Emory & Henry	12	H
Carson-Newman	14	H
East Tennessee State	17	H
Hiwassee College	18	H

* T—There — H—Here

Socks and Sneakers

by Jeanne Price

As I watched some Chi Beta and Theta mermaids of all sizes and shapes practicing their hidden talent — swimming — today I was impressed. A long graceful dive, a "twisting" somersault dive, a calm side stroke, a fluttering crawl, and a knife cutting backstroke were all being performed in our Maryville swimming pool. Carol Cox, M-Club representative in charge of the swimming meet, was perched on the desk, and Terry Brusstar was coaching the Chi Betas, and Ginny West was coaching the Thetas.

The annual swimming meet between Chi Beta and Theta for the past two years has been won by the Chi Betas. This year it will be held at 4:00 Thursday, March 22 in the college pool. A Mu-Mu Race and a Ping Pong blow are going to provide entertainment. For form the backstroke, sidestroke, and breaststroke will be judged. The Medley race, and both a 25 and a 50 yard backstroke and crawl will provide stiff competition as each society strives to get ahead. Diving and synchronized swimming with Jane Dodez, Phyllis Deloteus and Terry Brusstar will complete the meet.

Of course I'm sure many of you were at the meet watching all our lovely co-ed's perform, and I'm sure if you ask any of the girls who were in the meet they will tell you how much fun they had!

THUMBS UP!

By John Mitchell

Maryville, the land of milk and honey as far as sports are concerned, the collective community where anything from ice hockey to kite flying is appreciated, Maryville — our home land — has done it again! Another first! And under whose auspices was it done? None other than our comrades in the frosh cell under the leadership of Comrade Moyers.

Honors Comrade Fred

Yes, out-in-the open, daylight, overground, legalized, water-balloon fighting is here. And, as usual, this display of glorious strength is for the worthy cause of world peace, through the channels of the multi-year plan of hope, founded by Comrade Fred, the originator of the five-year college plan, five-day required chapel, etc.

According to Moyers, money will be donated at the rate of 5c per balloon, water free, and he says, "We'd like to see 1000 balloons bursting in the air."

Team Challenged

The opening ceremony will be a duel between Premiere Copeland and Commissar McClelland, followed by a peoples' revolt that is to be free for all. And then there will be — oh, bow your heads — a class struggle between the junior and senior young Communist Leaguers. And then more free-for-all.

The highlight of the day will be a one-man battle against the capitalist sport football. Noble Bruce Bigart has issued a challenge to the football team. Courageously, he spoke thus at an interview: "I realize some people are saying I can't win — this is just something I will have to prove. I dare say the football team won't show up, however."

Again more free-for-all.

The Committee feels that this is a definite step in the right direction for the sports program here because it is a participant, not a spectator sport. And it is an activity one can continue after he no longer has the opportunity for team sports. Furthermore, it provides a chance to be concerned, to be involved, and to communicate.

So, friends, take off your shoes and beat on your desks in favor of this innovation at Maryville; and remember, Sputnik may be watching you!

(But, alas, what will legalized, sponsored water-balloon battling do to such grand movements as the famed Mothers' Day Revolution of 1961?)

There is no limit, other than our own resolve, to the temporal goals we set before ourselves—as free individuals joined in a team of our fellows; as a free nation in the community of nations.

—Dwight D. Eisenhower

BASEBALL TO BEGIN APRIL 4

With a new infield and seven lettermen, the 1962 Scot baseball team will open its season on April 4 against Hanover (Ind.) College. The new infield is the result of almost a year of careful care by the ground crew under the eye of Coach Baird. The seven lettermen include two pitchers, a catcher, an infielder, and three outfielders, which will form the nucleus of this year's team. The Scots have lost the services of "Red" Prudhon and last year's captain, Joel Giffin, both of whom helped a great deal.

With the opening game only three weeks away, eighteen candidates are fighting for the nine starting positions. The pitching staff seems strongest with six boys out now. The mainstays of the mound staff will be lettermen Dave Meneely and Dave West, both of whom pitched fine ball last year. They will be backed by Benny Monroe. Lou Rigley, Joe Scheidler, and John Budders.

Behind the plate veteran letterman Dale Sterner is back, and supporting him will be Bill Cochran, Dave Sandrock, and Keith Bailey.

Over at first base the Scots will probably have Gary Dutton, with Sterner available if necessary. The rest of the infield is somewhat undecided. Letterman Tom Bowers or "Buck" Petty probably will cover the hot spot at third base, with last year's regular at that position, Don Phelps, moving to shortstop. Either Petty or "Chick" Hallen will cover second base.

The outfield finds two lettermen, Hop Kidd and Art Fairchild, leading the candidates. Bob McGruther is the other outfielder.

If Meneely, West, and the other pitchers come through, the pitching staff could carry the team this year. As things shape up right now, they will be hampered by a relatively inexperienced infield that could make the difference between a winning or losing season. Last year the team was bothered by sporadic hitting, on which Coach Baird has been working hard to remedy.

The twenty-two game schedule calls for fourteen home games, including a couple of doubleheaders. Last year's record was 8-16.

Scots Meet Bryan

Coach Howard Tomlinson will take with him five lettermen and an approximate twenty-man track squad today, as the Highlanders spring into action this afternoon in the opening meet of the year at Bryan College. Bob Clark, George Schember, Dave Cost, Roger Thompson, and Bert Randall are the lettermen making up the nucleus of the squad and will have a great deal to say about how successful the team will be in its attempt to better last year's 3-3 record. Two welcome additions are Kirk Copeland, a hurdler, and Bill Owenby who throws the javelin.

There are fifteen events in a track meet, and in most of them the Scots will have one or two strong entires. The shot put, low hurdles, and two-mile run are current problems which will be gradually worked out as the season progresses.

The first home meet is on Saturday afternoon against Cumberland College. The track has been newly cindered and will be in excellent shape for the opener at home.

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

Always Look Your Best
See us for all your Dry Cleaning Needs
MARYVILLE Cleaners
CONTACT YOUR DORMITORY AGENT

Parks-Belk
Home of Better Values
MARYVILLE'S FINEST
Shop In Our Sportswear Department

LEONARD'S IS NOW REMODELED . . .
For Your Comfort and Eating Pleasure
Enjoy your favorite Steak and Leonard's Fine Pizza in a new and relaxed Atmosphere!
Good Dinners Daily – $1.00
LEONARD'S STEAK HOUSE

Y WORKCAMP ENTICES 16 STUDENTS TO FINISH A CHURCH IN KNOXVILLE

Sixteen students from Maryville College will live and work at a new Knoxville church during spring vacation. The workcamp, sponsored by the Ecumenical Encounters Commitees of both Y's, will help the members of the Northwest Presbyterian Church to finish constructing and painting the sanctuary which they have built during the past year.

Those students planning to participate are Kay Barbour, Mary Gay Boettcher, Ray Donaldson, Ron Elly, Wade Hampton, Ann Harrison, Steve Henderson, Jean Kelleher, Carolyn Lurcott, Caroline McCaskill, Ron Mease, John Minear, Jo Anne Morey, Dick Norman, Clarissa Seeley, and Phyllis Weaver.

The Reverend George E. Day, minister of the church and an MC alumnus, says that many people of the community have worked enthusiastically in the church since its organization in the Knoxville suburbs a year ago. They are using a large house as their educational building; the students of the workcamp will live in this house.

The participants hope to have a significant relationship with the community, and they expect to gain some insight into the workings of a church in a new residential area of young families.

Dr. and Mrs. S. N. Alter of Maryville will be the advisors for the project. They have directed many workcamps in Lebanon, where Dr. Alter taught in the Beirut College for Women.

Center of Universe Not Us, Says Shapley

"Our galaxy is not the center of the universe," stated the renowned astronomer Dr. Harlow Shapley at Maryville College Tuesday night. As the third guest speaker in the 1961-62 Lecture Series, Dr. Shapley presented the topic "Galaxies and Man's Place in the Universe."

During a slide-travelogue of 500 million light years through the heavens, the Danforth Visiting Lecturer illustrated the infinite magnitude of the universe. He explained that a galaxy is a cluster of stars, each of which has its own solar system. Our nearest star is four light years away, that is, it takes fours years for its light to get here. And our sun, the center of our solar system, is merely one of numberless stars.

Neither is our solar system at the center of our galaxy, Dr. Shapley pointed out: "We are on the edge of a spiral galaxy." From a study of the Milky Way astronomers have discovered that one-third of the 1,000 million stars in our galaxy are in one section of the sky. This cluster, photographed by two American scientists from the Harvard laboratories in South Africa, is the real center of our galaxy. According to Dr. Shapley's "Pulsation Hypothesis," which establishes the pattern of light waves from the Cepheid variable stars of the cluster, the Milky Way is approximately 20,000 light years from our planet.

"We are far from the center of the universe," he continued. Our galaxy is only one of 10,000 million, which are of various types. Besides our spiral type, which has a flat "nucleus" of clustered stars surrounded by ring formations of other stars, there are the irregular and spheroid patterns. The Andromeda Galaxy, of the same general type as ours, but almost fifty percent larger, is two million light years away.

Science has established that the universe is expanding at tremendous rates. "It is now about 100,000 miles larger than it was at the beginning of my sentence . . .," commented Dr. Shapley. "The great galaxies are moving away from each other. Yet research by the Palomar and Mount Wilson scientists has shown that the universe is also slowing down in this expansion."

"Will it stop? Will it reverse?" There are three speculations as to the origin and behavior of the universe. George Lament's "Big Bang Theory" states that 15,000 million years ago a "primeval atom" exploded, and that its particles formed the universe. An opposing theory is the "No Bang" or "Steady-State Hypothesis," which denies any such explosion or sudden change. The third speculation implies a pulsating universe, in which the expansion of Lament's "cosmic egg" is suddenly reversed, so that the egg is repeatedly formed and exploded. This one Dr. Shapley called the "Bang, Bang, Bang, Bang, Bang, Hypothesis." He emphasized, however, that no matter which theory is correct, the entire process will not be completed for another 1,000 million years.

The expedition through space reached its climax as Dr. Shapley pointed out clusters of galaxies that are thought to be 500 million light years from the earth. He explained that when their light began to travel towards our planet about 500 million years ago, the universe was just entering the Paleosoic Era. At that time only the lowest forms of life existed. For modern man, or Homo Sapiens, appeared as recently as 150,000 years ago.

On the return trip home, the congenial scientist reviewed the various types of galaxies, our spiral one, the Milky Way, Halley's Comet, and our solar system.

J. M. BROWN, Cont'd from Page 1

According to the definition which he has set above, Mr. Brown himself merits a large measure of happiness, if the extent to which one immerses oneself in something is any criterion. One glance at the accomplishments of this noted man will cause astonishment. On the days when his calendar calls for no lectures, no appearances on literary radio shows, no guest shots on television, no meetings of the Book-of-the-Month Club Editorial Board, and no research, Mr. Brown writes, both morning and afternoon.

To date he is the author of some seventeen books, innumerable magazine articles and literally thousands of reviews as former Drama Critic for The Saturday Review, the New York World-Telegram, and the Post. He also edited and wrote the introduction and commentaries for The Ladies' Home Journal Treasury, and is now working on a biography of the late Robert Sherwood.

"Before the last war, Brown was interested solely in the conditions that made for a free theatre," an editor friend of his has said. "Now he sees the theatre as a part of life rather than the be-all and end-all. Today, he is concerned with the conditions that make for a free world, without which there can't be a free theatre or free anything else."

Women Escort Men To "Jean's Drag"

"Jean's Drag," an annual Sadie Hawkin's dance sponsored by the Men's Glee Club and the Women's Choir, will take place on Saturday, April 7 at 8 p.m. in the Alumni Gymnasium. Men students will appear wearing original and humorous corsages made by their women escorts.

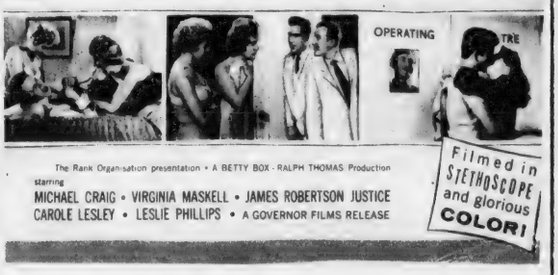
Throughout the evening students will be able to participate in square dancing, the "Twist," as well as various games. Also, the two men wearing the most original and humorous corsages will receive special prizes.

Mr. Dan Kinsinger, director of the two vocal groups and "Jean's Drag," urges that the students wear casual apparel, but especially sneakers, since no hard-soled shoes will be allowed on the gymnasium floor.

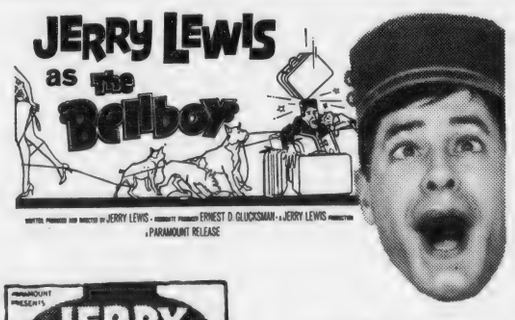
USNSA, Cont'd from Page 1

formulating international programs for USNSA for the coming year. The Seminar will be held for nine weeks at the University of Pennsylvania and for the last two weeks at Ohio State University. Each delegate receives a scholarship to cover travel, room, board, registration, and study materials.

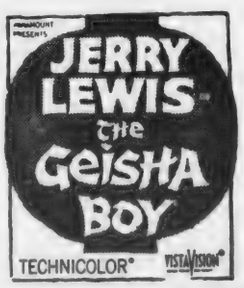
In the library a folder is available at the circulation desk which contains information on the current activities of NSA. Anyone concerned with better informing himself on these issues can obtain the material. Ideas expressed on the opinion board are welcomed as a means of stimulating interest and concern.



LIBRARY HOURS DURING SPRING VACATION



Wednesday, March 28	8:30-5:00
Thursday, March 29	9:00-12:00; 2:00-5:00
Friday, March 30	9:00-12:00; 2:00-5:00
Saturday, March 31	Closed
Monday, April 2	9:00-12:00; 2:00-5:00
Tuesday, April 3	9:00-12:00; 2:00-5:00
Wednesday, April 4	Regular hours



MURPHY-WEST MOTOR CO.
CHEVROLET
OLDSMOBILE

CAPITOL THEATRE
FOUR HILARIOUS DAYS
March 25 – 28

THURSDAY and FRIDAY
Jerry Lewis at His Funniest in Two Laugh Hits

SATURDAY

NOW OPEN
ROSE COFFEE SHOP
in the
FORT CRAIG HOTEL
24 Hours a Day – 7 Days a Week
Fine Food with An Atmosphere
Special Foreign Dishes Cooked To Order
NOW OPEN

NSA Feature and Cartoon (See page 2)

The Highland Echo

Maryville College

Vol. 47 | Maryville, Tennessee, Saturday, April 14, 1962 | No. 13

COMMUNITY GIVES COLLEGE $21,371

Blount County and Maryville residents and businesses have given or pledged $21,371.50 as a result of the 1962 "Maryville College Day" campaign. This sum, already larger than the $20,000 which was given in 1961, represents only about 80 percent of the complete report.

Earl Blazer was chairman for the campaign, a cooperative effort by more thn 120 local citizens who assisted in the solicitation. This was the largest group to participate since the first observance of a "Maryville College Day" three years ago.

The Maryville College effort is one of many "days" for colleges and universities which have become well established across the country, particularly where there are non-tax-supported institutions. The gifts are used to make up the difference between student-tuition charges and the actual cost of faculty salaries and classroom instruction materials.

Gifts received throughout the year from all sources are expected to provide about one-tenth of the annual budget, which exceeds a million dollars. Alumni and others have contributed about $80,000 so far in this fiscal year.

Dr. George Schweitzer, Scientist, Churchman, To Address Faculty

The Faculty Club will present its only non-college speaker this year at seven o'clock April 16 in Pearsons Hall. Following a dinner Dr. George Schweitzer will address the Maryville faculty-members; his topic will be "Hebrew-Christian Tradition and the Origin of modern Science."

A noted speaker, Dr. Schweitzer is professor of chemistry and lecturer in religion at the University of Tennessee. He also serves as a research radiochemist with the UT Atomic Energy Commission Agricultural Program at Oak Ridge.

Born in Poplar Bluffs, Missouri, Dr. Schweitzer earned a B.A. at Central College, M.A. at Columbia University, and a Ph.D. in nuclear chemistry at the University of Illinois. A Phi Beta Kappa, he is currently working on a Ph.D. in religion at New York University. He is also the author of more than fifty articles on the uses of radioactive materials in scientific applications, and a textbook Radioactive Tracer Techniques.

Dr. Schweitzer has participated in more than fifty college and university religious week and spiritual-emphasis meetings. He is faculty advisor for the Baptist Student Union at UT.

Art Dept. To Feature Two Exhibits in April

The two art shows during April will feature an exchange exhibit of paintings and sculpture by Mr. David Le Doux of Middle Tennessee State through April 25 and a faculty show by Miss Barbara Mueller from April 26 through May 13.

Mr. LeDoux was present at the opening of his show after the Lecture Series on April 6. All of his paintings are abstract. His mediums include oil on canvas, oil on paper, and tempera on wallboard (cette). Red is a color used in most of his paintings, the majority of which are landscapes with several red trees in evidence. Only three sculptures are shown: the welded steel "Warrior" and "Flower" and a "Head" of terra cotta.

Miss Mueller, a '59 graduate joined the faculty in September of 1961. Her show will consist entire- of paintings. The opening will be April 26 at 7:30 p.m. and refreshments will be served.

DAVID YOUNG TO JOIN MC FACULTY AS NEW INSTRUCTOR IN CHEMISTRY

David P. Young, who will rereceive his PhD. in chemistry soon from the University of Kansas, will come to Maryville College next fall as an instructor in chemistry.

Mr. Young, a native of St. Louis, Mo., received his A. B. degree from Park College in 1959. That year he won both a Danforth Foundation Fellowship and a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship. He is a member of Phi Lamba Upsilon, an Honorary chemical society, and of the American Chemical Society.

He has specialized in organic chemistry in his graduate training. "Synthesis and Stereochemistry of Organophosphorus Compounds," is the title of his doctoral dissertation.

MC Highlander Band Plans Spring Concert

On April 27 at 8:00 p.m. the Maryville College Highlander Band will present their annual Spring Awards Concert in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel. This concert will include music from many areas of the instrumental repertories, from symphonic transcriptions, to famous band music.

Included on the program will be Victory at Sea from the television series by Richard Rogers and Three Chorale Preludes by Latham. Mr. Doug Smith, band director of Everett High School, Maryville, will perform the famous trumpet solo, "The Carnival of Venice." The Cheryl Van Metre School of Dance will perform to the ballet music from the opera Faust by Gounod.

At the close of the concert awards will be presented to the band members for their work this year.

MC Executives Approve Sunday Athletics

At its last meeting before the spring vacation, the Executive Council of the Faculty took action on further suggestions from the joint Social Evaluation and Religious Life and Activities Committees regarding the use of Sunday afternoon.

On an experimental basis, they approved playing golf and tennis, use of the intramural field, use of the playing floor in the intramural gym, and for men use of the wrestling and weight rooms in Bartlett. All these activities are possible without staff supervision and without the need for issuing equipment. It was the unanimous feeling of both committees that neither student help nor staff help should be required to work on Sunday afternoon to make activities possible. For that reason those activities which would require such supervision were not suggested. All these activities are to be unscheduled, non-organizational games for informal recreation only.

In addition to these uses of athletic facilities, occasional programs of listening to good records may be arranged in the "Y" rooms. Groups may arrange such listening programs with a senior chaperon, scheduling in the usual way. After the scheduling is arranged, the senior chaperon, or other member of the group, may borow from the Fine Arts Center Office a record player and the records to be used. These may be checked out on Saturday morning and returned promptly on Monday morning. These programs may be arranged as long as equipment is properly cared for and promptly returned.

These activities may be begun as of this Sunday, April 15.

Leadership Program For All MC Students Begins Today at 1:30

Today from 1:30 to 5:30 the Student Council will sponsor a "Student Leadership and Development Program" in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel. The conference is open to all interested MC students.

The principal speaker Dr. Lea Callaway of Maryville will begin the program with "The Philosophy of Leadership." Frank Jablonski will then discuss "Ten Basic Abilities of Parliamentary Procedure." dure."

For the remainder of the program the students present will divide, according to their interests, into three discussion groups: the responsibilities of the campus officers of (1) Student Council and classes, (2) societies, and (3) religious and service organizations.

"The purpose of this program," stated Bruce Semple, co-chairman of the conference and president of the junior class, "is to give a foundation of these aspects of leadership to be built upon in years hence. It will be of vital importance to those who are considering leadership posts in the future, as well as those presently engaged in such positions."

PROF NAHMIN HORWITZ, PHYSICIST, TO DISCUSS EFFECTS OF RADIATION

The fifth lecturer of the 1961-1962 Lecture Series will be Professor Nahmin Horwitz of Syracuse University on Tuesday evening, April 24, at eight o'clock in the Music Hall. Dr. Horwitz will speak on the subject "The Physics of Nuclear Bombs and Radiation" in which he will discuss the nature of radiation. its effect on man and its relationship to the kind and size of bomb, as well as other aspects of the problem.

Dr. Horwitz comes to Maryville College for a two-day visit under the auspices of the American Association of Physice Teachers and the American Institute of Physics through a grant from the National Science Foundation. One of the purposes of the program is "to acquaint other members of the academic community and the public with recent developments in physics."

Professor Hortwitz is a native of Minnesota and received his academic degrees from Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio, and the University of Minnesota. Following the receipt of his doctor's degree, he became a research associate at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory of the University of California in Berkeley. He joined the faculty of Syracuse University in 1959 and is a member of the Physics Department. He has written various articles on cosmic ray and high energy elementary particle physics for numerous physics journals. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, the American Association of Physics Teachers and the American Physical Society.

Fourteen Jr. Women In 1962 'Daisy Chain'

Chosen to form the "Daisy Chain" at the commencement exercises on May 30 are fourteen junior women: Lee Armentrout, Connie Beagle, Rosalind Brown, Carol Cox, Joan Creadick, Ann Harrison, Lois Ann Jones, Sharon Jones, Nancy Kinsman, Ann Kuykendall, Janet Lyerly, Jeanne Price, Grace Rosser, and Linda Wherry.

Each year the vice-president of the junior class selects the members of the chain among those women who have participated most actively in class projects. These women will make a chain of flowers for the graduating seniors to pass under.

Because the Vesper Choir will sing at Commencement, choir members are ineligible for the "Daisy Chain."

MC Debate Coach Governs 'Provincials'

MC debate coach Dr. Arda S. Walker is Governor of the Pi Kappa Delta Provincial Tournament, which is terminating this afternoon at Carson-Newman College in Jefferson City, Tennessee. Having planned and arranged the tournament, Dr. Walker is now presiding over its activities.

Maryville debaters are competing with representatives of seventeen other colleges in the Southern Province of the U. S., which ranges from Kentucky to Florida and incudes Louisiana. The MC team consists of Jane Dodez, Judith Mikeal, Don Jackman, and Don Leo; Richard Gossweiler, Bradford Rehm and Lori Sturmfels have entered the peace oratory division; and Miss Sturmfels is also acting as tournament secretary. This weekend marks the final debate contest of the year.

Although this contest marks the end of the 1961-1962 debate season, it is not the termination to all forensic activities for MC members. On May 11 six students will be initiated into the local chapter of the national forensic fraternity Pi Kappa Delta: Jane Dodez, Ed Fritchie, Jane Hickey, Jim Miller, and Tom Stanley. That evening a banquet will be served in their honor. Each Pi Kappa Delta member must have at least sophomore classification and must have fulfilled certain national requirements for eligibility.

Griffin To Moderate Biblical Colloquim

The Biblical Colloquim of Eastern Tennessee will meet in the lounge of the Fine Arts Center on Tuesday evening, April 17, to discuss a paper written by Walter Kauffman on the subject of existentialism from Dostoeusky to Jean Paul Sartre, Mr. Phillip Griffin, assistant professor of philosophy at Maryville College, will be moderator. This discussion is an outgrowth of a paper written by Joseph Barnhart, philosophy instructor at Western Carolina College, about the influence of Kierkegard on modern theology.

The Biblical Colloquium is an organization of Bible, philosophy, and religion teachers of several Eastern Tennessee colleges, including Carson-Newman, Tusculum, Tennessee Wesleyan, and Knoxville College.

JONES, McGRUTHER NEW Y PRESIDENTS

Lois Ann Jones and Bob McGruther will preside over the YWCA and YMCA activities at Maryville College next year. Miss Jones' cabinet include Janet Lyerly, vice-president; Margaret Dozier, secretary; Roberta Bryson, treasurer; and Sally Blair, Nu Gamma chairman.

Working with Mr. McGruther will be Ron Elly, vice-president; Carl Dumford, secretary; Scott Bucher, treasurer; and Ken Young, sophomore representative.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

MARYVILLE COLLEGE

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Member of University Press Service. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester; $1.75 per year.

Beth Reichardt, Editor

Lynn Herring, Assistant Pat Crossley, News

Pat Baker, Features

John Mitchell, Jeanne Price, Sports Anitra Bard, Exchange

Mike Garrett, Business Manager

Phyllis Deloteus, Assistant Norman Marschner, Circulation

Dr. Carolyn Blair, Mr. Frank Layman, Faculty Advisors

Contributors: Ellen Dozier, Connie Bondurant, Chuck Spencer, Todd Owers, John Gamble, Jean Kelleher, Charlotta Cook, Mary Gay Boettcher, Margaret Dozier, Phil Jerome, Arlene Ford, Ann Harrison

EDITOR'S CHOICE

Recently, a young graduate student and former representative working with the United States National Student Association, spoke, at one of our Council meetings, about NSA to Council members and interested students who had come to learn more about the organization. Many of those who attended were amazed to learn of NSA's valuable services, opportunities, and functions of which they had not been aware.

Since a student body referendum will be held on April 17 to decide if Maryville will continue its membership in NSA next year, it is time to find out about this organization. Do you, as a concerned and voting student, know enough about NSA to cast an intelligent vote? You must know enough about its function to decide whether your vote will oppose its presence or allow Maryville to benefit from its opportunities.

And yet, whether you vote for or against the presence of NSA on this campus, it will still be an existing force on the national and international scene, one which every student should know and understand throughly, for it represents American student opinion throughout the world.

* * * * * *

Because of the nearness of April 25, the date of elections, the Echo would like to urge the members of the student body to take time out from their busy schedules to talk with candidates running for Student Council offices. Find out their ideas and the issues of the campaign and decide for yourself which candidates you feel to be most qualified to lead the student body in the coming year. And then vote.

* * * * * *

The Echo staff will soon be in the process of considering the candidates and electing its editor for next year. Lynn Herring, present assistant editor, and Pat Crossley, news editor, have declared themselves candidates for the position. Following election procedures, they will each serve as editor for one issue — April 28 and May 12 respectively. The election will be held in the middle of May.

Workcampers Discover Fun, Fellowship As They Aid Completion of New Church

by Patricia Crossley

In the midst of paint cans and brushes, ladders, shovels and ditches — and other implements that spell W O R K, the participants in the "Y" workcamp created a spirited atmosphere of fun, fellowship, and achievement. Collaborating with Dr. and Mrs. S. Neale Alter of Maryville, their advisors, and the congregation of the North Westminster Presbyterian Church near Knoxville, fifteen MC students made their spring vacation a time for active service to others.

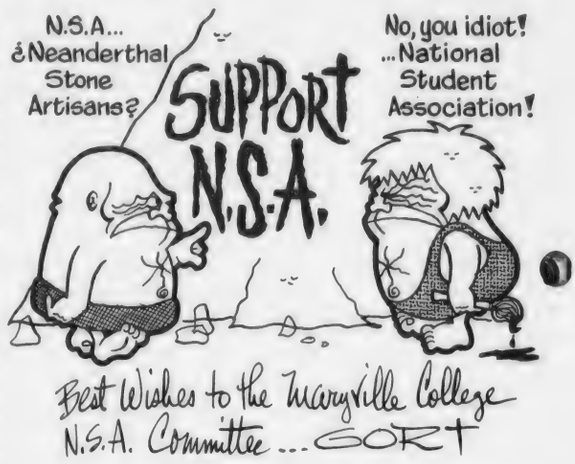
Kay Barbour, Ray Donaldson, Ron Elly, Ann Harrison, Marge and Steve Henderson, Jean Kelleher, Caroline McCaskill, Ron Mease, John Minear, Jo Ann Morey, Dick Norman, Norm Price, Clarissa Seeley, and Phyllis Weaver "camped" at the church for an exciting and workpacked week.

Within an hour of their arrival Wednesday afternoon the group began working. Because of Rev. George Day's efficient handling of the schedule, no time was wasted. Everyone selected, according to his interests, his own task among those available each day; no one made assignments. The entire group of workers, which consisted of persons from the community, as well as the students, painted four rooms in the church building, originally a large house; coated the outside of the new chapel with waterproof paint; sanded the chapel ceiling; cleaned, waxed, and buffered several floors; and landscaped the lawn.

The variety of music enjoyed during the week also contributed to the distinctive atmosphere. Each morning Dr. Alter aroused the group by playing at full volume lively Scandinavian folk-dance tunes! During the day, however, one could choose his "music to work by." While laborers in one room were listening to the Metropolitan Opera performance over the FM-set, those in a different part of the building were humming folk songs in time to the record-player or someone strumming a banjo, guitar, or ukulele; and still another group of workers preferred the popular music on the AM-radio network.

The first night of the workcamp the congregation sponsored a covered dish supper followed by folk dancing, and on subsequent evenings the "campers" visited neighboring homes for meals and informal discussions. Even persons outside of the congregation invited members of the workcamp to their homes, so that the group made community contacts throughout the entire

The eagerness of everyone involved to sponsor another workcamp next year indicates the success of the venture, as do the many new friendships established in just one week. For the "campers" intend to present a "Y" program in which members of the North Westminster Church will help them relate their week of fun, fellowship, and achievement.



IS NSA FAIR TO SOUTHERN SCHOOLS?

Are Southern schools fairly represented in USNSA? This is a matter of concern that was expressed at Student Council meeting Thursday evening. Present at this meeting was Rob Burlage, graduate student from Harvard who has been affiliated with NSA. An active participant in NSA when a student at the University of Texas, he has continued his service to the Association while doing research in the South.

Speaking with Council members and other interested students, Burlage emphasized the fact that NSA is aware of the lack of Southern participation and is working to improve this situation. Plans have been made to have a Southern vice president next year who will be working exclusively with Southern colleges. He was particularly interested in our gripes and other views toward the Association, so that he could report to the national office the attitude at Maryville and other schools in this area.

Burlage spoke of NSA's effort to bring the individual student out of his limited environment into an active relationship with other students in his nation and his world. He reminded us of the Student Government Information Service through which we can obtain information and ideas concerning any campus problem, such as student center and honor system. The travel opportunities and many confereces sponsored by NSA covering a variety of subjects are other valuable services of the Association.

In discussing with us both the advantages and the weaknesses of NSA, Burlage stressed the fact that we must work to strengthen the organization's weak points as we gain from its many benefits.

The Shadow

Mary Gay Boettcher

There is another face behind the proverbial flashlight. He is the immediate successor to the famous "Harold" and seems to be filling his cap admirably. Physically, all that can be told of him is that he is a very large shadow with a very deep voice. The voice is talkative.

His name is Eldrie Hurst and he lives in Maryville. Mr. Hurst has lived here all his life and attended local Everett high school. The beauty of the campus is appreciated by Mr. Hurst and he is very interested in his work and the people he meets as part of his job.

Mr. Hurst feels that the position of nightwatchman is a good job with steady pay. But above that he likes it because he likes to "make friends and be with people."

Alumni Host Seniors At Recent Banquet

Graduating seniors gathered Tuesday night, April 10, for the third annual banquet sponsored by the alumni association. The buffet-style dinner was held at the Green Meadow Country Club, where local alumni were hosts and hostesses.

Mr. Edwin J. Best spoke to the group on behalf of the alumni, while President Copeland represented the college administration. Warren Rutledge, Assistant Pastor at New Providence Church entertained with folk music.

The seniors gazed into the future as John Mitchell read the class prophecy written by Patricia Baker, Arlene Ford, and John Mitchell.

Cabbages & Kings

Walking back from the dining hall (which had just been invaded by the Girl Scout cookie fad), the Walrus and I were discussing the problems of the world. "The world," I said, "is a mess."

The Walrus frowned at me. "Is that all you have to say? That is one of the least imaginative statements I've ever heard. With all there is to say about the world, the only thing you can do is state that it is a mess."

"Well," I answered, rather hurt, "can you do any better?"

"Of course. Any walrus with a grain of imagination can do a better summary than that. Let's see. For instance, one could say that the world is a tiny ball, spinning through the vastness of space with millions of misinformed, misguided, and misunderstood men who are constantly becoming involved in nothing larger than their own petty selves, and therefore, they find that there is nothing they can do to make themselves seem anything but insignificant except try to prove that everyone else on the globe is even less significant than they are. How's that?"

"It seems," I said, "a trifle wordy."

"Wordy," muttered the Walrus, as he stalked away angrily. "Wordy. I make one of the most brilliant summations of the world situation in all history, and you say it's wordy."

* * * * * * *

Sometime after this incident, the Walrus marched proudly into my room, bearing a long strip of paper. "Since you did not like my prose statement concerning the world," he announced, "I decided to try my hand at poetry. As you will note, it is based somewhat on the style of Ogden Nash, but that, I hope, will only increase its value and significance."

"All right," I said, "I'll try to read it with an open mind."

THE WORLD IS A MUDDLED, JUMBLED HODGEPODGE

by the Walrus

The world is a mess, says my friend,
But to me the world is a much more complex thing, and this position I will now do my best to defend.
The world, it seems to me, is suffering from a disease know as "Advanced Confusionitis,"
And the symptoms are that we have to bite other people before they bite us.
For example:
If the Russians shoot off a rocket to the moon, we have to rush and put one up too, no matter how much it costs or how many little people we may on the way trample.
And though both we and the Russians heartily declare
That the one thing we want more than anything else is peace, we all are working hard to find better bombs to make radioactive all the earth, water, and air.
In short, therefore, the world may be described as a muddled, jumbled hodgepodge.
And when the bombs start falling down, my friends, all we can do is try to dodge.
Unless someone soon helps this little ball,
There won't be any world at all.

Public Health Dept. Offers Govt. Careers

On Thursday, April 25, 1962, Mr. Karl Hoffman, a representative of the U. S. Department of Public Health, will be on our campus to interview Senior men who might be interested in a career with the Public Health Department after graduation. Mr. Hoffman will be interested in men who have at least a B average and a liberal arts background.

Selected candidates would begin their services as Program Representative Trainees with a three month training period in Atlanta. Those who successfully complete the training program will qualify for Public Health Advisor positions with the U. S. Public Health Service at the grade of GS-7 and a starting salary of $5,355.

Further information concerning this program is available in the Development Office. Each man who would like to talk to Mr. Hoffman is asked to stop at the Development Office and pick up a Personnel Record form, which is to be filled out and returned to the Development Office before April 25. A sign-up sheet will be placed on the Carnegie Hall bulletin board, and interested men are asked to sign for an interview time.

MC Net Squad Wins 3 In Row

The Maryville College tennis team has started its season in a big way, winning all of the first three matches. Before spring vacation the Highlanders invaded Georgia's Shorter College and Oglethorpe University in a manner not unlike Sherman's march to the sea, and returned home with the bacon—a 6-3 victory over Shorter and a splendid come-from-behind 5-4 win over Oglethorpe in Atlanta.

After the vacation, the team took to the home courts and found them even more to their liking as they stroked out a methodical 9-0 win over an outclassed but not outfought Cumberland College team from Kentucky. Tuesday afternoon the Scots laid this 3-0 record on the line as they went after number four against Tennessee Wesleyan. They will return home late tonight from a three-day trip into northwestern Tennessee and Virginia to play Milligan, East Tennessee State College, and Emory and Henry, respectively.

In Atlanta, especially, the team enjoyed good Southern hospitality and found themselves quite at home, both on and off the tennis court. Against Oglethorpe University on a blistering Saturday afternoon, the Maryville netters found themselves up against the strongest foe encountered thus far. The six singles matches were split right down the middle: they won three, and we won three as Jeff Grotè, George Flack, and Dave Marston all came through with victories for Maryville. That left three doubles matches to be played, and the winner of the match would have to win two of these matches in order to have enough points to be declared the winner of the overall match. Bob Johnston and Todd Owers made short work of their number one doubles opponents, disposing of them relatively easily, 7-5, 6-1. However, in our number two and three doubles matches, things were not going too well, since both our teams lost their first set.

Oglethorpe had their number one player, a flashy Peruvian answering to the name of Hernando, paired with their number five singles player in the number two doubles match against the Maryville team of Jeff Grote-Dave Marston. The strategy was, of course, to let the number five player hit his serve and then sit around and watch while the spectacular Hernando took all the hard shots and did all the work. Hernando was really in his element as he ranged far and wide making beautiful gets, smashing shot after shot back at Jeff and Dave, only to have the ball come back at him again with maddening regularity. The second set dragged on and on, and the torrid pace soon began to tell. Jeff and Dave were playing beautifully together, keeping Hernando busy by varying their shots as much as possible and playing hard, steady, consistent tennis. Hernando began to tire under this barrage, and as a result he began to make errors. If he had a weakness, it was his temperament; when he missed a shot he screamed something in Spanish, and this proved disconcerting, to say the least. Jeff didn't like it at all; so every time Hernando would scream he would make his feelings known by shouting right back at him.

Finally, in the 23rd game Jeff and Dave scored a service break and went on to win the next game, and the second set 13-11. With a new lease on life the boys changed courts preparatory to beginning the third and final set. Before the first ball was served, however, Jeff took time to call over to coach Kardatzke, who was sitting in the stands: "Hey Coach, if we win do we get steaks for dinner tonight?" The answer came back a laughing, "Yes, and if you lose you get Bologna." That did it. With the tension relieved and added incentive our number two doubles team went right to work and wasted little time in putting the frosting on the cake, 6-3, and thus winning the match which proved to be the difference.

Hernando looked stunned, and their coach was quite dissappointed. But he did pay Jeff the dubious compliment of telling him that he had been studying his game all afternoon and that he had come to the conclusion that it was mathematically impossible for him to hit the ball over the net. This proved to be quite a joke on the long ride home.

Track Team Loses

After a win over Bryan College before spring vacation, the Maryville track team lost its second meet to Cumberland College by a score of 100-5|6 to 30-1|6. The home team was able to capture only four first places out of a total of fifteen events.

Kirk Copeland led the way for the Scots by winning two running events: the 120-yard high hurdles (16.6) and the 220-yard low hurdles (27.4).

In the field events Joe Malloy took first in the broad jump (19',5") and second place in the pole vault; and Bill Owenby took first in the javelin throw (166', 7-1|3"). Owenby also placed second in both the high jump and broad jump.

Others who placed for Maryville were Tyson McClanahan (third in the 100-yard dash and in the 220-yard dash), Dave Cost (third in the 440-yard dash and in the 880-yard run), John Livingston (third in the 2-mile run), and Bert Randall (third in the shot put).

Today the squad will participate in the Furman Relays.

SCOTS SPLIT FIRST TWO GAMES

The Maryville diamond men finished the first few days of the baseball season with a 2-1-1 record: a 4-3 win and a 7-0 loss to Hanover College of Indiana and two rained-out games with Alma College of Michigan.

Looking sharp in the new uniforms, the Scots met their first test with confidence and skillful teamwork. Having tied the score 3-3 in the bottom of the fifth, the Maryville squad almost won in the seventh as Tom Bowers powerful hit bounced off the fence. But the scheduled seven-inning game ended in a tie, thus necessitating an extra inning.

The bases loaded with Bob Kidd, Buck Petty, and Dale Sterner in the bottom of the eighth, Tommy Bowers pulled off a squeeze play to bunt in the winning run.

Bowers had one other hit, along with one each for Petty, Donnie Phelps, and Benny Monroe. Dave West started for the Scots, and Joe Scheidleler and Benny Monroe finished up the game.

The Scots were not as fortunate the next day in the second game of the series with Hanover. The Indiana team shutout the Maryville team 7-0 as Gary Hafner went the full nine innings for the winners, allowing only two hits and striking out thirteen batters. Petty and Art Fairchild got the two hits for the Scots.

Dave Meneely started for the losers and allowed five hits and gave up two runs. John Badders, who replaced Meneely in the sixth, gave up six hits and five runs. Dale Sterner took over in the ninth to finish the game.

The two games scheduled with Alma College were cancelled because of rain.

MOVIE TONIGHT

"It Happened One Night," will be shown tonight at eight o'clock in the theater as part of the MC Film Series. Claudette Colbert and Clark Gable star in this comedy, a classic example of the best of the light entertainment of the thirties. The admission fee is 35 cents for students and children and 50 cents for adults.

THUMBS UP!

By John Mitchell

In view of all the campus activities and spring sports, energy is an important factor in determining how well the human machine will perform in these rigors. The most logical and common way of maintaining energy for athletic contests is a diet of good food and adequate sleep, but since both are scarce here at times one must resort to other means.

The best-known source for quick energy is honey (not related to the human metaphoric facsimile) because it goes rapidly and directly into the blood stream (perhaps the two are related after all).

A negative approach to provide energy is to prevent fatigue. Recently I read an article on the matter in Wisdom, evidently a propaganda issue inspired by Jack's Indian river medicine and physical fitness program. Pointing out that people often feel tired even after having had a proper amount of sleep, the article went on to say that perhaps exercise is the remedy because it stimulates the circulatory system.

Thus one should indulge in his favorate sport or calisthenics during the day; and then, to put the cherry on the whipped cream, the article suggests a warm bath and a glass of warm milk before going to bed. This is supposed to insure a relaxing sleep and to prevent fatigue the next day.

Yours truly decided to try this method, not because I had a hankering to run around the track or to work out with the tennis team, but because I was feeling pooped too many days.

First there was the matter of exercise. So I leaned up against the end of my bed and rotated my arms in a wild fashin until I though that my blood was running. And after the prescribed shower I put a pan of milk on the old hot plate.

For fear of burning my finger with a temperature test, I waited until I could hear the milk boiling and then let it cool. Besides burning my tongue with this Platonic cocktail, the milk tasted funny. At any rate I jumped into my bed for that relaxing sleep.

Two hours later I was still trying to fugure out what that milk tasted like, and by the next morning I had decided to stick with my honey and to heck with that warm milk and circulating blood idea.

SIGS TAKE SHOE

Having lost the Stinking Shoe last year for the first time in many a day, Alpha Sigma regained it this year with a 58-44 win over Kappa Phi in the annual Stinking Shoe basketball game. This victory coupled with their 11-1 triumph in the softball game last spring gave Sig the necessary two out of three wins to recapture the coveted shoe. Phi had won the football contest earlier in the school year.

During the first half Phi, trailing by six points, was still in the game as Albie Ries paced the Sigs by hitting several long set shots. As the second half opened, Phi looked as if it might rally and cut the Sig lead to two points, but some sloppy ball-handling destroyed this hope as the Sig team capitalized on almost every mistake to strengthen its lead. Late in the game Sig was ahead by as much as twenty points, and both teams began to substitute freely.

Bill Owenby was the big man not only for his own team but also for all scorers as he finished with a twenty-five point total. He and Ries were responsible for the bulk of the Sig scoring.

Phi was paced by Bruce Semple, Rich Murchinson, and Phil Brown, with Mike Garrett helping.

The game was as enthusiastic as usual, but even more enthusiastic were the members of Alpha Sigma with the thought of "the shoe" and its presence once again in their house.

The next event in the new Stinking Shoe series with be softball later in the spring.

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"
– BANKING SERVICES –
*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
*CHECK ACCOUNTS
*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
*TRANSFER OF FUNDS
— Your College Bank —
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands
OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You
Featuring a Fine Stock
of Quality Products Including
a Complete Variety of Cheeses.
DIXIE
SUPER MARKET
Washington Avenue

Good Music
"Y" PROGRAMS
Sunday–9:30 P.M.
CONCERT HALL
Daily
12:30–1:30
Good Listening
WGAP
Dial 1400

WALKER TO HOLD SEMINAR ON PLATO

Dr. Arda S. Walker, associate professor of history will conduct a seminar on Plato's Republic on Wednesday, April 25 at 7:15 p.m. in the New Dormitory basement. Anyone who reads the Republic in preparation may attend.

This special study session is connected with the history class which is surveying Greek civilization from the Minoan to the Hellenistic ages.

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

Office Supplies? We got 'em

Office Equipment? like wise

Office machines? our middle name.

Service? on all we sell (with a smile)

Delivery? Fastest and best.

Parking? Free, 10 feet from the door.

WHITE OFFICE MACHINES

"WON'T WRITE – CALL WHITE"

Court St. 983-4762

Always Look Your Best

See us for all your Dry Cleaning Needs

MARYVILLE Cleaners

CONTACT YOUR DORMITORY AGENT

FREE FREE FREE

TRANSPORTATION

on all

White Star Line Buses

From ELLIS STREET To

MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

AND Return

MARYVILLE-KNOXVILLE WEEKDAY BUS SCHEDULE

O – OLD HIGHWAY

N – NEW HIGHWAY

Lv. Maryville	Lv. Knoxville
O– 5:30 A.M.	O– 6:30 A.M.
N– 6:00	N– 7:00
O– 6:30	O– 7:50
O– 7:00	N– 8:00
N– 7:00	O– 8:30
O– 7:30	N– 9:00
N– 7:45*	O– 9:30
O– 8:00	N–10:00
N– 8:00	O–10:30
O– 8:30	N–11:00
N– 9:00	O–11:30
O– 9:30	N–12:00 Noon
N–10:00	O–12:30 P.M.
O–10:30	N– 1:00
N–11:00	O– 1:30
O–11:30	N– 2:00
N–12:00 Noon	O– 2:30
O–12:30 P.M.	N– 3:00
N– 1:00	O– 3:30
O– 1:30	O– 4:00
N– 2:00	N– 4:00
O– 2:30	O– 4:30
O– 3:00	O– 5:00
N– 3:00	N– 5:00
O– 3:30	O– 5:30
N– 4:00	O– 6:00
O– 4:30	N– 6:00
O– 5:00	O– 7:00
N– 5:00	N–11:15
O– 6:00
N– 8:00
O–10:00 via N.P.

*Does not operate on Saturday

This Ad and Transportation Paid for by

Merchants of

MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

BAYEUX TAPESTRY, WRITING DISPLAYS COMMEMORATE NAT. LIBRARY WEEK

In recognition of National Library Week the staff of the college library has prepared two displays of historical significance. Reproductions of the Bayeux Tapestry and a pictorial "History of Writing" will be exhibited until Saturday, April 21.

The story of the Bayeux Tapestry is explained in the downstairs gallery at the west end of the library. A written statement, located at the foot of the stairs, introduces a table-display of reference books and novels about the "tapestry" and the Norman Conquest which it records in thread, and the captions placed beneath each reproduction.

Probably originated in England, the Bayeux Tapestry has been inappropriately named. For its figures are embroidered on coarse linen, not woven into the material; the famous artists of embroidery during the late middle ages lived in England, not France. The "tapestry" itself, which is 231 feet long and 19 inches wide, presents 1200 figures in 72 episodes and with eight colors of yarn.

The artist, whether English or Norman, is surprisingly objective, for he has made both Harold and William heroic as capable leaders and fine warriors. He was also a keen observer of human nature and contemporary customs, which he has portrayed dramatically. The Bayeux Tapestry pictures the way men tucked up their clothes to wade into the sea and how a rider would lift his feet out of the stirrups so as not to get them wet in deep water; how ships were built; how a big dinner was cooked and served; and how the English fought on foot—because they had rejected the introduction of cavalry as "un-English" and how the Normans, mounted on horseback, defeated them and thus changed the course of history.

From the "tapestry" one can also learn that the civil dress of men included a tunic and perhaps a mantle or surcoat; that the English wore moustaches and hair at a normal length, while the Normans shaved both their faces and the backs of their necks; that the English used a round shield, whereas the Normans' were kite-shaped; and that the manes of the English horses were hogged, while those of the Normans' were long.

The second display, the "History of Writing," traces in pictures the evolution of written language from the civilization of Sumer c.3000 B.C. to the invention of the Gutenburg press in 1440. Featured in this exhibit is The Dawn of Civilization, recently given to the library by Miss Nancy Hunter, secretary to President Copeland, in memory of two former MC professors, Dr. Horace Orr and Dr. Verton Queener.

Activities for Easter Include 3 Services

The Maryville College community will commerorate the Easter weekend with a special chapel program on Good Friday and the traditional sunrise and vesper services on Easter Sunday.

Meditations on the "Seven Last Words of Christ" will be offered in the Friday morning chapel service by Dr. E. Faye Campbell, college chaplain, Mr. Phillip [illegible]fin, assistant professor of philosophy, and Miss Carlanna Lindamood, instructor of history.

A brass choir will wake the campus early Easter morning just before the sunrise, which is expected around 5:55 a.m. President Copeland and Dr. Campbell will conduct this program. The Vespor Choir will provide special music at both the morning and evening services.

The "Y" Store Proudly serves

MAYFIELD'S Ice Cream and Milk

Smoother, Richer, better Tasting

Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

SEE THEM ALL AT THE KNOXVILLE COLISEUM

One Show Only – WEDNESDAY, APRIL 25 at 8:00 P. M.

Tickets on Sale – $2.00 – $2.50 – $3.00 at Colisuem Box Office

Willems
To Lecture
(See Page 6)

The Highland Echo

Maryville College

Vol. 47 | Maryville, Tennessee, April 28, 1962 | No. 14

Miss Grace Rosser Displays 8 Paintings

Grace Rosser, a junior art major from Baltimore, Md., has for sale eight paintings which are on display in Maryville. Mr. Steve Corbit of the Fort Craig Hotel and Rose Coffee Shop, now under new management, is exhibiting Miss Rosser's work to add color and decoration to the premises.

In watercolors Miss Rosser has portrayed a still-life, a mountain scene, and several abstract works. These paintings will be on sale until the end of May.

Mr. Corbit is trying to remodel and improve the coffee shop and hotel. He expects a proposed private banquet room to be ready the beginning of May. Next year he may be willing to display the paintings of other students for limited periods of time.

State Science Group Meets here Today

Members of the Tennessee Academy of Science, Eastern Division, Collegiate Division, will convene here this morning for their annual meeting. Dr. Gleb Mamantoff from the University of Tennessee will speak about "Chemical Rocket Propellants."

All of the colleges in East Tennessee will be represented. The purpose of the Academy is to further interest in the scientific study and research on the undergraduate level. It has five divisions: Chemistry, Physics, Mathematics, Biology, and Home Economics (especially dietetics).

The meeting, to be held in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center, is open to any interested members of the public. Registration will begin at 10 a.m., followed by the reading of scientific papers by undergraduates on special research topics. Two or three of these will be presented by Maryville students Don Jackman, Priscilla Newcomer, and Bob Johnston. Fellowing this, a business meeting will be held for the purpose of forming an official constitution.

The present officers of the academy are: President-Don Jackman, Maryville; Vice President-Fadine Kilgo, Tusculum; and secretary-Joe Willis, U.T. The Tennessee Academy has three regions: Eastern, Middle, and Western. Of the 13 or 14 colleges in the Eastern Region, 10 to 12 will be represented at the April 28 meeting, which will be highly technical.

Playhouse Presents 2 Graduation Plays

The Maryville College Playhouse will feature two plays during the commencement weekend. In addition to the presentation of Shaw's Candida on May 25 and 28, there will be a repeat-performance of Andre Obey's Noah on May 29.

Candida will star Cecelia Bridges, a freshman from Huntsville, Alabama, in the title role. Her supporting cast includes David Styles as Mr. Burgess, Connie Williams as Proserpine Garnett, Roger Thompson as Reverend Alexander Mill, George Randels as Reverend James Morreal, and Tommy Stanley as Eugene Marchbanks.

MC ART STUDENTS SPONSOR EXHIBITS

The Senior Art Show will open in the Theatre lobby on May 3 at 7:30 p.m. and the Student Art Show will open on May 15 at 7:30 in the Art Lobby of the Fine Arts Center.

Four senior art majors, Barbara Jayne, Miriam Hall, Leona Barnes, and Nancy Gerkins, will display some of their work in the lobby of the Theatre. The exhibit will be composed entirely of oils. Refreshments will be served.

From May 15 until May 30, the work of other MC art students will be displayed in the FAC. The exhibit will include etchings, woodcuts, samples from freshman design, and oils.

'RAINBOW'S END' AT GREEN MEADOWS

The annual Spring Formal, sponsored by Alpha Sigma and Theta Epsilon, will be held at Green Meadows Country Club on May 5 from 8:00 to 12:00. The theme will be "Rainbow's End," and the theme song will be "Moon River."

The spacious Country Club will be decorated simply with various pastel colors, in keeping with the theme and the spring season. This is the first time the formal has been held in the country club.

Smoking permitted

If the weather is suitable, tables will be set on the patio overlooking the scenic golf course. Light refreshments will be provided, with catering by the Country Club. Smoking will be permitted. The dancing will be in the ballroom, with music provided by the College Dance Band. Carole Cooper and Gerry Bolden will sing.

Cars allowed

Transportation will be by car and bus. The bus transportation is compliments of White Star Line.

Serving as chairmen are Midge Slater and Ed Zeigler. The chaperones for this gala spring affair will be Mr. and Mrs. Brahams, Mr. and Mrs. Stidham, and Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Gamble.

Outlines Plans
GARRETT TO HEAD STUDENT BODY

Garrett

New Student Body President Mike Garrett has three goals he hopes to fulfill during the coming year. First of all, he would like to see Maryville students display pride in the college and feel that they can do their part to make it a school to be proud of. He recognizes a need for improving the intellectual atmosphere, and thirdly, he plans to promote the campus ministry.

Mr. Garrett believes that having a student body meeting each month would increase the effectiveness of the student government. By announcing the specific topics of discussion planned, prior to each council meeting, he would also hope to promote better communication between the student body and council.

Mr. Garrett hopes to establish rapport among the various elements of the campus — residential and town students and faculty and administration — also by conducting a campus-wide convocation in the mountains early next fall. Also, he recognizes that twenty percent of the entire student body consists of town students who are not represented on council. He suggests that each class elect one town student to council in order to give fair representation.

Taking advantage of the cultural facilities at Oak Ridge, U-T, Knoxville College, and other nearby resources, says Mike, would be one way of informing ourselves about local, national and international problems. He would like to invite speakers from these places, as well as exchange visits with other schools.

Mr. Garrett's administration will be one of re-evaluation of campus life. He quotes Dr. Copeland as stating, "There is not one area of campus life that we cannot look at." Therefore, he feels that we are fortunate in having college officers with minds open to student ideas. He hopes that the 1962-63 school year will be one of continued progress.

Stewart

Working as vice president will be Gordon Stewart. His main duty will be the chairmanship of the elections committee of the Student Council, and he, like the president, will endeavor to make possible an effective student government.

Wymans To Present Last Faculty Recital

Frederick Stearns Wyman, saxophonist and instructor in theory, and Louise Ogden Wyman, pianist and part-time instructor in piano, will be presented in the last faculty recital of the season in the Fine Arts Center Music Hall on Monday evening, April 30 at 8:15.

Mr. Wyman was head of the music department of Community School in Teheran, Iran, from 1958 to 1961. Mrs. Wyman taught elementary school music classes. During their last year in Iran Mr. and Mrs. Wyman aided in preparation of music for a Persian Church hymnal which was printed in 1961.

Mr. Wyman received his B.A. degree with a major in theory from Maryville College in 1957. From 1957-58 he studied at Eastman School of Music, Rochester, New York, and expects to receive his M.A. in August 1962. In September Mr. Wyman will begin his studies for a doctorate in theory at Eastman. Mrs. Wyman received a B.A. degree with a major in piano at Maryville College in 1957, was a pupil of the late George McNabb at Eastman School of Music from 1957-58, and studied with Mme. Akopian of Moscow Conservatory, Teheran, Iran, from 1959-1960.

Included on Mrs. Wyman's program will be works by Frescobaldi, Brahms, Grieg, and Mozart. Mr. Wyman's program will feature works primarily by modern composers, Bozza, Challan, Milhaud, Ibert, and Tcherepnine. Mr. Roger Wagner will accompany Mr. Wyman.

President of Peabody
Dr. Felix Robb To Lead Commencement Program

Felix C. Robb, the president of Peabody College, will deliver the address at the 143rd commencement program at Maryville College. The academic procession to the chapel will begin at 10:30 a.m. on May 30.

President Robb graduated summa cum laude from Birmingham Southern College in Alabama. He continued study at Vanderbilt (MA, 1939), Peabody, and Harvard (EdD, 1952).

Dr. Robb has had broad experience in the educational field. He has taught in public schools and colleges, served on the national selection committee for Fulbright awards, and coordinated the Peabody Program of Educational Assistance in Korea. He has directed workshops in educational television in Nashville, has been chairman of the Governor's Conference on Higher Education, and has written twenty professional articles and monographs.

Before becoming president of Peabody last year, Dr. Robb served there since 1947 as alumni secretary, registrar, assistant to the president, acting director of the Peabody Library School, professor of higher education, and dean of the college.

Y Members Retreat To Distant Mountains For Planning Session

The annual YMCA-YWCA retreat will be held today and Sunday at Laurel Lake. The retiring and incoming presidents, both old and new cabinets, the Nu Gamma leaders, the Ten Key Men, and twenty-five interested college students will attend this session of planning and evaluation."

Saturday's agenda includes a panel discussion moderated by Dr. Campbell and composed of Elsie Harris, Lois Ann Jones, Mike Garrett, and Bob McGruther. Group discussion will be led by Margaret Dozier, Ron Elly, Tim Hanks, Ann Harrison, Steve Henderson, and Barbara Neilson. Sunday will be devoted primarily to specific planning for next year.

Student Center Committee Reports

The Student-Faculty Student Center Study Committee reports progress made in early planning for the proposed new student center. The committee members, as the first step of their program, are surveying non-academic facilities on the college campus to determine exactly what will be needed in the building.

The second part of the program is the evaluation of what will accommodate a future student body of 1000, and the last part of the plan includes the gathering of information from colleges which have recently built student centers, and the contacting of students and faculty members to collect all ideas about what is wanted in the new student center.

Co-chairmen of the committee are Mr. Philip Griffin, assistant professor of philosophy, and Bill Ward, chairman of the Student Council Projects Committee.

Orchestra Will Give Final Concert May 4

The Maryville College-Community orchestra will present its final concert of the season on Friday evening May 4, at 8:00 p.m. in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel. The program will include Mendelssohn's "Festival March," Lully's "French Suite," "Melody" by Roy Harris, and the overture from "The Jealous Suitor" by Gretry. The featured selection will be Schubert's "Unfinished" Symphony.

CHOIR TO RENDER FAURE'S REQUIEM

On Sunday evening, May 13th the College Choir will present the Mass of the Requiem by Gabriel-Urbain Faure. This seven-part Requiem is a liturgical requiem taken from the French Roman Catholic Liturgy. It was first performed at Maryville in May of 1948 in memory of Ralph R. Colbert, former director of the College Choir. It was again performed here the next year in memory of Kathryn Roming McMurray, former manager of the College Maid Shop. This is the first performance of the work since then. Soloists for this year's performance will be Virginia Pratt, Soprano, and Paul Evans, Bass.

Faure is a late 19th century composer and a pupil of Saint-Saens. He was a former director of the Paris Conservatory and teacher of Ravel and Boulanger. Faure wrote in all the major musical forms, but is best known in this country for his sacred music.

EDITOR'S CHOICE

Lynn Herring

The end of the school year must be a time for beginnings if this student body is to continue the cycles of change and progress that have started spinning during the last few months. There is a feeling of optimism and excitement now that did not exist this time last year, and more students have shown a greater sense of involvement in current issues—whether it be NSA or Campus Communication or the Student Body Election.

NSA: We voted to continue our membership in it. Do we intend to make it work, or shall we merely list it again as another itemized expense on the Council budget?

Campus Communication: Can we continue to discuss sensibly and reasonably those things which may or may not render the College more attractive to both students and faculty?

The Student Body president is elected. As his responsibility increases, will the supporting groups from both sides recognize the need to pull together, to forget old wounds, and to work as a unit to make next year a year of excellence? And such excellence should include not only taking more advantage of educational opportunities, but also improving student leadership in those areas which are not academic.

* * * * * *

Four years ago this paper folded for lack of interest. After sleeping for a semester, it was resurrected; only two seniors, Pat Baker and Helen Anne Easterly, know through direct experience the story of this beginning and improvement. Beth Reichardt as this year's editor has provided unprecedented stimulation to keep the quality of the paper at a consistently high level. The Echo salutes them.

* * * * * *

With the new general optimism and excitement, this paper must begin to find its place as an influential force to stimulate campus awareness and activity and to encourage constant voicing of carefully-thought-out opinion.

These beginnings cannot be theoretical. They must be concrete. and they must be now.

UNDER COVER

by Patricia Baker

(A review of John Steinbeck's The Winter of Our Discontent)

John Steinbeck in his latest novel, The Winter of Our Discontent, has tried to show us a part of truth, a part of American life in the year 1960, a part of ourselves. A good writer, knowing that he can never put the whole world in one book, is content to present just a fragment of the world as he sees it. Only misguided critics ever expect more.

The critics, for the most part, have not been kind to Mr. Steinbeck's new book. Granville Hicks in the June 24, 1961, Saturday Review is especially dissatisfied because Steinbeck has "failed to resolve the problems he has raised." This book is not, then, for those who feel that novels should always present sugar-coated answers in five delicious flavors; Steinbeck, like many other good writers, believes that the novel should not give easy answers to the deep unanswerable questions of the human heart.

The central character in The Winter of Our Discontent is Ethan Allen Hawley, a grocery store clerk, whose family was once a wealthy and powerful force in the town of New Bayton. Hawley is an honest man who loves his family and his friends—and yet at every turn he encounters dishonesty and corruption in his "respectable" town.

In life we find that seldom do we make important decisions after careful planning; more often we drift into a situation without really deciding anything and then find, to our amazement, that we are somewhere we never planned to be. Ethan Allen Hawley is like us in this way; he was only playing a sort of game with himself—wondering what would happen if he were dishonest enough to rob a bank or cheat his boss or sell out his best friend. Hawley, in trying to understand himself, thinks at one point: "If my plan had leaped up full-grown and deadly I would have rejected it as nonsense. People don't do such things, but people play secret games . . . I don't know when my game stopped being a game."

Once Hawley recognizes that his game is serious, however, he finds that the plan he started moving is too big for him to stop. Steinbeck in this novel, more than in any of his others, is able to create a mood and a feeling. The reader, too, feels with Hawley the sensation of being caught in a trap, partly of one's own making, which has become so large and powerful that there can be no escape.

The book is not without its faults; there is, for instance, a confusion in symbolism at times, and a tendency to equate the business world with magic arts and fortune telling. Yet the book is significant for its style and the portrayal of complex characters.

Another critic, Samuel Bellows, has said: "In this book John Steinbeck has returned to the high standards of The Grapes of Wrath and to the social themes that made his early works so impressive and powerful." The novel is indeed a

(Cont'd, p. 3)

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

MARYVILLE COLLEGE

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Member of University Press Service. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester; $1.75 per year.

Beth Reichardt, Editor
Lynn Herring, Editor this Issue
Lynn Herring, Assistant — Pat Crossley, News
Pat Baker, Features
John Mitchell, Jeanne Price, Sports — Anitra Bard, Exchange
Mike Garnett, Business Manager
Phyllis Deloteus, Assistant — Jim Stewart, Circulation
Dr. Carolyn Blair, Mr. Frank Layman, Faculty Advisors

Contributors: Sue Bloomer, Charlotta Cook, Ellen Dozier, Margaret Dozier, Arlene Ford, John Gamble, Gail Garloch, Ann Harrison, Phil Jerome, Jean Kelleher, Todd Owers, Chuck Spencer.

Letter to the Editor: Voice For Progress

The third society committee recently organized by the student council was given the job of looking into the possibility of setting up one or more additional societies on campus. At the first meeting of this committee, however, it was decided that there would be nothing gained in establishing a third society in the same situation as the four present ones. The committee decided, therefore, to inquire into the reasons why the societies are not able to perform their proper functions and to look for means of improvement. To do this, some basic steps must be taken. The committee has sent out some seventy or more letters to Christian colleges of comparable size to Maryville in order to find out how their social organizations function and under what conditions they operate. When most of the reports come back, the committee will condense them, compare them with the system here, and present its report to the administration.

It seems to me that there is too little active participation in the societies right now for them to ever be of any real significance to campus life. At the same time, I see definite reasons for this lack of participation. The main function of the societies on a campus such as ours should be to provide a general all-round good social life for the students. Several hindrances, however, are preventing our societies from functioning adequately.

First, the societies are hampered by an unnecessary degree of financial control by the administration. The only real means that a society has for building up its treasury is by collecting dues from its members. The societies cannot possibly provide for social affairs without adequate finances to do so, and they cannot obtain the funds unless the administration is willing to let them raise revenue in other ways. I see no reason why a society cannot have dances and other functions for campus participation and charge nominal fees for attendance. Societies would probably be encouraged to sponsor more social affairs if they felt that they could make some profit through such endeavors. There is no real reason why societies should not have as large a treasury as they wish and be able to use the money for anything beneficial to them. The one big social affair for each society at present is the formal dance, held twice a year. In planning these dances the societies are regulated as to how much they can charge for tickets and what they can spend in preparation. Unless the societies are freed from such restrictive control over their financial affairs, no one can blame them for not attempting more social functions for campus participation. They just plain cannot afford to.

Another hindrance to more society participation is the fact that the societies are too large. This is a problem which could probably be solved best by organizing a third society, but there might also be a possibility of restricting membership in some way. The required scholastic average of "C" for new members this year might have been effective, but it was dropped before it was even given a chance. Another restrictive means might be for the active members of a society to vote on prospective members. The size of our present societies is a deterrent to unity. Perhaps members would be more eager to support their societies if they were harder to get into.

Probably the biggest hindrance to better society performance is the fault of many of us members. We must be willing to put something into the societies if we expect to get anything out of them. Too often the majority of the work in a society is left to the officers and a small working core. If we could regain an interest in society activities we could probably make them what we feel they should be. At the same time, if the administration would be more willing to

(Cont'd, p. 3)

Scots and Soda

by Dave Marston

"Say it with flowers." Nothing means more to a girl than a beautiful corsage for the spring formal, or a bouquet of roses for commencement. Nothing says "Happy Mother's Day" quite so memorably as a carefully-chosen potted plant, dropped lovingly down on Mom from the third floor of Memorial Hall. Whatever the occasion, spring is flower time the world over.

But saying it with flowers, if you're not careful, will run into more money than calling her long distance and telling her. This in itself isn't so bad—flowers are so much more expressive than a phone call—but when it's cheaper to tell her with an engagement ring than with flowers, this thing has gone too far. Apparently that's the situation here on campus—in the last two Sundays we've sung to four newly-engaged couples. Clearly, this trend must be stopped before it gets serious—perhaps a few practical pointers on buying flowers are in order.

First, be concise. Flowers come in all shapes, sizes and prices, but you can follow a few general rules. The little ones cost more than the big ones (except orchids), the ugly ones smell better than the pretty ones, and the exotic foreign ones supposedly say more than the American ones, although they die in about two hours whereas the American ones will go on saying it for weeks, if you keep them in the refrigerator. The point is don't go to either extreme—get something medium-sized, reasonably pretty, and preferably Made in the U.S.A. For general everyday use, I prefer the American Carnation, although I suspect I'm more fond of this than the girls I date are. But this isn't so bad either—if you can't get a date, you'll never go broke buying flowers.

Second, don't buy a flower that doesn't match your girl. This means you should consider her size, her hair color and the dress she plans to wear. Size is easy—don't buy a big flower for a little girl. Hair color is usually a little harder to pin down, but if you keep a daily record of your girl's hair color for a couple weeks prior to the date, you can generally predict what it will be with reasonable accuracy. Matching her dress is often most easily done by buying a corsage and then telling her to buy a dress to match, but whatever your method, make them match.

Third, shop around for flowers. Some places will bill you for taking a deep breath in their store, while others are more reasonable. If you run across any unreasonably high prices, just let Jack Kennedy know about it, and if the steel dispute was any indication, you can expect immediate federal intervention.

Finally, there's the old controversy between wristlets and corsages, which is best? Actually, they're both OK, but here's a good general rule: if you're not pretty accurate with that straight pin, buy a wristlet.

Cabbages & Kings

"Walrus," I said, "the sky has fallen in."

"Who do you think you are," he asked, "Chicken Little?"

"No, not really. But the sky has fallen in. So you will just have to write the column by yourself this time."

"Impossible." But he put a piece of paper in the typewriter just the same. After staring at the blank page for ten minutes, he began, "Are you sure that —"

"Yes," I answered, "The whole sky. You'll have to do the article."

"Well," he said, "maybe I'll look at back issues of the paper and see if I can get some inspiration." So he trotted into the little room which is the graveyard of all good Echoes.

After some minor catastrophes, like knocking all the 1939-1945 papers on the floor and cracking a tusk against the third shelf, he emerged triumphantly waving a yellowed paper. "You'll never guess what I found," he cried eagerly.

I began making guesses like the Titanic, a bowl of vegetable soup, seven hatpins, or a box of Lux flakes, but he interrupted me before I could finish. "No," he shouted, "I found a copy of the October 9, 1959 Echo!"

"Congratulations," I answered. "Why don't you go back and try for a March 7, 1952 one?"

"You have the least understanding of any person I've ever met," he said angrily. "In this paper there is an editorial about the New Dorm when it first became honorable. And since now all the girls' dorms will be honorable, don't you think it would be nice if we just quoted the whole editorial instead of writing a column?"

"If you insist," I said. He insisted.

EDITORIAL

"An honor dorm is in effect.

"A door is opening now, a door that might not have opened, but it is. The stepping through comes next, the stepping through from yesterday to the now of willingness, of responsibility, and to other waiting doors.

"For many of us this opening door is the realization of a hope sustained throughout our college years, a realization and a challenge to make it good for those who follow after.

"And for those who will follow, this doorway is a promise and a pattern for an adult response to college living. It is the advent of things yet to be seen.

"Other schools have made it work. Will we?"

MEMORIES OF A SUMMER PAST

by Michele Patterino

(Editor's note: Unlike most "travel" articles, the following account of a summer trip to Europe is a series of impressions of sounds, sights, and memories.)

Winding cobblestone streets, dark suede coats, dimly lighted Gasthauser, damp misty weather, quaint buildings, girls in slacks hitchhiking, guten Morgens, castles illuminated as if on fire, tiny paned windows, German pastry shops, bustling Frankfurt, and the gloomy, well-cleared Black Forest; all are favorite memories of fascinating Germany.

Bon jour, laughing lilting voices, long loaved bread, the bikinied beaches, Bastille Day in Paris: heavy traffic, fireworks and flags, Notre Dame on the Seine, outdoor art shows, eating on the Eiffel Tower, beautiful chateaus, the heights at Monte Carlo, dinky continental breakfasts and gambling casinos (but not for minors!).

Merry England and dreary weather, wild money system, unassuming Scotland Yard, "really, old chap," umbrellas ricochetting rain, ghosted Westminster Abbey, Downing Street being remodeled, the pubs, square Buckingham Palace, fountained Trafalgar Square, and the guarded Queen's Stables.

A reminiscence of Italy: "Belle, belle, belle," the Spanish Steps, time ravaged collisieum, streets, of Naples, valcano ruined Pompeii, mail lines and friends at the American Express, disappointment at Capri, the black Roman beach, bazaar bordered canals, cafes along the Via Veneta, and the "three coins in a fountain" fountain.

Memories of Europe. Concepts of countries: differences, experiences, new moods, pictures of the past, new knowledge, unforgettable impressions.

LETTER TO EDITOR, (Cont'd)

let the societies develop along their own lines and under their own initiative, they would probably become decidedly more effective. The intersociety council is a very good means for the societies to decide what is best for them, for only they really know how, and under what circumstances, they can operate best.

When the present society system is able to operate in a different situation, the possibilities of a third society will be more feasible. Furthermore, it is certain that present circumstances are choking the existing societies to death.

—Jim Stewart

BROWSING . . .

by Arlene Ford

Where is the spirit of adventure that prompted you to explore unknown paths as a child? There are still many stimulating adventures in store for you in what you might think an unlikely place — the library. If you are bored, tired of studying or feeling giddy at the approach of Spring try these prescriptions of the reading rooms.

The Movies by Richard Griffith and Arthur Mayer is a sixty-year story of the world of Hollywood. The best parts are the illustrations from actual movies—of Fatima's famous "belly-dance" at the Chicago World's Fair, of a rather cowlike Cleopatra in a 1918 film, and of a running pictorial of famous movie fights. Pictures depicting a 1922 version of Roman orgies definitely foreshadow the La Dolce Vita's of today. Comedy is represented by Buster Keaton's immortal pose as Venus de Milo!

Ever notice the intriguing titles of some books? Here is a sample: O'Higgins and Don Bernardo; How to Cash-In On Your Worries; Apes, Angels, and Victorians; and The Middle-Aged Man on the Flying Trapeze. This is only a beginning.

The World's Great Madonnas by Cynthia Maus is an anthology of pictures, poetry, music and stories centering in the life of Mary and her Son. It lifts us from our provincial conceptions of the Madonna and shows how each land attempts to understand the meaning of Christ by adapting him to its race, customs, and environment.

If you have seen "The Innocents" or read The Turn of the Screw, you will want to continue to be scared to death by The Ghostly Tales of Henry James. The mysterious Preacher with love and hate tatooed on his knuckles is the subject of Davis Grubb's thriller, The Night of the Hunter.

When feeling lonely or depressed, why not read Letters to My God by Dagobert Runes. These beautiful short prayers are reminiscent of the despairing Psalmist who places his trust in the God of Jacob.

Something of Value, Robert Ruark's powerful novel of the Mau-Mau, has lost none of its impact in these intervening years. Leo Tolstoy's War and Peace is always a good project. Each of us should be familiar with Philip Wylie's Generation of Vipers, even if we don't believe in his "momism" cult. Of course, if you are really feeling ambitious, you can tackle Clifton Fadiman's The Lifetime Reading Plan.

UNDER COVER, (Cont'd)

powerful one, perhaps because it touches on so many of the deep places in the human soul and shows the loneliness and isolation of man. "It isn't true," Steinbeck writes, "that there's a community of light, a bonfire of the world. Everyone carries his own, his lonely own." In this novel, then, we see a man, somewhat like ourselves, carrying a lonely light through the winter of his discontent.

SOUND AND SENSE

OPHELIA'S SONG

There is an animal in my mind. No one can touch it but me.
Soft and sweet, it purrs,
Hey nonny, tugging gently
my thoughts between its teeth.
There is an animal in my mind singing love songs
and no one knows, my live, but you, this grey kitten, this tiger with flowers in its ears
it dances and purrs, but oh, down by the soft sharp stream I can feel white teeth.

—Helen Anne Easterly

I WAS JUST THINKING . . .

Editor's note: The following, written by Patty Johnson, is used with permission of the Family Weekly magazine.

There are classes in poetry appreciation and music appreciation and art appreciation.

There ought to be classes in people appreciation.

We learn how to read poetry, how to interpret the meaning. We learn how to distinguish between a bassoon and an oboe by sight and sound. We learn to enjoy both Corot and Pollack.

How do we learn to interpret, distinguish, and enjoy human beings?

Some of us become wonderful critics of literature, concerts, and exhibits. We develop good taste in all the facets of a gourmet's world.

Few of us relish the human race, individually or collectively.

We find no special charm in a wondering child, an old man, a housewife. We see nothing beyond faces, and we have never learned to make the effort. No A's are given for understanding, no degrees for tolerance, and no plaudits for the attempt at either.

Surely it cannot be necessary to be an eccentric to cherish those things about others which are meaningful and more than the physical self. Man is a strange creation, as reflective and brilliantly turned as a diamond. Often he elicits scorn and merits it. Often he struggles and fails. Symbolically, he dies at our feet each day and we step across him in our indifference. Symbolically, he is interred each hour in the potter's field of our ennui.

We abandon ourselves to Shakespeare or Toscanini or Michelangelo, yet all these are surely reflections of man in his majesty and his expression of himself.

In loving poetry, great music, and the beauty of the brush, there is yet room in every heart to love mankind.

Honor Dorms For Women Begin Next Year

In the April 13 honor dorm referendum for resident women students, in which 92 percent of those eligible voted, 88 percent of the women voted to live under the honor dormitory system next year. This means that the system will be extended to Pearsons and Baldwin from the New Dormitory where it has been practiced for three years.

Each woman who lives under the honor code (and that means each one who lives in a dormitory) promises to take responsibility for observing and encouraging others to observe the standards which govern those living in the dormitories. If she commits a violation, she is obligated to report it to her House Council. If she observes a violation by another member of the dormitory, she is obligated to bring that to her attention. Then, if she feels it wise or necessary she should report the violation to the House Council herself.

The principles and rules of the honor dormitory system were distributed to all resident women before the vote. These rules are substantially fewer than the previous ones of Pearsons and Baldwin. According to the Honor Dormitory Council, the need for many rules is reduced when each resident is aware of personal responsibility. New Dormitory house chairman, Nona Roll, commented, "Many rules which seemed petty and bothersome are no longer necessary. The honor code emphasizes the principles which underlie the rules we do have, and the women are expected to take responsibility for keeping them."

Rosalind Brown, president of the Women's Student Government Association for next year, gave reasons why she is glad of the extension of the plan. "It is in accord with our desire as students to be recognized as responsible for our own conduct," she said, "and it works toward the aim of the college to establish individual maturity. We hope that its use in all the dorms will encourage a feeling of unity, and concern for others, among the women."

Dean Massey expressed the feeling that Maryville College women should live under an Honor System because it is the most effective way

(Cont'd, p. 6)

Always Look Your Best

See us for all your Dry Cleaning Needs

MARYVILLE Cleaners

CONTACT YOUR DORMITORY AGENT

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock
of Quality Products Including
a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Washington Avenue

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

– BANKING SERVICES –

*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
*CHECK ACCOUNTS
*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
*TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

FOR THE SPRING FORMAL –

We feature the finest in cut flowers and corsages.

Sure to please that special someone.

See CARL McDONALD on Campus

HORNE'S FLORIST

215 W. Broadway 982-2690

THUMBS UP!

By John Mitchell

The Pither, the Florida Flash, Plato, Doughboy, Aris (-totle), and Bobbie are doing quite a good job of it. They are, respectively and in order of their positions, Bob Johnston, Todd Owers, Jeff Grote, George Flack, Dave Marston, and Bob Paul; and the job and the it without the antecedent is tennis. Bob got his by-line because of some sort of biological skill involving frogs. Todd is from Florida, and quite flash, at that, if you watch him play. Dave and Todd got their particular titles from their philosophizing during the games. George's name is derived from his capitalistic money-making activities, which include a variety of jobs. Bob's nickname is a little more obvious but has a peculiar origin. The Peruvian standout at Oglethorpe, in the process of losing the game and a portion of his pride, kept yelling at his doubles partner, "Bobbie! Bobbie! etc."; and so the team, in honor of the occasion, tagged Bob with the exclamation.

Not long ago this unusual group broke the University of Chattanooga's 3½ — year, 31 match winning streak with a humiliating score of 7-2. Ironically, it was the first time in the series of wins that the Chattanooga team hadn't used girl players; apparently they figured that they could beat us without them. At any rate, at least one of our players was about to have a conniption because he thought he was going to have to play a girl — was it gentlemanship or shyness? Two years ago Jeff was the victim of an amusing article in Time Magazine after having been beat by one of the Chattanooga girls.

Coach Kardatzke wore an orange, white, and brown stripped sweater during the Chattanooga match, and the boys put the blame on him for the loss with Wesleyan because he didn't wear it then. One of the players said that Kardatzke has gotten mad only once, and that was when Jeff blew the car horn in the middle of Johnson City. Of course Jeff had been "asking for it" because of his persevering attempts to introduce the coach to the waitresses at various stops. Maybe that's why my source said some of the guys kidded Jeff about leaving his Conscience on Campus during road trips, the advice of a new book in the bookstore.

The "stall-outs" mentioned in the second paragraph of Todd's article refer to Mr. Layman's station wagon. The team has given their coach 50 stall-outs before they throw him in the shower. He has about 37 so far.

Coach Baird should be named Coach of the Year by some appropriate organization. Having heard for three days a scratching inside the drain pipe outside the door of the dressing room, he took off the lower section of the drain after the ball game Saturday to investigate. Out popped a stunned starling. He had entered the pipe three stories above and eventually came to rest at the bottom. Who says coaches are merciless!

Track Meet Close

In a close contest all the way, Milligan finally defeated the Maryville team 68-63. The Scottie track and field men came up with the following results: R. McClanahan first in the 100-yard dash, first in the 220-dash; Owenby second in the 100-dash, third in the shot put, third in the discus, first in the javelin, third in the broad jump, second in the high jump; Cost first in the 440-dash, first in the 880-run; Clark third in the 440-dash; Livingston second in the mile run, first in the two-mile run; Woodby third in the two-mile run; DuRan third in the 220-low hurdles; Malloy second in the 120-high hurdles, tie for first in the pole vault, second in the broad jump; Randall second in the shot put, first in the discus; Cost, Schember, Malloy, and Clark first in the mile relay.

Kirk Copeland has been lost for the rest of the season with a knee injury, and Jim Baxter hurt his elbow in the pole vault event with Milligan.

Bert Randall threw the discus about four feet farther than any of his previous attempts and came in first. An unusual event was that of the 220-low hurdles. Jim Baxter and John DuRan entered the race, neither having trained for it. Naturally one of them would get a third, and DuRan made the place.

Milligan Wins

The Milligan baseball team captured their share of the triple-header with the Maryville teams last Saturday afternoon with an 8-3 win. The Buffaloes trampled Dave Meneely, the Scot starter, for four runs in the first inning before Dave West relieved him. These runs were scored on four walks and two hits.

The Scots scored one in the first. Milligan picked up another in the third, and the Maryville squad added two more in the fifth to make the score 5-3. But Milligan came up with three more in the sixth to put the game on ice.

Dave West did a fine job in relief, going 8-2|3 innings after only two days rest from a previous game. He struck out twelve.

The Scots were hurt by several

(Cont'd, p. 5)

Photos by Don Stupak

ATHLETE OF THE MONTH

Ability and versatility are the trademarks of this month's Athlete of the Month, Joe Malloy. The fact that Joe, a freshman and an ex-marine, participates in four track and field events accounts for the 31.5 points he has accumulated in three meets. Joe pointed out that Roland McClanahan, Bill Owenby, and Dave Cost also entered three to four events per meet in order to counter the lack of depth created by the relatively small number of men on the team.

If one had followed, or, more appropiately, run after, Joe during the meet last Saturday with Milligan, he would have witnessed an astonishing performance. His first event was the high hurdles, and he came in a close second, being the only one of the three runners that did not knock over a single hurdle. The pole vault event was a little calmer for Joe. He "passed" until the jump seemed challenging, and the outcome was a tie for first place. Then he hurried over to the track for the mile relay. The second runner of the team, his opponent had over a ten-yard lead on him when he started, but by the time he had completed his 440-yard section of the journey he had passed the Milligan runner and had actually gained ten yards on him, undoubtedly a primary reason for Maryville's win in that event.

As the coach vocally hurried him over to the broad jump, Joe answered, trying to catch his breath, "Can I rest a minute?" Incidentally, he took second in that event.

No doubt, Joe Malloy does have ability and versatility, and the Echo salutes him for his contribution to Maryville College sports.

PASSING SHOTS

by Todd Owers

This year's tennis team is having quite a year for itself, and all indications point to one of the most successful seasons the sport has enjoyed. As the paper goes to press, the season is three-quarters complete with the Highlanders posting a fine 8-4 record thus far over the course.

At 11 o'clock on a rainy Thursday morning six Maryville College netmen and their coach piled into Mr. Layman's Ford station wagon and set sail on the first leg of their three-day tennis trip—destination, Milligan College. Four hours, 135 miles, and 15 stall-outs later they arrived to the steady sound of the rain pounding on the roof, and the official word was, "Nice weather for ducks, but no tennis today. Doubleheader on Saturday." Friday was a bit nicer; for varieties' sake, snow flurries fell throughout the match instead of rain. General team consensus was a chattering, "This is unbelievable"; but nonetheless, coach Lauren Kardatzke's racketeers came through that afternoon with a 7-2 victory over East Tennessee State College.

Saturday morning dawned sunny and clear, but Milligan outstroked the Scots, 5-4, and did so the hard way—pulling a crucial number two doubles match out of the fire and winning it in three sets. Fortified with hamburgers and chocolate malts, the enraged Maryvillities hit the road for Emory and Henry and, late that afternoon, pulled off a resounding 6-3 victory over the Wasps, although it proved costly; it was generally agreed that this match was bad news indeed, since Bob Johnston, number one netter for the Scots, slipped on some loose gravel while playing doubles and sprained his ankle badly.

Tennessee Wesleyan came next on Monday afternoon, but their powerhouse was just not to be denied as they toppled the Highlanders 8-1.

U. of C. Upset

Tuesday afternoon the University of Chattanooga came to Maryville sporting a 31-match winning streak until the on-again, off-again Scots upset the apple cart 7-2; and the applause in chapel on Wednesday morning rang loud and long, bringing to mind the Tom Morris chapel ovation of two years ago

(Cont'd, p. 5)

GOOD Music
"Y" PROGRAMS
Sunday—9:30 P.M.
CONCERT HALL
Daily
12:30—1:30
Good Listening
WGAP
Dial 1400

The "Y" Store Proudly serves
MAYFIELD'S
Ice Cream
and Milk
Smoother, Richer, better Tasting
Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

Parks-Belk
Home of Better Values
MARYVILLE'S FINEST
Shop In Our Sportswear Department

Socks and Sneakers

by Jeanne Price

White tennis shoes are leaping, jumping, running and walking as spring sports keep WAA gals busy. In the student center, ping pong, led by Nancy Kinsman, makes a hotly contended tournament since some real ping pong pros like Anna Baker, Jan Dearcopp, Judy Clemons and Sandy Harris attempt to win. At the same time a mixed doubles ping pong tournament is going on which also provides competition.

Frances Frost reports many Co-ed's of MC are interested in the tennis courts which will be the scene of many individual tennis matches during the coming two weeks. If a tennis match is scheduled to be played WAA girls have preference to the courts, unless of course, our MC Tennis Team is either practicing or playing a set of matches.

As the Echo goes to press the softball teams are in full swing. Theta won the first game of the season with a score of 18-4, but the Chi Beta's came back with a new team and defeated Theta 12-2. Actually there are three Theta teams to two Chi Beta teams. Much fun can be enjoyed on the softball field as the girls make homers, strike out and steal bases.

And as spring has sprung so has the interest in Women's Athletics. Perhaps M-Club may even get a few new members to replace Lois Lockett, and Mary Biggs who will both be graduating. The M-Clubers are planning a picnic in the woods, and are anticipating their spring retreat to the mountains with much enthusiasm already. That's it for now fans. Keep the sneaks polished and the figures in shape!

MILLIGAN WINS, (Cont'd)

fielding lapses and their inability to get hits at the opportune times. Dale Stearner made one of the best plays of the day when he grabbed a high bouncer in front of the plate and threw the runner out. An odd play occurred in the third when a Milligan player drove a long fly to left-center. The ball took one bounce and stuck in the top of the fence. The batter was given a triple.

PASSING SHOTS, (Cont'd)

the morning after he had rippled the cords to the tune of 57 points and a new school basketball scoring record against the same team.

L.M.U. is having a rough year and was not particularly strong as Maryville beat them twice in three days, both times by the same score, 7-2. Charlie Vaughn's comment of, "Gosh, we couldn't hardly lose this," as he stood watching the action pretty well summed up the entire feeling of the mismatch.

Last Saturday afternoon Milligan came to town, and the Highlanders were out for revenge, but had to be satisfied with less, as again Milligan's better balanced team proved the difference, 5-4.

Coming Events

Two matches with Carson-Newman are on the agenda of coming events, plus a possible trip to the T.I.A.C. tournament in Sewannee on May 3rd and 4th. The Carson-Newman matches are of particular importance and significance since no season is complete without a victory or two over our arch-rivals from the north.

Two MC Delegates At SNEA Convention

Two Maryville College students are in Clarksville, Tennessee, today representing the college at the annual Student National Education Association Convention. Sandra Stewart and Beverly Wells, sophomore education majors, were selected as Maryville College delegates for the two-day affair which started Friday.

The Convention, which will have over 1200 delegates from Tennessee colleges and universities attending, is being conducted on the campus of Austin Peay College at Clarksville.

The Convention will feature several speakers, with a general meeting planned, after which the delegates will divide into smaller groups for discussion meetings. Elections of officers is also on the agenda.

Art is a jealous thing; it requires the whole and entire man.

—Michelangelo

Dance Recital To Be Held May 4

The Modern, Social, and Folk Dance classes, under the direction of Miss Leslie and Mrs. Largen, are planning to give a special dance recital May 4, at 6:45 in the theater.

The Folk dancers, dressed in gay costumes and promising to be in happy spirits, will include dances, such as "Stepping Out," a soft shoe step; a double dance, "Quadril;" the Drinlol Polka; and "Cumberbond Square Eight."

The modern dance performance will be a silent one, using actions made by different parts of the body, and an interpretation to Mantovani's "Crazy Violins."

Terry Brusstar and Ginny West will be an added attraction at the recital as they present a creative dance.

A Tango, "Ecstasy;" a Rumba, "Havana Is Calling Me;" and a Cha Cha, "By Heck Cha Cha;" will be performed by the social dance class.

Realistic settings with special lighting operated by Jim Rugh, along with the gaiety and enthusiasm of the dancers will make this May Recital complete.

Community Observes National College Day

The observance of tomorrow, April 29, as National College Day is a nation-wide effort to focus attention on the role of private, church-supported colleges. The Maryville College staff, faculty, and students will sponsor special services among the member-churches of Union Presbytery.

Mr. Duncan C. Bennett, director of information services for the college, has assigned representatives from the campus to participate in community worship services. The delegates will discuss the role of Maryville College as a church-related educational institution.

In the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel on the campus at seven o'clock that evening, the Reverend Ewell J. Regin will close the day's activities. The guest speaker at this Vesper service, Reverend Reagin is the Westminster Foundation Pastor at the University of Tennessee.

Circle K International Receives GW Medal

Circle K International, a chapter of which is serving this campus, has received the George Washington Honor Medal for its citizenship program on college campuses throughout the nation. This is the second consecutive year that the Freedoms Foundation has honored the Circle K International.

A Freedoms Foundation enjoys the same prestige and significance in the community-service field that the "Oscar" does in the motion-picture industry and the "Emmy" in the television world.

Although Circle K International is a relatively new organization—now in its seventh year, its members already number more than 1,500 on 385 campuses in the United States and Canada. It is the fastest-growing service organization on college campuses. Seventy-five new clubs were chartered during 1961.

Bo Ha

CONTEMPORARY CARDS

Sold at —

MARYVILLE COLLEGE

BALL OFFICE SUPPLY

PROFFITT'S

MEDICAL ARTS PHARMACY

Made On Campus By

Durham

Harmon

Murchison

Questions? See Them!

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

YOU ALWAYS LOOK YOUR BEST WITH...

Professional Beauty Care

Look Lovlier This Spring With Michael's

Exclusive COLD WAVE

Our Complete Price

Newest Spring Styles

$8.50 Complete

Michael's

Three Convenient Locations

* College Hill Salon – 27 Stanley Avenue
* Michael's Budget Salon – 111 E. Broadway
* Midland Salon – Ride the Bus Free

It's Proffitt's for McGregor

Lengthen Your Leisure with STRIPES by McGREGOR

In the thick and thin of stripes! These classic and streamlined stripers by McGregor are good form for casual living. Cool, rich colors, a trim, natural cut and a light cotton fabric that will wash and wear. These shirts have all that. They resist wrinkles, machine wash, need only a flick of the iron.

765 STRIPOLA CONFERENCE DOWN
(in a variety of stripes)

Proffitt's

$4.00

EMILIO WILLEMS, ANTHROPOLOGIST, TO DISCUSS LATIN AMERICA MAY 1

The sixth and final lecturer in the 1961-1962 Lecture Series will be Emilio Willems, professor of anthropology at Vanderbilt University, on the subject "Changing Latin America." Dr. Willem's lecture will be presented on Tuesday evening, May 1, at eight o'clock in the Fine Arts Center Music Hall. He will discuss the population explosion, industrialization and urbanization, and the changing class structure.

Available for lectures

Dr. Willems comes to Maryville College under the auspices of the American Anthropological Association through a grant from the National Science Foundation. Under the program Dr. Willems will be on the campus from Monday evening, April 30, through Wednesday afternoon, May 2, and will be available for interviews and class lectures on such subjects as "Latin American Social Structure," "Economic Life of Primitive Peoples," "Primitive Law and Political Organization," and "Anthropology and International Relations." Professor Willems' field of specialization is social anthropology in the Latin American area, with particular emphasis on Brazil.

At Vanderbuilt since '49

He received his doctorate from the University of Berlin in 1930. After further study at the University of Sao Paulo in Brazil, he served on the faculty of that institution between 1937 and 1949. He has been Professor of Anthropology at Vanderbilt University since 1949. In addition he has served as visiting professor at Michigan State College, University of Michigan, University of California at Berkeley, the University of Cologne, and the University of Santiago in Chile.

Author of twelve books

Dr. Willems has studied minority groups and mestizo cultures in Brazil on numerous field trips. He has received grants from the Guggenheim Foundation; the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization; the Social Science Research Council; the Rockefeller Foundation; and under the Fulbright Act. His writings include some twelve books, mostly in Portuguese, several pamphlets and some seventy articles in various scholarly journals.

Y's Feature Movie To Boost Hope Fund

"Imitation of Life," a film starring Lana Turner, John Gavin, and Sandra Dee, will be presented in the College Theater, tonight at 7:30 p.m. The movie, based on the bestselling novel by Fannie Hurst, is the story of a woman whose responsibility as a mother is clouded by her ambition to be a great actress.

The proceeds from the film, which is sponsored by the YMCA and YWCA, will be given to the Fred Hope Fund.

GRILL REOPENS

The College Hill Grill has recently reopened under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Dixon. The Grill opens at 7:00 a.m. and stays open in the evening as long as there are customers.

Homemade cakes and pies are featured on the menu as is the "poor boy" sandwich, a variation of the famous submarine. Short orders and family style meals are served, and the dining room is available for parties and banquets.

Students are always welcome at the Grill to study or play cards. "We want you to make yourselves at home," Mrs. Dixon told the Echo.

Old age isn't so bad when you consider the alternative.

—Maurice Chevalier

IN EVERY PRICE RANGE

Perfect For The Spring Formal

See Our Campus Agents

MARGUERITTE GILLEY BRUCE SEMPLE

For Lovely Flowers from

Hartmans Flowers

982-7500 333 E. Broadway

rainbow's end

PRESENTED BY
ALPHA SIGMA and THETA EPSILON
MAY 5, 1962
GREEN MEADOWS COUNTRY CLUB

HONOR DORM, (Cont'd)

to develop a sense of personal integrity, to encourage individual and group responsibility, and to create an atmosphere of trust.

"A student living under the honor code," she said, "will recognize and respect the rights of others; she will be honest in keeping her own records as well as in all her relationships with other people. In addition she will lend her active support to help others do the same."

"We believe in the integrity of the individual," Miss Massey said, "and even though no system can be expected to work one hundred percent. We feel that the advantages of increased personal responsibility and mutual trust are well worth the effort."

Miss Massey mentioned that historically honor systems originated and developed most strength in the men's colleges or women's colleges rather than in coeducational institutions. "It is our hope," she said, "that the men at Maryville College as well as the women will be interested in seeing this system develop and succeed, and we are eager to have their interest and support."

"The new plan also gives a different emphasis to the role of the housemother," she said, "freeing her from some of the routine detail, and giving her greater opportunity to strengthen her role as friend and counselor to each of the women in her dormitory."

NSA Approved By Student Body

The student body has expressed its desire to remain a member of NSA during the next school year. Approximately 66 percent of the students voted on April 17th, 82 percent of these voting in favor of continuing membership. In order that plans can be made for a successful coming school year, ideas expressed on the opinion board, taken to NSA committee meeting, or given to committee members, are welcome.

In August of this year, the fifteenth annual National Student Congress will be held at Ohio State University. Included in the plans for the Congress are two day seminars, discussing such topics as Southern civil rights, campus communications, political parties on campus, and international student exchange and travel.

Planning has also begun for a second regional conference to be held for the Tennessee-Kentucky area on May 4th and 5th. The main objectives of this are to prepare for the National Congress and to plan regional and local programs for the next year. Maryville sent two delegates to the first regional conference; any student interested in representing MC at this conference should contact a committee member.

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

Office Supplies? We got 'em
Office Equipment? like wise
Office machines? our middle name.
Service? on all we sell (with a smile)
Delivery? Fastest and best.
Parking? Free, 10 feet from the door.

WHITE OFFICE MACHINES

" WON'T WRITE – CALL WHITE"

Court St. 983-4762

FREE FREE FREE

TRANSPORTATION

on all

White Star Line Buses

From ELLIS STREET To
MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER
AND Return

MARYVILLE-KNOXVILLE WEEKDAY BUS SCHEDULE

O – OLD HIGHWAY
N – NEW HIGHWAY

Lv. Maryville	Lv. Knoxville
O– 5:30 A.M.	O– 6:30 A.M.
N– 6:00	N– 7:00
O– 6:30	O– 7:50
O– 7:00	N– 8:00
N– 7:00	O– 8:30
O– 7:30	N– 9:00
N– 7:45*	O– 9:30
O– 8:00	N–10:00
N– 8:00	O–10:30
O– 8:30	N–11:00
N– 9:00	O–11:30
O– 9:30	N–12:00 Noon
N–10:00	O–12:30 P.M.
O–10:30	N– 1:00
N–11:00	O– 1:30
O–11:30	N– 2:00
N–12:00 Noon	O– 2:30
O–12:30 P.M.	N– 3:00
N– 1:00	O– 3:30
O– 1:30	O– 4:00
N– 2:00	N– 4:00
O– 2:30	O– 4:30
O– 3:00	O– 5:00
N– 3:00	N– 5:00
O– 3:30	O– 5:30
N– 4:00	O– 6:00
O– 4:30	N– 6:00
O– 5:00	O– 7:00
N– 5:00	N–11:15
O– 6:00	*Does not operate on Saturday
N– 8:00
O–10:00 via N.P.

This Ad and Transportation Paid for by
Merchants of
MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

The Highland Echo

Maryville College

Vol. 47 | Maryville, Tennessee, May 12, 1962 | No. 15

LIBRARY DISPLAYS MEMORIAL BOOKS GIVEN BY STAFF, ALUMNI, FRIENDS

During the closing weeks of school, the library will feature a display of memorial books recently given by Maryville College staff members, alumni, and friends. These books form a sizable addition to the library in many fields such as history, natural science, literature, biography, and travel.

The following books will be on display in the reading room: in memory of Mrs. George Brown: Postma, Plant Marvels in Miniature; in memory of Mrs. Elizabeth Hall and Mr. Howard Hall: The National Geographic Society, America's Wonderlands, Maxwell, Ring of Bright Water; in memory of Mr. J. T. Lightfoot, father of Miss Viola Lightfoot: McCarthy, The Stones of Florence, Betjeman, An American's Guide to English Parish Churches.

Presented in memory of Mr. C. E. Massey, father of Miss Frances Massey is Collins, The American Year; in memory of Dr. R. E. McClure, father of Mrs. John Cummings: Carpenter, Everyday Life in Ancient Times; in memory of Dr. Horace E. Orr and Dr. Verton M. Queener: Piggott, The Dawn of Civilization.

Another group of books has been given in memory of James Vernon Gamble. These books are Dooley, The Edge of Tomorrow; Hoffman and Vickery, William Faulkner; Slatoff, Quest for Failure; Waggoner, William Faulkner.

During commencement week, the library will have displays representing several fields of study including biology and nuclear physics. The Elizabeth Gowdy Baker art gallery will be open for the benefit of visitors as will the museum. The Bayeaux tapestry will continue to be shown. The library welcomes alumn and the families and friends of students to visit and enjoy these displays.

College To Host Five Summer Conferences

Five church groups will hold their summer conferences on the Maryville College campus. These groups plan to use the dormitories, the swimming pool and the dining hall. Meetings will be held in the Fine Arts Center and the chapel.

The scheduled conferences are Synod Leadership School, June 10-16; Synod-Synodical. June 19 21; United Presbyterian Youth Fellowship, June 25-30; ASH-RAM, July 7-14; Regional Presbyterian Leadership Conference, July 31-August 9.

Five Member Class Presents Y Program

Five members of the religious drama class will perform, under the direction of Miss Kathleen Craven, a one-act play as the "Y" program for Sunday, May 13. Immediately after the Vesper service, Connie Bondurant, Carol Greenwood, Caroline McCaskill, Lew Pelkey and Bob Reichenbach will present "The Hour of Truth" by Percival Wilde.

Given in connection with the college Playhouse Workshop, this program is also the culmination of the class's work this semester. It is a class project, requiring the practical application of techniques learned in the course. The students have handled the casting of characters themselves, and they have made their own costumes and props.

The play is an "exploration" drama: it stimulates the audience to think about the church's role in a troubled world. Because of its tendency to provoke thought and group-wide discussion, this type of religious drama is appropriate for both adult and youth programs within the church.

Playhouse Prepares For "Candida," "Noah"

WHERE'S JAMES? Rehearsing a scene in Shaw's Candida are (left to right) Roger Thompson, David Styles, Cecelia Bridges, and Conni Williams. They will perform during the Commencement weekend.

The Theatre is a beehive of activity as the Morell's late Victorian living room makes way for Noah's Ark in preparation for the two graduation plays — Candida, by George Bernard Shaw, on May 25 and 28 and Noah, by Andre Obey on May 29.

Cecelia Bridges has lead

In Candida, the Reverend George Morell, a popular Anglican clergyman and a Socialist, is played by George Randels. Candida Morell, his wife, is played by Cecelia Bridges, and Marchbanks, a rebellious, aristocratic eighteen year old poet, by Tom Stanley. Other characters include Conni Williams as Proserpine Garnett, Roger Thompson as Lexie Mill, and Dave Styles as Mr. Burgess, Candida's father.

Setting is Victorian

The setting is the living room of the Morell home in London, which has dark red Damask walls. A large visable section of entrance hall plays an important part in the set, the back wall of which is dominated by a large window that looks out over a park. The personnel will wear costumes of the Victorian period.

Shaw's Candida sparkles with amusing dialogue, in contrast to Obey's Noah, which is a religious Fantasy. Tickets for both shows go on sale at 1 p.m. on Monday, May 21. The shows are directed by Kathleen Craven, with E. Parker Dupler as Technical Director.

Crews are working

The crews for Candida are as follows: Stage Manager — Marcia Sturm; Construction — Paul Elliott, head, Connie Bondurant, Lew Pelkey, Bob Reichenbach, Conni Williams, Hall Blankenship, Tom Phelps, Lynn Webbe, Robert Kidd; Painting — Merelee Knott, head, Jean Cross, Arlette Roselli, Carol Greenwood, Mary Gay Boettcher, Alice Hamilton, Carolyn Foust; Properties — Mary Beth Judkins, head, Cynthia Blanchard; Lighting — Jim Rugh, head, Libby Lee, Diane Eneboe; Costumes — Carolyn McCaskill; Tickets — Jean Kelleher, head, Elaine Coleman, Eileen Han; and Publicity — Janet Purcilla.

HORST RECEIVES GRANT RENEWAL

The Rev. A. Thomas Horst, assistant professor of philosophy and religion, has been awarded a Presbyterian graduate fellowship for the academic year 1962-63. He will continue his studies for the doctoral degree at Emory University, Atlanta, Ga. His fellowship is a renewal of a previous award.

The announcement, from the United Presbyterian Church U.S.A., names Mr. Horst as recipient of one of only twenty-seven awards from among ninety-nine applicants. Of the awards, seventeen were renewals and ten were first awards.

The awards are made to communicant members of the United Presbyterian Church who are working toward the doctorate in preparation for seminary and college teaching, campus ministry, staff work for the church's boards and agencies and other specialized ministries.

Y's Unite Programs

Enthusiasm ran high for a unified Y program at the Y Retreat at Laurel Lake two weeks ago.

Old and new executive officers of the YMCA and YWCA, old and new cabinet members, Nu Gamma Leaders, Ten Key Men, Dr. Campbell, Dean Bushing, cooks and others interested in the Y program discussed pros and cons of combined functioning of the YMCA and YWCA.

As the situation now stands, YW President Lois Ann Jones and YM President Bob McGruther plan to work closely together in all phases of the Y program. There are two sets of executive officers, YM and YW, but the commissions of the Y, such as community service, fellowship, and campus ministry, will function just as if the YM and YW were one organization. All meetings of the association will be joint.

The presidents have called the first association meeting May 20 after Vespers.

SHERIDAN STRING QUARTET TO PERFORM HERE MAY 15

The Sheridan String Quartet of the Northwestern University School of Music will play a concert in the Music Hall of the Maryville College Fine Arts Center May 15 at 8:15 p.m. Admission will be $1.00 for students, $1.50 for others. Ticket sales are limited to 253, the seating capacity of the Music Hall.

Composed of Faculty Members

The quartet is composed of faculty members of the Northwestern University School of Music, Evanston, Ill. Angel Reyes, first violinist, is an internationally known concert violinist who has played concerts in Europe and the United States. He is a native of Cuba and was educated in France at the Paris Conservatory. Since 1955 he has been head of the Stringed Instruments Department of the School of Music at Northwestern.

Eduardo Fiorelli, second violinist, is a graduate of the Eastman School of Music and now heads the preparatory String Department at Northwestern. Violist is Harold Klatz, now teaching viola at Northwestern after a full background in radio and television orchestral playing. Dudley Powers, 'cellist, was formerly with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and now teaches 'cello and chamber music at Northwestern. He is conductor of the Greater Chicago Youth Orchestra.

The program includes Beethoven's "Quartet in C Minor," Opus 18, No. 4; Two Tchaikovsky numbers, a Frank Bridge arrangement of "The Londonderry Air," Percy Grainger's "Molly on the Shore," and four Ravel pieces.

Nationally Acclaimed

Music students and those interested in chamber music from the Maryville, Knoxville, and Oak Ridge area have been especially urged to attend this special concert. These musicians have won critical acclaim across the country for their performances.

The quartet has achieved a rare blend of ensemble virtuosity, artistry, and scholarly interpretation. It has met with success on the concert stage, in television, and with the Voice of America for which it recorded a series of programs of contemporary Latin and North American music.

Vesper Programs: Requiem Tomorrow, J. Stewart May 27

The College Choir will render the Mass of the Requiem by Gabriel-Urbain Fauré tomorrow evening at seven o'clock in the chapel. This special program will replace the regular Vesper service. Soloists will be Virginia Pratt, soprano. and Paul Evans, bass.

This seven-part requiem is from the French Roman Catholic Liturgy. Fauré is a late nineteenth-century composer and a pupil of Saint-Saens. He was a former director of the Paris Conservatory and a teacher of Ravel and Boulanger. Although Fauré is best best known in this country for his sacred music, he wrote in all the major musical forms.

Speaking at the last Vesper service of the year on May 27 will be Mr. James C. Stewart. President of the United Presbyterian Men. He is the father of Sue and Jim Stewart senior and sophomore students here

Mr. Stewart is an elder in the Hanover Presbyterian Church in Wilmington, Delaware. He is the manager of the office-building division of the DuPont Company.

Sec. of State Rusk To Visit U-T May 17

Secretary of State, Dean Rusk, will speak at an annual symposium at the University of Tennessee May 17, at 8:15 p.m. Four lectures on the topic "Government and World Crisis" are being held in observance of the twentieth anniversary of the university's department of political science.

Mr. Rusk, before being Secretary of State, held five state department posts, including Deputy Under-Secretary of State in 1949, and Assistant Secretary of Far Eastern Affairs in 1959. From 1952 until he took his present post as Secretary of State, Mr. Rusk was president of the Rockefeller Foundation.

The other speakers include Dr. Charles S. Hyneman, who will speak May 8; Roberto M. Heurtematte, May 10; and de Lesseps S. Morrison, May 10.

Living Idealism

Since Christ established his Church two-thousand years ago, those who would follow his teaching have found it necessary to practice self-sacrifice. Most of us are familiar with Paul of Tarsus, Simon Peter, and Stephen, the first Christian martyr. Except for the Saints of the Roman Catholic Church, the majority of Christian idealists we hear about today lived in the far-removed past.

A week ago a junior at Maryville College left school in protest to administrative action which seriously affected one of his friends. By leaving now, just a few weeks before the end of the term, he forfeited not only the cost of one semester at college, but also all the academic work he had done since January.

Was he foolish to take such expensive action? Some may think so; evidently he does not. Perhaps he takes this business of Christianity more seriously than our realistic age advocates. Nevertheless, Christianity is an idealistic philosophy of life. Those who would sincerely profess this way of life must act in accordance with the beliefs they declare. By protesting on his friend's behalf this student was attempting to live the Christian ideal of brotherly love. We must commend him for his courage.

P. A. C.

Expansion: Urgent

Two years ago the Directors of this college announced their plans for a six-million-dollar development program to extend over a period of ten years. One of the three major objectives is a two-million dollar appropriation of funds for improvement and expansion of the physical plant, including buildings and other facilities. The first area selected for attention is the science division: the renovation of Fayerweather Science Hall and the construction of a new building are planned.

The estimated cost for completing both of these projects is about $900,000. So far we have received $146,050 in grants and endowments. Twenty-five thousand of this amount, however, is a conditional grant. To keep it we must raise the rest of the $235,000 needed to work on Fayerweather Hall by July 1, 1963. Prospects for obtaining this sum seem favorable. But Dr. Copeland has stated that it would be most desirable to acquire almost all of the $900,000 by next summer. For it will be necessary to start construction on the new building before the remodeling of the present facilities can begin.

This expansion program is a necessary move for Maryville College. In order to meet the rising standards of higher education and to maintain our present rating among the church-affiliated institutions of our size and location, we must evaluate, improve, and ultimately expand. Maryville must continue to attract superior students and faculty members. And the way to do so is to keep up with the demands of our society. Today the scientists literally control the destiny of the world; it is the task of the modern college to train our leaders, including the scientist.

The administration assumes the responsibility of financing our expansion program. But students and faculty must be intelligently aware of the essential role expansion has in determining the future of Maryville College.

P. A. C.

ABOUT "BO-HA"

by Mary Gay Boettcher

Nestled in between those excessively bright cards in the long type card section at the Bookstore is a new, restful black and white area. There are, to date, three themes respresented. One says "I miss you," etc., one deals with friendship and the third with children. Now, ordinarily, this would be little cause for news, but these are special contemporary cards . . . they're homemade by students of Maryville college, sort of a new creative student help job.

That is, all but one are at Maryville. He was a freshman student here first semester and is now living in Knoxville. Evidence of him, it is said, can be found in the oldest locations of Carnegie, and all that is found are the scribbled initials, "BoHa." He the artist together with Wayne Durham and Rich Murcheson comprise BoHa industries. They have been in business for about 3 months and are now represented in three college bookstores, as well as several local Maryville stores.

The idea came from a wedding announcement. When Wayne and his wife got married it was near Christmas and they didn't want anything traditional so he designed a "Christmasey, New Yearsey, and Contemporary type announcement." From there it occurred to him and Rich that a very small card business might be fun and, maybe, profitable. They discussed it thoroughly and Rich thought that the foreign market would definitely be the best idea ("You know, they got senses of humor too"), but Wayne thought it would be best to stick to the United States for a while.

At present BoHa industries has made a profit of eighty cents. But they are not discouraged, for they feel that they really can't expect much progress for quite a while.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

MARYVILLE COLLEGE

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Member of University Press Service. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester; $1.75 per year.

Beth Reichardt, Editor

Pat Crossley, Editor this Issue

Lynn Herring, Assistant — Pat Crossley, News

Pat Baker, Features

John Mitchell, Jeanne Price, Sports — Anitra Bard, Exchange

Mike Garrett, Business Manager

Paul Biggers, Bus. Mgr. this Issue

Phyllis Delotus, Assistant — Jim Stewart, Circulation

Dr. Carolyn Blair, Mr. Frank Layman, Faculty Advisors

Contributors: Connie Bengle, Mary Gay Boettcher, Rosalind Brown, Charlotte Cook, Margaret Doster, Ann Harrison, Phil Jerome, Jean Kelleher, Barbara McCarter, Jim Moore, Todd Owens, Midge Slater, Chuck Spencer, Phyllis Weaver.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

"There have been complaints. Think of the impressions outsiders receive." And so echoes the old refrain.

For a moment, I would like to speak not only of the impressions that others have of us, but of the impressions that we, as Maryville College students, have of ourselves.

Specifically, I am speaking of "parlor conduct" and "campus courting"—subjects which everyone seems to feel strongly about, but which seem to be reserved for dormitory jam sessions and conferences in the dean's office. While these are good in themselves, I think that since this is a campus-wide problem, it should be considered by the campus as a whole.

It is felt that there has been a great deal of embarrassment caused by unseemly front-porch-and-parlor conduct. This is a widespread opinion—and it rests on a solid basis. It is embarrassing for people to have to weave their way through couples in the lobbies of the women's dormitories, and it does create an unfavorable impression on visitors. But before this opinion has the justification of becoming an accusation against the students, I think that it is only fair to consider the reasons behind such conduct.

First: Most of us have grown up believing that an open expression of sincere emotion is normal and wholesome. And while everyone agrees with Dr. Brubaker that college students are healthy, natural—and mature—human beings, our present regulations are set up in complete denial of this theory.

Secondly: Contrary to popular belief, public courting is embarrassing and objectionable to no one more than to the students themselves. While a couple dislikes being "Exhibit A" in the parlor or on the porch (and sharing their conversation with sixty-five other students), they are left with no alternative if they are to remain within the rules.

Although the objection seems to be not in the actions of couples,

(Cont. page 3)

WHAT IS SNEA?

by Jeanne Price

SNEA. Let's see what is it? Is it an honorary society, a special Club which mysteriously meets every month, or is it an organization on campus? Susan Stewart has been the president this past year, and many programs sponsered by SNEA have concerned the education majors on campus. Does this give you any hints? No? You give up. Well, all right, SNEA is the Student National Education Association on our campus, and it should be the concern of every education major or any student who someday plans to be teaching primary children, middle grade boys and girls, junior high students, high school teenagers or college intellectuals.

The SNEA meets about every month and attempts to sponsor programs which will be of help to those students preparing to go into the teaching profession. During the past year many informative and interesting programs have been enjoyed by the members of this organization. However, as a new council was planning for next year, several important notations were mentioned. Why does SNEA lack any secondary education majors, and why aren't there any members of the male sex represented in the organization? There must be plenty of people on campus who are going to teach English, history, French, chemistry, art, speech, math, biology, and psychology to high school or college people in the not-too-distant future, and certainly there are some fellows who are planning to teach. SNEA is the place for you to begin learning of your profession. By paying dues a member receives a subscription to the National Education Journal that teachers all over the nation receive each month, plus the Tennessee Teacher's Journal.

Some interesting programs are underway for next year, such as using skits, presenting student teachers in a panel discussion, and having principals from our local schools talk to the group. The officers elected recently for the coming year are Jeanne Price, president; Margie Gillespie and Carol Rugh, vice-presidents; Melinda Frier, secretary; Ginnie Jefferson, treasurer; Phyllis Tepper, publicity; and Bev Wells as librarian. If you are planning to teach someday come and help us make SNEA a great success.

New Student Govt Presidents Look Ahead

WSGA

Rosalind Brown

Honor dorms for all women on campus next year will be a forward step for Maryville College. A large majority of women students are in favor of supporting this honor system, as was shown by their vote of eighty-eight percent. It seems to be evident that this system has been effective in the New Dormitory for women. And it will be increasingly so in all dorms next year as each person takes the responsibility for keeping the rules of the honor code.

As each woman resident cooperates in carrying out the honor code, she will be showing concern for all those who live in her dorm. At the same time she will see that a feeling of unity among women students can exist, making our entire Women's Student Government successful and effective.

An evaluation of the social life on campus must continue next year. This is an area of life at Maryville College that must still be studied. WSGA can sponsor an important part of this program.

Putting the Town Night Operating Plan under WSGA next year will prove to be more effective than the present system.

MSC

Jim Moore

As chairman of the Men's Student Cooperative I would like to ask the men residents on campus to give their full support and cooperation to their governing body. The MSC can and will do much for better living conditions in the dormitories and for better morale.

It is the desire of next year's council to instill in the individual student a more responsible attitude toward himself and his college community. If and when we as a male populace show that we are able and willing to accept responsibilities, then we will be in a position to ask for more privileges. However, if we fail to accept responsibility for our action, the administration is justified in refusing to grant further privileges.

With this thought in mind, I ask for your support of the MSC next year. This backing by you will enable MSC to move forward next year and reach the potential it now possesses. This progress of your council is not for MSC glorification nor for political advantages, but rather it is for the benefit of each individual student.

Cabbages & Kings

We were walking across campus one warm afternoon, noticing how deserted it looks since all the girls have gone up into the high mountain of the New Dorm roof. "Well," I said, "if this atmosphere keeps up, next year ought to be a nice, quiet, peaceful one."

"What exactly do you mean by nice, quiet, and peaceful?" asked the Walrus, who had obviously been sitting in on some classes in which students were constantly being asked to define their terms.

"Why, I guess I mean that all the tension will be gone and all the restlessness and, and—oh, you know."

"You mean," he said, "it will be dull."

"Of course not. Just—"

"Conforming. Everyone fitting into a mold. No challenge anymore."

"Nonsense," I cried. "You're taking everything I say in the wrong way."

"Am I?" he asked, peering at me over his whiskers. "Now, don't get me wrong, Carpenter. I don't believe in revolutionizing things just for the sake of revolutionizing them—and I don't want this place to become a hole of discontent either. But I am afraid of your concept of peace and contentedness."

We passed a few people and walked on in silence for a while. "Tell me, Carpenter, when you see the students coming by, are they individuals or just a group?"

"It depends," I said, "on whether they're walking by themselves or with other people."

The Walrus glared at me. "You have the greatest talent for missing the point of anyone I've ever seen. What I'm getting at is that this place needs people who are individuals and have their own opinions and beliefs. Now—let's walk along and look for an individual befre I lose my faith in individuality."

I stopped walking and stared at him. "Walrus, sometimes I just don't understand you at all. What class have you been going to that got you this fired up?"

"I've been reading Jeffer's 'Shine, Perishing Republic,' " he answered.

"And you're afraid that this place is going to be a perishing republic?"

"I'm not sure," he said, "but I'd feel a lot more confident if we could find some individual."

(Frankly, I feel that the Walrus is really being far too influenced by his reading habits, so don't pay very much attention to what he's said in this column today. However, it is rather strange that the only real individual we met on our walk that afternoon was a pigeon who had brown feathers instead of gray ones.)

The Return Of Randy Wells

by Barbara McCarter

(Editor's Note: The following is an interview of Randy Wells, a student here last year, who made a trip around the world.)

"Yo ho ho and a bottle of dramamine." Randy's very first comment. "Maybe spending sophomore year at prosaic uncomopolitan Maryville wasn't such a bad idea." But then his tale began. Either his itinerary was planned by a drunken grasshopper, or Randy still hasn't learned the systematic discourse method, for his anecdotes have but one thing in common—nobody but Randy would have done the other side in nearly this manner. Exciting adventure number one is eating shortbread with a Scottish girl named Fiona in Canada. We are immediately transplanted to England, I suppose, who but the British would pronounce Herefordshire 'erefsheer. Well, at any rate this charming locale was the end of a ride for our hitchhiking friend. There was Randy, but not lost, desolate and alone, for although there were no more cars and no youth hostel, there was a cow in a field, which meant that there had to be some people. He ended up quite comfortably in a tiny schoolhouse.

We have just landed at Dunkirk, because the preceeding reminded him of the time in this town that he slept on a pile of hay in "a building that was a-building." Germany — hitchhiking through the Black Forest in a VW. Switzerland — it took Randy three hours to go sixty miles, because it was Sunday morning and apparently the Swiss are still under the guidance of yellow slips. The Alps and the country around Bern were the best scenery of the trip. Italy — Randy was in a hurry so he rode in a motorboat around Venice with a professor from the University of Milan. No moon, no mandolin, and the prof was male.

Next a "choo-choo type train" through Yugoslavia which went so slowly that Randy stuck his head out the window to take in the blue sky. They call this the Oriental Express. But things got worse. Twenty-four hours on a train in Greece were worse than any other trip Randy's ever taken, except from Augusta to Atlanta.

In Turkey Randy bought a big bottle of milk and found it to be fermented yogurt. "Really bad stuff."

In Iran the buses run on the average of 12 miles per hour. On a train in Pakistan the passengers built a fire in the aisle and cooked their dinner.

The perils of India include dodging the horse and cart cabs — sort of like New York a hundred years ago. Trains were so crowded on the way to Calcutta that Randy and his friend, Tom, had to sit on the steps. To alleviate boredom, Randy produced many, many bananas and two of those famous paper bags to use for peels or in cases — and they had a banana eating contest. He never said who won — this would incline one to think that Tom did.

Burma — ladies who smoked cigars. Here Randy celebrated his birthday. He remarked, "last year I was sitting in Miss Blair's English class reading birthday cards, and now — on the deck of a ferry on the Irrawaddy River.

To Singapore, fourth class. A lovely ship with hammocks to sleep in and monkeys, millions of monkeys in cages in the dining room. Randy says, "Ya know when people say more fun than a barrel of monkeys they mean if you don't take the lid off."

Some Orientals wear Western suits and then squat to eat. Tokyo has wonders like these, and the double decker street car, but did you know that they have a theatre with a show comparable to — well never mind. In trying to look up a friend, Randy discovered that the houses are numbered in the order in which they were built. Only the postmaster knows where anyone lives, and if he dies, no more mail for this generation.

The last lap — across the Pacific — two weeks on a ship containing 724 Japanese and 1 Randy. They did the "tweest" better than he, and he taught them some English. The pacific is "blue and beautiful, full of porpoises and birds, but I didn't see any white whales." And so Los Angeles was reached. Randy got off this ship with his last (sob) nickel in his pocket and the Japanese kids sang "My Bonie ries oler heocean" and shouted "Sayonara Randy San." "Why couldn't I be a girl," he said, "so I could bawl or something."

It is never safe to look into the future with eyes of fear.

—Edward Henry Harriman

LETTER (Cont. from page 2)

but in their public display, present rules encourage rather than discourage public courtship, since they absolutely forbid students to be alone together. This, in my belief, denies a basic human need for privacy. There is no provision in the M Book by which two people may talk together without supervision (except in the college woods, on a Sunday, between the hours of 1:00 and 5:30 p.m.—this is indeed a beginning, but somewhat reminiscent of letting the horses out to graze once a week).

Dating regulations were passed, I am sure, for the benefit of the students themselves, but we feel that there is a time when a certain amount of mutual trust is called for. Students feel the acute need for the dignity and respect of privacy: both students and administration recognize the need for the dignity and respect shown by more suitable and seemly public conduct. By working together toward mutual goals—bearing in mind that all changes must necessarily come only after careful planning and deliberation, but that a college campus must be continually changing and progressing—these needs may be met and fulfilled.

—Phyllis Weaver

Scots & Soda

by Dave Marston

It's allergy time again. Whether it's ragweed or garlic in your milk that you're allergic to, chances are if you look around, you can find something to be miserable about this spring. Even the revised Sunday rules have made a good many people uncomfortable—this is the first year that you and your date are allowed to get poison ivy together. And at the rate couples have been getting it, we're going to need a Student Health & Welfare Committee to help us recuperate from the progress made by our Religious Life and Activities Committee. The new Sunday rules are the result of democratic student-faculty cooperation; the way it looks now, it's going to take a lot of weed-killer to make our woods safe for democracy.

But spring can mean worse things than hay fever or poison ivy. For instance, marriage. For several days immediately after graduation, the Little Chapel will be doing a running business of matching people in matrimony mostly seniors, who have been rendered temporarily irrational by the fatal combination of cornbread and Comps. Fortunately, some people realize the mistake in time—I saw a groom-to-be running around yesterday, giving his friends scripts to read when the preacher asks anyone opposing the marriage to "speak now or forever hold your peace." A little planning goes a long way.

For those of us who don't choose mates, spring is still the time to choose roommates, and rooms. When you pick out your room, here's a pointer: the basement rooms might be easier to get to, but they're also damper, and as a rule have more wildlife, specifically cockroaches and spiders. This fact is generally omitted in the "M Book," but if you're one of these fuddy-duddies that worries about things like that, it's nice to know. And when you pick a roommate, try to find someone whose moral code is somewhere near your own. For instance, if you're inclined to be happy, don't room with someone who's going to give you a balloon test and make you walk a straight line everytime you have a late night out. This sort of thing gets old fast. It's also embarrassing.

Finally, spring means the end of school, the time when all of the yankees return to their sacred homeland. Which reminds us: they say the only difference between a yankee and a d— yankee is that yankees stay up north.

Always Look Your Best

See us for all your Dry Cleaning Needs

MARYVILLE Cleaners

CONTACT YOUR DORMITORY AGENT

The "Y" Store Proudly serves

MAYFIELD'S Ice Cream and Milk

Smoother, Richer, better Tasting

Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Washington Avenue

Parks-Belk

Home of Better Values

MARYVILLE'S FINEST

Shop In Our Sportswear Department

FRESH TASTY

Bakery Treats

Whatever you need in the way of pastries or baked goods, for that special occasion, we have just the thing!

Call 982-7920

or Ride The Bus to Midland Center

VAN'S BAKERY

THE BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

– BANKING SERVICES –

*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

*CHECK ACCOUNTS

*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS

*TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

OWENBY, MALLOY TAKE FIRSTS IN STATE MEET

"We really surprised the heck out of them, because none of them down there thought twice about Maryville College," were the words one of the Maryville winners at the Tennessee Intercollegiate track meet used to describe our two wins in the field events. Bill Owenby took a first place in the javelin throw with a distance of 172½ feet, and Joe Malloy was high man in the pole vault, soaring 12½ feet over the bar. Both of these athletes have been recognized as Athlete of the Month by the Echo this year.

The meet was sponsored by the Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Conference and was held at Clarksville, Tennessee, last Friday and Saturday. The conference is open to all colleges and universities in the state, a few of the larger schools being excluded because of membership in larger conferences, such as the S. E. C. Maryville College was the only college representing East Tennessee and was next to the smallest school there, Bryant College being the smallest.

Coach Howard Tomlinson took four members of the Maryville track squad to the meet last weekend, and he seemed to have made a wise selection because two of the four came back with impressive first places. In addition to Owenby and Malloy and their respective events, John Livingston entered the mile run, and Bert Randall threw the discus, neither one being able to place.

Both Malloy and Owenby have been consistent winners in the Maryville meets this spring, and both have been multi-participants, taking part in three to four events per meet. But each was handling his speciality at the TIAC meet. Joe was able to hit his form for the first time during the season and, as a result, went a full foot and a half higher than jumps in previous contests, but he gives some of the credit to his coach, John, Bill, and Bert. He says, "They put me over on that last jump because I heard them all grunt as I went over."

Although the winner was Union University of Middle Tennessee, "Monk" Tomlinson's squad certainly did "surprise the heck out of them" by racking up two firsts and ten points -- the first wins for Maryville in the conference in some time. And the Scottie quartet did a fine job of playing for the Maryville sports department and college.

VOLS ROMP SCOTS

The powerful University of Tennessee baseball team took two games from the Maryville Scots in two phenomenal scoring feats. The home team was defeated in Knoxville by the Vols 22-4 and the next day were downed by the visitors 17-12 in a slugging battle.

In the first meeting the Vols ran up a 22-0 lead before the scots could score in the eighth inning. U.T. gathered nineteen hits off three Maryville pitchers, and the six Maryville errors helped them considerably. Benny Monroe started and was charged with the loss. He was followed by John Badders and Dave Meneely.

Gary Dutton got two of the Scot hits, and Tommy Bowers drove in two runs.

Hitters' field day

The second game of the series turned out to be a hitting field day. Tennessee rapped out twenty hits in getting seventeen runs, and Maryville scored twelve runs on eleven hits. The contest was a see-saw affair with the Vols scoring in the top of an inning and the Scots coming back in the turn at bat to rally. The second inning was the only one in which neither team scored.

At the end of four innings the Vols led by 9-4, and scored six runs in the top of the fifth to assume a 14-4 lead. The Scots came back to score four to make it 14-8 and scored three more in the sixth to cut the Vol lead to 14-11. As the situation became brighter for the Maryville team, the visitors changed pitchers, and the Scots were able to score only once more; whereas the Vols added three runs.

Dave West started for the losers, but was hit hard and the victim of some rather shabby playing. Dave Meneely pitched the last 4-1|3 innings, allowing five hits, all of which were unearned. West was credited with the loss.

Dave Sandrock and Tom Bowers led the Scot hitters, each rapping out two hits and driving in three runs. All four of their hits were doubles. Donnie Phelps hit a home run and scored three runs. Dave West chipped in two hits.

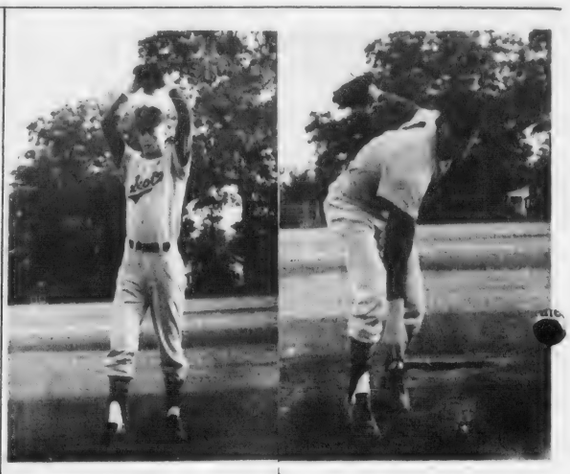
The game was very loosely played, with a total of thirteen errors, nine for the vols and four for the Scots.

Season end

Today the Scots take on Emory and Henry at Honaker Field and play three other games next week. They meet Carson-Newman Monday, East Tennessee State Thursday, and finished the season Friday against Hiwassee.

Lobs and Smashes

By Todd Owers



The tennis team has acquired quite a sun tan in the last two weeks, along with a number of other students who find the sport an appealing leisure-time activity. Psychologists say that optimum study conditions exist in temperatures ranging from 68-72 degrees, which is nice to know with finals just around the corner and our current heat wave well exceeding the desired range. The fact is that Maryville has a campus beauty and the spring season to go along with it, which is enough to make even the most conscientious students go batty with frustration over their studies. Quite often, the conscientious tennis player feels very much the same about his playing.

Not that you can blame it on the weather; tennis matches are lost for all sorts of reasons, but rarely does the weather hinder match play enough to cause the better team to lose. And in Chattanooga on April 24th, against their University team, there was no talk of losing as Maryville College defeated them for the second time this season, 5-4. Against Carson Newman on the next day and also on the first of May; and even more so against East Tennessee State last Saturday afternoon, the Maryville netters just didn't play like the better team. There isn't much solace to be found in the fact that all these matches were lost 5-4. It hurts twice as much to lose the close ones, especially so when it's archrival Carson Newman who walks off the court victoriously twice in a row.

This was, indeed, a bitter pill to swallow, but maybe the two Chattanooga victories suger-coated it a bit. To digest it is another thing, and a victory over East Tennessee State would certainly have helped. Unfortunately, State had other ideas and the shots to back up these ideas; so their revenge was sweet.

If awards were given at the end of the year for the most improved player, both Jon Sypher and Bob Paul would merit consideration. Jon joined the team three weeks ago and has shown much improvement since that time; whereas Bob has shown steady improvement since the beginning of the year.

This afternoon, the Highlanders will seek to improve as a team against strong opposition from the Emory and Henry Wasps. This is the last match of the year for the team, and the final collegiate match for graduating seniors Bob Johnston and Jeff Grote. Athletes are funny about things like this. Individually they'd like nothing better than to win that last match, and team-wise there seems to be no greater uplift of soul than that coming from winning the final match of the year.

Athlete of The Month: Dave West

The athlete for May might well be voted "most called-on" or "most consistent" as well as Athlete of the Month, for that is exactly his position. Dave West, a sophomore right-hander, is used more often than any other member of the Scottie pitching staff, and, although he is primarily a starter, occasionally he is asked to do a little relief work. And, of course, no one gets assignments like that unless he can handle them.

Dave has won three and lost two so far in the season, the best record among the staff. His best pitch is a fast ball.

Both his catcher and his coach point out that he is very conscientious about his pitching, but that sometimes worrying hinders his efforts.

Coach Baird categorizes Dave's contribution in saying that he is a good hitter and, in his words, "our leading pitcher."

1962 Football Schedule Released

Again in 1962 the Maryville College football team will play eight games. Frederick College and Bridgewater of Virginia have been replaced by Hanover College of Indiana, and Mars Hill of North Carolina returns to the Scot schedule after a year's absence. The schedule will be divided evenly, four home and four away.

Sept.	22	Mars Hill	H
	29	Centre	T
Oct	6	Georgetown	T
	13	Emory & Henry	H
	20	Hanover	H
	27	Southwestern	T
Nov.	3	Millsaps	H
	10	open
	17	Carson-Newman	T

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

Office Supplies? We got 'em

Office Equipment? like wise

Office machines? our middle name.

Service? on all we sell (with a smile)

Delivery? Fastest and best.

Parking? Free, 10 feet from the door.

WHITE OFFICE MACHINES

"WON'T WRITE — CALL WHITE"

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am — 11 pm 982-9921

FREE FREE FREE

TRANSPORTATION

on all

White Star Line Buses

From ELLIS STREET To

MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

AND Return

MARYVILLE-KNOXVILLE WEEKDAY BUS SCHEDULE

O – OLD HIGHWAY

N – NEW HIGHWAY

Lv. Maryville	Lv. Knoxville
O– 5:30 A.M.	O– 6:30 A.M.
N– 6:00	N– 7:00
O– 6:30	O– 7:50
O– 7:00	N– 8:00
N– 7:00	O– 8:30
O– 7:30	N– 9:00
N– 7:45*	O– 9:30
O– 8:00	N–10:00
N– 8:00	O–10:30
O– 8:30	N–11:00
N– 9:00	O–11:30
O– 9:30	N–12:00 Noon
N–10:00	O–12:30 P.M.
O–10:30	N– 1:00
N–11:00	O– 1:30
O–11:30	N– 2:00
N–12:00 Noon	O– 2:30
O–12:30 P.M.	N– 3:00
N– 1:00	O– 3:30
O– 1:30	O– 4:00
N– 2:00	N– 4:00
O– 2:30	O– 4:30
O– 3:00	O– 5:00
N– 3:00	N– 5:00
O– 3:30	O– 5:30
N– 4:00	O– 6:00
O– 4:30	N– 6:00
O– 5:00	O– 7:00
N– 5:00	N–11:15
O– 6:00
N– 8:00
O–10:00 via N.P.

*Does not operate on Saturday

This Ad and Transportation Paid for by

Merchants of

MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

STEVE HENDERSON TO TRAVEL IN ASIA

Steve Henderson, junior English major from Philadelphia, will get a close-up and penetrating view of East Asia this summer as he participates in the East Asia Study Seminar, sponsored by the United Campus Christian Fellowship.

The seminar, consisting of fifteen students and Dr. Bruce Morgan of Amherst College, will spend two months in four areas of East Asia—Japan, the Philippines, Hong Kong and Taiwan.

Steve's introduction to the East will begin in Honolulu on June 26, where the participants in the seminar will study the general history, tradition and culture of the areas they will visit. They will spend a week there in conference and contacts with Asian representatives of the church, faculty members and students of the East-West Center for Cultural and Technical Interchange.

The group will be in Japan by July 1. They will visit the old capital city, Kyoto, and Tokyo. After a week of travel, they will have sessions concerning the mission of the church in modern industrial society. Japanese and American students will discuss their feelings toward nuclear testing and the Christian responsibility for peace.

Steve's next stop will be the Philippines, where he will travel in rural and industrial areas. The time there will feature an introduction to folk music, dance and drama of the islands.

Hong Kong and Taiwan are on the August itinerary for the students. In Hong Kong, Seminar members will cooperate with Church World Service in a refugee settlement. They will spend a day at Chung Chi College, one at the Christian Children's Fund Orphanage and three on a project of the Church of Christ in China. They will see at first hand the housing, medical and employment problems, the complex political situation and the resurgence of Buddhism in Hong Kong. As the last stop of the summer trip, the students will study the industrial and political life of Taiwan.

Steve is understandably excited about the experiences ahead of him and he has others behind him which have given him good preparation. In two previous summers he has participated in work camps. Steve has been active in interracial activities during all his time at Maryville, helping to coordinate the weekend exchanges with Knoxville College, and as a student at Knoxville College the second semester of last year. This year he has been president of Student Vols and Ecumenical Encounters chairman for the YMCA, and he is a program chairman of Y for next year. He sings tenor in the college choir.

No one can make you feel inferior without your consent.
—Eleanor Roosevelt

Two From MC Attend Circle K Convention

On April 6 and 7, Jim Skeen and Norm Price were representatives from the Maryville College Circle K Club to the district convention in Owenboro, Kentucky. The theme of the convention was: "Develop Individual Excellence," on which subject an oratorical contest was held.

The main purposes for this convention were to elect next year's district officers and to give the delegates a chance to discuss their club's particular problems or new ideas. Next year's convention will be held at U.T.

Students Select Class Leaders for 1962-3: Weissenburger, Marston, Hinderer Preside

Last week the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes elected officers for next year. President of the prospective senior class of '63 is Bill Weissenburger. Helping him to lead class activities will be Carl McDonald, vice-president, and Grace Rosser, secretary-treasurer. Student council representatives are Paul Biggers, Wade Hampton, Ann Kuykendall, Jeanne Price and Bill Ward.

Presiding over next year's juniors will be Dave Marston, whose cabinet will include Bert Randall as vice-president and Shirley Mease as secretary-treasurer. Representing the junior class on the student council will be Phil Brown, Phyllis Delotus, Margaret Dozier, Eddie Paul and Dave West.

Jon Hinderer, president; Dave Scotchmer, vice-president; and Linda Brumley, secretary-treasurer will lead the prospective sophomores. Working on the student council will be Rich Boyd, Mike Moyers, Gail Smith, and Judy Wasson.

The junior class will sponsor the 1963 Chilhowean. Elected to edit the yearbook is Pat Anderson, and assisting her as business manager will be Sally Blair.

Beagle, Brown, Slater, Fink Head Societies

Having recently elected officers to serve during the first semester of next year, all four societies are formulating plans for Rush Week in the fall.

Connie Beagle, senior Christian-education major from Rankin, Illinois, will preside over Chi Beta. Assisting her will be Sandra Presley, vice-president; Nancy Haley, secretary; Shirley Mease, treasurer; Judy Wasson and Sue Quigg, program chairmen; and Ann Kuykendall, bar maid.

President of Kappa Phi, the brother society to Chi Beta, will be Phil Brown. A junior economics major from Gary, Indiana, Phil will work with the following cabinet members: Dave Styles, vice-president; Bob Hutchison, secretary; Carl McDonald, treasurer; Jack Dotter, program chairman; George Schember, athletic chairman; and Bill Ward, bartender.

The new president of Theta Epsilon is Midge Slater, senior English major from Norristown, Pa. Her cabinet includes Nancy Magill, vice-president; Meg Davies, secretary; Mary Lee Dolvin, treasurer; Sue Kisch, chaplain. Ann Alexander and Ann Doscher will serve as athletic chairmen, Mary Pettigrew and Arlene Pateman as Rush Week chairmen; Joy Cole and Barbara Pettigrew as program chairmen.

Theta's brother society Alpha Sigma will be led by senior biology major from Atlanta, Joe Fink, president; Bill Dewease, vice-president; Earl Jordan, secretary; Eddie Paul, treasurer; Rich Boyd, chaplain; Ralph Tucker and B. T. Biggers, program chairmen; and Jerry Stewart, athletic chairman.

Library Announces Reference Additions

Four new reference sources are now available at the Lamar Memorial Library of the college. Both students and local citizens may find them helpful.

The Bulletin of the Public Affairs Information Service, better known as PAIS, has been added to the Index Table collection. It is a subject listing of current books, pamphlets, periodocal articles, government documents, and other library material in the field of economics and public affairs.

The Encyclopaedia of World Art, Volume V (Eskimo-Gallo-Roman), has come. Additional volumes are being published quarterly, so that by 1963 the library should have the complete fifteen-volume set.

Index Medicus, a classified index of current medical literature, is being given to the library by the Blount Memorial Hospital Library.

The twenty-fifth edition of International Who's Who is a one-volume listing of the biographical information about persons of international reputation from all countries.

ENJOY FINE FOOD HERE!

Looking for a nice place to eat?
Why not try our delicious meals—

*Taste-tempting
*Priced to please
*A wide selection

HOME COOKING

College Hill Grill
THE DIXONS

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

Graduation Gifts
Books are a perfect gift for the graduate.
We also have a complete line of graduation cards.
Come In and Browse Around
R S V – New English Bibles
Strong Concordances
Interpreter's Bibles
CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK
Midland Center

CAPITOL THEATRE
SUN. – TUES. MAY 13 – 15

WED. – FRI. MAY 16 – 18

SAT. MAY 19

UNKNOWN DANGER RIDES WITH EACH TAKEOFF!
WINGS OF CHANCE COLOR
JIM BROWN · FRANCES RAFFERTY · A Tiger Production, Ltd. Picture · A Universal-International Release

SUN. – WED. MAY 20 – 23

Style Show Tonight

The Home Economics Department will present its 17th annual fashion show tonight at 7:30 in the theatre. The show, entitled "Whirl Through the World of Fashion," will feature more than seventy-five costumes sewed, and in some cases designed, by the students and faculty. The styles range from casual clothes to evening wear.

The narrators include D'Ann Heagen, Ruth Light, Mary Ellen Pettigrew, and Arlene Pateman. The co-ordinators will be Gloriana Hutcheson and Linda Wherry from the dress design class.

Models will include both faculty and students. Miss Gertrude Meiselwitz, head of the Home Economics department, will be accompanied by Mrs. Harry Harter, Miss Sarah DeLozier, and Mrs. James Stanford. Student participants will be Jane Pest, Phyllis Boone, Betty Brumfield, Charles Feast, Sally Fulton, Margie Gillespie, Margaret Gover, Carol Hicks, Joyce Hooper, Melanie Iseman, Lois Ann Jones, Jacqueline Lundgren, Sandra Malone, Mary Lane Mitchell, Cora Quay, Susie Reiter, Phyllis Sauerbray, Carol Schomp, Janet Smith, Ann Stimson, and Jacquie Vreeland.

DR. HUNTER SPEAKS AT SERVICE RECOGNIZING ALPHA GAMMA SIGMA

Dr. Hunter was the speaker at the recognition service in Chapel yesterday for the six seniors and two juniors elected this spring to Alpha Gamma Sigma. Dr. Hunter was secretary-treasurer of the society from its founding in April, 1934, until last year.

Members need 3.33 average

The seniors Brenda Dalton, Ellen Dozier, Harriet Fuhrman, Glenda Gray Schroeder, Sue Lemme, and Sylvia Smith and the juniors Scott Bucher and Janice Walters were elected at the meeting on March 26. Those elegible for membership must have a point-grade ratio of 3.33 over all college work and a good moral character. Seniors must be elected by a majority vote, and juniors, who must display exceptional scholastic ability as well as meeting the above requirements, must be elected by a unanimous vote.

Induction was in April

The new members were formally inducted at a meeting in April. Mrs. Schroeder, who graduated from MC in January, 1962, as Glenda Gray, is now in Boston and was not present at the recognition service.

Ten percent of the graduating class is elegible for membership in Alpha Gamma Sigma, Maryville's equivalent of Phi Beta Kappa, providing they meet the above requirements.

Society Provides Scholarship

The society holds three book discussions per year. This year they have discussed books giving a picture of late 19th Century America. Next year they plan to use three books concerning the mid-19th century period. Alpha Gamma Sigma has a scholarship fund with the principle totaling over two thousand dollars, which is invested. It has been raised from society members and each year the award is given to the incoming junior with the highest scholastic average at the end of the sophomore year. This year it went to Janice Walters.

Louis A. Black, Former Employee, Friend Dies

A man who had been associated with Maryville College for a long time died on Tuesday, May 1. He was familiar to students as a thin, friendly man who frequently strolled around the sidewalks of the campus and tipped his hat and spoke to everybody he met.

In 1953 Mr. Louis A. Black retired from twenty-two years in the college maintenance department. Mr. Ernest Brown (Brownie), who retired as director of maintenance just last year, says that Mr. Black was methodical and efficient in his job. During part of his time here, Mr. Black bought food for the dining hall. He and Brownie together bought supplies for the campus.

"He was a fine Christian man, interested in the students and in the community," said Mr. Brown.

On the Monday afternoon before he died, Mr. Black and Brownie went to the Scotties' baseball game together. For some time Mr. Black taught an adult Sunday School class at New Providence Church.

Before coming here, Mr. Black, a native of Canada, worked with the YMCA, both overseas during World War I and at Estes Park Colorado. He lived with his daughter, Mrs. Marion Walker, in a college house on Hillside Avenue.

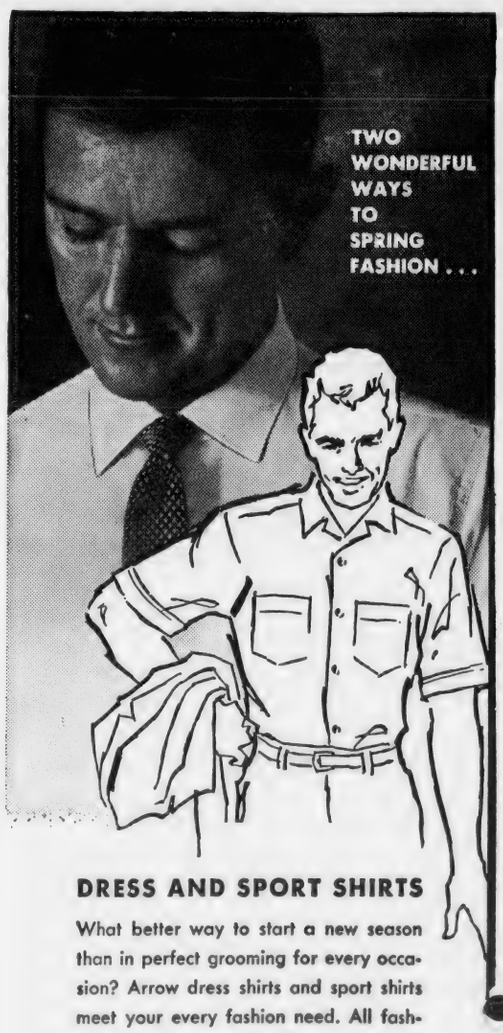
A memorial service was held at the college chapel Wednesday afternoon following the death.

A Maryville College breakfast will be held Saturday, May 19, at 7:15 a.m. in the Shirley Savoy Hotel in Denver, Colorado. All alumni, parents of students, or friends of the college are invited to attend.

McClelland Attends W. Wilson Conference; Discusses "What To Do With $27 Million?"

Dean Frank McClelland went to Memphis on April 28 to participate in a regional conference of the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Foundation. The conference, attended by representatives from colleges which have had five or more Woodrow Wilson fellows in the past five years of the program, considered conditions for the use of $27,500,000 recently granted by the Ford Foundation. Maryville College, which has had one fellow each of the five years, was one of only sixteen institutions from the region which includes five southern states.

The conference made recommendations to the national Foundation regarding their awarding of the 1000 to 15000 fellowships each year to prospective college teachers. One recommendation was increased emphasis on foreign language preparation. Those at the conference advocated that proficiency in at least one foreign language should be required. They felt that the fellowship money should not have to finance this study, which can be taken at the undergraduate level.



The conference advised that much weight ought to be given to the thousand-word statement of purpose for going into the teaching profession which each applicant submits.

The third point recommended was emphasis on solid foundations at the undergraduate level in the area of later specialization, together with ability to carry through independent study.

Miss Harriette Fuhrman is Maryville's Woodrow Wilson fellow this year. She plans to use her fellowship at the University of North Carolina, where she will continue her work in English.

A PERFECT GIFT FOR THE GRADUATE—

DRESS AND SPORT SHIRTS

What better way to start a new season than in perfect grooming for every occasion? Arrow dress shirts and sport shirts meet your every fashion need. All fashions are contour-tailored for a neat, trim look in choice of wash and wear or conventional fabrics. Featured in the Bi-Way, a medium-spread convertible collar to wear open or closed. See our wide selection of these and other smart collar styles.

SS Sport $4.00 up
Dress $4.50 up

Proffitt's

THANK YOU

To Maryville College Faculty, Administration and Students

For This Past Year's Patronage

Do Have A Pleasant Summer!

WELCOME TO PARENTS & RELATIONS

We Invite You to

"Dine Where Food Is Always Fine"

Breakfast – Lunch – Dinner

and Also

"Blount County's Most Beautiful Buffet"

Every Sunday – 11:30 – 3:00

MAY WE HAVE THE PLEASURE OF SERVING YOU

LEONARD'S STEAK HOUSE

The Highland Echo

Maryville College

Vol. 47 | Maryville, Tennessee, Saturday, May 26, 1962 | No. 16

1962-63 LECTURE SERIES ANNOUNCED

The 1962-1963 Lecture Series will feature four speakers: Wilma Dykeman Stokely, Dr. James Bulloch, Dr. Edwin R. Hunter, and Dr. Richard Armour. These lectures, financed by the student activities fee, will be open to the public without charge.

Wilma Dykeman Stokely

Prominent Southern writer Wilma Dykeman Stokely will present the opening lecture on Friday evening, October 5. Her topic will be "The Challenge of a Changing South." Her most recent books, both published this year, are Seeds of Southern Change, a non-fiction work co-authored with her husband, James Stokely, and a novel laid in the Southern mountain region and entitled The Tall Woman.

Mrs. Stokely won the Thomas Wolfe Memorial Award in 1955 for her book The French Broad, one of the volumes in the "Rivers of America Series." Her book entitled Neither Black Nor White, published in 1958, deals with the South's reaction to the Supreme Court decision of 1954.

James Bulloch

Dr. James Bulloch of Scotland will give the second lecture on Friday evening, November 2. He is the former president of the Scottish Church History Society, and he has lectured at various colleges and universities in Scotland. He has authored a number of books in the field of Scottish church history. He will be making a lecturing tour through the United States during the 1962-1963 academic year.

Edwin R. Hunter

The third lecture will be presented on Friday evening, February 8, 1963, by Dr. Edwin R. Hunter. A noted Shaksperian scholar, Dr. Hunter will speak in commemoration of the four-hundredth anniversary of Shakspere's birth. He entitles his lecture "Prelude to an Anniversary."

Professor Hunter will inaugurate a new practice of the Lecture Series, namely the inclusion of one member of the Maryville College faculty each year. He is former chairman of the Division of Languages and Literature and former dean of curriculum at Maryville College.

Richard Armour

Noted satirist and author Richard Armour will deliver the fourth lecture on Friday evening, March 1. Dr. Armour is the author of such books at It All Started with Columbus, It All Started with Europa, It All Started with Marx, and Twisted Tales from Shakespeare. His lecture topic will be "A Satirist Looks at the World."

After receiving his doctorate from Harvard University, Professor Armour taught at various colleges and universities in Europe and the United States. At the Present time he is professor of English at Scripps College and Claremont Graduate School in California.

Jane Dodez Will Have JYA in Switzerland

Miss Jane Dodez, head majorette of the Highlander Marching Band, will be missing when the twirlers strut down the field next September. She will be at the University of Geneva, Switzerland, where she will participate in the Junior Year Abroad program sponsored by the United Presbyterian Church.

After an orientation period in New York, Miss Dodez will sail for Europe in time to begin a month of intensive French study on September 1. Her regular classes, which will be conducted in French, will start in October. They will include French and her major subject, political science. Classes will continue from October to mid-July. Exams are given only once, at the end of the whole term.

Miss Dodez hopes to live with a Swiss family in Geneva so that she can get a better understanding of Swiss life than she would in a dormitory. There is also a possibility that she will stay in the John Knox House, an international residence hall.

Jane is already looking forward to Christmas, for she has been invited by a Swiss exchange stu-

Cont'd Page 8

Senior Chapel Today

Sentiment and laughter marked today's annual Senior Chapel. "Pomp and Circumstance." the traditional processional, was played by Bruce Townshend, organist. Senior class president Lew Pelkey made the announcements, and senior class vice-president Larry Mease read the scripture selection. The devotional service came to a close with a prayer by Glorianna Hutchinson, class secretary-treasurer.

A group of approximately twenty seniors sang a medley from the prize winning play and movie, "West Side Story." Helen Ann Easterley and Harry Weeks authored the 1962 class history, which was read by Henry. The committee was under the chairmanship of John Mitchell. Incoming senior class president Bill Weissenberger presided over the passing of class positions, which culminated with the singing of the "Alma Mater" by the graduating seniors. The recessional was made to the familiar stains of "Pomp and Circumstance."

MC MUSICIANS ELECT OFFICERS

The Maryville College—Community Orchestra has elected the following persons to serve as their officers for 1962-1963: president, Elsa Eerenberg; vice-president, Frank Jablonski; Secretary-treasurer, Anna Baker; town representative, Kenneth Marmon.

For the first time the orchestra has drawn up a constitution which will be ready for approval next fall. The orchestra has a full schedule for next year a special feature will be more educational concerts in the elementary schools. This will enable the orchestra to expand their program into the community.

The Men's Glee Club and he Women's Choir have also chosen their officers for the coming year. The men have selected as president Bob Hutchinson; social chairman, Dave Scotcher; and secretary-treasurer, Bob Orr. Elected as officers for the Women's Choir were president, Judy Smith, social chairman, Ann Doscher, and secretary-treasurer, Beverly Ball.

Faculty Members Plan European Vacations

Five members of the Maryville College faculty are planning to spend the summer months in Europe. Dr. Arda S. Walker, associate professor of history, and Miss Viola Lightfoot, registrar, will visit England, Scotland, Wales, and Ireland. They plan to fly to London, from which they will make short excursions to the rest of the British Isles.

Also flying to Europe is Mr. Austin P. Cooley, instructor in French. He will remain in France until the end of August. Mr. Arthur D. Ainsworth, associate professor of political science, will once again spend his summer vacation in Switzerland.

After one day in Belgium, Assistant Professor of German Irma Birkelbach will travel to Germany. Miss Birkelbach plans to study at the University for a month, following which she will possibly visit Denmark.

Return of Alumni Marks Beginning Of 1962 Commencement Activities

The Maryville College campus will swarm with old grads today when they celebrate Alumni Day. Classes planning reunions this year are 1912, 1917, 1922, 1927, 1932, 1937, 1942, 1947, 1952 and 1957. Registration for the alumni, graduates or not, will open at 9 a.m. in the Chapel Colonnade.

At 10:30 the fifty-year class will conduct a dedication service in front of the Fine Arts Center. Class luncheons will get under way in a number of area restaurants at noon. At 6:30 p.m. all returning alumni will gather in Pearsons Dining Hall for the annual Alumni Dinner and Association meeting. Dr. Joseph J. Copeland wil award five Alumni Citations, the recipients of which will be announced for the first time then. Alumni activities will end with the election of officers for next year.

"Pops and Marches" Concert

The Maryville College Highlander Band, under the direction of John Roberts, will present its annual "Pops and Marches" Concert tonight at 5 o'clock in the amphitheater of the Fine Arts Center. The program will feature Jon Gresham, trumpeter, and Ron Charters, clarinetist. "Pop" numbers will include "Beguine for Band" and the theme for the motion-picture "Exodus;" and there will be marches by Sousa, Latham, and Milhaud.

Baccalaureate Service

Tomorrow morning at 10:30 Dr. Joseph J. Copeland, Maryville College President, will lead the 1962 Baccalaureate service in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel. His sermon topic will be "Gaining God's Viewpoint." Dr. E. Faye Campbell, college chaplain, Dr. Barnett Eby of New Providence Church, and Rev. David Mair of Highland Church will also participate in the service.

The Vesper Choir will sing Thompson's "Alleluia" and "He Guides Me In His Way" by Dr. Harry Harter, choir director. As the prelude and postlude, Mr. James Bloy will play Bach's "Now Thank We All Our God" and Gigout's "Grand Choer Dialogue."

Senior Music Hour

The annual Senior Music Hour will be held Sunday, May 27, at 4:00 p.m. in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center. Those who will

Cont'd Page 8

Violinist Goes Abroad

Elsa Eerenberg, violinist and newly-elected president of the Maryville College-Community Orchestra, will spend the summer in travel and study in Europe. She and her family will leave the United States by plane on June 24 and devote the rest of June and July to sightseeing in Holland, Switzerland, France and Germany.

After her family returns home the last of July, Miss Eerenberg will remain until September with relatives in Holland, where she will study violin under Willard Busch, concertmaster of the Dutch Radio Orchestra. She has studied violin for eight years, the last year here at Maryville College under Kent Perry.

Miss Eerenberg was born in Hilversum, Holland. She came to the United States with her parents when she was four years old. They lived in New Jersey for ten years and have lived at their present home in Louisville, Ky. for five years.

A sophomore next year, Miss Eerenberg plans to major in mathematics.

MC Executives Modify Two Dating Rules

The Executive Council of the Faculty, having accepted recommendations of the Social Evaluation Committee, has recently approved two changes in regulations concerning automobile permission and late permission for women students.

The Social Evaluation Committee, which consisted of students and faculty appointed by President Copeland and Student Council President Connie Bondurant, met regularly from early December until May 1 to examine, evaluate, and recommend desirable changes in the social opportunities, regulations and practices at Maryville College.

The revised regulations, which will go into effect next fall, read as follows:

"Car Permission: Women students are allowed to ride in automobiles with young men only with permission. Permission to ride within the Maryville-Knoxville area may be rceeived from the head of the dormitory. Permission for beyond this radius may be granted by the Dean of Women.

"Late Permission: In order that students may take advantage of cultural and recreational opportunities in Knoxville, late permission may be granted for Saturday evening shows, hockey games, concerts, etc., and for week-night concerts, plays, and lectures. Freshman and sophomore women may have six such late permissions each semester; juniors, eight; seniors, ten. Underclassmen arrange permission with the housemother. Juniors and seniors keep track of their own, as in the case of 11:00 p.m. Knoxville town nights. (This means returning on the 11:15 p.m. bus.)"

Hope Fund Report

On May 22, 1962, Fred Hope funds totalled $1902.52. This amount includes $1311.25 in paid pledges and $591.27 from special student projects. This year the Fred Hope Fund project is to assist in the purchase of a mobile medical unit for missionaries in Taegu, Korea.

Both pledges and small contributions will be accepted until the school term ends next Wednesday, May 30. Banks located in the student-help office, library, bookstore, and student center will remain available until that time. The Fred Hope Fund Board, hoping that the final total will pass the $2000 mark, encourages students to continue their contributions.

EDITOR'S CHOICE

When all the end-of-the-year excitement has just about died away, a time comes when both students and faculty look back over the year through which they have just come and evaluate the progress which they have initiated. It is a time for tying up loose ends; for determining to do what was said would be done; and, with an eye on the progress of the past, for making sure just which direction is forward.

An accurate summary of any year — anywhere — is not complete, of course, without mention of both good and bad points. In the total scope of things, this has been a good year. We have added funds to our building projects, begun the planning for a new Student Center, extended a dormitory honor system, changed a number of social rules, seen the development of a new emphasis in the campus religious life, and watched the work of a new president. There has been progress. Perhaps, though, there were some phases of the year with which we did not do what we could. We have thrown away a total academic honor system, neglected to notice things we should have noticed, taken advantage of newly-changed rules, and rebelled against long-standing ones.

There are, then, still a few areas in which additional progress could be made. One of these is in the area of consistency. And this lies quite apparent, perhaps, not in the actual system of assigning chapel and class cuts, but in the way in which the system is carried out. When grade points are involved in over-cutting, there should be no inconsistency among the various faculty members concerning who turns in these cuts and who does not.

Another area of concern involves the enforcement of rules. When violations are allowed to go unheeded or demerits, points, or what have you, are meted out with varying consistency and abundance, student respect for rules tends to go downhill. There is no sense in bothering to have rules, they figure, if they are not going to be enforced, if they are not going to be of value.

We stepped on campus last fall with a feeling of optimism. If we can leave still hoping for further good and able to look back without a feeling of regret or discouragement, then quite possibly we have made and carried out the right decisions. It is my feeling that a strong majority of students, faculty, and administration can do this.

Scots & Soda

by Dave Marston

We've had a good year—any school that gets Dr. Copeland, T-bone steak, and the Twist on campus all in one year is bound to be successful. But at best, life by the "M" Book is somewhat rigorous—often after nine months of Maryville discipline, it is difficult to readjust to civilian life over the summer. To simplify this transition, we print below a brief refresher course outlining life in the outside world.

Daily Living: Regardless of what you do at college, make your bed while you're home—it's standard procedure. When cleaning your room at home (and this is generally done weekly, not once a semester), it is not acceptable to simply sweep the dirt out into the hall—not unless your mother has a student help job. Those pictures that were so popular on your calendar in Carnegie Hall will very likely be in poor taste on your living room wall. Finally, remember that often that which was acceptable in the crowded Pearsons parlor will be frowned upon if done in your crowded living room. Try to be discreet.

Eating: First of all, never dump out all of the rolls on your brother's plate and tell your mother to "quick, run and get some more." Try to realize there's usually more food, even meat, at home. Try not to yell at the table, even if you're used to it. Organized cheering, except at birthdays, is generally discouraged at civilian meals. A hair in one's food is no cause for comment or conjecture —best ignored. And remember, conversation topics at home tend toward the more cosmopolitan and impersonal. Which means don't discuss your dates in detail.

Driving: Driving a car is easy, even a girl can do it. But it can be dangerous—here are a few safety tips. First, drive fast. Highways are dangerous, it's best to spend as little time as possible on them. Don't worry about speed breaks—Issac Anderson invented them and nobody outside of Maryville has heard about them yet. Boys, open the car door for your date; if the boy doesn't open the door for you, stand helplessly outside. If he drives off without you, try to look like you don't notice him leaving. This is hard on the male ego. When driving with a date, it's advisable to keep both hands on the wheel. When parking with a date, it's particularly advisable. And try to remember: cars are, in many sections of the country, perfectly common. It isn't necessary to duck your head under the dashboard everytime you pass someone you know. Get out of this habit.

That covers the basics—have a good summer.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

MARYVILLE COLLEGE

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Member of University Press Service. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester; $1.75 per year.

Beth Reichardt, Editor

Lynn Herring, Assistant — Pat Crossley, News

Pat Baker, Features

John Mitchell, Jeanne Price, Sports — Anitra Bard, Exchange

Mike Garrett, Business Manager

Phyllis Deloteus, Assistant — Jim Stewart, Circulation

Dr. Carolyn Blair, Mr. Frank Layman, Faculty Advisors

Contributors: Charlotta Cook, Ellen Dozier, Margaret Dozier, Elenora Easterly, Arlene Ford, John Gamble, Ann Harrison, Jean Kelleher, Dave Marston, Connie Bondurant, Phil Jerome, Todd Owers, Chuck Spencer, Gail Garloch

Letter to the Editor

Let me express my deep appreciation for the hospitality shown me on my visit to your campus last Sunday. Especially do I want to thank Dr. and Mrs E. Fay Campbell for entertaining me in their lovely home and for providing me an opportunity to meet a number of students interested in Church vocations. I wish there was a way by which my gratitude could be expressed to the whole College community.

Very sincerely yours,

E. G. Homrighausen

PROSPECTIVE

It is indeed difficult to know just what to say at a time such as this. I would, however, like to take this opportunity to express my deep appreciation to all of the students who were instrumental in the work of the council this year. I would like to express a special "thank you" to the 1961-62 Student Council. For all of the time, work, concern, and thoughtfulness that was evidenced by this group, I am indeed grateful.

But to you who will be here next year, I would like to remind you of the challenge and opportunity that will be yours. Next year will be a time for Maryville College students to show just what they are. Students have been given increased responsibility--will it be exercised in a mature way? The women students have voted to live under honor dormitory systems—how honorable will they be? The student governments are doing more each year than ever before—what will you do to help them in the coming years? The decisions are indeed individual, but the choice that each student makes will affect not only the individual, but the entire student body and the institution as a whole.

—Connie Bondurant

OF HARP SINGING

by Gail Garloch

Strange sounds were produced in Maryville's Second Baptist Church on Easter Sunday afternoon. The Knox County Old Harp Singers, inside the church, were opening their 1962 summer season of Harp singing, contributing to East Tennessee's cultural heritage and carrying on one of the traditions of American folk music.

Each Sunday from May through October the singers travel on their yellow bus to churches in the area to lead a sing. The music is sung with no accompaniment, no harps; the name of the group comes from their songbook, The New Harp of Columbia. The music in this hymnal is in four parts and is written in shaped notes. The seven shapes of the notes printed on the staff represent tones of the scales. Many of the hymn tunes are familiar ones, as are some of the words.

Each member takes his turn at leading; after the leader announces the hymn, a pitch pipe is sounded, and there is a call for the chord. After the chord is sounded, the singers sing through the hymn using the syllabic names of the tones, as "Sol, sol, la, do, do, re, re, do, mi, re, do, la...." This is especially interesting, for some of the parts go at breakneck speed.

The voices are all untrained, but vigorous, and each singer beats time for himself. The chords are true, but the music has a strange nasal quality and is produced with much emotion. When the syllables have been sung, the musicians sing through the words of the hymn, and the next leader comes forward.

Harp singing orignated in colonial times with the Conservative Old Baptists, who kept their own hymns. Before the books were printed, the preachers read the musical syllables to their congregations as they sang. When the words and music were written down, the practice of syllable singing continued.

The tunes in the Harp book are the old folk melodies of the British Isles. Many of these hymns are now used by Presbyterians and Methodists, as well as the Baptists, who originated them. The words deal with a variety of subjects, though perhaps death and missions are the outstanding ones.

The singers themselves are mostly Knoxville citizens and come from a variety of backgrounds and occupations. Mr. Frank Carter, the president of the group is an attorney; Mr. Grandville Pate, a member of the Gospel Quartet which provides special interludes, painted several of the buildings on the Maryville campus. Nine year old Hiawatha Tipton is the youngest singer and an able leader.

The newest members of the Old Harp Singers are "two University students from Maryville College," Dick Freeman and Gail Garloch They were voted in at the sing on May 6 at the Jonesville ME. Church in Roane County.

The all-day program on May 6 was a typical Harp sing. The school bus left the Knoxville Courthouse at 9:30 a.m., bumped musically over the roads and arrived at the church in time for Sunday School. After Sunday School and several hours of good strong singing, a buffet dinner was spread on the church lawn, and the singers enjoyed all kinds of home-cooked victuals in the shade of a mountain with the presence of a cow.

The bell in the church steeple signaled the beginning of the afternoon singing, which lasted until 4:30. The final hymn was announced, chorded, syllabled, and sung with as much spirit as the opening hymn. After good-byes and thankyous were said, the singers, some of them still singing, again boarded the yellow bus.

Cabbages & Kings

The Walrus was trying on his mortarboard, but it kept slipping over his whiskers. "What's the matter, Walrus?" I asked.

"It doesn't seem to fit exactly, quite," he said, and then gave an enormous sneeze as the tassle tickled his nose.

"Didn't you get your head size measured at the book store before you ordered it?"

"Well, I tried. But everytime the poor girl started to put the tape measure around my head, she got stuck by my tusks. So finally she gave up and just guessed at a size." He took the hat off and eyed it dubiously. "Perhaps," he said, "if I walk out in the rain, it might shrink."

"Perhaps it will. But then again, perhaps it won't."

"Carpenter," he said, "you have summed the situation up pr[illegible] well."

"If there's one thing I can do after four years here," I said modestly, "it's to sum things up."

* * * * * *

The Walrus peered over my shoulder as I typed. "Carpenter," he said sternly, "you aren't going to get all sentimental in the last article, just because we're leaving dear old Maryville, are you?"

"Oh, no," I answered quickly, "no, I'm not going to be sentimental or anything." I tried hard not to sniff and almost succeeded.

"Now look here, Carpenter," he said, patting me on the shoulder with his left flipper, "after all, this isn't the end of everything. We'll still be a part of the Maryville College Family."

"We will?"

"Of course. You'll see. Why, we'll get the Alumni Bulletin and all sorts of requests for money. We'll be needed."

"Well," I said, "as long as we'll be needed, then it's not so bad."

"Certainly. I knew you'd understand. And, by the way," he added, sticking a handful of Maryville College folders into my hand, "the Public Relations Office would like you to distribute these on your way home."

* * * * * *

The Walrus was cleaning out the pencil sharpener when I finished typing. I pulled out the sheet of paper and began folding it. "Hold on," he said. "I want to read that first." He blew into the pencil sharpener and a puff of gray dust flew up.

"All right," I said. "Read it." When he finished reading, he handed it back, saying, "There are still a few places that seem a trifle, uh, sticky, but I guess it will do."

"Walrus, don't you feel a little sad about leaving?"

"Who, me?" he asked, blowing his nose loudly. "Why, of course not. I feel strong and courageous and able to face the world." He blew his nose again. "Well, let's go."

"Go?"

"The time has come," the Walrus said. So we walked out of the Echo office and closed the door.

On Commencement

(for the 1962 graduates)

Commencement dawn, the sky aflame with yellow,
Commits one universal gift to you—
For young heart's bright and multi-colored hue
Maturing years will ever warm and mellow.
Not to lose imagination's dreaming
Nor heartborn schemes that make you round and real,
But mellowed happiness because you feel
The plan and purpose in your hope and scheming.
There lies a wisdom in the skies that we
With all our learning never fully know,
But beauty reassures us when the sea
Of clouds smiles down, caressing memory's glow;
Commencement means continuing to grow.
And thereby learn the secret, why we BE.

—Lynn Herring

WE APPLAUD...
SENIORS 1962

Class Officers

President ..... Lew Pelkey

Vice President ..... Larry Mease

Secretary ..... Glorianna Hutcheson

Top Row:

Judith Helen Agee; Cheyenne, Wyoming; English. Patricia Marie Baker; Decatur Georgia; English. Leona May Barnes; Gurnee, Illinois; Art. Mary Etta Biggs; Maryville, Tennessee; Psychology. Nancy Jean Bingham; Jacksonville, Florida; Sociology.

Bottom Row:

Susan Ann Bloomer; Berwyn, Pennsylvania; Music History. Constance Sue Bondurant; Prairie Village, Kansas; Christian Education. Jeraldine Anne Boone; Tallassee, Tennessee; Elementary Education. Evelyn Jane Brackbill; Kinzers, Pennsylvania; Music Education. Angelita Marroquin Briseno; Mexico City, D. F., Mexico; Philosophy.

Top Row:

Sharlene Ann Brokering; New Milford, New Jersey; Christian Education. Philip Raymond Collmer; Roslyn, Pennsylvania; Psychology Charles David Cost; Glenside, Pennsylvania; Biology. Thomas Hugh Crawford; Maryville, Tennessee; Economics. Brenda Nadine Dalton, Maryville, Tennessee; French.

Bottom Row:

Dan Wayne Davis; Leeds, Alabama; Psychology. Raymond Thomas Donaldson; Hackensack, New Jersey; Philosophy. Ellen Harris Dozier; Decatur, Georgia; Bible and Christian Education. Jack Louis Easter; Maryville, Tennessee; Elementary Education. Helen Anne Easterly; LaFollette, Tennessee; English.

COLLEGE CLEANERS

Serving Maryville College for 31 Years
George C. Garner

May You Enjoy Success
in the Years Ahead

SEYMOUR'S

Congratulations, Seniors!
We've Enjoyed Serving You

CITY DRUG CO.

May The Years Ahead
Bring Success and Happiness

Minton's

Top Row:

Helen Joan Ellis; De Ridder, Louisiana; History. Ben L. Ervin; Maryville, Tennessee; Business Administistration. Paul Clyde Evans; Stratford, Connecticut; English. George Arthur Fairchild; Towanda, Pennsylvania; Health and Physical Education. Thomas Albert Fairman; Cleveland Heights, Ohio; Chemistry.

Bottom Row:

Charles William Feast; Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Philosophy. Clyde H. Flanagan, Jr.; Maryville, Tennessee; Chemistry. Arlene Sandra Ford; Norristown, Pennsylvania; English. Gayle White Fox; Alcoa, Tennessee; History. Nancy Miriam Frame; Staten Island, New York; Elementary Education.

Top Row:

Harriet Joanne Fuhrman; Atlanta, Georgia; English. Marguerite Jo Gilly; Clinton, Maryland; Piano. Rachael Ann Goddard; Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Elementary Education. Wilma Kate Greene; Maryville, Tennessee; Elementary Education. Carol Anne Greenwood; Mount Holly, New Jersey; Elementary Education.

Bottom Row·

Glenda Gray Schroeder; Alcoa, Tennessee; Mathematics. Jeffery Robert Grote; New Milford, New Jersey; History. Miriam Nightingale Hall; Maryville, Tennessee; Art. Arthur Timothy Hanks; Orlando, Florida; Sociology. Elsie May Harris; Pineville, North Carolina: English.

Top Row:

Judith Ann Hirst; Sicklerville, New Jersey; Elementary Education. Richard Starr Hornbuckle; Woodstown, New Jersey; Political Science. Kay Carolyn Huber; Lambertville, New Jersey; Music Education. Joel King Breitenhirt; Maryville, Tennessee; Philosophy and Religion. Glorianna Natalie Hutcheson; Atlanta, Georgia; Home Economics.

Bottom Row:

Marion Prentice Irwin; Fountain City, Tennessee; Foreign Languages. Donald Coe Jackman; Loudon, Tennessee; Chemistry. Barbara Anne Jayne; Williamsburg, Virginia; Art. Donna Marie Jensen; Bingham Lake, Minnesota; Sociology. Cornelia Ann Kennedy; East Point, Georgia; Medical Technology.

Congratulations Seniors
On A Job Well Done!
BROADWAY JEWELERS

MURPHY-WEST
MOTOR COMPANY
CHEVROLET-OLDSMOBILE
MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE

Good Luck to the
Class of 1962
CAPITOL THEATRE

Our Best To You
In Your Future Endeavors
W G A P

Our Sincere Best Wishes
To the Class of 1962!
Carl McDonald
&
HORNE'S FLORIST

May The Years Ahead
Bring Success
PARK DRUG STORE
CAMERA STORE

May Your Labor
Always Prosper
THE
J and K
SUPER STORES
Maryville — Alcoa

Our Best Wishes
For Success
MARYVILLE CLEANERS

Top Row:

Janet Victoria Kilgard; Coral Gables, Florida; Music Education. Rebeccah Ann Kinnamon; Kernersville, North Carolina; English. Sue Ann Lemme; Normal, Illinois; English. Donald William Leo; Hunt Station, New York; History. Chester P. Lippy; Maryville, Tennessee; Philosophy and Religion.

Bottom Row:

Lois Louise Lockett; Knoxville, Tennessee; Health and Physical Education. Donald Charles McFerren; Tulsa, Oklahoma; History. William Patrick McGuire; Asheville. North Carolina; Business Administration. Larry B. Mease; Vail, Iowa; Philosophy. David R. Meneely; Levittown, Pennsylvania; Scoiology.

Top Row:

John Roberts Mitchell; Decatur, Alabama; English. Robert Blair Moffett; Oyster Bay, New York; English. Charles Hutton Moffett; Maryville, Tennessee; Sociology. Anne Montgomery Morrell; Gatlinburg, Tennessee; English. Charlotte Ann Murchison; Wilmington, Delaware; Elementary Education.

Bottom Row:

Anne Nakamura; Chicago, Illinois; History. Priscilla Newcomer; McClellandtown, Pennsylvania; Chemistry. George Chester Nichols; Maryville Tennessee; History. Barbara Alice Nielson; Lyndhurst, New Jersey; Elementary Education. Roger Mitchell Nooe, Jr.; Harrodsburg, Kentucky; Psychology.

Top Row:

Richard Park; New York, New York; Philosophy and Religion. Nancy Lynne Parks; Campbell, Ohio; Psychology. Lewis Eugene Pelkey; Canonsburg, Pennsylvania; Psychology. Virginia May Pratt; Riverside, California; Voice. Elizabeth Beck Reichardt; Ashland, Kentucky; English.

Bottom Row:

Robert Eugene Reidenbach; Arcadia, California; Political Science. James Clemens Renfro, Jr.; Maryville, Tennessee; Chemistry. Robert Reichenbach; South River, New Jersey; Psychology. Patricia Huntley Riden; Sardinia, Ohio; Elementary Education. Evelyn Mary Rogers; Windom, Minnesota; Elementary Education.

Our Best Wishes to
The Graduates of 1962
BADGETT STORE CO.

Compliments of PENNEY'S
ALWAYS FIRST QUALITY
J.C. PENNEY CO., INC.

To the Class of '62
Our Very Best Wishes
PARKS–BELK

Our Best Wishes to
The Seniors of 1962 !
BYRNE DRUG COMPANY

Congratulations and
Best Wishes
HARTMAN'S FLOWERS

Congratulations Grads!
May You Enjoy Much Happiness
GIFF'S SPORTING GOODS

Congratulations Seniors
On A Job Well Done!
COLLEGE HILL GRILL

C.C. Moore's
SHOEMAKER'S SHOE STORE
Maryville's Good Shoe Store

Top Row:

Nona Mae Roll; Hyattsville, Maryland; History. Arlette Carol Roselli; Boston, Massachusetts; Sociology. Eleanor Kidder Ross; Knoxville, Tennessee; Elementary Education. Mikiko Shimizu; Sappora, Japan; Christian Education. Sylvia Elaine Smith; West Lawn, Pennsylvania; Biology.

Bottom Row:

Dale Vaughn Sterner; Louisville, Kentucky; Health and Physical Education. Susan M. Stewart; Wilmington, Delaware; Elementary Education. Donald Boyd Stupak; Newbury, Ohio; Physics. Bruce Townsend; Wanaque, New Jersey; Music Education. Martha Jean Turnbull; Silver Springs, Maryland; Economics.

Top Row:

Lynn Edith Waddington; Salem, New Jersey; French. Lynn Titus Webb, Maryville, Tennessee; Economics. Henry M. Weeks; Amherst, Massachusetts; Sociology. David Charles West: Maryville, Tennessee; Physics. Joyce Alma Williams; Maryville, Tennessee; English.

Reese McMullen Wills, Jr.; Denver, Colorado; History. E. Jeanne Wilson; Silver Spring, Maryland; Home Economics Dietetics. Emily Allen Wood; Newport, Tennessee; Elementary Education. Sharon Agnes Wylie; Lafayette Hill, Pennsylvania; Elementary Education.

Seniors Not Pictured:

James Coup
Roy Lee Cooper
Robert Hartley Fenner
Bertie Jane Franks
Joel David Giffin
Robert Kirkland Johnston
Priscilla Catherine Loud
James Lawrence McGhee
Norio Ohta
Billy Max Owenby
Nellie Lucille Petree
Carolyn Ellen Slack
Nancy Rosemary Slack
Larry Melvin Stearns

Our Very Best to the Class of '62 MY COUSIN'S	Best of Luck In The Future Michaels Midland Shopping Center	Best Wishes To All The Seniors CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK	Best of Luck in the Months and Years that lie ahead. CROWN LANES
Congratulations Graduates! May You Prosper In The Future LEONARD'S STEAK HOUSE	Thank You For Your Patronage! You Have Our Sincere Best Wishes SUPERIOR CLEANERS Cal Kirkland	We've Enjoyed Serving You Congratulations! WHITE OFFICE MACHINES	Best Wishes In All Your Endeavors PET DAIRY

THUMBS UP!

By John Mitchell

Fortunately, this is the last issue of the Echo for the year. Throughout examinations, vacations, independent studies, comps, hot weather, and various seasons of sports, I have been keeping my thumbs up, and they are beginning to get a little weary.

But the whole experience has been rewarding. I suppose the most fun I had was adjusting to the opinion, "Thumbs Up! stinks." Without the inspiration of that remark, I doubt I could have managed to keep up the smell, and many times I would have been short of subject matter. Objectively, I think it gave a sort of organic unity to the whole series.

But I was most pleased with the criticism made by one of by "buddies." Slapping me on the back, he remarked, "Mitch, your column may not be worth a darn, but it sure is controversial."

Looking back in retrospect and forward with disillusionment (I'm graduating), I thought it might be a good idea to deliver a charge to the new sports editor of the Echo, Todd Owers, before he is ordained and baptized under fire. First I might point out that Todd has been a great help in putting together the sports page — he even types his copy before turning it in — and has turned out some highly interesting accounts of the tennis team's exploits this spring. For a look at the quality of his work, you can inspect the two articles he did for this issue, the one on tennis and the one on the spring sports banquet.

And while I am in the thanking mood I also would like to thank Chuck Spencer, John Gamble and Phil Jerome for their reporting and Blair Moffett and Don Stupak for their photography.

The first thing I would charge Todd to do is to get someone to take his place. Enough said about that. Secondly, don't try to please anybody; it can't be done. If you can satisfy yourself you are doing remarkably well, and sometimes you will think it extraordinary if you even have a sports page. Finally, write for all of the students and not just for the sports. That way you're bound to offend some one.

As a graduating (to distinguish myself from other types) senior, I might also charge the MC coaches and athletes to do as good a job in the future as you did this year, and to all of you I say "Thumbs Up!"

(Boy, did I get off the hook in that last paragraph!)

Baseball Ends

The 1962 Scot baseball team ended its season with a 5-16 record after winning one game out of the last four. After traveling to Carson-Newman to meet a 16-6 defeat, the Scots came up with a 7-6 win over the Emory and Henry Wasps after eleven innings of play.

The next contest was with that favorite foe again, Carson-Newman, this time on the home field. The Scots held a 3-1 lead until the fifth inning when the Eagles scored two runs on a disputed play. The protest was that a Carson-Newman player interfered with Maryville catcher Dale Sterner as he tried to recover the ball. While the two players exchanged shoves, a second runner scored.

Coach Baird protested vigorously, but to no avail. The score remained at 3-3 until the Eagles broke through for three more runs in the top of the tenth to win the game 6-3. Dave West went all the way for Maryville, pitching a beautiful game. "Buck" Petty led the Scot hitters by getting three of the six hits.

In the final game of the season the Scots ran into the hard-hitting Bucs of East Tennessee State and lost 18-3. The Bucs jumped on the Scot starter, Benny Monroe, for eight runs in the first inning and coasted home from then on. Monroe was relieved by Dave Meneely, who pitched well for about four innings and then began to tire. John Badders and Joe Scheidler finished the game. Sterner had a double and a home run to lead the hitting.

It was the last game for seniors Dave Meneely, Dale Sterner, and Art Fairchild.

Get your facts first, and then you can distort them as much as you please. —Mark Twain

MC Athletes Honored At Sports Banquet

Close to fifty athletes were honored last Tuesday night, May 15th, at the annual spring sports banquet held in Pearson's dining hall on the college campus. Following a delicious meal by Miss Ware, this Maryville athletic contingent and their dates settled back to some interesting introductory statements by Director of Athletics, Coach Boydson H. Baird, who served as toastmaster for the evening event. Coach first called upon wrestling mentor, John A. Davis, to give a run-down of the wrestling season, which he did, in a vein that was both interesting and humorous, although due credit must also be given to a helpful canine "fan" outside the hall for his unrehearsed contribution. Coach announced that Pete Stafford has been elected as next year's captain and pointed out that this year's captain, Jim Baxter, has an excellent chance of setting a new school record if he can win the 115 lb. S.E.C. championship at the S.E.C. tournament next fall. This will be the fourth year in a row Jimmy will have won this distinction—something no Maryville athlete has ever accomplished. The wrestling outlook for next year is more than promising, coach said, with most of this year's lettermen returning.

Coach Baird then spoke of the basketball team, singling out particularly for their outstanding work, senior forward Dale Sterner and sophomore center Gerald Russel. Dale will be sorely missed on defense next year, since coach pointed out that very frequently it was Dale who was assigned to guard the toughest men our team came up against, and it was he who consistently turned in the best job of this difficult task.

Tennis next found itself in the spotlight, with Coach Lauren Kardatzke introducing the individual team members, along with giving their individual season won-lost records. Jeff Grote had the best singles record, and Bob Johnston and Todd Owers were deemed best in doubles play on the basis of a very commendable 12-4 record. Coach pointed out that tennis has improved vastly from year to year and is indeed on the upswing if past records are any indication at all. This year's squad has just climaxed a fine 10-7 season, the first winning year a Maryville College Tennis Team has had since the year 1953.

Coach Howard "Monk" Tomlinson sang high praises to two of his track lettermen—freshman Joe Malloy and senior Bill Owenby, each being singled out for his excellent individual performance at the Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Track Meet held in Nashville earlier this month. Bill set a new state record in the javelin throw and Joe, fresh from a stint with the Marines, rewrote the record book with his specialty, the pole vault, vaulting 12 feet 6 inches to a new state record. Senior letterman Dave Cost was recognized not only for his fine distance running this year, but also for his fine job of recruiting and many other behind-the-scene contributions to the track team this year. Track is a growing sport at Maryville College and has come a long way in the past two years. The team was hurting for men in the latter stages of the season, and coach mentioned that a better turnout of able-bodied dormitory students next year would put Maryville College in a position to surprise a good many people.

Finally Coach Baird spoke of his baseball team, once again singling out the "old war horse" Dale Sterner for his fine job this year behind the bat and at first base, and also Dave West for his nifty moundwork.

President Copeland then spoke briefly of the athletic program in general and expressed confidence in it and in the Maryville student body to keep up the continued high spirit and enthusiasm which has been so characteristic of Maryville athletics, both in past years and in the Highland tradition of today. Coach Baird closed the program with some general remarks regarding the program next year, stressing particularly the need for more active participation of the dormitory students in Maryville College Varsity Athletics.

Scots Netters Sting Wasps 6-3

Combining some excellent doubles technique with fine singles play, the Maryville College tennis team stroked its way to a decisive 6-3 victory over a strong Emory and Henry sextet on Saturday afternoon, May 12th. This was the final match of the year for the Maryville netmen, as well as the last match in a Maryville uniform for the senior Scots, Bob Johnston and Jeff Grote.

Emory and Henry posed a dangerous threat from the very beginning and showed that they meant business by winning both number one and two singles matches on a clean sweep. Maryville bounced right back with some fine play as the middle of the Highlander team ladder — Jeff Grote, Dave Marston, and Bob Paul—all found the victory route a most pleasant one on this stifling hot Saturday afternoon. The Emory and Henry Wasps won the number six doubles match; so at the end of singles play the match was tied up at three matches all.

It was doubles that told the final tale, and it was good news for Maryville as the team swept all three matches from the visiting Wasps. Jeff Grote and Dave Marston won their number two doubles match relatively easy and had the honor of being first to step off the court victoriously. Even though this match went three sets, Jeff said that he wasn't really worried about the match going the limit; he just wanted to prolong his playing career an extra set. And besides, Johnston and Owers on the center court weren't looking too good, and he was worried about them—they might even lose. Those two clowns at times played like a number one doubles team; but at other times they looked like fugitives from a Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey side show, and this Jeff was afraid might be one of those unfortunate times. On the third court, Bob Paul and Jon Sypher were pulling off the biggest surprise of the afternoon as they were winning over a strong number three Emory doubles team in quite an upset. This was the first match that Bob and Jon had won this year as a team, and they looked very good in doing so, displaying much promise for next year. Meanwhile, back at the ranch, the center court fugitives still were trying to find the winning combination in a match which had all the earmarks of developing into a real first-class marathon. They had won the first set 6-2 lost the second one 2-6, and were now deadlocked in that all important third and final set. The match dragged on and on into the late afternoon and early evening, with the tennis balls beginning to feel more and more like so much lead in the hands with each passing moment. A fine rally pulled the Maryvillians up even at eight games all; a service break put them ahead 9-8; and a win on their own serve gave them the game set, and match by the score of 10-8.

Celebration at End

An impromptu celebration was held on center court after the match, during which time coach Lauren Kardatzke's charges presented him with a beautifully engraved set of cuff links and a tie clasp, each piece bearing the special distinction of an engraved tennis racket on it. This gift was a token of the team's appreciation

Cont'd Page 8

Whatever you need in the way of pastries or baked goods, for that special occasion, we have just the thing!

Call 982-7920

or Ride The Bus to Midland Center

VAN'S BAKERY

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

TO THE SENIORS –
Our Very Best Wishes
At Graduation Time. . .
And In The Years Ahead!
We've enjoyed Serving You

CLYDE RAY TIPTON, Jewelry
101 Court Street YU 2-0141

The "Y" Store Proudly serves
MAYFIELD'S
Ice Cream
and Milk
Smoother, Richer, better Tasting
Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

MC GRAD TO JOIN BIOLOGY FACULTY

A Maryville graduate, who has been teaching the biological sciences in colleges since 1948, and who will receive his doctorate this summer, will join the Maryville College faculty in the fall as professor of Biology.

Mr. A. Randolph Shields, who has been on the staff at Roanoke College, Roanoke, Va., where he was assistant professor of biology, graduated from Maryville College in 1934. He served as head of the biology department at Emory and Henry College from 1948 to 1956, and was instructor in botany at the University of Tennessee from 1956 to 1959 while he was studying for his Ph.D.

The new biology professor, a native of Cades Cove, will bring to Maryville a broad background of knowledge and experience in his field. He holds a master's degree in zoology, and his doctorate will be in botany. In addition to his teaching career, he was Chief Fisheries Biologist for Tennessee from 1939 to 1944, and served in the Navy Medical Corps during the war. From 1946 to 1948 he was Senior Fisheries Biologist in North Carolina.

Mrs. Sheilds is also a member of the Maryville College Class of 1934. They have four children, three daughters and a son. The youngest daughter is in high school.

"Mr. Shields' extensive study in the biological sciences, his successful experience as a teacher, and his evident Christian commitment will add greatly to the Maryville College Biology Department," Dr Joseph J. Copeland has said.

Sig Defeats Phi

Alpha Sigma defeated Kappa Phi in the Stinkin' Shoe softball game by a score of 8 to 4.

Alpha Sig opened the scoring by pushing across two runs in the first inning. However, Kappa Phi came back and the score was tied at 4 to 4 after four innings of play. The fifth inning proved to be the turning point. The Sigs scored four times and brought Ed Ziegler in to the mound to replace Jerry Stewart. Ziegler finished the game for Sig, holding Phi scorless and surrendering only one hit — a single by Bill Weissenburger.

"Red" Prudhon and Albie Ries provided much of the hitting power for Sig. Prudhon collected 3 hits in four times at bat, while Ries went 4 for 5. Phi was led by catcher Bill Weissenburger who added a home run to two singles to go 3 for 4. Ed Ziegler was the winning pitcher, while Bert Randall went the complete nine rounds in suffering the loss.

SCOTS NETTERS,

Cont'd from Page 7

for the fine coaching done throughout the season. It was generally agreed by all that it had been a good year in many respects, but most important of all it had been a good year mathematically. This year's tennis team won ten matches and lost seven, a very good achievement when compared with one very important fact: the last time a Maryville College tennis team had a winning season was in the year 1953, when they finished that year with a 9-3 record.

Experience is a name everyone gives to their mistakes.

—Oscar Wilde

COMMENCEMENT

Cont'd from Page 1

perform on the program are chosen by a committee of the music faculty. Those seniors on the program include Marguerite Gilly, a piano major from Clinton, Maryland, who will play three selections including the andante movement from Schubert's Sonata in A Major, Opus 121. Miss Virginia Pratt, a voice major from Riverside, California, will sing "Mi Chianiano Mimi" from La Boheme by Puccini; Miss Sharan Jones will be accompanying Miss Pratt. Miss Susan Bloomer, a music history major from Berwyn, Pennsylvania, will sing "To this we come" from The Counsul by Menotti; Mr. Paul Evans is Miss Bloomer's accompanist.

The Recitative Aria of the Archangel from the Redemption by Franck will be preformed by Miss Arlette Roselli, a sociology major from Everett, Massachusetts; Mr. Bruce Townsend will accompany Miss Roselli. Miss Evelyn Brackbill, a music education major from Kinzers, Pennsylvania, will play a piano selection, "Intermezzo in A Major," Opus 76, No. 76 by Brahms. Mr. Paul Evans, an English major from Stratford, Connecticut will sing "Madarmina" from Mozart's opera Don Giovanni; Mr. Allan Hoke will be accompanying Mr. Evans. Mr. Evans will also play a piano selection, Toccata by Khachaturian. The music majors will honor, with a reception following the Music Hour, those members of the music faculty who are leaving.

Final Vespers

Mr. James C. Stewart, president of the United Presbyterian Men, will speak at the final vesper service of the year tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the Wilson Chapel. The father of two Maryville College students, Sue, a senior, and Jim, a sophomore, Mr. Stewart is an elder in the Hanover Presbyterian Church in Wilmington, Delaware.

"Candida" and "Noah"

On Monday and Tuesday evenings the Playhouse will culminate its activities for the 1962-1963 season. Candida, by George Bernard Shaw, will star Cecelia Bridges and William Conger as Candida and James Morell. On the following evening David Evans will reappear in the title role of Andre Obey's Noah. Both performances will begin at 8:30 p.m., and tickets are on sale at the Theatre.

1962 Commencement Program

President of Peabody College Felix C. Robb will deliver the address at the 143rd commencement program, which will begin at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, May 30. The 1962 graduation exercises will signify a new beginning for approximately ninety senior students.

JANE DODEZ,

Cont'd from Page 1

dent who attended her high school to spend the holiday at St. Moritz, in the ski region.

Miss Dodez has planned to spend her junior year abroad for several years. She applied in the United Presbyterian JYA program last October and was chosen, after two careful screenings, as one of the fifty students to participate in the program. Miss Priscilla Newcomer, a graduating chemistry major, spent her JYA in Lebanon under the same program.

Miss Dodez has been active in debate during her two years at Maryville College and is a member of Pi Kappa Delta, honorary speech fraternity. She has consistently won top awards for extemporaneous speaking. She is a member of Chi Beta.

Artist Series To Present 3 Performances

The Maryville College Artist Series for 1962-1963 will present another outstanding array of artists and performers. In its distinguished tradition of presenting world famous artists at low cost to both students and townspeople, the Series will offer these attractions:

On October 26 The Gregg Smith Singers, a choral ensemble described by the London Times as "A greatly gifted body," will present a program consisting largely of modern compositions. The group has toured extensively in this country and on the continent.

On January 31 The National Players will appear in Maryville for the third time since 1954. This classical repertory company is sponsored by the Catholic University of America, and has been described by the New Yorker as "An excellently disciplined group . . . a pleasure to watch."

The season will close on March 8 with a young duo-piano team, Gold and Fizdale. They are equally well versed in both classical and contemporary styles, and are the only such team to appear with the New York Philharmonic in the last five years.

MC To Open Sept. 11 With 750 Enrollment

Maryville College will open one day earlier next fall, and the dormitories will be filled to capacity. It is expected that enrollment will reach 750 or more students. Miss Viola Lightfoot, registrar, predicts that even the dormitories for men will be full, for more men students have applied for admission next fall than in several past years.

The opening procedures, Miss Lightfoot has stated, will follow the patterns of previous years. Incoming freshmen will arrive on Tuesday, September 11, 1962, for a period of testing and orientation. The fall term will begin for all students 8 a.m. Friday, Sept. 14.

Other opening exercises will include the YMCA and YWCA receptions on Sept. 15, the faculty reception on Sept. 17, and the annual convocation scheduled for Sept. 25.

THE

BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

– BANKING SERVICES –

*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

*CHECK ACCOUNTS

*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS

*TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock
of Quality Products Including
a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE
SUPER MARKET

Washington Avenue

FREE FREE FREE

TRANSPORTATION

on all

White Star Line Buses

From ELLIS STREET To
MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER
AND Return

MARYVILLE-KNOXVILLE WEEKDAY BUS SCHEDULE

O – OLD HIGHWAY
N – NEW HIGHWAY

Lv. Maryville	Lv. Knoxville
O– 5:30 A.M.	O– 6:30 A.M.
N– 6:00	N– 7:00
O– 6:30	O– 7:50
O– 7:00	N– 8:00
N– 7:00	O– 8:30
O– 7:30	N– 9:00
N– 7:45	O– 9:30
O– 8:00	N–10:00
N– 8:00	O–10:30
O– 8:30	N–11:00
N– 9:00	O–11:30
O– 9:30	N–12:00 Noon
N–10:00	O–12:30 P.M.
O–10:30	N– 1:00
N–11:00	O– 1:30
O–11:30	N– 2:00
N–12:00 Noon	O– 2:30
O–12:30 P.M.	N– 3:00
N– 1:00	O– 3:30
O– 1:30	O– 4:00
N– 2:00	N– 4:00
O– 2:30	O– 4:30
O– 3:00	O– 5:00
N– 3:00	N– 5:00
O– 3:30	O– 5:30
N– 4:00	O– 6:00
O– 4:30	N– 6:00
O– 5:00	O– 7:00
N– 5:00	N–11:15
O– 6:00	*Does not operate on Saturday
N– 8:00
O–10:00 via N.P.

This Ad and Transportation Paid for by
Merchants of
MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

1962 - 1963

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 48 | Maryville, Tennessee, September 22. 1962 | No. 1

M C Faculty Finds Twelve New Faces

New faculty members for the school year 1962-63 number 12—two for the departments of history and mathematics and one each for the departments of physics, psychology, art, sociology, Bible and Christian education, speech and theatre, music, and English.

HISTORY

Dr. Joseph Martin Mehl, who is instructing in history, is a graduate of the University of Maryland. He has done work at Hamilton College and Basel University. He received his doctorate at the American University in Washington, D.C. Dr. Mehl has done private tutoring and has worked as an archivist in the National Archives.

The second new instructor in the history department is Wallace L. Lewis, who has a bachelor's degree from the University of Akron and a master's degree from the State University of Iowa, where he has also done further advanced work.

MATHEMATICS

C. G. Doss, a native Virginian, is joining the mathematics department. He has taught mathematics at the University of Tennessee since 1955. Mr. Doss graduated from Lincoln Memorial University as did his wife, and holds a master's degree.

A former instructor at Indiana Technological College. Hugh D. Landis, Jr., is instructing in mathematics. Mr. Landis has a master's degree from Louisiana State University.

PHYSICS

Joining the Maryville College department of physics is Oliver Lloyd Basford, who holds a master's degree from the University of Texas. He has studied, taught, and done research at Columbia University and Baylor University. Mr. Basford formerly taught at Texas Tech.

PSYCHOLOGY

A new instructor in psychology is Donald Wayne Dixon, a native of Louisiana, but most recently from Miami, where he received his master's degree this summer. Mr. Dixon is married and is the father of five children.

ART

William H. Swenson, a Maryville College graduate, is an assistant professor in the art department. He has attended McCormick Theological Seminary, and holds the bachelor's and master's degrees in art education from the School of Art Institute in Chicago.

SOCIOLOGY

Mr. Swenson's wife, Dr. Elizabeth Cornelius Swenson, will teach

Cont'd Page 6

Four Persons Join M C Staff

New staff members at Maryville College this year number four: Mrs. Charles E. Cathey, head of Pearsons Hall; Miss Betty Jo Ingle, librarian; Jim Cummings, admissions counselor; and Lee F. Crippen, Jr., supervisor of men's residences.

Mrs. Cathey is no stranger to Maryville College. Her husband, the late Rev. Cathey, was a member of the college board of directors before his death four years ago. Two of Mrs. Cathey's daughters are Maryville College graduates. Mrs. Cathey has been holding a similar position at Davis and Elkins College in Elkins, West Virginia.

Miss Ingle has been employed at the State Library and Archives in Nashville as an assistant in the catalog department. She received her master's degree in library science from Peabody in June.

Mr. Cummings graduated from Maryville College in 1956 with a bachelor of science degree in physics. For the past twenty-one months he has been in Ethiopia, where he worked at a mission station, and in Pakistan, where he taught physics at Gordon College. He is the son of Mrs. John Cummings, who teaches in the Bible and Christian Education department.

Mr. Crippen replaces Mr. Robert Kallstrom this fall. He has been dormitory director at Tusculum College, Greeneville. Mr. Crippen holds the B.S. degree in business administration from Indiana University.

ORCHESTRA PLANS "EXCITING" SEASON

The Maryville College and Community Orchestra will hold its first rehearsal on Monday, September 24. According to Mr. John A. Roberts, conductor, the orchestra anticipates "an exceptionally exciting season."

On November 9 the orchestra will present two programs. The Children's Concert, to be given that afternoon, will be broadcast live over radio station WGAP. That evening the musicians will render their annual Fall Concert at the college.

Other activities planned for the orchestra include appearances at the Messiah, and the annual musical production, as well as the presentation of its own Spring Concert.

Drama Director Announces 1962-63 Playhouse Productions

Mr. Tom Jones, professor of speech and theater arts, looks toward an active season for drama on campus. He announces these scheduled Playhouse productions:

"Look Homeward Angel" November 16 and 17; a stage adaptation of Thomas Wolfe's autobiographical work, adapted by Kettifrings.

"Tiger at the Gates" January 11 and 12; written by Jean Giradoux, translated by Christopher Fry.

The spring musical is to be "Bye, Bye, Birdie," done as a joint effort by the glee clubs, college and community orchestra, and playhouse. This colorful story of a teenage rock and roll artist called to the service will be presented on the evenings of March 15 and 16.

"The Tempest," scheduled June 3 and 4 as the Commencement play, will be done in commemoration of the 400th anniversary of Shakspere's birth.

In addition to these major productions, two experimentals are to be done: "Portraits in Grease Paint," a collection of eighteen scenes from Greek to modern theater; and "The Theater of the Absurd," the recently popular avant guarde off-Broadway drama.

With the exception of the experimentals, casting will be open to any interested person on campus. Technical crews will be selected in the same manner.

Prolific Author

WILMA DYKEMAN STOKLEY TO OPEN LECTURE SERIES

The 1962-1963 Maryville College Lecture Series will open with Mrs. Wilma Dykeman Stokely as the first lecturer. At eight o'clock on Friday evening, October 5, Mrs. Stokely will speak on the subject "The Challenge of a Changing South." The lecture will be in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center.

Mrs. Stokely is a prolific author and is much in demand as a lecturer. This year two new books from her pen have appeared. She collaborated with her husband, James Stokely, on Seeds of Southern Change, published by the University of Chicago Press in the spring of this year, and she published her first novel The Tall Woman this past summer.

In 1955 Mrs. Stokely won the Thomas Wolfe Memorial Award for her book The French Broad, a volume in the "Rivers of America Series." In 1958 she co-authored with her husband the book Neither Black Nor White, a study of the reaction of the South to the Supreme Court decision of 1954. This book won the Hillman Award for the best book of the year in the areas of civil liberties, race relations or world peace.

In addition, she has had her articles and stories published by the Virginia Quarterly Review, Reader's Digest, Harper's, Current History, The New York Herald Tribune, Progressive, New Republic, Journal of Southern History, Southwest Review and various other publications.

Mrs. Stokely, who generally writes under the name of Wilma Dykeman, is a graduate of Northwestern University and has done extensive radio and a little theatre work in addition to extensive lecturing at colleges and universities in the South. At the present time she is one of the columnists carried by the Knoxville New-Sentinel.

WILMA DYKEMAN STOKELY

MC Receives $10,000

The W. K. Kellogg Foundation has given Maryville College $10,000 to be used exclusively for the purchase of books on teacher education. Miss Virginia Turrentine, librarian, has estimated that the grant will make possible an additional 1800 new volumes of educational material within the next three years.

PRESBYTERY DAY CONVENES HERE

The first Union Presbytery Day will be held at Maryville College from 3:00—8:00 p.m., Sunday, September 23, 1962. Delegates from every church in the presbytery have been invited to attend the period of business meetings and discussion groups.

Included in the programming for the day are planning meetings for the presbytery officers, and discussion groups for local church officials and church youth groups. The Chapel Vesper service in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel will conclude the events of the day. Dr. Archie Crouch, Communications Officer of the Board of Ecumenical Mission, will be the speaker, while Dr. Joseph J. Copeland, President of Maryville College, will lead the devotional part of the service, assisted by Rev. M. Scott McClure, moderator of the presbytery.

Arthur S. Bushing, Dean of Men at Maryville College, has pointed out that these meetings would be profitable to those students who are interested in the government of the Presbyterian church.

Choir Tour in Spring To Involve 6 States

Tentative plans for the 1963 Maryville College Choir Tour were released recently. Forty-five students, under the direction of Dr. Harry Harter, will travel to Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio, Southern New Jersey, Central Kentucky, West Virginia, and Virginia. They will present concerts in these areas during spring vacation, March 24 to April 1.

Dr. Harter has suggested that students and alumni living in the areas to be visited inform their churches. No definite engagements for concerts have been arranged as of this time.

Seventy-five Make May Dean's List

Seventy-five students appear on the Dean's list for last semester. Seniors lead the other classes with twenty-four.

24 Seniors

Bingham, Nancy	3.33
Bondurant, Constance	3.40
Coup, James	3.37
Dalton, Brenda	4.00
Davis, Dan	3.46
Evans, Paul	3.61
Ford, Arlene	3.40
Fuhrman, Harriett	3.64
Hall, Miriam	3.75
Harris, Elsie	3.25
Hirst, Judith	3.25
Irwin, Marion	3.50
Jayne, Barbara	3.46
Kinnamon, Rebecca	3.75
Lemme, Sue	3.46
McGhee, James	3.43
Nakamura, Anne	3.40
Nielson, Barbara	3.75
Nooe, Roger	4.00
Petree, Lucille	3.60
Reichenbach, Robert	3.33
Slack, Carolyn	3.25
Smith, Sylvia	3.47
Turnbull, Martha	3.40

18 Juniors

Ball, Beverly	3.40
Bucher, Scott	3.66
Everett, Sally	3.84
Garloch, Gail	3.60
Glenz, Doris	3.27
Harrison, Ann	3.36
Jones, Sharon	3.78
Kren, Frederick	3.47
Leland, John	3.50
Lurcott, Carolyn	3.66
Mahley, Robert	3.61
Mikeal, Judith	3.70
Rehm, Patricia	3.43
Seely, Clarissa	3.52
Swafford, Peggy	3.33
Vredenburg, Gertrude	3.40
Walters, Janice	3.97
Woodward, Bonnie	3.25

Cont'd Page 6

Highlanders March At Parade, Game

The Highlander Marching Band directed by Mr. John A Roberts of the music faculty, begins its yearly activities today. Lead by Drum Major Harold Laster, sophomore from McMinnville, Ohio, the Highlanders make their first appearance as they parade through town this afternoon.

At the home game tonight the band will present a precision drill routine to "The Colonel Bogey March" from "The Bridge on the River Kwai." During half-time the Highlanders will also introduce the new Band Sponsor.

Both at the parade and the game the majorettes will be wearing new uniforms. Their "four-in-one" suits were designed especially for them by Head Majorette Sandra Presley, senior from Acworth, Georgia, and Mrs. James Stanford, formerly with the home economics department.

New Band officers were announced last May 26 at the "Pops and Marches Concert": President is David Allen, junior from Kingsport, Tennessee; vice-president is Anna Baker, senior from Louisville, Kentucky; secretary is Margaret Hansen, sophomore from Belle Center, Ohio; and treasurer is Harold Laster.

The Highland ECHO

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor in Chief
LYNN HERRING

Assistant Editor — CHARLOTTA COOK
News Editor — PATRICIA REHM
Feature Editor — ANN HARRISON
Art Editor — GRACE ROSSER
Sports Editors — TODD OWERS and JEANNE PRICE
Exchange Editor — GAIL GARLOCH
Business Manager — PAUL BIGGERS

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Mary Gay Boettcher, Elenora Easterly, Michael Garrett, Mary Janovich, Elizabeth Lee, Dave Marston, Barbara McCarter, Mildred Miles

CIRCULATION: Dave King

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR, MR. FRANK LAYMAN

From The Editor

With the beginning of the 144th year of the existence of this institution, I am reminded of the inauguration ceremony last fall in which Dr. Copeland became the new president. It was an exciting, stimulating, and heart-warming experience for hundreds of students, faculty, directors, townspeople, delegates, and visitors—an occasion particularly moving because it has occurred only seven times in the history of this college.

We who witnessed it were fortunate.

But we are human, and we forget.

Dr. Joseph E. McCabe, President of Coe College, issued this challenge: that Maryville be a communuity of learning which has

. . . Truth for its king,
. . . Love for its law,
. . . Eternity for its measure.

This fall we anticipate no inspiring inauguration, but we have the opportunity and the obligation to renew and to accept such a challenge—a challenge to recognize Humility as well as Strength, Love as well as Power, and Truth as a guide to Understanding.

* * * * * *

CONCERNING POLICY: This is a newspaper by students and for students. It is not intended to serve the interests of the editor or the editorial staff; rather, it intends to recognize the opinions and interests of every sincere-thinking student on the Maryville campus. As a vital means of communication, The Highland Echo will maintain a standard of fairness and responsibleness. It provides adequate space for both fact and opinion, but under no circumstances will it confuse the two. The opinions of the editor will be confined to this column, while opinions of students should take the form of a Letter to the Editor. All letters must be signed and addressed to: Editor, The Highland Echo. Should any student wish to print a letter without his signature, he must present his reasons to the editorial staff for consideration. Only under the most extenuating ot circumstances will the staff make such an allowance.

Remember that this paper needs your interest and participation in order to remain truly effective.

NEW HANDBOOK MAKES DEBUT

What's shiny and new and red all over? No. it's not the freshman girl who thought Biology 101 met on the third floor of Carnegie. It's our 1962-1963 Maryville College Student Handbook, available to all, free of cost, in the Personnel Office.

The result of many hours of labor beginning last spring and continuing throughout the summer months by mail, the new handbook is the answer to every Maryvillian's questions. Like its miniature predecessor, the M-Book, it tells of traditions and rules to let you know the things to do . . . thumbs up at football games, two townnights for sophomores . . . and, of course, a few things not to do. It advises whom to see about conflicts, loans, student government and the two brother-sister societies on campus. to mention a few items.

The revisions and improvements in the format of the book are the results of much thought-work and paper-work by Mr. Bennett (Director of Public Relations), Dean Massey. Dean Bushing, Dean McClelland and various conscientious Y committee members and student body leaders.

One major change is the removal of the WSGA Constitution to its own book, The Maryville College Miss. prepared and edited by Dean Massey. The size of the book and the thumb tabs make quick reference easy. However, complete as this edition is, work has already begun on the 64 Student Handbook. New things, red and shiny or otherwise, happen often at Maryville these days.

Letters and Poems

The ECHO welcomes contributions from its readers in the form of letters, poems or short prose compositions. All contributions should be typed, double-spaced and submitted by the Saturday preceding publication.

A Letter For You

Dear Student, apathetic or otherwise.

Do you know who the Black Muslims are? How about Malcolm X? Gus Hall? Or George Lincoln Rockwell? Do you know the difference between the International Student's Conference (ISC) and the International Union of Students? Can you name the last two appointments to the Supreme Court? Do you know about the Southern Student Movement?

Maryville College belongs to the United States National Student Association (USNSA) which provides opportunity for every student to become informed of, and active in, contemporary social and political affairs. In a few years, our generation will be conducting world affairs and it is essential that we have a thorough understanding of current problems. You may take advantage of the opportunities in NSA — more information will be coming out soon — and you are welcome to attend NSA meetings Wednesday afternoons at 5 o'clock on Pearsons steps. Can we count on your support?

Sincerely.

Your USNSA Committee
Rich Boyd
Margaret Dozier
John Minear
Sue Quigg
Gayle Smith
Sharon Waldron

Car Ruling Altered

Mary Gay Boettcher

It is a good feeling! This new policy of allowing women students greater liberty in that tantalizing area of transportation is cheering. Of course, it is a bit soon to hope, but with the new ruling one could begin to speculate on how far this may go.

Certainly it has gone far since last year. Previously, women students were not allowed in cars with young men except by special permission from the Dean of Women.

That term, "special permission," invariably brings to mind a stern Anderson tower swathed in yards and yards of red tape. So the thought of bucking those formalities made the occasion needing the special permission such that warranted the effort. And it would seem a bit extreme to make an appointment with a busy dean just to get a coke.

But the ruling reads differently now:

"Women students are allowed to ride in cars with young men only by permission. Permission to ride within the Maryville-Knoxville area may be granted by the head of the dormitory."

Needless to say, there is appreciable difference between running up to the housemother and following the old procedure. It will be a novel experience to get into a car for no other reason than to ride downtown or to the shopping center.

This change in procedure is an excellent example of a spirit that has developed at Maryville College. There is a feeling of enthusiasm here—a sort of cheerful belief that this year is going to yield good things. Maybe this belief is also responsible for the obvious cooperation going on between faculty, students, and departments. With this co-operation, whatever its impetus, it would be easy to believe that these changes, which seem major at the moment, may be only a start for the progress that is going to come.

From Where I Sit . . .

Your Student Council had its first meeting of the year last Wednesday evening in the Y-Rooms, and indications were plentiful that we are entering a productive year. This first meeting was closed, but the remaining meetings of the year will be open for your attendance and participation. Council agenda will be announced every Wednesday morning in Chapel and posted in the dormitories as well. You are encouraged to attend our meetings and make your opinions known. Student Government can be no better than the support you give it.

* * * * * *

It will soon be time for Freshman Class elections. Following these elections, Student Government at Maryville College will assume its final form for the year ahead. It is Student Council's hope that you will participate in some phase of this structure. There will be plenty of class committees and activities, plus the activities and committees of Student Council, in which all students can participate. Your contributions can add much to the success of student government . . . and you can better yourself as well.

—Mike Garrett

Parks-Belk
Home of Better Values

MARYVILLE'S FINEST

Shop In Our Sportswear Department

Always Look Your Best

See us for all your Dry Cleaning Needs

MARYVILLE Cleaners

Contact Your Dormitory Agent—

Carnegie & Memorial—Joe Fink, Ed Krusman
New Dorm—Sandy Scofield
Pearsons—Sue Quigg
Baldwin—Janet Melville

ENJOY FINE FOOD HERE!

*Taste-tempting
*Priced to please
*A wide selection

HOME COOKING

College Hill Grill

MARY TIPTON

MUSE TEN

ANONYMOUS HALL

A grievance I plead, concerning identity:
Even a building, being an entity,
Deserves its own name, its unique appellation,
Something other than merely the "new" designation.

"New" is a term that sounds good for a while,
But after three years it occasions a smile
Of mixed mirth and dismay as one ponders the thought
That a title is needed for a work so long wrought.

A name gives permanence, prestige and stability,
Warm feelings, heart beats, loyality, fealty.
So hasten endowments, bequests expedite,
And let us get on with the christening rite.

—Ann Harrison

DORMITORY HALL — 2 A.M.

It was like a city street
the one street in a small town on a summer night
—stifling hot
—too hot to sleep
so the townsfolk came to their doors
—for fresh air
—but there wasn't any and they talked and they sat on the curb —and talked
and music was heard from open windows and some smoked, a couple walked around —one drank
—another ate
—an apple
and they talked and wished they were somewhere else
This was all at night
—in the darkness
and they weren't really themselves they were different than in daylight they talked of things beyond them they were things beyond them
For it was night and it was very hot —much too hot to sleep.

—Mildred Miles

The "Y" Store Proudly serves

MAYFIELD'S
Ice Cream
and Milk

Smoother, Richer, better Tasting

Mayfield's Dairy, Athens, Tenn.

WE WELCOME YOU!

We extend a sincere welcome to all new and returning students.

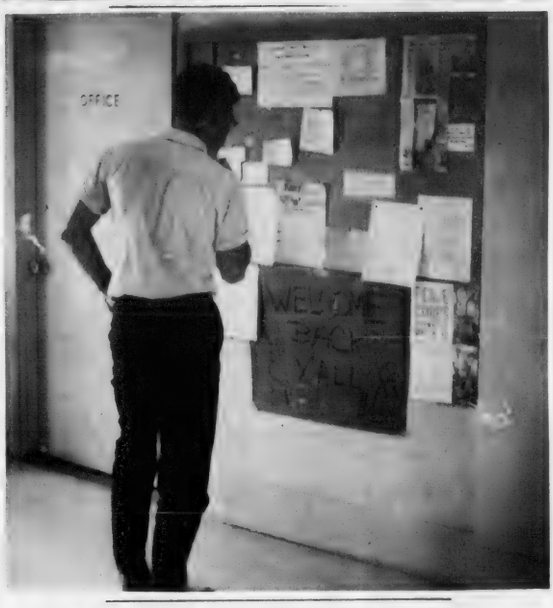
When you need gift articles or quality repair work, see us for all your needs.

TIPTON JEWELERS

Back of Byrne Drug

SEEN . . .

. . . AND HEARD



And how was your summer? . . . her books were only fifteen dollars . . . the bumblebee song . . . let's cut the slurp off together, sharp . . . she taps the little bell at 10:25, then at 10:29 . . . am I all the commitee? . . . if you go to a man's house, you have to have a letter . . . and no liquor bottles after Sunday night . . . but I came to a small college so I wouldn't be a number and now they're raising the fees and I've got a number; it must be to prepare me for a big university . . . is this all we have to sign? . . . we need a TV set in this smoker . . . I've never seen such efficiency as this bookstore has . . . did you see how they punch the little holes? . . . worked nine to five and six to ten . . . where do they store the toilet paper? . . . I wrote my independent study during the summer . . . but E-2 meets on Monday and Wednesday . . . yes, they're all my books . . . since pro means the opposite of con, can you give an illustration?—progress and congress . . . who was sorry when the prodigal son returned?—the fatted calf . . . no, I think theirs is going to be on the "Flower Drum Song" . . . I'm going to assume that you already know that cacophony is—you know—cacophonous . . . didn't you get the magazine offer this summer—the one for very important people . . . Tom Jones? I can't believe it . . . this food gets better all the time . . . I'm saving my new shoes to wear to the first football game (freshman).

W. Wilson Foundation Opens '63 Competition

Competition for the 1,000 first-year graduate study awards offered by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation for 1963-64 is under way now.

Faculty members have until October 31 to nominate candidates for the awards. All nominees will be notified by the Foundation's regional chairman to return an information form immediately after receipt and to file other credentials no later than November 20, 1962.

Scots and Soda

Take your pick. There are lots of ways to reduce the size of the freshman class. At Penn State, they have a first year biology course that Jonas Salk couldn't pass. At Ole Miss, there is a traditional frat party that usually culminates with all participants being expelled from school. And it's rumored that at the University of Miami, all who fail to keep their speed boats shipshape are requested not to return. Whatever the method, it's no secret that colleges today intentionally reduce their freshman classes by as much as 60 percent before the second semester.

And in this area of education, as in others, Maryville College ranks among the leaders. Our college family has hit upon a method of discouraging freshmen that is perhaps the most imaginative yet devised. Called orientation week, it consists of a relentless battery of physical and mental tests, separated only by lengthy lectures, and climaxed finally by an ordeal of epic proportions called registration. This final phase has proven especially effective—registration not only discourages freshmen, it discourages everyone within a two mile radius of the campus.

Needless to say, such a masterful orientation program did not develop overnight. Rather, it is the result of years of experimentation. Such being the case, most of the aspects of the program are familiar to everyone on campus. There are, however, two fine points of the system which were improved this year, and these deserve our attention.

First, and most subtle, is the revision of the traditional "M" Book. In previous years, this extraordinary document was mailed in advance to prospective students, with the inevitable result that very few, if any, careful readers ever arrived on the Maryville campus. In fact, the fatality rate even among non-readers was high — the foreboding, wrinkled white cover seemed to be in some way indicative of the nature of the contents. Now all of that has changed. The old white cover was replaced by a slick red one. The former stiff binding was scrapped in favor of a bouncy black coil spring. And the awesome table of contents was watered down and dressed up in tab index form. As a final precaution, these new 'student handbooks' were distributed on arrival, not in advance. It goes without saying that this discreet camaflage job had the desired result.

Registration is the other area where techniques were improved this year. Now traditionally, registration has been challenging, at least. Core requirements always seem to hit conflicting periods, and the rest of the courses are offered alternate years. To make it more interesting, there is a German class that meets "B" hour on Monday, "E" hour on Wednesday, and at 7:15 Thursday night. And rumor has it there are several courses which are offered only in the years when Haley's Comet is visible. But to compound this already considerable confusion, IBM machines were introduced this year. And they did a commendable job. Lines were longer, multiple copies more numerous, and complaints more bitter than at any time in recent years.

Hopefully though, this program of planned discouragement is not without defects. In spite of everything, last Monday when it was a beautiful, clear day, there were few who would not say it was good to be back.

MARS HILL INVADES TONIGHT -- CENTER NEXT!

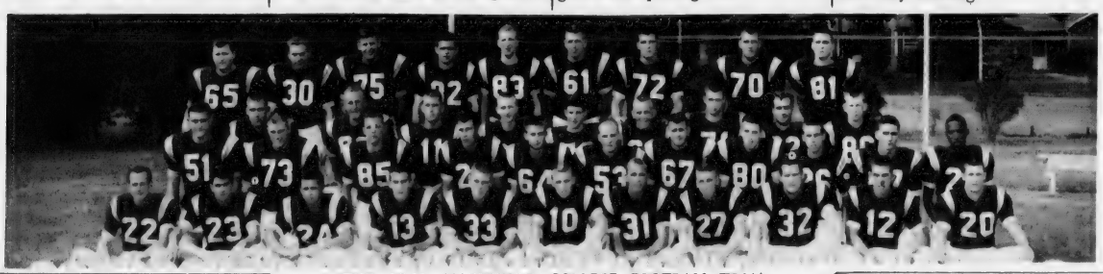
Scots Strong up the Middle

Football reigns king over the campus tonight as the Maryville College football squad plays host to Mars Hill College of North Carolina in the season's opening tilt for both schools. A record crowd is expected to jam its way through the Honaker Field turnstiles this evening to see the 8:15 p.m. kickoff as head Coach Boydson H. Baird unveils his 1962 football team for the first time this year.

As the team takes the field just moments before the opening whistle this evening, they will carry with them nearly a month of hard practice, marked in the initial stages by two-a-day practice sessions which saw limited progress due to conditioning problems and several crippling injuries to key men; but which has seen steady improvement since that time, as the Highlanders have intensified their efforts to be at top strength for tonight's encounter. Injuries to veteran halfbacks Tommy Bowers and Donnie Phelps (most improved player last year) as well as to track star Joe Malloy and letterman John McCaulley have made this an extra difficult task, but the team has worked hard to take up the slack left by these hampering injuries.

Line coach Howard Tomlinson is reasonably satisfied with the progress made up front since the beginning of the season—he has a starting line which averages 196 pounds of muscle and determination, two very important requisites for a starting seven. There is depth and experience a plenty in the Scot forward wall with co-captains Pete Stafford and Charlie Thomas returning to form the nucleus of a well-balanced line. Rugged Charlie Thomas (210 lbs.) plays center and is flanked on either side by guards Gene Smith (195 lbs.) and Clint Abbott (180 lbs.). Bill Cochran (205) and Pete Stafford (208) are the tackles, while Wilbur Ramsey and Ken Christy are the ends. Christy, a 180 pound freshman from Florida's Tampa Bay area has made a determined bid for the left end position, although he will have a tough time keeping his competitors, Rex Stafford and Doug Miney, on the bench. Miney is a letterman, missed last season, but is back this year and has made the switch from halfback (his former position) to end remarkably well. Look for all these names to be in the lineup tonight, as they will all see plenty of action.

In the backfield, Benny Monroe will probably start at the quarterback slot and have the honor of being the Scots' number one signal caller; although Henry Lingenfelter and Herman Ramsey have both looked good in recent practice sessions, and have proven themselves capable ball-handlers. Monroe, however, is the aerial artist and much will depend upon his strong right arm. Reports from the practice field say he throws nothing but bullets, much to the occasional discomfort of the Maryville College ends. Benny is a transfer student from the University of Kentucky and played his high school football at McMinn County.



Fullback is a well-fortified position with veterans Ken Berry and Jim Renfro sharing the chores -- both are lettermen and both are good enough to be the starting fullback on just about anybody's football team . The Scots are indeed strong up the middle, with veterans Thomas at center, Monroe at quaterback, and Berry and Renfro at the fullback position.

Halfbacks are generally flashy and fast, and the Highlanders have two exciting breakaway boys filling this slot. Ronnie Lingenfelter has won the starting post at right halfback while at left half Roland McClanahan, fastest player on the team, has been given the opening nod.

Little is known regarding the opposition; Mars Mill used to be a junior college and Maryville College rolled over them when the two teams met two years ago. Since that time however, the school has become a four year college, and reports are that basically the same personnel will make up the team which will take the field tonight against the Maryville eleven. To say that Mars Hill will be "loaded for bear" seems to be a safe estimation—revenge over Maryville College in tonight's contest would be sweet indeed, and would go a long way toward erasing the memory of that ignominous defeat sustained here two years ago.

But Coach Baird and the boys have other ideas. Coach has been 'cautiously optimistic' since the opening of practice and won't make any predictions, but this is nothing new—coaches are generally this way. In a few hours, the story will unfold and the game will be history—but you can bet they'll be anxious and important hours for our coach. There isn't anybody who would rather hear the Anderson tower bell ring all night than he.

Next week the Highlanders will journey to Kentucky to take on the strong Centre College Praying Colonels, in a contest slated for Saturday evening.

THE 1962 MARYVILLE COLLEGE FOOTBALL TEAM

OUR COACHES
Above — BAIRD
Below — TOMLINSON, KARDATZKE

SOCCER OPENS SEPT. 29th

The Maryville College Soccer team, under the direction of Mr. Ainsworth, will leave Saturday, September 29th for Appalachian State Teachers college, where they will open their 1962 season. Practice began last Monday afternoon, and the boys have been working hard in preparation for this contest.

Spearheading the scotties this year will be John Vordonis and Bill Ward, both veterans from last season. Also returning for another season are Pee Wee Tongyai, Scott Bucher, Red Prudhon, and Bill Weissenburger. Several freshman have looked good in early practice sessions and also will be seeing plenty of action.

THE SCOTTY BOX

FACT CHART
COACH: Boydson Baird, 4th year
1961 RECORD: 6-2-0
LETTERMAN: 18
SYSTEM: T with variations
SCHEDULE: Tough
KEY GAME: Carson-Newman, Nov. 17

Tonight's Probable Starters

Center	Charlie Thomas
Right Guard	Gene Smith
Left Guard	Clint Abbott
Right Tackle	Bill Cochran
Left Tackle	Pete Stafford
Right End	Wilbur Ramsey
Left End	Undecided
Quarterback	Benny Monroe
Right Halfback	Ronnie Lingenfelter
Left Halfback	Roland McClanahan
Fullback	Ken Berry or Jim Renfro

Broad acres are a patent of nobility; and no man but feels more of a man in the world if he have a bit of ground that he can call his own. However small it is on the surface, it is four thousand miles deep; and that is a very handsome property.

—Charles D. Warner

Socks and Sneakers

Jeanne Price

Since everyone seems to begin their columns with WELCOME, I won't. It is nice to be back on campus and to see new faces, old faces, and to begin a fresh year. Hope everyone got plenty of swimming, golf playing, tennis, and other vigorous activity into their schedules over the summer. If you didn't, it doesn't matter because Maryville College has a great intramural program for women students lined up for the coming year. Badminton, tennis, horse shoes, swimming, powder puff football, basketball, fencing and softball will be among the sports of Maryville's co-eds. What more could any girl want? These sports will trim that waist, shed those extra pounds, or make those curves your special someone dreams of.

Women's Intramurals will be held every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon, beginning at 3:30. The two societies will often offer tough competition, although both independent and town girl teams may be formed and are welcomed.

WAA is in charge of the Women's "M" Club which is led this year by Terry Brusstar and sponsored by Miss Leslie. The fourteen lively co-ed's in "M" Club are busily planning an overnight hike to the Smokies in early October.

When you hear announcements concerning women's athletics, do come to the intramural gym and join in the fun. I promise, you won't be sorry!

MAKE THE WELKIN RING!

by

Todd Owers

I'll never forget the first time I heard the bell atop Anderson Hall ring after a football game was over. It was four years ago and I was the lowest form of life imagineable, a member of the freshman class. We sat in the stands and suffered with the rest of the student body as Maryville College lost game after game and appeared headed for a most dismal season.

Then came a freezing November Saturday night and the last game of the year against arch-rival Carson-Newman. The last chance of the year for a victory, but what price success? What chance did our team stand against this mighty football powerhouse from Jefferson City? Only last year they had trounced us 75-0.

And yet on this Saturday night, as with all the previous disappointing Saturday nights, the stands were packed full with Maryville College students who proceeded to exercise their vocal cords most vigorously. They cheered from the opening kick-off and never stopped.

The halftime show was a very beautiful and colorful spectacle, but the student body paid only half-attention as it waited impatiently for the return of the two teams to the field. Something very different was in the making—something long-awaited and hoped for—preposterous to even think about at this stage, however.

The third quarter brought the crowd to its feet several times but it was nothing compared to the fourth. Halfway through the period it found itself standing.

Cont'd Page 5

A man gazing on the stars is proverbially at the mercy of the puddles on the road.

--Alexander Smith

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"
BANKING SERVICES
*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
*CHECK ACCOUNTS
*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
*TRANSFER OF FUNDS
— Your College Bank —
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

FRESH TASTY
Bakery Treats
Whatever you need in the way of pastries or baked goods, for that special occasion, we have just the thing!
Call 982-7920 — We Will Deliver or Ride The Free Bus to Midland Center
VAN'S BAKERY

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

Office Supplies? We got 'em

Office Equipment? like wise

Office machines? our middle name.

Service? on all we sell (with a smile)

Delivery? Fastest and best.

Parking? Free, 10 feet from the door.

WHITE OFFICE MACHINES

"WON'T WRITE – CALL WHITE"

Gentlemen and Scholars

... Campus Bound

in fashions styled by Enro

From matriculation to graduation you pass every fashion examination in traditional Dress and Sport Shirts Styled by Enro. Choose yours now from our complete selection. $5.00

Minton's

Invites Your Charge Account

MAKE THE WELKIN RING
Cont'd From Page 4

hushed, craning to get a better view of the drama taking place on the field In the waning moments of the ball game, a Maryville team utterly determined to preserve a 14-12 lead, dug in on the goal line and stopped the Eagles' last gasp threat in its tracks. The crowd was almost in hysterics as the Scotties took over possession of the ball on their own two yard line and prepared to run out the clock. The team broke from the huddle, center up over the ball, it's a long count, just two seconds left on the clock, we're going to win—the gun—and then complete pandemonium.

I glanced around me and saw seniors with tears of happiness in their eyes and freshmen such as myself, too happy to do much more than jump up and down, looking foolish but not caring.

Complete confusion reigned for many moments afterward as the pent-up crowd exploded forth its approval, but above the mounting din was heard the sound of a bell —the bell atop Anderson Hall. The uproar on the field gradually died down as the people stopped to listen and wonder. The bell was ringing. It was barely audible at first, but soon the glorious sound grew louder and louder. Oh how that bell rung! It rang all night long.

The next day was Sunday and after the noon meal, the entire student body walked across the campus to Coach Baird's house, to pay tribute to him and to thank him, in their own special way, for the victory the night before.

One of the nicest traditions we have on campus is the Anderson Bell-Tower Tradition. After all football victories it is rung by the students, it is their privilege to ring it because they too have a large share in the success of the team. How many times the bell will ring this year is dependent, to a large degree, upon the amount of school spirit and enthusiasm we as a student body can give to the cheerleaders coaches, and of course to our team itself. We all want to win tonight; let's do our part to insure our first victory of the season.

LLOYDS RETURN, VISIT IN USA

President Emeritus and Mrs. Ralph W. Lloyd are once again in the United States, following a world tour of eleven months, five days, and nearly 70,000 miles, and a trip to Africa last month. Presently the Lloyds are visiting their daughter in Evansville. Indiana.

Dr. Lloyd made the world tour, which lasted from August 1, 1961, to July 5, 1962, as President of the World Presbyterian Alliance. He returned to Africa in August for an Alliance executive committee meeting.

Preceding the executive meeting, however, the Lloyds attended a week-long consultation of 100 persons from twelve West African and three East African countries. The theme under discussion was "The Mission of the Church in West Africa Today." The University College at Ibadan, Nigeria, provided the setting of the consultation.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Washington Avenue

BADGETT STORE

WELCOMES

OLD AND NEW STUDENTS

We invite you to come in and look around. Many students at Maryville College have learned to depend on our low prices and quality goods.

109 W. Broadway Phone 983-1651

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . . WEAR

Southern Shoes

Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.

116 West Broadway

Welcome Back Students-Both Old and New

Delicious Hamburgers
Thick Milk Shakes
Golden Brown French Fries
Pancakes & Syrup
Real Homemade Pies and Donuts
Chipped Ham Sandwiches
Fountain Drinks

GREETINGS, FRIENDS! We're glad to have you back on the campus and we'll be looking forward to seeing you real soon at your downtown refreshment headquarters. Stop by and say "Hello", or get acquainted with our personnel if you're new in town. You'll soon find there is no better or more popular eating place near the campus than ours, and you'll always get a friendly welcome from our waitresses. Try some of our fine food and you'll be a Coffee House "fan" from now on. Take home a menu for telephone orders, too. See you soon!

Breakfast served Anytime
We're Always Open
Orders of $5.00 or more Delivered Free
Daily & Sunday Papers
$5.50 Meal Ticket for $5.00

GILBERT'S COFFEE HOUSE

EAST BROADWAY IN DOWNTOWN MARYVILLE --- PHONE 982-1541

LIBRARY BUYS MICROCARD FILE

The Maryville College library has expanded its periodical facilities. A new microcard file, containing the compete volumes of six publications and the partial contents of a seventh, covers six subject fields.

Original source material in the area of history is available on microcard from the American Historical Review; in political science from the Congressional Digest; in psychology from the Journal of Applied Psychology and the Journal of Consulting Psychology; in biology from the Journal of Heredity; in music from the Musical Quarterly; and in the field of drama from the Theatre Arts.

The microcard, each of which holds several pages of information, can be read by means of the magnifying machine "Mark VII". This machine has been called "The most 'comfortable' reader ever produced." One of its most unique features is the "comfort control" setting, which allows the reader to adjust the light intensity and thus eliminate eye strain.

DEAN'S LIST

Cont'd From Page 1

19 Sophomores

Anderson, Patricia	3.50
Beard, Robert	3.37
Brewer, Meredith	3.75
Compher, Keen	3.78
Cook, Charlotta	3.31
Cox, Ernie	3.82
Dilkes, Mary	3.33
Dozier, Margaret	3.88
Durham, Wayne	3.29
Hayes, Martha	3.44
Holt, Martha	3.55
Lewis, Alice	3.43
Quigg, Susan	3.83
Randall, Albert	3.25
Schellinger, William	3.33
Stafford, John Leon	3.56
Sturmfels, Gloria	3.45
Webster, Bette Carole	3.54
Williams, Brenda Kay	3.27

14 Freshmen

Coleman, Marion Elaine	3.37
Criner, Jane	3.31
Flanary, Lois Ann	3.81
Hanson, Margaret	3.55
Hinderer, Jon	3.31
Huff, Carolyn	3.43
Kirk, Kathie	3.27
Melville, Janet	3.37
Moyers, Michael	3.43
Schmidt, Margaret	3.37
Walker, Sharon	3.75
Walters, Judith	3.47
Wasson, Judith	3.81
Wright, Teresa	3.87

Maintenance Men Work Busily

Extensive work done on campus by the maintenance department this summer includes detailed repairs in Fayerweather Science Hall, the trimming of trees on the campus and in the college woods which were damaged by storms, and the sealing of cracks in the chimney stacks at the heating plant.

In Fayerweather, a new floor, new lighting, sinks, and cabinets were installed in the comparative anatomy laboratory. The hallways and other classroms were painted.

At the alumni gym it was necessary to replace the foundation and reroof the sheds at the ends. In addition to the painting of the student center, stainless steel equipment was installed in the kitchen. Also for the convenience of students, new ping-pong tables were placed in the center.

The swimming pool was painted, as were the press box and bleachers on the football field, the exterior trim of Thaw Hall, and some of the back rooms in the library.

In Pearsons, the dining hall; hallways, and approximately one-third of the rooms in that building, Baldwin, Carnegie, and Memorial were painted. Furniture in the dorm smoking lounges was reupholstered, and new chests were purchased for some rooms in the men's dormitories.

MC FACULTY

Cont'd From Page 1

part-time in the sociology department. She also graduated from Maryville College. Her doctoral degree is from Northwestern University. The Swensons have two children.

SPEECH

Thomas E. Jones is an assistant professor of speech and theatre. He holds the B.S. in education from Northern Illinois State University and a master's degree in Fine Arts from Ohio University. Mr. Jones has studied at Ohio State University and has taught speech at the University of North Dakota.

MUSIC

Miss Nancy Hearn, who holds a B.M. degree from Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene, Texas, and a Master of Music degree from Florida State University, is instructing in music. She has been a string instructor at Florida University and in Lowndes County and Valdosta, Georgia, schools.

ENGLISH

Jack Allen, who holds the bachelor of science degree in engineering from the University of Southern California, the master's degree in education from Columbia University, and the master's degree in English from the University of Wyoming, is an instructor in the English department. He was an instructor in English at the University of Wyoming, and has been assistant professor in Liberal Arts at California State Technological College.

BIBLE

Dr. Christopher Tang, who fled China in 1949 when the Communists took over that country, is teaching in the department of Bible and Christian education. Dr. Tang graduated from Hua Chung University and received his Bachelor of Divinity degree from McCormick Seminary. His doctorate was earned at San Francisco Theological Seminary in 1941. Dr. Tang most recently taught at Drew Theological Seminary. He has been editing and translating Christian classics into Chinese, and has also published a number of works in Chinese.

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

EVERYBODY'S WEARING 'EM!

B.F.Goodrich

FOR MEN –
Slim to Wide, 6 to 13 $4.99

Also for Women –
Tapered Toe $4.99

Men's P-F canvas casuals
MADE IN AMERICA

You see them everywhere — and no wonder! Because whether you're barbecuing or boating, the Bayshore is the most comfortable casual oxford you can wear. That's because only B.F.Goodrich makes shoes with the exclusive P-F Posture Foundation rigid wedge that helps to take the strain off foot and leg muscles. Available in men's and boys' sizes

C. C. MOORE'S
SHOEMAKERS SHOE STORE
Maryville's Good Shoe Store
INVITES YOUR CHARGE ACCOUNT

YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED
To Visit The "ALL NEW"

Proffitt's

Midland Shopping Center

COMPLETE SHOPPING HEADQUARTERS
FOR MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS
SINCE 1919

RIDE WHITE STAR BUSSES FREE FROM ELLIS AVE.
TO MIDLAND CENTER AND RETURN
EVERY 30 MINUTES

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 48 | Maryville, Tennessee, October 6, 1962 | No. 2

New Professor Chairman of Biology Dept.

Dr. A. Randolph Shields, who has joined the Maryville College faculty just this fall as professor of biology, is serving also as the new chairman of the biology department. Having received his doctorate in botany this summer, Professor Shields has been teaching the biological sciences in colleges since 1948.

Having graduated from Maryville College in 1934, the new professor has acquired a broad background of experience in his field. Dr. Shields was the Chief Fisheries Biologist for Tennessee from 1939 to 1944. He served in the Navy Medical Corps during the war. From 1946 to 1948 he was Senior Fisheries Biologist in North Carolina.

From 1948 to 1956 Dr. Shields held an assistant professorship and served as head of the biology department at Emory and Henry College. While studying for his Ph.D. at the University of Tennessee, Professor Shields was instructor in botany there from 1956 until 1959.

CAMPBELL, MAIR TO LEAD VESPERS

Speaking at vespers tomorrow, October 7, at seven o'clock, will be Maryville College Chaplain E. Fay Campbell. Since tomorrow will be "World-Wide Communion Sunday," Dr. Campbell will share "Thoughts Concerning the Communion Service and Its Present Significance to Modern Christendom."

Guest speaker at the vesper service next Sunday, October 14, will be Rev. David Mair, pastor of the Highland Presbyterian Church in Maryville. Offering the musical presentations of the evening will be the Women's Choir. Under the direction of Mr. Dan Kinsinger the 34-member choir will sing "Adoramus Te" and "Let There Be Music."

Library Adds Stacks, 6 More Study Desks

The most recent improvement in the college library is the addition of new stacks and more desks for individual study within the stack area.

Located at the east end of the reading room, the new book shelves will hold, by the end of the next three years, approximately 3,500 volumes now being acquired. The new books will contain current bindings and teacher education material in particular. The six additional reading desks in the stack area are meant to provide students with the convenience of working near the books they need, as well as with relatively few distractions.

"Campus Mike" To Participate In TV Series

Maryville College and three other area schools will participate in a thirteen-week television series which will be presented over station WBIR of Knoxville in the spring of 1963. The Maryville programs will be supervised by the "Campus Mike" organization here, the chairmen of which are Anitra Bard and John Spangler.

Each of the participating schools, including Carson-Newman of Jefferson City, Knoxville College and Tennessee Wesleyan of Athens, will present three programs, each one concentrating on a particular academic field at their campus. The programs will be video-taped under the direction of Pete Fennelley, program director of WBIR.

Mr. Duncan Bennett, director of the information services at Maryville College, has emphasized the need for suggestions from the faculty, staff, and student body concerning all aspects of the programming for the series.

"Quo Vadis" Tonight

The senior class will sponsor a movie tonight in the theater at 7:30. The movie, Quo Vadis, stars Robert Taylor and Deborah Kerr, and a Roadrunner cartoon entitled "Guided Muscle" will be an added attraction. Ticket price is fifty cents.

Dr. Griffitts Speaks At Meeting Today

Dr. F. A. Griffitts, Professor of Chemistry at Maryville College, is one of the speakers at the sixth annual meeting of the South Central Independent College Association of Chemists being held yesterday and today at Bellarmine College, Louisville, Ky.

He will make a presentation on the Chemical Education Materials Study on which he worked in Colorado this summer. Preceding Dr. Griffitt's presentation, Dr. Laurence E. Strong of Earlham College will discuss the Chemical Bond Approach Project.

Both Dr. Griffitts and Dr. Strong have been leaders in working out two experimental methods for teaching chemistry in high schools. Their talks at the meeting will be a presentation and evaluation of each project.

FAC Boasts Record Library

Many new students and some old ones are unaware of the existence of a record library of two thousand recordings on this campus. Located in the Fine Arts Center, the library is under the supervision of Mr. James Bloy.

Although the library is primarily for those studying music, all students are welcome to use it.

The library contains most of the standard repertoire of orchestral, piano, vocal and organ music. It includes chamber music, operas, suites, concertos, and symphonies. There is a wide collection of folk music, holiday music, band music, perennial favorites, Gershwin jazz, and musicals. Present also are special sections of music for children and records on the history of music.

All of these records are for use only in the library's six listening rooms. Complete instructions for use of the records and machines are posted there.

The records are indexed by composers. Beside the record index is another of all scores found in the fine arts library. Additional scores may be checked out of the main library in Thaw Hall. Between the two libraries, scores can be found for nearly all the recordings in one or the other.

Assistant Professor of Music to Appear In First Faculty Performance of Year

Sallie Warth Schoen, pianist and assistant professor of music, will present the first Maryville College faculty recital of the 1962-1963 series. Mrs. Schoen will begin her performance at 8 p.m. Friday evening, October 19, in Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center.

During her program Mrs. Schoen will play selections from the compositions of Bach, Beethoven, Ravel, and Chopin. She will perform Bach's Prelude, Fugue, and Allegro in E flat; Beethoven's Sonata, Opus No. 3; Ravel's Miroirs; and Chopin's Sonata in B Minor.

Mrs. Schoen obtained a bachelor of music degree at Oberlin Conservatory, and in 1952 she earned a master of music degree at Indiana University. While on sabatical leave last year, she studied under Menahem Pressler, a member of the "Beaux Arts Trio," at Indiana University.

In the summer of 1954 she and her husband, who also teaches music at Maryville College, studied in Salzburg, Austria, under Heinz Scholz. Both Mr. and Mrs. Schoen have held positions on the college faculty for seven years.

ENROLLMENT IS 723 THIS TERM

Maryville College opened its 144th year on September 10 with an enrollment of 723 students. This total includes 300 new students—134 men and 166 women—and 428 who returned.

The states which are best represented are Tennessee, which has 215 students; New Jersey, which has 97, and Pennsylvania, which has 83. In addition, there are 39 students from Florida, 39 from Ohio, 31 from New York, 24 from Illinois, and 22 from Georgia.

One Thousand Persons Attend First Union Presbytery Day

One thousand two delegates represented 52 United Presbyterian congregations at the first Union Presbytery Day, which convened on the Maryville College campus Sunday afternoon; September 23. The group in attendance included 12 per cent of the membership of this presbytery.

Several local leaders participated in the direction of study seminars throughout the afternoon. They included Dr. Joseph J. Copeland, president of the college; Dr. E. Fay Campbell, college chaplain; Rev. Morgan Biggs, director of youth activities for the presbytery; and Rev. David Mair, pastor of the Highland Church in Maryville.

Five Maryville College students and James Cummings, the new admissions counselor, assisted in the junior and senior-high seminars. Sharing their summer experiences, these student leaders were Anna Baker, senior, who was a director of Christian education in the Kentucky mountains; Steve Henderson, senior, who attended a church-sponsored study tour through four Asian countries; Linda Kenzie, junior, who worked in a biology laboratory; Gordon Stewart, Jr., junior, who served the Philadelphia, Pa., Presbytery; and Judy Wasson, sophomore, who did social work in Indianapolis, Ind.

These students related to their teen-aged audiences many opportunities for service both within and outside of the traditional Christian vocations.

At the vesper service which terminated the day's activities, Dr. Archie Crouch, communications officer for the Board of Ecumenical Mission of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., presented the sermon. He spoke of his optimism for the future, as based on his experiences with Christian young people.

Pres. Copeland Visits NY, NM On Business

President Joseph J. Copeland went Tuesday, October 2, to Philadelphia on business for the college. From there he travelled to New York to attend a meeting of the Division of Radio and Television for the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America.

Dr. Copeland is a member of the program cabinet of the Division, which helps to sponsor the program "Frontiers of Faith" and cooperates with the production of "The Protestant Hour." It is also this Division which in 1959 chose the Maryville College Choir as its official choir of the year.

Monday through Thursday of next week Dr. Copeland will be at Ghost Ranch, New Mexico, for the annual meeting of the Board of Christian Education for the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. This board is one of the major boards of the Church, aiding in the operation of forty-five colleges, of which Maryville College is one.

Dr. Copeland is chairman of the Counseling Committee of Church and Society, which does research and groundwork for the General Assembly pronouncements on controversial issues.

MC Vesper Choir Regains Full Size; Adds 29 New Vocalists

The addition of 29 student vocalists to the Maryville College Vesper Choir recently restored the total membership to 62 students. At the beginning of this term only 33 former choir membersr reclaimed their seats on the chapel stage. At the end of four days of traditionally "tough" tryouts, however, 29 new faces occupied all the previous vacancies.

New sopranos are Jane Criner, sophomore; Pamela Fredrickson, freshman; Barbara McCarter, junior; Sara Parker, freshman; Janet Purcilla, senior; Sarah Tompkins, freshman; Beverly Wells, junior; and June Wilson, junior.

The nine new altos are Anna Baker, senior; Jane Brenckman, freshman; Virginia Brown, sophomore; Janet Courly, sophomore; Carol Montgomery, sophomore; Karen Summerlin, sophomore; Pat Taylor, freshman; Corliss Vogel, freshman; and Marjorie Wismer, freshman.

The four new tenors, all freshmen, are James Bernard, Ben Carney, Richard Marshall, and William Mueller.

The new faces in the bass section belong to Alan Childs, freshman; Roy Wayne Frey, freshman; Thomas Llewellyn, freshman; Jim MacDaid, freshman; John Nelson, freshman; Robert Orr, sophomore; David Scotchmer, sophomore; and James Taflinger, freshman.

The Highland ECHO

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee, under the Act of Congress of March 8, 1870. McNabb Printing Co., Inc., printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor-in-Chief
LYNN HERRING

Assistant Editor ..... CHARLOTTA COOK
News Editor ..... PATRICIA REHM
Feature Editor ..... ANN HARRISON
Art Editor ..... GRACE ROSSER
Sports Editors ..... TODD OWERS and JEANNE PRICE
Exchange Editor ..... GAIL GARLOCH
Business Manager ..... PAUL BIGGERS

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Sue Ann Blair, Margaret Dozier, Elenora Easterly, Sue Foreman, Mary Janovich, Phil Jerome, Libby Lee, Mildred Miles, Sherry Proffitt, Charlie Rowland, Norma Singleton, Celia Tiffany, Judy Walters, Billy Wear, Phyllis Weaver

CIRCULATION: Dave King, Bruce Bigart, Harold Cones, Ginna Coon, Victor Mellott

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR, MR. FRANK LAYMAN

From The Editor

As students at Maryville, we are fortunate to have more library privileges than do undergraduates at most other schools. It is our real academic privilege to be able to browse freely through the stacks, discovering for ourselves books of general educational value which might otherwise remain unknown to us.

And we have an excellent library, aided for over one hundred years by interested people who value learning and more recently by national grants of rather large sums of money. Our professors are constantly alert to discover and obtain new and valuable books to aid study in the several departments, and the opportunities for reference work compare favorably with any school of comparable size and with many schools much larger.

As students, we should recognize and appreciate and use this important source of wealth—that is, if we are to be truly students. But to use is not to take advantage of, or misuse. The sign-out desk has a functional purpose, yet every year a number of books end up missing. Whether through our carelessness, neglect, or design, many valuable books have to be replaced. This could be corrected.

A new year occasions opportunities of all kinds, and learning is primary. Therefore, let us resolve to use our library privileges to our own educational gain and to treat our library with respect, acting responsibly in all our dealings with it.

The Friendly Folks at City Drug
extend a Cordial Welcome to All
Maryville College Students
during your stay at Maryville!

SEE US FOR ALL YOUR DRUG NEEDS

— Prescription Experts —

City Drug Company

108 W. BROADWAY PHONE 982-7162

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES

★ SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

✓ CHECK ACCOUNTS

★ CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS

★ TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Kilt Mystery Puts Highlanders In Fog

Somewhere in the Scottish Isles there was, ten years ago, a factory which wove woolens in the plaids of the Hay clan for a small American Presbyterian college which takes pride in its Scotch heritage. But now it seems that the pug-nosed elves who frolic around the cool and misty moors have made off with the factory and erased all evidence of it.

The college, called Maryville, is now approaching the same quandary which it faced in 1947. That year the famous fire which burned the chapel burned the band uniforms as well. The resourceful band then wore white pants and sweaters—a combination pure and uniform to be sure, but it felt something to be desired.

Maybe the elves started their intervention at that time, for only magical creatures could have planted the idea that began to grow at Maryville. Colors of green, red, yellow and black persistently appeared in someone's mind. They formed themselves into a Scotch plaid and the plaid took shape as a kilt. This would add the desired something to the band uniform!

The idea of a kilted band met with approval and in 1952 Maryville College made plans to import Scotch wool for the uniforms and to purchase bagpipes for the band. By the fall of 1953 Operation Scotch Highlander Kilts was in full swing. The order for plaids was sent to Scotland—just where in Scotland no one knows. It was filled with such dispatch that the uniforms were tailored in Wisconsin, rushed to Maryville, and ready to be worn at the 1953 homecoming game.

In the nine years since that game, several normal things have happened. Kilts, like everything else, wear out eventually. Musicians come in different sizes, so kilts must be altered. Moths like Scotch wool as well as any other kind. Most important, the college's music department grows, and now more musicians are available to play in the band. This would be fine—a bigger band would mean more possibilities for marching formation, fuller music, and an all-round better half-time showing on the football field and in parades.

A bigger band would also mean more uniforms, and that's the problem.

The Highlander Marching Band seems to be dependent on the good will of the Scottish elves for the location of the textile factory which made the Hay's plaids, for no one at Maryville knows.

The band is also cramped by the desire to make action consistent with profession. You see, import duties on woolens have soared since 1947, making the material very expensive, and the college can hardly pride itself on its Scotch background if it reverses the renowned thrift of the Scots.

So there is a problem in the ranks of the Highlanders—to find the whereabouts of and the wherewithal for several bolts of Hay's plaid. Perhaps the imaginative elves who inspired the kilts in the first place will again visit the Southern Highlands with the solution. They had better come soon.

READING

Diary of a Sit-in, by Merrill Proudfoot. The University of North Carolina Press, Chapel Hill, 1962, 204 pages.

". . . at 11:15 . . . I found myself—a white, bespectacled college professor at the usually conservative age of thirty-six—advancing to my baptism by fire as a sit-in demonstrator!" Thus begins Merrill Proudfoot's Diary of a Sit-in. And all the excitement, humor, and personal warmth which are conveyed in this opening sentence continue throughout this real and stirring account of Knoxville, summer 1960.

Dr. Proudfoot is professor of philosophy at Knoxville College, where he became acquainted with the student non-violent movement in Knoxville. He began as merely a devotee of the cause and an interested friend, but he turned out to be not only a hard worker but an active leader in the series of lunch-counter sit-ins.

Diary of a Sit-in is a day-by-day account of the two months during which the sit-ins occurred in Knoxville. The reader joins the author in the lines at Miller's lunch counter, the booths at Walgreen's, and the picket line at Rich's. With him he sits at the mayor's conference table, walks a lonely side street followed by a gang of white youths baring switch blades, and prays at mass gatherings of demonstrators.

Because of the author's closeness to the problem and the people, he is able to show the reader the mind and heart of individual Negroes—their misgivings and convictions, their hates and hopes, their frailties and achievements. In so doing he brings out sensible answers to many of the interminable questions of the racial issue: "Why after all this time is there such a fuss now?" "Why just lunch counters?" "This ought to start in the churches." and "Would you want your daughter . . . ?"

One drawback to the enjoyment of the book is the lengthy and detailed enumeration of persons and places. This is ,however, necessary to the accuracy of the account and Maryville students will be interested in the frequent references to persons familiar to them. The book concludes with a helpful evaluation of the whole movement as of late 1961, plus an excellent statement concerning the value and dplace of the sit-ins in the whole scope of the struggle for racial equality.

—Mildred Miles

Travels With Charley In Search of America, by John Steinbeck. The Viking Press, New York, 1962, 246 pages. Book-of-the-Month Club Selection.

John Steinbeck, author of many familiar novels, and one of America's most prolific writers, has this year written a new and truly American novel. The book, Travels With Charley, subtitled In Search of America, is just that—a search for America. Steinbeck felt he had become isolated in his years of writing about America and had kept the same concept of America that he had formed years before.

Equipped with a specially built truck-house, and accompanied by a French poodle named Charley, the author set out from New York with the plan of rediscovering how Americans feel, talk, live and think.

He realised how important it would be in getting a true point of view of America for him to speak to all sorts of people from every sort of background. He talked to everyone he met along the way—waitresses, truck drivers, other travelers, gas station operators, hitchhikers, friends, or anyone else he happened to meet.

What Steinbeck discovered about America is not shocking. It has changed in those years. He shows how the change has taken place, and how with every change we are becoming more alike and less sectionalized. Mass communication is molding us into a more unified nation.

In only one way does the author forget his goal to discover America again. He spends a lot of time talking about such things as his wife, the truck, his boat, the poodle (Charley), and even his junky garage. This is not discovering America. This he knew all along.

But the book as a whole gives a new look at the things we all know, and besides the geography, some interesting facts, and a guided tour of America, the reader will find in Travels With Charley some things about America which he hasn't thought about.

—Charlie Rowland

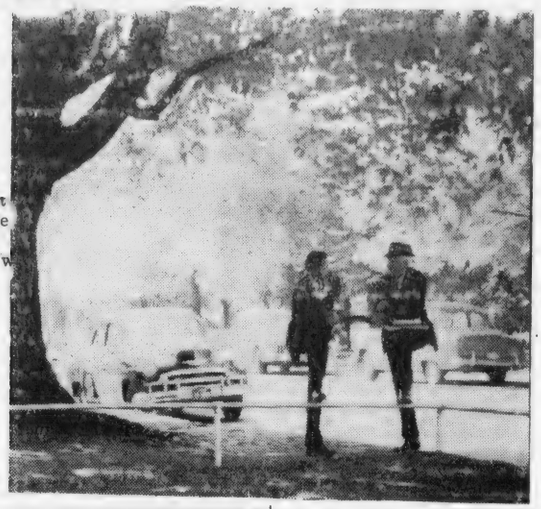
Tryouts Announced

Tryouts for the first production of the 1962-1963 Playhouse Series, the Pulitzer Prize winning Look Homeward, Angel, will be held Monday and Tuesday of next week, October 8 and 9, in the Theatre. The tryouts will be held from 3:30 to 5:00 and from 7:30 to 9:30 each day.

Scripts of the play are available in the speech office in the Chapel. Freshmen particularly are urged to tryout on Monday afternoon.

A classic is something that everybody wants to have read and nobody wants to read.

—Mark Twain



LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

Office Supplies? We got 'em . . .
Office Equipment? Likewise . . .
Office Machines? our middle name
Service? on all we sell (with a smile)
Delivery? Fastest and best . . .
Parking? Free, 10 feet from the door.

White Office Machines

"WON'T WRITE — CALL WHITE"

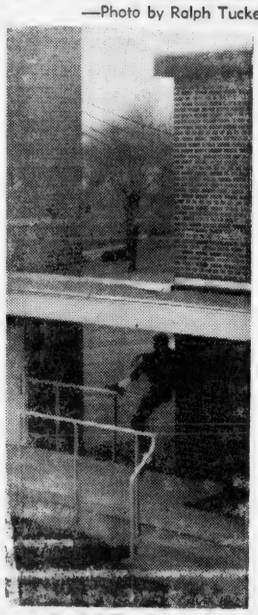
SEEN . . . .

—Photo by Ralph Tucker

LETTERS

Ray Donaldson, 1962 graduate of Maryville College is now serving as a Peace Corps Volunteer in Ethiopia. Below are exerpts from letters in which he reports his days of orientation in Addis Ababa, the capital city. — Editor's note.

"We arrived in Addis Ababa at 8 a.m. on September 6 . . . In the preliminary listing I was assigned to Addis Ababa but that listing is not final . . . It would be a comparatively easy life from a physical point of view, but I suspect that the disadvantages outweigh the advantages. It would be too easy in Addis to find friends among the Europeans and Americans that are here, thus not finding it necessary to make friends among the Etniopians. Also one of the major problems of Ethiopia is that none of the educated Ethiopians want to work in the provinces because of the lack of opportunities, just as most Americans would rather work in a city than in a rural area. If the Peace Corps demonstrates a willingness to go to the provinces . . . , this may be a helpful example to some of the Ethiopians.



". . . In the evening a group of us went to a private club and then to one of the hotels in Addis . . . it seemed more like a night-club in the U.S.A. than anything I had conceived of in Africa.

" . . . We toured through some of the provinces and stopped first at a nice hotel by a dam . . . built by the Italians. The dam provides flood control for one of the rivers of Ethiopia and also provides hydro-electric power. After leaving the dam we ate lunch on the grounds of Haile Selassie's summer residence. Then we visited a sugar plantation which is approximately 60 per cent Dutch owned and 40 per cent Ethiopian owned.

". . . Tomorrow our orientation classes begin. It may be a welcome relief from all the traveling we've been doing. . . . Most of us are anxious to get to our assignments so we can set up our own homes.

" . . . We bought some sparklers to light to celebrate the Ethiopian New Year. September 10 is New Year's Eve. New Year's Day was

Cont. on Page 5

MERCHANTS MOVE TO MIDLAND

The Midland Shopping Center —the big expanse of parking lot bordered by stores of all kinds midway between Maryville and Alcoa—doesn't mean the same to freshmen as it does to upperclassmen who can remember when there was no sign of a store on the two hills and a valley on the old Calderwood Street in Alcoa.

Since the first grading began in August of 1960, work proceeded rapidly on the project. Store by store has moved to the new center, beginning with Kresge's in October, 1961, and ending so far, with Proffitt's, which moved to Midland shortly before school started last month.

Advantages of the Midland Center include plenty of parking space, simplicity of architecture, bright lighting for night shopping, and, of course, the convenience of having everything in one place. Convenient transportation is free via the White Star Lines busses which run every half hour. The closest stop to Maryville College is the corner of Ellis Street.

The center reflects the nationwide trend, especially evident in small metropolitan areas, of main street merchants to move out to centralized shopping districts.

. . . . AND HEARD

. . . a lap is so you won't get crumbs on the floor . . . Oh, I understand what you said; I'm above the age of reasoning . . . I'm an awful grouch when I'm trying to be funny . . . when you talked to them you could tell there were people inside . . . PML what? . . . rush week—who did you say was rushed? . . . a horse . . . what's for ice cream —dessert? . . . unfaithful in a Platonic sort of way . . . what is an S-N-E-A-T? . . . nursery rimes start in various ways—200 years from now a folklorist may find an old crone tending a baby, chanting "Howee, howee, Chilhowee" . . . does anybody have any cleaning?—slam . . . I just grabbed my towel, my raincoat, and Ralph's picture . . . Volkswagens would not affect the moral standards of the campus . . . Anybody who could grow a beard like that ought to . . . "deadman's push buttons"—hm, better that "strength to strength" . . . wash them with ivory soap—and a blue treble clef . . . oh I know who it is — it's that new group . . . so in addition to doing your independent studies over the holiday, you can do a term paper . . . marry the girl, if you have to, but get it typed . . . how sweet—couldn t you cry . . . she thought it was from the junior girls . . . there's no such thing as a group decision —only a group of people, each deciding a thing for himself . . . hemlines are going down—sorry fellas . . . let's save some of this cider until Thanksgiving . . . come to the fish fry . . . I know he's a faculty member and we don't need a pink slip, but couldn't we just have one anyhow? . . . professors learn to unwrite . . . buttons are to keep people warm . . .

It is as fatal as it is cowardly to blink facts because they are not to our taste.

—John Tyndall

Looking Backward

The 1910 edition of the Chilhowean records this rousing yell:

Manness
Genius
Hayseed—Squash!
Keenness
Greenness
Freshman—Gosh!

The same edition testifies to the following advantages of Maryville College:

Tuition—$6 a term, $18 a year; dormitory rooms, steam-heated and electrically lighted, occupied by two students who divide the expense, $6 to $20; board approximately $1.60 a week; total $98.

Fugitive Pieces

Buttoning a raincoat over my flannel pajama top, I hurry to my first scheduled meeting of the day, chapel. Most everybody makes resolutions at the beginning of each semester, and I'm no exception. For the past four years, I have done nothing but study, read, write, and make the Dean's List. Because I never used to go to meetings like the one I am running to now, I am still a sophomore. Therefore I have determined to be outgoing and become active in clubs, societies, committees, and organizations.

As the last D-seventh chord fades away and the dean steps casually to the lectern, I wait with baited breath for my day's agenda. Seven meetings are announced, and I rejoice. As the congregation rises to sing hymn number eight, my mind wonders back over the interesting places I have been and the meetings I have attended during the first month of my new life.

Thaw-steps, perhaps the most popular gathering place on campus, is very well suited to its function. One of the best designed amphitheatres in the South, the steps have on occasion accommodated two, three, and even four class groups. I like this feature of the steps, for I can attend simultaneously a meeting of the Freshman Class and a meeting of the Campus Americans for World Action.

Another well-planned meeting place, though not exactly on the campus, is very well suited to its function. One of the best designed amphitheatres in the South, the steps have on occasion accommodated two, three, and even four class groups. I like this feature of the steps, for I can attend simultaneously a meeting of the Freshman Class and a meeting of the Campus Americans for World Action.

That Chi Beta and Y have migrated from the Chi Beta parlor and the "Y"-rooms indicates the growing interest in the New Dorm basement as a meeting place. One of the features which draws large crowds to the meetings scheduled there is the possibility that an inhabitant in a dressing gown might appear any moment to play the coke machine or wash off her clothes.

The most obvious and least used meeting places are the classrooms with their comfortable desk chairs, lecterns and black- or green-boards. I'm glad not many meetings are held in classrooms; I had enough of them during my lean years.

My reverie is interrupted as my chapel partner misses a C sharp in hymn number 57. I hope he improves before February Meetings.

DO YOU GET HUNGRY
while Studying, or Are you
Planning a Party?

College Hill Grill
CAN SUPPLY YOUR NEEDS
"Come and See Us Anytime"
MARY TIPTON

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK
Midland Shopping Center Arcade

A Warm Welcome to
Maryville College

SEE US FOR A COMPLETE LINE OF BOOKS AND BIBLES

ALCOA MOTEL
"Exquisite But Not Expensive"
ALCOA, TENN.
Phone 983-4162 For Reservations
Make Your Homecoming Arrangements With Us

PET DAIRY
ICE CREAM
★
MILK
"Fresh from the Dairy"

Two Down, Georgetown Next!

Tonight the Maryville football team will go after its third victory of the year at Georgetown, Kentucky, where they will face Georgetown College. In their first two games the Scots have looked impressive as they downed Mars Hill 21-0 and Centre 33-14.

Mars Hill Outclassed

The Mars Hill Lions were completely outclassed as the Scots jumped off to a 21-0 halftime lead and never let the Lions get beyond the 22 yard line, their deepest penetration. The Highlanders scored in the first quarter as Benny Monroe rifled a pass to Ronnie Lingenfelter, good for 22 yards and 6 points. Jim Renfro kicked the extra point.

The Scots scored again in the second quarter when Ron Lingenfelter raced into the end zone from three yards out. Ken Berry added the extra point. Near the end of the half Roland McClanahan picked up a Mars Hill quick-kick and raced 40 yards for the touchdown. Jim Renfro again added the extra point to make it 21-0.

Scots 33 Centre 14

The Highlanders opened their away season with an impressive 33-14 stomp of the Centre College Praying Colonels. Centre won the toss and elected to receive. Their offense tore wide holes in the Scot forward wall, as they steadily drove down the field. At the Maryville goal line, the quarterback tried a quarterback sneak, fumbled the ball, which was recovered in the end zone by practically the entire Centre team for 6 points. The extra point was no good and the Scots trailed 6-0—but not for long.

The Scots took the kickoff and marched in for the score. Monroe and Berry did most of the carrying, with Ken Berry scoring the six points. The extra point snap from center was way over Jim Renfro's head; he picked up the ball and started to run but was hit hard and fumbled. Ron Lingenfelter then picked up the ball and raced into the end zone for what everybody thought was two points, but the referee ruled the ball dead.

With only two minutes left on the clock, Maryville went ahead to stay when Benny Monroe scored on a quarterback sneak from one yard out. Jim Renfro added the extra point, making it 13-6.

The first play from scrimmage in the second half was the most exciting of the game, as fullback Ken Berry took Monroe's handoff and raced 51 yards to the Centre 10 yard line, and later Monroe plunged over for the touchdown. The extra point was no good. Three minutes later Clint Abbot recovered a Centre fumble on their 23 yard line and Ron Lingenfelter capped a 23 yard scoring drive by racing over from 5 yards out. Maryville pulled a fake kick for the extra point attempt, which worked quite successfully, as it was Lingenfelter who again scored.

With only two minutes left on the clock, quarterback H. H. Lingenfelter teamed up with his brother Ronnie on a 12 yard pass play good for a touchdown. Jim Renfro's try for the point was no good. It didn't matter that Centre scored one last time and added the two point conversion—for all practical purposes the game was over, with Maryville on the long end of the score.

Georgetown has been scouted thoroughly this year by backfield coach Lauren Kardatzke. Earlier this season, they had a difficult time defeating a so-so Hanover team 19-12. Next week always-tough Emory and Henry comes to town. Wouldn't it be nice to carry an unblemished 3-0 record into that one?

Football Intramurals

The intramural athletic program holds an important place in the extracurricular activities of Maryville College. It serves many purposes, among which are building college spirit, furnishing wholesome recreation, promoting physical health, training in self-reliance, sportsmanship, and teamwork.

One of the main objectives of this program is to provide opportunities for the all-round development of each student. Intramural athletics can contribute greatly to this objective, but only in proportion to the number of students who take part in the different sections of the program. The goal is 100% participation by students at some time during the year; that is, every student entering at least one intramural activity during the year.

The first of the number of intramural activities offered is touch football. Official Collegiate football rules will govern play in this league in most instances, except for a few exceptions. The manner of play is called "Flagball", which was used very successfully last year. Each player carries two flags on him, when one of the flags is grabbed from the man with the ball he is downed at that point, which is the same thing as being tackled in a regular football game. Each team is composed of seven men, twelve to a squad, with an offense of three men in the backfield. Each league game shall have at least one official to work the game they are playing. These games are to be played on the Intramural Field on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 3:45 and 4:30. Only two games will be played each day except when it becomes necessary to double up and use the baseball field, which has been lined-off for this use. This would be in case of rain or bad weather on the scheduled days of play.

Coach Davis, Supervisor of Intramurals, needs an official scorekeeper and a timekeeper for these "Flagball" games. Also there are openings for three or four more people to help with the teams. Anyone wishing to help in any way at all please contact Coach Davis at his office in Bartlett Hall.

To the date there are nine

Cont. on Page 5

Soccer Team Wins 1-0!

By
Phil Jerome

The Maryville College soccer team won its opening game of the season last Saturday with a 1 to 0 decision over Appalachian State Teachers College of North Carolina.

The victory was a gratifying one to the team, as it marked their first victory after a mere year of developing and building.

After a scoreless first half, Maryville came out strong to begin the third quarter. At 8:52 of that period Maryville's aging Rich Gossweiler "headed" the bouncing ball over the hands of the Appalachian goalie to the Scotties' ace center forward from Thailand, Bill Malasitt. Malasitt smashed the ball into the unprotected right hand corner of the goal to provide Maryville with a 1 to 0 lead and the eventual margin of victory.

Especially pleasing to Mr. Ainsworth, team sponsor, was the fine work of the Scotties' defense. Halfbacks Bill Weissenburger and Bill Ward, spearheaded by center half "Red" Prudson, and fullbacks Scott Bucher and John Vordonis gave Maryville's goalie, Bob Mullins, a relatively easy afternoon. On the two occasions that the Appalachian forward line pierced the Scotties' defense, goalie Mullins made several saves to insure his shutout and the Maryville victory.

Next week the Maryville team journeys to North Carolina to meet Warren Wilson College in their annual homecoming game. Warren Wilson, last year's leading junior college team in the nation, will unleash their powerful, All-American studded line-up against the Scotties. Maryville, on the basis of their narrow 3 to 0 defeat at the hands of Warren Wilson last year, and their great improvement this year, will be looking for an upset against their heavily favored opponents. Filmed portions of the game will be shown over television, and the Scotties are anticipating a strong showing.

From The Pressbox

By
Todd Owers

DANVILLE, KY. — Check this, student body: you've got a football team to be proud of—one that is both feared and respected. This year Centre thought enough of us to send a visitor to Maryville a week before game time in hopes of reversing last year's 34-0 defeat at Honaker Field. This mystery man spent his afternoons standing on a hill overlooking the practice field, as Coach Baird and the boys drilled in preparation for last week's ball game. 33-14 was the result, which is better than 34-0, I guess; although I wonder if it was really worth all that effort. Centre may have known all our plays by heart, but if they did it didn't prove to be much of an advantage last Saturday night in Danville.

Centre played a ball control game, sticking to the ground mainly, but occasionally throwing a pass just to keep our defense honest. All told, Centre ran 77 plays from scrimmage; whereas we ran only 57. Centre scored the first time they got their hands on the ball—but then so did we, and those of us in the pressbox began breathing much easier from this point on. As the game wore on our offense shifted into high gear, and the boys were off to the races! After awhile, I even began to feel a bit sorry for the electric scoreboard operator because he was having a hard time keeping up with the game. Action became so fast and furious at one point that the scoreboard looked like a giant pinball machine run wild.

During the game I struck up an acquaintance with a sinister looking individual who wore a worried frown throughout much of our conversation, and I can't say as I blame him much. He was a scout from Southwestern, although I must say he looked more like a gangster than he did a scout. His hat was pulled low over his eyes and he hunched low over his papers as he diagrammed every play of the ball game while he muttered and munched contentedly on a rather expensive cigar; which incidentally, threw up quite a smoke screen in the immediate area. We were all glad when Maryville scored because it gave us a momentary reprieve while he took time to bolster up his doused spirits before he lit up again.

THE MARS HILL GAME was a bit one-sided from the fans' point of view, but for the team it was an ideal opener. PETE STAFFORD had a field day, making ten tackles — twice as many as anyone else on the team made that evening. Ronnie Lingenfelter scored two touchdowns; and late in the first half Roland McClanahan electrified the crowd by taking a Mars-Hill quick-kick and scampering 40 yards down the sideline to paydirt. RALPH TUCKER doesn't play football but he was a very popular man immediately after the game was over. Ralph takes care of the bell-ringing chores, and had quite a crowd on the second floor of Anderson right after the game was over. Many eager freshmen stood in line and waited their turn to ring the bell, while Ralph calmly announced that he was holding auditions for the 6:30 a.m. bell. This was greeted with many good-natured jeers of derision, but it's hoped that there will be many more "auditioners" on hand tonight after we beat Georgetown. A few upperclassmen in evidence would be especially welcome sight.

JUST NOTES: Last week I ran into several old friends at the Centre game — Maryville alumni all of them, and Louisville Seminarians most of them. They were very enthusiastic over the victory, and assured me that, barring any last minute changes or half-written sermons, they would all be out tonight in Georgetown to see the game.

Georgetown will be tough tonight, but we can win with a good defensive game. Offensively, just a touchdown or two could tell the story of the game, which looks from here as though it will end in victory number three for our fired-up football team.

WE HAVE FLOWERS
IN EVERY PRICE RANGE
See our Campus Agents . . .
JOHN EHASZ — Memorial
JIM MOORE — Carnegie
For Lovely Flowers
FROM
Hartmans Flowers
982-7500
333 E. BROADWAY

Always Look Your Best
SEE US FOR ALL YOUR DRY CLEANING NEEDS
MARYVILLE CLEANERS
Contact Your Dormitory Agent—
Carnegie & Memorial— JOE FINK, ED KRUSMAN
New Dorm—SANDY SCOFIELD
Pearsons—SUE QUIGG
Baldwin—JANET MELVILLE

WELCOME, SCOTS!
You're Always Welcome Here
Whatever Your Drug and Cosmetic Needs,
SEE US
Byrne Drug Company

LETTERS

Cont. from Page 3

the first time that I tasted Ethiopian food. Among other things, we ate injera and wat . . . a traditional food that dates back many centuries. Injera is a type of bread which is very thin and is rolled up when it is served. The closest thing which it might resemble in the United States is pancakes. Wat is some kind of meat which is heavily seasoned.

" . . . The Emperor, at the request of the Church, has outlawed the twist in Ethiopia, but the ban does not seem to be having much effect.

" . . . I will be teaching in Ambo, a small resort town two hours drive southwest of Addis. There are mineral water springs and a pool in this town. Five of us are being stationed there, three guys and two girls. We will have running water in our homes (which will have to be boiled for cooking) and electric hot water heaters. We will only have electricity from 6 to 12 p.m. but this should be no great hardship because we won't be home most of the rest of the day anyway."

Socks And Sneakers

JEANNE PRICE

With grape punch and cookies and nuts, WAA began another year as freshman, sophomore, junior and senior co-ed's learned about women's intramurals through the Women's M Club and Miss Leslie.

Volleyball began Thursday just after all the frosh and new students pledged either to Chi Beta or Theta. We hope to form both an independent and a town girls' team also. In case YOU, Miss MC, forgot to come out Thursday plan now to come Tuesday to the Intramural gym. Chi Beta practices at 3:30 and Theta at 4:30. Remember exercise is vital for good physical health, and you won't turn into that neurotic study bug if you relax twice weekly with WAA.

I'm sure anyone could play volleyball. OH! you think we at Maryville rotate crazily. We do it according to official rules, from Miss Leslie. Really, all you do is tap the ball, not twice though or you lose the point,—just once—nice and easy to the next line. OH! I see you like to hit it with a fist. Save that for serving! We need power there. You'll love to play once you come. Think of all the people you'll meet. You don't want to be a chapel seat number at Maryville. Be known on campus. Also gals, often the fellows come and watch the games of volleyball which will begin Thursday, October 11, at 3:30! (Come watch the games, fellows, don't let me down.)

We'll be looking forward to seeing more co-eds out for WAA volleyball than ever before—don't forget now. See you in your socks and sneakers Tuesday!

If the campus seems unusually quiet and the dorms dreary over this weekend remember that ten lively "M" Club gals are retreating in the Smokies, cooking steaks and frying eggs, and sending people snipe hunting. We are looking forward to a great weekend. Wish all of you could come.

Intramurals . . . .

Cont. from Page 4

teams organized. Seven of these teams are made up by the two men's societies, one team is an independent team, and the other is made up of town students.

Kappa Phi has four teams: The Kappa Phi Dardanians, managed by Harry Repsher; The Kappa Phi Dukes, managed by John Livingston; The Kappa Phi Knights, managed by Rich Murchison; and the Magnificent 7, managed by Todd Owers. The Knights were last year's champions but according to George Schember, Kappa Phi Athletic Manager. The race this year should be close, as it usually is.

Alpha Sig's strongest team is The Sledge-Hammers, managed by Ed Krusman. However they also have two other very capable teams: The Hammers, managed by Ed Ziegler and the Ball-Peen Hammers, managed by Dave Wayland. According to Jerry Stewart, Alpha Sig Athletic Manager, a fourth team may be formed due to the increasing number of freshmen interested in intramurals.

A few games have already been played during the past two weeks. The Kappa Phi Knights defeated the Chinese Bandits (town team) by the score of 9-0. The Sledge Hammers got their victory from the Hammers to the tune of 7-0. The Magnificent 7 downed the Dardanians 13-0. And The Dukes defeated the Ball-Peen Hammers 13-0.

WATCH
&
CLOCK REPAIR

Broadway
Jewelers

"We Welcome You"

Dining Designed For Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 a.m.-11 p.m. 982-9921

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR

Southern Shoes

Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student

116 West Broadway

HORNE'S Florist

Whatever the Season . . .
Whatever the Occasion . . .

You can convey your message better with flowers
We can supply all your floral needs . . .

See our agent on campus — CARL McDONALD

Remember to say it with flowers from . . .

215 W. BROADWAY 982-2690

Coming Your Way . . .

Last 8 Big Days! Thru Oct. 13th

Walgreen Agency

GIGANTIC 1¢ SALE

Buy One Item AT ITS REGULAR EVERYDAY PRICE...
ADD 1 CENT and Get 2!

FOR COMPLETE LISTING PICK UP A CIRCULAR IN OUR STORE

PARK DRUG STORE

106 E. Broadway Dial 982-1670

"FREE PRESCRIPTION DELIVERY"

SHOP

Maryville's Newest, Most Complete Stock Of ATHLETIC EQUIPMENT AND SPORTING GOODS
Archery — Basketball — Baseball — Bowling — Football — Golf
Soccer — Swimming — Tennis — Track — Wrestling
Phys. Ed. Clothing & Equipment
RAWLINGS — SPALDING — WILSON

GIFF'S SPORTING GOODS

202 N. Cusick 983-2166

Greetings From

For your Homecoming needs and accommodations, contact us. We have been proud to serve Maryville College students and families in the past and we wish to continue with this service . . .

For reservations, phone 982-6461

TRAVELER'S
MOTEL & RESTAURANT

"You Will Remember Us By Our Hospitality"

Linda Perry On Music Faculty

Editor's note: The Echo staff wishes to apologize to Mrs. Kent Perry for omitting her name from the news article on new faculty members in the first issue.

Linda Lou Wagner Perry is teaching piano at Maryville College on a part - time basis. Throughout the year she will participate in various faculty programs: On January 5, 1963, Mrs. Perry will present a recital; she will also appear in some chamber music performances, the dates of which will be announced later.

Originally from Knoxville, Mrs. Perry has just completed a master of music degree at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois.

There is the greatest practical benefit in making a few failures early in life. —Thomas Huxley

WGAP
CAMPUS MIKE
Voice of Maryville College
Sunday Evening
9:30-10:00

The History of NSA

Quest For Cooperation

Last spring Maryville students voted to remain a member college of the United States National Student Association (USNSA). If both returning students and freshmen had an understanding of how this organization came into being, NSA would have a greater meaning on campus. This basic history is essential to a thorough understanding and appreciation . . . .

Students in most countries, in a recognition of common aims and in an attempt to solve common problems, have formed national unions and international unions of students.

In 1946, 300 students from 38 different countries assembled in Prague to form a representative international student organization where minority rights would be respected. This organization was called the International Union of Students. However, it became evident that a Communist majority controlled the meeting. Representatives had been chosen with partisan considerations. India was represented by a Communist student body—a distinct minority in that country. American students at the conference returned disillusioned, but still determined to establish international student cooperation.

Up to this time, the United States had no national student organization. The delegation to the International Union of Students took the initiative and issued invitations to every college and university in the country to meet at the University of Chicago in the winter of '46. About 200 colleges and universities, along with student and youth organizations met and decided the form and purpose of the United States National Student Association (USNSA). One of the main issues which remained to be decided was whether or not to affiliate with the International Union of Students.

For several years USNSA observed this organization. In 1948, when Communists took over the Czech universities and vigorously suppressed dissenting students, the IUS refused to do anything about preventing this suppression. NSA gave up hope of being able to revise the IUS to make affiliation possible.

NSA, along with other national unions, still wished to establish international cooperation. In a meeting in 1950 at Stockholm it was decided that a loose form of cooperation could be successful. Plans were made to hold an informal annual conference as an open forum where common problems could be dealt with. This conference became known as the International Student Conference.

NSA had been formed from a desire for international representation, but it soon became involved in domestic issues. NSA became a clearing house for exchange of programs developed by member campuses; a travel program was organized, allowing American students inexpensive European tours; a newspaper was established; educational leaders called on NSA for advice and assistance. The organization was asked to become the only student member of the American Council on Education, composed of over 300 educational organizations.

National and international programs expanded—the Ford Foundation provided funds to bring foreign student leaders to America to study and work with American students; the Student Government Information Service was established; the International Student Conference confronted NSA with problems it had never faced; scholarship programs gave relief to students in Africa, Asia, and Latin America; several programs have been held as a result of NSA's concern over civil rights.

USNSA recognizes that, while a student must be primarily devoted to his academic program, he must also be responsibly involved in social and political activities.

Maryville College
STUDENT CENTER
proudly serves
FULLER LOCKER PLANT
Hamburgers
★
Hot Dogs

DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands
OPEN 8:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. to Serve You
Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products
Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses
DIXIE
SUPER MARKET
WASHINGTON AVENUE

QUO VADIS
ROBERT TAYLOR -- DEBORAH KERR COLOR
TONIGHT 50¢ 7:30
Maryville College Theatre
Chosen as one of the 10 best films of the year by the National Board of Review!

the V-V shape of shirts
McGREGOR®
V-V Oxford Coat Shirt
New dimensions in sport shirts . . . longer and leaner. V-tapered waist fits better, looks trimmer. Longer shirttail stays put. A true oxford weave in 100% cotton. Coat model with panel front, authentic button-down collar.
Proffitt's
MEN'S DEPT.
Midland Shopping Center

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Feature on the Gregg Smith Singers (See page 6)

Vol. 48 | Maryville, Tennessee, October 20, 1962 | No. 3

LOIS ANN JONES REIGNS TODAY

Floats by Classes, Societies To Enter Parade Competition

The Homecoming parade, beginning today at 2 p.m., will include floats from every class, Chi Beta, and Kappa Phi. Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma will have a joint float. The senior class float, the "Highland Queen," will not enter the competition, but will carry the homecoming queen and attendants.

The junior class float will be called "Cage 'em Scots." A panther will be in a case pulled by a scottie dog.

"Scots Always Come Thru" will be the theme for the sophomore float. A scottie dog with flashing eyes, wagging tail, and a keg hanging from its neck, flashing "Victory" will be jumping through a victory "V".

The freshman class's theme for its float will be "On Highlanders —Pan the Panthers." A Highlander will shake his head, move his arms up and down, as fire and smoke come from a frying pan containing a panther.

Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma will continue their rush week theme, using a river queen with large, moving water wheels, a ringing bell, and smoke from the smokestacks. The theme will be "Sink 'em."

Using the advertising slogan of Scotties tissue and the theme "With the Magic Oval," Chi Beta will have a magic oval (a football) to win the Maryville-Hanover game.

Kappa Phi will use an old, decrepit bi-plane with a gasoline engine, sputtering and smoking, with a powered propeller to carry out the theme "Ground 'em Scots."

Judges for the float competition will be Mr. Edwin Best, Mrs. Joe C. Gamble, and the Rev. Warren Rutledge.

Led by the Highlander Band, the parade will move from the First Baptist Church to Broadway, moving down the main street. The band and cars will turn left at the old Proffitt's store and proceed to the Midland Shopping Center. The floats will go on to Washington Street, turn left on the other side of the viaduct, and meet the band at the shopping center, where the band will put on a show.

MC Playhouse Now Offers Season Tickets

Season tickets for all 1962-63 Maryville College Playhouse productions are available to faculty members and students now for the first time. Two dollars, the price of the new season ticket represents a 40 per cent saving on the regular admission cost, as well as an opportunity to select the best seats for all productions.

The 1962-63 schedule of plays includes "Look Homeward, Angel" on November 16 and 17; "Tiger at the Gates" on January 11 and 12; "Bye, Bye, Birdie," which will be a cooperative musical presentation by the glee clubs, college and community orchestra, and playhouse, on March 15 and 16 and "The Tempest" during commencement week.

USNSA Officer To Visit MC

Dennis Yeager, a national officer of USNSA, will visit the Maryville campus on October 30 and 31 to talk with the student body about NSA plans for the coming year. Mr. Yeager, a Programs Vice President, has taken this year out from his studies at Loyola University in New Orleans to serve as a national officer in Philadelphia.

Mr. Yeager will graduate in 1964 with a political science degree after returning from his year with NSA. At Loyola he served two years on the student council and one year as chairman of the South Central region of NSA. He is a member of ASN scholastic honorary fraternity and Blue Key honorary leadership fraternity. His home is in Ft. Worth, Texas.

While on the campus Mr. Yeager will conduct an informal student body meeting; it will be held on the evening of October 30. This meeting, along with other opportunities which he has to talk with students, serves as a means of direct contact with the national officers and NSA's plans and undertakings for the year.

G. Smith Singers

The Gregg Smith Singers, distinguished American choral ensemble under the direction of Gregg Smith, will present the first of four attractions of the Maryville College - Community Artist Series at 8:15 p.m. Friday evening, October 26, in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel. Their repertoire ranges from the complex contemporary to the music of the Renaissance and includes classic choral works and American folk music.

Other Artist Series attractions include the National Players, Inc., presenting William Shakespeare's Othello, Thursday, January 31; Gold and Fizdale, duo-pianists, Friday, March 5; and an extra gift concert which is to be announced later.

CROWNING GLORIES . . . Homecoming Queen Lois Ann Jones smiles in anticipation of today's festivities. With her are Janet Lyerly (left) and Carol Cox, her royal attendants. All three women will be honored at the parade this afternoon and during the football game tonight.

Day's Activities Draws Alumni

A Founders Day address, a parade complete with floats and bands, open house, and the traditional barbecue dinner topped off with a football game are the colorful program for the annual Maryville College Founders Day and Homecoming today.

The Homecoming weekend began at 9 a.m. with the registration of alumni under the chapel colonade, followed by the traditional Founders Day service in the chapel at 9:40. Dr. John Page, pastor of Second Presbyterian Church in Knoxville, discussed "A Backward Glance, A Forward Stride."

Following the Homecoming parade in Maryville, there will be open house in the dormitories for the alumni who have returned to the campus and desire a nostalgic view of their old rooms. A total of 500 alumni, their families, and guests are expected to gather on the baseball field at 6 p.m. for the annual barbecue supper.

Alumni activities for the day will close with the Homecoming football game at 8 p.m. The Scots will play the fifth game of the season against Hanover College, Hanover, Indiana. At halftime the Homecoming Queen will be crowned, and the Highlander Marching Band will present a special show.

A New Tradition: All Scots' Day

Yesterday was the beginning of what is hoped to become a tradition at Maryville (and with the collection of them here, it probably has a good chance): All Scots' Day. Students wore clothes of the College colors, orange and garnet, or of plaid.

At 6 p.m. was the first annual Homecoming Dinner, with Student Body president, Mike Garrett, as master of ceremonies. Special invited guests were five members of the Board of Directors, Mrs. E. Fay Campbell, Dr. and Mrs. John Page, Dr. E. R. Hunter, representing the faculty, and Mrs. Hunter; Dr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Copeland, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Best (Mr. Best representing the alumni), Dr. Franklin D. McClelland, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Bushing, Miss Frances Massey,, and Jane McDade and Jim Renfro, representing the town students.

The purpose of the dinner is to increase the importance of Homecoming, both for the student body and for the alumni, and bring these two groups in contact with each other.

Other activities of Friday evening were the after dinner dance, held in the New Dorm basement; the recital of Mrs. Sallie Warth Shoen, pianist, held in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center at 8 p.m.; and the Pep Rally at 9:30 p.m.

Miss Janet Lee Armentrout

Dr. Eby, Dr. Mansell Next Vespers Speakers

Dr. Barnett S. Eby, pastor of the New Providence Presbyterian Church in Maryville, will speak at the weekly vesper service, which will begin in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel at 7 p.m.

Guest speaker for next week, October 28, will be Dr. Marion E. Mansell of Rockwood, Tennessee, who is the synod executive for the Synod of the Mid-South in the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A.

YW President Elected Queen Of Homecoming

Lois Ann Jones reigns as Homecoming queen over today's activities. The runner-up in the school-wide election is Carol Jane Cox, and Miss Jones chose as her other attendant her roommate, Janet Lyerly.

Miss Jones is from College Park, Maryland. Her sophomore year she was Barnwarming sponsor, a Nu Gamma leader, a sophomore aide, and secretary of Chi Beta society. Miss Jones is a member of the BG Club; last year she served as secretary of YWCA, and this year is president of that organization. She is a Christian Education major, and plans to work as a Director of Christian Education.

Miss Cox, a native Tennessean, is a psychology major, and has worked as a psychology laboratory assistant. She was secretary-treasurer of the sophomore class and of Pearsons Hall, vice president of the M Club, Rush Week Chairman for Chi Beta, on the Y Cabinet, the Publicity Committee of the Student Council, Projects Chairman of the senior class, and New Dormitory House Chairman.

Miss Lyerly was a Nu Gamma Leader, and Nu Gamma Chairman. She has served as a sophomore aide, secretary of Chi Beta, is a member of the Student National Education Association, and this year is vice president of YWCA. Miss Lyerly's major is elementary education. She is from Charlotte, North Carolina.

Lee Armentrout Sponsors Scottie Band for 1962

Miss Janet Lee Armentrout, a senior from Birmingham, Alabama, has been chosen band sponsor for the 1962 Maryville College football season. Lee has been in the ranks of the Highlanders and in our College - Community Orchestra for three years playing the flute and piccolo. A flautist since the fifth grade, she has played in grammar- and high-school orchestras. Lee is an elementary education major and is practice teaching in the Fort Craig Elementary School.

Tonight Lee and the 50-member Highlander Marching Band make their third appearance this year on Honaker Field for our annual Homecoming game against Hanover College. The fighting Scots meet the Panthers from Indiana at 8:00 p.m. following a full day of parading and picnicking.

Half-time will provide a last look at the floats, some of which will be deserving winners.

Mr. Roberts, Maryville band director, has announced a circus theme for the half-time show. Ringmaster Carl McDonald will bring on the fun-featuring circus music, the twirlers and their fire batons, and a finale full of animals and clowns.

Out front with Harold Laster, drum major, will be our smiling band sponsor, her arms full of the traditional yellow mums. Lee is the one in the kilt—the short one.

The Highland ECHO

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee, under the Act of Congress of March 8, 1870. McNabb Printing Co., Inc., printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor-in-Chief
LYNN HERRING

Assistant Editor ..... CHARLOTTA COOK
News Editor ..... PATRICIA REHM
Feature Editor ..... ANN HARRISON
Art Editor ..... GRACE ROSSER
Sports Editors ..... TODD OWERS and JEANNE PRICE
Exchange Editor ..... GAIL GARLOCH
Business Manager ..... PAUL BIGGERS

Staff

REPORTERS AND CONTRIBUTORS: Sue Anne Blair, Mary Gay Boettcher, Margaret Dozier, Elenora Easterly, Sue Foreman, John Gamble, Gail Garloch, Mary Janovich, Phil Jerome, Sally Johnston, Karen Keen, Libby Lee, Barbara McCarter, Sherry Proffitt, Charlie Rowland, Helen Ryan, Billy Wear.

CIRCULATION: Dave King, Bruce Bigart, Harold Cones, Ginna Coon, Victor Mellott

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR, MR. FRANK LAYMAN

From The Editor

Of Patriotism—I heard a good discussion of that the other day. Intellectuals avoid it, radicals misuse it, conservatives fear it, and college students learn to hypnenate it and shelve it as being a learned fact. We have pigeon-holed it as nothing more than common display of emotionalism; but whether we recognize its importance or not, we, as American people, have always conformed to its jurisdiction.

Patriotism is vital and influential; but when it is misguided, its force may be more destructive than constructive. Witness the Communist faith, or the struggle in Oxford, Mississippi, or the lack of support for the ideal of the American way of life. All are forms of patriotism—to a misdirected ideal, to custom resulting from fear, or to one's own selfish interests.

But there are still healthy forms of patriotism, and even the smaller evidences reflect the larger and encompassing whole—the patriotism of Homecoming, of Churchgoing, of campus or community awareness, of interests outside ourselves, and of open hearts and minds which lead to understanding and to cultivation of those ideals upon which this land was founded. Let us appreciate healthy patriotism, remembering that it is an emotion which we must rise toward, not stoop to. In these lines of his poem, "The Gift Outright," Robert Frost sums it all up:

Something we were withholding made us weak

Until we found out that it was ourselves

We were withholding from our land of living.

HOMECOMING IS THE TIME
TO VISIT
Leonard's Steak House
REAL ITALIAN PIZZA, CHOICE STEAKS . . .
SUNDAY BUFFET

WE RENT TO COLLEGE STUDENTS AND SERVICE PERSONNEL

Brand new Corvair Monzas, Chevy II and Chevrolet Impalas at low rates. Rent a car the BUDGET Way, less per mile, less per day. You buy only the gas you need.*

We Feature Free Hotel and Airport Pickup and Delivery Service.

Phone 982-2702

Librarians Erase The Hours Away

by MARY JANOVICH

The new movement on the Maryville College Campus is erasing. The student librarian are the enthusiastic leaders of this crusade. They can hardly wait to erase pencil marks from an eight hundred ninety-nine-and-a-half page book.

To be more specific let's follow a library worker as he goes about the monotonous job — twelve hours a week. He walks into the library, looks behind the desk on the "books to be erased" shelf, grabs one of said books and proceeds to the task. The book is usually three hundred or more pages long. Now, let us suppose that there is a pencil dot on every page. It takes six strokes with an

Cont. on page 6, Col. 4

DURING HOMECOMING
Keep those cameras ready to capture an unusual shot for the Chilhowean's
CANDID CAMERA CONTEST
Prizes:
1st—$5 2nd—$3 3rd—$2
Contest ends when Christmas vacation begins.

FROM WHERE I SIT . . .

One of the most promising developments of this young semester has been the emergence of the Men's Student Cooperative as a responsible participant in Student Government. Begun four years ago, the MSC had perennially failed to reach the heights of which many men felt it was capable. This year, with the assistance of Dean Bushing and Messrs. Crippen and Ramger, the MSC has initiated the steps necessary to make it a worthy partner of the well-run WSGA. Hats off to Jim Moore and his able Council . . . and may their fine efforts continue!

* * *

And while laurels are being distributed, a special commendation is due the Junior Class for its fine work in obtaining jerseys for Maryville's infant soccer team. It's been a long road for the soccer team in its attempt to gain varsity status, but now that end may be in sight. Student interest and support, such as that evidenced by the Junior Class, is indicative of a healthy spirit within the student body . . . and goodness knows, we need all of that we can get!

* * *

Just a reminder — Student Council meetings are held every Wednesday evening at 8:30 in the Y-Rooms. Students who attend these meetings enjoy the same privileges as Council members . . . except the right to vote. If you have complaints, criticisms, or just a friendly suggestion, bring it with you. You're guaranteed a hearing, and more important, you'll be a participant in the formation of Student Government policy. Hope to see you there regularly!

—Mike Garrett

Anniversary Interview

'A Backward Glance and a Forward Stride'

by MARY GAY BOETTCHER

One year ago Dr. Hunter made a speech about a large group of children who had been "running around" without a father. And one year ago, most of us at Maryville College were very much aware of the distinctive white-haired man who had won our affection long before his Inauguration Day.

Today we are even more aware. And Dr. Copeland is aware of us too. This is most obvious in an interview with him, as is his great concern for these "children" of his. This is a concern, he says, which is mirrored by "the concern of our alumni." These alumni are providing us with more than ample vitality from the past to project us into a significant and meaningful future.

This vitality, reflected in our academic record and spiritual life which "gives relevance to the day's issues" will help us to take the "forward stride" necessary.

Our forward stride is going to be a big one. In this age it will become increasingly difficult to achieve, for instance, with the same academic standards, the same rating of excellence. No, it will take more. And there is no doubt that this "more" will be achieved through the encouraging and sincere optimism felt here—"an optimism which is one of the motivations bringing the highly diversified people on this campus together toward the common goal of service." A sure result of this proving in the future will be freedom—both in thought and action, that freedom which comes from finding the truth."

"If I have a job, it is to help people express themselves at their best."

November Elections Will Be Important

by HELEN RYAN

On November 6, voters will make their trips to the polls. The more important elections will decide thirty-five governors and thirty-eight senators. The three most publicized races have been in California, Massachusetts, and Texas.

Governor Edmund "Pat" Brown of California is having a difficult campaign against Richard Nixon. The former Vice-President has turned to state politics to keep his hopes alive for the next national election.

Edward Kennedy, the President's youngest brother, has been the focus of the Massachusetts senatorial race. To obtain the nomination he defeated Edward McCormick, Jr., nephew of the House Speaker. The Kennedy-McCormick feud is many years old and because of this split within the party, Republicans are hopeful of a win.

The most bitter race is the Texas gubernatorial contest. John Connally defeated Governor Price Daniel in the Democratic primary. Conally left the post of Secretary of Navy to run. His opponent, Jack Cox, changed parties last year. In 1960 he was the Democratic candidate for governor.

The Republicans of Illinois expect a hard race to keep the seat held by Everett Dirksen. He is presently the Senate Minority Leader. Sidney Yates, Democratic Congressman, is challenger of the incumbent Dirksen. The contest is between the Chicago Democrats and the downstate Republicans. The Democratic turnout will decide the election.

The Kentucky contest is always one of bitter dispute where neither party can ever be sure of victory. The incumbent senator is Thruston Morton, former Chairman of the Republican National Committee. Lieutenant Governor Wilson Wyatt is the Democratic candidate. The vote in Louisville, which recently turned Republican, is likely to be the deciding factor in this race.

The Tennessee Democrats are sure of an easy victory with Frank Clement who seeks election to a third term of office. The Republican candidate, Hubert Patty, is a lawyer practicing in Maryville. William Anderson, pilot of the Nautilus on its famous trip under the North Pole, is the Independent candidate.

There are some apparently sure victories for both parties. Easy re-elections are certain for governors and senators in the Democratic southern states. A Democratic loss in Arizona, Nevada, and Ohio is almost impossible since the present senators are veteran campaigners. The Republicans are looking for at least six easy victories in the states of Iowa, Kansas, New Hampshire, New York, South Dakota, and Vermont.

Dear Dante,

This assignment that you gave me sure is Hell.

Regards,
Virgil

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

Office Supplies? We got 'em . . .
Office Equipment? Likewise . . .
Office Machines? our middle name
Service? on all we sell (with a smile)
Delivery? Fastest and best . . .
Parking? Free, 10 feet from the door.

White Office Machines
"WON'T WRITE — CALL WHITE"

MUSE TEN

ON CLASS BREAKS, BELLS AND SUCH

Ten minutes class break so they say,
Is fair for changing here to there.
Alas! Alak! What class I pray,
Stops at the time judged good and fair?
It seems to me 'twould be as well,
To time the space we have to wait,
Then every minute past the bell,
Come in the next time that much late!

—Charlie Rowland

* * *

The Black Rose

Through the night comes the mournful whistle of a passing train,
And outside the heavens have released the wind and the rain in lashing anger.
I sit alone in my room with the dying embers of the fire,
And as I gaze around the room my eyes fall on a single black rose,
Its petals glistening in velvety splendor.
Its head is bowed in humble sorrow
Yet it has a regal stateliness which forces my soul to pay homage to its grief.
What great tragedy turned your petals to black?
Was it pride which turned your heart dark but kept your stem straight and tall?
Was it pride which embedded your black royalty in my soul and left me cold and hard?
For tonight I stand straight and tall
While my heart is black with sorrow.

—Linda Clopton

* * *

Two Poems

The Spirit blows where e'er it will, and we Can trust the still, small voice of God to be
Our Guide and Comforter through any strife.
He leads us ever through eternal life.

* * *

Be careful when you don another's coat;
For when times change, to quote is to misquote.
Sound thoughts, not clever words should be employed,
Or glibness may be seen as formless void.

—A. Olafson

Two More Poems

Night passage made—
by light of the moon
through a crack in the shade, a current of air
on the window sill laid,
some footsteps outside
but beginning to fade,
And the lonely sound of silence on the stair.

Morning dew sparkles
White on blades of Grass as warm sun's
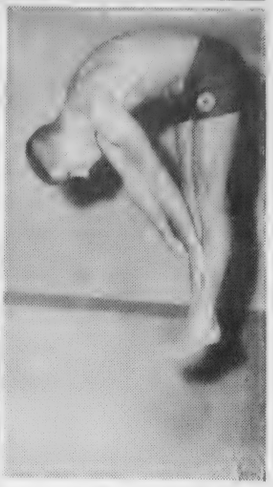
Rays pierce through the fog
And lift in joy
The last of night.



—Mildred Miles

SEEN . . .

—Photos by Ralph Tucker

. . . AND HEARD

Just get on that hobby-horse and ride . . . the nightingale is strangled — bye bye birdie . . . and the ants go marching . . . the captain wants to know if Boston . . . everything's open to all on the Maryville campus—yeah, but it closes at ten o'clock . . . sniff, sniff, do you smell smoke? . . . (at four a.m.) does anybody know who Caedmon is? . . . break sound and unsound barriers . . . the Seekers of Purity . . . Pall Malls are in the lead . . . the Fundamentalists . . . I think my roommate's sick, but the doctor says no. What if he dies . . . those people in Memorial will burn anything . . . walking hand in hand past the smoking lounges . . . have you got your CARE package yet . . . but nobody would fall from a top bunk twice . . . Growth Institutes and Insurance for Senior Citizens . . . the forty-niner . . . where's Sevierville . . . who does everybody hear at Vespers but can never see . . . "dad's" shipwreck . . . blessings—pro and con . . . but Daddy, both Emory and Henry at the same time . . . bring the body back, we're not through yet.

PEACE CORPS REP. TO VISIT CAMPUS; CUT IN BUDGET AFFECTS PROGRAM

On November 2 a Peace Corps representative will be in the theater to speak to students in the late afternoon. He will show a 28-minute film and conduct a discussion period afterward.

Two 1962 Maryville graduates are now employed in the Peace Corps. Ray Donaldson is the Ethiopian area, and Larry Mease is in Cyprus.

Funds Decrease

The House of Representatives has slashed the Peace Corps budget by eleven million dollars. On Sept. 20 the Representatives reduced President Kennedy's appropriation request from $63,750,000 to $52,000,000.

To Reduce Volunteers

This action will affect the Peace Corps program in several ways. First, it will cause a reduction in the number of workers either in training or in actual service. By Sept., 1963, volunteers will number 7,570 instead of the formerly anticipated 9,970.

To Retard New Programs

The cut in funds will also retard the Peace Corps' effectiveness in several newly interested countries, such as Indonesia. The third immediate implication that the House's action will have on the Corps will be to curtail the Corps' ability to move increasingly toward university-administered contracts.

To Stop 'Drain'

The Representatives who backed the cut in Peace Corps funds have explained that they wish to stop the "drain" on the American teaching supply that the program seems to be causing. The fact is, however, that more than 80% of all Corps volunteers had no teaching experience prior to their enlistment.

READING—

O'HARA'S SERMONS

John O'Hara, Sermons and Soda-Water, Random House, New York, 1960.

Sermons and Soda - Water by John O'Hara is a collection of three related novellas. They are narrated by Jim Malloy, who has been a reporter, a press agent, and a successful novelist. The twenties, thirties, and forties are clearly pictured, as seen by Malloy.

In the first volume, "The Girl on the Baggage Truck, Malloy is the main character, a young publicity man, who avoids, mostly by luck, becoming the pet poodle of an aging actress. He is an observer in the next book, Imagine Kissing Pete, which concerns an adulterous marriage that works out better than expected. The third book, We're Friends Again, is primarily Malloy's reflections on his life and those of his acquaintances.

The style is reminiscent of Scott Fitzgerald. The dialogue is lifelike, the portrayal of persons deft, and the characterization of social mores effective. I found the collection to be vital, interesting, and poignant.

The three short volumes are available in the reading alcove of the college library.

—Karen Keen

WGAP
CAMPUS MIKE
Voice of Maryville College
Sunday Evening
9:30-10:00

CURTAIN TIME

Roger Williams, Kingston Trio To Be In Area For Concerts

The 1962 season of entertainment and cultural events has opened, and Maryville College students should have no trouble finding things to do. On Oct. 17, U-T's Carousel Theatre opens Tovarich, a French play adapted and translated by Robert Sherwood. The play, directed by Paul L. Soper, runs from Oct. 17-20 and 23-25. Curtain time is 8:15, and tickets are available at the Carousel Office, 123 Ayres Hall on U-T campus in Knoxville. Student tickets, 75c, may be purchased by making reservations in advance.

The famous eighty-voice Orfeon Chorus from Coimbra University in Portugal will appear at the Civic Auditorium Saturday evening, Oct. 27, as the first regular season attraction of the University Concerts. On November 6, David Van Vactor conducts the Knoxville Symphony orchestra in a program of Bach, Haydn, and Beethoven.

Cont. on page 7, Col. 2

Fugitive Pieces

One thing about coming home is that everybody does it. Pigeons do it, wasps do it, even educated alumni do it. Squatting on the gravel, covering orange chicken wire with garnet crepe paper, I begin to consider homecomings and Homecoming. Considering that of the past four years I have spent one thousand eighty-six days and one thousand ninety-four nights or approximately seventy-five percent of my time on the Maryville College campus, I guess I have earned the right to think of it as home.

Some people come home for a home-cooked meal; but here instead of the traditional fried chicken, peas, mashed potatoes and ice cream, a number of returning prodigals feast on the fatted calf on the intramural field.

Those who have become successful in their careers as ministers, minister's wives, teachers, doctors, lawyers and mothers return to the homestead to share their accomplishments and see the football game. Many people come back to see the campus and recollect powerful feelings (overt plagerism). I remember a dear lady I once met on a bus between here and Detroit. I was singing the Alma Mater in my sleep, and she woke me up to tell me (for two hundred and twenty miles) about the time when she lived in Baldwin that she and her roommate covered the housemother's door with fly paper (in 1910 flypaper came in sheets) and then set off the fire alarm. A kindly gentleman I met on campus yesterday was looking for a certain tree under which he met his wife. He wondered if the poison ivy was still there.

They come back to sing in chapel, to see their old rooms in Memorial and the New Dorm, to keep appointments with their special studies advisors, to see the parade, to see the leaves. And some the pigeons, I muse as I cut my last strip of crepe paper, come home to mate.

FROM THE PRESSBOX

by TODD OWERS

Head Football Coach Boydson Baird cast a furtive glance into the dazzling lights of Honaker Field, spied a well-punted football about to descend and demolish one football coach and sportswriter, and went into action immediately. Stopping in midsentence, he yelled, "Watch it" and then moved quickly from his spot on the 25 yard line with an easy grace characteristic of most athletes. The peppery Maryville mentor had just finished sending his charges through a brief, snappy practice session; now, except for Coaches Tomlinson and Kardatzke and a couple of punters working on their specialty, the field was deserted this cool Friday evening. The practice session had been highly-spirited and lively, with shouts ringing out fast and furiously as they echoed and reechoed in the empty stands. Saturday night they would be packed solid for the most colorful sports spectacle of the year, the Homecoming Game, and tension there would probably work up to a fever pitch before its conclusion. Not so tonight—an atmosphere of fun and relaxation pervaded throughout this post-practice session, a noteworthy observation in these days of high pressure play when there is supposedly no time for fun in football. Coach Tomlinson was practicing kickoffs with Coach Kardatzke assisting and Coach Baird's voice trailed off into the distance as another one of his booming kicks came sailing over our heads and rolled dead in the end zone. With a final wistful look at the offending light towers which had failed so miserably the week previous, Coach continued:

"They'll be tough all right. Georgetown had enough trouble with Hanover earlier this year, and look what Georgetown did to us. We'd sure like to win this one badly, it'd put us in good shape for the Southwestern game next week."

Many thanks for this preview, Coach. Coaches rarely make predictions, but fans and sportswriters love to. The bell has fallen silent of late but this observer would like to go on record as saying it will ring tonight, and it'll be great hearing it again!

JUST NOTES: Pressbox chatter heard during last week's game—Did you get the names of the officials? . . . Isn't that just like a band, always playing when it's time to give the starting lineups . . . somebody ought to clue in Emory and Henry's band leader . . . might be nice if they'd turn on all the lights . . . give these scores, courtesy of WEAG . . . good crowd tonight, must be 2,500 at the least . . . Renfro kicked off . . . Pete Stafford made the tackle . . . I can see Peg all the way from up here . . . you've got better eyes than I have . . . Aren't these lights great? . . . they tried them this afternoon and they worked fine . . . Monroe isn't throwing the ball like he used to . . . Who made the stop on that play? . . . announce to the crowd as soon as the first quarter ends the lights will be pulled again . . . Anybody got a candle? . . . I can't see anything . . . Taps, that's a cool move . . . Ah! Reveille by our band, that's even better . . . Hey like this is getting ridiculous. Tell the crowd to sing "Give Me Oil in My Lamps, Keep Me Burning" . . . half hour already . . . cutting into my date time . . . Hooray! . . . they're back back on. . . . an electrician's field day . . . who made that run? . . . Phelps. . . . That Hawkins is terrific . . . they're two-platooning us to death . . . no two ways about it, they've got a good ball club.

Dining Designed For Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 a.m.-11 p.m. 982-9921

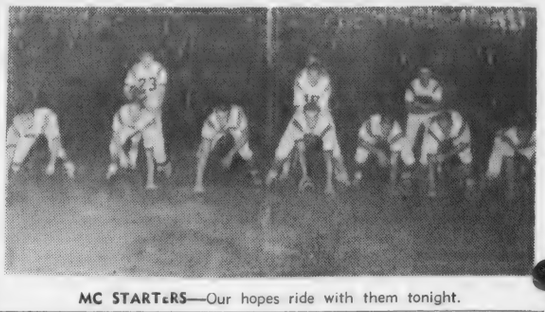
DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products
Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses

DIXIE SUPER MARKET



WASHINGTON AVENUE

Football Intramurals

"Everything is going along just fine." This is the good word from Coach Davis concerning "Flagball." Coach Davis, supervisor of the intramurals, says that everyone participating seems to be enjoying the games. There have been only a limited number of injuries so far this year. The injuries are hoped to be kept down to a minimum.

After three weeks of play the standings are as follows:

TEAM	WON	LOST	TIED
Knights	3	0	0
Magnificents	2	0	0
Sledge Hammers	2	1	0
Dukes	1	1	1
Ball-Peen Hammers	1	2	0
Bandits	0	1	1
Independents	0	1	1
Hammers	0	2	1
Dardanians	0	2	0

MC STARTERS—Our hopes ride with them tonight.

WHO'S HANOVER?

Hanover, who ever heard of them anyway? Well, surprisingly enough, Hanover is similar to Maryville College in many respects. They have a heritage which would do credit to Isaac Anderson himself—Hanover College was founded in 1827 and is the second oldest college in Indiana. They are religiously affiliated with the United Presbyterian Church and have a campus which contains 300 acres and overlooks the Ohio River Valley. Yes, Hanover is a coeducational institution, just as we are, and they have an enrollment of 335, which is comparable to ours. Their school colors are red and blue, and their athletic teams go by the dual nicknames of the Panthers" and "Hilltoppers."

For the past three years, Hanover has been struggling to get out of the football doldrums. Last year they won three and lost six—and the three they won they came out on top by just six points, a rather slim margin. Head Coach Leo Kelley is counting heavily on this year's crop of juniors to pull his team through the season, as he has nine returning lettermen, and five of them are juniors.

Two offensive spots are mostly up to the incoming freshmen. Kelley lists 17 frosh on his roster, and says that virtually all of them will see action this year. Nine of them made all-conference in high school, and three were chosen as captains of their respective teams. Although only two spots are open to the yearlings on the starting offensive team, Kelley's second team is dominated by freshmen. According to Kelley they are a good bunch of ballplayers, good enough to add vitally needed depth to the team.

This is a big ball game for Coach Baird and our team — one that they will be out to have at all costs. Next week the team will fly to Memphis to take on a strong Southwestern team. The Scotties should be able to beat the Hanover Hilltoppers Saturday, which would put them in good shape for the tough Southwestern game next week, and which would also make the Maryville campus the liveliest spot in town Saturday night.

Wasps Sting Scots 14-7

by JOHN GAMBLE

The MC Scouts failed to turn in the upset over Emory and Henry College last Saturday that everyone was hoping for, but they did show why the NCAA ranks the Highlanders 18th nationally in small college total defense. A heavy, fast Emory and Henry had to come from behind in the final quarter to produce a 14-7 victory, in one of their toughest games of the year.

The loss is the second for the Scots, against two wins. Emory and Henry, a Methodist college in Southwest Virginia, remained undefeated Saturday with a 4-0-1 record. The Wasps, who rank with Carson-Newman as traditional arch rivals, had defeated Washington and Lee 38-33 the week before, ending a 21-game streak without a loss for the W & L club.

Going into the contest a solid two touchdown underdog, the Highlanders of Coach Boydson Baird undoubtedly started out to play one of their better games of the season. Besides coming on the heels of the 9-0 Georgetown loss, another disappointment was in store for the local team. Standout Gene Smith, a junior guard from Belvidere, N. J., broke his right forearm during the game. Smith, who is starting right guard and a converted center, will be out of action for the remainder of the season. Oldtimers remarked that this may be a record year for crucial injuries to key players here at MC. Smith is the third starter in two weeks to be out.

E-H Scores First

The Wasps, highly over-confident of victory, pushed slowly for the first score of the game. Halfback Earl Hawkins, a 205-pound Little All-American candidate, scampered over from the Scots' 3-yard line for the initial marker, however the attempted extra point failed.

Donnie Phelps, replacing injured Ron Lingenfelter in the starting backfield at halfback, returned the kickoff after the E-H touchdown for 30 yards. Ken Berry brought the ball up to the MC 42 yard line, and a loss was registered on the next play. Then Benny Monroe fired a screen pass to Phelps, who raced downfield for 59 yards to the Wasps' one yard line. On second down, the visitor's defense was easily crushed by fullback Ken Berry, who plunged over for the score. Jim Renfro, the talented "toe" specialist, booted the extra point for the Scots to give them a 7-6 margin, one that would last for two more quarters.

The second quarter was highlighted by three recovered fumbles for the Scots, one by John McCaulley, one by Ken Christy, and another by Pete Stanford. However, no offensive threat could be worked up from the opportunities they brought. The Wasps also recovered two fumbles in the same quarter, which made the total of five lost fumbles in a hard-hitting second period.

The Scots began to move when they took the opening kickoff in the second half. Ken Berry, Roland McClanahan and Don Phelps all produced the yardage for a drive which was climaxed on the Wasps' 37-yard line by a fumble which was recovered by E-H. The visitors drove to Maryville's 31, tried a field goal in desperation, and failed. Then Maryville held the ball for 14 plays, driving down to the E-H 8 yard line and attempted a field goal which failed.

On the first play in the fourth and final period from the E-H 20-yard line, fullback C. A. Burton turned in a dazzling 80-yard gallop that rocketed the Wasps into the lead. The touchdown was followed by a 2-point conversion attempt, with Hawkins running over for the score.

An offsides penalty nullified another TD with minutes left in the game, and the game closed with the Wasps on the MC six yard line.

Pete Stafford, John McCaulley, Roland McClanahan, and Dan Baesch all played excellent defensive games for the Scots.

Maryville matched E-H in first downs with 11, but the Wasps gained more yards rushing with 246 to Maryville's 198 yards.

The Maryville defense will probably fall in the national ratings because of the two previous losses, however they are expected to stay in the top 25 list. The National Collegiate Athletic Bureau stated that the Scots allow 121 yards rushing to their opponents, however these statistics were released before the Georgetown contest.

"LATHER AS YOU GO"

Beneath this slab
John Brown is stowed.
He watched the ads,
And not the road.

—Ogden Nash

Chi Beta, Kappa Phi Aid Cheering Section

Members and pledges of Chi Beta and Kappa Phi combined industry with pleasure at their pep picnic in the college woods last Saturday. They set up a card section for the use of various flash signals between the cheers at the games.

* * *

The Kappa Phi house is open each Thursday evening for Phis and Betas to watch television, play cards, dance, pop corn, or just talk.

Chi Beta plans a parody of the television show "Masquerade Party" at their October 27 meeting.

"COCA-COLA" AND "COKE" ARE REGISTERED TRADE-MARKS WHICH IDENTIFY ONLY THE PRODUCT OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY.

YEA TEAM fight... fight... fight... give em... the ax the ax the ax ...hold that line fight... fight... fight... ...YEA TEAM whew pause

Coca-Cola

take a break... things go better with Coke

Bottled under the authority of The Coca-Cola Company by:

RODDY MANUFACTURING CO.

Maryville, Tenn.

SOCCER TEAM LOOKS GOOD; STILL LOSES BY SCORE OF 5-1

by PHIL JEROME

In a game played last Saturday, the Maryville College soccer team gave Warren Wilson College, the fifth ranked squad in the nation, a scare for 81 minutes of the 88 minute game, before yielding a 5 to 1 victory.

The game was an intense battle with the Owls from Warren Wilson holding a narrow 2 to 1 lead over the Scotties until the final seven minutes. At this point the superior depth of the Owls took its toll on the exhausted Maryville squad and the score became 5 to 1. In the final minute of the game, when the final outcome had been determined, Warren Wilson put in two more goals to make what was a closely played game a seeming rout.

The Scotties had three incentives to win this game. First was the desire of the seniors to defeat the Owls after three previous years of unsuccessful efforts. Secondly was the desire to ruin Warren Wilson's Homecoming Day. Thirdly was the desire of Maryville's fine goalie Bob Mullins to defeat his former team mates.

Maryville began the game by stealing the Owls' war cry. In Warren Wilson there is a tradition that the first team to yell 'um-gaa-wa' will emerge victorious. Because none of the other teams knew the tradition, the Owls were the first to yell the cry. However, when Bob Mullins transferred to Maryville College, he brought the tradition with him. As the teams lined up for the huddle immediately prior to the game, the Maryville squad startled their opponents by beating them to the delivery of the cry.

The first half was played at a fast pace. Maryville took the ball straight down the field at the start of the game, but were unable to score. Several minutes later the Scotties' center forward Bill Malasitt missed a goal when his shot hit the goal post and bounced away. Late in the second quarter Warren Wilson's All-American left wing George Sabo connected for the first score of the game. At the end of the half Warren Wilson held a 1 to 0 edge.

After the half time rest, Maryville came back strong. At 6:40 of the third period Rolland "the Red Fox" Prudhon fed Bill Malasitt with a looping pass over the heads of the Warren Wilson defense. Malasitt's shot beat the goalie, and the game was even at 1 to 1. Twenty seconds later the Owls got their first of two decisive breaks. The Warren Wilson line sent a high looping kick heading toward the goal. Maryville's goalie Bob Mullins was caught playing a step too far forward. The ball floated over his hands and Warren Wilson held a 2 to 1 lead.

The game was played on even terms with both teams threatening to break through. Then with thirteen minutes left in the contest, Prudhon once again fed Malasitt with a pass that had the defense beaten. At this moment, however, the hard and fast pace of the game coupled with the superior depth of the Warren Wilson squad altered the complexion of the game. The Owls got their second decisive break. Just as Malasitt was about to tie the score, his right leg cramped up and he fell to the ground. The rolling ball was rescued by the Warren Wilson goalie before any damage was done. This was Maryville's last threat of the game. With seven minutes left in the game the Owls finally broke through the formidable Scottie defense and came through with the knock-out blow.

In addition to making a good impression with their soccer, Maryville also made a good esthetic showing. The junior class had purchased eleven red and white jersies. These coupled with the white shorts and red knee socks that the players purchased with their own money gave the squad the look of class that is important. Maryville's next game will be with Berea College in Kentucky. After the Berea game the team will play its remaining three games before the home crowds on their own field.

Socks And Sneakers

by JEANNE PRICE

The Women's M Club had a lovely retreat at Mrs. Largen's cabin last weekend. Some played cards, others went to sleep quite early and still others posed for Leslie Productions, but everyone ate delicious charcoal grilled steaks and hiked in the surrounding area.

A giant business meeting selected the sports for the first semester of the women's intramural program for our co-eds. Volleyball which is going strong right now will be followed by powder puff football, with ping pong going on at the same time, since this is an individual sport. Soccer will be the chief sport before Christmas, and after vacation badminton will begin. So you see WAA appeals to all the women students of MC. Come on out, girls, and help Chi Beta or Theta or the Independents win a trophy.

Awards were discussed at the meeting also, and it was decided to establish individual awards in WAA to outstanding women athletes receiving a specific number of points. Membership into M-Club will be based on an accumulative number of points obtained during the years and will be by invitation. A committee of M Club is looking into awards more definitely and by another ECHO issue perhaps I can explain the entire athletic program on the Maryville campus.

See you all in the gym on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons either playing volleyball or cheering for your favorite team!

U-T On TV This Afternoon

The winless-to-date Volunteers of the University of Tennessee find themselves thrust into the sports spotlight this afternoon, as they will be making their home and also their television debut over a regional hookup. The football has taken some heart-breaking bounces thus far for Coach Bowden Wyatt's charges, and this afternoon they will be out for victory number one. The game will be telecast regionally by CBS-TV beginning at 1:45 p.m. WBIR-TV in Knoxville will beam the game into the East Tennessee area. Mel Allen, fresh from a World Series assignment, will handle the play-by-play.

Coach Bear Bryant's Crimson Tide are highly favored to beat the University of Tennessee and thereby cast a shadow over the dedication ceremonies.

1962 SOCCER TEAM LOOKS SHARP IN NEW UNIFORMS

Cherokees Roamed, Named Chilhowees

The Echo wishes to thank Mr. Edwin J. Best for the information about the background of this area which he shared with reporter Sally Johnston in a recent interview.

"Chilhowee"—sure you know what it means. Why, it's about the first word a freshman learns. Soon he connects "Chilhowee" with the mountain range behind the New Dorm—vaguely, dimly, bluely, or clearly seen depending on the weather, or how late he stayed up the night before. But how much more do you know than the bare fact that "Chilhowee" plays an important part in Maryville College's Alma Mater, Howee cheer, and the name of the yearbook?

Don't feel bad if you don't know the meaning of the word—that's been lost even to the Cherokees. "Chilhowee" is an Indian word—it was the name of one of their towns located not many miles from here along the Tennessee River, and, also, the name of Chilhowee Mountain, but no one knows whether the Indians named their town or their mountain first.

The small, rounded Chilhowees form one range extending across East Tennessee from Georgia to within a few miles of Virginia. This range is the first seen from behind the New Dorm. The higher mountains behind the Chilhowee range are the Smokies, which are separate from the Chilhowees, although both are a part of the group known as the Unaka Mountains. The Unakas are a part of a larger chain, the Appalachians, which runs from Maine to Georgia. These spiny bumps along Ma Earth's back are some of the oldest mountains in America.

Back in the Cambrian period (the oldest geological period) before life existed, the Chilhowee mountains were born a few miles from the present site of Maryville College. Being among the first mountains born, the world was strange—there were no plants or animals, no Indian villages.

Soon—in mountain time—life was created. Plants grew and man appeared. Man came in the form of primitive Indians. He lived, died, and was replaced by other Indians. But the Indians didn't live on the mountains; they preferred the rivers where transportation and communication were easy and where water and soft land to cultivate were at their disposal. Indian towns sprang up along the Tennessee River.

In the late sixteenth century the Cherokee Indians arrived. By taking the hunting ground, they forced the others to leave. These Cherokees named the mountains the Chilhowees, or rather, Chilhowee is as close as the Englishman could come to writing down the Indian word.

As the Cherokees had pushed out their predecessors, so they were replaced by the white man. The first white men in this area were traders who lived with the Indians, but then came the English settlers. By 1800 very few Indians were living along the Tennessee River. When Maryville College was founded, in 1819, there were none left—they had been pushed to reservations.

But, though man lives, dies, and is replaced by other men, the mountains remain. The beautiful Chilhowees inspired primitive Indians, the Cherokees, traders, and settlers. Today immortalized in songs and cheers, they sit serenely behind our campus, adding to its beauty and giving those who look out at them a sense of their distant stillness and immovability.

Moreover, since Ben's death, the conviction had grown on him that men do not escape from life because life is dull, but that life escapes from men because men are little. He felt that the passions of the play were greater than the actors. It seemed to him that he had never had a great moment of living in which he had measured up to his fulness.

—from "Look Homeward, Angel," by Thomas Wolfe

PET DAIRY

ICE CREAM

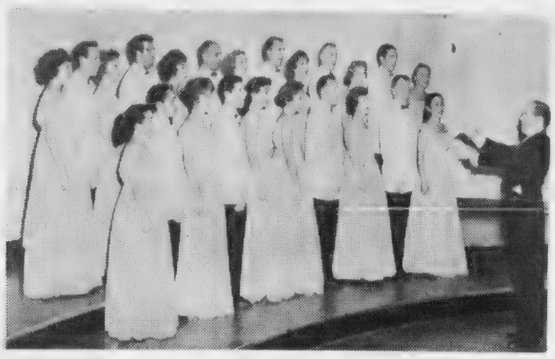
★

MILK

"Fresh from the Dairy"

Maryville College

STUDENT CENTER



proudly serves

FULLER LOCKER PLANT

Hamburgers

★

Hot Dogs

THE GREGG SMITH SINGERS are young—as a group and individually. The average age of the members is twenty-six and the group began in 1955. Since that time they have experienced an adventurous and successful career.

SINGERS' SUCCESS STORY: ADVENTURE, VERSATILITY

"The most distinguished choral ensemble to be presented to the American public in almost a decade"—this is what some reviewers termed the Gregg Smith Singers who are to open the 1962-63 Maryville College-Community Artist Series at 8:15 p.m. Friday evening October 26, in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel. This group of young Southern Californians is currently making its third 10-week tour of the U.S. and the European Continent, where they will appear in 50 cities.

"They look like refugees from a college prom," wrote Time of the Gregg Smith Singers at the Darmstadt Contemporary Music Festival last year. "But they soar with uncanny ease . . . through music . . . as difficult as any being written."

The Gregg Smith Singers began in 1955, when Gregg Smith, a graduate teaching assistant in the music department of the Los Angeles campus, University of California, gathered a group of music students and young musicians interested in singing new music and rarely-performed old works.

In the group's early beginnin they literally worked their wa singing across the country. The sang at national parks and monu ments for food and lodging an wrote ahead to friends for con certs in bigger cities. Althoug succeeding tours of the Greg Smith Singers have been more luxurious and more widely recognized, there will never be another quite so cherished by it members. "There's somethin about the dedication and discipline of living together, singing together, and working together for a common goal of good music that you can't deny—it was the beginning of our real career as a choral group," affirms Mr. Smith.

The Gregg Smith Singers have made annual tours of Southern

Cont. on page 8, Col. 3

Dr. Campbell, Dr. Case To Study Relationship Of Theology, Sociology

Dr. E. Fay Campbell, college chaplain, and Dr. Ralph T. Case, professor of sociology, will travel to Evanston, Illinois, for an annual chaplains' conference. This year the main objective of the conference will be to study "The Possibilities of Conversation between Theology and Sociology.

Dr. Campbell and Dr. Case will meet with chaplains and sociologists from other colleges affiliated with the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. If their discoveries are profitable, the chaplains will continue to examine the relationship of theology to other fields of scientific study at future conferences.

Dr. Campbell anticipates that this meeting will promote the relating of theology to other areas of knowledge.

Presby. College Union Calls Special Meeting

President Copeland will attend a special meeting of the Presbyterian College Union October 29 and 30 in Saint Louis, Missouri. The Union, which meets regularly in January, includes forty-five colleges that are affiliated to the United Presbyterian Church U.S.A.

Drama Coach Announces Cast For 'Look Homeward, Angel'

Mr. Tom Jones, director of the Maryville College Playhouse, has announced the casting results for "Look Homeward Angel," the autobiographical work of Thomas Wolfe adapted for the stage by Kett Frings. "Angel" claimed both the Pulitzer Prize and the New York Critic's Award in 1958.

The cast has already begun the arduous rehearsal schedule, as the date for production is November 16 and 17. Allan Childs will appear as Ben Gant; Janet Purcilla as Mrs. Marie "Fatty" Pert; Norma Singleton as Helen Gant Barton; Mary Gay Boettcher as Eliza Gant; Wade Hampton as Eugene Gant; David Powell as Jake Clatt; Connie Williams as Mrs. Clatt; Michelle Ann Douglas as Florry Mangle; Miriam Stults as Mrs. Snowden; Tom Higgins as Mr. Farrel; Sandy Simpson as Miss Brown; Elaine Coleman as Laura James; David Evans as W. O. Gant; Dale Fischbach as Dr. Maguire; Marcia Sturm as Madame Elizabeth; and Tom Llewellyn as Luke Gant.

"Look Homeward Angel" is a drama which probes for life's meanings and true values. It is a tale of people struggling with violent emotions and tender desires steeped long in the rich color of the North Carolina region.

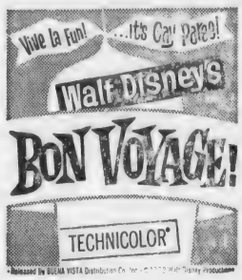
Librarians Erase

Cont. from page 2

art gum eraser and two strokes with a hand to remove one dot from one page of one little book. At that rate erasing just the dots will require 2400 hand movements, plus the motions required to turn the pages. This is one pencil dot per page, not a line, and not twenty lines. Get the picture?

One must realize also that art gum erasers will last only so long Therefore the library has to buy more and more art gum erasers Do you know what this means? This means fines might go up!

But of course the cost of art gum erasers isn't the only disadvantage. The lost time which could be used for study instead of erasing presents a problem to student librarians. Those that are erasing are losing valuable training and experience in the higher skills of library work.



A good conclusion might be—stop marking in those books!!

Capitol Theatre

WEST BROADWAY

MATINEE DAILY 2 P.M.
SATURDAY 12 NOON

Sun.-Mon.-Tues.—Oct. 21, 22, 23

Weds.-Thurs.-Fri.—Oct 24, 25, 26

DOUBLE FEATURE
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 27

—ALSO—

THE FLY

Sun.-Mon.-Tues.—Oct. 28, 29, 30

THE BATTLE OF THERMOPYLAE... A HANDFUL OF MEN FORMING AN INCREDIBLE "FLYING WEDGE"!

STARRING RICHARD EGAN · SIR RALPH RICHARDSON · DIANE BAKER
BARRY COE · DAVID FARRAR · ALSO STARRING DONALD HOUSTON and introducing ANNA SYNODINOU
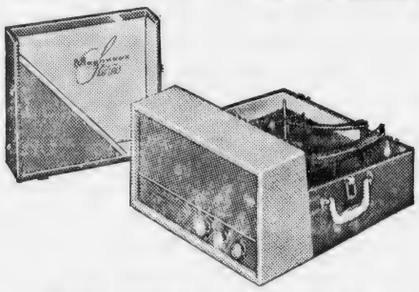
PRODUCED BY RUDOLPH MATÉ and GEORGE ST. GEORGE
DIRECTED BY RUDOLPH MATÉ · WRITTEN BY GEORGE ST. GEORGE
CINEMASCOPE COLOR by DE LUXE

Weds.-Thurs.-Fri.—Oct. 31 & Nov. 1, 2

EDGAR ALLAN POE'S



"I buried his corpse beneath the floor... He was stone cold, and yet... the beat of his deathless heart shattered the silence of the night!"

the magnificent
Magnavox

NOW YOUR RECORDS CAN LAST A LIFETIME

Because the exclusive MICRO-MATIC player eliminates discernible record and stylus wear, the diamond stylus is guaranteed for 10 years.

True stereo high fidelity

Amazing performance with clear, rich sound. Detachable Speaker for space separated stereo. Smart luggage. Choice of colors. The Saratoga, model 238.

Now only $79.90

OTHER PORTABLES FROM $59.90

MAGNAVOX RADIOS...
Exciting to own, wonderful to give.

The Pocket Mate
6 Power transistor.
Complete with battery.
Now only $14.95

The Diplomat
10 Transistor FM/AM Radio
Extraordinary tone.
Now only $69.95
Including long-life battery

Come in today

HITCH RADIO & TV

CHURCH STREET — MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES

★ SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

★ CHECK ACCOUNTS

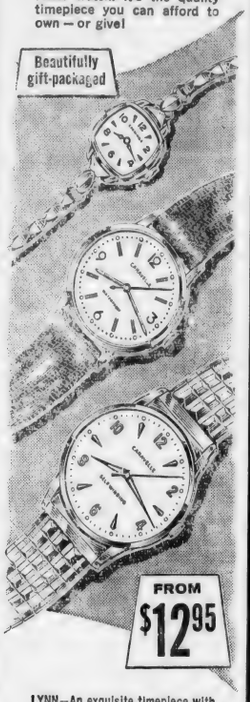
★ CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS

★ TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

NOW!



THE GREATEST WATCH VALUE EVER OFFERED AT THIS PRICE

CARAVELLE®

THE ECONOMY PRICED QUALITY WATCH

A PRODUCT OF BULOVA

Now you can own a fine jeweled watch—with high precision craftsmanship to meet the high quality Caravelle specifications—assuring you of fine watch accuracy and long life performance—at the price you ordinarily pay for an inferior watch. It's the quality timepiece you can afford to own—or give!

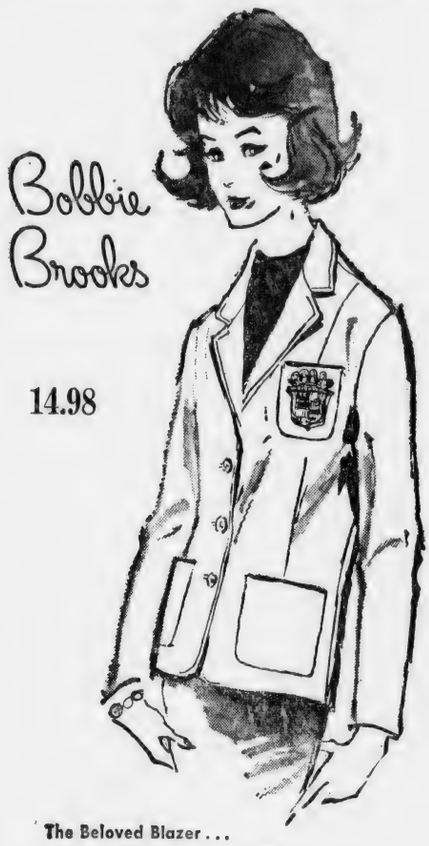
LYNN—An exquisite timepiece with a quality jeweled movement. Unbreakable mainspring. Beautifully matched 10kt gold filled expansion bracelet. In yellow or white. $16.95

HERCULES—Jeweled quality movement. Unbreakable mainspring. Shock-resistant and WATERPROOF* too. Brilliant chrome finished case with stainless steel back. (Also available with charcoal dial.) $12.95

SKIPPER—17 jewels, self-winding, waterproof*, shock-resistant, unbreakable mainspring, luminous hands and dial, sweep second hand. This quality crafted timepiece is $29.95

Tipton Jewelers

Curtain Time



Cont. from page 3

The Oak Ridge Civic Music Association presents the Juilliard String Quartet on Oct. 21. This will be in the Oak Ridge Playhouse, Oak Ridge, Tennessee, at 8:15.

Of interest to the jazz and pop fans will be the presentation of Sammy Kaye and his swing and sway music at the Knoxville Civic Auditorium Monday, Oct. 22, at 8:15. Tickets cost $3.50, $3.00, $2.50, and $2.00. On Monday, Oct. 29, at 8:15, Roger Williams and his company present "An Evening for You." Prices of tickets are $4.00, $3.50, $2.50, and $2.00, and may be had by contacting Concert Office, 205 University Center, or phoning 524-2981, Ext. 496 at Clark and Jones on Gay Street in Knoxville. Send a self-addressed stamped envelope for mail orders.

"An Evening with the Kingston Trio" awaits you on Saturday, Nov. 3, 8:15 at the Civic Coliseum. Reserved seats cost $2.00, $3.00, or $4.00 and mail orders are now being taken.

WELCOME, GRADS! — LET'S HELP CHEER MARYVILLE ON TO VICTORY

The Beloved Blazer . . .
fine wool flannel tailored to a "t"
. . . three patch pockets and a brilliant golden crest for the perfect finishing touch. All your favorite colors to choose from. Sizes 5 to 15.

Come in and let our Campus Representatives help you make your selection from our fine line of clothes.

Campus Representatives

ISLA NOBLE CARL DUNFORD

Minton's

Thetas and Sigs Plan Retreat

The members of Theta Epsilon, with their usual enthusiasm, are brainstorming for ideas to add to the effectiveness of their meetings and activities. Last week all participated in a spur-of-the-moment fashion show, in which prizes were awarded for the most original outfits. They are looking forward to a joint retreat with Alpha Sigma, to be held soon somewhere in the mountains. The societies hope that this activity will not only help to bind the relationship between new and old members of both societies, but also give the pledges an opportunity to work off a few of their required service hours.

These aims were partly fulfilled during the past week by all who gave some of their time to the preparation of the homecoming float, which will be seen along with the others in this afternoon's parade.

The Maryville Student Body Welcomes You Back, Alumni and we wish for you the Best of All Homecomings

MC Professor Heads 14th Meeting Of ACS in Southeastern USA

When the 14th Southeastern Regional Meeting of the American Chemical Society convenes in the Gatlinburg Civic Auditorium on November 1, 1962, Maryville College will be well represented. Dr. Fred A. Griffitts, professor of chemistry here, is general chairman for the meeting. Having accepted the chairmanship in the spring of 1960, Dr. Griffitts has been directing the organization of this convention for nearly two and one-half years.

Although a convention is held in this region of the United States annually, the East Tennessee Section of the society has sponsored only one other—the first annual meeting of the southeastern region in 1949. Dr. Griffitts served as the general chairman for that meeting, also.

This three-day affair is expected to be the largest-scaled regional convention of its type ever held in the Southeastern United States. Dr. Griffitts estimates that at lease 1200 persons will attend: 221 will participate in the program, while 1000 members from 13 states have indicated their interest in attending.

"The quality and level of program content is equal to that of the bi-annual national conventions of the society," says Professor Griffitts. For example, two of the five symposia, in which 25 chemical authorities will appear, will discuss the application of the high speed computers of big research centers to chemical problems.

The six most prominent speakers at the meeting will be Harrison Brown from the department of geochemistry at the California Institute of Technology; Henry Eyring, dean of the graduate school at the University of Utah; Andrew D. Holt, president of the University of Tennessee; Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission; H. Guyford Stever from the department of aeronautics and astronautics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and A. M. Weinberg, director of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory.

Also on the program is David Young, who will join the Maryville College chemistry faculty next semester. He will come to the convention from the University of Kansas, where he is completing work for a Ph.D. in organic chemistry.

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR

Southern Shoes

Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student

116 West Broadway

Welcome - - - Old And New Scotties

Delicious Hamburgers
Thick Milk Shakes
Golden Brown French Fries
Pancakes & Syrup
Real Homemade Pies and Donuts
Chipped Ham Sandwiches
Fountain Drinks

GREETINGS, FRIENDS! We're glad to have you alums back on the campus and we'll be looking forward to seeing you at your downtown refreshment headquarters. Stop by and say "Hello." All you Scotties—old and new—will find that there is no better or more popular eating place near the campus than ours, and you'll always get a friendly welcome from our waitresses. Try some of our fine food and you'll be a Coffee House "fan" from now on. Take home a menu for telephone orders, too. See you soon!

Breakfast served Anytime
We're Always Open
Orders of $5.00 or more Delivered Free
Daily & Sunday Papers
$5.50 Meal Ticket for $5.00

GILBERT'S COFFEE HOUSE

EAST BROADWAY IN DOWNTOWN MARYVILLE PHONE 982-1541

Lecture Series

Dr. James Bulloch To Speak November 2

The second lecture of the 1962-1963 Maryville College Lecture Series will feature Dr. James Bulloch of Stobo, Peebles, Scotland. On Friday evening, November 2, at eight o'clock in the Fine Arts Center Music Hall Dr. Bulloch's subject will be "The Scottish Reformation." He will discuss its source of religious authority, relationship to democracy and form of church order.

Scotland Pastor

Dr. Bulloch is at the present time minister of the parish kirk of the Church of Scotland in Stobo. He is a regular lecturer at Jordanhill Training College in Glasgow and St. Colm's College in Edinburgh and has been guest lecturer in the Abbey at the Iona Community.

Church Historian

Dr. Bulloch's publications include four books, numerous periodical articles and book reviews. He is the author of Adam of Dryburgh, The Scots Confession — A Modern Translation, The Kirk in Scotland in connection with the Fourth Centenary of the Scottish Reformation, and a history of the Celtic Church which is in the course of publication. He is the immediate past president of the Scottish Church History Society.

MC Class Lectures

He will arrive in Maryville on Wednesday afternoon, October 31 and will leave on Saturday morning, November 3. While on campus he will lecture in various classes of the department of Bible, philosophy and religion in addition to his general lecture. Arrangements can be made for him to speak to other groups upon request. Mrs. Bulloch will accompany him on his lecture tour.

Dr. James Bulloch

Tour Schedule

While on his American tour, Dr. Bulloch will lecture at Muskingum College, Davis and Elkins College, Union Theological Seminary, McCormick Theological Seminary, as well as elsewhere in the United States and Canada.

Gregg Smith Singers

Cont. from page 6

California and the U.S. and have given concerts in Wales, France Italy, Germany (including th Mozarteum in Salzburg), and Brussels, Belgium (including the Brussels World Fair). This year's tour marks the third time they have been invited back to appear in Europe's famous music festivals, including those at Edinburgh, Salzburg, Darmstadt's Contemporary Music Festival, Krefeld, and Berlin.

Gregg Smith, founder and director of the Gregg Smith Singers, is only a year or so older than most of the singers in his group. He began his own musical career at the age of five, with piano training, and wrote his first composition at eight. School years were devoted to every musical instrument from the tuba to the flute, plus membership in choral groups. In 1961, Mr. Smith was married to (who else but?) one of his singers, Alicia Adler, who is an artist and writer as well.

One story Gregg Smith likes to relate is the incident which occurred on September 2, 1961. It is the first concert of the new fall music season in Kaiserslautern, Germany, and the Gregg Smith Singers are performing to a full house in the new auditorium of the Southwest Radio Station.

Ten minutes into the second part, a cable somewhere in the city is accidentally cut and as the Gregg Smith Singers are in the midst of a folk song, the lights suddenly go out—leaving the auditorium in complete darkness. "I will never forget," says Smith, "that moment. But most amazing was the fact that not a beat of lost even during the moment of of sudden surprise." For fifteen minutes the choir virtually performed without a director, and the director performed without a choir; neither could see the other. Said singer Harry Martin, "We felt we knew our music well enough to sing it blindfolded, but we never thought we would have to do it that way."

An unusual facet of the group's personality is the presence of so many composers and conductors in the membership. At least half a dozen Gregg Smith Singers have had their works published or performed. Several are conductors of their own church choirs. Gregg Smith, a composer-conductor himself, attributes the interest of the Gregg Smith Singers in new music to this unusual background. "We feel we must try the difficult, the new, to be a truly twentieth-century choral ensemble."

NAVAL AIR TEAM TO INTRODUCE OFFICER PROGRAM

On October 25 a team of representatives from the Naval Air Station at Atlanta will remain in the Maryville College Student Center from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. This information team will provide interested students the opportunity to acquaint themselves with the "Naval Aviation Officer Candidate Program."

Lt. Commander M. R. Bush, aviation information officer at the Atlanta station, has emphasized that the Navy prefers college graduates in all of its programs that lead to officer status. He encourages interested students to remain in school until graduation before enlisting.

REAL ITALIAN PIZZA

"If your mouth is watering for some taste-tempting pizza, why not take a break in your studies and call us."

Only 97c

ORDER BY 7:30 P.M. — WE WILL DELIVER BY 8:30 P.M.

CALL 982-7920

VAN'S BAKERY

Always Look Your Best

SEE US FOR ALL YOUR DRY CLEANING NEEDS

MARYVILLE CLEANERS

Contact Your Dormitory Agent—

Carnegie & Memorial— JOE FINK, ED KRUSMAN
New Dorm—SANDY SCOFIELD
Pearsons—SUE QUIGG
Baldwin—JANET MELVILLE

PROFFITT'S WELCOMES ALL ALUMNI!

historic British stripings

Authentic Regimentals

by McGREGOR.

Dynamic new McGregor idea: sweaters and shirts in the traditional stripes of the valiant British regiments. REGIMENTAL CARDIGAN (Sutherland Highlanders). Elegant 100% virgin worsted wool in a new, softer and finer shell knit stitch. 17.95. VV REGIMENTAL COAT SHIRT (Westminster Dragoons). V-tapered . . . longer, leaner for precision neatness. Staunch cotton. 5.95.

Proffitt's

MEN'S DEPT.

Midland Shopping Center

You Always Look Your Loveliest With Michael's Hair Styles

Look Lovelier This Fall With Michael's

Exclusive COLD WAVE Our Complete Price $8.50

Newest Fall Styles

Michael's

Four Convenient Locations

★ Michael's Hair Styling Salon—5 Points
★ College Hill Salon — 27 Stanley Avenue
★ Michael's Budget Salon — 111 E. Bdwy.
★ Midland Salon — Ride the Bus Free

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 48 | Maryville, Tennessee, November 3, 1962 | No. 4

Four Sophs Take 'Honors Program'

Four students are taking part in the Sophomore Honors Program, which is open to sophomores who have a scholastic average of 3.25. Participating in the program this term are Elaine Coleman, an elementary education major, working in French; Kenneth Harrison, a French major, working in English; William Mitchell, a mathematics major, working in history; and Margaret Schmidt, an English major, working in history.

The student entering upon this work must have the approval of his major adviser, but the work is done in connection with a course he is taking in another field.

For each semester of work, a credit value of one hour is given if the student's grade is "B" or above. To continue a second semester, the student must have maintained the required average.

Serenade To Feature Gershwin and Porter

On Saturday, November 10, at 8 p.m. in the Maryville College Theater the Women's Choir and Men's Glee Club will present their annual Fall Serenade.

This year the theme centers around George Gershwin and Cole Porter, two of America's best-loved composers. Under the direction of Mr. Dan Kinsinger the combined vocal groups will sing selections from Can Can; Porgy and Bess; Girl Crazy; Kiss Me Kate and other musicals, as well as single compositions by Gershwin and Porter.

Not only new faces and a fresh sense of enthusiasm, but also new ideas are contributing to the predicted success of the show. One innovation is preparations, for example, in special concentration on props.

Knoxville Attorney and Daughter Give MC $15 000 for Student Aid

A gift of $15,000, to be used in the Maryville College student aid program, has been made to the college by Knoxville attorney Ray H. Jenkins and his daughter, Mrs. Eva Jenkins Cuningham.

Jenkins, noted Tennessee trial attorney and former chief counsel for the McCarthy-Army investigation of 1954, and Mrs. Cuningham made the gift as a memorial to his wife and her mother, the late Mrs. Eva Nash Jenkins. The gift has been designated "The Eva Nash Jenkins Student Loan Fund." Mrs. Jenkins was the former Eva Nash, daughter of a prominent Knoxville physician, the late Dr. Walter S. Nash.

A native of Tellico Plains, the Knoxville attorney attended Maryville College in 1910, 1911, and 1912 when Maryville had a sub-prep department, a preparatory department, and a four-year college. He was 13 when his father, a country doctor in Monroe County, sent him to Maryville.

"Ever since the death of my wife Eva . . . I have had in mind the establishment of a fund in some school, to be used in assisting worthy students in getting an education, and as a memorial to her," Jenkins wrote to Maryville College President Joseph J. Copeland. "I am frank to tell you that at the very outset I decided upon Maryville College. I have loved the college ever since I attended school there.

"My wife was tremendously interested in educational work; she had many friends in Maryville, and gave much of her time to those in need of assistance; and I was therefore influenced by sentimental reasons and by the further feeling that my selection of Maryville College as the Trustee of a Memorial Fund for her would meet with her approval," the letter continued.

In a letter which accompanied the gift, Jenkins told President Copeland, "It is our intention to add to this fund from time to time, to the end that as many

(Cont. on Page 5, Col. 4)

Oration by Dodez Wins Nat'l. Praise

(See the letter from Jane Dodez on page 2.)

Jane Dodez, a sophomore at Maryville College last year who is currently studying in Switzerland, was one of eight college students chosen for recognition in the National Peace Oratory Contest last year, according to Dr. Arda S. Walker, debate coach. After Miss Dodez' oration won first place in the Tennessee contest at Nashville last year, a recording of the speech was sent to the national contest. There four orations were designated as place winners and four, including Miss Dodez, won honorable mention.

Nov. 9: Busy Day For MC Orchestra

"Westside Story," "The Waltzing Cat," "Water Suite,"—these are a few names in the great variety of beautiful music to be presented on November 9 by the Maryville College - Community Orchestra. A Children's Concert will begin at 2:00 p.m. in the chapel and will be broadcast over radio station WGAP. Mr. John Roberts, director of the orchestra, will raise his baton a second time on November 9 in the theatre at 8:00 p.m. for the college and community audience.

A highlight of both performances will be Dr. Edwin Ray Hunter's monologue based on one by Noel Coward to "Carnival of the Animals." The orchestra's accompaniment features a piano duet by Mrs. Kent Perry and Miss Sharon Jones.

The afternoon concert will also include "The Waltzing Cat," by Leroy Anderson; the first and last movements of Handel's "Water Ballet"; "Cantible," by Tchaikovsky; and "Westside Story." The evening program will be the same except for the exclusion of "The Waltzing Cat" and the addition of the other movements of the "Water Ballet."

The College-Community Orchestra, now under its first constitution, introduces two newly formed musical groups. They are the String Ensemble, which, under the leadership of Elsa Eerenberg, concert-mistress, will perform first for Christmas Vespers and the String Quartet which will perform publicly during the second semester of this year.

Four MC Professors Endorse United States Blockade of Cuba

by John Gamble

Four Maryville professors, representing the history, political science, economics and Spanish departments, have hailed President Kennedy's blockade of Cuba as a necessary and correct action in dealing with the Soviet build-up of offensive weapons on the Carribean Island. They have termed the action "a step in the right direction" and a diplomatic victory for the United States in world affairs.

Dr. Arda S. Walker, head of the history department, believes that the crisis, while strengthening the President's popularity, will have no effect on the upcoming Congressional elections slated for November 6. Dr. Robert Lynn, who heads the economics department, agrees; however, Arthur Ainsworth, head of the political science department, sees the President's action as "undoubtedly enhancing the Democratic party's chances," and as "stealing some of the Republicans' campaign thunder — namely, a positive step in dealing with Cuba."

Dr. Walker, who worked for the U.S. Agriculture Department (1943-1948), says from the "standpoint of survival, the action was necessary." She relates the present situation to international affairs in the 1930's when the United States, at Munich, did not firmly state its position on aggression in Europe. She concludes that while the United States did not stand firm on the march of Hitlerism, we are acting definitely on the present situation. For this reason, we are in "a much better position internationally than we have been in a long time."

Dr. Walker, considering the crisis the gravest since World War II, believes there is a strong chance of open conflict between the Communist Russians and the United States; however, she is more hopeful now that the crisis is easing. "Russia does not want a showdown in Cuba," she continues, "they want it somewhere else. I fear we will be dragged into the India crisis, and it may become even more dangerous than the present situation. The Cuban crisis may be a smoke screen for the Russians. They usually work in pairs . . . when they create these situations."

Professor Ainsworth does not foresee any great change in foreign opinion toward the U.S.

As to the legal aspects, Ainsworth, who is noted for his studies of foreign affairs and politics, says that "under international law, it is still difficult to find any justification for a blockade in peace time; however, there is the question of self-preservation."

"Due to the geographical location of Cuba, I believe the Russians do not desire to antagonize the Latin American countries and will not use force in this issue. Quite likely pressure will be brought by Russia in areas closer to its own country."

James Howard Schwam, head of the Spanish department and a frequent traveler to Spanish-speaking countries, believes the United States is "doing what is the logical thing to do." He adds that "it is impossible to lay the blame on any one action we have done or failed to do in the past."

Schwam, who has studied Cuban problems for over thirty years, and who is a great admirer of the people of Cuba, says that Fidel Castro might have trouble internally in case of actual war. "A great many of the Cuban people would rally against Castro if they thought a revolt would be successful. However, they still remember the abortive invasion of recent years."

Dr. Robert A. Lynn, head of the Department of Economics, was asked his opinion of the blockade. "I think it was the minimum possible action our government could have taken under the circumstances . . . expressed forcefully and in an effective manner."

Dr. Lynn believes the crisis

(Cont. on Page 6, Col. 3)

NSA Expresses Hope In Cuba Situation

The National Student Association, in response to the recent development over Cuba, sent out a mailing to member campuses concerning this crisis, expressing the support which the vast majority of students gave to President Kennedy and commending him for his willingness to submit the issue to the Security Council. Two statements of hope were included: (1) that the United Nations should assume the rightful role and serve as a forum for immediate solution to the problem; (2) that the Soviet Union recognize the concern of all the countries of this hemisphere over the lack of democratic rights in Cuba and their fear of the spread of nuclear weapons as found in the remarkable degree of unanimity of the Organization of American States.

Novice Debaters Take Honors in First Tourney Eight Squad Members At Emory Univ. Today

Debating the national topic, "Resolved: that the non-Communist nations of the world should establish an economic community," the new members on the Maryville squad took honors at the annual Novice tournament, which convened here last Tuesday. The two teams of Elaine Coleman and Jan Rickarts, Sherry Proffitt and Mary Rodisch won five of their six debates.

Eight members of the Maryville College debate team, accompanied by Dr. Arda S. Walker and Dr. David H. Briggs, have traveled to Atlanta, Georgia, this weekend for the second tournament of this semester. Participating in the two-day Peachtree Forensic Tournament at Emory University are four teams: Jane Hickey, junior, and Annette Sensenig, sophomore; Judith Mikeal, senior, and Gloria Sturmfels, junior; Denny Mobbs, junior, and William Mitchell, sophomore; and Bradford Rehm, senior, and Thomas Stanley, junior.

On November 8, 9, and 10 Dr. Walker, instructor for the debate squad, and four students—Richard Gossweiler, Judith Mikeal, James Miller, and Gloria Sturmfels — will represent Maryville College at the tournament on the University of South Carolina campus in Columbia.

The fourth and last tournament scheduled for this semester will take place in Boone, North Carolina, at the Appalachian State Teachers College on November 30, December 1 and 2.

FRIDENBERGS SPEAKS TO FACULTY CLUB

Richard Fridenbergs, instructor in Russian and German, will give a paper, "Memories of Russia and the Birth of Revolution," at the Faculty Club dinner on Monday evening, November 5, at 7:30 in Pearsons dining hall. Mr. Fridenbergs, who has been at Maryville College since 1961, is a native of Latvia, and was educated at the University of Latvia. He left that country when the Communists took it over during the second world war.

The Highland ECHO

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee, under the Act of Congress of March 8, 1870. McNabb Printing Co., Inc., printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor-in-Chief
LYNN HERRING

Assistant Editor ..... CHARLOTTA COOK
News Editor ..... PATRICIA REHM
Feature Editor ..... ANN HARRISON
Art Editor ..... GRACE ROSSER
Sports Editors ..... TODD OWERS and JEANNE PRICE
Exchange Editor ..... GAIL GARLOCH
Business Manager ..... PAUL BIGGERS

Staff

REPORTERS AND CONTRIBUTORS: Sue Anne Blair, Phyllis Delotus, Margaret Dozier, Elenora Easterly, Sue Foreman, John Gamble, Mary Janovich, Phil Jerome, Sally Johnston, Libby Lee, Mildred Miles, Sherry Proffitt, Charlie Rowland, Helen Ryan, Norma Singleton, Jack Taylor, Celia Tiffany, Billy Wear.

CIRCULATION: Dave King, Bruce Bigart, Harold Cones, Ginna Coon, Victor Mellott

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR, MR. FRANK LAYMAN

From The Editor

The only campus activity which involves the total campus community five days every week is the 8 o'clock chapel service. Students, faculty, and administration alike gather in one place to share briefly one particular attitude or feeling. The leader is fortunate, for in his power lies the opportunity to provoke thought and to offer something constructive for the benefit of approximately eight hundred people.

Frankly, I am encouraged that more and more students are asked to conduct the services, for I feel confident when I see some student on the chapel stage that whatever he says will be the product of careful thought and preparation. The student may be scared to death, but his words will carry some measure of vitality and freshness, and more than likely they will be the product of his own originality and interest. And how refreshing it is to hear some concrete, pragmatic idea expressed in personal terms—something which applies strikingly to campus-community living.

One Friday morning not long ago, I saw people smiling when they left chapel, acting as if they were glad to be alive and aware. And Sunday noon I counted at least one hundred and fifty students who took time enough to express appreciation for a meal that they sincerely enjoyed. The particular chapel service was framed in humor, but the idea which it conveyed to many listeners was serious, practical, and Christian. I cannot understand the attitude of the few people who have set themselves us as hyper-critics for every chapel service, and who prudishly deny any constructive value in pure humor.

To those students and instructors who, by careful preparation, have enriched the chapel services—Thank You.

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES

★ SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

✓ CHECK ACCOUNTS

★ CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS

★ TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

LETTERS

Jane Dodez Meets People and Queries in Geneva

Note—Jane Dodez is participating in the Junior Year Abroad program of the United Presbyterian Church. A political science major, she will return to Maryville next fall.

October 1, 1962

Dear Friends:

How can I ever hope to tell you of the many wonderful experiences that have been mine during the past few months? It seems almost unbelievable to me yet that I am really here in Geneva. But to verify the fact, I have only to look out my shuttered window where the sun is slowly setting over the Alps . . .

The excitement began on August 13th when I checked into the International House in New York City. It had been quite a rush for my family to get me there, as the week before we had traveled to Washington to hear the National High School Orchestra (of which my sister is concert master) play for President Kennedy. In New York, the twelve European JYA's and two Mexican JYA's first had a chance to get acquainted. Not for long though, for we were soon whisked off our feet in a whirl-wind of well planned activities. At the United Nations we were given a briefing by officials, toured the building and ate in the delegates dining room. At the Presbyterian Center, Miss Margaret Flory and Paul Frelick, directors of the program, gave us a better idea of what was expected of us as junior ambassadors for the United States. Baggage information, when and how to change money, social customs in a foreign country — all were discussed. My Maryville friends will be interested to know that one of the first people I met in New York was Dr. Lloyd, who sent his greetings to all. The culmination of those three days was the sailing of the S.S. Maasdam on August 16th. Some of my parents' friends surprised me with a real Bon Voyage party and Terry Brusstar and Miki Patterino, two of my friends from school were able to come, which made things extra nice.

Ship-board life was fabulous, although I'll never understand why anyone would suggest it for a rest cure. There were many students on board and TRIP had a definite program planned for us. Each morning at 10:00 we had a discussion on American foreign policy. After lunch we were free to swim around on the decks until 3:00 when we had our French lesson and then a discussion on Swiss politics, economic and social life. The best part of the trip, though, was the many interesting people on board . . . a German boy who had spent the summer making ice cream in Wooster . . . a Harvard professor of Biology and his wife on their way to Versailles to do government research . . . a professional ballet troupe and the ship's lifeguard, a Philippine-born Jewish boy who spoke seven languages and understood nine! And I have trouble with French! At night we were treated to our first taste of European dancing, although I'll have to admit that there were almost an equal number of twist and waltz

(Cont. on next page. Col. 4)

Fugitive Pieces

Tomorrow is the day for the first four tests of the current examination season. It's a good thing most of the faculty agrees to schedule tests within a day or two of each other. It builds character; it must. Of course I, too, was once a participant in the general panic, but by now I am immune to such traumatic experiences. One thing my years in college have taught me is that a clear mind is a much better tool for the game of bluff and guess than the semi-consciousness I see my friends creating. Masochism seems to be the only word for it.

One sign of the big week is that the prices on coffee and cigarettes are way up. I can understand how someone might think he could absorb oil painting, water stunts or organic chemistry by stores but also the dorm agents are out of cigarettes, a few ingenious drinking it, but medieval history? And when not only the grocery individuals roll their own—out of Bible notes.

There is also a rush on the library. The cobwebs are brushed off the reserve shelves, though it is not long before the pink and yellow banded books find their way home again.

After patronizing the grocer and the librarian, the next stop is the book store where optimistic, verbose students buy ten or twenty blue books, and four or five pencils. Our more affluent friends indulge in several helpful guides such as the one page outline of English Literature from Beowulf to J.F.K., "College Made Simple," or an unintelligible chart of Greek verb forms. If you can't afford to purchase these learned publications, my private library has them all.

Back to the dorm, armed for the big night, my friends congregate in the study lounges and the smoker. Pillows, cookies, and tenseness are present by general agreement. So, too, for ten minutes, is silence. Then I enter with a comic book, and since I took (and failed) the courses last semester, I am assailed with questions. "What do you think she'll ask?" "Do I need to know all these dates?" "What's an incunabulus?" "Why?" So I level with my friends and lie to my enemies and then go to bed, leaving the scholars to keep their sworn vigil all night at the altar of Wisdom.

At breakfast the voices below the bloodshot, half-shut eyes query, "Study much?" Honestly, I reply, "No," and the eyes light up "Good!" If I should say "Yes, lots!" the voices would emit vulgarity.

The morning after is a continuation of the night before, though the atmosphere is even more tense. Chapel is sacrificed; who has strength enough to ask for strength enough? Classes are cut, and I cut mine too. There is something wrong with being alone in a classroom with the new anthropology teacher. About B hour, seminars form and secret formulas are shared (eg. D2OLS2 equals Restoration Playwrights).

As the fatal hour draws nearer various individuals react differently. One falls asleep from exhaustion and as escape. Another, a biology major, clutches his rabbit's foot to his breast. A third deposits her last nickel in the machine and eagerly devours five sticks of teaberry gum. Pencils and bluebooks in hand the scholars sit stiff and silent, waiting for the bell. It sounds and the exodus begins. "Lots of luck," I call with tongue in cheek. "After the test don't forget to stop by the personnel office and pick up a copy of the Finals schedule."

Dining Designed For Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 a.m.-11 p.m. 982-9921

SEEN . . .

—Photos by Sally Johnston

—Photo by Anna Baker

. . . AND HEARD

You have to have a press card to come in here . . . one, two, three, ooah . . . oounduful—and on pitch . . . how much does thirty years purgatory cost? . . . I always wear this hat for religious festivals . . . look, we got our picture in the Loudon Herald! . . . Letter Writing, 215 . . . it won't hurt your roommate to hear it . . . Schoepenhauer? . . . I just found out that Shetland ponies only have calves once a year . . . hey, Shorty, you ought to collect interest on that ten cents . . . Aristotle? I read him in the Readers Digest . . . do we have to go through that thumbs-up bit again? . . . a course in snowflake making in the dining hall . . . she says she has to go out with other boys to be sure she loves him . . . Ethelgwen, a new name for the geneaologies . . . they kicked me out of the breakfast club . . . you ain't got no couth at all . . . what's the "Rockabye Baby" for? — oh, his guppies had little ones . . . my girl back home models nose warmers. . . If I don't get to bed soon, I'll meet myself getting up.

CURTAIN TIME

Looking Forward to Look Homeward

Those who have read Thomas Wolfe's Look Homeward Angel should be thrilled with the prospect of seeing the play, and those who haven't are in for a real experience. The book is one of magnitude. It is filled with humor and philosophy, with beauty and meaning, as it follows Eugene Gant from his birth to his breaking away from home. Eugene struggles to resolve the conflict between his mother's materialism and his father's idealism. He tries to escape into a romantic dream world, but finds he can only conquer by reverting into life. What this life is, and how Eugene finds it, it symbolic of Wolfe's understanding of mankind.

The task of dramatizing a novel of such scope was a formidable one. Mrs. Ketti Frings, the writer of the play handles it with practicality and sympathy and without any distracting and unrealistic worship of Wolfe or his work.

There are several general changes which had to be made in adapting the book to the stage. The action of the play is confined to a three-week period. All the vital and moving scenes of the book are recalled by flashbacks and reminiscing. Some of the scenes with Eugene have necessarily been augmented in the play to emphasize his role as against his mother's, since she tends to dominate. The book's dialogue has not been followed word for word, but Mrs. Frings has attempted to retain the symbolism.

Scots, Symphonies and Shows

Tonight "An Evening with the Kingston Trio" is on the agenda at the Knoxville Civic Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Coming Monday are the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders and the Royal Scots Greys who will march to the martial music of bagpipes. On Tuesday David Van Vactor will conduct the Knoxville Symphony in an 8:15 concert which will include Bach's Brandenburg No. 2, Mozart's Paris Symphony and Betthoven's Symphony No. 6.

Celeste Holm, with Wesley Addy and Gordon Connell, comes to the auditorium Friday November 9, appearing in "With Love and Laughter."

On November 13 and 14 "Carnival!" comes to town, as Elaine David and Malbin Daniels star at the Civic Auditorium.

TERRY BRUSSTAR NAMED SECRETARY

Elected to the office of Secretary of the East Tennessee Physical Education Association was Terry Brusstar, a Maryville College junior who is President of Women's M Club. At the annual convention of the ETNEA which was held on Friday, October 26, in Knoxville at the University of Tennessee, Terry was given the honor. Also elected to offices of the organization were Elizabeth Carpenter as President who is from UT, Alice Alexander to the office of Chairman who also is from UT, and Nancy Little was elected Chairman Elect. Nancy is representing East Tennessee State College. Congratulations to Terry and good luck in the coming year.

Something New at MC

Women Learn Gymnastic Skills

There's something new in the Women's Physical Education Program that most men and many women probably do not know about. It is the gymnastics class for women, which is offered for the first time in a long time this year — if it has ever been offered before. Mrs. Largen, of that department, reported that she has known of no such course in her twelve years here.

The course was started with the idea of broadening the program for women. Now in its beginning stages, it is going well except for a lack of certain equipment which would add to the variety of exercises and stunts. The teachers are trying to set up a course that will benefit the girls and allow them to enjoy it at the same time.

Every class period with exercises. Then comes practice on the various stunts and tumblings that they are doing now. Later they will work more with the equipment, which consists of parallel bars, the rope and two homemade balance beams. They hope to be able to add to this and to get some new equipment.

Dateline—Junior Class

Nov. 3, 1962—The Junior Class learned today that it will sponsor a dance after the football game tonight. The word is that Social Committee Chairman Martha Bess Ellis and "Red" Prudhon, chairman of the Projects Committee, will be jointly in charge.

Recorded music will set the romantic atmosphere — all of the 'right' people are expected to be in attendance. Local hostesses pick this as the dance of this season. Confidentially, the theme is 'Stardust," and the Women's "M" Club will provide the refreshments.

It is generally known that the Junior class donated a sizable sum to buy game jersies for the soccer team several weeks back. What is not widely known, however, is that the final bill ran more than $20 above the original estimate. There is no official word on this, but there have been whispers to the effect that the Juniors would not turn down personal donations to pay this deficit.

Also still in the rumor stage: that the Juniors are planning something very big—but no one is saying exactly what yet. Keep your eyes on this.

SCOTS & SODA

The proverbial apple a day is no longer the only thing that will keep the doctor away—a "SUPPORT MEDICARE" sticker on your door will serve just as well, and it's cheaper.

To be sure, the battle over Medicare has been long and bitter. At one point, Dr. Scholl wouldn't sell corn pads to Congressmen who supported it. But in the final analysis, it will be the average voter who resolves the issue—next Tuesday when Americans everywhere will once again exercise their democratic right to vote for the Kennedy of their choice, the future of Medicare will be decided. And whether the Republicans win or the nation loses, all Americans would do well to turn their attention toward the lofty Chilhowees, and to examine the far-sighted medical program of Maryville College.

Maryville is an advocate of what has been called the "musical-doctor plan." It's based on the same principle as musical chairs—that is, every time you go to the infirmary, there's a different doctor. It goes without saying that this contributes to excellent doctor-patient relationships; several Dr. Proffitt fans refuse to get sick except on Wednesday night. Of course, when spare ribs and spaghetti are served on Tuesday, this loyalty can work a considerable hardship. But basically, the plan is a sound one.

The secret of success in Maryville's musical-doctor system is found in its ingenious distribution of fiscal responsibility. Reduced to its simplest terms, this means it's free. The college doesn't pay the doctors, the patients don't, the A.M.A. doesn't, not even Social Security does. Nobody does. Somehow, there is a basic simplicity in this arrangement that is widely appealing.

But the planners of Maryville's system were careful not to make it to appealing, lest they be deluged with every hypochondriac who ever gulped an aspirin. To effect this balance, they utilized a basic human emotion—fear. Agreed, on Monday, Wednesday or Friday evening, the infirmary is as safe as the Mayo Clinic. But if you feel woozy some off-hour on Saturday afternoon, be dead certain you're sick before you turn yourself in. Because once registered, the chances are you'll be efficiently whisked to bed, and then given a shot to put you out of your misery. This is precisely what it does, and many off-hour patients are never heard from again. To be on the safe side, go with a friend.

That sums up the basics of Maryville's plan. It's strength lies in the fact that if you don't like Dr. Millard on Monday, there's Dr. Proffitt on Wednesday night. And if he can't get you well, you can wait for Friday and Dr. Callaway. If you don't care for any of them, try Dr. Kildare on Thursday night —he's on Channel 6.

LETTERS . . .

contests.

Please let me know if there are any questions you might have, or if I can help any of you in any way while I am here. Feel free to write, as I would enjoy hearing from you! Au revoir for now, my address is

Jane Dodez
2 Rue Daniel Colladon
Geneva, Switzerland

Norman Voices Criticism of McIntire Speech

Dear Editor,

Last Saturday a friend and I had the dubious pleasure of hearing Dr. Carl McIntire, the former Presbyterian minister who was relieved of his right to preach, because he had refused to submit to the discipline of the Presbytery of Philadelphia. Speaking in the Knoxville Coliseum, this leading American rightist, who is the founder of the tediously fundamental and decisive Bible Presbyterian Church and an international rabble rouser, was easily able to hold his audience in the proverbial palm.

I can respect Dr. McIntire for his ability to speak, but his opinions, which represent the worst in American conservatism, border upon irrationality. For example, while he decries Soviet citizens who are loyal to their own government, he advocates state worship by Americans by implying that the "good" citizen can see that God's laws are the laws of capitalism. Dr. Martin Luther King, he would have us believe, is doing the work laid down by the Communist Party. This particularly appealed to the Knoxville audience, which often applauded enthusiastically at each thrust .Another target of Dr. McIntire's negative speech was the World Council of Churches. He was angry because the Russian Orthodox Church was recently admitted. This illustrates, says the leader of the rival International Council of Christian Churches, that this world-wide communion of Christians is fast becoming a Communist front. Other points of interest included "Communist propaganda" in Church literature, Communists in theological seminaries, and many of the usual chopping blocks.

The word "love" was strangely lacking in Dr. McIntire's speech, which leaves one to wonder what he really feels about the Christian faith and its founder. However, without doubting Dr. McIntire's sincerity, is this the religion of Jesus? Or should the Church return to an unmerciful, Pharisaic faith? By rejecting this idea, I must also confess that as a spiritual leader, Dr. McIntire leaves much to be desired, and as an American he fails to live up to our ideals of faith in the democratic method. He is a good example of one who is afflicted with fear. Let us pray that a positive spirit may yet dwell in this land, so that this great democratic experiment may continue through confidence and intelligence.

Of purely local interest, some may be interested to know that Rev. Wisner was master of ceremonies and that Dr. Proctor, a well-known member of the John Birch Society of Maryville, gave a short speech. The community was well represented.

Richard Norman

Always Look Your Best
SEE US FOR ALL YOUR DRY CLEANING NEEDS
MARYVILLE CLEANERS
Contact Your Dormitory Agent—
Carnegie & Memorial— JOE FINK, ED KRUSMAN
New Dorm—SANDY SCOFIELD
Pearsons—SUE QUIGG
Baldwin—JANET MELVILLE

From The Pressbox

by
Todd Owers

Wha hoppen? All was serene, Hanover proved to be a patsy and Cuba wasn't provoking much interest at the time. True, the University of Tennessee was having its troubles; two losses by two points before the Georgia Tech game, but they played well and showed a spark of promise even in that defeat. Vanderbilt, innocuous little Vanderbilt lay across the state, undisturbed and peaceful. Just goes to show you how much can happen in two short weeks.

President Kennedy had a great deal to say that Monday night—we all sat at the dinner table mentally fingering our draft cards as we listened grimly on someone's transistor. Those transistors came in handy the next few days—we practically slept with them while south Floridians didn't sleep much at all.

The University of Tennessee had a golden opportunity but muffed it. There was a new stadium to dedicate, and on television to boot. Sure Alabama would be tough, but nobody expected such shoddy pass defense and poor offensive punch as the Volunteers displayed that afternoon. The score wasn't so bad—27-7 is a respectable score in these days of high scoring offenses; but the caliber of play displayed by the Big Orange was anything but respectable.

Vanderbilt, firmly sticking with its policy of never sacrificing academic excellence for athletic success, also continued its losing trend. People around Nashville looked embarrassed, the drugstore quarterbacks had a field day, and the debate topic for the season was, "When's Vandy going to win one?" Head Coach Art Guepe announced his resignation which surprised exactly nobody.

Over at the University a slumbering giant awoke after the Alabama game and the battle began to rage. U-T was due for a housecleaning; the people over there had a right to expect a bowl team about once every five years and were now screaming bloody murder. The Orange and White, U-T student newspaper, came out with an editorial to the effect that Head Coach Bowden Wyatt had had his chance, now it was someone else's turn.

Meanwhile, across the state in Memphis, Maryville College was losing to a strong Southwestern team, 7-0. It was their Homecoming game; we were out to spoil it for them, but alas, it was not to be. The big break for Southwestern came just before the end of the half when speedster Don Phelps took a handoff from Quarterback Bennie Monroe and attempted an end sweep. However, Southwestern tackle John Tearace was not fooled—he was there to greet Phelps and hit him so hard with a vicious tackle that the ball was jarred loose from his arms, and Bill Harwood of Southwestern recovered the ball for them on the Maryville 23 yard line. A few plays later Southwestern scored, completely throttled our offense in the second half and went on to win 7-0. Tough? Sure! But that's football for you.

It seems as though bad breaks have been coming in bunches lately, but after a time, the ball has a way of beginning to bounce in your favor. The Cuban crisis has eased much to our intense relief; the University of Tennessee walloped Chattanooga 48-14 before 27,727 fans, and will go after victory number two this afternoon against Wake Forest. The slumbering giant has gone back to sleep—at least for awhile—as he appears to have adopted a "wait and see" attitude with respect to the University football picture. Vanderbilt is already building for next year, and is now on the lookout for a new head coach to replace the departing Guepe who will sing his swan song in Knoxville on December 3rd, when Vanderbilt will take on the Tennessee Volunteers in Neyland Stadium.

And as for Maryville College—well you just never can tell. At the moment they're unpredictable. Two tough games are left on the schedule: Millsap from Huntsville, Alabama, will invade Honaker Field tonight for an 8 p.m. encounter; next Saturday will be an open date for Coach Boydson Baird's Highlanders; and the following Saturday, November 17th, our team will journey to Jefferson City to take on arch-rival Carson-Newman. Student busses will be available for the game which promises to be the best of the year.

Tonight's game appears to be a toss-up, seems from here to be an issue which will be decided mostly between the 40 yard lines — the team that has the most desire to win will capitalize on the breaks they will make, and should go on to victory.

BASKETBALL, WRESTLING

Wrestling Coach John A. Davis and head basketball Coach Boydson Baird have issued forth their call to all hopefuls of these two sports, and have begun workouts in preparation for their season openers. As coincidence would have it, both teams will swing into action Saturday night, December 3rd, as a Basketball-Wrestling doubleheader is slated for that evening. Campus and area fans who like their wrestling rough and their basketball hot should be in for a real treat.

Coach Davis has announced that his workouts have been progressing nicely since they began two weeks ago. There are several positions left wide open on the team, and Coach reports that several newcomers have looked good. Basketball prospects look even better, with several freshmen providing keen competition for the veterans. The Basketball team will open against Hiwassee College, while the Wrestling team will entertain the Knoxville YMCA — both encounters will take place in the Alumni Gymnasium on the College campus.

Berea Invades Today!

The Maryville College soccer team lost its second game of the season last Saturday when Berea College of Kentucky downed the Scotties by a score of 5 to 1. The loss put the Scots one game below the .500 mark with 1 victory and two defeats.

Unlike their previous game, which the Scots lost to Warren Wilson by the same score, Maryville was completely outplayed. There was never any question as to the outcome after the first quarter.

The Berea team was paced by the Woo brothers. The two diminutive linemen were a constant source of trouble to the usually strong Scottie defense. They were directly responsible for one goal and set up the others with their fine ball handling and passing. Ahmad tallied twice for the Berea squad to lead their scoring.

Maryville suffered once again from lack of offensive punch. The Scots inability to launch a prolonged attack on the Berea goalie placed much work in the hands of the defensive platoon. Maryville's lone score came in the final quarter when center halfback Red Prudhon dribbled to the head of the goal circle and sent a long, low shot past the Berea goalie.

The Scots can point to a patched up line-up as a cause of their poor showing. Missing from the team were three starters and several top reserves. Among these were two top members of the defensive unit John Vordonis' sore leg and the academic responsibilities of Bill Weissenburger kept them out of action. Bob Clark and Singtoh Changtrakul filled in at the vacant spots. Also absent was right wing Kirk Copeland. The Scotties' Phil Jerome was moved from his customary spot on the opposite wing to fill in for Copeland. Rich Gossweiler took over Jerome's spot.

The Scotties will seek to avenge their humiliating defeat this afternoon when they meet Berea on the Maryville field. Team captains Harry Repsher and Scott Bucher are hoping that the home field, the home crowd, and the assured return of Copeland and Weissenburger will have a decisive difference in the outcome of the game.

Save $$$'s on School Supplies
For Students Only
WHITE SCHOOL SUPPLY CO-OP
Enroll now for early Savings!
Call or come in for details
White Office Machines
Corner Broadway at College
PHONE 983-4762
WON'T WRITE?
CALL WHITE
PARK FREE AT REAR OF BLDG.

Shoe artistry of distinction

The touch of distinction from master cobblers — hand stitching of the vamp seams — gives this shoe manly handsomeness unexcelled
For your shoes of distinction choose Handcrafted Rands.
From 14.99

RAND Shoes are seen on the Jack Paar Show NBC-TV

Shoemaker's Shoe Store

"COCA-COLA" AND "COKE" ARE REGISTERED TRADE-MARKS WHICH IDENTIFY ONLY THE PRODUCT OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY.

.....fox trot
twist...waltz
lindy...samba
mambo...cha-cha-cha..bend
dip..hop..step
turn...bump...
whew...

take a break
...things go better
with Coke
TRADE-MARK

Bottled under the authority of The Coca-Cola Company by:
RODDY MFG. CO.
Maryville, Tenn.

Revised Regulations For Dancing At MC

(Editor's Note: The following statement appears in accordance with the request of the dance committee.

(Original regulations recommended by Student Faculty Senate, approved by Student Council 6 October, 1948 and by Executive Council of the Faculty 7 October, 1948. Revised regulations recommended by Social Board, further revised by Student Faculty Senate 27 March, 1953, and recommended to Executive Council of the Faculty and Student Council. Further revised in November 1956, and further revised and approved by Executive Council 8 May, 1958, revised and approved finally by Executive Council 11 Oct., 1962.)

In making these recommendations we have retained the following principles which we believe should govern the arrangements for dancing at Maryville College:

1. The social program at Maryville College produces many original and varied types of activities which have become a unique and valuable part of the campus life. Dancing, which is so easily arranged, should not displace other activities but should be considered and maintained as only one popular activity in the social program.

2. Expenses must be kept low in accordance with the Maryville program and objectives.

3. The ideals of the college require that the students and faculty cooperate to insure the best of situations in all social activities.

4. The primary purpose for dancing and the sponsoring of dances shall be for entertainment.

Guided by these principles, the Social Committee recommend that the following revised regulations be adopted to govern dancing:

1. There may be informal dancing in the Intramural Gymnasium from 6:30 to 7:15 each weekday evening except Saturday. This will be under direct supervision of the Director of the Student Center assisted by student committees appointed by the Social Chairman from time to time. Student committees will attend to music, conduct, and incidental arrangements. Guests are subject to the same regulations as are students.

2. Small groups scheduling parties in the Y rooms or other small social rooms by arrangement with the Dean of Women and those responsible for the premises involved, may be permitted to dance.

3. Occasional informal, all-college dances may be held at the discretion of the Social Committee and the Faculty Committee on Scheduling of Activities. Each dance will be managed by a student dance committee and faculty sponsors selected for the occasion by the Social Committee. The dance committee and sponsors, in cooperation with the Dean of Women, the Dean of Men and the Director of the Student Center will make all arrangements and supervise the dance. For all-evening, informal dances, the sponsoring group may be allowed to charge 25 cents per person and 35 cents per couple and may be allotted up to $5.00 by the social committee, if expenses exceed proceeds. The after - football dances shall terminate at 11:45. Other informal dances shall close at 10:30.

4. One formal, all-college dance may be held in the Fall and one in the Spring, at times to be decided upon by the sponsoring organizations, Social Committee, and Faculty Committee on Scheduling of Activities. These dances shall be alternately under the sponsorship of Alpha Sigma - Theta Epsilon and Chi Beta-Kappa Phi, and faculty chaperones. The sponsoring societies and the faculty chaperones, in cooperation with the Dean of Women, the Dean of Men, and the Director of the Student Center will make all arrangements and supervise the dance. An admission fee will be charged of not exceeding $3.00 (including tax) per couple, and only couples will be admitted. Guests are subject to the same regulations as are students. The dance shall terminate at 12:00 midnight. It is suggested that the cost of corsages be kept moderate.

Since the purpose of the formal dances is to provide entertainment for the students, all proceeds realized from the dance shall be divided between the sponsoring societies. The budget for the dance set by the sponsoring societies shall be approved by the Social Committee. The amount of the expenditures shall not exceed the proceeds of the dance.

These rules shall be published in the college newspaper no less than once per semester. A copy of this agreement shall be kept in the rules of procedure of the Social Committee, and a copy shall be permanently attached to the Student Council bulletin board.

Tom Wolfe's 'Angel' To Be First '62-63 Production at MC

Look Homeward Angel heads into its third week of production activity which will culminate on November 16 and 17. Approximately seventy-five persons are participating in this season's first presentation of the college theater. Besides the nightly three-hour rehearsals for the cast of eighteen, there are the uncounted hours of effort by the technical crews.

Innovations on Stage

The construction crew, headed by Bob Hutchison has already begun to meet such challenges as creating an additional stage area extending out over the orchestra pit, a revolving central stage turn-table, and a twenty-two foot exterior set design. These innovations, Mr. Jones comments, "are designed to break through some theatrical conventions for more effective drama."

'Finds' and 'Firsts' in Props

Members of the props crew, which is under the direction of Cecelia Bridges, are thrilled over several "finds" and "firsts." To name two: a department store manikin has been transformed, by way of much imagination and work on the part of Carol Brown, into the title angel itself. Also, rumor has it that a stone "couchant lamb" weighing close to two-hundred pounds has also been located.

All Crews in Action

Season ticket sales are already running high, as this new offer makes possible choice seats, plus a 40-percent saving on cost. Chris Carlisle is heading this business endeavor. Other crews will soon swing into action: costume, Elaine Coleman; make - up, Pat Taylor; paint; lights and sound (over a hundred cues!) under Ralph Tucker.

Cooperation by UT, MC Depts.

An interesting departmental note is the new level of cooperation between the University of Tennessee and Maryville. Reciprocal publicity arrangements have been made in a mutual attempt to reach the theater-going public of both schools. In fact the two key stage props of the Maryville production, the angel and the lamb, will be utilized in the U-T production of the same play in January. Maryville College Drama Director, Tom Jones and Dr. Soper, head of the U-T drama department, each look forward to a stimulating and successful theater season for the Maryville-Knoxville area, beginning with Look Homeward Angel.

Socks And Sneakers

by Jeanne Price

Volleyball came to a dramatic close on Thursday as the top Theta team, the Angels, defeated the Chi Beta Debutantes. The tournament was won by Theta. The Theta teams won twelve games to the four won by Chi Beta. Congratulations Theta. I think everyone will agree that the volleyball tournament was a lot of fun.

Beginning Tuesday, practice for powderpuff football began. Each week girls will practice running passes, drives, and dashes until Thursday, November 8, when the traditional clash between Theta and Chi Beta is held. This year WAA has taken complete charge of the sport, and it is requested that all players use good sportsmanship and play merely for a good time instead of seeking revenge toward the opposite team. Should be a real good game as both societies have some pretty powder puff football material.

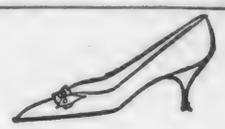
Along with football, for the more fragile co-ed, comes the ping pong tournament. Sign up immediately in the student center if you wish to participate in this individual sport. Remember you can get some extra points for Women's Athletic Association, by just going out for the smaller sports offered in the program.

Maybe many of you have forgotten but you also get points for hikes in WAA. These pretty afternoons it would be awful nice to walk in the woods or around the loop. Don't forget that swimming points total up too, so let's see a lot of women in that pool!

So far WAA is off to a good start. Let's keep it that way and have a terrific year.

It's Powderpuff Time!

Yes, and gals you'd better get ready soon, 'cause game time isn't far away. Thursday afternoon, November 7th, is the tentative date set for the game, although this is subject to change as the paper goes to press.



For those who have never seen a powderpuff football game, we can assure you that you are in for an afternoon of fun. Fellows, here it is that you can see that special gal transformed into an unromantic football player, for a period of about an hour. The game is played between the two women's societies, Chi Beta and Theta Epsilon, with girls from each society making up the teams. The game is a tradition on the campus, and is always an object of intense interest, as well as one of fun.

$15,000 Gift

Cont. from Page 1

students as possible may be helped in getting an education and to memorialize our wife and mother, who gave so unstintingly of herself to so many worthy causes."

In accepting the gift and thanking Jenkins and Mrs. Cuningham, President Copeland said: "For a hundred and forty - two years Maryville College has done a superb job in making every dollar count effectively for the educational and spiritual training of young people.

ALL IMPORTANT

BOW PUMPS

$8.99

Smartaire

Proffitt's

Next Vespers Speakers: Rollins, Dr. Couchman

The Rev. Mitz Rollins, special field representative for the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church, will be guest speaker on the November 4 vesper program. The combined Women's Choir and Men's Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Dan Kinsinger, will sing "Lost in the Night" by Christiansen, and "Praise, My Soul, the King of Heaven" by William S. Skeat.

On November 11, the guest speaker at the vesper service will be Dr. Gaylord M. Couchman, president, Dubuque Seminary, Dubuque, Iowa. The Vesper Choir will sing "There is a Balm in Gilead." The three solo parts in this Negro spiritual will be sung by Joyce Koch, Martha Hall, and Jean Dorscheid. The other musical selection will be "God's Son Hath Set Me Free" by Grieg.

PET DAIRY

ICE CREAM

★

MILK

"Fresh from the Dairy"

Maryville College

STUDENT CENTER

proudly serves

FULLER LOCKER PLANT

Hamburgers

★

Hot Dogs

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

WASHINGTON AVENUE

—Photo by Dan Kinsinger

SHOWN PLANNING PROPS for next week's Fall Serenade are Women's Choir and Men's Glee Club members (l. to r.) Janet Reinke, Ron Elly, Jim Shannon, Frances Frost and Charles Meeker.

Glee Club and Choir – New Look, New Sound, New Spirit

Perhaps you've noticed the new look in the Women's Choir. Did you see the sharply dressed men and women wearing lyres (the symbol of the Glee Clubs) on initiation day for the Women's Choir and Men's Glee Club last month? It's all part of the whole new feeling abroad in these two organizations, which frequently join forces for fuller music and fuller fun.

The choirs, under the direction of Dan H. Kinsinger, make a variety of music. They are the only group on campus which offers the opportunity for supervised solo and ensemble work in music of other than a religious nature. This year a special emphasis was laid on the selection of voices for the choirs, resulting in a better balance of parts than in previous years.

For an idea of the heightened spirit in the combined choirs this year, have a talk with Judy Smith, the president of the women's group. Enthusiasm is a weak term for Miss Smith's feeling about the success of the Choir and Glee Club. "They are better than ever before," she says, "a hard-working group with plenty of spirit."

Under her leadership, the women have acquired new uniforms, which consist of a white tailored blouse and black skirt. On the blouse is the choir's insignia. Bob Hutchinson, the president of the Men's Glee Club, and Miss Smith work together in the supervision of the groups' combined activities, which have been many already this year.

On the evening of October 4, Choir and Glee Club members lighted candles in their formal initiation on the lawn of the Fine Arts Center. They followed the ceremony with what else?—group singing!

A party in the college woods, featuring entertainment by the new members, was the next social occasion for the singers.

Currently the activity with top priority is preparation for the Fall Serenade, upcoming next Saturday night. In between rehearsals of the George Gershwin and Cole Porter numbers that will make up the show, the men and women are constructing the props which will add extra interest to the Serenade. Sue Norris heads this committee for props.

Both groups sing at Vespers about once a month. With the Vesper Choir, they make up the nucleus of the Messiah Chorus.

Profs Endorse

Cont. from Page 1

will have a "neutral effect" in the upcoming elections. It will unite the people behind the President, but with "the tremendous local issues confronting the Congressional elections, I doubt it will have any determining effect." He added that in a presidential election it might be different.

Based on the Rio Treaty, the "quarantine," and in light of our national interest, the actions were well grounded, Lynn believes. However, he says they are above and over legal technicalities and were in the legitimate interest of the hemisphere's safety.

Lynn believes the action will unify the neighbors to the south, and will "be an anti-communist factor in Latin America." As to what effect it will have on the neutrals, "I'll rate it as a plus factor there, too. The neutrals tend to think of the U.S. as weak, and Russia as stronger in foreign policies," Dr. Lynn says, "and this will definitely show them our determination to resist communism."

Dr. Lynn believes the "firm stand will forestall any future crisis. "Russia has been pushing in Berlin, Cuba and Southeast Asia—this firm stand will have a determining factor on their future policies. We have thrown Khrushchev off balance, so to speak, and I think it will force him to re-appraise his actions."

The four professors in general agree that the blockade was a necessary action, although no legal basis can be found for it, and in general the four agree that it will strengthen, not hinder, American popularity abroad. Dr. Walker, Mr. Schwam and Mr. Ainsworth all agree that the United Nations is the best way to settle the conflict, although they do not believe any U.N. action will stop the U.S. from preventing offensive arms to continue in Cuba.

UT Faculty Art Show To Be Here Nov. 8-29

The University of Tennessee Faculty Art Show will be exhibited November 8 to 29, 1962, in the Maryville College Fine Arts Center art gallery. The formal opening of the show will take place the evening of November 8; on weekdays, Monday through Saturday, the gallery will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

There will be representative items of sculpture and painting by the following contemporary artists: Robert Birdwell, Richard Clarke, Joanna Higgs, Walter H. Stevens, Carl Sublett, and E. Kermit Ewing, the head of this showing.

Librarians Display Three Timely Exhibits

The Maryville College library now has three exhibits on display: "The Spain of Lope De Vega—Dramatist", "Discovering East Tennessee", and another on the Peace Corps.

"The Spain of Lope De Vega—Dramatist" exhibit commemorates the Spanish poet and dramatist who was born in Madrid, November 25, 1562, four hundred years ago. On display are books written by and about him, plus several pictures showing the Spain of his day.

Plays written by him which are still widely read include: La Fuente Ovejuna, El Caballero de Olmeda, Peribanez y el comendador de Ocana, and El Castigo sin Venganza.

"Discovering East Tennessee", the second exhibit, includes a map of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park and vicinity, including area pictures which have strings attached so as to denote the location of each. Also on display are magazine articles and books featuring the Great Smoky Mountains and the East Tennessee area, with special attention given to Cades Cove and the mountain folks.

The third exhibit deals with the Peace Corps, whose representative was on our campus Friday, November 2. Pamphlets and other information are available at the library desk.

A "World News of the World" map is now on display in the library, pointing out the top news events and happenings of each week. A brief summary of each event, with corresponding numbers to help point out the location of each event, is included.

WGAP CAMPUS MIKE

Voice of Maryville College

Sunday Evening 9:30-10:00

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student
116 West Broadway

U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

WAYNE SIMMONS

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!
TIP TOP BARBER SHOP
105 Church St. Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop Open 6 Days a Week

NAVY AND YOU

Radarmen operate and maintain the various types of radar generally used in the ship's Combat Information Center. They assist in plotting ranges, bearings and fixes on nautical charts, interpret the information gained from radar equipment and inspect and clean the equipment. To become a radarman you should be better than average in practical math, have good near vision, normal hearing, and a clear speaking voice.

see your NAVY recruiter

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 48 | Maryville, Tennessee, November 17, 1962 | No. 5

"Look Homeward Angel" Set Features Simultaneous Effect

The final performance of "Look Homeward, Angel," the opening production of the Maryville College Playhouse 1962-63 season, will begin tonight at 8 p.m. in the Theatre. Featured in this presentation is the stage effect "simultaneous setting," which enables the audience to view action both inside and outside of a home at the same time.

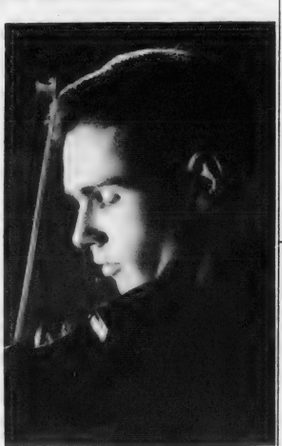
Mr. Thomas E. Jones, director of the theatre and assistant professor of speech at the college, supervised the design of this effect which Student Technical Director David Styles engineered.

The major shifting of sets for this production has been replaced by what is called "fluid lighting." Shifts of scene are accomplished chiefly through dimming or decreasing the lighting from one section of the set where the action is declining to more active areas of the stage.

Members of the production staff for "Look Homeward, Angel" are: Directing Assistant Elizabeth Lee; properties, Cecelia Bridges (Head), Lois Grinstead, Judy Jenkins, Alice Peyton, Corliss Vogel, Carolyn Williams, Judy Ludwig, Ruth Hultse; costumes, Elaine Coleman (Head), Sharon English, Margaret Shaklee, Ellen Waring; lighting, Karen Keen, Ralph Tucker; sound, Michael Dodson; makeup, Patricia Taylor (Head), Pamela Fredrickson, Jane Stapp; paint, Constance Williams (Head), Mary Gleason, Barbara McCarter, Robert Olson, Martha Hall, Carol Cooper; construction, Robert Hutchison (Head), Dale Fischbach, Joseph Futcher, Thomas Higgins, Barry Holden, Samuel Imhoff, William Gibbs, Lew Hoagland; business, Christopher Carlisle (Head), Eileen Han, Rebecca Koza, Page Mettee, Mildred Riley, Sandra Satterfield, Janet Purcilla; and house Manager Paul Elliott.

Weissenburger, Presley to Reign at Barnwarming Show Nov. 22

Senior Class President Bill Weissenburger and Head Majorette Sandra Presley will reign over the 1962 Barnwarming show, "Tempest and a Teepee," which will begin in the Maryville College Theatre at 8 p.m. on November 22, Thanksgiving Day.



Class attendants to King Bill and Queen Sandra will be Mary Monson, senior from Louisville, Kentucky; Sue Quigg, junior from Springfield, Missouri; Teddie Gillespie, sophomore from Kearny, New Jersey; and Sherry Proffitt, freshman from Maryville.

Sponsored annually by the YMCA and YWCA, the Barnwarming show is exclusively a student production. Author and director of the 1962 show is Paul Elliott; composers of the 12 original songs to be featured are Dave Clinkman, Paul Elliott, Sharon Jones, and Merelee Knott.

The cast of "sneaky characters" includes B. T. Bigart, Lloyd Bogart, Phyllis Eval, Carolyn Foust, Eileen Han, Margaret Hanson, Dale Hudler, Bruce Jenkins, Merelee Knott, Marty Miller, Gray Morgan, Robert Orr, Nancy Pierce, Norma Sharp, Chuck Steele, Frank Wilson, Mary Anne Wilson, and Lupton Wood. Set designers are the Ten Key Men and the Nu Gamma Leaders.

Proceeds from the show will be used to purchase a washing machine for the Blount County Children's Home.

Kent, Linda Perry To Appear In Faculty Recital on Nov. 30

MR. KENT PERRY

Mr. Kent Perry, violinist, and Linda Wagoner Perry, pianist, will present the second faculty recital at Maryville College in the Fine Arts Center Music Hall at 8:00 p.m. on Friday, November 30.

Kent Perry began violin study in 1945 under Bertha Walburn Clark, founder of the Knoxville Symphony Orchestra. After graduating from the University of Tennessee, where he studied violin with William J. Starr, Mr. Perry completed the Master of Music degree at Northwestern University School of Music. At Northwestern he studied under concert violinist Angel Reyes, graduate of the Paris Conservatory and first violinist of the Sheridan String Quartet.

While in the Chicago area Mr. Perry was a member of the Chicago Little Symphony, a professional chamber orchestra directed by Dr. Thor Johnson, formerly conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony. Mr. Perry toured Canada, the United States, and Mexico with the Chicago Little Symphony on its first cross-country concert tour in 1961.

Although both Mr. Perry and his wife, the former Linda Sue Wagoner, were Knoxville residents before their marriage, they did not meet until they were both studying music at Northwestern University where Mrs. Perry received her Bachelor of Music degree. In Knoxville Mrs. Perry was a piano pupil of William Dorn of the University of Tennessee music faculty and at Northwestern studied with Gui Mombaerts, Belgian pianist, formerly a member of the Belgian Piano Quartet, now head of the piano department of Northwestern University School of Music.

Mrs. Perry has won several awards in the Chicago area for solo and chamber music performance.

For their November 30 recital Mr. and Mrs. Perry will perform sonatas of Leclair, Beethoven, Debussy, and Hindemith.

Two MC Students To Assist In Taping of TV Symposium

Student leaders of the "Campus Mike" organization at Maryville College, juniors John Spangler and Anitra Bard, will participate in the presentation of a thirteen-week symposium on WBIR-TV next semester. They will plan and produce this series of thirty-minutes programs on college life along with representatives from three other area schools, Carson-Newman, Tennessee Wesleyan, and Knoxville College.

Each of the four colleges will be responsible for three particular programs in the series. Mr. Spangler and Miss Bard will supervise the Maryville College presentations on January 20, February 17, and March 17 in the fields of history, the fine arts, and the sciences respectively.

The three Maryville College programs, advises Mr. Duncan Bennett, director of information services and sponsor for the "Campus Mike," will represent the entire college community. Also, says Mr. Bennett, residents both at the college and in the neighboring districts are encouraged to contribute their program ideas.

Council Committee To Investigate Racial Prejudice Against Students

At the first meeting of the newly formed Student Council committee on human relations, held on Sunday, November 11, the group adopted a statement of purpose.

The committee, led by Co-chairmen Stephen Henderson and Jon Hinderer, approved the following statement: "The purpose of the Student Council Human Relations Committee is to investigate thoroughly discrimination against students connected with Maryville College, and where the study shall indicate, take steps to remedy such discrimination."

Co-chairmen Henderson and Hinderer are encouraging all interested students, regardless of viewpoints on this issue, to participate in the undertakings of the committee. All meetings will be announced in chapel notices, Student Council minutes, and on posters.

Theatre Plans 2nd Production For Jan. 11, 12

Tiger at the Gates, the second major production of the Maryville College Theater, will be presented January 11 and 12. It is the winner of the Drama Circle Critics Award as the best foreign play of the year 1955-56. Accordingly, it is a play of beauty, dignity and quality. It combines the lyrical eloquence typical of translator Christopher Fry with the dramatic imagination and philosophical insight characteristic of the French playwright Jean Giraudoux.

The Story of The Play

On a platform stage, bare but for a pair of immense gates, stalks the inevitable tiger of war. Hector, back from battle, comes as a peacemaker and convinces Ulysses and the populace of the insanity of war; and together they agree that the Trojan War shall not take place. But the poets need a war for their elegies and dirges; the king, because it is a custom; the lawyer, because of his honor; and others, for various reasons. And so, in spite of all logic, the war errupts.

Critics' Appraisals

Critic Brooks Atkinson says of the show: "It wrestles with big ideas with passion and humor."

The New York Journal-America calls it a ". . . brilliant and provocative evening."

The New York Daily Mirror advises: "If you value intelligence, wisdom, and beauty of speech, you must not miss Tiger at the Gates."

Casting Tryouts at MC

Tryouts will be held to cast the 10 women and 15 male roles, on Monday and Tuesday, November 19 and 20 from 3:30-5:00 and from 7:30-9:00. Scripts are available in the Theater office.

Library Displays Winning Books

During the month of November the Maryville College library is displaying those books selected by the Southern Books Committee of the Southeastern Library Association as outstanding in cover design and typography. These selections were made from 143 entries submitted by 29 southern publishers as representative of their best work in 1961.

Fifteen of the winning books were published by seven university presses. At the head of this group are the University of Oklahoma Press with five winning titles and the University of Texas Press with four of the fifteen.

Continued on Page 5, Col. 4

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

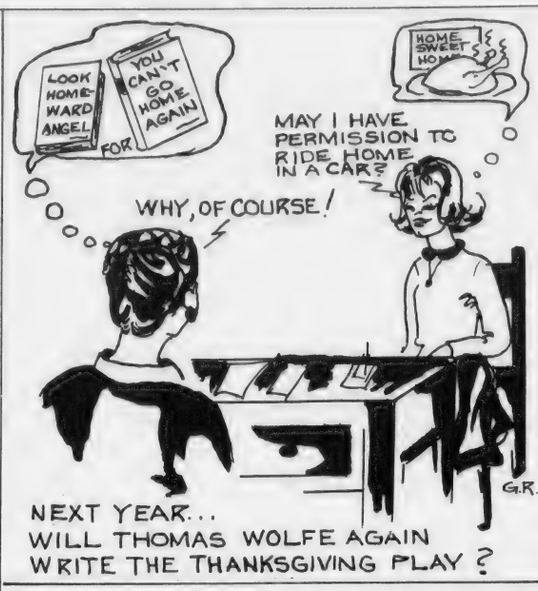
Editor in Chief
LYNN HERRING

Assistant Editor — CHARLOTTA COOK
News Editor — PATRICIA REHM
Feature Editor — ANN HARRISON
Art Editor — GRACE ROSSER
Sports Editors — TODD OWERS and JEANNE PRICE
Exchange Editor — GAIL GARLOCH
Business Manager — PAUL BIGGERS

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Sue Anne Blair, Mary Gay Boettcher, Wendy Compton, Elenora Easterly, Sue Foreman, John Gamble, Mary Janovich, Phil Jerome, Sally Johnston, Karen Keen, Libby Lee, Dave Marston, Mildred Miles, Nelson Miller, Sherry Proffitt, Helen Ryan, Celia Tiffany, Billy Wear

CIRCULATION: Dave King



Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR, MR. FRANK LAYMAN

From the Editor

At last, we have a Thankgiving with time to be thankful. In the past, there has been no break for four long months, from September until Christmas. And I have felt the pressure building within myself and have seen it build in others — students and teachers. With the numerous exams, supplementary assignments, and semester term papers, largely due before mid-December, the strain of meeting so many deadlines had proved to be physically exhausting. For seniors, the Independent Study deadline added yet another dimension to the pressure.

This year, we shall have a few days to ourselves — days which every student and teacher can spend in the way he feels will benefit him the most. For some, this means going home to be with family and friends. For others, this vacation will provide the valuable and necessary time for "catching up." Everyone is sure to benefit physically and emotionally, and after all, these are factors important to any intellectual climate.

Surely, the benefits far outweigh the opposition, and I sincerely hope that this provision for a short fall vacation will be continued in succeeding years.

Y's Celebrate 75th and 85th Anniversaries

Next week two organizations which have played significant parts in student life on this campus, the YWCA and the YMCA will mark their seventy-fifty and eighty-fifth anniversaries, respectively. In celebration of this occasion the Y's will present several special activities.

The organizations have asked Dr. E. R. Hunter to lead the chapel service allotted to them on Wednesday morning. The following evening they sponsor the Barnwarming play and they will host a party Saturday evening, featuring games and dancing. Jim Cummings will speak at the special Y Vespers to conclude the anniversary observance.

Although both the YWCA and YMCA have taken active parts on the Maryville campus for seventy-four years as separate organizations, this year is the first that the two have, for all practical purposes, merged.

After their election last spring, YW president Lois Ann Jones and YM president Bob McGruther worked together in setting up commissions, appointing a man and a woman to be co-chairman of each commission. Since then almost all activities of the YMCA and the YWCA have been combined.

The purpose of the national YMCA states that it is "a fellowship of students and faculty who desire to discover for themselves the highest ideals of Christian living and service and to have a part in making these ideals operative on the canpus and throughout the world."

To fulfill this purpose, Mr. McGruther pointed out, the Y offers students the chance to take part in regional and national conferences, local programs, discussions and prayer groups and the activities of the commissions. Miss Jones stresses that all students may take part in the work of any of the commissions.

STUDENTS VISITS CHILDREN'S HOME

Students who make friends with the children at the Blount County Children's Home find a warm reception, says Alice Brownlee, who with Joe Futcher is co-chairman of the Children's Home Committee. The thirteen children there wait eagerly for the college students who visit them each week.

In the past. students have had a specific "little brother" or "sister" at the home to be their special charge. Although they are trying a more general system now (so that a child won't feel left out when his big brother or sister cannot visit), some children still feel that they "own" a particular college student. "I've had my little sister for four years," says Elizabeth Fuqua, senior elementary education major, "and it doesn't make any difference to her that we are trying a new system. She thinks I'm her big sister anyway."

Mr. Futcher commented that this year the students are devoting an hour of their visit to helping the children with their homework.

Occasionally the whole committee entertains the children for a special party. Last month they all enjoyed a picnic followed by the Millsaps football game.

The Campus Life Commission provides for grace in the dining hall, dormitory devotions and Singspiration, and the Thursday night prayer group, "Time Out." According to Mary Beatty, co-chairman of the commission, there has been a good response to these activities, particularly by underclassmen.

Tom Jones: Unorthodox And Imaginative

by Mary Gay Boettcher

At first one is conscious only of the voice. Well-cultivated, smoothly capable of a sudden intensity to drive home a point. Then, the discovery that he really does look like Dave Garroway. After this one forgets to remember impressions because the remainder of the interview is spent in trying to follow the swift quips, judgments, and views of this totally unorthodox "theatre person." He is that kind of director who can afford to be frankly theatrical. And, for once, it is the sort of theatricality which is refreshing and inoffensive.

Tom Jones, the director of drama at Maryville College received his Bachelor of Arts and Sciences from the University of Northern Illinois. His Master's came from Ohio State where he has also begun work on his doctorate. He has been, respectively, a teacher, director, and technical director before coming to Maryville. In addition to Mr. Jones, there is Mrs. Jones, a speech teacher and librarian, and Christopher and Timothy, explosive butterballs.

People make up Theatre

The conversation turned to "Look Homeward, Angel," as it has a way of doing lately. "This current production is a play," Mr. Jones says, "which cannot be done without talking about people. People make up the theatre and we are conditioned by by the people we work with. In doing "Look Homeward, Angel" the members of the cast are presenting people who are instantaneously recognizable. This is the important concept, the people."

"The surest way to corrupt a youth is to teach him to hold in higher esteem those who think alike than those who think differently."
–Nietzsche

Always Look Your Best
See us for all your Dry Cleaning Needs
MARYVILLE Cleaners
Contact Your Dormitory Agent–
Carnegie & Memorial–Joe Fink, Ed Krusman
New Dorm–Sandy Scofield
Pearsons–Sue Quigg
Baldwin–Janet Melville

Announcing A New Beauty Salon in Maryville
FORT CRAIG BEAUTY SALON – STUDENT SPECIAL –
$15.00 OIL WAVE
Complete $10.00
Shampoo & Sets – $1.50

$10.00
COLD WAVE
Complete
$7.50

Mrs. Betty Wilson
Mr. Tommy Cagle
Located in the Fort Craig Hotel – Washington Avenue

DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands
OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You
Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses.
DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Washington Avenue

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.
SEYMOUR'S
Open 4 am – 11 pm
982-9921

Students at First Barnwarming Husked Corn and Square–danced

by Billy Wear

Barnwarming, one of Maryville College's oldest and best traditions was started in 1926 by a group of girls who decided that those who had studied too much or who were homesick needed something on Thanksgiving besides a big dinner. To remedy this situation, they invited everyone to a corn-husking, square dance, and fiddler's contest. Under the auspices of the YMCA and YWCA it has become an annual affair.

Since 1926, programs have grown more elaborate and have followed a central plan. Past years have seen such themes as "Show-boat," "Under the Big Top," "Howee Pow-Wow," "Mardi Gras," "The Golden Jubilee," "Gay Nineties," and "Beyond the Sea." In 1929 the carnival did not meet the deadline and an impromptu Barnwarming was held.

As the years progressed so did the price. Witness 1931's ticket price of ten cents: now student tickets are seventy-five cents. The year 1933 was probably the least expensive — to the boys — for it was "Dutch Treat."

Barnwarming for 1934 proved memorable as a Barnwarming king reigned for the first time. Some of the former queens had complained of being lonely.

The faculty has taken part many times in Barnwarming. One of their more popular booths was the "House of Horrors" in 1935. Dr. Edwin Hunter was seen as Winston Churchill in the '43 "Mazdadaza," a war theme.

"Mardi Gras," in all its resplendence and glamour, paid tribute to MC for an evening in 1948. The '48 Barnwarming also featured a parade with floats.

Barnwarming 1950 appropriately chose as its theme, "Golden Jubilee." The five booths each represented one decade of the half-century.

As we near our own times, the enchanting atmosphere of the Nile Valley provided the scene of the '57 "Two Different Worlds" Barnwarming. In '60, "Man in the Hall" Barnwarming play took place in a girls' preparatory school, making the setting, situations and characters familiar to the audience.

Last year, "Out of the Hat" featured a magical town and two magicians who both claimed to have made it. Unlike previous years there were no fair-booths.

This year the play will be presented in the theatre.

Flowers Given by Former Professor

One evening last week Maryville students who eat at Pearsons Hall were pleasantly surprised to find a bouquet of flowers on each table. Many commented about them but no one seemed to know where they came from. Now the news is out!

The person to thank for this gift is Mr. E. R. Walker, professor of physics at Maryville College for over forty years and the father of Dr. Arda S. Walker, the present head of the history department. Professor Walker, now retired, spent the entire day gathering chrysanthemums so that students might enjoy this last bit of summer.

Vesper Choir To Perform Miracle Play

On December 2, in place of the regular Sunday evening worship service at the college, the Vesper Choir will present a miracle play, "The Coming of Christ." The play illustrates the importance of the birth of Jesus Christ through music, drama, and dance.

Choir members who will perform the singing roles of angels include Dave Evans, Bruce Jenkins, Tom Llewellyn, and John Spangler. Organist will be Mr. James Bloy; Mr. Victor Robert Schoen will be at the piano.

Democrats Triumph Many Upsets Though

by Helen Ryan

In a victory which has been compared to Franklin Roosevelt's first mid-term elections, the Democrats swept to a clear overall victory in the November 6 elections. They lost, however, three big-state governorships in Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania. Although Republicans picked up four House seats in the "solid South," there was no gain for the party as a whole.

Democrat Edmund "Pat" Brown was re-elected Governor of California. He carried Los Angeles where Richard Nixon was first elected to Congress in 1946. By his defeat, Nixon will be put out of politics.

George Romney, a newcomer to politics, squeaked past incumbent Governor John Swainson in Michigan. The Republican jumped into the race last spring from presidency of Rambler American Motors Corporation. The victory marked him as a potential 1964 Presidential candidate. For the most part, it was a Romney and not a Republican victory. The party name never appeared on his literature, he refused former President Eisenhower's help and his campaign headquarters were separate from the Republicans'.

The election of William Scranton as Governor of Pennsylvania makes him another possibility for the Republican presidential nomination. Scranton calls himself a "modern" Republican and is a logical link between the party's two wings.

Nelson Rockefeller scored an easy re-election in the New York

Continued on Page 5, Col. 3

CURTAIN TIME

Tonight the curtain rises at 8:00 P.M. on the second performance of "Look Homeward Angel" in the Maryville College Theatre.

On November 17, U. T. Concerts presents the Chad Mitchell Trio as an extra concert of this season. The Trio, which mixes popular and folk music, will be a part of the Homecoming festivities of the University.

The same night at the Civic Auditorium, Bright Nilsson, Dramatic Soprano, will sing three arias. Performance begins at 8:15.

In person on Dec. 12 at the Civic Auditoruim Helen Hayes and Maurice Evans appear in "A Program for Two People." The N.Y. Times termed this as "A theatrical field day."

It's good to be on the right track, but if you just sit there, you'll be run over.

Jo-Jo, Knoxville News-Sentinel

Scots and Soda

By Dave Marston

We've received several letters from angry grandmothers. They all want to know why nobody ever spends Thanksgiving Day at Grandmother's house anymore. This is a real coincidence, because rumor has it that our college administration is wondering why nobody ever spends Thanksgiving Day at Maryville College anymore. To help clarify this question, we publish the following results of a recent independent poll—everyone is entitled to at least one poll. This is dedicated to the grandmothers of our nation, from Maine to California. (Except New Jersey—people in New Jersey don't have grandmothers).

A hardy 38 percent of the student body will remain on campus. But some 56 percent will leave campus, and of this group, nearly 23 percent (bless 'em!) plan to go over the river and through the woods . . . to Grandmother's house. The remaining 6 percent preferred not to answer the poll, so their parents couldn't find out where they are.

While the above figures do not really represent a bumper year for grandmothers, they are, nevertheless, a healthy notch above last year's percentages. Unfortunately, it's been suggested in some quarters that these figures are also a very healthy notch above what they will be next year—we would certinly hope not. Speaking for our nation's grandmothers, and for everyone who believes in grandmothers, we think the four-day Thanksgiving vacation is the best thing since instant turkey stuffing.

And to grandmothers and administrators alike, we wish everyone a Happy (four-day) Thanksgiving — and many more to come.

Cherokees Led Organized Life

This is the second of two articles by reporter Sally Johnston about the background of this area, based on information shared with her by Edwin J. Best.

EEE OH WA! This is not a real Indian war cry. People in these parts stopped worrying about rampaging Indians back in 1794 when this county lost its first white man to the Cherokee. His name was John Ish, and he died when the town of Maryville was only eight years old.

Actually settlers here were relatively safe because the Cherokees were a peaceful tribe. Except for killing a few white men here and there and annihilating one other tribe, the Cherokees managed to amuse themselves with hunting, trapping, trading and farming.

The one tribe they did wipe out was the Yuchi, who, besides the Cherokees, were the only Indians in the area seen by white men. The Cherokees usually pushed out their enemies instead of killing them.

War Path Crosses Wilkinson Road

For defensive purposes they had an organized system of war parties and war trails. A major trail, which ran from Alabama, where the enemy Creeks lived, to Virginia, crosses Wilkinson Road, a continuation of Court Street.

Indians didn't live along the war trails, preferring the rivers; however, not only war parties but entire village traveled the trails, some of which ran for three or four hundred miles. One prisoner was carted from Tennessee to Florida and back again.

Cherokees had organized government as well as organized hunting and war parties. They divided the tribe into clans with membership on a matriarchal basis. For this reason the women enjoyed a pretty high status—more than the pioneer white women who lived rugged lives in the Tennessee wilds.

"Chote" Offered Refuge

The Cherokees were not a democracy—what the chief said was law—but they did have a system in which the underdog, if he was lucky, could excape immediate death for his crimes. A town called "Chote," near Maryville, on the banks of the Tennessee River, was known as a city or refuge.

All clans respected the code of this city. If an outlaw managed to get to Chote, its people would care for him and protect him from his enemy for a year. At the end of that time he had to leave to do the best he could on his own. Thus Chote wasn't a penal colony, but almost a sacred city. Its protection might be likened to the sanctuary of churches in former times.

Although the Cherokees had united and developed their civilization fairly well, they were quick to adopt the ways of the white man and today most of the Cherokee civilization is dead or has been absorbed by the white man's culture. They have left their mark, however, in place names such as "Tennessee," and a remnant of their culture remains at the Cherokee Reservation in North Carolina.

THE

BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES

*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

*CHECK ACCOUNTS

*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS

*TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

SEE

City Drug Company

Downtown

for

HALLMARK CHRISTMAS CARDS

U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

WAYNE SIMMONS

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!

TIP TOP BARBER SHOP

105 Church St. Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop Open 6 Days a Week

FROM THE PRESSBOX

by

Todd Owers

Forget the others. Forget Mars Hill, Centre and Georgetown: forget about Emory and Henry, Southwestern and Hanover. Yes, forget all about Millsaps too. Past games mean nothing tonight — this is THE game of the year.

Remember four years ago. November of 1959 it was, and Carson-Newman came to town heavily favored. Late that freezing night they left for home, victims of a 14-12 shocking defeat they could not quite make themselves believe had really taken place. Everything had seemed so sure! Maryville was a cinch, the game was in the bag.

Her eyes were like the windows of a roofless house.
Waddell, Peter Abelard

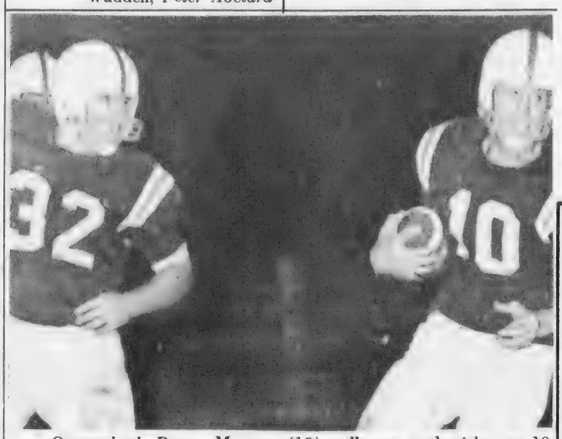
Remember though — past games mean nothing tonight. Remember this too: the Carson-Newman Eagles are going to be tough with a capital "T". Everybody agrees on this point, the only unanswered question seems to be, "How tough?" We don't know, but Coach Baird and the team have a good idea.

Last Saturday night this Maryville athletic contingent journeyed to Jefferson City for a scouting session. Carson-Newman was taking on highly-favored Mississippi College and the general consensus of opinion seemed to be that the Eagles were stepping far out of their class in playing this formidable opponent. Nobody really gave them much of a chance — they took the field a solid, several-touchdown underdog.



So what happened? Not much — the Eagles just dominated the first half completely and then fought a furious defensive battle in the second half to pull off the coolest 9-6 shocker these parts have seen since Tennessee knocked off the nation's number one team four years ago, Louisiana State University.

When Carson-Newman comes knocking on the touchdown door tonight our team will be quite aware of their calling card credentials. Two weeks of practice, countless hours spent studying movies of the Eagles offense and defense, and an actual first-hand look at their team has taken care of this very well.

Campus spirit runs high and will reach a feverish pitch just before kickoff time. For the fan, there is nothing quite like a Carson-Newman football game to stir the emotions.

Carson-Newman and Maryville invariably play a whale of a game each time they meet on opposite sides of the athletic field. The experts have even seemed a bit reticent in making predictions about the outcome of this final season classic of the year, the issue has been that much in doubt. This rivalry existing between the two schools is one of the oldest, richest, and most colorful in East Tennessee, dating back to the year 1924. The series now stands at 18-17 in favor of our arch-rivals to the north. Last year saw a heartbreaker; we lost a 29-22 cliffhanger and need a victory tonight to get even again.

For seniors Pete Stafford, Ron Lingenfelter, and Jim Renfro the memory of this defeat last year still rankles. They appear for the last time in a Maryville uniform tonight; and above all others, seek the victory we all seek tonight. For the student body as a whole, there are just two things to keep in mind about tonight's game: first of all, these three seniors along with the entire Maryville team and coaching staff will be giving their all out there on that field. They want to win just as badly as you do, for a victory tonight will make it possible for us to claim our season as an unqualified success, and this is the second point to keep in mind as you cheer your team tonight.

Quarterback Benny Monroe (10) rolls out and picks up 10 yards on this play against Millsaps two weeks ago. That's Ken Berry (32) blocking for him. This play is an exact replica of the one which won the game for the Scots as Monroe pitched back to Berry who then lateralled to McClanahan who went all the way down the sidelines for the touchdown. Photo — Courtesy of Maryville Times

Freak Play Wins It

Scots Stun Millsaps

Yes, and it was a terrific ball game from start to finish as the Highlanders of Maryville College played their best game of the year against a strong Millsaps squad from Jackson, Mississippi. The game began with each team gearing their attack to a cautious, conservative style of play which was designed primarily for making a break, and then capitalizing on it. The game developed into a kicking duel and as it turned out, it was a kick that put the first three points on the scoreboard as Millsaps drove to the 25 yard line and scored on a field goal with 12:24 left to play in the first half.

Quarterback Benny Monroe elected to play a conservative, powerful ground game, hoping to grind out an early touchdown or two. For a time, it appeared that this strategy might backfire because Maryville fumbled several times on crucial plays. Ken Berry proved to be the powerful workhorse, the cog in the Scot backfield who drew the most assignments with the pigskin. Several times he carried the ball three and four times in a row and rarely, if ever, was thrown for a loss.

Approximately two minutes after the Millsaps field goal, Maryville scored the first touchdown of the game, on a play that still makes the fans hoarse just thinking about it. It was a spectacular play, one of those you see just once a season. It caught Millsaps completely off guard at the time, but it is a safe bet that by this time it has found its way into their playbook.

Oddly enough, this play was pulled off beautifully and yet it went completely unrehearsed. Quarterback Benny Monroe took the ball and pitched back to fullback Ken Berry. Monroe however, in his haste, had pitched to the wrong man—he should have delayed a split second longer and then pitched back to his left halfback Roland McClanahan who was coming across fast. The surprised Berry took the ball and started running with it with McClanahan trailing him about five yards behind. On the Millsaps 30 yard line Berry was about to be hemmed in by several would-be tacklers and just at the right instant, lateralled back to McClanahan who took the ball without breaking stride and twisted his way through a broken field, all the way across that last white line for the first touchdown of the game. The Maryville stands were in hysterics as Jim Renfro calmly booted the ball through the uprights for the extra point.

An unrehearsed play that scored a touchdown—Millsaps fans would have called it a freak play but as the football gods have decreed it, freak plays sometimes win football games.

Throughout the second half Millsaps threatened to come back with a score and forge into the lead but each time they were stopped in their tracks by the strong Highlander defense, and had to give the ball up on downs. Several times they drove all the way inside the Maryville 10-yard line, only to find their attack stymied by the Scot forward wall. Charlie Thomas was the standout on defense, making eleven tackles.

Maryville broke the game wide open late in the second half when quarterback Monroe gave to his right halfback Donnie Phelps on a power sweep around the left end. Phelps had two blockers in front of him and raced 38 yards for the touchdown without a Millsaps hand being laid on him. With only 47 seconds remaining on the clock Jim Renfro again kicked the extra point.

Prudhon stars; Warren Wilson Here Today!

SLICK BALL HANDLING WINS FOR SCOTS

By Phil Jerome

The shooting, passing, and scoring of Red Prudhon led the Maryville College soccer team to a sound 6 to 0 defeat of Oglethorpe University in the game played here last Saturday.

Prudhon, The Scotties' strong center halfback, was the main cog in the offensive show put on by the Maryville squad. His performance was the outstanding single job turned in during the Scots' nearly completed season. Prudhon's fine play was marked by the "hat trick" — the feat of scoring three goals in one game. Each of the goals was an individual accomplishment. On all three occasions, the red-headed star dribbled the ball through the entire Oglethorpe defense and scored unassisted. Prudhon's concentration on offense left the greater share of the halfback's defensive duties to Bill Ward and Bill Weissenburger. Ward, playing his usual top defensive game, and Weissenburger, turning in the finest game of his college career, handled Oglethorpe's offensive attempts with neither respect nor gentleness.

Maryville started strongly. Within eight minutes of the kick-off, they held a three to nothing lead over the visitors from Oglethorpe. Bill Nalasitt, the center forward, opened the scoring for Maryville. Prudhon's cross from the corner was cleared by the fullback. John Deran, playing his first game as the starting right wing, retrieved the ball and passed it into the cluster of players around the goal. Adam Baveny and Malasitt were waiting. Malasitt's kick ws slightly quicker than Deveney's and Maryville had a 1 to 0 lead. The goal was the third of the season for Malasitt. Immediately after Ogle-

Continued on Page 5, Col. 3 & 4

Candy for THANKSGIVING

To top off your Thanksgiving feast . . . or to express thanks to your favorite hostess . . . the best choice you can make is a box of delicious assorted candy from our WIDE SELECTION OF . .

Whitman's, Bell-Camp, and Pangburn's!

Byrne Drug Company

WE RENT TO COLLEGE STUDENTS AND SERVICE PERSONNEL

$5 PER 24 HOUR DAY * 5¢ PER MILE

RENTS SHINY, NEW AUTOMOBILES THROUGH THE BUDGET RENT-A-CAR SYSTEM

RENT NEW CARS AND SAVE UP TO 40%!

$5 24 HR. DAY

5¢ PER MILE

Brand new Corvair Monzas, Chevy II and Chevrolet Impalas at low rates. Rent a car the BUDGET Way, less per mile, less per day. You buy only the gas you need.*

We Feature Free Hotel and Airport Pickup and Delivery Service.

Phone 982-2702

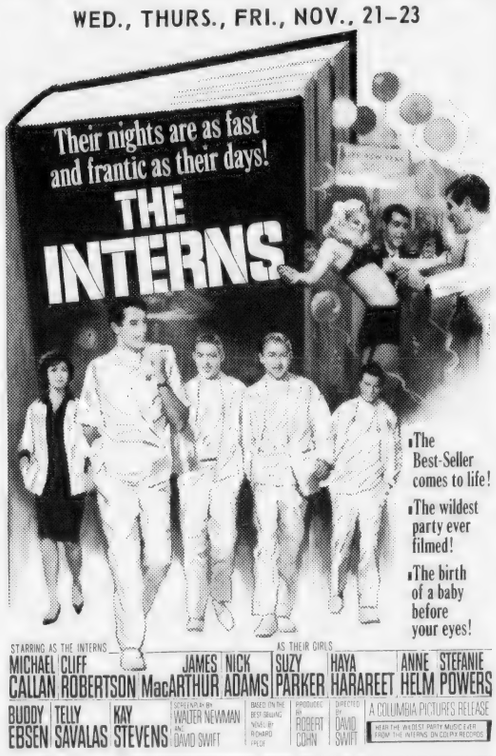
FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR

Southern Shoes

Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.

116 West Broadway

CAPITOL THEATRE



SUN., MON., TUES., NOV. 18–20

COLUMBIA PICTURES presents A FRED KOHLMAR–RICHARD QUINE PRODUCTION with LIONEL JEFFRIES • ESTELLE WINWOOD • Screenplay by LARRY GELBART and BLAKE EDWARDS • Based on a story by MARGERY SHARP

Produced by FRED KOHLMAR • Directed by RICHARD QUINE

WED., THURS., FRI., NOV., 21–23

November 25–27
WHITE CHRISTMAS
BING CROSBY GRACE KELLY

WED., THURS., NOV. 28–29

SLICK BALL HANDLING Cont'd. from Page 4

thorpe had kicked-off, Red Prudhon gained possession of the ball. He dribbled through the left fullback, shot, and scored Maryville's second goal. As soon as Oglethorpe had kicked off, Prudhon repeated the same process. Gaining possesion of the ball, he once again dribbled around the left fullback, and scored again. With a three goal lead and apparently able to score at will, Kirk Copeland pulled many of the members off the starting line. The substitutes kept the pressure on, but were unable to notch another score. The quarter ended with Maryville still ahead by three goals.

As the second quarter started, the first string line was reinserted. Due to the lack of pressure, the Scots tended to relax slightly. Nevertheless, they still managed to put through another goal. John Vordonis, the senior fullback from Greece, abandoned his position to carry the ball deep into the Oglethorpe sector. Vordonis' pass found Harry Repsher in the open. Repsher took the ball right up the center. His strong shot left the Petrole's goalie helpless. Maryville now had a 4 to 0 lead; and co-captain Repsher had his first goal of the season. This tally was the last in the first half.

In the second half the Scot's came up with two more scores. In the third Phil Jerome notched his first goal of the season. Jerome, gunning for a score after failing to convert one of Prudhon's passes in the first half, took a pass from Sonny Hughes in front of the Oglethorpe goal. His shot from fifteen feet out traveled past the Oglethorpe goalie unapprehended. The goal was the fifth of the game for Maryville.

One last tally was left. With five minutes of the game to be played, Kirk Copeland once again put in the entire first team with hopes of helping Prudhon get his "hat trick." As it turned out, Prudhon didn't need any help. In much the same manner as his previous two goals, he found the left fullback slot to his liking. His shot went through the lower left hand corner. Minutes later the game ended.

The game was Maryville's finest display of offense this year. Their goal output doubled the number of scores in the first four games of the season.

This afternoon the class of competition rises considerably as Maryville takes on Warren Wilson — one of the top soccer teams in the country. Warren Wilson has always been the chief rival of the Maryville squad. The Owls' defeated the Scots' earlier in the year with a flurry of goals in the closing minutes. However, the improvement in the play and physical condition of the Maryville team has seen a marked increase in recent weeks. A victory would give the Scots a 3-3 season record which is remarkable in light of the top flight competition the soccer team schedules. The game will be the last for seven graduating seniors. In addition to co-captain Scott Bucher, the team will lose Bill Ward, Bill Weissenburger, and John Vordonis from their strong defensive unit. Sam Walters, Sing Changtrakul, and Art Ihrig will also be seeing their last service with the Scots.

Bandits Down Knights

An enthusiastic group of young men who call themselves the Bandits started the second half of intramural football by showing the Knights that they too could play ball. The Bandits, along with a lot of hard playing and team spirit, downed the Knights 19-13. However, the Knights earned themselves a first place position for the first half of the season. But seeing how the second half has started out, the race for the championship trophy will be a close one. And it is very obvious that each team will be doing its best in every game. According to Gene Smith, Intramural Manager, the rest of the games may go a little slower due to the fact that they will be using only one field now. The baseball field which was being used is being torn up and readied for this spring's use. However the regular schedule will be followed as close as possible. Each team is urged to be on the field with their officials and ready to play on time.

All of the teams have completed their games for the first half with the exception of the Independents, who have withdrawn from competition because of a loss of players. Here is the final tabulation of the first half standings:

	W	L	T
KNIGHTS	8	0	1
BANDITS	7	1	0
SLEDGEHAMMERS	5	3	0
HAMMERS	4	3	1
MAGNIFICENTS	4	4	0
DARDANIANS	1	4	0
BALL PEEN HAMMERS	1	5	0
DUKES	1	5	1

DEMOCRATS TRIUMPH Cont'd. from Page 3

gubernatorial race but his margin was less than expected. This lowered margin is sure to slow down his presidential drive.

Ted Kennedy became the first man to hold a seat in Congress while a brother was President. Because the newly-elected Massachusetts Senator is filling an unexpired term, he can be sworn in as soon as he obtains the official certificate of election.

Thruston Morton is the first Republican Senator from Kentucky to win two consecutive terms. He ran solely on his record while his opponent, Lieutenant-governor Wilson Wyatt, ran on President Kennedy's name.

Everett Dirksen won in Illinois by a post-midnight splurge of votes. The Senate Republican Leader beat a fellow Chicagan, but most of Dirksen's votes came from the southern part of the state.

Birch Bayh won in a major political upset in Indiana. Veteran Republican Senator Homer Capehart lost by a few thousand votes. He had served in the Senate for eighteen years.

". . . the end of the human race will be that it will eventually die of civilization."

Emerson

LIBRARY DISPLAYS Cont'd. from Page 1

Two private publishing houses have placed one winner each for the second year in succession: the Ashantilly Press in Darien, Ga., owned by W. G. Haynes, Jr., and Jack D. Rittenhouse's Stagecoach Press in Houston. The only religious publisher to achieve recognition is the John Knox Press in Richmond.

The judges selected The Annuals of Murder and New Mexico Civil War Bibliography as two examples of design in which the publisher is exceptionally successful in conveying the ideas of the author to the reader. "Each design," commented the judges, "took the author's work and, with the reader in mind, presented that work in a pleasing, fully readable way."

WGAP CAMPUS MIKE
Voice of Maryville College
Sunday Evening
9:30-10:00

Save $$$'s on School Supplies
For Students Only
WHITE SCHOOL SUPPLY CO-OP
Enroll now for early Savings!
Call or come in for details
White Office Machines
Corner Broadway at College
PHONE 983-4762
WON'T WRITE? CALL WHITE
PARK FREE at Rear of Bldg.

Maryville College
STUDENT CENTER
proudly serves
FULLER LOCKER PLANT
Hamburgers
★
Hot Dogs

PET DAIRY
ICE CREAM
★
MILK
"Fresh from the Dairy"

Mease Aids Peace

MC Grad in Cyprus with Peace Corps

Swimming . . . sightseeing. . . exploring old castles . . . mountain climbing . . . inspecting terraces.

Larry Mease (Maryville '62) is enjoying all this in the Peace Corps on the Mediterranean Isle of Cyprus, where he flew early in September with other corpsmen.

Studies Greek

He studied the Greek language four hours a morning, living at his teacher's house. Afternoons were spent in Cypriot siestas to avoid the extreme heat. In the evening the volunteers attended parties given by the American Embassy personnel and met dignitaries such as President Makarios.

Mr. Mease and his companions spent their free time taking bicycle tours of Cyprus. A typical visit was to Kyrinia, on the Mediterranean Sea. In a recent letter to his sister Shirley, he writes, "We rode around, explored an old castle, and went swimming . . . met some Greek fellows our age who play soccer and speak English, like everybody else does around here. They had a tent along the ocean, so after we helped them push their boat on shore, we helped them eat watermelon, and shot the bull until late at night. Then we unrolled our blankets on an old marble floor in a building and slept . . ."

He also explored Nicosia, the capital. "Nicosia is much like the U. S. . . . The only difference is that it is a giant mixer churning the old and the new together . . . There are many beautiful new buildings . . . The old city inside the wall is a very interesting array of narrow streets, shops, people bicycles and cars continuously moving and loudly honking horns."

After a month of studying, Mr. Mease was assigned to terrace inspection around the little village of Polystipos, high in the mountains above Nicosia. "Every day we go around to different villages and measure terraces that a farmer has built with rocks by hand on the steep mountain to cultivate in grapes or fruit trees. The government pays a subsidy for any conservation work done, so we have to inspect it . . . we are continually walking and climbing mountains.

Describes Village

"One difficulty I have is language . . . the local mountain dialects, which are different from what I learned in training.

"Let me explain what a typical mountain village is like. It is always very small—never over five hundred (very large)—and very poor, but it is always nestled in a ravine running down the mountainside with a wonderful view . . . There is one narrow main street with one or two coffee shops, a co-op store, some small shabby homes with a nice one here and there, and one or two places to get water. The rest of the village is one or two small streets with more small homes. Inside the homes are remarkably clean . . . usually consisting of four to six small rooms, with no bathing or toilet facilities. The toilet consists of only a small hole in a small building outside.

"The life of the farmer is very simple. He owns one or two donkeys, and right now he and his wife—mostly his wife—take the donkey to the fields every morning and load it with baskets full of grapes . . . the women do a lot of the work and they look very old at a young age. The people here love to talk, and so they do so continuously—mostly at a coffee shop late in the afternoon and night—only the men. They sit around playing cards . . . and drinking Turkish coffee—very strong."

KC and MC Exchange This Week-end

This week-end an exchange with Knoxville College is in progress. The exchange usually involves eight students — four men and four women — from Maryville and Knoxville, who swap rooms, places in the dining hall, classes, and campus life in general for a period of two and a quarter days. The week-ends begin at 4:30 P.M. on Friday and end at 8:00 P.M. on Sunday. Transportation to and from Knoxville is provided. Maryville students receive half-cuts for any classes they miss on Saturday morning.

The exchanges under the sponsorship of the Y Human Relations Commission at Maryville and the Student Council at Knoxville are held once a month and are open to all interested students.

This program started approximately four years ago at Athens, Ohio, where students from this college and K.C. met, while attending an international conference of Christian students. Discussions between the Maryvillites and K. C.-ites led to suggestions that gave impetus for what Maryville students now know as the Knoxville College exchange.

The students felt a need for more contact between the two schools, since they are both Presbyterian-related have equivalent enrollments, and are separated by only fifteen miles. They also believed that greater contact could aid in increasing inter-racial understanding, since it would give students of both races the opportunity to meet others of comparable educational background on an informal basis.

WALGREEN

VITAMIN SALE

Nov. 14th thru Nov. 30th

Save 20% TO 50%

Over 100 Formulas on Sale!

PARK DRUG STORE

106 E. Broadway — — Dial 982-1070

YOUR WALGREEN AGENCY

CUT OUT AND SAVE — TELL YOUR NEIGHBORS TO LISTEN

SUGGESTED RADIO PROGRAMS FOR THINKING AMERICANS

"LIFE LINE	WGAP	1400 KC	DAILY	6:45 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WKXV	900 KC	MONDAY	5:45 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:45 P.M.
CHURCH LEAGUE OF AMERICA	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:30 P.M.
20th CENTURY REFORMATION	WKXV	900 KC	MON.-FRI.	7:45 A.M.
CITIZENS COUNCIL	WGAP	1400 KC	THURS.	6:00 P.M.
INDEPENDENT AMERICAN	WKXV	900 KC	FRIDAY	5:45 P.M.
DR. KERSHNER	WGAP	1400 KC	WED.	6:00 P.M

(Education for Americaism Inc. P. O. Box 255 Maryville, Tenn.)

HEAR — On WGAP (1400) 1:00 P.M., Sunday, NOVEMBER 18th.

DR. CARL McINTIRE

Speak On

"THE COMMUNIST USE & EXPLOITATION OF RELIGION IN THE COLD WAR"

This is a delayed broadcast of a lecture at Knoxville Civic Auditorium

C. C. Moore's SHOEMAKER'S

It's warm up time

BIG SHOE SALE
Continues for Men and Women!

C. C. MOORE'S
SHOEMAKERS SHOE STORE
Maryville's Good Shoe Store

....gym....tumble....
flip...flop...lug...tug
push...jump...leap...
...chin...lift...pull...
...run...puff puff...
pause

take a break...things go better with Coke

Bottled under the authority of The Coca-Cola Company by: RODDY MANUFACTURING COMPANY

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 48 | Maryville, Tennessee, December 8, 1962 | No. 6

Dramatists Experiment On January 18

"Portraits in Greasepaint," an experimental presentation by the Maryville College Theater, will take place on the evening of January 18, 1963. There will be no set or props and only a "suggestion of costume," says Thomas E. Jones, director of the show. The performing actors are students in dramatic classes this semester.

The production is divided into four sections: Improvisation, which exemplifies original pantomime technique; Classical Theater; Modern Theater; and Theater of the Future. The main emphasis of the show is on both acting and theatrical technique.

Joyce Koch, Vocalist, Gives Junior Recital

Joyce Koch, voice major from Hagerstown, Maryland ,will give her junior recital at 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday, January 15, in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center.

She will sing "Lucingbe Piu Care" from Handel's "Alessandro"; Strauss Opus 17, nos. 1, 2, 3, and 5; and Wagner's "Der Manner Sippe" from "Die Walkure." Miss Koch studies under Dan H. Kinsinger. Her accompanist in the recital will be Thomas Llewellyn.

Fifteen Seniors In "Who's Who"

Left to Right — Front Row: Kuykendall, Mikael, Slater, Herring, Jones, S., Back Row: Ward, Bucher, Jones, L., Harrison, Tepper, Hampton, Elliott, Mahley. Not pictured Gossweiler, Garrett.

Fifteen Maryville College seniors will apear in the 1963 Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. This publication provides a reference for business firms and other employers.

The honored students are George Scott Bucher, mathematics major from Petchaburi, Thailand; Paul Cherry Elliott, drama major from Nashville; Michael David Garrett, history major from Monett, Missouri; Richard Carl Gossweiler, history major from Verona, New Jersey; Ann Harrison, English major from Knoxville; Wade Stuart Hampton, art major from Bloomfield, New Jersey; Mary Lynn Herring, English major from Bartow, Florida; Lois Ann Jones, Christian education major from College Park, Maryland; Sharon Lambert Jones, music education major from St. Albans, West Virginia; Ann Rebecca Kuykendall, elementary education major from Memphis; Robert William Mahley, pre-medical biology major from Lake Worth, Florida; Judith Elaine Mikeal, history from Carbon, West Virginia; Mildred Arlene Slater, English major from Norristown, Pennsylvania; Phyllis Ann Tepper, elementary education major from Bloomington, Illinois; and William Frederick Ward, biology major from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

The four national qualifications for election to "Who's Who" include excellence and sincerity in scholarship, leadership and participation in extracurricular and academic activities, citizenship and service to the college, and promise of future success in business and society.

All senior students, faculty members, and administrative officers could participate in the selection. Each of them voted for thirteen candidates from the upper third of the graduating class. The Dean of the college and the Student Body President tabulated the final list.

Chorus of 270 To Perform In "Messiah"

Two hundred and seventy vocalists from both the college and neighboring community will present the Thirtieth Annual "Messiah" Program on December 9. Appearing at 3 o'clock p.m. in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel and singing under the direction of Dr. Harry Harter, the chorus will be accompanied by the College-Community Orchestra.

Men soloists will be David Evans, Kent Fortenberry, Michael Garrett, Bruce Jenkins, Dan Kinsinger, and John Spangler. Women performing solos include Carol Cooper, Mrs. Suzanne Taylor, Sarah Tompkins, Joyce Koch, Jean Dorscheid, Martha Hall, and Barbara McCarter.

Other faculty members participating will be James Bloy, organist; Kent Perry, violinist: Linda Wagner Perry and Sallie Warth Schoen, pianists; and John Roberts, director of the orchestra.

Art Students' Exhibit Opens On January 10

On Thursday, January 10, a reception will mark the formal opening of the Student Art Exhibition, which will last through January 26. Displayed in the art gallery of the Fine Arts Center, representative works of art students will include ceramics, designs, life drawings, collages, water colors, and oils.

William H. Swenson, head of the art department, and Miss Barbara Mueller, instructor, stress that all students, faculty, and townspeople are welcome to see the exhibit.

Also in January, the exact opening date not yet set, the showing of the works of senior art major Miss Sally Everett will be in the lobby of the theatre, at the same time as playhouse production of "Tiger at the Gates."

Organist James Albert Bloy To Perform at Recital Friday

James Albert Bloy, organist and assistant professor of music, will present the third in the series of Maryville College faculty recitals at 8 p.m. Friday evening, December 14, in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center.

During his program Mr. Bloy will play selections from the compositions of Georg Muffat. Louis Claude Daquin, Theodore Dubois, Marcel Dupre, Felix Mendelssohn, Johann Sebastian Bach, and one of his own arrangements. He will perform Muffat's Toccata in C Minor; Daquin's Noel en trio et en dialogue; Dubois's Noel; Dupre's In dulci jubilo; Menedelssohn's Prelude and Fugue in D Minor, Op. 37, No. 3; Bach's Canonic Variations on "Vom Hummel hoch"; and his own Come, Thou Fount of evry Blessing, six variations and a fugue.

Mr. Bloy obtained a B. A. and . Mus. from North Central College in Chicago, Illinois and a Mus. M. from the Eastman School of Music in Rochester,

Mr. Bloy

New York. He is now working on his doctrine degree at the School of Sacred Music, Union Theological Seminary in New York City. Mr. Bloy has been on the Maryville College faculty since 1953.

Christmas Vespers Next Sunday

Leader of the 1962 Christmas vesper service, to be held at 6:45 p.m. in the Wilson Chapel on December 16, will be College President Joseph J. Copeland. Worshipping through Christmas music is the theme of the service.

Several instrumental and vocal groups at the college will present special musical selections throughout the service, in order to provide a seasonal variation from the regular worship pattern. Director of the Vesper Choir, Dr. Harry Harter, has pointed out that this service, in spite of the unusual amount of special music, is not meant to be a musical program, but a service of worship through Christmas music.

Drama Director Announces Cast For Next Production

Drama Director Thomas E. Jones has announced the casting results for the January 11 and 12 production of "Tiger at the Gates," written by Jean Giradoux and translated by Christopher Fry. The assistant director is Mary Gay Boettcher; performing the role of Andromache is Phyllis Weaver; Cassandra, Barbara McCarter; Laundress, Lois Grinstead; Hector, Barry Holden; Paris, Norman Marschner; Priam, James Taflinger; Demokos, Paul Elliott; Hecubu, Constance Williams; Mathematician, Dwight Campbell; Ladies in Waiting, Edith Clayton, Sharon English, and Carol Brown; Polyxene, Phyllis Evaul; Helen, Diane Eneboe; Messenger, E. Roger Thompson; Troilus, Charles Meeker; Abneos, Lewis Hoagland; Busiris, Thomas Llewellyn; Ajax, Charles Steele; Ulysses, Ben Carney; A Topman, Dale Fischbach; Olpides, Wayne Durham; Senator, Cleat Imhoff; Sailor, Robert Hutchinson.

The construction crew has been working on a "constructivism" set: a single unit consisting of fourteen acting levels, ramps, and a stepped elevation of twelve feet. Also featured is an additional stage area built from the center of the orchestra pit.

Costuming of the show is colorful and elaborate and will be done exclusively through the Theater Department. Under supervision of Mr. Jones, work has already begun on things such as armor, chiffon draped styles, plumed helmets and richly colored satin and taffeta cloaks for the actors.

Members of the lighting crew, headed by Ralph Tucker, are Alan Childs and Norma Singleton.

Is it a sin to be born a dreamer? But God, He must be a dreamer too, or how would we be on earth?

Eugene O'Neill

LINDA PERRY, FACULTY PIANIST, TO PRESENT RECITAL JANUARY 5

Linda Lou Wagner Perry, piano instructor at Maryville College for the first time this year, will present the fourth in the series of faculty recitals at 8 p.m. Saturday evening, January 5, 1963, in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center.

During her program Mrs. Perry will play selections from the compositions of Bach, Mozart, Debussy, and Brahms. She will perform Bach's Toccata in E Minor; Mozart's Sonata in B Major, K. 333; Debussy's Estampes; and Brahm's Variations and Fugue on a Theme by Handel. Op. 24.

Mrs. Perry, originally from Knoxville, is now in the process of completing a master of music degree at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois.

Mrs. Perry

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor in Chief
LYNN HERRING

Assistant Editor — CHARLOTTA COOK
News Editor — PATRICIA REHM
Feature Editor — ANN HARRISON
Art Editor — GRACE ROSSER
Sports Editors — TODD OWERS and JEANNE PRICE
Exchange Editor — GAIL GARLOCH
Business Manager — PAUL BIGGERS

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Sue Anne Blair, Elenora Easterly, Sue Foreman, John Gamble, Gail Garloch, Mary Janovich, Phil Jerome, Karen Keen, Libby Lee, Mildred Miles, Nelson Miller, Sherry Proffitt, Charlie Rowland, Helen Ryan, Jack Taylor, Celia Tiffany, Billy Wear.

CIRCULATION: Dave King, Bruce Bigart, Harold Cones, Ginna Coon, Victor Mellott

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR, MR. FRANK LAYMAN

From The Editor

Recently I have been impressed with the knowledge that a number of citizens in the Maryville community view with a jaundiced eye certain policies and convictions expressed by the administration and students of this college. Convictions are as powerful as they are individual; and the singularity and freedom of conscience and thought, so long as it is responsible, is a heritage which all American people covet and enjoy. The peoples of this world will never come to complete agreements and understandings with one another; but we are approaching that season when, more than any other time, we can set aside our political and national and social banners in order to recreate the wonder of that moment when Christ was born. For a little while, we pause to remember that our hearts are united through the Supreme Love which moved the Heart of our Lord. The college and community join in the religious emphasis on the Nativity which culminates in the presentation of Handel's Messiah.

To enter enthusiastically into the campus activities of the Advent season is to renew an appreciaion for the value of all individuals. The experience is unforgetable—tree-trimming parties in the dorms, Christmas Readings, Christmas carols, Christmas Vespers, the Messiah.

For the moment we capture something greater than ourselves; and while most of this renewed spirit vanishes with the passing season, perhaps a small part remains to make us better for it all. This hope is an idealism which we cannot afford to lose, for if we are to effect any peace in the world we must depend upon the power of love.

THE

BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES

*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

*CHECK ACCOUNTS

*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS

*TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

READING

Foxy

This month's Atlantic contains a delightful short story by a man from Humbolt, Tennessee (a small town near Memphis), Jesse Hill Ford. He writes in the traditional Southern manner—complete with trellis, long wooden porch, Grandma, and an old Negro servant.

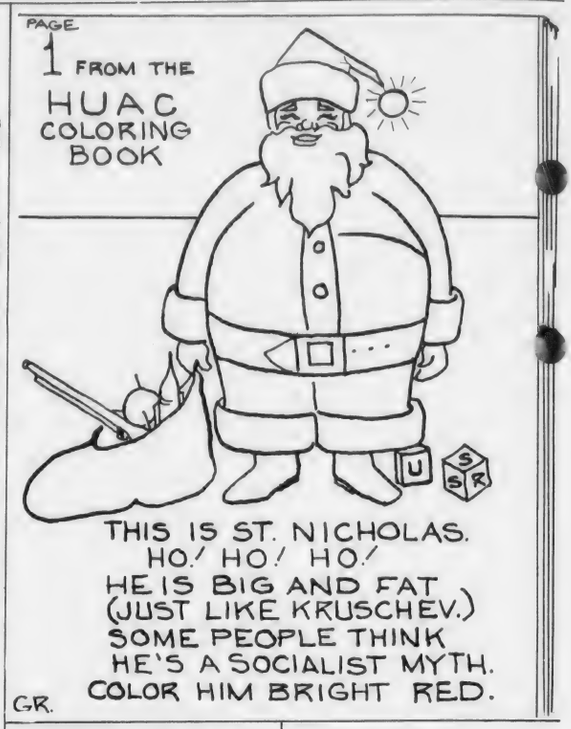
The story, "Foxy," tells about a little boy's fear when his uncle kids him about having his old dog Foxy put to sleep. This fear is unpleasant, but the story reaches a point of horror when the boy witnesses Foxy's natural preparations to die.

The real pleasure is not in the story itself, however, but in the creation of vivid impressions. It is written in the stream of consciousness style and the short, simple sentences and repetitions give a very real picture of the mind of a four-year-old boy. His impressions of life will bring memories to any reader. To him "Saturday was rain dripping off the eaves of the porch," and "silver polish was shoe polish was gasoline was all good things to smell—and turpentine," and "kidding went down inside and jerked the stomach."

Other characters also come alive, especially Uncle Dan, whose "skin is wrinkled, and the veins show through, black and dangerous, on the backs of his hands," and whom the boy calls "the devil, devil, devil," and the Negro servant, Governor, who warns the boy, "You can't call no mens the devil. You can't go around losin' your temper and callin' kinfolks the Bad Man."

—Mildred Miles

CURTAIN TIME



The Civic Auditorium in Knoxville will raise the curtain on several distinguished performances this coming week.

Tonight at 8:30 comedian Brother Dave Gardner makes a personal appearance.

Tomorrow at 7:30, the combined choirs of area Christian churches and the Johnson Bible College Choir, directed by Clark Rowland, will present "The Nativity," a Christmas cantata by Dr. James E. Dasher.

Another Christmas cantata, David Van Vactor's "The New Light," will be presented December 11 at 8:15 by the Knoxville Symphony Orchestra, with the Knoxville Choral Society, under the direction of Edward Frances and the boys' choir of the Church of the Ascension. Featured soloists are Norma Dean Smith as Mary and Edward Zambara as Gabriel. Also on the program are Handel's Concerto Gross No. 6 and Schumann's Symphony No. 4.

Helen Hayes and Maurice Evans appear Wednesday, December 12, at 8:15 P.M. in Shakspere's "A Program for Two Players."

Mrs. Mary L. Buchanan

She Flavors Food With Friendliness

One hamburger, all the way, served with simple charm and a ready laugh. That's what you're likely to get these days at the Student Center. The hamburger is the result of the expanded facilities of the Center this year, and the one with the ready laugh is Mrs. Mary L. Buchanan. She took charge of the grill this fall after working as an assistant to Miss Ware in the dining hall for two years.

In spite of working extra hours and never getting quite used to having her "eyes popped out" from a blaring juke box, Mrs. Buchanan maintains order and retains her pleasantness for the long hours she works. It is her humor and ready laugh that help her do both. She never lets the work disturb her composure, and her pleasantness makes any mistake or delay unimportant. Even when a sudden rush overwhelms the staff and confuses everyone else — on both sides of the counter, Mrs. Buchanan works on calmly and efficiently until the crowd is served.

Mrs. Buchanan's association with Maryville College goes back much further than the three years she's worked here. She has lived in Maryville almost all of her life and has known both the college students who went here and the personnel. Several members of her family have graduated from Maryville at the time when high school and college diplomas were given. Her husband was associated with the College for many years.

Hope Fund Helps Korean Hospital

This fall the Presbyterian Hospital in Taegu, Korea has been able, thanks to Maryville College students, to greatly expand its medical and evangelical services. Last year's Fred Hope Fund helped buy a medical mobile unit for this hospital. The unit will enable a team of doctors and evangelists to be on the road continuously, ministering to a province of some four million people.

The Fred Hope Fund is an annual project of Maryville College to raise money for some missionary enterprise. Dr. Howard Moffett, director of the Taegu Hospital, spoke here to initiate the drive last year. After he spoke of the need for this mobile unit the students responded by pledging $1,645. Though only $1,465 was collected in pledges, special projects added $612 to the Fund to total slighty over $2,000.

In August a letter addressed to all students and faculty came from the Commission on Ecumenical Missions and Relations of the Presbyterian Church. It contained this message: "Please convey to the students and faculty our grateful thanks for this token of their concern for the welfare of others throughout the world. The gift has been credited to the mobile medical unit, Taegu Hospital, Taegu, Korea.

"You will be happy to know that a recent letter from the Howard Moffetts informs us that clinic is already on its way to Korea and all arrangements are made for entry permits and Transportation through Church World Service. Your contribution has helped to make this possible.

"May I express our gratitude to Maryville College for this splendid presentation and for its years of service, not only to the Commission, but to the Presbyterian Church as a whole.

A spokesman for the Hope Fund board says, "Though last year's project is long past in our minds, it is just becoming meaningful to those to whom it was directed. As you know, plans are now under way for this year's project with the hope there will be enthusiastic interest in the chosen objective and generous response to the need it presents."

CUT OUT AND SAVE — TELL YOUR NEIGHBORS TO LISTEN

SUGGESTED RADIO PROGRAMS FOR THINKING AMERICANS

"LIFE LINE	WGAP	1400 KC	DAILY	6:45 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WKXV	900 KC	MONDAY	5:45 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:45 P.M.
CHURCH LEAGUE OF AMERICA	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:30 P.M.
20th CENTURY REFORMATION	WKXV	900 KC	MON.-FRI.	7:45 A.M.
CITIZENS COUNCIL	WGAP	1400 KC	THURS.	6:00 P.M.
INDEPENDENT AMERICAN	WKXV	900 KC	FRIDAY	5:45 P.M.
DR. KERSHNER	WGAP	1400 KC	WED.	6:00 P.M.

(Education for Americaism Inc. P. O. Box 255 Maryville, Tenn.)

Fugitive Pieces

By Gail Garloch

Since this is the Advent issue of the Echo, it is fitting that we turn our thoughts to the coming — of Santy Claus. While we are tucked snug in our wee little New Jersey beds with visions of sugar plums and other New Jersey commodities on our breath, Santy will pay his annual visit to a small pigeon covered campus in East Tennessee. Let us hope that Rudy's nose causes no general panic in the sleeping community. The red-suited, red-nosed, red-eyed figure suppresses a "ho" as his magic sleigh draws near the yellow, white and blue roofs of Maryville. Dasher and Dandruff shift into second and prepare for a landing on Pearson's roof, their first stop on the hill. I have often thought it a miracle that little St. Nick diminutive from being which?) drives only nine reindeer, for one more would make it illegal for the goody-laden group to embark on the top of Pearson's hall. Disengaging himself from the cockpit, the jolly saint ties his chariot to the west fire escape, steps to the chimney and presses the down button. He fills the blue stockings by the fireplace with multitudes of dyed oranges from the depths of his sooty pillowcase. Grateful for the celery and carrot sticks that have been left for the reindeer's breakfast, he places them in his sack, and up the chimney he rises, rose, rather blew, laying a finger aside of his shoe and all the other 1962 kind of thing.

From Memorial where he leaves a neon sign for the porch to Fayerweather where his coursers champ the ivy while he waters the indoor plants, to Anderson where he pauses to ring out the wild bells on Christmas day, Santy moves with stealth and good cheer. His red suit is covered with orange and garnet soot as he exhaustedly climbs into his sleigh, and, as his train moves toward the stillness of the frosty stars, the angelic background music of "Peace on Earth," is broken only by Santa's own hoarsely whispered conclusion, "To men of good will."

X B's Full Program Keeps Pledges Busy

For their Thanksgiving project, the chapters of Chi Beta co-operated to fill four baskets of food for a needy family. They are now collecting clothes to give to the less fortunate at Christmas. Pledges mend and wash them. Anyone who has anything to contribute is urged to see a member.

Pledges are keeping busy on other fronts as well, as they will show tonight at the pledge show. Talent scouts, be there!

LETTERS

Student Calls For More Than 'Nervous Tolerance'

Dear Editor,

One of the vital concerns of students is the Christian Faith and its implications for each person. It might be said that there are few, if any, instances of religious conflict here at Maryville However, while one rarely sees witches burning anymore, he may feel that our spirit of respect for the ideas of others is often little more than, than what one writer has called "nervous tolerance." Of course theological labels are often misleading, but they do serve as guides. The fact that campus theological opinion ranges frow the fundamental to the agnostic is not in itself unhealthy. However, as one who is well aware of the pot and Kettle, it appears that in many cases there could be greater understanding between students of differing approaches to our Lord and His Church Universal.

What can be done by individuals? Is the reverent agnostic—many thoughtful and intellegent ones are here—and the person who sincerely believes in every word in the Bible really different from each other? If so or if not, let us examine our own thoughts and those of others, so that in the recognition that there is one Father of us all we may achieve genuine understanding. Let each person do his best in word, prayer and act to carry on whatever wholesome dialogue he may see around him. Unless one is willing to do this in the name of God and of common humanity then perhaps misunderstanding and the result of it, which is hate, may plague the campus, as it appears to be plaguing the entire planet. Students who are planning to enter "full-time" Christian vocations should be in the frontlines of dialogues or whatever might result, but this in no way implies that all college community are not also responsible.

Richard Norman

KC Exchange Questioned

To the Editor:

For several years I have been observing the Knoxville College weekend exchanges on our campus, and it seems to me that they have lasted beyond their proposed usefulness to the students of either campus, except perhaps for the few individuals who may enjoy a change of scene for a few days. Our Knoxville Col-

Cont'd next Col.

MUSE TEN

Christmas

A bright East star
Had led the way
To a stable door
And the smell of hay.
The brisk night air
Had welcomed them
To the manger-bed
Where our Saviour lay
—On the very first Christmas.

Now we recall
By candlelight
The splendor of
That wondrous night
And hallow it with Gift and hymn
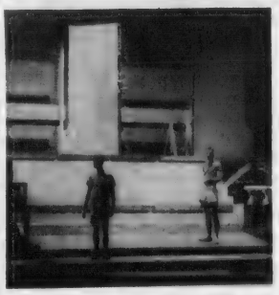
And share our joy
With friends and kin
—On this year's Christmas.

David Powell

lege guests and their hosts remain within this circle, giving the rest of the campus little opportunity to "(increase) interracial understanding" or "meet others of comparable educational background on an informal basis." (I quote from the Highland Echo, Nov. 17, 1962)

With regard to the first cited purpose, there seems to be little lack of inter-racial understanding among the students on campus, and the few individuals who are less than tolerant manage to avoid the guests. Too, animosity in the community is provoked by these exchanges as there do exist in Maryville certain churches, restaurants and other places of business where our Negro guests are not ye. accepted as equals, and some of the townspeople resent the superior attitude of the student hosts and hostesses. Certainly I am against any form of racial discrimination, but it seems to me that the presence together of a white Maryville student from the North and his Knoxville college guest in one of the less tolerant establishments in the community drives the hope of complete racial equality in Maryville even farther into the future.



The second cited purpose, for the few participating individuals, is fulfilled. But because our guests are here for such a short time and because despite the similarities, our college situations, backgrounds, and interests differ from theirs in many respects, there seems to be little constructive communication on the campus-wide level. The visitors are no more accepted in the dormitory and the dining hall than is the imported boy-friend or girl-friend of one of our own students.

There are a number of schools in the area, indeed most of our rivals in intercollegiate athletics, where the students have backgrounds similar to our own. It would perhaps be more constructive, certainly less destructive in terms of our relationship with the community in which we live, to include in our exchange program such schools as Carson-Newman, Tennessee Wesleyan, Hiwassee and even U.T. Our attitudes toward individuals of other races are not the only ones in need of improvement. By limiting ourselves to sharing with just one school, we are losing, in addition to much support from the town of Maryville, an opportunity to gain insight from the students of the above colleges in the fields of student government, student organizations, publications, etc. We have, I think, yielded to a cause for its own sake, without considering, first, whether there is really any kind of need; second, assuming a need, the practical values of our goal and our means; and third, the other possibilities for increasing understanding on a larger scale.

—Gail Garloch

SEEN . . .

. . . AND HEARD

You don't realize how unreal reality really is . . . blanche of nef or nuit d'amour . . . coffee all night . . . limbo went the way of aching legs . . . chairs, to take a shower? . . . coffee all night . . . and did you rest well over the vacation . . . maybe they all won't come back . . . WASP . . . Highlander what? . . . rent-a-car . . . there's a what in the smoking lounge . . . they never told us how to untie a rope ladder . . . dum-dum-da-dum . . . his guppies died . . . and what's this about frozen Black Mollies . . . I am the true wine . . . you don't sit around and think; if you're thinking you don't sit around . . . Chi Beta—oh yes, how grand! . . . which Paul—Elliott or Saint...one thing they don't seem to teach in seminary is birth control . . . it's not likely to take a die-in or even a lie-in for the hospitals . . . and there's more to life than living on Mockingbird Lane . . . He sits on the edge of the rocking chair so his feet will touch the floor.

Watch the next ECHO for a new column by Dave Marston

Off the Cuff

By Dave King

As you've undoubtedly noticed if you're a regular user of your Maryville College Activities Calendar published by Your Student Council in Cooperation with Maryville Merchants, there are but twelve grueling days until the exodus from Chilhowee's lofty mountains begins. The New Jersey Highway Patrol has been alerted and will add emergency units to handle the influx.

Yes, it's again time to consider what to buy for whom that looks expensive but isn't. Each year those creative souls on Madison Ave. flood the stores with all manner of fancy gimcracks designed solely to separate the customer and his money. And that fifty-five cents per hour is hard enough to come by without some scheming merchant pocketing it. Therefore we offer these gift suggestions which, although they may not be the most useful, are designed to fit the budget of the average student:

1. For that special girl—just tell her that there is nothing in the world money can buy which would be truly good enough for her. That should hold her.
2. For that special guy—an incense burner to conceal the tobacco smell when he smokes in his room.
3. For Mom—just being home is enough. Besides, she'll probably worry about the cost of getting you home.
4. For Dad—unless you have a fairy godmother, good ol' Dad is the one who signs the checks for Mr. Layman. We suggest you get Dad a new pen—the kind with Maryville on the clip, of course—so that he can continue writing those checks.

(Naturally, we don't guarantee any of the above suggestions—we're not that foolish.)

For those of us who spent Thanksgiving on campus (asleep), this is our first trip home since we first came, endless weeks ago. Time does not permit a thorough discussion of all the pitfalls of readjusting to civilian life, so we'll just close by wishing you a very Merry Christmas, and watch out about cutting those classes around holidays.

Season's Greetings

Parks-Belk

Home of Better Values

WGAP

CAMPUS MIKE

Voice of Maryville College

Sunday Evening

9:30-10:00

CHRISTMAS

Our Best Wishes To You At Christmastime FIRST FEDERAL SAVINGS and LOAN	May You Enjoy The Merriest Of Christmases BYRNE DRUG COMPANY	A Merry Christmas To You and Yours GIFF'S SPORTING GOODS
May This Holiday Season Be Your Best NEWTON STOUTT COAL CO.	A Sincere Wish For A Merry Christmas GILBERT'S COFFEE HOUSE	May Your New Year Be Rich With Blessing MURPHY-WEST	May The Blessings Of This Season Be Yours BADGETT STORE COMPANY	Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year TIPTON JEWELERS

May The Light Of Christmas Be Ever In Your Hearts CITY DRUG CO.	May The Spirit Of Christmas Abide With You Always TRAVELERS MOTEL and RESTAURANT	Seasons Greeting To You and Yours HITCH'S	Our Fond Wish For A Wonderful Vacation CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK	May You Long Remember This Christmas As Your Best HORNE'S FflorIST
		May You Enjoy This Season To Its Fullest VAN'S BAKERY	May You and Yours Be Richly Blessed CROWN LANES	Wishing You The Best Christmas Ever SPIKE'S SIMPLE SIMON RESTAURANT

GREETINGS

From The Scorer's Bench

by Todd Owers

Our eyes may never again light up to the sight of the "sack breakfast" for unfortunately we may never see four glorious days with which to give Thanksgiving; but one thing we are going to see is a good basketball team—and that's a fact. Their debut Monday night was not the most spectacular in the world—but few of them ever are when you stop and think about it. Confidentially, the word is that this year's team is going to surprise a few people and you can believe it. Chalk Monday's game up to inexperience and look for a much better basketball team to take the home floor against Emory and Henry Thursday night.

Coach Baird's comment before the game was a truthful, "We're not ready," while his post-game sentiments were summed up pretty well with the words, "We've got a lot of work to do." The Alumni Gymnasium has been a busy place this week with the team working hard on their mistakes, hoping to find the winning combination against Tusculum on Friday night, and again on Monday night against Bryan College. Both these games are on the road and are ideal "seasoners" for our young team, which vitally needs game experience to develop the brand of basketball they are capable of playing.

Bert Randall was high point man for the Highlanders Monday night as he rippled the cords to the tune of ten points while Charlie Finley and Mike Moyers took second place, scoring six apiece.

Vociferously speaking, it was good seeing the team playing before such a packed house. Hiwassee brought their cheerleaders and quite a crowd with them and, coupled with the enthusiastic group of Maryville students, succeeded in raising quite a racket. Porky and the Simple Seven were very much in evidence and did a good job of stimulating pep.

It brought back quite a few memories of past years when team rivalries ran hot and everybody and his brother showed up to the basketball games with cow bells, bongo drums, horns and various other indescribable noisemakers in hand. The purpose was to outcheer the opponents and honestly, some of the cheering contests were more exciting than the games themselves.

The wrestling match with the Knoxville YMCA was a pleasant surprise to say the least. It was a good opener—while our boys were not impressive to a devastating degree they still got the job done and you can't ask for much more than that. The most exciting match of the evening was Ron Mancini's come-from-behind pin of Ken Delmoine in two minutes of the third period. That third period is really murder—pinning somebody in that period is really doing something—it takes physical strength and a lot more. Coach Davis' grapplers leave this morning for a match with Appalachian State Teachers College tonight. Next Saturday night they will wrestle Milligan College in a home encounter.

Kappa Phi Cops Stinkin Shoe!

By Todd Owers

Kappa Phi, sporting a powerhouse offense which proved to be more explosive than a two dollar firecracker, completely subdued Alpha Sigma in the Annual Stinkin' Shoe Game played three weeks ago on a very cold and bleak Monday afternoon. The game, one of the most exciting of the year, saw Kappa Phi unleash a furious offensive attack in what proved to be one of the most awesome displays of power ever exhibited on Honaker Field. There were surprises on both sides—Alpha Sigma introduced the "T" formation to the annual classic while Kappa Phi used their "I" formation to great advantage.

It was all Kappa Phi right from the opening kickoff, with quarterback Mike Garrett enjoying a field day at Alpha Sigma's expense. First to center Bill Weissenburger, then to end Rich Murchison and finally to blocking back Phil Brown—three Garrett touchdown passes, one to each of these gentlemen, and the score was 18-0 before the first quarter was over.

In the second quarter again Garrett went back to pass and again he hit Phil Brown in the clear for a touchdown which became seven points as the extra point attempt was good. Just before the end of the half, Phil Brown picked off one of Alpha Sigma's passes and raced all the way down the sidelines for the fifth touchdown of the game. The extra point was good and Kappa Phi walked off the field a few moments later enjoying a 32-0 halftime lead.

This was dangerously challenged as the enraged Alpha Sigma team fought back furiously and scored 19 points in a wild and wooley fourth quarter, Frank Merriwell finish. Phi scored once in the third quarter and again it was Phil Brown who intercepted a Sig pass and raced all the way to paydirt.

As the fourth quarter began, Sig took over the scoring for awhile—Dave West intercepted a Garrett pass and went some 40 yards to score Alpha Sigma's first touchdown of the game. Red Prudhon kicked the extra point. Then Joe Scheideler took over and sparked the Sig team on two sustained drives, both resulting in touchdowns which he himself scored. Both were off screen passes and were pretty plays to watch. Prudhon, however, was wide in both of his extra point attempts.

Phi was still not through, though. With just seconds left on the clock Phil Brown iced the game away by picking up a loose ball and going all the way for Phi's final touchdown of the game.

The offensive standout for Alpha Sigma was Joe Scheideler while on defense Bill Schanefelt and Eddy Paul turned in good performances. As for Phi—well as the saying goes, "to the victor belong the spoils." They walked off Honaker Field late for supper, but a very proud and happy group—as well they should have been.

Brown Leads Win

Knights Win Championship

The Kappa Phi Knights, led by captain Phil Brown who figured in every scoring play, defeated the Alpha Sigma Sledgehammers 22-0 last Thursday afternoon to win the Intramural Football Championship for the second year in a row. The Sledgehammers, sparked by quarterback Eddie Krusman, played a great game but were unable to hit the scoring column. Krusman was unable to connect with his aerial bombs but came very close on several occasions. The game's opening moments saw Kappa Phi throw up a staunch defense which kept the team from Alpha Sigma back in the shadow of their own goal posts while the Knights took advantage of this and capitalized to the tune of two points—a safety scored by John Gardepe. In the second period a touchdown pass play from Phil Brown to Rich Murchison netted six points but that was all, as the extra point attempt failed. The score at the half was 8-0 but the Knights were not yet through. This time it was a pass play from quarterback Mike Garrett to Phil Brown that put six more points on the scoreboard. The extra point attempt was successful. Phi again scored through the airways as Garrett threw, this time to Steve Worrell. The final touchdown came in the fourth period with the game already on ice as Phil Brown hit Ken Young with a beautiful pass, a true "Brownie Special," and that was all she wrote. The game ended shortly after and the Knights walked off the field 22-0 victors in what proved to be one of the best played games of the season.

Therefore the old—like children—talk to themselves, for they have reached that hopeless wisdom of experience which knows that though one were to cry it in the streets to multitudes, or whisper it in the kiss to one's beloved, the only ears that can ever hear one's secret are one's own.

Eugene O'Neill

Always Look Your Best

SEE US FOR ALL YOUR DRY CLEANING NEEDS

MARYVILLE CLEANERS

Contact Your Dormitory Agent—

Carnegie & Memorial—JOE FINK, ED KRUSMAN

New Dorm—SANDY SCOFIELD

Pearsons—SUE QUIGG

Baldwin—JANET MELVILLE

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm

982-9921

WE RENT TO COLLEGE STUDENTS AND SERVICE PERSONNEL

Phone 982-2702

Kresge's for family savings

MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

DISCOUNT PRICE

"The First Family"

Sensational New Comedy Record Album! Biggest Laugh of the Year!

Listen To.

The Experiment
After Dinner
Relatively Speaking Astronauts
Motorcade —
The Party
The Tour
But Votel
Economy Lunch
The Decision
Press Conference
The Dress
Auld Lang Syne
Bedtime Story

$3.33 DISCOUNT PRICED

We Also Have A Complete Selection Of All Christmas Albums - At Discount Prices

S. S. KRESGE COMPANY

Owls Win In Rain, 3-2

The Maryville College soccer team suffered a disheartening 3 to 2 loss at the hands of the Warren Wilson Owls three weeks ago, in a game that was played in the rain on a wet and slippery field. The game was the last of the season for the Scots. The defeat gave the squad a final record of 2 wins and 4 losses.

The Scots opened the scoring early in the first period. Center halfback Red Prudhon took a long shot at the Warren Wilson goal. The goalie was successful in keeping the ball from crossing the goal line; however, he was not able to gain control of the ball and it rolled in front of the goal. Phil Jerome and Harry Repsher were both converging on the ball. Jerome, cutting in from his position on the left wing, got there first and sent a hard low shot past the helpless form of the Warren Wilson goalie.

Warren Wilson came back quickly to tie the score. George Saga, the left wing, countered Jerome's goal with his shot that passed through the extreme right hand corner of the goal, inches from the goal post. Four and one half minutes later the Owls scored again. This time the sloppy elements entered the picture. Maryville's senior left halfback Bill Weissenburger had possession of the ball deep in the Maryville half. He seemed to be ready to clear the ball when it bounced up and hit him in the hand. Because the "hand ball" had occurred within the goalie's circle, Warren Wilson was awarded with a penalty kick. From twelve yards away, Amien Francis had goalie Bob Mullins at his mercy. The goal gave the Owls a 2 to 1 lead.

Maryville came back in the second quarter to tie the score. This time it was Red Prudhon who got the goal. Prudhon, scored in a manner much like the way he had scored his previous goals. He dribbled the ball through the Warren Wilson defensive unit, past the left fullback, and sent a shot through the right hand corner of the goal. The goal was the last of the half. As the teams marched off the field, the score was knotted at 2—2.

As the third quarter started both teams fought hard for the lead. It was not until the final period that the decisive point was tallied. As on the second goal, luck seemed to be riding with the visitors from North Carolina. After a momentary flurry in front of the Maryville goal, the ball was cleared from danger. In a hurry to bring the ball back into attack, Wilson's Naboth Mbawa lofted a long easy shot at the goal. The save should have been an easy one. Goalie Bob Mullins was moving over to handle the ball in case Maryville's fullback Scott Bucher should fail to clear the ball. As Bucher went up to head the ball away from danger, the ball instead of hitting the top of his head, skipped off the side. Bucher had hit the ball, but it was still traveling toward the goal at a different angle. Mullins was unable to recover quickly enough in the unsteady footing and the ball bounced thorough the center of the goal. Thus, Warren Wilson had rather innocently scored the decisive goal. When the game ended the Owls held a 3 to 2 margin.

Despite their mediocre record, the Scots found much cause for encouragement. Although all but one of the defensive unit is graduating, the team will not lose a man from its starting offensive line. Red Prudhon the outstanding center halfback will also be returning. It is hoped that transfers from Berea and Warren Wilson will fill the gaps left by the graduation of Ward, Weissenburger, Vordonis, and co-captain Scott Bucher. The most important cause of optimism is the support and interest of the student body.

Library Announces Holiday Book Policy

The college library has announced the following policy regarding the checking-out of books during the Christmas holidays: All books in general circulation will be due on Tuesday, December 18. Students wishing to check out no more than five books for the holidays must return them to the library for renewal; students who fail to comply with this request will pay, in addition to the regular fines for overdue books, a penalty of $1.00.

Also, all periodicals and reserve books will be due on Thursday, December 20. Neither of these may be checked out for the holidays.

The significance of man is not in what he attains, but rather in what he longs to attain.

Kahlil Gibran

Leonard's To Move To Midland Center

Leonard's Steak House will expand both its name and its facilities shortly after the first of the year. Moving to a new location between Collier's Shoes and Kresge stores in Midland Shopping Center, it will then be known as Leonard's Cafeteria and Steak House.

The main dining room will seat 125 persons, and there will be two additional rooms available for private banquets or dinner parties. Although cafeteria service is a feature of the new location, Leonard's will continue to serve meals restaurant style.

A new specialty on the menu will be broasted chicken, known both for its cooked-in flavor and six-minute preparation time. The broasted chicken, as well as pizzas, will be available for carry-out orders.

Socks and Sneakers

The socks and sneakers were few during the soccer season in the intramural gym. Twenty-five girls showed interest but since most of these eager fans were Chi Beta's, teams were difficult to set up. Nancy Kinsman, soccer coach, reports that some good practice sessions in soccer were held and everyone had fun! With the coming of December comes fencing. Terry Brusstar will head the sport. It is hoped that the dueling among the MC Co-Ed's will result in stiff competition as both Theta and Chi Beta want to win. So if any of you go past the gym on Tuesdays and Thursdays and see some people from Mars prancing around the floor, remember that it is only our Maryville women — fencing!

Party Time has arrived for Women's Intramurals. On December 13 the M Club will play Santa for the Special Education Class of Miss Alma Kidd, a former Maryville graduate, at Fort Craig School. All the girls in M Club are looking forward to the party. Games will be played and of course Christmas goodies will be made and enjoyed by all. The WAA Christmas Party will be held on December 18 at 4:00 in the Intramural Gym for all the co-eds of Maryville who have played in any of the sports offered this semester. Hope everyone will come so we can have some real spirit. The M Club and their lively sponser, Miss Leslie, will host themselves to a merry party on the 17th of December in the Y Rooms as gifts are exchanged and carols are sung. So as we party in our socks and sneakers remember WAA and come join in the Christmas fun!

"First of all," he said, "if you can learn a simple trick, Scout, you'll get along a lot better with all kinds of folks. You never really understand a person until you consider things from his point of view—until you climb into his skin and walk around in it."

Harper Lee

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

PET DAIRY
ICE CREAM
★
MILK
"Fresh from the Dairy"

Maryville College
STUDENT CENTER
proudly serves
FULLER LOCKER PLANT
Hamburgers
★
Hot Dogs

HANDY with a needle
Randcraft
Randcratt-ers know the finest touches are those added by hand. Being skilled in this art, they have made this style distinctive with their hand stitching on the vamps. See our collection of oxfords and slip-ons with hand detailing, today.

A to D
6 to 12
$9.99
C. C. MOORE'S
SHOEMAKERS SHOE STORE
Maryville's Good Shoe Store

for evenings by the fire
McGREGOR Nocturne
Understated tone-on-tone plaids and checks that put you in fashion's forefront. Fine 100% cotton with the extra benefits of McGregor attention to detail; convertible collar that's as neat open as closed, two pockets, adjustable cuffs. $5.95
Proffitt's
Men's Dept.

Maryville alumnus Col. Ralph D. Steakley meets with President Kennedy, Gen. Curtis LeMay, Air Force Chief of Staff, and two other Air Force officers who played key roles in the photo reconnaissance of the Cuban missile sites. From left to right are Col. Steakley, Lieu Col. Joseph M. O'Grady, Major Richard S. Heyser, Gen. LeMay, and President Kennedy. Note the magnifying glass on the table.

U.S.A.F. photo

MC Alum Receives National Acclaim

At the height of the recent Cuban situation, a Maryville Alumni enjoyed national recognition when he appeared on television with General Curtis E. LeMay and President John F. Kennedy, while his picture appeared in many newspapers and magazines.

Colonel Ralph Douglas Steakley, '41, is Chief of the Joint Reconnaissance Center, Operations Directorate, The Joint Staff of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

While attending Maryville he was on the Echo staff for three years, editor of the 1940 Chilhowean, a member of the track team, elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, May Day King, and President of the senior class.

Colonel Steakley was born in Cleveland, Ohio. He entered Maryville College in 1937, and graduated in June, 1941. He was called to duty with the old Army Air Corps Flying Cadets on 1 June 1941, several days before commencement. He was actually in uniform when commencement occurred, and received his diploma in absentia.

Doug Steakley, as he was known on campus, married Helen G. Williams, also of the class of '41. They have three children, Ralph Douglas Steakley, Jr., a freshman at Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio; James D. Steakley, a sophomore at McLean High School, McLean, Virginia; and Bruce L. Steakley.

Colonel Steakley entered military service in June 1941. He left the service in July 1945 and reentered the service in July 1947. He advanced from 2nd Lieutenant on 2 January 1942 to Colonel on 29 March 1959.

He served in the European-African Theater and the Pacific Theater. He also served in the Strategic Air Command, Headquarters USAF, the United States Air Force Headquarters, Europe, and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

State Department Hires Students

Junior and senior college students interested in the conduct of foreign affairs will have an opportunity next summer, for the third consecutive year, to join the State Department in a summer intern program. A letter recently received by the college states that the Department will choose forty students to assist in the work of country desk officers, research analysts, economic officers, and the Department's Secretariat and Operations Center. They will also participate in a program of lectures and seminars.

To be considered for the program, students must be nominated by their college by January 15. Each college may nominate only one person. Students interested in making application may get further information from Dean McClelland.

THERE IS NO ASIA

Steve Henderson, MC senior, here begins a series of articles presenting information he gathered during his recent participation in the traveling Southeast Asia Seminar sponsored by the United Campus Christian Fellowship. The group's purpose was to enrich understanding of four Asian countries—Japan, The Philippines, Hong Kong and Taiwan—through lectures, discussions, tours and simply getting to know the people of the countries—Editor's Note.

I think that my primary mission upon returning to the states is to destroy the image of the Asian block, or Asian unity, or Eastern culture or whatever you call it. There is no such thing as the Asian block. As a matter of fact, the concept of Asian cooperation is a rather new one. Although some prejudices against the West are found in this part of the world, the most real prejudices are those of the Japanese against the Koreans, the Filipinos against the Chinese. Each country has its own culture, its own racial traits, its own problems and its own government structure. There does seem to be an increasing desire among the Asian countries to develop Asian cooperation. Even in the highly western Philippines, Asian unity is occasionally discussed. But essentially there is no Asia.

Having now established the impossibility of discussing Asia as a whole, I will discuss Japan, the Philippines and Hong Kong separately in regards to a number of topics that I hope will be of interest.

Economic Situations

First, the economic situation in these three countries—the basic problem seems to be to produce goods exporable to other Asian countries and the West by using a small amount of land, limited natural resources and an almost unlimited, cheap labor supply.

The reaction of the three countries has been roughly threefold—agriculture, mass production and hand work.

Agriculture, except in the Philippines, is not an exportable commodity. The primary purpose in developing agriculture is to cut down on the capital spent on imports as far as possible. These countries have developed tremendously efficient agricultural methods based primarily on the hand grooming of each individual plant. The production per acre in Japan and Hong Kong is much above that of the United States.

Japan, of course, is the best-developed industrial power. Her salable, ingenious mechanical devices have filled the world market.

Prior to the war the existence of Hong Kong was almost totally dependent on trade. After the war, however, the population increased seven times its original number. To meet this situation many new industries have grown up. The largest of these is the textile industry.

The production of exportable goods from the Philippines is negligible. Filipinos seem to lack interest in industrial development, in contrast to the people of Hong Kong and Japan, who, because of land shortage and an excess of people, must be industrious to survive.

Christmas Readings Tomorrow Night

The traditional Christmas Readings, annually sponsored by the YM and YWCA, will be held at 7 p.m. tomorrow in the back dining hall of Pearsons.

Connie Beagle, chairman of the Y's Fellowship Commission, reports that Duncan Bennett, Director of Information Services, will read "The Gift of the Magi" by O. Henry. Janet Purcilla will read Dorothy Canfield Fisher's "The Night the Stars Sang" and Katherine C. Davies, chairman of the Fine Arts Division, will read the Christmas story from the Bible. Sharon Jones and Randy Wells will lead group singing of carols.

Everyone will sit on blankets before the fireplace, where an artificial fire will be blazing. The readers will sit in a rocking chair. Ken MacHarg is in charge of the dining hall preparations.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock
of Quality Products Including
a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE
SUPER MARKET

Washington Avenue

Merry Christmas and a
Happy New Year

*

We extend to you our very best wishes during this Holiday Season.

DO YOUR LAST-MINUTE SHOPPING HERE –

Minton's features the finest in styles and colors for the fashionable dresser. We would like to prove to you that we can offer the finest selection in young men's and young ladies clothing possible.

EXTRA SPECIAL: "His" and "Hers" matching Sweaters and Shirts.

AND REMEMBER –

Minton's will be glad to exchange any nationally advertised clothing that you receive. Too big? Too small?. . .We'll be glad to assist you in choosing just the right item.

Minton's

botany...monotony
notes...quotes...trig
...dig...review...stew
fuss...discuss...cram
exam...wow...whew
...pause

take a break...things go better with Coke

Bottled under the authority of The Coca-Cola Company by: RODDY MFG. CO.

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 48 | Maryville, Tennessee, January 12, 1963 | No. 7

Gamble Book Goes On Display

A new book goes on display in the college library today — a book of special interest to the college community because it was authored by one of its students. There Is a Time is the unfinished novel of James Vernon Gamble, who died a little over a year ago. An English major, Mr. Gamble would have graduated with the class of 1962.

Slightly more than half finished, There Is a Time has 370 typewritten pages bound in plain black buckram.

"Infused With Understanding"

Dr. E. R. Hunter, the faculty supervisor for the writing project (which was to have fulfilled the independent study requirement for Mr. Gamble), has written a brief foreward.

"In my close association with him and this work it has been difficult to remain objective," Dr. Hunter writes, "but I feel that this fragment promised much, and in itself, even as it stands, is deeply infused with human understanding."

The story is that of the Sher rod family. It is set in the East Tennessee town of Hamblen, which, geographically at least, recalls Morristown, where Mr. Gamble lived. "The theme, Jim said," Dr. Hunter writes in the foreword, "is that these people died for lack of love,"

"I believe Jim thought the people were the real strength of the book," said Dr. Hunter. "The great glory of it," the pro fessor continued, "is the characterization of Pearl and Dilgie" (two Negro women who live on the Sherrod's place).

Dr. Hunter mentioned that Mr. Gamble acknowledged his indebtedness to James Agee's A Death in the Family. His favorite writer and the one who influenced him most, however, was William Faulkner. "He sat at Faulkner's feet with great reverence," said Dr. Hunter. "Faulkner, more than anyone else, gave him his spur." The library owns many Faulkner books which have been given in memory of Mr. Gamble.

There Is a Time will be displayed for several weeks and then released for circulation.

MC, KC, Y's Plan Workshop Here

February 8, 9, and 10 are the dates of the second Inter-collegiate Human Relations Workshop to be held at Maryville College. The 1962 conference promoted student interest in the current American integration issues, but this year's three-day session, it is hoped, will allow the participants to study in detail the human-relations problems of East Tennessee in particular. The Workshop is underwritten by the National Student YWCA and is co-sponsored by the "Y" associations of Knoxville and Maryville Colleges; participating schools will possibly number as many as 12 Eastern Tennessee colleges

During registration, which will begin at 4:00 p.m. Friday, February 8, each student participant will be assigned, according to his indicated interests, to one of several small study groups. In order to become well acquainted with his fellow group-members and to really tackle the problem his group is studying, each student will remain in the same workshop group throughout the weekend. While each workshop group will be headed by a person experienced in the area of human relations, all of these workshop leaders will be residents of Eastern Tennessee; many of them will be native Tennesseans. They will include professors and student-leaders at Maryville and Knoxville Colleges, as well as both clergymen and laymen of this community.

Featured on the conference program are two guest speakers:

(Cont'd Pg. 3, Col. 3)

California Pastor

Dr. Thomas F. Hudson To Lead Feb. Meetings

Leading speaker at the 1963 February Meeting will be Dr. Thomas Franklyn Hudson, presently of Riverside, California. Besides being pastor of a church in Riverside and a frequent visitor and speaker at college and university campuses, Reverend Hudson serves actively on the General Assembly council on theological education in the United Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. Last year he also held the chairmanship of the General Assembly's standing committee on church and society.

"The Parables of the Old Testament and their Meaning for 1963" is the theme Dr. Hudson has selected for his series of morning services during the Meetings. His message for the opening service on Thursday, February 21, will be entitled 'Jotham's Parable"; on Friday his sermon will be "Nathan's Parable"; on Saturday, "Joab's Parable"; on Monday, "The Unnamed Prophet's Parable"; on Tuesday, "Micaiah's Parable"; on Wednesday, "Jehoash's Parable"; and on Thursday, the closing service of the Meetings, "Isaiah's Parable." Dr. Hudson will also preach at evening services every evening during the Meetings except Saturday and Thursday, February 23 and 28; on Sunday, February 24, he will be the guest speaker at the morning worship service of the New Providence Church in Maryville.

(Cont'd Pg. 4, Col. 3)

Lynn Authors College Text In Economics

Dr. Robert A. Lynn, associate professor of economics and business administration at Maryville College, is the author of a new textbook, Basic Economic Principles. It will be published by the end of this year by the technical education division of the McGraw-Hill Book Company in New York.

Basic Economic Principles, as a text for a one-semester economics course in junior and community colleges, as well as four-year colleges and technical institutions, is especially designed to help the reader understand the reasoning and issues behind questions of public policy in economics. Twenty-two chapters, covering approximately 250 pages, contain a general survey of economics with emphasis both on the broader aspects of economic policy and on the mechanics of national-income determination and price determination. In addition, there are chapters discussing important economic institutions, such as business firms and labor unions.

Before publication Dr. Lynn plans to make revisions in the light of suggestions of reviewers now reading the manuscript. The reviewers are teachers in institutions of higher education who will perhaps use the book. Dr. Lynn also intends to include questions at the ends of the chapters of the completed volume and to compose an accompanying teachers' manual.

Final Curtain Rises Tonight On "Tiger at the Gate"

LOVE IS ETERNAL . . . The ancient love affair of Helen of Troy and Paris will come to life tonight in the final performance of Giradoux's "Tiger at the Gates." Appearing as the undaunted lovers are Diane Eneboe and Norman Marschner, pictured above.

The Maryville College Playhouse will present the second and final performance of Jean Giradoux's "Tiger at the Gates" tonight at 8 p.m. in the Theater. Student performers will enact Giradoux's version of the Trojan War under the supervision of Drama Director Thomas E. Jones and his assistant for this production, Mary Gay Boettcher.

When the curtain rises tonight, the audience will discover, in addition to a talented cast, a "constructivism" set: a single unit consisting of ramps, 14 acting levels, and a stepped elevation of 12 feet. Also designed especially for this production is an additional area of stage built from the center of the orchestra pit.

"Othello" Jan. 31

"Othello," an all-time Shaksperean favorite, will be the second presentation of the 1962-1963 Maryville College Artist Series. On Thursday, January, 31, the National Players, Inc., of Washington, D. C., will appear in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel at 8:15 p.m.

Leading Performers

Performing in the title role will be David Sabin of Silver Spring, Maryland. Now in his third year of touring with the Players, he has had extensive stage experience at Olney Theatre in Maryland and at St. Michael's Playhouse in Vermont. He has also toured overseas to play to American troops abroad under the Department of Defense. Other leading performers will include Richard Bauer as Iago, Halo Wines as Desdemona, and Catherie Gaffigan as Emilia.

Troupe's Itinerary

The Players will be appearing here as part of an eight-month tour of thirty-six states--an itinerary that keeps the company on the move from late September until May. With thirteen tours and eight overseas trips behind them, the Players are seasoned veterans of traveling repertory. The entire troupe, in fact, is considered the foremost national classical repertory in America; its production of "Othello" has been acclaimed for its stunning beauty and stirring force.

Portraits in Greasepaint": "Drama Students' Experiment

Next Friday evening, January 18, an enthusiastic band of student actors will permit the campus to view their theatrical wares in an experimental production which Director Thomas E. Jones terms "theatre for fun." Performing in "Portraits in Greasepaint" will be Mary Gay Boettcher, Robert Bryan, Barbara McCarter, Caroline McCaskill, Jim Miller, Waldo Miller, Marcia Sturm, and Phyllis Weaver.

Modern Drama

The members of this close-working group have prepared an evening of modern drama; they will be using only the most basic theatrical aids: a stage, a make-up table and a costume rack. To demonstrate the dramatic arts of improvisation and interpretation, the actors will present several variations of a single scene in "Hamlet." They will enact scenes, also, from "Four Poster," "Song of Jonah," "Pygmalion," and "Our Town."

"Informal Approach"

In accordance with what Mr. Jones calls "an informal approach to theater," costuming and make-up will be done in full view of the audience. And in addition to limited props, the actors will depend upon few resources beyond their own abilities and the desire to provide their audience with an intriguing evening in the modern theater.

Joyce Koch To Give Recital

Joyce Koch, voice major from Hagerstown, Maryland, will appear in her junior recital at 4:30 p.m. next Tuesday, January 15, in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center.

She will sing "Lucingbe Piu Care" from Handel's "Alessandro"; Strauss Opus 17, nos. 1, 2, 3, and 5; and Wagner's "Der Manner Sippe" from "Die Walkure." Miss Koch studies voice under Dan H. Kinsinger; her accompanist in the recital will be Thomas Llewellyn.

Dr. Trueblood To Lecture In Knoxville

Dr. Elton Trueblood, a noted theologian associated with Earlham College, will be the lecturer at the University of Tennessee's Midwinter Convocation January 29-31. The meetings which are open to the public will be held in the evenings at the First Congregational Church in downtown Knoxville.

Dr. Trueblood has written several books, the most recent of which is The Company of the Committed. Others are The Life We Prize, The Logic of Belief, Common Ventures of Life, The Predicament of Modern Man, and Your Other Vocation.

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor in Chief
LYNN HERRING

Assistant Editor — CHARLOTTA COOK
News Editor — PATRICIA REHM
Feature Editor — ANN HARRISON
Art Editor — GRACE ROSSER
Sports Editors — TODD OWERS and JEANNE PRICE
Exchange Editor — GAIL GARLOCH
Business Manager — PAUL BIGGERS

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Elenora Easterly, Gail Garloch, Libby Lee, Dave Marston

CIRCULATION: Dave King

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR, MR. FRANK LAYMAN

Editorially Speaking

by Charlotta Cook

Recently there appeared in a Sunday newspaper of a neighboring community an article about life and times at Maryville College. We are uncertain exactly what the purpose of the article was, but whether it was to strengthen the prestige of the college in Pennsylvania or perhaps to point out to the members of the college family some facts about ourselves that have hitherto been ignored, the manner in which the subject was handled certainly defeated any real good that might have been done.

When making a true evaluation of the atmosphere present on any campus, the logical starting point (or at least stopping point) is with the students who live on that campus. While administrative officials can crystallize the objectives of their school, the success of the school lies in the way in which students respond to the school's objectives. There is only one statement by students in the entire article, and although it does give some dimension to the Chapel situation, reinforcement is sorely lacking in the other areas considered. For example, strong student leadership is mentioned briefly, but there is no statement by the Student Body President who should have been one of the first students consulted. And any blanket statement that is made about the success or failure of the honor dormitory system should include some comment by those who live under it!

Our primary criticism of the article is, then, not that it was written, but that it is only a one-dimensional view of Maryville College. "Did Somebody say that Maryville College is a prudish Church School?" Why not ask a student for his opinion?

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am — 11 pm 982-9921

THE

BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES

*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

*CHECK ACCOUNTS

*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS

*TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

LETTERS

Opal Plaza

To the Editor:

The combination of filth, darkness, and feelings of insecurity found in a slum area brings immediate reactions of fear and withdrawal. Before working at the Corinthian Avenue Chapel in Philadelphia my reactions were similar to those of the casual passer-by. Memory will never allow the first day there to escape me!

Chills shot up and down my spine as I entered the 800 block of Opal Street and ventured the first glance at what I was to encounter for the next three months. Filling only one side of the street, houses were old, dingy and dirty. The hot breeze blew scattered pieces of rubbish across the street. Filth was everywhere! Opposite the ugly tenaments stood a long fence no less than seven feet in height spotted with green patches of paint. However, most alarming and frightening was the group of men sitting on either side of the narrow street in the center of the block.

These men who called themselves "the Winesackers of Opal Plaza" were to provide the most surprising challenge of the summer program. Many things have happened on Opal since that first day—some exciting, some gratifying, and others very depressing. However, certain events have facilitated changes in Rocky, Corky, and the other men who gather each morning in the center of the block to sit on milk cartons and a stolen car seat only to drink away their day.

The outcome of working with such people appears so hopeless that some would question the value of serving the numerous underprivileged people of the slums. Such persons are judging others purely by externals. Out of the assurance that Christ first loved us—all of us—we must learn to love people more—unpleasant people, decadent and

(Con'd Pg. 4, Col. 3)

Fugitive Pieces

Although I have not made any New Year's Resolutions since a written list was a fourth grade Sunday School assignment, in 1963 I made a resolution. It seemed best to start slowly, so I made just one and I mistakenly thought it would be an easy one to keep. Resolved: That my library should be organized according to the Dewey Decimal System.

During the past several years, mostly in the form of grants from graduating seniors, the number of volumes in my library has steadily increased. The books have now outgrown their allotted space and some system of organization is imperative.

First I made a card catalog, housed in a worn-out special studies box; next I began to make the author cards. As I progressed from the bookcase to the closet to the sub-library under the floor, I became aware of a number of interesting volumes whose presence had hitherto gone unnoticed. For example, I discovered four copies of A Manual of Systematic Discourse (these are now designated c.1, c.2, c.3, c.4), an archaic Red Cross Lifesaving Text (600, Useful Arts, I think), and a Greek New Testament (either 000 General Works; 200 Religion; 600, or 800 Literature).

The many F's, which include Laura Lee Hope, Earl Stanley Gardner and Charles Dickens, and the few R's, which include Webster, Roget and Bartlett, are the easiest to catalogue. I have not a mathematical mind, and though I can usually determine the first number of a volume, when it comes to something like 42.8694|M371y2|1948|vol. XIV|c.2, I am lost. New Year's Resolution must be kept, so I go resolutely on. I think before I play the numbers anymore I will make the title cards and the subject cards. Those tasks should last through March at least.

One problem that will eventually crop up is that when the system is finally organized and put into effect, a large paperback volume of Chopin preludes will come between a 3x5 music dictionary and a small paperback folk song book. Then all the books will fall down.

Nevertheless, as a New Year's Resolution, I think mine is a wise choice. It will certainly take a whole year to resolve itself; it is time consuming so it will keep me out of other kinds of trouble; it is educational as I do pause and read the books; and perhaps most valuable, it is helping me to build frustration tolerance. If my math can stand it, I may institute a system of fines and reap another important benefit.

Spotlight

By Dave Marston

One of the Democratic Congressmen from Virginia is named Harry Smith. Mr. Smith is of average physical appearance, rarely speaks before the House, and is generally the sort of man you would expect a Harry Smith to be. In fact, Mr. Harry Smith might just as easily have been Mr. John Doe except for one fact—he is Chairman of the House Rules Committee.

The House Rules Committee decides which bills will be introduced on the House floor, and when. The most powerful committee in Congress, the Rules Committee can't actually make laws, but it can dictate with certainty which laws will not be made—and this is nearly as good.

Historically, the House Rules Committee has had 12 members. In recent years, of the 8 Democrats and 4 Republicans included, Chairman Smith and another conservative Democrat have joined the 4 Republicans to form a coalition 6-6 deadlock against many liberal measures.

Last year, President Kennedy was unwilling to see his New Frontier legislation corralled by Mr. Smith's committee. Enlisting the late Sam Rayburn's aid, he finally squeezed out enough votes (217-212) to have the Rules Committee expanded to 15 members. In the enlarged committee, the Republican-Southern Democratic bloc was in an 8-7 minority.

This year the committee could have reverted to its previous dozen members, but a House floor vote Wednesday approved a permanent enlargement to 15 members. A 39 vote margin decided the issue in one of the new Congress's first actions.

This new victory is just what the President ordered. He had appeared on television to gain support for the increase and was frank to admit that his legislative program would be practically non-existent if the committee had gone back to twelve members under Smith.

Smith had said that the size of his committee was "not negotiable." He had been called "the only man in the House who can hurt Kennedy more than Kennedy can hurt him."

With the administration's victory for a permanent increase, the chances should be equalized.

Return Respect, Student Urges

Dear Editor:

It is time, I think, that we become aware of certain existing situations on this campus which are getting more and more out of hand. This situation is agnosticism, skepticism, or—more frequently—an antipatheticism which pervades so many of our so-called "Christian" activities. It is not the agnosticism itself which concerns me—everyone, our constitution tells us, is entitled to his own beliefs (or lack of them). Rather, it is the effort of these skeptics to mock and tear down Christianity when they attend these activities.

Robert Frost once said, "Don't be an agnostic—be something!" There seems to be a popular assumption that the statement should be "Don't be a Christian —be something." Those of this opinion are entitled to keep it. I must respect their convictions. But is it too much to ask that they in turn should respect a contrary belief? What pleasure can they receive from attending these Christian events, except the pleasure of knowing that they have made these meetings unbearable for others?

It is not only as a matter of courtesy that they should not tread on alien ground without due respect—it is a matter of pride for their own convictions. If they are convinced that their belief is correct, it should not be necessary for them to tear down the beliefs of others—this only strengthens the opposing belief.

I am not seeking to attack the opposition: I merely state that the Golden Rule is applicable to any group situation, be it political, religious, or social. I am willing to respect what others believe, though it may be opposed to my own. I think that this respect should be returned.

—Jane Swetnam

Those who give you a serpent when you ask for a fish, may have nothing but serpents to give. It is then generosity on their part.

Kahlil Gibran

Therefore the old—like children—talk to themselves, for they have reached that hopeless wisdom of experience which knows that though one were to cry it in the streets to multitudes, or whisper it in the kiss to one's beloved, the only ears that can ever hear one's secret are one's own.

Eugene O'Neill

WGAP CAMPUS MIKE

Voice of Maryville College

Sunday Evening 9:30-10:00

FLOODBUILDING | Scot Grapplers | Milligan, Mars-Hill Fall

PEACE CORPS NEWS

VOL. 1 NO. 1 | A Special College Supplement | WINTER, 1962

Peace Corps Plans to Double in '63

PEACE CORPS TEACHER Kenneth Baer of Beverly Hills, Calif., instructs a class of Ghanaian students in Accra. Baer received a Master's degree in American history from the University of California in 1961. He now teachers general arts subjects at the Ebeneezer Secondary School in Accra.

Tribal Dances, Chants Spark Ghanaian Nights

(Editor's note: Newell Flather of Lowell, Mass., is a Peace Corps Volunteer teacher in Winneba, Ghana. The following is from a letter he wrote.) Six months ago my future seemed settled and secure. Fresh out of college I had been accepted by the University of Virginia Law School, and except for a superficial spring course, I hardly knew where Ghana was.

A late June telegram from the Peace Corps, two months training at Berkeley, two weeks indoctrination at the University of Ghana, Legon, and three and one half months of residence in Winneba have considerably altered this circumstance.

I find my school, my town, and my job all very interesting. The school is deep-seated and saturated with Ghanaian revolutionary tradition. As History Department Chairman, I have been asked by the headmaster to write a history of the school, a fascinating undertaking with which I am currently occupied.

Here a beautiful hospital functions side by side with active fetish priests and powerful African Juju. My house is within hearing distance of the ceremonial grounds, and I can catch

(See 'Tribal,' page 4)

Colleges Give Academic Credit

Ohio University will award academic credit to Peace Corps Volunteers, announced Dr. Rogers Finch, Chief of the Division of University Relations for the Peace Corps.

"This is an unprecedented move which we expect will be followed by other universities," Dr. Finch said. The program applies specifically to a teaching project in the West Cameroons, sponsored by the Peace Corps and administered by the University of Ohio.

Currently, three types of activities for which academic credit may be sought on an individual basis by a Volunteer are:

1) The Peace Corps training program for which full or partial equivalency to regularly established academic courses may be given by some institutions. Plans are now underway at Columbia Teachers College, the University of Pittsburgh, Syracuse University and New Paltz State Teachers College to give credit for the training program.

2) Some colleges will give course credit for the cultural, job and language experience gained abroad.

3) A third potential area of academic credit exists in individual study, provided it does not detract from the basic purposes for which the Volunteer is serving overseas.

Corps Allotted $59 Million

Congress has voted a $59 million Peace Corps appropriation for fiscal 1963. The appropriation, supported by both parties in Congress, almost doubled last year's funds.

Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps, said the second year goal was to increase the number of Volunteers overseas to 10,000.

Praise for the Peace Corps has come from all sides of Congress including some of the more conservative members.

College Grads Best Qualified

All college students are urged to complete their degree requirements before entering the Peace Corps.

Although a degree is not a prerequisite for all projects, the possession of a degree is definitely considered an asset by Peace Corps officials.

Liaisons Serve 2,000 Campuses

More than 2,000 Peace Corps liaison officers are assisting the Peace Corps on as many campuses across the nation. Appointed by the university president, these faculty or administrative officers are the direct link between the Peace Corps and the colleges.

Serving as advisors and publicists, the liaison is usually in contact with Volunteer alumni serving overseas. Interested students who do not know the local liaison officer may find his identity by calling the college president's office.

Student-faculty or all-student Peace Corps committees have been organized on many campuses to help the liaison officer. The committees promote special Peace Corp events, disseminate information and support alumni Volunteers in the field. Further information about such support work can be obtained by writing Public Affairs, Peace Corps, Washington 25, D. C.

Overseas, too, college professors are making their contribution. In addition to the teachers serving with the 12 university-administered projects, there are

(See 'Liaisons,' page 3)

Mounting Requests Follow Volunteer Achievements

Amid conflicting views of optimism and skepticism, the Peace Corps launched a scant 18 months ago a new experiment in United States aid to developing nations.

"A boondoggle," some cried. "Overseas junkets for beatniks," said others.

"A noble undertaking," countered the optimists.

While the debate continued, thousands of young Americans, (and some not so young) quietly volunteered their services to help people in need around the world. Nearly 5,000 Volunteers are already at work in more than 42 countries. By the beginning of the next school year, 9,000 Volunteers will be on the job.

How are they doing? One measure is the response of the nations where they have gone. Every country has asked for double, triple or quadruple the number of Volunteers already at work.

Said Colombia's President Valencia in his inaugural address: "The mission which they (the Volunteers) are furthering is truly extraordinary and meritorious, worthy of Colombia's gratitude. They make direct contact with our most humble people in our towns and villages; they hear their complaints, understand their anguish and stimulate their hopes.

"There is no other action more effective to the service of continental integration than this Peace Corps which allows a young man from Chicago to know the thoughts of a man from Sabanalarga or Firavitoba."

President Valencia has scored part of the Peace Corps' basic objectives—human understanding. Congress defined for the Peace Corps these primary aims:

1. To help developing nations meet their needs for trained manpower.

(See 'Mounting,' page 4)

Thailand Bout Ends in Draw For Volunteer

For the first time in known history, an American fighter recently came out of the ring right side up after a match with a Thai. The American fighter was Bob Pitts, a Peace Corps Volunteer, from Redbank, N.J.

Pitts, who teaches physics at Chulalongkorn University, did not go into the ring unprepared. He had been a boxer at Yale University where he received his B.A. degree. He had trained for three weeks under a former Thai champion, studying the vagaries of Thai boxing which permits kicking, kneeing, elbowing and gouging.

The fans applauded gleefully as Pitts performed the pre-bout ritual of drawing symbols and making incantations to down the spirit of his opponent, Wooth Barbos. Although the incantations didn't completely succeed in downing Barbos' spirit, they at least subdued it. The match was a draw.

Athletic training ranks high in the needs of developing nations, in part because it helps develop health and physical fitness. But even more important in the minds of country leaders is the feeling of national pride and unity that comes from creditable performance of their teams at Olympic or regional games.

Nancy Tanner, 22, a Peace Corps Volunteer from Henderson, Ky., cavorts with some of her Chilean friends. She is teaching preschool children in San Gregorio, a low-income housing development in Santiago. Miss Tanner attended Hollins College in Virginia.

LETTERS

the street. Filth was everywhere! Opposite the ugly tenaments Return Respect

From The Director

By Sargent Shriver

America has always expected much from its youth. Alexander Hamilton was 31 when he wrote the Federalist papers, and Thomas Jefferson was 33 when he wrote the Declaration of Independence.

More importantly, the young men and women of the world are on the move. The President of the Central African Republic is 31. The Chief of State of Guinea is 39. Mauritania's Prime Minister is 37. The Prime Minister of Morocco is 32. In this world it is an asset to be young — and to be committed to responsibility.

The Peace Corps has already spoken to the heart of a young nation — a nation in which 45 per cent of the people are under 25 years of age.

Students from more than 800 of America's colleges and universities have provided the Peace Corps with almost 90 percent of its Volunteers. Therefore, it is to the future Volunteers that will come from campuses of colleges and universities throughout the nation that we are dedicating this special section.

The world is coming alive. New countries are bursting with activity. In Latin America and the Middle East, in Africa and Asia, there is an urgent desire to leap into the twentieth century.

The Peace Corps is part of our effort to help make that leap forward a success. It is a part of our effort to help in the world-wide assault against poverty, hunger, ignorance and disease — a grass roots, rice roots volunteer effort of free men.

There has been an important missing link in our existing programs of foreign assistance — and the link was well described by a student from Pakistan, who said:

"We are not ungrateful for the aid we have received . . . but it would be infinitely better if it could be done in a more direct and personal way."

It is important to emphasize that Americans working abroad as members of the Peace Corps will receive as much as they give, and perhaps more. I want to make it clear that when our Volunteers go to other countries they will go to learn, not just to watch.

So, we must combine to work together — our Peace Corps Volunteers imparting some of the technical knowledge we have learned in the last few generations — and in turn learning something of the cultures that have developed in other nations over many generations. It is a two-way street.

New York Slum Is Testing Area For Training

Slum neighborhoods of New York City are the testing ground for a new concept in training Peace Corps Volunteers to work in community development in Latin America. During October, 90 trainees for Colombia served on a field-work program in Manhattan's lower East Side and in the East Harlem and Chelsea districts.

Organized by the New York School of Social Work of Columbia University, the training program provides for seven hours a day of community work with New York City welfare agencies, in addition to classes in social work and in Spanish.

This phase of training for the Colombia project followed eight weeks of training at the University of New Mexico and four weeks in Puerto Rico. The total training program of 16 weeks is the longest ever undertaken by the Peace Corps and the first to include field work in a specifically urban environment.

The New York training is designed to prepare Volunteers for community development under the auspices of CARE in eight cities of Colombia.

Assignments in Colombia will include work in initiating and developing neighborhood self-help projects.

"Any Sigma Chis in the area?"

Reprinted courtesy of General Features Corp.

Questionnaires Due For Grads

Students who are interested in joining the Peace Corps at the end of January or June semesters should submit Questionnaires now.

Completing the Questionnaire is the first step; it precedes the Peace Corps test. Six to eight weeks are required to process the Questionnaire.

Questionnaires may be obtained from your campus Peace Corps Liaison Officer, from placement offices, post offices, United States Senators or Congressmen, or directly from the Peace Corps, Washington 25, D. C.

From Fishermen To Profs; The Peace Corps Trains All

How do you prepare a Volunteer who will be a fisherman in Togo?

On the other hand, how would you train a Volunteer who will be a university professor in Venezuela?

These are the questions that the training division of the Peace Corps must face and answer.

The major part of the training is usually conducted at an American university. This lasts approximately ten weeks. Language, customs, history and culture of the host country are emphasized. Refresher courses are given in the work skills that the Volunteer will be using.

Following the university training, most of the Volunteers go to Puerto Rico for an additional month. Contrary to some reports, this is no muscle factory. Physical conditioning, a large part of the camp's training, is adjusted to the individual's age and abilities. The program is aimed as much at the mind as the body. It is intended to strengthen self-confidence through challenge and reveal to the trainees their own unexpected capacities. Language training is continued at the camp.

In most cases, additional training is given the Volunteer when he arrives in the host country.

In preparing the Volunteer for his work, there are several basic objectives:

1. To improve previously acquired technical or academic skills.

2. To insure that the Volunteers will be able to speak the language of the country of their assignment. Instruction averages as much as five hours daily.

3. To teach the geography, economy, history, traditions and customs of the country to which the Volunteers will be assigned.

4. To insure that the Volunteers have an adequate knowledge of their country and heritage.

5. To inform the Volunteers of Communist ideology and tactics.

James Welcome, 24, from Bloomington, Ill., and two farmers are inspecting wheat samples from the village farms. Welcome is an agricultural extension agent in Colombia. He attended the University of Illinois where he majored in agronomy.

Sacrifice? 'Hogwash' Says Volunteer in Philippines

(Editor's note: David Szanton, 24, is a Peace Corps Volunteer teaching in the Philippines. A native New Yorker, Szanton wrote a letter describing his life in the Philippines to the Harvard Peace Corps Advisor. Following are excerpts from that letter.)

At least in the Philippines, the Peace Corps is not introducing cultural imperialism; quite the reverse, most of the Peace Corps Volunteers are working to erase that evil.

I and another fellow (an Antioch graduate), have a house of our own in the town of Numancia of the province of Aklan. That puts us just about in the middle of the country in the region known as the Visayas. Cocoanuts, fish and rice are the three major products of the area, though income is relatively low in comparison to some other parts of the country. Our house is partially of wood construction, but mostly bamboo and nipa palm. It's got a living room, kitchen, pantry, and bath. The floors are split bamboo and the house in general is quite airy, light and comfortable. It is not as ornate as the homes of a majority of the teachers we work with. Physically there are no problems whatsoever and all this talk about the great sacrifices Volunteers are making is just so much hogwash.

Teaching Teachers

Most of our waking hours are spent one way or another working in or through the schools. Specifically, I've been in the Central School, grades one to six, 19 teachers, approximately 650 kids. The Bureau of Public Schools requested that we work largely in the fields of second language (English) teaching and science. Those in fact have been our focal points, though an occasional class in water safety or social studies is also to be expected. Like most of the other Volunteers, I've spent most of my time working with the teachers, helping them develop their lesson plans, teaching them the general science they are to teach their classes and doing demonstrations for science classes and of second language teaching techniques for which we were trained at Penn State and the training center here. Have also been building various science demonstration equipments, as they are called here.

Now not all of the Volunteers are focusing so strongly on the teachers, and I, in fact, intend to shift emphasis myself when the new school year begins in June. Am going to put in several hours a week working on remedial English with a small group of the slower students and on advanced science programs with about a dozen of the brighter kids who are more apt to go on to high school.

The almost universal reaction of the Volunteer, once he gets to know his community, is to attempt to do something about

(See 'Sacrifice,' page 4)

Language Plays Placement Role

Prior knowledge of a language is not essential for many Peace Corps assignments but language often is a factor in geographical placement of Peace Corps applicants. Students well-versed in French probably would be asked to train for positions in the French-speaking areas of Africa.

Similarly, a knowledge of Spanish particularly qualifies ar applicant in a project for a Latin American country.

Applicants are not expected to know the more exotic languages. An intensive language training program, patterned after the successful laboratory methods developed during World War II, produces remarkable progress in learning a new language or in improving a basic knowledge of French or Spanish.

FLOODLIGHTS | Scot Grapplers | Milligan, Mars-Hill Fall

Liberal Arts Grads Requested by Emerging Nations

Math, Science Instructors In Demand

The liberal arts graduate has a wide variety of Peace Corps opportunities in teaching, since more than half the Volunteers are serving in classroom situations.

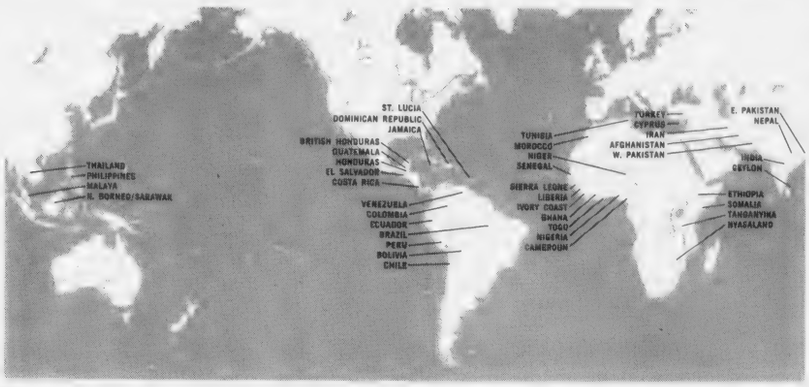
The majority of the requests for teachers come in the fields of mathematics, physics, chemistry and biology, or for the teaching of English as a second language.

If new and emerging nations are to achieve and maintain a competitive position in the contemporary world, they must develop their own cadre of technicians and scientists, trained to cope with an increasingly complex society.

English, the language in which some 90 per cent of the world's technical writing is available, is a prerequisite, as are the physical sciences. Therefore, Volunteers who have had a sufficient grounding in these areas will undoubtedly be asked to take teaching assignments if they are otherwise qualified.

Qualifications for teaching in the Peace Corps include a bachelor's degree. While the Peace Corps looks for experienced teachers, and seeks the graduate who has been trained in teaching for some overseas programs, formal education courses are not mandatory in all projects.

35,744 Persons Complete Forms



Merit alone determines admission to the Peace Corps. Since the Peace Corps began in 1961, 35,774 persons have filled out Questionnaires, the first step in becoming a Volunteer.

When a Questionnaire is filled out and sent to Washington, the listed references are contacted. While this is being done, the potential Volunteer usually takes the Peace Corps Placement Test which serves as an index of a trainee's capabilities in relation to the job he is selected to do. No one "passes" or "fails" this examination.

Peace Corps growth has necessitated automation of one phase of the selection process. Coded information is now recorded on a computer tape. A similar tape lists specific requirements for all Peace Corps positions.

"PEACE GEESE" is the name given these birds by Peace Corps Volunteers in St. Lucia. They were sent to the Island by Heifer Project, Inc., which is helping administer the project. The birds' progress is checked by Volunteer Merlin Skretved.

This map shows the countries where Peace Corps Volunteers are serving. At present there are 4,178 Volunteers in 42 developing nations of the world.

100 New Projects Slated in '63

More than 100 new Peace Corps projects will enter training at U. S. colleges and universities in the next 10 months. For additional information on any of these projects, please fill out the coupon on the back page.

ACTIVITY	COUNTRY	NUMBER OF VOLUNTEERS	DATE TO BEGIN TRAINING (1963)
EDUCATION
General	Malaya	35	July
	North Borneo/Sarawak	15	February
	North Borneo/Sarawak	35	July
	Thailand	80	February
	Barbados	20	February
Elementary (includes all subjects)	Ethiopia	75	July
	Liberia	50	February
	Liberia	50	June
	Sierra Leone	30	June
	Philippines	100	April
	Philippines	150	June
Secondary (includes all subjects)	Ghana	80	June
	Ethiopia	75	July
	Liberia	50	June
	Nigeria	250	June
	Sierra Leone	80	June
University (subjects include math, sciences, and physics)	Nigeria	30	June
	Nyasaland	25	June
English teachers (elementary, secondary and university levels)	Cameroon	25	March
	Gabon	40	July
	Guinea	20	June
	Ivory Coast	20	June
	Morocco	30	June
	Niger	20	June
	Senegal	30	June
	Tunisia	25	June
	Thailand	20	July
Educational TV	Colombia	30	March
Physical education	Morocco	25	July
	Indonesia	30	February
Pre-school	Tunisia	30	February
Vocational	Thailand	20	July
HEALTH
Doctors	Malaya	4	February
Nurses	Malaya	17	February
	Tunisia	20	February
	Dominican Republic	60	February
Nutrition	Peru	50	July
Sanitarians and public health inspectors	Ceylon	30	July
Nurses aides and social welfare workers	Thailand	30	February
	Panama	20	February
Rural community action includes workers in nutrition, first aid, hygiene, rural environment, sanitation, mother and child care, nurses aides, technicians, and social welfare workers	Bolivia	50	July
	Brazil	100	July
	Chile	34	April
	Colombia	50	March
	Costa Rica	undetermined
	Dominican Republic	20	July
	El Salvador	undetermined
	Guatemala	undetermined
	Honduras	50	March
	Jamaica	undetermined
	Venezuela	50	July
	Nepal	42	March
	Pakistan	100	August
General health projects (includes all fields)	Afghanistan	30	July
	Ceylon	50	February
	Ceylon	100	July
	Malaya	35	July
	North Borneo/Sarawak	15	February
	North Borneo/Sarawak	20	July
	Thailand	15	July
	Ethiopia	60	July

ACTIVITY	COUNTRY	NUMBER OF VOLUNTEERS	DATE TO BEGIN TRAINING (1963)
AGRICULTURE
Cooperatives	Colombia	50	August
	Panama	20	February
Agricultural extension work	Guinea	20	July
	Morocco	40	July
	Senegal	20	July
	Somali Republic	50	July
	Togo	15	July
	Tunisia	12	February
	Brazil	70	March
	Colombia	50	August
	Dominican Republic	20	February
	Guatemala	50	July
	Guatemala	40	April
	St. Lucia	15	February
	Uruguay	30	March
Rural community action includes agricultural engineers, agricultural co-op workers, agronomists, foresters, conservationists, home economists, horticulturists, irrigationists, fishermen, extensionists, equipment operators, general farmers and 4-H Club workers	Morocco	30	July
	Sierra Leone	50	July
	Malaya	18	February
	Malaya	35	July
	North Borneo/Sarawak	15	February
	North Borneo/Sarawak	50	July
	Thailand	40	March
	Thailand	40	June
	India	44	February
	India	26	March
	Nepal	42	March
	Bolivia	50	July
	Brazil	100	January
	Brazil	100	July
	Brazil	200	August
	Chile	34	April
	Chile	50	July
	Colombia	50	March
	Colombia	50	July
	Guatemala	50	July
	Honduras	30	March
OTHER SKILLED AND PROFESSIONAL FIELDS
Geologists	Ghana	20	February
Lawyers	English-speaking West Africa	40	July
Public Works	Tunisia	20	February
	Nyasaland	41	July
Mechanics	Tunisia	15	July
	Togo	15	July
Social welfare	Thailand	25	June
	Iran	20	June
Electrical workers	Thailand	20	June
Savings and loan specialists	Bolivia	25	July
	Peru	30	February
Art Foundation	Peru	20	July
Urban community action includes skilled workers, engineers, backgrounds in business and economics, draftsmen, surveyors, architects, building and construction tradesmen, financial backgrounds, etc.	Iran	50	June
	Brazil	50	August
	Ecuador	50	August
	Guatemala	40	February
	Peru	20	July
Total Volunteers needed for projects from January 1963 through August, 1963		3,569

Initiative, Versatility Aid Volunteer

A liberal arts major who doesn't want to go into teaching, but who would still like to go into the Peace Corps may serve in community development projects.

Community development is a term often heard but seldom understood.

In the usual sense, it means the effort of people in groups to raise their standard of living through democratic procedures.

Above all, community development workers must be able to inspire others to initiate and participate in social action. They must be able to serve as catalysts.

Volunteers work on the precinct level with rural and urban people, helping them define and place priorities on their needs and desires, helping them to harness their resources and capabilities to achieve their goals.

For community development workers the decisive qualifications are versatility, a broadness of experiences, a collection of knacks gleaned from hobbies, participation in sports, or summer jobs; in short, traits which many liberal arts students have gained in the process of growing up.

To the previous experience of the Volunteer, the Peace Corps adds special training in rudimentary technical skills.

Liaisons...

(continued from page 1)

at least 15 professors serving as Peace Corps Representatives abroad with the Volunteers.

There are people like William J. P. Mangin, associate professor of sociology and anthropology at Syracuse University, who is serving in Peru. Dr. Mangin had been a field director in Peru for Cornell University, after receiving his B.A. from Syracuse and his Ph.D. from Yale.

William F. Unsoeld, the Peace Corps deputy representative in Nepal, was assistant professor of philosophy and religion at Oregon State University in Corvallis. An expert mountaineer, Dr. Unsoeld has been selected as "Chef d'Attaque" for the 1963 American assault on Mount Everest.

Hazel V. Clarke, an instructor in commerce at North Carolina College in Durham for 13 years, is the deputy representative in British Honduras.

ROAD SURVEYING techniques are explained by Volunteer Eugene Schreiber to co-workers in Tanganyika. Schreiber, 21, is a civil engineering graduate of Purdue University.

LETTERS

the street. Filth was everywhere! Opposite the ugly tenaments

Return Respect

LIBERIA VOLUNTEERS Carol and David Smith visit with village parents of students in their classes. Both are graduates of the University of Puget Sound and are from Seattle, Wash.

SONG SESSION of rural youngsters in Chile is led by Volunteer Joseph Keyerleber, 22, of Cleveland, O. A graduate of Notre Dame, Keyerleber is one of a group of 106 Volunteers in Chile working in community development. He is helping farmers at Chillan set up rural cooperatives.

Mounting Requests Follow...

(continued from page 1)

2. To help Americans understand people of other countries; and

3. To help people of other countries better understand Americans.

Geographically, the Peace Corps' major thrust is in Latin America and Africa, with those continents scheduled to have 3,100 and 2,400 Volunteers by the end of next year. The Far East will have 2,000 and the Near East and South Asia, 1,500.

Teachers Needed

While teachers — of all subjects at all levels — continue to top all skill requests, a major emphasis in many countries is in community development, a program that calls for workers in agriculture, public health, construction, social welfare and engineering.

A Volunteer in Colombia defines Community Development as "a system of group education through physical projects." Volunteers live and work in the villages, not only to help the people build "physical projects," but also to introduce the concept of local self-reliance through democratic group action.

Into this program the Peace Corps is placing liberal arts students who have no developed professional skill. Training programs are designed to develop Volunteers' abilities to lead communities in self-help programs.

Draft Boards Give Deferment

Military service obligations are not met through Peace Corps service. Volunteers can, however, be deferred for the period of their overseas service and, on returning home, could qualify for further deferment at the discretion of their local Selective Service Boards.

Peace Corps service is "within the national interest," said Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service.

Volunteers will be classified by the Selective Service like all other registrants "engaged in activities in the national health, safety or interest."

BIOLOGY STUDENTS at the Opoku Ware Secondary School in Kumasi, Ghana receive instruction from Peace Corps Volunteer Ophelia DeLane of Hollis, Long Island, N.Y. Ophelia, 26, received her BS degree in 1957 from Johnson S. Smith University.

Fast Facts...

Married couples are eligible for the Peace Corps if both persons are qualified and they have no dependent children under 18.

• • •

Georgetown University in Washington has set up a series of scholarships for returning Peace Corps Volunteers. Two full scholarships, covering the entire course of a recipient's studies, will be offered each year. Other universities, including Michigan State are now working on similar proposals.

Sacrifice...

(continued from page 2)

the most pressing, obvious problems he finds.

We in Numancia have become extremely involved in a wide ranging program trying to encourage people to build and use toilets, build pigpens, and fence their gardens when they have them (though more often the problem is to get them to grow a garden), all of which should contribute to the health of the community.

The problems you run into when you become involved in such a campaign, the knowledge you gain of the local political structure, economics and psychology could fill several volumes. And this is probably the most fascinating aspect of the work, especially for someone with a background or interests in the social sciences. Here you are given a position of leadership and great respect within a community. Suddenly, what you say and do really counts. The problems you face are no longer academic, but real and personal.

Quite clearly, there are already indications that these two years in the Philippines will be one of the most valuable and educational experiences of my life. Perhaps even more so than four years at Harvard.

Tribal Dances, Chants...

(continued from page 1)

a late show and a late, late show of magnificent dancing, drumming and chanting three or four times a week.

Real privations have been at a minimum. My house, a two mile walk from the school, is without electricity, refrigeration, and transportation; but it is compensatingly located on the beautiful, grassy, warm-wind-swept plains of Winneba and faces the distant and lovely Mount Mankoadze. Never before have I seen so much sky, eaten such good fish, or breathed so much good air.

My work has fallen into a satisfactory semi-routine. In order to reach school for the morning service and the first class at seven, I rise each day at five-thirty. Classes are completed at two, at which time I return home for lunch except when I remain on duty until nine, or for student meetings which last the afternoon. My teaching, 28 hours a week of English language, French language, English literature and British history, 1066-1485, demands many extra hours of preparation as well as corrections, since I majored in American History. Thus I cannot usually retire before ten or ten-thirty.

Extra activities not already mentioned include additional classes for the upper forms in English and history (often for students not officially in my classes), and being a Form Master, the Entertainments Master, and the Debating Union Master. It has been interesting to give a few Saturday night lectures to the school. The last, a planned hour and actually three and one-half hours talk on Berlin, has been the most successful.

I consider my supreme achievement of the term to be the re-orientation of the school's history program from British to West African. This job was left entirely up to me and it involved a good deal of reading and study in order to find the right books for the students and the right syllabus for the teacher. I am looking forward to teaching West African history next year.

For further information, complete this form and mail to:

PEACE CORPS, Office of Public Affairs, Washington 25, D. C.

Name Mr. Mrs. Miss.....Date.....

Address to which information should be sent:.....

College or University.....

Level at present time (circle one): 1 2 3 4 Grad. Degree.....

Major.....Minor(s).....

Language (Circle kind and Number of Years) French 1 2 3 4 more; Spanish 1 2 3 4 more;

Other.....

College, math and science courses taken:.....

Sports:.....Level (circle) Casual Intramural Varsity. Could Coach.....

Major field of experience outside of school: (Jobs, Farm background, hobbies, etc.)

.....

.....

Date you could enter training:.....Area Preference:.....

FLOORBURNS

by Todd Owers

I never was one much for New Year's resolutions but one of mine this year was to entitle a new column. It will be an easy one to keep, if nothing else. We hope it will be a bit more, however. Girls, take heart and read on, this column is not half as morbid as the title may indicate!

Contrary to popular opinion, we have a completely new basketball team this year. No point in introducing the team members here because they are the same fellows whom you've seen in action week after week on the Maryville hardwood. Same individual team members as last year; just the brand of play is different. Different? Different enough to beat Carson-Newman tonight? Come out to the game and see for yourself!

It appears as if Coach Baird's hoopsters have made an excellent New Year's resolution, and such delightful news we have not heard since the legalization of the twist last year. The resolution, for those who have not yet heard, is a simple one indeed—to win some basketball games in '63. It will take a lot, a few floorburns perhaps or maybe some extra time sacrificed on the practice floor, for the price tag on a worthwhile deal is always high and it is equally as exacting.

'62 is now history, our record was a mediocre two wins, five losses. '63 is here and now with a new year and new life, the "new look" Scotties are giving ample evidence of blossoming into a well oiled basketball machine, one that is "in the groove" at long last. Their ball handling has improved and so has their shooting. Last Saturday night they shocked the Milligan Buffs right out of their shoes with a devastating display of their shooting ability. Milligan came out of the dressing room at half time enjoying a comfortable 37-29 lead, but Maryville made short work of it as they scored a grand total of 54 points in that second half, and shot a fantastic 63 per cent of their shots in this magnificent effort. This is a rare feat indeed, and is really something to write home about. Generally, team shooting percentages range in the 40 per cents and anything above 50 per cent is excellent shooting, to say the least.

Also in this ball game six Maryville players, (count 'em) (Charlie Finley 11, Mike Gregory 22, Bert Randall 10, Don Peterson 12, Bill Schellinger 10 and Larry Huskey 10) hit in the double scoring figures. Another noteworthy item is the fact that at one point in the game Maryville was left hanging on the ropes as a result of a Milligan scoring barrage and found themselves down by 14 points. It took a beautiful come-from-behind effort on the part of Coach Boydson Baird's Highlanders to fight back from this deficit. and come from behind they did to gain control of the ball game and eventually win it by the score of 83-72.

Is this the same team we saw in action last year? Carson-Newman is not impressed and will be out to upset the New Year's apple cart tonight, in an effort to make our success short-lived. The Eagles, highly rated by some, have been having "first-team" troubles this year and in their last ball games have had to rely on substitutes to win for them. How long their bench can continue to win for them is a debatable question, one that we hope to answer negatively for them on the hardwood tonight. All the ingredients are present for a real thriller; the stage is set.

It may take more than some floorburns to beat Carson-Newman but a victory over them is worth all of this and then some. And nobody realizes this any better than does our Maryville College Basketball team, of whom we are justly proud.

Scot Grapplers Active

The Maryville College matmen went after their third victory of the season last night in an encounter at the University of Chattanooga. The Scots were seeking to get back on the winning side of the ledger after dropping two close decisions to the strong Milligan College Buffs. The second loss was a heart-breaking 15-13 defeat last Saturday night on the Milligan home mat. Coach John A. Davis' grapplers started off on the right foot as 123 lb. S.E.C. champ Jim Baxter pinned his man in 2:20 of the third period.

This lead was short-lived however, as the Buffs came back to win the next three matches in a row. Van Pallis got the Scots going again in his 157 pound class bout with a resounding 7-3 decision in his favor. Next came Steve Rago who did a good job of proving to all concerned that he has fully recovered from his shoulder injury by pinning his man in 2:30 of the first period. Other than these victories, Maryville fans found little to cheer about this particular evening.

The two Milligan defeats give Maryville a 2-3 record on the season at this writing. A victory over the University of Chattanooga Moccasins Friday will pull the wrestling team up to the .500 mark and this is what the boys are shooting for. They have been hampered by two serious injuries incurred before the holidays, so it has not been an easy row to hoe. Clint Abbott and Bill DeWeese both experienced injuries as Clint broke his wrist and Bill suffered a broken foot.

The culminating event of the wrestling season is always the big S.E.C. tournament held each year. This is the tournament that all the teams want to win in the worst way and the competition is always extra keen for this contest. Coach Davis and the team are pointing for this tournament and will be out to give a good account of themselves in proving all over again why Maryville College is noted particularly for her wrestling teams.

Next week the Highlanders will be at home for a January 19th match with a strong Morehead State team.

Milligan, Mars-Hill Fall

REJUVENATED SCOTS FACE CARSON-NEWMAN TONIGHT

Maryville College, fresh from two successive wins, one over Milligan and the second over Mars Hill Monday night, take on a strong Carson-Newman quintent tonight in a contest slated for 8 p.m. with the Alumni Gymnasium serving as the scene of battle. The Scotties have looked good in their recent, come-from-behind victories and all signs point to a nip and tuck struggle tonight with the Eagles. All area roads will lead into Maryville for this one tonight, as the game is rated the best in the area. Students would do well to come early in order to assure themselves of a seat.

The Milligan victory was truly a sight to behold. It was a tremendous uphill struggle for the Highlanders of Coach Boydson Baird who at one point found themselves down 14 points but from here they battled back, tied the score and eventually forged into the lead to stay with about nine minutes left on the clock. As the final buzzer sounded the scoreboard read 83-72 in favor of the team attired in orange and garnet.

The big news was an explosive 54 point second half which saw the Scotties hit on 63 per cent of their shots. Throughout the first half the two teams battled on an even keel with the Milligan Buffs pulling out a 37-29 lead in the closing moments.

As the second half began, Maryville came back and cut the lead to six points only to have Milligan come storming back with a scoring surge which left the Highlanders down but not completely out of the ball game. At this point, 14 points behind, Coach Baird's substitutes took over and were instrumental in overcoming this deficit. At the free throw line Milligan was the better ball club, hitting 20 out of 21 free throws while the Scots hit on 19 out of 25 attempts.

Monday night the team journeyed to Asheville, North Carolina and returned home with a fine 75-71 victory over a strong Mars Hill team. The halftime score was 36-35 in favor of Mars Hill. As in the Milligan game it was the same story, with Maryville coming from behind to win the game in the closing moments. Don Peterson, Bill Schellinger, Larry Huskey, Mike Gregory, and Charlie Finley all turned in fine performances in pacing the Scots to their fourth win of the season.

The Maryville Box Score:
F-Finley—14
F-Gregory—18
C-Randall—4
G-Peterson—15
G-Schellinger—9
Substitutes: Moyers, 3; Larry Huskey, 12.

CAPITOL THEATRE

COMING SOON!

No one under 16 will be admitted unless accompanied by an adult.

A DARRYL F. ZANUCK PRODUCTION

The Chapman Report

STARRING SHELLEY WINTERS · JANE FONDA · EFREM ZIMBALIST, JR. · CLAIRE BLOOM · GLYNIS JOHNS
Directed by GEORGE CUKOR
Screenplay by WYATT COOPER and DON M. MANKIEWICZ
Produced by RICHARD D. ZANUCK
Based on the novel by IRVING WALLACE · Music by Leonard Rosenman
TECHNICOLOR®
From WARNER BROS.

THE SYNCHRONIZED SWIM CLASS

Proudly Presents

"A WORLD of OPPOSITES"

January 18th
6:45
College Pool
no charge

Y WORKSHOP,
(Cont'd from P. 1)

Wilma Dykeman Stokely and Dr. Merrill Proudfoot. Mrs. Stokely, the author of Seeds of Southern Change, is presently a columnist for the Knoxville News-Sentinel. Dr. Proudfoot is a professor at Knoxville College, as well as the author of Diary of a Sit-In. Both Mrs. Stokely, who will speak to the conference participants on Saturday afternoon, and Dr. Proudfoot, who will appear on the program Saturday morning, are well-known for their insight into the human-relation problems of East Tennessee.

Other highlights in the conference agenda include two showings of a film produced by the Anti-Defamation League, "Walk in My Shoes," which presents the point of view of a member of a minority race in a large city; four workshop sessions, two each on Saturday and Sunday; periods of free-time for social activities, as well as periods of planned recreation; and the closing General Plenary Session on Sunday afternoon, during which each workshop will report its findings, and at which time a general evaluation of the whole Workshop will be made.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock
of Quality Products Including
a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Washington Avenue

Maryville College
STUDENT CENTER
proudly serves
FULLER LOCKER PLANT
Hamburgers
★
Hot Dogs

PET DAIRY

ICE CREAM
★
MILK

"Fresh from the Dairy"

E. R. Hunter To Lecture On Shakspere

Dr. Edwin R. Hunter, professor of English at Maryville College, will present the fourth program in the 1962-1963 Lecture Series on Friday, February 8, at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center Music Hall.

A noted Shaksperean scholar, Professor Hunter will speak in commemoration of the four-hundredth anniversary of Shakspere's birth. He has entitled his lecture "Prelude to an Anniversary."

Dr. Hunter's lecture marks the inauguration of a new practice of the Lecture Series, namely the inclusion of one member of the college faculty each year. Now in semi-retirement, Dr. Hunter has taught at Maryville College since 1918. He is former chairman of the Division of Languages and Literature, as well as former dean of curriculum.

Deanna Sturgell Wins Position As Reporter For "Mademoiselle"

Deanna Sturgell, a junior from Paris, Illinois, will represent Maryville College on the 1963 National College Board of Mademoiselle magazine. As a College Board member, Miss Sturgell will report news from her college to Mademoiselle, and she is eligible to compete for one of the twenty Guest Editorships that will be awarded by the magazine in May.

The annual College Board Competition is designed for women students with talent in art, writing, fashion, merchandising, promotion, or advertising. Each Board member was selected on the basis of an entry that showed her interest and ability in one of these fields. To win one of the top twenty prizes in May, each member must submit a second entry to show her specific aptitude for magazine work.

The twenty College Board members who win Guest Editorships will be brought to New York City for the month of June to help edit, write, and illustrate Mademoiselle's 1963 August college issue. They will share offices with the magazine's editors, advise the staff on campus trends, interview well-known artists and writers, and represent the magazine on visits to publishing houses, stores, and advertising agencies.

They will also be photographed for the college issue, and will be considered for future staff positions with Mademoiselle and other Conde Nast publications.

DR. HUDSON,
(Cont'd from P. 1)

Reverend Hudson is a Canadian by birth. He was educated in the public schools of Nova Scotia and California. He received his B. A. degree from Occidental College, Los Angeles, and his B. D. degree from McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago. In 1944 Occidental College conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity.

His first pastorate was the Point Loma Presbyterian Church, of which he was the organizing pastor in 1937. In 1941 he accepted the dual position of associate executive secretary of the Presbytery of Los Angeles and lecturer in the department of religion of Occidental College. From 1943 to 1949 he served as minister of Westminster Presbyterian Church in Portland, Oregon. From 1949 to 1955 he was minister of the First Presbyterian Church in Oakland, California. Since July 1955 Dr. Hudson has served as minister of the Calvary Presbyterian Church in Riverside.

LETTERS, (Cont'd from P. 2)

hard-looking people, unclean and vulgar people. Love can enable one to discover a tenderness beneath the hard shell. Under the mask of externals, people are one in their need for love. The world is hungry for love; people are suffering from its absence. This group of apparently calloused, tough men ot Opal Street are no exception from the love-lacking people of the world.

But, aside from this one common factor, these are not ordinary people. They are the unemployed, the victims of alcohol, the leeches of welfare whom people without understanding label "bums."

If only you could have sat with me on the steps of a corner boarded-up house and listened to a drunken man spill his verbal tears! If you could live with them in their moments of goodness, elation, and despair, you would share with me a deeper understanding of problems much greater than our worst nightmares. The church badly needs people who are willing to take seriously the words of James when he wrote: "Are ye not then become partial in yourselves . . .?"

—Gordon Stewart

Always Look Your Best

SEE US FOR ALL YOUR DRY CLEANING NEEDS

MARYVILLE CLEANERS

Contact Your Dormitory Agent—

Carnegie & Memorial—JOE FINK, ED KRUSMAN

New Dorm—SANDY SCOFIELD

Pearsons—SUE QUIGG

Baldwin—JANET MELVILLE

exam . . . pencil . . . paper proctor . . . time . . . begin think . . . blank . . . tick tick guess . . . tick tick . . . write tick tick . . . hurry . . . finish time . . . pause . . .

Coca-Cola

take a break . . . things go better with Coke

CAPITOL THEATRE

SUN., MON., TUES., January 13–15

Mighty in Battle!

Mighty in Love!

THE TROJAN HORSE

EUROSCOPE EASTMAN COLOR

Released by COLORAMA Features Inc.

STEVE REEVES

JOHN DREW BARRYMORE • JULIETTE MAYNIEL • MEDY VESSEL • LYDIA ALFONSI
WARNER BENTIVEGNA • LUCIANA ANGELILLO • ARTURO DOMINICI • MIMMO PALMARA
NERIO BERARDI • NANDO TAMBERLANI • CARLO TAMBERLANI Directed by GIORGIO FERRONI

WED., THURS., FRI., January 16–18

HONORED as the picture to inaugurate the HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW ENGAGEMENT

Bette Davis and Joan Crawford

Seven Arts Presents An Associates and Aldrich Production

"WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE?"

Released by WARNER BROS.

DOUBLE FEATURE, SAT., January 19

A REGIMENT OF FORGOTTEN MEN . . . A WOMAN NO MAN COULD FORGET!

M-G-M presents

Richard BOONE · George HAMILTON
Luana PATTEN · Arthur O'CONNELL

in A ROBERT J. ENDERS PRODUCTION

A THUNDER OF DRUMS

In CinemaScope and METROCOLOR

— AND —

M-G-M Presents RORY CALHOUN IN THE COLOSSUS OF RHODES

IN BLAZING COLOR

SuperlotalScope and EASTMANCOLOR

SUN., MON., TUES, January 20–22

A RHYTHM-AND-ROMANCE CRUISE!

TWO TICKETS TO PARIS

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 48 | Maryville, Tennessee, February 9, 1963 | No. 8

Stewart Resigns As Vice-President Of Student Govt.

Gordon Stewart, vice-president of the Student Body, resigned his office January 30 at the first student council meeting of the new semester.

A Surprised Council

After Stewart had conducted the unusually short meeting in the absence of President Mike Tarrett, he left the room to allow Secretary-Treasurer Ann Kuykendall to take over. She then read a short letter of resignation, which Stewart had given to her five minutes before the beginning of the meeting. Apparently the resignation came as a complete surprise to the some thirty members and visitors at the council meeting.

A Reluctant Approval

The resignation was approved reluctantly and made effective immediately. No plans were made at that time for a special election to fill Stewart's post. The vice-president is traditionally the chairman of the council committee on campus elections.

$550 In Hope Fund

To date $551.50 has been collected toward the Fred Hope Fund with the ultimate monetary goal set at $1983.50.

The Indian students are John and Parveen. John's home is the orphanage run by the hospital in Ferozepur, India, near the Pakistan border. In 1947, at the time of the partitioning of India, John was found alive on a train filled with murdered men, women, and children. He is now 17, a high school graduate, and a pre-medical student in the D.A.V. College in Jullundur, one of the best in the Punjab.

Maryville students voted last Dec. 4 to give the proceeds of the Fred Hope campaign this year to John. However, Dr. Ferris at the hospital in India wrote and asked if the funds could be divided so that Parveen, daughter of a minister who is a convert to Christianity, could be helped too. The students accepted this suggestion, and an advance of $500 has been sent for Parveen's bills at medical school. Parveen is a first-year medical student at Vellor Medical School.

Six Newcomers

1963 FEBRUARY MEETINGS TO FEATURE NEW LEADERSHIP

When the annual February Meetings at Maryville College open on February 21, 1963, six new faces will appear among the leadership. In addition to the main speaker, Dr. Thomas Franklyn Hudson, from Riverside, California, other guest leaders will include Joe T. Jones as song leader and four youth workers who will reside on the campus during the Meetings: A. Johannes van den Blink, Miss Margaret Bruner, William Harold Hunter, and Ewell J. Reagin.

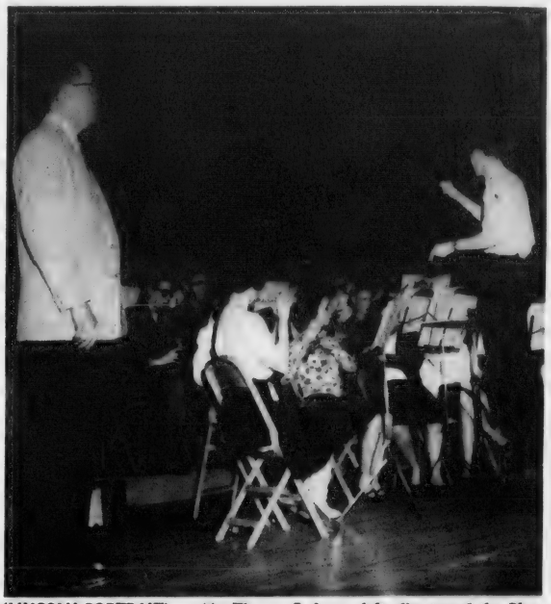
Six Clergymen

All six of the leaders are active clergymen in the United Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. Dr. Hudson is pastor of a church in Riverside, as well as a member of the General Assembly council on theological education. Mr. Jones is a Negro Sunday School Missionary in Charlotte, North Carolina. The four youth workers live in Knoxville: Mr. van den Blink serves as Chaplain at Fort Sanders Hospital; Miss Bruner is the Director of Christian Education at the Second Presbyterian Church; Mr. Hunter, son of Maryville College Professor, Dr. Edwin R. Hunter, is Pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church; and Mr. Reagin is the University Pastor of the Presbyterian Center at the University of Tennessee.

Two Sermon Themes

Dr. Hudson will deliver messages every morning during the week February 21-28, and he will lead evening services at the college everyday except Saturday, Wednesday, and Thursday, February 23, 27 and 28. He has chosen two different themes: At the morning services he will discuss "The Parables of the Old Testament and their Meaning for 1963"; at the evening meetings his theme will be "A Christian's Creed."

Youth Workers in Dorms



Each of the four youth workers, who will live in one of the college dormitories from Sunday, February 24, until Thursday, February 28, will be available for both individual interviews and informal group discussions throughout the Meetings.

Public Welcome

As in other years during the Meetings, the daily chapel service will be held in mid-morning, at 9:40 a.m. and the evening service at 7 p.m. The public is welcome to all services of the February Meetings.

Dr. Jackson Sails Today

Dr. Elizabeth Jackson, head of the Maryville College English department, sails today from New York aboard the liner S. S. CONSTITUTION for Europe, where she will spend her sabbatical leave. First Dr. Jackson will spend six weeks touring Italy and perhaps Greece. Next she will go to London to spend three weeks working in the British National Library in the British Museum. Dr. Jackson will then attend the summer term at the University of Leeds in Yorkshire, where she will attend lectures on Chaucer and English philology, as well as other courses not yet chosen. In July she will tour the upper part of the continent and return home by ship in mid-August.

'LINCOLN PORTRAIT' — Mr. Thomas E. Jones, left, director of the Playhouse, rehearses with the Maryville College Band under Director John Roberts for the presentation of Aaron Copeland's Lincoln Portrait' Saturday night.

See Page 10 For Concert Story

Y CONFERENCE SWINGS INTO FULL PROGRAM TODAY

The Intercollegiate Human Relations Workshop of the YW and YMCA continues its activities here today and tomorrow, having opened with a movie, "Walk in my Shoes," and a discussion last night. Students from several East Tennessee colleges and guest speakers from the area are participating. The activities listed below are open to all interested persons.

SCHEDULE TODAY

9:00-9:45	"The South and Democracy" Mrs. Wilma Dykeman Stokeley
10:00-10:45	Question Period
10:50-12:15	Workshops
2:30-3:15	"The Essentials of a Christian and Democratic Society" Dr. Merrill Proudfoot
3:15-4:00	Question Period
6:15-7:00	Robert Zellner: Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee; John Lewis: Nashville Student Movement; Steve Richardson: Representative from W. Tennessee Workshop
7:00-8:00	Workshops
8:00	Recreation

SUNDAY

9:00-10:15	Workshops
1:45-3:00	Plenary

Congressmen Symington, Hall Voice Political Opinion to MC Student Body President

by Mike Garrett

If you want to start an argument, just ask Democratic and Republican Congressmen their opinions of the Kennedy administration. This was the outstanding impression I gained as a result of interviews with Missouri Congressmen Stuart Symington and Durward Hall. Democrat Symington, who is Missouri's senior Senator, flatly refused to criticize any phase of the Kennedy administration and pointed with pride to several pieces of administration-sponsored legislation, including Medicare and education bills. Hall, a second-term Republican from Missouri's 7th District, was rather heated in some of his criticisms of the present administration. The primary targets for this criticism were what he termed "the President's news-managing techniques," and Kennedy's handling of the Cuban situation.

On other matters, Hall and Symington were nearer agreement, but quite often their political affiliations were very much in evidence. The following resume of questions and answers is illustrative:

1. What are the chances of a tax cut this year?

Symington: I am in favor of a tax cut and feel that some tax cut will be made. I also feel that certain expenditures should be reduced.

Hall: I am in favor of a tax cut, but I do not feel that one will be forthcoming this year due to the increased budget proposed by President Kennedy.

2. What is your opinion of the present situation in Cuba and President Kennedy's handling of that situation?

Symington: Khrushchev's retreat in Cuba marks the first time since the Truman administration that the US has stood up to Communism and made it stick. As to the present situation, the Senate is conducting an investigation in order to get an adequate picture of the circumstances involved.

Hall: Kennedy has made three mistakes in regard to Cuba. The first came during the original Bay of Pigs invasion attempt when he cancelled orders for adequate air coverage; the second occurred just a few months ago when he had Khrushchev on the defensive, but failed to finish the job; and the third mistake is that Communism still remains in Cuba and there is more than a defensive build-up.

3. Many people, notably Governor Rockefeller of New York, have criticized Kennedy's handling of the news. Your opinion?

Symington: I am a firm believer in maximum freedom of the press. I also feel that it is sometimes necessary to suppress certain news for security purposes.

Hall: The Kennedy administration has gone far toward managing the news and has done so rapidly. This managing reveals a certain perfidy and fickleness in the Kennedy administration and is politics in the poorest sense of the word. "You can't fool all the people all of the time."

4. Your opinion of the Kennedy administration?

Symington: A good administration. Has stood up to Communist aggression; taken steps to improve the lot of the poor; and has realized the importance of education. I have no criticisms to offer.

Hall: One year President Kennedy tells us that deficits are bad; the next year deficits are good. He seems to think that one can have his cake and eat it too, from the cradle to the grave.

On one point, however, the Congressmen were united. Both men emphasized the need for participation in government at all levels. Hall pointed out that there are three routes to such participation: the candidate's route, the organizer's route and the supporter's route. All are important and all are essential to the proper functioning of a democracy. Both men deplored the unfavorable light in which many regard politics, and expressed the conviction that politics was one of the most worthwhile professions open to the members of any generation. Symington produced the most quotable statement of the interviews when he commented on the quirks of politics by saying: "If you plan well in business, you're a genius. If you plan well in politics, you're a socialist!"

I left Washington much impressed by Missouri's Congressmen, firmly convinced that while politics may be a very funny business, it is a very necessary one as well.

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor in Chief
LYNN HERRING

Assistant Editor — CHARLOTTA COOK
News Editor — PATRICIA REHM
Feature Editor — ANN HARRISON
Art Editor — GRACE ROSSER
Sports Editors — TODD OWERS and JEANNE PRICE
Exchange Editor — GAIL GARLOCH
Business Manager — PAUL BIGGERS

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Mary Gay Boettcher, Elenora Easterly, Sue Foreman, John Gamble, Dave King, Libby Lee, Dave Marston, Nelson Miller, Paul Miller, Charlie Rowland, Helen Ryan, Celia Tiffany

CIRCULATION: David King, Bruce Bigart, Carole Brownlee, Harold Cones, Ginna Coon, Nelson Miller

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR, MR. FRANK LAYMAN

From The Editor

For a college which so verbally supports student equality and academic excellence, there is a great deal of clandestine activity which seems to be little more than a glorified form of Mickey Mouse. Disregarding the imposing Greek letters, the secret little group is more generally known as the DUD society. The official badge, apparently, is a red rosebud boutonniere to be worn at the campus formals. The Duds have existed as a more or less secret group on this campus for a number of years. Although such organizations are illegal at Maryville, I am not aware of any adminjstrative threat to the Duds or to the female counterpart which tries to ally itself with them.

My understanding of the Duds is that it exists as a weak political organization which attempts to influence campus elections so that its members will be elected to school offices. Last spring it was bold enough to concern itself openly with the election for student body president. It failed, but its existence was not challenged strongly enough to force it to disband. I suppose it will try again this spring. I do not respect or fear its influence, but I do question its right to exist in defiance of the policy of this college.

The women's secret society, allegedly the spades, is lesser known, perhaps because it seems to do little more than have secret initiations, meetings, and parties.

My questions are these: Does the administration know that these two groups exist? Has there been any attempt to discourage their activities? Do the Duds have any plans for supporting one of their members in the student body election this spring?

"Brotherhoods" and "sisterhoods" beyond the four legitimate societies should exist with open approval or they should not exist at all. There seems to be no excuse for the inconsistency which exists at present.

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am — 11 pm 982-9921

Always Look Your Best

SEE US FOR ALL YOUR DRY CLEANING NEEDS

MARYVILLE CLEANERS

Contact Your Dormitory Agent—

Carnegie & Memorial—JOE FINK, ED KRUSMAN
New Dorm—SANDY SCOFIELD
Pearsons—SUE QUIGG
Baldwin—JANET MELVILLE

175 Musicians To Play in Clinic Here Next Week

About 175 high school, grammar school, and even three-year-old string musicians will come to the Maryville campus next Friday and Saturday for the annual East Tennessee Band and Orchestra Association String Clinic, according to Mr. Kent Perry of the fine arts faculty.

Mr. Perry, who is in charge of the clinic this year, stated its purpose: "It is a two-day work session to enable the students to learn ensemble techniques required of string players and orchestras, which they could not learn in their public schools." There will be no competitive playing.

Noted Violinist to Direct

The director of the Conservatory of Music at Muskingum College and one of the most highly regarded professors in his field, John D. Kendell, will direct the orchestras. Mr. Kendell has authored several violin method books. The most recent, Listen and Play, is based on the Suzuk Talent Education Movement in Japan. This movement exposes children to music at a very young age, teaching them musical skills and appreciation.

At 11 o'clock Saturday a film about the 450 string students of the Talent Education Institute in Tokyo will be shown in the theater.

Mr. Perry has been using this method with several young students here and they, with others from East Tennessee, will demonstrate their skills from 11:30 to 12:00 Friday on the chapel stage.

Concerts Open to Public

The Maryville College Faculty Trio and several soloists will perform in the Music Hall from 1:30 to 2:00 on Friday. A final concert by the clinic's participants will complete the activities at 4:00 on Saturday. These events are open to the general public without charge.

Bizarre "Nights" with RLS

Robert Louis Stevenson, New Arabian Nights, Doubledy, Dolphin edition, 1961, 320 pp. Available at college book store.

These six tales of adventure have been described as "unabashedly romantic and bizarre." Each is unique, with its own surprising twists of plot.

The first two are bloodcurdling mysteries, remarkable for the new brands of crime Stevenson concocts in them. A Bohemian prince with a penchant for playing Destiny becomes involved in both the horrible case of "The Suicide Club" and the deplorable history of "The Rajah's Diamond." The third tale is a masterpiece of suspense, relating the desperate last stand of four outcasts in "The Pavilion on the Links," against the vengeance of the dreaded Black Hand of Italy. The fourth is more a character study than a story; we are introduced to Francis Villon, the rogue poet of the fifteenth century, as he searches for "A Lodging for the Night." Denis de Beaulieu has his problems, too, as he is held captive behind "The Sire de Maletroit's Door," with the choice of marrying the Sire's niece or hanging! The collection ends on a quieter note, as a wandering singer, with the aid of "Providence and the Guitar," brings a quarreling young couple together again.

The plots are swift and well-constructed, the characters distinctly portrayed, the style smooth and flowing. It is a delightful fling in the world of fantastic adventure, highly recommended for all who like mystery, suspense and romance, or are just plain bored with the everyday routine of studies.

—Celia Tiffany

COMMENTS ON CAMPUS

TOWN STUDENTS NEED GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

by John Gamble

The election campaign last spring for student body president was a typical one, infiltrated with the usual pledges. Perhaps one of the most noteworthy promises made was by the elected president, Mike Garrett.

In his letter to the voters, Garrett stated: "I think that specific provision should be made for town students to be elected to Student Council." It seemed that this was one of the first times that the problem of the town students had entered into such a high election on campus, and considering the emphasis Garrett placed on this specific portion of his platform, he evidently considered it a major problem. Undoubtedly it won much support from the town students and played an important part in electing the president.

Toward the close of the semester last year, Garrett met with interested town students. Even last semester he discussed the problem on several occasions. However, the fact still remains, nothing of importance has been done to solve the problem and the town students remain in the same situation as they did before the election.

TOWN STUDENTS LACK RESPRESENTATION

Let us explore the problem. An estimated 160 students of Maryville College commute to the campus each day. This number represents almost one-fourth of the student body. It is larger than the senior class, and equals the junior class in numbers.

Yet this group of students has traditionally been divorced from the campus. It is seldom that a town student can win a seat on student council and their participation in the student government is practically nil. No one can deny that their views on student government are seldom sought

Yet they are an integral part of the college, and equal students in every respect in the eyes of the administration. Why then should they be demoted to a second class position in student government?

The Men's Student Co-operative co-ordinates the activities of the campus males. The Women's Student Government Association does likewise for the campus women. The presidents of these two campus groups sit on Council and have an equal vote to all other members of Council. Therefore, campus students are represented not only by their elected representatives but also by either the MSC or the WSGA representatives. The town students are denied a special person on Council to represent their views. Why the framers of the student body constitution overlooked this fact, one will never know.

Student Council should take the MSC and WSGA representatives off Council or demote them to a non-voting capacity; or allow the town students to elect a similar group and to sit on Council—preferably the latter.

OFFERS PLAN

The town students should meet and draw up a consitution and submit it to Council for approval, if Council does not take the initiative. A new Town Students Government Association could elect a council, with a certain number of representatives from each of the four classes, and a president, who would voice their views and sit in on Student Council. This proposed TSGA would unite the student body. All groups would be fairly represented. Moreover, the TSGA could help stimulate town student interest in campus affairs and would give the commuters a new interest in the college. It could also help promote the elections of more town students to other positions of importance in the student government.

An area college recently incorporated a new town government group into their student government and completely rewrote their constitution in the process. We also need to consider the interests of the town students. We urge the town students and the Student Council to get busy and see to it that all students of Maryville College are fairly represented. It could end useless rivalry and go a long way in really uniting the students.

OTHELLO Rated Adequate

by Mary Gay Boettcher

Othello, on a green suggestion of a set, was presented by the National Players in the Chapel on Thursday. It was, on the whole, adequate.

Moor Without Depth

Othello himself was not very much more than that. His vocal force was limited and strained, it seemed. In giving his audience the almost devil-may-care character of the first section he may have misinterpreted his Shakspere. In the second half his reversal was startling, even though he reached a climax minutes before the final scene. The scene itself, in spite of his almost complete lack of depth and feeling, had still, somehow, the impact it was supposed to have.

Desdemona, who was faintly reminiscent of Corliss Archer in spots, gave an interesting fragility which helped to balance an otherwise generally shallow interpretation. Her physical appearance in the final scene was so effective it seemed a pity for her to have died so quickly.

Iago Brilliant

If these two characters weren't particularly outstanding Iago made all that seem unimportant. His brilliant portrayal of the play's antagonist carried the audience's attention throughout. His competent use of voice technique combined with his quick knife-like movement to give a vivid, memorable portrayal. Although he was obviously using every trick of the theatrical trade, from the Crucifix positioning to his rapid voice drops, he did it so well that one hardly minded.

MUSE TEN

This sorrow, such a fog that stealthy steals
And shrouds all happy voices
Leaving only melancholy whispers.
This midnight fog ,the midst of my own tears
Their bitterness — companionship in kind
While I am left alone.
The sky is thunder-filled with breaking dreams
Once smashed, they form a million mocking stars
Which pierce this fog to haunt a sickened soul
At once to freeze and burn and mock its cry.
Tears reflect this mockery of life —
Sad race to nothing.

Lynn Herring

The Darkness

The cold dark descends and covers
What we have known as light and bright
The life we knew, or thought we knew
Is hidden from our sight.

In time of need, when love and lovers
Can no longer think of beauty,
The things we loved, and thought we knew
Are gone, and gone with them the love.

And while the darkness hovers,
We find ourselves sightless as night,
Thinking about the life we knew,
Still trying to find the truth.

Charlie Rowland

The Leaf

I picked a leaf from a growing tree;
Its perfect form and glowing green
More fair than I had ever seen,
And it enchanted, captured me.
But I was blind, and did not see
That by plucking it from there
Would cause the death of it so fair,
For only there was it meant to be.

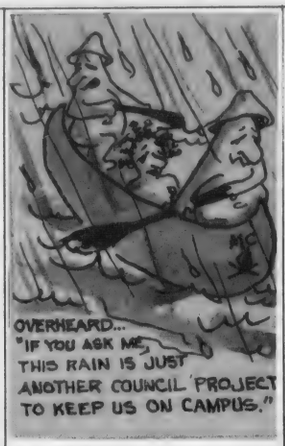
The truth too late am I taught,
That each has its place and need.
For the leaf, its place the tree.
And humans, too, can nought
But wither without the seed
Of Love, this now I grasp and see.

Nelson Miller

Spotlight – Ian Fleming

by Dave Marston

They say the rich get richer—certainly President Kennedy is living proof of this. But it might also be said that the rich help others get richer, whether they intend to or not. Besides looking after his relatives faithfully, President Kennedy has also, however unintentionally, made Vaughan Meader a rich man. And several months ago, when Kennedy remarked casually that James Bond mystery stories were his favorite light reading, he set Ian Fleming well on the way to wealth.



Ian Fleming is the creator of James Bond. A British Secret Service agent, Bond is entrusted with the coveted "OO" rating—this means he may kill at will, in the line of duty. And in most of Fleming's stories, hero Bond finds it necessary to kill ruthlessly and often, to the delight of his readers.

Unlike many mystery writers, Ian Fleming has had a first-hand look at most of his subject matter. During World War II, he served as assistant to Britain's Director of Naval Intelligence—since the war, he has worked as the Moscow correspondent for The London Times, and is presently the foreign manager of The London Sunday Times.

Predictably, as Fleming writes about what he knows best, James Bond spends much of his time fighting the Russians. Most often Bond and a beautiful girl are set in a life-or-death struggle with SMERSH, which Fleming says is an authentic Russian agency employing some 40,000 persons for the sole purpose of dealing death to spies. Naturally Bond and his girl friend always win, but if Fleming's plots are fantastic, his knowledge of espionage and human nature are so painstakingly accurate that no one really cares.

Taken objectively, hero Bond is a funny sort of animal. A cross between Perry Mason, Tarzan and Alfred Hitchcock, he is in no sense the ordinary murder-mystery hero. Nor is author Fleming the ordinary murder-mystery writer. To satiate his own fanaticism for detail, Fleming meticulously records every brand name for his readers. Bond doesn't buy a pack of cigarettes—he buys a pack of Morland cigarettes, lights them with his Zippo lighter, and is careful not to flick ashes on his Brooks Brothers suit. But in the end, just as certainly as James Bond survives, the reader returns to the news stand for another Ian Fleming story. Indeed, the "incredible suspense, unexpected thrills and extraordinary danger" promised on the cover are rarely lacking.

For Ian Fleming, the future looks secure. He has published eight books, and is working on more. Primarily a British favorite originally, Fleming is now enjoying sky-rocketing popularity in the United States. It seems a safe bet that James Bond will survive for many years to come, even if the Republicans should win in 1964.

No Valentine? Buy A Junior!

The entire junior class of about a hundred will be sold at public auction on St. Valentine's Day next week. President Dave Marston, obviously in high spirits as he made the announcement said: "Bert (Randall, Junior Vice-President) and I are real pleased with the whole plan. We're going to use the money to finance a little winter vacation for the class officers!"

In a more serious vein, the plan was described as follows: Every member of the class will be up "for sale" and may be bought by any member of the student body for twenty-five cents. To purchase a junior, students will buy a tag with the intended junior's name on it. Then on Valentine's Day, the purchaser will pin the tag on his junior, who for that entire day, will be the personal "slave" of his purchaser.

Duties of the slave will be defined on the tag, but it is expected that some of the more usual chores will include carrying books, ironing, (up to three shirts), polishing shoes, mending, general errands and slave-like duties. Some girls have offered to take dictation for boys who are behind in their letter-writing and boys too will possibly be available for dictation. It is hoped that purchasers will buy slaves of the opposite sex (i.e. boys buy girls, and vice-versa), and in view of this, services asked of the slave must be kept within reason.

Juniors are generally enthusiastic about the entire program, with the notable exception of one skeptic, who remarked: "It's the greatest thing since the St. Valentine's Day Massacre." But the more widespread feeling among the Juniors is: "If nobody will be your Valentine, a Junior will be your slave!"

Proceeds will be donated to the Fred Hope Fund.

Off the Cuff...

by Dave King

To all of you who are newcomers to the land of the Orange and Garnet—welcome! All of us here at the Echo say "Hi!" to all you from the North and "Are you all right " to you Southern folk. Yes indeed, welcome to Maryville College—the only college with its own campus-wide sprinkler system. We don't have to worry about fires here at M.C. because everything's too wet. Actually, the rain isn't that bad if you don't mind going to church in a rowboat.

Many of the new northern students come expecting to find the Civil War still going on. This isn't so, my friends—we can't even convince them that it's started yet. And there's certainly no truth to the stories that they shoot mailmen down here because they mistake them for Yankee soldiers. It's the milk men they shoot for soldiers—the mailmen they shoot for revenue agents. The people here really are friendly and are most hospitable. Just ask them. We will caution you on one thing, though—until you've been here for a while, take an upperclassman with you when you shop to interpret for you. For a while all you'll be able to understand is the cheery "Hurry back, y' hear!"

Maryville College—where the women outnumber the men and the sociology majors outnumber everyone. Our school's plant consists of a number of buildings: some old, such as Anderson Hall, which are representative of our heritage with the past, and some new, such as the New Dorm, which symbolize the future, because that's when they'll be paid for.

It shouldn't take you long to get used to our routine. Our day begins officially at 8:00—or thereabouts—with chapel and ends when you like. We are served three meals a day—take it or leave it.

What will require time to adjust to are the hour long blue-book exams. We hope that what happened to one bewildered freshman not too long ago doesn't happen to you. He wasn't accustomed to the unyielding barrage of tests from all sides and decided to write a few pertinent facts inside the top lining of his trousers to help him through a history exam. When he encountered the question "Who made the first circumnavigation of the earth?", he calmly rolled back the tops of his trousers and confidently answered, "J. C. Penney."

Chi Beta Plans Eventful Semester

Chi Beta has begun the semester with great enthusiasm. During semester break Chi Beta and Kappa Phi co-sponsored a skating party at the Knoxville Ice Chalet, and on February 2 Chi Beta had a spaghetti supper in the Y rooms.

Current plans include more emphasis upon strong development of individual chapters within the society. The chapters are to meet more frequently, each chapter being responsible for a service project in the Maryville area as well as caring for the Phi House on a weekly basis.

The semester plans also include continuation of opening the Kappa Phi house on Thursday nights to all Chi Beta and Kappa Phi members.

Tonight at 6:15 in the Fine Arts Center, Reverend Brown, a local minister, will speak at a joint meeting.

Biology Dep't. Plans Step-Up In Program

Plans are being made for changes in the biology department to help it to keep pace with modern biology. Some of these tentative plans are the changing of the requirements for a biology major to include organic chemistry and physics, the addition of a course in human anatomy and physiology for physical education majors, and the rescheduling of classes to allow three one-hour lectures and one three-hour lab in the afternoon.

Student organized biology seminars are being held every Thursday night at either the home of Dr. A. R. Shields or Mr. R. C. Ramger. Junior and senior biology majors plan their discussion schedule a semester in advance. Seniors frequently report on their independent studies during the second semester. Freshmen and sophomores discuss general topics such as photosynthesis.

THE LATEST CAMPUS CRAZE

COLLEGEMATE GARTER
Made of red shirred satin and fine black lace with the charm of the gay nineties.
Price $1.00

COLLEGEMATE SUSPENDER
Be smart, be gay, with a red clip-on suspender in rocking-chair style.
Price $2.00

COLLEGEMATE ARMBANDS
Capture the nostalgia of the gaslight era, wear a pair of snazzy red armbands.
Price $1.00 per pair

COLLEGEMATE MEGAPHONE
Hear, hear a lot of cheer with a touch of yesteryear. Comes in sizes 7, 9, and 11 inches.
Prices respectively $2.00, $3.00, $4.00

IMMEDIATE DELIVERY Money must accompany order.

The COLLEGE WORLD, INC 1261 BROADWAY • NEW YORK 1, N.Y.

CAMPUS SCOOPS: ON NORTH AND SOUTH

BY DEANNA STURGELL, '64

With the Great Smoky Mountains as a background and within dating distance, the Maryville College students are surrounded by a beautiful and historical campus. Since the school was founded in 1819, the only time it has been closed was for five years during the Civil War. Although the Blues and the Greys no longer use the campus for firing practice, there are still (friendly) traces of the Civil War to be found. The student body composed of 755 students from 45 states and countries includes 368 Confederates and 369 Yankees. With this ratio and with each student loyal to his own cause, Sherman might as well still have his troops camped on the ridge in Knoxville, fifteen miles from the Maryville Campus. But still the war is friendly.

Below: Example. No battle is in sight between the five Southerners (the sixth one claims the Midwest) and Lois Anthony, who is straight from Yankee land. But the men do say this outfit would look just as well on the southern sister. The hooded jacket is white lamb's wool with black braid trim and leather buttons. The hood lining and the slim skirt are the same — green and red plaid wool. The jacket, $20. The skirt, 8-14, $11. Both by Bobbie Brooks. Capezio skimmers. At B. Altman's, Shorthills, N. J. The surrounding Southerners, l. to r.: Gene Dixon '65, Herman Ramsey, '66, Don Sentell, '65, Phil Brown (the Midwesterner), '64, Earl Jordan, '64, and Mike White, '64.

PHOTOGRAPHS by MARVIN DOCKERY

Right: On "All Scot's Day," kilts are in order for both troops. Left: Gayle "Sherman" Eggers, '64, wears a red and navy plaid pleated kilt topped with the campus indispensable — the parka. This parka does double duty, red wool here, and inside, sometimes outside, black weather-treated nylon. Kilt by Petti, 6-14, $13. Parka by White Stag, small, medium, large, $16. Bonnie Doone knee socks. Sandler shoes. All at Carson Pirie Scott, Chicago. Right: Another "Scottie," Gracie Rosser, '63, wears a camel and olive plaid kilt with a sideline of camel fringe. On top of this, the campus classics — shetland and oxford cloth. The shetland sweater is camel and cardigan, the oxford cloth shirt is white and round collared. Kilt by Sren, 6-14, $11. Sweater by Garland, 34-40, $10. Jayson Classics Shirt, 8-16, $4. Bonnie Doone knee socks. All at Hutzler's, Baltimore.

Below: Gracie again, this time she's checking up on the first proceedings of the secessionists. Check twice the outfit. The ski-type sweater is basicly olive and grey with splashes of orange and turquoise. The matching olive slacks, fully lined, are stretch wool. Catalina sweater, 36-40, $15. Jantzen slacks, 8-14, $16. Mercury boots. All at the Resort Shop, Gatlinburg, Tenn.

AT MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

IT'S HERE

X-PAN by McGREGOR

X-PAN TOTAL ACTION

New versions of the world's most famous jacket—the McGregor Drizzler golf jacket. Now with X-PAN nylon mesh insets in back—they flex as you move, spring back as you relax. Of rugged Drizzler cloth (60% rayon-40% cotton) guaranteed water repellent for two full years. X-PAN DRIZZLER $12.95

Proffitt's

Left: The contemporary twin of the personal conflict of Lincoln and Douglas is Sandy Stewart, '64. This basis of controversy is black and white checked textured wool knit. The slim skirt is headed by a sleeveless top. Main point of attention — black leather trim. Sizes 8-16, $23, made especially for Novell's. At Novell's, Norristown, Penn.

Below: The Mason-Dixon Line forms in three's — the girls Yankees, the men Confederates. Front: Lois again, the campus' number one defiant Yankee, caught in an agreeable mood. The black wool fur-blend classic tops her plaid skirt. Sweater by Talbot, 36-40, $15. At B. Altman's, Shorthills, N. J. With her, Mike White, '64. Center: "I don't care if telegraph wires did hold back the Yankees on Kingston Pike," says Midge Slater to Jim Renfro, both '63. Her skirt — a chocolate brown wide whale corduroy wrap-around; white stitching runs down the front and around the two patch pockets. The companion shirt, oxford cloth, has wide stripes of tan and light beige and a button down collar. Skirt by Johnny Apple, 6-16, $13. Shirt, 10-16, $9, made especially for Valley Forge Shop. Both skirt and shirt at Valley Forge Shop, Norristown, Penn. Nina shoes. Back: Peace-pipers — Gayle Eggers, and Earl Jordon, both '64.

"COCA-COLA" AND "COKE" ARE REGISTERED TRADE-MARKS WHICH IDENTIFY ONLY THE PRODUCT OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY.

.....fox trot
twist...waltz
lindy...samba
mambo...cha-
cha-cha..bend
dip..hop..step
turn...bump...
whew...

take a break
...things go better
with Coke
TRADE-MARK

Bottled under the authority of
The Coca-Cola Company by:
RODDY MFG. CO.
Maryville, Tenn.

Right: Here again, this time with planned strategy (probably nothing to do with the Civil War), is Gracie Rosser. Her armed strength — the strikng navy and maroon plaid suit. The skirt — narrow, the jacket — cardigan, the pullover — jersey knit and matching maroon. Suit, 8-14, $30, directly from Belgium. At Bird Speakmans, all stores. Delaware. The ally (or target?) — Phil Brown, '64.

Below: Familiar faces — Midge Slater and Sandy Stewart. These two are willing to adopt the south as home, as long as the snow falls each winter — at least a little. Left: Midge fights blizzards with beaver — the black trim on the black wool coat. The cut is straight and the buttons are woven. By Betti Brent, $125, Norristown, Penn. Sans Souci shoes. Right: A surprise coat — straight front and caped back. The attached scarf is fringed on each end. The buttons — hidden, the wool — nubby, the color — breen. Eighty dollars, tailored for Hahne and Co., Newark, N. J.

FLOORBURNS

by Todd Owers

Valentine's Day is just around the corner and what could be a more appropriate gift for that special young lady than a pair of basketball shoes, a tennis racket, or maybe (if you know her size) a new bathing suit? Women you know, are no longer expecting the flowery, heart shaped box for Valentine's Day. The new trend seems to be away from candy-giving, the philosophy on it being that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach but the route to a woman's heart is a vastly different one.

Not that we want to put the Whitman people out of business or anything of that nature; we just want to give the facts as we see them. It seems as if the saying, "Eat, drink and be merry for tomorrow you may diet" is quite applicable in our college community. Dieting at Maryville is just as common as 8 a.m. chapel five mornings a week. Its evidences can be seen throughout the dining hall. Chances are that no matter where you sit you will find someone at your table who is dieting. One day I thought I had found paradise, I sat at a table with seven girls, all of whom claimed to be on a diet. Really I thought they were joking because I never saw food disappear so quickly as it did at that table. Two days later I left, half starved and sadly disillusioned on the subject of diets.

This however, is an isolated case. The average Maryville College Female wants to keep herself attractive and alluring, and it seems if this ideal is to be achieved the confectionaries across our nation must suffer.

The secret of attractiveness lies in getting adequate food, exercise and sleep, not an easy combination for today's college student to come by, but nonetheless desirable.

Cont'd. Page 9. Col. 3

Socks and Sneakers

The time has come, the gym is waiting, the socks and sneakers are prepared — For what? Basketball, that marvelous sport which sends guards and forwards, dressed in shorts and looking very feminine, into a state of basketball bliss.

Intramural basketball at Maryville is often a clash between Chi Beta and Theta. Sometimes feelings are crushed, feet injured or fingers jammed as each co-ed strives to help her team win. One thing for sure, every woman playing has a good time and usually returns each year during basketball season to the intramural gym in her socks and sneakers.

Dribbles, short shots, free throws, passing, blocking and zone defense were practiced this last week as teams were set up, and the sport got under way. Action will begin Tuesday as the first teams enter into the competition. This year's game promises to be much faster for ac cording to offical rules a roving player now roams the courts making defense more skillful and plays safer.

Just a few reminders, girls for a terrific month ahead:

1. Be a courteous player to your opponent, even though you may not be bosom buddies. Don't give her easy breaks but don't kill her in the tie balls.
2. Admit when you foul and don't give the referee a rough time.
3. Have a lot of team spirit and win as though you are used to it; but if you lose don't mind, you like that too.

After 28-11 Win Over C-N

Matmen At Sewanee Tonight

"They just outgunned us," was Coach John A. Davis' comment moments after his grapplers had been soundly trounced by a strong University of Georgia wrestling team last Saturday night in the Alumni Gymnasium. The loss was the Scots' sixth against four wins and one tie, in what is rapidly turning out to be a disappointing season for us. The victory for Georgia brought their record to four wins and three defeats.

Jim Baxter, continuing his winning ways, grabbed a 5-4 decision from Georgia's Ramon Jackson in the first match of the evening to put the Scots off to a good start. But from this point on Maryville fans found little to cheer about—Gene Dixon lost his 130 pound class match on an 8-4 decision, which proved to be the beginning of a very frustrating evening Coach Davis' matmen. Adam Deveny and Steve Rago tried hard but could do little to stem the strong Georgia tide, both being beaten on pins. Will Mitchell, fighting 20 pounds out of his class, lost his match as did Steve LaVere who was wrestling for his very first time. The evening's most exciting match saw Ron Mancini come back with a gallant second and third period burst of energy, only to lose a heartbreaking 4-4 tie as the victory was handed his opponent on riding time. In the first period Mancini was penalized one point by referee Howard Tomlinson for "loafing," a decision which Mancini hotly protested but to no avail. Georgia made the 33-3 rout complete in the evening's last two matches by gaining a 7-3 decision over Fred Willocks and by up-ending big Pete Stafford for the first time this year, 2-0.

As was evident, our team was definitely not at full strength. Eligibility problems, drop-outs and the like have extracted a heavy toll from Coach Davis's talent and he has been forced to turn to eager, but inexperienced underclassmen for the bulk of his material.

This evening the Highlanders journey to Sewanee, the University of the South, and will be out to get back on the victory path once again.

Bert Randall (52) scores on a lay up shot in last Saturday's game against Bryan. Randall went on to score 24 points and the Scots won 84-76. That's Mike Moyers (50) looking on.

Photo — Courtesy of Maryville Times

C-N DOWNS SCOTS

by Dave King

Did you ever have one of those days? You know the kind I mean—when everything seems to be going well and then—pow! Coach Baird and his basketball Scots ended the month of January with just such a day. The team took a rather fruitless jaunt to Jefferson City on the 31st, but were unable to pluck the feathers of the robust Carson Newman Eagles. In fact, the evening turned out to be a real traumatic experience as the Scots had the kilts beat off them, 67—40.

The first half held a little hope for our boys, for they trailed by only four points, 28—24, at the midpoint. Considering that the accomplished Carson Newman five entered the fray with a 10—4 record, this was certainly noth-

Cont'd. Page 9, Col. 3

RANDALL-LED SCOTS TAME LIONS 84-76

Captain Bert Randall turned in a fine 24 point performance against invading Bryan College last Saturday evening in a contest beginning at 7 p.m. and slated as the first half of a basketball-wrestling doubleheader. A good crowd of Maryville fans as well as Bryan rooters witnessed the contest.

Maryville jumped off to an early lead and managed to stay just beyond striking distance of the spirited Lions, who put on some good scoring rallies but never did manage to forge into the lead. The first half ended as Bert Randall's beautiful hook shot swished through the cords and Maryville left the floor enjoying a comfortable 41-32 halftime lead.

The second half was a re-play of the first, with Maryville lengthening its lead somewhat and then coasting to their eighth win of the season. It was a good one to have, particularly sweet because in an earlier encounter on Bryan's home floor, the Lions had beaten Coach Baird's basketballers in an overtime period, 94-92.

The two "Mikes"—Gregory and Moyers also turned in good performances for the Highlanders, hitting for 13 and 12 points respectively. Don Peterson contributed a creditable 10 to the cause, while freshman Denny McGowan bucketed 9.

Next Saturday evening the Scotties will be at home again and will face a strong Centre College quintent who will journey down from Danville, Kentucky for the contest. The following week, Coach Baird's hardwood club will put the lid on their season, entertaining Mars Hill of Asheville, North Carolina in the season's finale.

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"
BANKING SERVICES
*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
*CHECK ACCOUNTS
*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
*TRANSFER OF FUNDS
— Your College Bank —
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

LOVE AT FIRST BITE
Candy
Byrne's Features The Finest
* WHITMAN'S * PANGBURN'S
* BELLE-CAMP
We also stock fine jewelry and cosmetics — Perfect for your Valentine
BYRNE DRUG COMPANY

Enjoy The Best

CAPITOL THEATRE

Adm. .35 – .60

SUN., MON., TUES, Feb. 10–12

"ANTHONY QUINN TURNS IN A SPLENDID PERFORMANCE." (New York Daily News)

"ANTHONY QUINN DOES THE FINEST WORK OF HIS CAREER!" (New York Journal-American)

"BARABBAS, QUINN EXCELLENT" (New York Daily Mirror)

"BARABBAS WILL UNDOUBTEDLY RANK FOR YEARS TO COME AS A CLASSIC. ANTHONY QUINN'S PERFORMANCE UTTERLY BELIEVABLE AND INSPIRING." (Boston Record American)

"BETTER THAN BEN-HUR." (Boston Traveler)

BARABBAS

Hear the sensational music of BARABBAS on Colpix Records

TECHNICOLOR® TECHNIRAMA®

A DINO DE LAURENTIIS PRODUCTION A COLUMBIA PICTURES RELEASE

WED.– FRI., Feb. 13–15

AT LAST! A MOTION PICTURE THAT DELIVERS...FUN!

CHARLTON HESTON · ELSA MARTINELLI

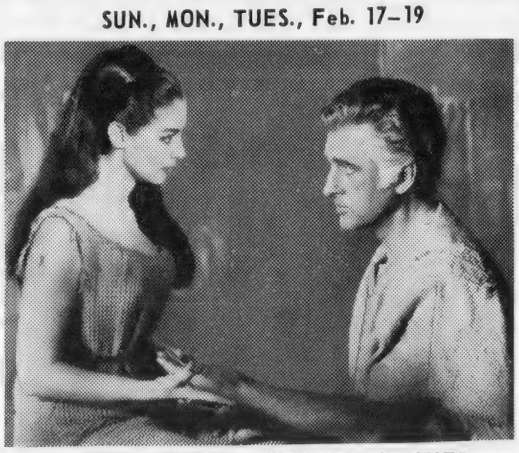
in MELVILLE SHAVELSON'S production of The Pigeon That Took Rome

co-starring HARRY GUARDINO · BACCALONI · GABRIELLA PALLOTTA · BRIAN DONLEVY · MARIETTO

PANAVISION™ Written for the screen and Directed by MELVILLE SHAVELSON · Based on the Novel THE EASTER DINNER by DONALD DOWNES · A PARAMOUNT RELEASE

SAT., FEB. 16 – DOUBLE FEATURE

"GORGO"



and

THE STRANGEST ADVENTURE YOU WILL EVER EXPERIENCE!

M-G-M Presents A GEORGE PAL PRODUCTION ATLANTIS THE LOST CONTINENT

starring ANTHONY HALL · JOYCE TAYLOR · JOHN DALL METROCOLOR

SUN., MON., TUES., Feb. 17–19

PIER ANGELI STEWART GRANGER

SODOM AND GOMORRAH

Color by DELUXE · A TITANUS PRODUCTION · A GOFFREDO LOMBARDO and JOSEPH E. LEVINE PRESENTATION · Released by 20TH CENTURY-FOX

Starts SUNDAY, Feb. 24–28

An Avalanche of Fun!

Walt Disney PRESENTS

JULES VERNE'S In search of the Castaways

TECHNICOLOR®

Released by BUENA VISTA Distribution Co. Inc. · ©1962 Walt Disney Productions

FLOORBURNS, Cont'd. From Page 8

I distinctly remember sweltering through the water show presented by Miss Leslie's synchronized swimming class last month; and reflecting back over it, I don't think there was a person who saw the show who did not express admiration which it required. It is becoming more and more apparent not only on a nation-wide scale with President Kennedy's emphasis on physical fitness; but also on a campus-wide one as well with the presentation of such shows as "A World of Opposites," that some physical training by each individual is to be desired and cultivated. Physical educators agree that it makes for a healthier, happier, better all-around person.

Basketball is just beginning in the women's intramural sports program—a fellow would do well to sign his girl up with one of the teams and then come out to each of the games and root for her team. Male interest would go a long way toward stimulating and improving the women's intramural program here at Maryville. For a special Valentine's Day gift that is sure to please; nothing could be finer or more appreciated than two permanent tickets to the swimming pool, gymnasium, or tennis courts. Active girls with an air of the outdoors about them generally have few dieting problems and are admired by all, male and female alike.

C-N DOWNS SCOTS, Cont'd. From Page 8

ing to be ashamed of. Then, Maryville began the second half with great vigor and steamed to a 33—30 lead after about five minutes. But then the sky fell in—or maybe it was just the balcony. At any rate, when the smoke finally cleared, it was all over for our side.

Mike Gregory again led in scoring with 11 points. Kip Martin was credited with 9, while Bert Randall, Larry Huskey, and Denny McGowan each hit for 6. Mike Moyers chimed in with 2. The Eagles' attack was led by Vic Arwood with 14 points, Clark Bryan with 13, and Gerald Ellington with 12.

For a while it looked as though the game would be a re-play of the 57—50 moral victory which was played here some weeks ago. But then it seemed as though we could do no right and they could do no wrong. Since our last meeting two of our front-line players, Charlie Finley and Bill Schellenger, have dropped out of school. Their absence was felt greatly in the C-N game and may be a factor in future encounters.

WBIR-TV College Series on Feb. 17 To Feature Show on MC Art Dept.

On Sunday, February 17, at 1:30 p.m. Knoxville television station WBIR-TV (channel 10) will feature a program on the art department of Maryville College. This show will be the second of three on this college in a 13-week series of thirty-minute programs on four church-related colleges in Eastern Tennessee: Carson-Newman, Knoxville College, Maryville College, and Tennessee-Wesleyan.

Student participants will include Norman Marchner, who will discuss modern art; Wade Hampton, Renaissance art; Kay Barbour, impressionist art; and Grace Rosser, contemporary art. Art teachers Miss Barbara Mueller and Mr. William H. Swenson will show the continuity of the types of art.

In addition Terri Brusstar and Nancy White will perform a modern dance. The program announcer is John Spangler, and the student director is Oliver Williams.

The third broadcast featuring Maryville College will spotlight the history department which is headed by Dr. Arda S. Walker.

WORKS OF NY ARTIST ON DISPLAY AT FAC

An exhibit of works by the contemporary artist Seena Donnesson opened at the Fine Arts Center Art Gallery on February 7, to last through February 28.

The art show consists of colleges and non-objective tondos, rare circular framed oil paintings having no particular top or bottom. It is sponsored by Pietrantonio Galleries in New York, where Miss Donnesson's paintings were on display in October, 1961.

A native of New York, Miss Donnesson was educated at Pratt Institute and the Art Students League there. At present she is a member of the art staff of the New York University Liberal Arts in Extension Program.

THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

Subscribe Now at Half Price*

The Christian Science Monitor P-CN
One Norway St., Boston 15, Mass.
Send your newspaper for the time checked.
☐ 6 months $5 ☐ 1 year $10
☐ College Student ☐ Faculty Member

Name

Address

City Zone State

*This special offer available ONLY to college students, faculty members, and college libraries.

Maryville College
STUDENT CENTER
proudly serves
FULLER LOCKER PLANT
Hamburgers
★
Hot Dogs

PET DAIRY
ICE CREAM
★
MILK
"Fresh from the Dairy"

WGAP
CAMPUS MIKE
Voice of Maryville College
Sunday Evening
9:30-10:00

DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands
OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You
Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses.
DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Washington Avenue

Dr. Young Joins Chemistry Staff

Dr. David C. Young has joined the Maryville College staff as a new assistant professor in the chemistry department. He received his degree from the University of Kansas last month. Previously he attended Park College in Parksville, Missouri, a Presbyterian college about half the size of Maryville.

Dr. Young is thoroughly impressed with the Maryville campus and is enthusiastically looking forward to his first job as a college professor.

His interest in chemistry began in high school. In college he chose it as a major because no other subject really appealed to him. Becoming intrigued with the subject and also inspired by a chemistry professor, he decided to teach.

Dr. Young likes the professor-student relationships at Maryville. He believes that the professor should in some way affect each student's life. He doesn't want to be considered only as an instructor standing before a class four times a week. Each person has an opportunity Dr. Young believes, and each one has the responsibility to find it.

When asked for a statement of Dr. Young's qualifications, Dr. Fred Griffiths, department chairman, replied, "A year ago we studied his training and background. We were primarily concerned that his qualifications were best for the academic status of the college. Dr. Young's graduate training and research performance were the best."

Fuller Instructs Frosh English

The new instructor in the English department this semester is Jack Fuller, who divides his time between two freshman classes here and the completion of his doctoral work at the University of Tennessee. He is joining the faculty for this semester because of the gap caused by Dr. Elizabeth Jackson's sabbatical leave.

Mr. Fuller received the BA degree with a major in English from U-T and the Master's in educational administration from Memphis State University.

For his PhD. in educational administration, which he will receive in June, Mr. Fuller is preparing a thesis concerning the utilization of space at the University of Tennessee during the fall semester of the past year. After graduation he plans to fill an administrative position in a large city school system.

Mr. Fuller has five years of varied teaching experience behind him. He has taught at Memphis University and at the Henry Grady High School in Atlanta, where he coached football, track, and basketball in addition to teaching English.

American literature claims the larger part of Mr. Fuller's literary attention. Ralph Waldo Emerson is his particular interest.

What does he think of Maryville College? So far, from reading freshmen themes and hearing students' thoughts voiced in class, he says he is impressed by the high caliber of the students and by the fact that they have definite opinions.

MC Spring Musical to be Extra Big: 100 Persons Plan "Bye, Bye Birdie"

"Bye, Bye Birdie," that "bright new, funny, fast, crazy musical." will open March 15 as the 1963 spring production at Maryville College. It is expected that at least one-hundred persons, including the recently selected cast of 61 members and many crew workers, will work on the production.

In former years the spring musical has been presented chiefly by the Women's Choir and Men's Glee Club; this show will emerge from the collaborated talents of several departments. Mr. Dan Kinsinger will be musical director; Mr. John Roberts will conduct the orchestra; Mr. Thomas Jones will be dramatic director; Mrs. Van Metre will handle the choreography; and senior drama major David Styles will be student technical director.

Two Stories in Plot

"Bye, Bye Birdie" revolves about two stories—the romance of a composer-publisher-agent and his secretary, and the drafting into the Army of their great rock-and-roll star, Conrad Birdie. When the whole group decends upon a small Ohio town, the complications become hilariously involved and tuneful.

Recent Broadway Hit

A recent Broadway hit, "Birdie" opened in New York in April, 1960. The Saturday Evening Post called it "bright and delightful"; Brooks Atkinson of the New York Times said that "the audience was beside itself with pleasure."

Newly Chosen MC Cast

The 61 cast members, chosen in try-outs February 4 and 5, will include the following performers:

David Styles as Albert Peterson; Marty Miller as Rose Alvarez; Teenagers: Ann Doscher as Helen; Norma Sharp as Nancy; Nancy Pierce as Alice; Beverly Ball as Margie Ann; Jacqueline Lundgren as Suzie; Margaret Shaklee as Linda; Betty Brown as Carol; Sue Quigg as Martha Louise; James Shannon as Harold; Joseph Malloy as Karl; Bill Mueller as Harvey; Carl Patrick as Henry; Cora Quay as Ursula Merkle; Judy Smith as Kim MacAfee; Joy Godbey as Mrs. MacAfee; Carl MacDonald as Mr. MacAfee; Joyce Hutcheson, Rhonda Connaster. Diana Kline in Teen Trio; Jan Rickarts as Sad Girl; Martha Bess Ellis as Another sad girl; Gail Wilkes as Mae Peterson; Ed Perantoni as Conrad Birdie; Will Mitchell as Mayor; Ardis Chubb as Mayor's wife; Alan Childs as Hugo Peabody; Terry Brusstar as Mrs. Merkle; Eileen Wagner, Jane Brenckman, Carolyn Foust as Neighbors; Terri Barksdale as Gloria Rasputin. Barbara McCarter will be Assistant Director.

Band To Present Concert Here Sat., on TV Feb. 16

The Maryville College Concert Band will present its Winter Concert on Saturday, February 9, at 8 p.m. in the Theater. Mr. John Roberts will direct this annual presentation by the Band. The following weekend the Band will repeat this program as Mr. Roberts and his group appear at 6 p.m. on February 16 on Knoxville station WATE-TV (channel 6).

The Winter Concert given on February 9 will be the first Band program to be held in the Theater. The musical selections to be performed include Wagner's "Rienzi Overture," Aaron Copeland's "Lincoln Portrait," and other selections. The "Lincoln Portrait" will be narrated by Mr. Thomas Jones of the college drama department.

Barnwarming Funds Buy Drier for Children's Home

The proceeds from the 1962 Barnwarming show have recently purchased a clothes drier for the Blount County Children's Home, according to Alice Brownlee, co-chairman of the Children's Home Committee of the Y. The Thanksgiving production, written and directed by Paul Elliott, netted $183.83, Scott Bucher, Y treasurer, reported. Of this amount, approximately $135 went for the drier. The remainder will buy blankets or other needed items for the home.

City Drug Company

Downtown

HALLMARK VALENTINES

RUSSELL STOVER CANDY from $1.10

COLOGNES & PERFUMES

Lanvin
Chanel
Revlon
Dana
Prince Matchibelli

CUT OUT AND SAVE — TELL YOUR NEIGHBORS TO LISTEN

SUGGESTED RADIO PROGRAMS FOR THINKING AMERICANS

"LIFE LINE"	WGAP	1400 KC	DAILY	6:45 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WKXV	900 KC	MONDAY	5:45 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:45 P.M.
CHURCH LEAGUE OF AMERICA	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:30 P.M.
20th CENTURY REFORMATION	WKXV	900 KC	MON.-FRI.	7:45 A.M.
CITIZENS COUNCIL	WGAP	1400 KC	THURS.	6:00 P.M.
INDEPENDENT AMERICAN	WKXV	900 KC	FRIDAY	5:45 P.M.
DR. KERSHNER	WGAP	1400 KC	WED.	6:00 P.M.

(Education for Americanism, Inc., P.O. Box 255, Maryville, Tenn.)

U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

WAYNE SIMMONS

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!

TIP TOP BARBER SHOP

105 Church St. Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop Open 6 Days a Week

Bobbie Brooks

free and breezy

Breeze through your life in Katya* 100% cotton, that silky-soft combed cotton that's averse to wrinkles and washes like a hankie. In sunny or dusky colors. Sizes 5-15. $12.98

Minton's

982-3742

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 48 | Maryville, Tennessee, February 23, 1963 | No. 9

Recitals To Feature 3 Women Musicians

Three senior women will present musical recitals within the next two weeks. At 8 p.m. on Thursday, February 28, Sharon Jones will perform on the organ in the Fine Arts Center Music Hall. The following Tuesday afternoon, March 5, at 4:30 p.m. Beverly Ball and Peggy Swafford will present a joint recital on the organ and piano.

Miss Jones

A senior music education major from St. Albans, West Virginia, Miss Jones will perform compositions by Daquin, Bach, Mozart, Langlais, and Messiaen. She has studied organ at Maryville College for four semesters, three of them under Mr. James Bloy.

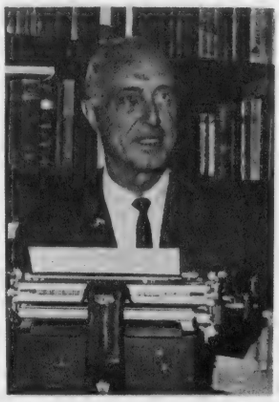
Immediately following Miss Jones' recital, there will be a reception open to the public in the FAC lounge.

Misses Ball and Swafford

At the afternoon student recital in the FAC Music Hall on March 5, Miss Ball will play on the organ selections from Brahms, Bach, Honegger, and Buxtehude; Miss Swafford will feature compositions by Chopin and Bartok on the piano. While both women are native Tennesseans, Miss Ball is from Cleveland, and Miss Swafford is a resident of Maryville.

Lloyds To Visit Maryville, To Be Guests of Honor At Faculty Club March 4

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Waldo Lloyd will be guests at the Faculty Club dinner-meeting to be held at Morningside on Monday, March 4. The Lloyds plan to stay at Morningside during their visit to Maryville.



Dr. Lloyd was president of Maryville College for 30 years. Since his retirement in July, 1961, he and his wife Margaret have been traveling around the world on behalf of the World Alliance of Christian Churches.

Officers in Navy, Marines To Visit Campus March 1, 8

Representatives of two of Uncle Sam's armed services will visit the campus soon to interview qualified male students interested in officer programs. On Friday, March 1, members of the U. S. Naval Aviation Information team from Atlanta, Georgia, will be stationed in the Student Center all day. Marine Corps representatives will be available also in the Student Center, to inform students of their officer training programs on Thursday, March 7.

Richard Armour, Famous Personality, To Lecture At MC March 1: "A Satirist Looks at the World"

Dr. Richard Armor will be the fourth and final lecturer of the 1962-1963 Maryville College Lecture Series. His topic will be "A Satirist Looks at the World" at 8 p.m. next Friday, March 1, in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel. March 1 will also be the official publication date for a new book by Dr. Armour entitled Medical Muse, which will be on sale at the Maryville College Bookstore.

Leads Double Life

Dr. Armour has been called a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde because he leads a double life as a serious scholar and a prolific writer of humor and satire. On the serious side, he has a Ph.D. from Harvard and has taught at such institutions as the University of Texas, Northwestern University, Wells College, the University of Freiburg, (where he was American Lecturer), and the University of Hawaii (where he was a Carnegie Visiting Professor).

Serious Scholar

He is now Professor of English at Scripps College and the Claremont Graduate School in California. He has done research in England as a fellow from Harvard University and in France as a fellow of the Fund for the Advancement of Education. He has written books of biography and literary criticism, is presently on the editorial staff of two magazines, and does book reviews for several newspapers. It might be added that he served in the Army in both World War II and the Korean War, rising to the rank of colonel.

Humorist and Satirist

He is most widely known, however, for his 20 books and for the more than 5,000 pieces of light verse and even lighter prose which have appeared in over 100 magazines, including the New Yorker and the Saturday Evening Post. His books, several of which have been condensed in the Reader's Digest, include such national best-sellers as It All Started with Columbus, It All Started with Europa, It All Started with Eve, Twisted Tales from Shakespeare, and his devastating satire on Russian history and Communism, It All Started with Marx.

Prolific Writer

Dr. Armour's collections of light verse include Light Armour and Nights with Armour. Recently published is the humorous-nostalgic autobiography of his boyhood, Drug Store Days, as well as The Classics Reclassified, a wicked retelling of seven famous books from the Iliad to David Copperfield. "Armour's Almanac" has appeared serially in McCall's Magazine since October 1961.

Local Citizens To Conduct 4th MC Day

The fourth annual Maryville College Day will be held in Maryville, Alcoa, and Blount County on Tuesday, March 5. At that time about 80 local citizens, it is estimated, will seek gifts from business firms and individuals for support of the educational program of Maryville College.

Chairman of the Day for this year's campaign will be Mr.. Judson B. Murphy, head of the Murphy-West Motor Co. in Maryville. He will preside at a kick-off breakfast in the college dining hall on the morning of March 5.

This year, it is expected, gifts received from all sources will provide about one-tenth of the college's annual budget, which exceeds $1,000,000. Yet there is no "goal" for Maryville College Day 1963. Gifts to the college have increased in each of the three years the campaign has been held. Last year the total given was $25,000.

W. Skousen To Discuss "Communist Outlook-1963"

Willard Cleon Skousen, author of The Naked Communist, will lecture on Communism in the Wilson Chapel on the Maryville College campus at 8:00 p.m. Thursday, February 28. An employee of the FBI for 16 years, Mr. Skousen will discuss the "Communist Outlook—1963."

Mr. Skousen's lecture is sponsored by the Education for Americanism Association in Maryville. Although the lecture is open to the general public for no admission charge, an offering will be taken.

Deans' Office Has Summer-Job Lists

For the benefit of students needing a job this summer there are several publications in the central Office of the Dean of Men and Women which list jobs available for the 1963 summer months.

These directories list according to state such positions as workers on campuses, in hospitals, hotels, resorts, various businesses and industries, restaurants, ranches, national parks, federal agencies and in neighborhood settlements and centers. Also included among the publications is important information about application procedures.

MC To Be Center For Peace Corps Test

A special "on-campus" Peace Corps placement test will be administered at Maryville College this afternoon. It is designed for students applying for Peace Corps projects which begin after graduation. Today's administration of the test is the only one scheduled for the Maryville College campus. The next administration in this area, however, will be in Knoxville on March 23.

Non-competitive test

The test itself, which requires five and one-half hours for completion, is non-competitive; there is no passing score. Its results provide a basis on which to determine the overseas assignments for which applicants are best suited.

Anyone interested in the Peace Corps program should inquire at the central Deans' office in Anderson Hall.

Five MC Recruits To Date

To date four Maryville College graduates, all in the class of '62, and one undergraduate student have joined the Peace Corps. Ray Donaldson is in Ethiopia; Dick Hornbuckle, in the Philipines; Larry Mease, in Cyprus; and John Mitchell, Dave Wayland ('66) the most-recent Maryville recruit, is presently in training for work in Thailand.

Duo-Pianists Gold and Fizdale To Perform In Artist Series March 8

Duo-pianists Arthur Gold and Robert Fizdale will appear at Maryville College on Friday evening, March 8, as guest performers in the 1962-1963 Artist Series. Their presentation will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel.

"Best Duo-Pianists In World"

Anyone who can read English, Italian, German, Greek, French, Spanish and Russian can go through the scrapbooks of Gold and Fizdale and find critics in each of those languages calling this pair the best duo-pianists in the world. According to a recent article in Horizon by Jay S. Harrison, "the success of the team is directly traceable to their ability to breathe together musically and to share a common vision about the way any piece should go . . . The Gold-Fizdale phenomenon is downright spooky."

Internationally Known Artists

For over ten seasons Gold and Fizdale have fulfilled a heavy schedule of engagements throughout North America. In addition to the New York Philharmonic, they have appeared with such orchestras as the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati Symphonies. On radio and television they have performed on "Tonight," NBC-TV's "Recital Hall" and "The Telephone Hour." Having had their debut in Europe with the Orchestre Nationale in Paris in 1949, Gold and Fizdale are now Europe's most popular piano team. Their European tours have included appearances with the orchestras of Paris, Rome, Brussels, the Hague, Berlin and Madrid.

On Columbia Records' Roster

The only duo-piano team on Columbia Records' roster, they have recently recorded a number of albums of major compositions for the duo-piano repertory for this company in Europe. Included among their releases are works by Stravinsky, Debussy, Barber, Weber, Bowles and Milhaud. Paul Hume of the Washington Post, reviewing a recent release, commented, "One of the finest record albums any record company has ever issued, or ever will issue." Their rendition of the Bowles Piano Concerto received the American Record Guide Award as the "Best Concerto" recording of 1954.

Two Child Prodigies

Arthur Gold, the elder by one year, was born in Toronto, Canada, of Russian parents. At three he was already accompanying his sister, a gifted soprano, playing completely by ear. When he was six, he started intensive piano study and later worked under Josef and Rosina Ihevinne.

Robert Fizdale was born in Chicago, also of Russian descent, and comes from a musical family which once boasted a flutist in the Czar's private orchestra. A child prodigy like Gold, he started his piano studies at the age of six. Among his teachers were eminent mentors such as Ernest Hutcheson.

Partners Since 1946

It was a happy day for concert-goers all over the world when these two artist met at the Juilliard Music School in New York. At first their ensemble playing was only for their own amusement, but they soon decided to give up their respective solo careers to dedicate themselves to duo-pianism. Regarding their Town Hall debut in New York in 1946, eminent music critic Virgil Thomson wrote in the Herald Tribune: "Duo-pianism reached heights hitherto unknown to the art." And today, 17 years after their original debut, Gold and Fizdale are still "the finest piano-duo in the current scene."

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor in Chief
LYNN HERRING

Assistant Editor — CHARLOTTA COOK
News Editor — PATRICIA REHM
Feature Editor — ANN HARRISON
Art Editor — GRACE ROSSER
Sports Editors — TODD OWERS and JEANNE PRICE
Exchange Editor — GAIL GARLOCH
Business Manager — PAUL BIGGERS

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Louise Crawford, Margaret Dozier, Elenora Easterly, Sue Foreman, John Gamble, Ann Jordan, Dave Marston, Nelson Miller, Paul Millin, Richard Norman, Charlie Rowland, Helen Ryan, and Celia Tiffany.

CIRCULATION: David King, Bruce Bigart, Carole Brownlee, Harold Cones, Ginna Coon, Nelson Miller

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR, MR. FRANK LAYMAN

From the Editor

There is singular encouragement in the belief that so long as man strives he must necessarily become tomorrow more than he is today. There is an element of greatness in the force of conflict, external or internal; for conflict, viewed in a healthy perspective, can open doors to new understandings and new avenues of thought. In such a light, we should not underestimate the potential or the value of this campus.

Learning becomes more than memorization or the "busy-work" of course activities. It involves a general concern for physical, mental, emotional, social, and spiritual development. While conflict is necessary to effective growth, it should not ultimately overshadow man's belief in man. If conflict does not somehow increase human understanding, then it defeats its right to exist.

Surely there is a Law of Love higher than any principles of right and wrong which so immediately affect us. And the religious emphasis of this week provides us with the necessary opportunity for self re-evaluation and re-orientation. Its success or failure lies in each individual's private and personal response to reassessment of those values which he holds dear.

While man strives he will err; so long as he reflects soberly, he can improve. These February meetings will be superficial for us unless we involve ourselves in a genuine effort to find purpose in our striving. And that is not "baby food"; it is the most difficult kind of honesty.

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

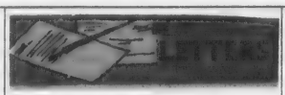
Magnavox

Exciting to own, wonderful to give.

The Pocket Mate.
6 Power transistor.
Complete with battery.
Now only $1495



The Diplomat
10 Transistor FM/AM Radio
Extraordinary tone.
Now only $6995
Including long-life battery

Come in today... See our complete selection of Magnavox TV and Stereo High Fidelity

W. Church Street – Midland Shopping Center

HITCH'S
RADIO-TELEVISION

Moyers Questions Purpose of Duds

To the Editor:

Many thanks to the Editor for putting into print the whispered word—DUD. Many students have been concerned with this organization since it became generally known last spring. Our concern is not to debate the right of a secret organization to exist, for the administration has alreadv done that. Our concern is for its purpose.

One might ask why we should bother ourselves with the purpose of a legally non-existent group. Perhaps this would be a valid question if the Duds had not been implicated in last spring's election. Perhaps this would be a valid question if a fair percentage of the members were not in places of student leadership. Perhaps this would be a valid question if this were not Maryville College. Here, where the grapevine grows faster than the ivy, one dares not talk in his sleep, much less form a secret society.

"Horticulture to Politics"

At any rate a group exists on campus in attempted secrecy. Interested students have speculated on the factor the members of this group have in common. The guesses have ranged from horticulture to political intrigue. From inside the Dud camp come the whispered words, barely audible: We are only a close brotherhood of men; our purpose is merely fellowship and service. If this is the case, these men are to be congratulated as well as condemned. Congratulated because they may have found something the legal societies don't have, condemned because of their need for complete secrecy, or in strictly legal terms, nonexistence.

What to Hide?

My question is: If the Duds exist only as a secret fellowship, why can this not be said? It would not be necessary to even reveal their purpose if a membership list were published. For then, at least, we students would know who was doing nothing. All that is needed to resolve the situation is an admission of existence. There are two possible complications to this revelation. One is the reaction of the administration, which reaction could be fairly easily ascertained.

Cont'd Pg. 7, Col. 1

JYA-er Jane Dodez Writes of Adventures in Switzerland, Italy

Below are exerpts from a letter from Jane Dodez, MC junior spending her junior year abroad in Geneva.

Dear Friends,

"Bonne Annee et Mieux Voeux" — Greetings to all at the beginning of this New Year! . . . I left the sparkling lights of the Christmas trees on Rue de Mont Blanc behind me on the morning of December 23 and arrived at St. Moritz where I was welcomed into the Schmid living room. To me, they seemed a typical old German-Swiss family. I already knew Laurenz who had been an exchange student at my high school, and I soon met his

Cont'd. Pg. 8, Col. 2

READING

The Kilt Starts Marching

Comments by Celia Tiffany

The Kilt, Maryville College's first humor-satire magazine, got off to a good start with its first issue last Saturday.

Nearly half the space was devoted to "news" stories, all on the most ridiculous subjects imaginable but written in very convincing newspaper style. (Future issues will not include these, concentrating instead on literary articles by students.)

Particularly enjoyable were the poem "Student's Best Friend," the articles "Sleepy Lagoon" adn "Scot Rot," and the Fred Hope Funnies. Special mention must be given to the review of Daffy Duck, a masterpiece requiring a large dictionary to translate and bearing a remarkable resemblance to certain English assignments — and making just about as much sense!

'The Naked Communist'

The Naked Communist, Willard Cleon Skousen, Ensign Publishing Co., Salt Lake City, 1958.

Comments by Richard Norman.

To add to the list of curious happenings, on the evening of February 28 Mr. Willard Cleon Skousen, a former FBI employee, will speak in the Maryville Chapel concerning Communism. The Naked Communist is an attempt to describe Communism and its historical development from Marx until the present. Mr. Skousen uses standard works in his discussion of the subject.

Needs Footnotes

Credit can be given to the author for admitting that Czarist Russia was a miserable place in which to live, a fact often overlooked by writers of similar exposes in their desire to paint the worst pictures of the Soviet Union. If one can agree with Mr. Skousen that Christianity is a set of ethical rules which were handed down to man through an infallible Bible, then his only complaint might be that he uses too few footnotes. The reader begs for evidence concerning hundreds of points, but in vain.

Not really about Communism

Having tried to pull the wool over the reader thus far, he continues by asserting that the United Nations is nothing but a Communist tool. He has apparently not examined the entire UN picture as to its benefits and future promise. One wonders why this is the case, but Mr. Skousen soon lets us in on a little secret.

The book is not really about Communism as it is a defence of nineteenth century capitalism. The favorite theme of the author is that Capitalism will be the salvation of America. For one who is seemingly concerned about Russian materialism, he places his faith in materialistic Capitalism. One is confused at this point because the Christian Faith is not consistent with either type of materialism. Feeling that God favors American Capitalism, Mr. Skousen then leads us to the conclusion that through Senator Barry Goldwater's brand of conservatism we may yet stop Communism.

Shows Author's Bias

Although Americans must not stoop to Communist tactics—a refreshing thought and one which such super-patriotic groups as the Committee for Education in Americanism and the John Birch Society might take seriously—he concludes that we must learn the danger signs of Communism. Unfortunately, he shows his prejudice by stating that Socialism and Communism are simply different paths to the enslavement of people. This is inexcusable for one who claims to write history.

Cont'd. Pg. 4, Col. 2

Fugitive Pieces

by Gail Garloch

1963 will go down in the history of the relatively New Dorm as the year of the Billiard Movement. The wishful neurotic murmurs of the smoker yielded once recently a coherent phrase — Pool Table. Immediately the phrase became the watchword of the hour; a new slogan rang louder even than "strength to strength," and a cause greater even than the brotherhood of man gained followers. It was indeed refreshing to see the new women working together, interviewing blue chalk salesmen, pricing green felt, and struggling to win converts. All that the New Dorm needs is a good $70 Pool Table, and the propaganda spread. Since we're not allowed down town while February meetings are in session we could stay right in the dorm and play pool. Those liberal Democrats who support Kennedy's physical fitness program state that the game is great exercise for the index finger.

An humble petition was circulated and many humble petitioners dropped their names under the statement of the Cause. Committees and sub-committees visited the proper channels: the treasurer, naturally; the dean of women and her associates who hold secret meetings and wear initials on their red vests; Student Council; the proprietor of the rival business establishment. Each took the maximum action; a vote of confidence.

A question and comment period ensued: "Is pool ladylike?" "Does it even matter when young men aren't present?" "Alpha Gamma Sigma can eat their annual banquet from it. They can keep biscuits in the pockets." "But we can't fit it through the door." "It's a good outlet for frustration," commented one frustrated senior psychology major. An elementary ed. major was fascinated by the numbers and colors on the balls. "How educational," she exclaimed. "And it would be real pretty."

The question was put to the inhabitants of the New Dorm and a vote of non-confidence came forth. But all is not lost. The motion was tabled, and Kin Takahashi's successors continue striving together toward the more complete realization of a pool room. A home-ec student is embroidering a banner to lead a fund-raising drive. The zeal of the original group is contagious, and now nearly everyone is somehow involved in this or a related cause. One of the anti-pool groups is turning the question into a moral issue: "Did Jesus ever play pool?" Other suggestions are being offered. There is presently being circulated a petition to have an ice-skating rink on the roof. One girl is pricing trampolines; we could easily install one in the west court. After all we do have a miniature golf-course already in the front yard.

MUSE TEN

FREEDOM LOST

Once my life was free and gay,
Then my heart would live the day
Joyful in every way
Praying, thanking God for all.

Came along the man in gray
Took my singing heart away,
Forbid that I should ever pray
He took my happiness.

Huge fur cap upon his head,
Stepping over wretched dead,
He took away the people's bread,
He left them to starvation.

He swept into my country dear,
Took each man and made him fear
The terror of his torture gear,
And thus they got submission.

Our hearts are still as free as ever,
Torture cannot hurt them ever,
Praying, loving, dying never,
Live our hearts with God.

Soon behind I'll leave my woe,
To eternity I will go
Where sorrows far away do blow
And tears are but unknown.

The dungeon deep, the dirty stall
Dead people lying over all,
He shall not stay, but he shall fall
Into the arms of Hell.

—Dan Rineer

A MEMORY

Around the circle
it is quiet except for the crackling, spitting, hissing, fire lashing out at the sky.

The flames leap skyward licking at the stars who wink back
in amusement.

The soft notes of a well loved song
break the thoughtful silence strengthening the bond of friendship.

Drowsiness creeps upon the little circle
and they hug their blankets tightly as they fall easily into a long awaited slumber.

The fire remains alert;
then calms and becomes a pile of warm, glowing embers with a pleasant smoky scent.

by Sarah Doerschuk

COMMENTS ON CAMPUS

DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY POSES STUDENT PROBLEM

by John Gamble

Numerous controversies have occurred in recent years as to what extent the Student Council can go in representing the student body. Two years ago, the USNSA suggested that student governments picket the election polls in their communities with regard to civil rights legislation, and Council's readiness to do just that, without going to the students, caused considerable friction.

Only this year, the MSC removed furniture from a dormitory smoking area, which caused over two-thirds of the residents of that dormitory to seek a referendum which they got.

Although not so noticeable as the previous two examples the Students Council's action in sending a letter to the student government at Ole Miss earlier last semester brought numerous harsh words of disapproval. However mildly the letter was stated, council condemned the students in taking part in the race riots which swept that campus in the Meredith crisis. Some southern students on campus, especially town students, were angered at Council's letter, which incidentally was prompted by the USNSA.

These are just samples of numerous controversies which erupt every year. They tend to weaken the unity of the student body.

Full or Partial Delegation?

Why do these controversies find such fertile ground? Because students have different interpretations of how they delegate their authority to their representative. In general, they fall under two schools of thought.

1. FULL DELEGATION. More than half of the students on this campus believe that when a student is elected to Student Council, he or she is elected to represent their class, and their decisions must be accepted without dispute. They argue that if a person is elected, that representative can vote or do anything he likes on Council because of the mere fact that the majority elected that person. The trouble is that Council may take actions which the majority of the students do not appreciate. They may do anything they like, regardless of what the students feel, if they feel it is in the best interests of the students. A high administrative official stated to this writer that this was the very case in the Ole Miss letter . . . that Council sent it "knowing that the students as a whole would not approve of it, but because it was in the best interests of the campus." A sizeable majority of students who don't really care about student government will fall into this school of thought. In summary we would say this school of thought is less democratic than all others, but in some cases could be more effective.

2. PARTIAL DELEGATION. The students who hold this view look at the student government with a democratic thought. They delegate their authority to their representatives only partially. They feel that the elected officer must represent only their views . . . the views of the majority of their class, and must not take actions which conflict with the majority opinion. They are the champions of the referendums. However, the drawback is that the representative's work is slowed down by a constant and time-consuming task of consulting his class members often to get their opinions on controversial subjects. He is bound to the code of representing his class members, and although he may disagree with them, he still is obligated to vote with their opinions. This keeps the representative on his toes and allows him to know his class's temper of thought.

Present Council Tends to Hold First Viewpoint

It is clear that the present Student Council tends to belong to the first school of thought. They feel they were elected, and they know the best interests of their constituents. We believe that this is possibly a major cause of disunity in the student government.

The remedy? Apparently the only one is to ask all the candidates in the elections what school of thought they hold. Make them be specific. Then vote for the one who holds your view. But by all means bind your representative to that view, for too often once the elected officer gets on Council, he reverts to the first school of thought because there is a stronger element of power in it.

Lack of fair representation and delegation of authority are two of the major problems which face our student government. Does it not seem logical that we must correct the problems with the student body before we launch into the criticism of administration-student problems?

What's at Issue?

Students Debate Economic Community

by Nelson Miller

"Resolved: that the non-communist nations of the world should establish an economic community."

This question, because of its timeliness and world-wide significance, has been chosen as the national debate topic for the 1962-63 debate. year. The complexity of this topic is immense, as one can learn by talking to any of the fifteen members of the Maryville College debate team — Richard Gossweiler, Judith Mikeal, James Miller, Gloria Sturmfels, Thomas Stanley, Bradford Rehm, Annette Sensenig, Jane Hickey, William Mitchell, Lee Sikes, Mary Rodisch, Sherry Proffitt, Jan Rickarts, Elaine Coleman and Dennie Mobbs.

A major issue included in this topic is whether or not such an economic community should be limited to non-communist nations only. If so, how would this affect communist-dominated countries like Poland and Yugoslavia which maintain a major part of their trade with the West? The effect on the neutral nations such as Sweden, Austria, and Switzerland must also be taken into consideration. Such countries could not join an economic community without giving up their neutrality. But their proximity to the communist nations makes necessary their remaining neutral if they are not to be overrun.

Many of our allies are engaged in trade with communist countries. If they joined the proposed economic community, such trade would be seriously restricted. Could these countries economically and politically afford to lose this source of trade? What common meeting grounds can be found for such widely varying countries as the industrially sophisticated nations of the West and the non-industrial countries like Latin America, Southeast Asia, and the African states?

Today four teams of the debaters are competing in a tournament in Mobile, Alabama.

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

WE RENT TO COLLEGE STUDENTS AND SERVICE PERSONNEL

$5 PER 24 HOUR DAY* 5¢ PER MILE
RENTS SHINY, NEW AUTOMOBILES THROUGH THE BUDGET
RENT-A-CAR SYSTEM

RENT NEW CARS AND SAVE UP TO 40%!

$5 24 HR. DAY
5¢ PER MILE

Brand new Corvair Monzas, Chevy II and Chevrolet Impalas at low rates. Rent a car the BUDGET Way, less per mile, less per day. You buy only the gas you need.*

We Feature Free Hotel and Airport Pickup and Delivery Service.

Phone 982-2702

THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

Subscribe Now at Half Price*

You can read this world-famous daily newspaper for the next six months for $5, just half the regular subscription rate.

Get top news coverage. Enjoy special features. Clip for reference work.

Send your order today. Enclose check or money order. Use coupon below.

The Christian Science Monitor P-CN
One Norway St., Boston 15, Mass.

Send your newspaper for the time checked.
☐ 6 months $5 ☐ 1 year $10
☐ College Student ☐ Faculty Member

Name
Address
City Zone State

*This special offer available ONLY to college students, faculty members, and college librarians.

Student Center Announces Changes

The Student Center has longer hours, added personnel, changed rules and an added meal of interest to its patrons. Now opening at 8 a.m., it remains open until 5 p.m. The grill, however, closes at 4. The center and the grill are open from 6:30 to 10:15 p.m.

Although dancing is still not permitted, ping pong is allowed until 9 p.m. A cigarette machine may be placed in the building, due to the action of the MSC.

Mrs. Delaney, the mother of student Linda Best and the aunt of physical education teacher Mrs. Edith Largen, now runs the grill from opening until lunch. Because of her and the earlier morning hours, the center now offers breakfast.

34 Married Students Here

Maryville College has thirty-four married students. Of this number, twenty-two are men and twelve are women. The only couple with both halves attending Maryville is Brad and Pat Rehm. The breakdown according to classes is: seniors, nine; juniors, ten; sophomores, eight; freshmen, two; and part-time, five.

The results of a poll taken in 1958 show that almost one-fifth of the four million undergraduates are married students. More than half of these couples had children while in college. Most of them obtained their education by studying only part-time.

Nearly two out of every five received financial help from their parents, and the amount ranges from five to eighty per cent of the total income. Other financial sources include the other partner working, government help to veterans, scholarships, trust founds and savings. On the average, most grades improved after marriage. This is supposedly due to the fact that the couple has settled down and spends more time in their own home.

Richard Gossweiler, a senior, has been married only since September 1. He has not yet found any difficult problems that come with the married life of a student. School life is the same except that he has lost much contact with the campus.

This is the first year Singtoh Changtrakuul has lived with his family while attending Maryville. His wife and four-year old son arrived from Thailand in late August. They have a younger daughter staying with grandparents back home. His wife commutes three and four times weekly to UT where she is taking education courses. Sindtoh is a history major, but plans to do graduate work in education. He felt his grades were lowered at first by being with his family, but now they are adjusting as he is to this new life.

Another couple, Patricia (nee Crossley) and Brad Rehm, are both senior English majors. Both attended Maryville as underclassmen before getting married last fall. Mrs. Rehm finds that their schedule is very busy now, especially since they sponsor a youth group at a local church. She has also been student teaching both semesters. Mr. Rehm does electrical repairs for the college and for individuals.

Mrs. Rehm commented on the

Cont'd. Pg. 7, Col. 2

'NAKED COMMUNIST',

Cont'd. from Pg. 2

The differences between democratic Socialism and Russian Communism do not need to be drawn for the thoughtful American.

Some of Mr. Skousen's so-called Communist beliefs are: peaceful co-existence, disarmament, free trade, recognition of the Peoples Republic of China, moves against censorship, school prayers and loyalty oaths, "modernistic" religion. While we may not agree upon these points, surely a free person should be able to hold beliefs that vary from those of his neighbors.

Resembles Ideas of Goldwater

Finally, the author offers some advice. Parents are cautioned against "permissive" psychology. Teachers are to be aware of "Socialist" textbook writers. Students should watch for "left-wing slanting in textbooks and lectures." Businessmen should try to obtain "a more equitable tax structure which is not arbitrary and confiscatory." Shades of Senator Goldwater?

He pleads for other supposedly anti-Communist ideas, but one feels more and more that Mr. Skousen is more interested in promoting Senator Goldwater's ideas. This is his right in a free country. However, why does he imply that the opposite of Communism is this particular brand of American conservatism?

Free persons may be democratic Socialists, liberal Republicans or members of other political groups that believe in freedom of conscience. No one group has the right to proclaim itself to be the protectors of democracy. For the Christian, true humanity is directly linked to his relationship with his Lord. Perfect freedom comes only to those in Christ, for they know how to truly serve a needy world.

Off the Cuff

by Dave King

From the 1963 World Almanac: "In the United Arab Republic about 13,000 sq. mi. are cultivated for cereals, vegetables, cotton and sugar cane, and 1,900 sq. mi. have canals and fruit plantations. The Nile rises in June and reaches its peak by October, regulated by dams and networks of canals. Fruit is plentiful and includes grapes, dates . . ."

Speaking of dates, have you considered lately the dating problems here at MC? (Now this is a sneaky way to introduce a column on dating, but clever introductions are hard to come by.)

Seriously, one must admit that our dating system here is unique, to say the least. If you remember back to high school (ah! those were the good ol' days), the fellow would come by for the girl in Dad's old Chevy, take her to a movie or a dance, stop somewhere on the way home for a bite to eat, and then home. If he were lucky, he'd get to kiss her good-night on the front porch (except in Pennsylvania where a guy kisses a girl on her lips).

Things are a little different here—in case you hadn't noticed. For example, Dad's old Chevy has been replaced by Junior's old Keds.

And that pleasant, intimate good-night kiss has been taken over by unbelievable exhibitions. Every night at 10:28 the women's dorms are transferred from multiple dwellings to three-ring circuses—complete with ringmasters.

Freshmen usually balk at this public display, but sooner or later they realize that satisfying those normal desires means becoming an exhibitionist. Actually, it isn't too bad when you realize that no one is really watching you—they're all too busy.

We have a number of different forms of dating here which certainly aren't encountered in civilian life. One example is the telephone date. Generally speaking the fellow will phone his girl and then refuse to relinquish it to the four or five irate men who are outside threatening him with bodily harm. However, because there are only three women's dorms, the chances are good that all these men may be calling the same dorm. If so, the whole evening may go by with only one dime being spent. (Bell Telephone: I'm only joking.)

The most fascinating form of dating is the "parlor date." Often when couples begin to feel the strain of public life, they'll take a parlor date to be alone. We hasten to add that being completely alone—that is, with no one else around—is physically impossible. Being alone means being with fewer people. Sometimes a couple will retire to the parlor to study. That's right—study. Sometimes it seems incredible but there are those here who study—I saw one over in the library just the other day.

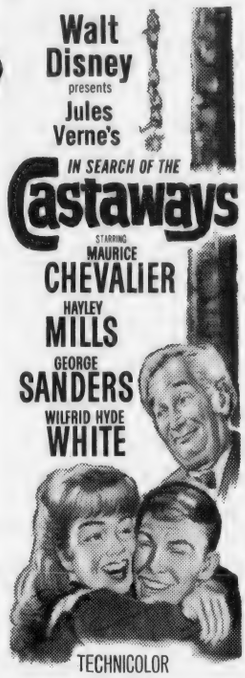
THE
BANK of MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"
BANKING SERVICES
*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
*CHECK ACCOUNTS
*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
*TRANSFER OF FUNDS
— Your College Bank —
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Maryville College
STUDENT CENTER
proudly serves
FULLER LOCKER PLANT
Hamburgers
★
Hot Dogs

TIPTON
JEWELRY
QUALITY 21 JEWEL
SWEETHEART WRISTWATCH
Shock Resistant, and Fully Guaranteed
$11.95 – $29.95
You are invited to Come in and inspect out quality Watches and Jewelry!

PET DAIRY
ICE CREAM
★
MILK
"Fresh from the Dairy"

LEONARD'S STEAK HOUSE
and
CAFETERIA
Welcomes All Our Old Faithful
MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS
To Our NEW LOCATION at MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER
"In The Center Of The Center"
We Still Have Our Good Old Pizzas and Steaks for your Sunday Night Pleasure
OPEN 11 A.M. to 9 P.M. – 7 days a week



CAPITOL THEATRE

An earthquake of Entertainment!

SUN.–THURS. Feb. 24–28

Walt Disney presents Jules Verne's IN SEARCH OF THE Castaways

STARRING MAURICE CHEVALIER HAYLEY MILLS GEORGE SANDERS WILFRID HYDE WHITE

TECHNICOLOR

Double Feature

FRI.–SAT., Mar. 1–2

20th Century-Fox presents LOVE ME TENDER starring ELVIS PRESLEY RICHARD EGAN DEBRA PAGET

CINEMASCOPE

A SEVEN ARTS ASSOCIATED RE RELEASE

ROBERT MITCHUM blasts the screen! THUNDER ROAD

Released thru UNITED ARTISTS

SUN.–TUES., Mar. 3, 4, 5

JERRY'S LOUDEST LAUGHING HIT!!

Jerry Lewis

"IT'S ONLY MONEY"

Segovia and Montoya . . . . Two Concerts

by Charlie Rowland

I was fortunate in the last two weeks to hear both of the two men who are generally considered to be the foremost guitarists in the world today — Andres Segovia and Carlos Montoya. Not being one of the number of fanatical guitar lovers and not being greatly experienced in listening to the type of music they played, I have to admit that I went for the names. Having seen Montoya, I felt compelled to see Segovia, the older and more widely known, in order to compare them.

Differences in the Concerts

Beyond the inherent differences in the two (Segovia is Classical; Montoya is Flamenco), there was a great contrast in the types of concert they gave. Montoya performed alone, but Segovia played as a guest soloist with the Knoxville Symphony Orchestra. Being uneducated in the realm of guitar music, I was unaware that any music was written for guitar and orchestra. Although it was impossible to get over the disappointment of not seeing more of Segovia, the orchestra was good—far better than experience or it's reputation had led me to expect. When Segovia had left, however, a great sigh rose from the audience. It seemed that most of the audience considered the orchestra secondary.

Sunny Spain and Evening Quiet

Naturally Segovia was restrained by the orchestra. He was obliged to follow music and was not able to play extemporaneously. This was one of the things good about Montoya; he was able to play anything he wished and to make it as long and as good as his pride and skill and the audience demanded. I would have to say that Montoya was a more vigorous and vital player. Of course he was playing the Flamenco or gypsy style, while Segovia was playing the more sedate and refined classical. Montoya was sunny Spain to me, with all of the gypsy passion and sadness. In the same sense Segovia was siesta or evening, quieter and less vigorous.

Having dared to compare the two, I could not decide which was the better, even for myself. One hearing does not decide an issue of the sort, especially since both were so good. Both were balding, pleasant and said but few words, apologizing for the accent. Both were warm and friendly, and both were well received. Both received gratefully and graciously the applause. I would not have missed either and feel richly rewarded for the two experiences, which are now blending into a composite impression — admiration.

Leonard's Open At Midland

Hungry Maryville College students will be glad to know that Leonard's is open for business again in its new location, Midland Shopping Center. Besides the earlier items, a new one, "Broasted Chicken," will be offered. Cafeteria and dining room facilities are available, although only the cafeteria will be used in the daytime. The new hours are 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day, including Sundays. A point of interest comes from Mr. Leonard—the new restaurant is .2 mile closer to the college than the old one was. "I measured it myself," he said.

JUNIOR TAG DAY NETS $30 FOR FRED HOPE

The Junior Tag Day, held on Valentine's Day, netted $30 for the Fred Hope Fund. One hundred twenty of the 25c tags were sold, involving nearly the entire Junior Class in the project.

Most of the juniors gave willingly of their time and talents—one girl painstakingly ironed a suit of rubber camping pajamas, and a boy unquestioningly exchanged a can of mackerel for twenty-three pieces of bubble gum at the grocery store. There were, of course, a few complaints—one unhappy slave grumbled that the person who bought him must have thought the idea was "kill a junior," and not "sell a junior" as advertised. But generally the day went smoothly.

Working from the assumption that all work and no play does indeed make Jack, but it also makes junior a dull boy, the juniors have scheduled a party in March to reward themselves for their money-making efforts on Valentine's Day. Details will be announced at a later date.

Spring Fashions for Men

by Charlie Rowland

Now is the time for all good Maryville College men to begin thinking about the clothes they will select for their spring wardrobe. Nationally the swing is to lighter and more unusual colors, with wide popularity still found among the bright Madras and Bateek.

For pants this spring light beige or white duck, cuffed and worn with a sport coat or blazer will be seen often. Not only is the "white look" coming into casual fashion, but the trend to bring white suits for men back will certain come to the front this year. Only a few of the early birds were able to guess how popular white suits would be when they first returned last year. Several manufacturers will be producing them, and the return to them is nearly imminent.

The look is casual formality. Coats will be worn, but frequently without ties, and dress shirts will remain popular in the colors of the rainbow, striped or solid color. Cardigan sweaters worn with a dress shirt and tie will prevail as long as the weather allows.

Socks will be the soft, ribbed wool in complementary colors for the rest of the outfit. Rainwear has been taken to new heights with colorful plaids and patterns, with the basic college beige still popular.

The basic trend — to lighter colors. The basic frame of mind — casual. The biggest items — bright sport coats and white pants.

151 Join Societies

If there had been a visitor at Maryville College on February 15, he probably would have been shocked to see numerous spacemen and girls with grass or can-can skirts walking about on campus. No, the college wasn't invaded by foreign planets, but it was Initiation Day, 1963.

There was a total of 151 pledges for all four societies, and the break-down went as follows: 65, Chi Beta; 40, Kappa Phi; 22, Theta Epsilon; 24, Alpha Sigma. The girls' societies continued their rush show themes of "Hawaii" and "Showboat" in the costumes for their pledges.

STREET POLL

A group of students were asked the question "If you could make any one change in Maryville College, what would it be?" The answers follow:

Ernie Hiler: "Lessen the administrative control of student social functions

Eileen Wagner: "A new student union."

Bill Hodge: "It would be very good to have a national fraternity and sorority on campus."

John Towle: "When a society has a party, only the members should be allowed to attend, because of all the work involved in becoming a member."

Tina Criner and Jan Melville: "More boys."

Bruce Bigart: "No academic hours added on for over-cuts in chapel."

Ellen Saint: "I'd change the attitude of some people to one of not degrading the school."

Lew Roagland, "I would lessen the restrictions on girls."

Steve Worrell: "We should be allowed to have cars on campus."

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Washington Avenue

WGAP CAMPUS MIKE

Voice of Maryville College

Sunday Evening 9:30-10:00

Save $$$'s on School Supplies For Students Only

WHITE SCHOOL SUPPLY CO-OP

Enroll now for early Savings!

Call or come in for details

White Office Machines

Corner Broadway at College

PHONE 983-4762

WON'T WRITE? CALL WHITE

PARK FREE at Rear of Bldg.

Always Look Your Best

SEE US FOR ALL YOUR DRY CLEANING NEEDS

MARYVILLE CLEANERS

Contact Your Dormitory Agent—

Carnegie & Memorial— JOE FINK, ED KRUSMAN

New Dorm—SANDY SCOFIELD

Pearsons—SUE QUIGG

Baldwin—JANET MELVILLE

FLOORBURNS

by Todd Owens

"Neither one of these teams could have beaten a good elementary school team tonight." "We played terribly, just terribly." Such quotable quotes as these came from the lips of two opposing basketball mentors last Saturday evening, words which were almost lost in the general confusion of the moment as the fans pushed toward the exits just moments after Centre College had knocked off Maryville 53-52, in what proved to be a knock-down-drag-out battle from the opening whistle. The former comment came from tall, lanky, soft-spoken Coach Stevens from Centre. He was disappointed with his team tonight, a tall, slender, sleek, knobby-kneed quintet of individuals who played fast-break basketball like they were a group of greyhounds out for a run. The latter remark came from a thoroughly disgusted Coach Boydson Baird, who needless to say, was also disappointed in his team's play.

The gymnasium emptied quickly and soon it was almost deserted, with just a few isolated stragglers and well-wishers filtering slowly out the doors and into the chill night air. The basketball floor, still bearing the marks of heated battle, looked like a solid sheet of glass reflecting the bright overhead lights in such a manner as to make one almost dizzy. I caught Coach Baird staring into a pool of light and from the look in his eyes I knew he was reliving every moment of this game. It had been a frustrating evening for him, an evening best forgotten, but for the coach who takes his job seriously this is far easier said than done.

The two coaches conversed and judging from the tone of conversation one would have thought that neither team deserved to win this one, an observation which would have not been far wrong. Certainly, had quality basketball been the criterion, neither team could have won the game.

The fans enjoyed the game; it had been very entertaining to say the very least. True, they were disappointed that we had lost but it had been a real thriller and so what if it did leave something to be desired as far as quality play was concerned? To the fan, the only things of utmost importance are how exciting the game is and what the final score is.

Coaches, however think differently. Theirs is a world of play patterns, strategy, rebounds and shooting percentages. These are the finer points of the game of basketball, points which are lost to the average fan but which are of vital importance to the coach. for he knows that the fate of his basketball team lies in the successful execution of these fine points. Coaches don't have time to enjoy an exciting game because they are too involved in it and they probably can't tell you what the final score is ten minutes after the game is over.

Coaches get excited and so do fans, but for vastly different reasons. With 18 seconds left on the clock I glanced over from the scorer's bench and looked at the Maryville College student body. They were all standing on their seats, shrieking, as the seconds ticked off. Maryville had possession of the basketball in front court and were working for a final shot. I glanced over at Coach Baird who wasn't moving a muscle as he watched his team trying to set up a play pattern. Earlier in the game the reverse was true. Coach almost had a conniption over a missed lay-up while from the stands was heard nothing except a weak groan or two.

Interesting people, these coaches. Even more interesting is a study of basketball as seen through the eyes of the player, coach and fan. To each the game is seen a little differently, but to all the objective is the same—Victory!

In order to have a victory tonight, it will take the combined efforts of Maryville players, coaches and fans. After last week's disappointing contest the players and coaches are out to play a whale of a game. The fans? Yes, they're ready too, for they are Maryville students who back their teams 100% all the time. Tonight's stage is indeed set for victory.

Game lost in final 29 seconds

Centre Cops 53-52 Squeaker

A highly partisan home crowd watched a heart- breaking basketball game go down the drain in the final 29 seconds last Saturday night, as the speedy Centre College Colonels outraced Coach Boydson Baird's Scotties in the closing seconds, 53-52.

It was anybody's ball game from the word "go." Centre took the opening tip off and scored, but 19½ minutes later Maryville walked off the court at half time enjoying a 28-26 lead.

The second half began and at one point Maryville shot out in front by eight points, but this lead, as all leads had been throughout the game, was short-lived. It shifted back and forth all during the second half as Centre harassed our team continually with a pesky full court press. With two minutes left to play Maryville had a five-point lead, which they saw evaporate quicker than an ice cream cone in the middle of August. Maryville tried to freeze the ball but Centre gained control. Bill Disler hit 2 consecutive baskets for them; Maryville made a frantic attempt to score in the final seconds but the effort fell short and the buzzer sounded, ending the game with Centre eking out the victory be one point. On well-distributed scoring, Mike Gregory was high point man for Maryville, dropping in 14 points, while Kip Martin and Bert Randall both hit for 10 apiece. Tonight the Highlanders will close out their 1963 basketball season at home against invading Mars-Hill, whom they defeated in an earlier encounter this year.

SCOT FOR TWO—Forward Mike Moyers goes up for two points in last Saturday night's game with Centre. Mike Marks (left) and Steve Yount (right) try unsuccessfully to block the shot but Centre went on to win 53-52.

Photo-Courtesy of Maryville Times

SEC TOURNAMENT NEXT

Grapplers Post 24-13 Win Over Emory U

Coach John A. Davis' improving wrestlers ended their regular season last Saturday evening in Atlanta, Georgia—and ended it the right way by posting a fine 24-13 win over Emory University. The win was the Scots' fifth against six losses and one tie.

Walking off the mat victoriously for Maryville were Jim Baxter, Will Mitchell, Adam Deveney, Pete Stafford and Bob Clemens. Jim Baxter decisioned his man, which came as no surprise, but Will Mitchell pinned his man in the second period and this came as a most pleasant surprise. Also finding the pin route to their liking were Pete Stafford, who pinned his man in 58 seconds of the first period; and heavyweight Bob Clemens who also won on a pin.

Sports Banquet To Be April 30

Maryville College will hold its 1963 sports banquet on April 30th, it was announced by the Athletic Department last week. This banquet will be for all participants in Maryville College Athletics throughout the school year. Heretofore there have been two banquets, one honoring football and basketball and the other, generally coming in May, honoring the Spring Sports participants. This year, in an effort to make the banquet bigger and better there will be just one held and it will honor all sports at Maryville. Football lettermen will be announced, as well as presentation of Most Valuable Player and Most Im-

Cont'd. Pg. 7, Col. 2

1963 Football Schedule

Sept. 21	Mars Hill	A
Sept. 28	Centre	H
Oct. 5	Georgetown	H
Oct. 12	Emory & Henry	A
Oct. 19	Hanover	A
Oct. 26	Guilford	Homecoming
Nov. 2	Millsaps	A
Nov. 9	Guilford	A
Nov. 18	Carson-Newman	H

"Win with the Scots"

A—Away H—Home

Stafford MVP; Masingo Most Improved

Ramsey, Thomas Elected Co-Captains

As Maryville College takes the field for its first football game this September, the team will be led by center Charlie Thomas and end Wilbur Ramsey, newly elected co-captains. At a meeting of the football squad last week, Ramsey and Thomas were elected to this honor by their teammates. Also coming in for recognition were Pete Stafford and Junior Masingo. Pete was voted Most Valuable Player for the past season while Junior Masingo was deemed Most Improved Player. Both boys are linemen and were standouts for the Scotties this past year.

Coach Baird then announced the schedule for next year, which has seen a few changes from last year. The biggest change involves the addition of Guilford of Guilford, N. C. to the schedule. Dropped from the schedule is Southwestern University of Memphis. This year they have decided to participate in the Volunteer State Athletic Conference and could not provide us with an available date so Guilford was scheduled in their place. Guilford plays good football in a tough North Carolina league. Both Guilford and Maryville have a common opponent in Emory and Henry, and Guilford has always done well against the Wasps. This year the Highlanders will have two cracks at Guilford as the two schools will compete twice in 1963.

Sportsman's Philosophy — Win as if you are used to it, lose as if you like it.

U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!
TIP TOP BARBER SHOP
105 Church
Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop
6 Days a Week

MOYERS, Cont'd. from Pg. 2

Many students hostile to the group now would see the situation in a much different light were the organization not so secretive. The other possible complication is conflict within the organization. Whether this be the stubbornness of some of the members to give up their state of limbo, or whether their purpose be too clandestine for exposure, obviously most of the members don't feel the time is ripe to come up from the underworld. Still the question remains: What has the group to hide? This is my question, and I feel it is a question many people are asking. An organization fearful of public scrutiny has no place on this campus.

—Mike Moyers

Loud clamor is always more or less insane.

Thos. Carlyle

MARRIED STUDENTS, Cont'd. from Pg. 4

expenses of being married: "We find that it is only about two hundred dollars more expensive to live here in an apartment than it was living in the dorms. Of course the cost of running our Volkswagen accounts for part of that."

George Herron, another senior, got married midway through his college career. His wife works as a registered nurse. Asked how marriage affected his school work, he said that the responsibility of being married has caused his studying and grades to improve a great deal.

SPORTS BANQUET, Cont'd. from Pg. 6

proved Player awards. Next year's co-captains will also be introduced. Basketball, wrestling, track, tennis and baseball lettermen will be announced and recognized. The main speaker for the event has not yet been announced.

Socks and Sneakers

by Ginna Coon

Not One, not Two, but Three—three is the big number this year for girl's basketball. Previously girls have only been allowed to dribble the ball twice, but now they are allowed to dribble the ball three times.

Another new feature added this year is the rover. The rovers, one guard and one forward, are allowed to play the full court. It is getting to be more like boys' rules every year.

For the next week and a half on Tuesdays and Thursdays you will find Chi Betas and Thetas playing their hearts out to win for their society. You will see teams such as the Theta's "7 Ups" or the Chi Beta's "Coon's Goons" in action. (You would wonder where they get such names.)

After basketball season we will find the girls practicing for the swimming meet on March 12. Horseshoes, badminton, tennis, track and field, and softball will follow consecutively. So all and all, I think the co-eds at Maryville have a pretty full Spring schedule ahead of them.

Summer Jobs in Europe Available to US Students

Need a summer job? How about working in Europe next summer? Several European governments are making many job opportunities available to students in American colleges and universities. The American-European Student Foundation (a non-profit organization) is offering these jobs for Germany, Scandinavia, England, Holland, Austria, Switzerland, France, Italy, and Spain. The jobs consist of forestry work, child care work (females only), farm work, hotel work, construction work, and some other positions requiring specialized training.

Purpose, Details of Program

The purpose of this program is to afford the American student an opportunity to get into living contact with the people and customs of Europe. In this way a concrete effort can be made to learn something of the culture of Europe. In return for his or her work the student will receive room and board, plus a wage. However, students should keep in mind that they will be working on the European economy, and wages will naturally be scaled accordingly. The labor ministries of the countries involved will also control the working conditions, including hours, safety, regulations, legal protection, and work permits.

Success in Future as In Past

In most cases the employers have requested American students and therefore are particularly concerned with the students' interests and needs. Since all of the employers are familiar with the purpose of the program, they will help the participants to enjoy worthwhile trips to Europe.

During the last four years American students have crossed the Atlantic to take part in the actual life of the people of European countries.

Address of Placement Agency

Persons wishing more information or application forms should write to the American-European Student Foundation, Placement Service, Via Santorre Santarosa 23, Florence, Italy.

at PROFFITT'S

As Advertised in LIFE

New Member of the First Family of Fine Wash Slacks

For school and casual wear

FARAH OF TEXAS

slacks Look Great Feel Great

FARAH OF TEXAS

first family of fine wash slacks

Perfect fit
Long wear

$5.98

Proffitt's

WINTHROP HAND-SEWN FRONTS

the dress casual fashion that made Winthrop today's style leader

The subject for discussion, gentlemen, is what hand-sewn detailing means. On Winthrop dress casuals, specifically! It represents a luxury look, greater seam flexibility, and skilled workmanship. And perhaps most important, gentlemen, it indicates style leadership. Winthrop hand-sewn fronts are wardrobe coordinated for dress casual and casual wear.

The illustration of, or the term leather, in this ad, describes the uppers only.

wardrobe coordinates

Black—Brown
AA to D
7 to 13
$14.99

C. C. Moore's

SHOEMAKERS SHOE STORE

Several New Buildings Planned by MC Development Office

Most students have heard of plans to build several new buildings on the campus but no one seems to know much beyond the fact that a science building is to be built first. The Development Office has the science building and several others on a list for planned construction in this decade, and even a list for the 1970's. The actual building done, however, depends on several factors and keeps plans from being concrete.

The first thing to be considered is the number of students the college will have. Naturally dormitory space must be provided for whatever students are here. The other factor involved is the fact that the donations will determine what is to be built. No matter what the Development Office has planned, a donor may prefer another project to the first on the list.

Buildings for the Near Future

The plans now list the new science building first. Tentative plans have already been drawn up for it. It will be located behind Fayerweather Hall and connected to the older building by a covered walkway. Fayerweather will be rehabilitated and used for biology, math and home economics, while the new building will house physics and chemistry.

Also planned is a new student center. A committee last year investigated what features other colleges had used, and with what success, in the building of the student centers.

Two new dormitories may be built before 1970, one for men, one for women. With the idea of keeping the proportion of students as nearly even as possible, a men's dormitory will probably be built first (at present there are about 100 more places for women than for men in the dormitories). The campus can provide more residence space for women and still maintain a balance between the students because the commuting students are mostly men.

With regard to the dormitory situation, the year 1964-1965 is predicted as a time of increase in college enrollment. The babies born shortly after the second world war will be of college age at that time. How much of this increase Maryville receives will determine whether any changes will have to be made in the plans for the buildings.

Also in the planning for this decade is a new maintenance building and a decorative entrance to the north campus. Already built in this program are the Fine Arts Wing and the Band Room.

Fund Raising Plans

Collections are going on now towards a goal of $7 million, which will be used in three areas: 1.5 million for the endowment, 3.0 for raising faculty salaries, and 2.5 for buildings. Of this $1.25 million has already been collected. ($165.000 has been set aside towards $235,000 for the rehabilitation of Fayerweather Hall at the time the science building is built). 1969 will mark the 150th anniversary of the founding of the college; and by that time it is hoped that an intensive drive can be established, with the idea of adding to the endowment and the building fund.

Plans for the 1970's

Plans for the building program of the seventies are necessarily more vague than the current plans. A new fireproof library is on that list, unless it is possible to build one before that time. The first floor of Thaw will be remodeled into class rooms. A new dining hall annex will be needed, assuming the school is still serving under the same system. It might not be needed, as such, if food were served cafeteria style.

A new Administrative and classroom building is on the list, with Anderson being remodeled for classes. Also considered as possible for the time are the remodeling of Bartlett, the razing of Baldwin, a new infirmary, and a chapel bell tower.

Student Committee On USNSA Reports It's Semester Plans

The USNSA committee, in a recent meeting, made its plans for the coming semester. "In Loco Parentis," or "in place of parents," will be the topic of a seminar consisting of four meetings. Should the college assume the role of parents and thus administer parental control? This problem on our own campus will be the subject of evaluation; it is possible that action will result from these meetings. All students will be invited to attend.

Senior Ann Harrison will represent Maryville College at the Domestic Peace Corps conference to be held March 1-3 in Washington, D. C. Attorney general Robert Kennedy and Senators Hubert Humphrey and Harrison Williams will be speakers; workshops will be held concerning the selection and training of participants, as well as the general objectives of the program.

Although the committee had recommended previously an immediate referendum regarding the Maryville student body membership in NSA, it reconsidered the question in the light of new developments. Five of the six members favored a referendum nearer the end of the semester; one member abstained.

DODEZ, Cont'd. from Pg. 2

twin brothers—Nick who is a lawyer in Geneva, and Toby a technical worker..

Skis and A Spruce

The Schmids are the "skiingest" family I've ever met, and nothing would do except that I must start the next morning. Mr. Schmid gave me my first lesson, but from the next day on, I went to ski school every day from ten to four.

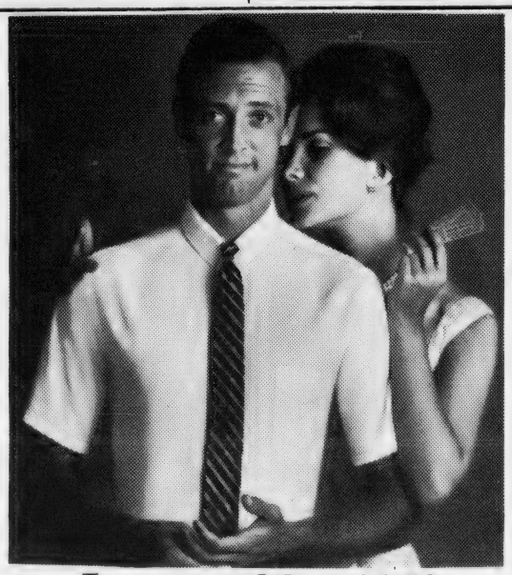
On Christmas Mrs. Schmid would permit no one to go into the living room after supper, and about eight o'clock we found out why. When the six of us were finally permitted to file in, we found a huge spruce tree decorated with red apples and real candles. Mr. Schmid read the Christmas story in German from the Bible and then we all sang Christmas carols.

December 29 I left on a post bus for Italy. The two things that impressed me most about Milan were Da Vinci's painting of "The Last Supper" and La Scala. What to me was even more miraculous than "The Last Supper" itself was the fact that it was still there. During World War II, the building was completely destroyed except for the two paintings on the walls at either end.

Rome was beautiful by night, and we saw it from one of the carriages drawn by horses and driven by an Italian guide. New Year's Day, we lunched in a tiny Italian restaurant that we were later told was the old home of Lucretia Borgia.

Florence, our next stop, has been called the "city of 40 museums." The Medici Palace and the Art Museum where we saw Michael Angelo's "David." were enough for us though, and 38 museums went sight unseen. We stopped on the Ponte Vecchio (the bridge which stretches across the Arno where the jewelry and leather merchants sell their wares) and watched crude leather being made into leather products in one of the small shops.

Venice . . . the land part is composed of tiny streets, so narrow that when you stick your arms out, you can touch both sides. No gondola rides in January, but we did manage to find what looked like the city parking lot for gondolas. We took a giant fifteen cent "vaporetta" (water taxi) ride over the canals.



Voice of America

On the train back to Genevea I met a Polish man who spent at least two hours telling me about the political situation in Poland today. He praised highly the Voice of America broadcasts and said that this was the only way he and millions of others could get a true report of world happenings.

. . . The Association of Christian Students on campus sponsors morning worship services, study groups and Sunday evening fellowship. Last month I participated in the ACE's work day, in which students from the University go into Swiss homes to earn money for the poorer students. The picnic lunch I shared with eight Swiss students in itself made the day worthwhile.

It meant much to hear from friends in the States during the Holidays. Good luck in keeping your New Year's Resolutions.

—Jane Dodez

Irresistibly '417'

Nice feeling—nice fashion! Yours in a dress shirt from the famous Van Heusen "417" collection. All impeccably tailored . . . all with authentic "417" traditional dress shirt detailing. You make the big decision — choose from a wide array of "417" fabrics, colors and collar styles. All irresistible!

FROM THE 417 COLLECTION

by VAN HEUSEN

"the well-tailored look for the well-tailored man"

$4.00 up

Minton's

982-3742

"COCA-COLA" AND "COKE" ARE REGISTERED TRADE-MARKS WHICH IDENTIFY ONLY THE PRODUCT OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY.

.....fox trot
twist...waltz
lindy...samba
mambo...cha-cha-cha..bend
dip..hop..step
turn...bump...
whew...

take a break
...things go better
with Coke
TRADE-MARK

Bottled under the authority of The Coca-Cola Company by:
RODDY MFG. CO.
Maryville, Tenn.

CUT OUT AND SAVE — TELL YOUR NEIGHBORS TO LISTEN

SUGGESTED RADIO PROGRAMS FOR THINKING AMERICANS

"LIFE LINE"	WGAP	1400 KC	DAILY	6:00 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WKXV	900 KC	MONDAY	5:45 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:45 P.M.
CHURCH LEAGUE OF AMERICA	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:30 P.M.
20th CENTURY REFORMATION	WKXV	900 KC	MON.-FRI.	7:45 A.M.
CITIZENS COUNCIL	WGAP	1400 KC	THURS.	6:00 P.M.
INDEPENDENT AMERICAN	WKXV	900 KC	FRIDAY	5:45 P.M.
DR. KERSHNER	WGAP	1400 KC	WED.	6:00 P.M.

(Education for Americanism, Inc., P.O. Box 255, Maryville, Tenn.)

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 48 | Maryville, Tennessee, March 9, 1963 | No. 10

NSA Conference Discusses National Service Program

by Ann Harrison

The United States needs a national service program to halt "human erosion" in this country. This was the claim of Secretary of Interior Stuart Udall in the keynote address of the National Student Association Conference on a National Service Program, held March 1—3 in Washington.

Some 300 representatives from 29 states and 5 foreign countries took part in the conference, which provided information about a domestic version of the Peace Corps.

Notable Speakers

Secretary Udall, Senator Harrison Williams (D-NJ), and Senator Claiborne Pell (D-RI) spoke in general terms favoring a domestic service program. Representative Paul Findley (R-Ill) opposed the plan on the grounds that it would be unmerited federal activity in work already being done by voluntary organizations.

Following Udall's address, NSA president Dennis Shaul urged the representatives to consider the proposed program objectively and critically, assuring them that "although NSA is committed to the idea of a national service program, this conference (not an official body of NSA) is not."

Some delegates voiced opposition to a federal program and frequently introduced resolutions encouraging non-federal service groups and disavowing the need for a national service program. In every vote, however, a majority registered approval of a federally organized program.

As members of the President's Study Group for a National Service Corps, Mr. Harry Kranz and Mr. Richard Boone, enumerated provisions a bill for a national service program may contain. The legislation, not drafted yet, will probably be introduced within a month.

Boone emphasized the need for a program to "help Americans in greatest need" and to "act as a catalyst" to encourage other voluntary service groups, private and public, to work toward alleviating poverty in this country.

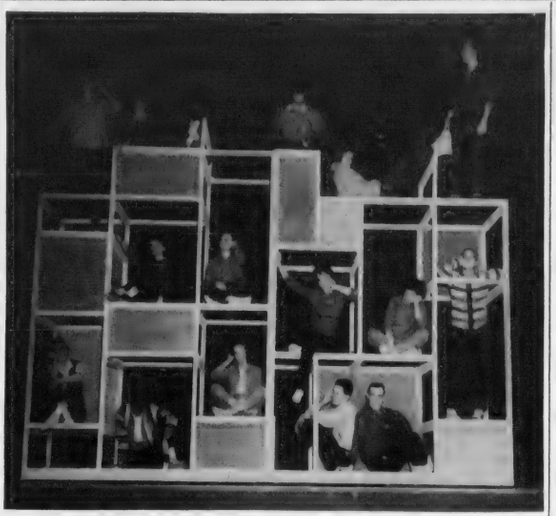
What Program Is Not

He clarified what a national service program would not be:

1. Not a remedy for youth unemployment and high school dropout problems. It would instead employ trained individuals aged 18 and above (including senior citizens) for service.
2. Not a mass organization, but a catalytic agent to involve more people in each community in volunteer service. The study group favors starting with 200-500 corpsmen and expanding in three years to an optimum of 5000.
3. Not imposed on a community from above. Corpsmen would enter an area only when invited by local groups, public or private, and only when assured of local cooperation.

Fields of Activity

Kranz revealed that the study group has solicited program models from local communities in five fields of activity where corpsmen might work education (especially literacy), community development, migratory workers, Indians and mental institutions.



The conferees, after thorough discussion of the plans presented, passed resolutions on all phases of the program. Debate was liveliest on the statement of purpose of the corps, its size and the question of how projects should be chosen. A copy of the final resolutions of the conference will be available soon.

Students Reorganize Internat'l Rel. Club

Recently a group of students met to officially organize an International Relations Club. Actually, this is the re-establishment of a club which had once been active on campus but was discontinued in 1959. Like the earlier club, it will be affiliated with the national Association of International Relations Clubs.

The members are students who hope to increase their knowledge and understanding of the peoples and cultures of other countries, as well as political affairs. Working out details are the newly elected officers: John Vordonis (president), Roberto Schiller (vice-president) and Carol Rugh (secretary).

John Vordonis, with the enthusiastic interest characteristic of the whole group, expresses hopes of securing outside speakers, having movies, and providing opportunities for the foreign students on campus to bring and share the customs of their countries with others. The group also looks forward to social gatherings in the fashion of various countries.

WHO'S CALLING, PLEASE? "Birdie" teenagers smile brightly as they rehearse the "Telephone Hour" in "Bye, Bye, Birdie," the next Maryville College Playhouse production to be presented next weekend. See Page 6 for "Birdie" Story.

Four MC Debaters Chosen To Attend Nat'l Tourney in Illinois March 19-23

On March 19 to 23 the Golden Anniversary Convention of the Pi Kappa Delta Forensic Society will be held at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Illinois. Representing Maryville College at this national tournament will be four members of the debate team—Judith Mikeal, Gloria Sturmfels, Richard Gossweiler, and Bradford Rehm.

These four students will participate as a team in the debates, as well as in individual competition. Miss Mikeal and Mr. Rehm will participate in oratory, while Miss Sturmfels and Mr. Gossweiler will compete in extemporaneous speaking. The topics concerned are all related to this year's national topic of world economic conditions, with special emphasis on the European Common Market. The best speakers will receive ratings of "good," "excellent," or "superior."

Pi Kappa Delta was founded 50 years ago. Maryville College was one of the first members of the society, and was the first chapter in Tennessee. Today, 210 chapters and 36,000 members comprise Pi Kappa Delta. Conventions are held biannually. Two years ago 750 delegates attended, and an even greater number is expected for the anniversary convention.

MC Sponsors Conf. On Church Vocations For 5 E-T Colleges

A church vocations conference will begin on the Maryville College campus today at 3:00 P.M. and last until vespers tomorrow night.

Students from Knoxville College, Tusculum College, Tennessee Wesleyan and the University of Tennessee, as well as Maryville College, will participate.

Leaders for the conference are Dr. Frank Wilson, secretary of higher education for the Presbyterian Church in foreign countries, and Dr. Louis Briner, professor of theology at McCormick Seminary in Chicago. Dr. Briner is in charge of the enlistment program for church vocations in the United States.

Dr. Wilson will talk on what is going on in the colleges around the world. Dr. Briner's subject is "What is Worth Spending our Life on?"

William Henderson (father of senior English major Steve Henderson), who is in charge of the enlistment program for church vocations in Philadelphia, will be present also. He is an authority on opportunities in church vocations.

Different discussion groups are pastoral ministry, church music, psychological counselling and social work, DCE and youth work, and fraternal work on missions.

Junior John Spangler from Waynesboro, Pa., and Meredith Brewer from Shawnee-Mission, Kansas, have worked with Dr. E. Faye Campbell, college chaplain, in preparation for the conference.

Vesper Choir To Leave March 21 On '63 Tour In Northeastern U. S.

Although the whole campus is eagerly awaiting spring vacation, forty-two members of the Vesper Choir have a special reason to be excited. The annual choir tour will begin March 21 and end April 2. The tour this year goes to the Northeast, and before the singers return to East Tennessee, they will have performed in Virginia, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, and the District of Columbia. This trip will include concerts in the major cities of Washington, Baltimore, and Philadelphia.

The choir will give its concerts for the most part in Presbyterian churches, but some are scheduled at schools and auditoriums. The program is divided into four parts, with Part I as an introduction; Part II is entitled "God for Man"; Part III, "God through Man"; and Part IV, "God in Psalms." The songs include Negro spirituals and choral music from the sixteenth century to the present. There will also be selections composed by Dr. Harry Harter, choir director, and by Mr. James Bloy, faculty organist.

In the fall, members of the choir are carefully auditioned by Dr. Harter. He later choses 42 out of the 60 members to compose the choir tour personnel.

In the last 15 years members of the choir have traveled more than 30,000 miles and have appeared in more than 100 cities east of the Mississippi. Last year the tour went through the Southeast.

Lloyds Visit MC Campus

To some it was a new face, to many it was a familiar face, but to all it was a friendly face with a smile and glow which are unmistakable. It was good to have Dr. Lloyd on campus again.

This past week was the first opportunity Maryville students have had to see Dr. Lloyd since he left the college presidency in 1961. Since that time he has been concerned primarily with writing, speaking, and consultations in his capacity as President of the World Presbyterian Alliance. This has kept Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd traveling almost constantly throughout the world. Though this is a strenuous schedule, he never tires, he says, of seeing new places and meeting new people.

Having come here from Florida, where he spoke in some 20 cities for the Florida Chain of Missionary Assemblies, he will leave Tennessee to go to Indiana, Chicago, Florida and then Jamaica. But the Lloyds do look foreward to settling down in the not too distant future—probably in Chicago, with a winter house in Florida.

Dr. Lloyd finds the most encouraging experience in his travels to be a new and broadening vision of Christians everywhere, as exemplified in their concern for their fellow Christians in all other countries. "There is a definite feeling of Christian fellowship and mission in the world." Most discouraging, he says, is that so many people who become Christians don't realize the depth of the faith but merely see it as a ritual. Dr. Lloyd feels that what is most urgently needed in the Church today is a rediscovery of the unique and essential nature of the Christian message and a vision beyond one's local and personal situation to a concern for all peoples.

Dulin Gallery Art Exhibition March 3-31

The "Great Ideas of Western Man" art exhibition, comprising more than 70 pieces of original painting and sculpture by leading contemporary artists, will be on view at the Dulin Gallery of Art, 3100 Kingston Pike, until March 31.

Painting and sculpture in the "Great Ideas" collection were commissioned by Container Corporation of America for its noted "Great Ideas of Western Man" advertising series in which significant quotations from renowned philosophers, statesmen and spiritual leaders are expressed graphically through fine art. In each case, the artist is commissioned with the sole stipulation that the design must be related in some manner to the quotation.

Represented in the collection are such noted artists as Hans Erni, Constantine Nivola, Joseph

Continued on Page 6, Col. 3

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor in Chief
LYNN HERRING

Assistant Editor — CHARLOTTA COOK
News Editor — PATRICIA REHM
Feature Editor — ANN HARRISON
Art Editor — GRACE ROSSER
Sports Editors — TODD OWERS and JEANNE PRICE
Exchange Editor — GAIL GARLOCH
Business Manager — PAUL BIGGERS

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Mary Gay Boettcher, Carole Brownlee, Sandra Chittick, Harold Cones, Louise Crawford, Elenora Easterly, Sue Foreman, John Gamble, Gail Garloch, Mike Garrett, Mary Janovich, Phil Jerome, Karen Keen, Ross Kerr, Dave King, Libby Lee, Mildred Miles, Nelson Miller, Paul Millin, Helen Ryan, Charlie Rowland, Norma Sharp, Celia Tiffany.

CIRCULATION: David King, Bruce Bigart, Carole Brownlee, Harold Cones, Ginna Coon, Nelson Miller

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR, MR. FRANK LAYMAN

Editorially Speaking

by Ann Harrison

Questioning roles seems to be a popular current pursuit. The parts we play as men and women, students, an institution, and parents are up for inspection.

Y programs on the next two Sunday nights will consider the changing roles of men and women. NSA is sponsoring the "In Loco Parentis" Seminar to ask the question: "Should the college to some degree assume the role of the parent?"

If one does believe that the college should function in place of parents—and surely the policies of a majority of colleges historically rest on this assumption—one must still face the question of what the role of the parent in relation to a young person eighteen or over really is.

This questioning is potentially dangerous. It is dangerous because, if honest, it will seek answers, and these answers are liable to upset the status quo. But the status quo of official things like rules is not the most vulnerable set of ideas. More crucially, the security of acting a certain way because that is the role you are traditionally "supposed" to fill is subject to disruption.

Perhaps the notion that the student is responsible for what happens in the community of learning as well as in the social community will emerge from these meetings. Whatever emerges, it is to be hoped that our security will be disrupted if, through the process, we partially discover what roles really are ours.

Grace Rosser, senior art major from Baltimore, is honored as Sweetheart by the men of Alpha Sigma.

Grace Rosser 1963 Sweetheart

In its annual Sweetheart show, the men of Alpha Sigma chose Grace Rosser, President of Theta Epsilon, as their 1963 Sweetheart. The four cupids, Jane McDade, Ruth McDade, Mary Pettigrew, Midge Slater, and an audience of 125 looked on as Alpha Sigma President "Red" Prudon and Man of the Year Joe Fink crowned her. The skit, written by George Derbyshire, revolved around the Cinderella theme and completely surprised Gracie.

The opening program of the semester featured Mr. E. V. Crowe of the Alcoa Aluminum Co. and was open to the general campus. It met with success and plans have been made to have other open programs, featuring A. Randolph Shields and park rangers from Smoky Mountains National Park.

In its striving to move forward, extensive remodeling of the interior of the Alpha Sigma house is under way with further plans including an "L" shaped extension which will triple the size of the present house.

Laws are like cobwebs, which may catch small flies, but let wasps and hornets break through.
J. Swift

The worst sin towards our fellow creatures is not to hate them, but to be indifferent to them; that's the essence of inhumanity.
George B. Shaw

Comments on Campus

COUNCIL PROCEDURE REQUIRES IMPROVEMENT

by John Gamble

In the last two columns, we explored two problems which can cause disunity in the student body: the need for fair representation through the creation of a Town Student Government Association, and the philosophies on delegation of authority. In this column, we investigate means of improving the present procedures in the Student Council.

Anyone who takes an hour each week to attend the Council meetings notes the highly informal atmosphere of these sessions of our student government. We contend these meetings are too informal.

The seating arrangement for the Council is irregular. One may sit anywhere. Visitors and interested persons sit among the elected representatives, and many representatives are compelled to sit in the back viewing area if they arrive late. Many problems result from this seating pattern.

Atmosphere Too Informal

Newcomers who drop by to see a meeting in session could easily mistake someone in the audience as a representative. Indeed, many visitors talk more than representatives when discussions are underway.

To an air of "Unimportance," a formal atmosphere must be created in order that the Council members can more fully realize their importance in formulating student body policy. In other words, remedy the thought by many visitors that Council meetings are "unimportant" by giving an air of importance.

The problem is serious, moreover, when voting by the members is called for. Not only is 90% of all vote-taking in Council by unison voice vote, gut the seating arrangement presents the problem of outsiders voting also. For when the representatives say their "yeas" or "nays," a member of the audience can very easily voice his unsolicited opinion also. No one can distinguish between Council member or visitors, and certainly no one is aware when a visitor slips in a voice vote.

In other words, Council's votes could very easily be a mixture of elected representatives voting and visitors in no official capacity.

What can be done to make this more efficient? First of all, the meetings should be held in a formal, or at least semi-formal atmosphere by having a regular seating arrangement for all Council members. These representatives should sit within a designated area, with places left for late comers. The audience should be required to sit in an area reserved for them alone. Visitors and Council members should not mingle during the meetings.

Requests Roll Call Vote

Voting should be by roll-call. We don't have a large Council, and it would not be time-consuming to take a roll call vote. This will allow all to know exactly what position a representative takes on a matter, and consequently, an air of seriousness is added. He will not be clothed in security of "yea" or "nay" voting. This eliminates automatically unsolicited votes from the audience.

Futhermore, the votes should be recorded and published in the minutes when there is a difference in voting. A unanimous vote can be recorded and reported as such. In this manner, the class members can keep up with what their representatives are doing. They can make an intelligent decision on re-electing incumbants, and disregard the "popularity" contests which are all to often common. What better way can be arranged to have good communications with Council members and their constituents?

There is no question that improvements can be made. We ask Council to consider them.

To the fool, he who speaks wisdom will sound foolish.
Euripedes

*Homemade Pies
*Breakfast Anytime
*Complete Short Order Menu
*Hol 'n One Donuts & Fine Coffee

FREE DELIVERY
on Orders of $5.00 or More

YOUR 24 HOUR HOST – WE NEVER CLOSE
Broadway Downtown 982-1541

THE COFFEE HOUSE

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"
BANKING SERVICES
*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
*CHECK ACCOUNTS
*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
*TRANSFER OF FUNDS
— Your College Bank —
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

College Students
Faculty Members
College Libraries

Printed in BOSTON
LOS ANGELES
LONDON

SUBSCRIBE NOW AT HALF PRICE

Clip this advertisement and return it with your check or money order to:
The Christian Science Monitor
One Norway St., Boston 15, Mass.

☐ 1 YEAR $11 ☐ 6 mos. $5.50
☐ COLLEGE STUDENT
☐ FACULTY MEMBER

P-CN

SEEN . . .

. . . AND HEARD

The Green Sweatshirt Society . . . the fashionable fop of first floor . . . the three a.m. bridge club . . . "Is everybody giving up the same thing for Lent?" . . . ratings of the meetings . . . scripture picture . . . "moral tragedies" . . . back to the old meals . . . the "white look" . . . Dr. Hudson: "If I didn't make you question your beliefs this week, I've been a dud." . . .

"I only have four papers, five tests, 2000 pages of reading and four book reports to do before choir tour." . . . we never talk about Death of a Salesman in our business courses . . . instead of dropping a bomb, he laid an egg . . . "Bye, Bye Birdie": 3 night stand? . . . what's going to happen is happening . . . ironing board covers, new ones and burnt ones . . . new equipment for the fifty yard line.

Fugitive Pieces

by Gail Garloch

With the first official day of Spring coming before the next official issue of the Echo, a mention of some of the socially more acceptable rites of Spring is in order; especially because many of us have been celebrating Spring ever since the first croci reared their lovely buds through the New Dorm sidewalk and were driven back by Sullivan's left hind foot and an ice storm. I remember a freshman boy who ran ecstatically across the campus in January proclaiming that he had seen his first robin. Where does he think the birds go when they go South for the winter? Regarding the rites themselves, they are various and may be performed by anyone who is willing to shake his winter inhibitions and experience Spring . . .

Rite number one. Flying Kites. When the March wind doth blow, Maryville College affords excellent facilities for this sport on the golf course and, for more experienced enthusiasts, on the college farm. This is the way I do it: I get a red kite (red is easier to keep track of what with the sky being blue, the trees green etc.), run down the hill with it and then it goes right up in the air. I keep feeding it string and freeing it to go higher and higher, until once there isn't anymore string. Once you run out of string there isn't anything to do except tie it to your wrist and sit down on the ground. Or if you get a little bored, you can play this game I made up called "Trees." You walk the kite over sort of near a tree and weave the string in and out of the branches. The object is not to get caught. Once my string got caught in a pine cone. Then I performed this emergency measure called "Spontaneous Combustion." I kept loosening the string and pulling it in real fast until the friction created enough heat and the pine cone burst into flame and the kite string was free.

Rite number two. Tastes and Smells (being a catalogue). Orange popsicles and grass just beginning to grow. Dry dust and onions in the milk. The tar melting between the cracks and peanut butter and jelly sandwiches. Moth balls on the pillars and Easter candy and new sneakers and sunshine.

Rite number three. Hopscotch, jump rope and other skips. For hopscotch you need some equipment; in a school situation chalk isn't hard to come by, but mannies aren't so easy to find. The wind catches little gravel and carries it beyond ten, so that's no good. One member of the February meetings team found a good chipped pipe near the Bookstore. Anyhow you have to hop on one foot and then bend over and pick up your stone without falling on your face. Jump rope you can do by yourself or with two other people. You can skip or do red hot pepper or double dutch. For both of these you need level ground. A little known hop is "tree-hopping," only you really do leaps over bushes, so it's a misnomer. And leap frog.

There are lots of other rites of Spring that you can discover for yourself. If you can keep a Maypole long enough, do dance around it. Some couples are celebrating Memorial Day early with pilgrimages to various cemeteries. And before we can say "Olly olly in free" seven times blindfolded, sumer will be icumen in, and you can bet we'll be singing cukoo pretty ludli.

Martin's DRUG STORE
401 S. Washington St. Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.
Offering Maryville College Students
a complete line of cosmetics,
plus
a reliable prescription service
Located just off campus on Washington St.

So . . . What About The Weather?!

by Mike Garrett

Have you been wondering what causes the sporadic weather in East Tennessee? Some folks blame it on the time of year, others accuse the near-by mountains, and still others point to nuclear testing. But the truth is . . . it's caused by the administration!

That's right! When Mark Twain said nobody ever does anything about the weather, he hadn't heard of Maryville College. Rain and bad weather have been a part of administrative policy for more than 143 years. You've probably even heard the administration-sponsored rumor that Isaac Anderson made regular runs to Knoxville for Church activities. Don't believe it! The truth of the matter is that old Isaac had a going partnership with a Cherokee rainmaker he'd met back in the 1830's, and he rode to Knoxville at least once a week to deliver rain-making instructions to his Indian friend.

Of course, in "moving from strength to strength" Maryville College has long since rejected the unreliable Indian maker-of-bad-weather. Today's administration has at its disposal the most modern methods of weather forecasting and cloud-seeding. And it's common knowledge at McGee-Tyson Air Force Base that Anderson Hall has a direct line to the Air Force's chief meterologist. When Anderson Hall says "Rain!," the Air Force pilots are in their planes and in the air within nine minutes. Some weekends, the rain problem takes care of itself, but other times, Mother Nature needs a helping hand. And if you think the sonic booms frequently heard on campus are a part of training maneuvers, you're wrong again! Actually, sonic booms are a part of the latest rain-making techniques . . . a fact discreetly concealed from general knowledge by the careful administration.

Most people who don't understand Maryville College ask why the administration would sponsor such a program. Basically, there are two reasons: The first reason for this distasteful policy is a little-known deal between Maryville College and the Acme Umbrella and Rain-Wear Company. Maryville College makes the rain, and Acme sells the umbrellas. In return for this, Acme helps support another administrative program, and donates money annually to construct and repair speed-breaks. Actually this is a pretty good deal for both parties. Maryville College purchases have helped make Acme the biggest producer in its field, and Acme is the only company known to the administration that will give any money at all for the upkeep of speed-breaks.

In the second place, rain and bad weather eliminate a lot of pressure for more social activities. According to periodic surveys taken by the administration, requests for car permission go up 73% during fair weather, while such activities as hay-rides and mountain picnics are almost entirely eliminated by a short afternoon thunder-shower. The next time you see Dean Massey about having an outing, and she declines because of bad weather forecasts . . . don't argue! Just exit smiling. You could cause a whole month of bad weather!

MONEY GOES FARTHER IN INDIA

JOHN AND PARVEEN WILL HELP MEET GREAT NEED

India is a country of over 440 million people. That gives it a population about eight times that of the United States. The average income in India is $63 a year, which not only means that a dollar is worth more in India than in the United States but that the standard of living of the Indian people cannot be compared to ours. In our country the life—expectancy is sixty-seven years; in India it is thirty-two. America is fortunate enough to have a doctor for every thousand people; in India there is one to every seven thousand. For every 350 people in America there is a trained nurse; in India there is one for every 43,000 people. Eighty-three percent of India's people live in rural communities, while the medical facilities of the country are concentrated in the cities.

These statistics are just a few of the reasons why the aid that we of the college family are sending to two medical students in India is so significant. Of the $2016.50 pledged to the Fred Hope Fund this year $935.50 has been collected thus far. Five-hundred dollars has been advanced to pay Parveen's expenses this year. In India $500 is enough to pay practically all the expenses at one of their finest medical schools for an entire year.

Parveen has been in medical graduate school for a year now while John has just begun college. These two young people face an overwhelming challenge. They not only live in a country where people are illiterate to the value of medicine, but now they face the horrors of a war on their own land. In a letter thanking us for our gift, Dr. Dorothy Ferris of the Frances Newton Hospital in Ferozepore says, "Today's paper carries the news on the front page that medical courses are to be completed in 4½ years instead of the present 5¼ years. This is a measure to help meet the war threat from the China situation." Dr. Ferris goes on to thank us at length and says, "It is a gift that will go far — to what people, places, needs, adventures who knows? For it is to go into the life of a young person. Possibilities almost beyond imagining."

NAHHEEYAYLI
THE UNIVERSITY OF TENNESSEE CONCERTS
presents
Peter, Paul & Mary
at the
UNIVERSITY OF TENNESSEE
ARMORY FIELD HOUSE
March 23, 1963
8:30 – 10:30 P. M.
ADMISSION $2.00 Per Person
Write: Care of SSOB Office, University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tennessee

Always Look Your Best
SEE US FOR ALL YOUR DRY CLEANING NEEDS
MARYVILLE CLEANERS
Contact Your Dormitory Agent—
Carnegie & Memorial—JOE FINK, ED KRUSMAN
New Dorm—SANDY SCOFIELD
Pearsons—SUE QUIGG
Baldwin—JANET MELVILLE

FLOORBURNS

by Todd Owers

"Pardon me, but is this Madison Square Garden?" A casual visitor might have mistaken the Alumni Gymnasium last Saturday afternoon, and asked such a question, had he happened to take his life in his own hands and venture in among flying fists and tempers of the Stinking Shoe Game. Had he braved the brutality and stuck around long enough to ask a question or two, he would have been shocked to learn that Maryville College is a Christian college.

The game was aptly named—it indeed stunk out loud as far as sportsmanship was concerned. In all fairness it must be said that in the 4th quarter, as the boys concentrated on basketball and forgot their hostilities, the game took on all the earmarks of a well-played and certainly very exciting college basketball game. But the first three quarters marred all this, marred Kappa Phi's victory and it is a shame because it could and should have been a splendid one.

Naturally inter-society feelings run high, especially when it is an athletic crown which each society is seeking. It is to the betterment of the game that feelings do run high, for without them and the subsequent desire to win, any sporting event takes on a very apathetic tone and becomes a dull, uninteresting contest.

But when feelings are allowed to run rampant they can only lead to the disgrace of sport and all the goodness which is associated with it. When man lowers himself to the animal state he doesn't belong on the basketball floor (or any other athletic field) and has no right to claim the title of "Christian Athlete." Rather, he belongs back in pagan Roman times—belongs in the arena right beside Caesar, watching the Christians being torn to pieces by the lions. This is his "sport."

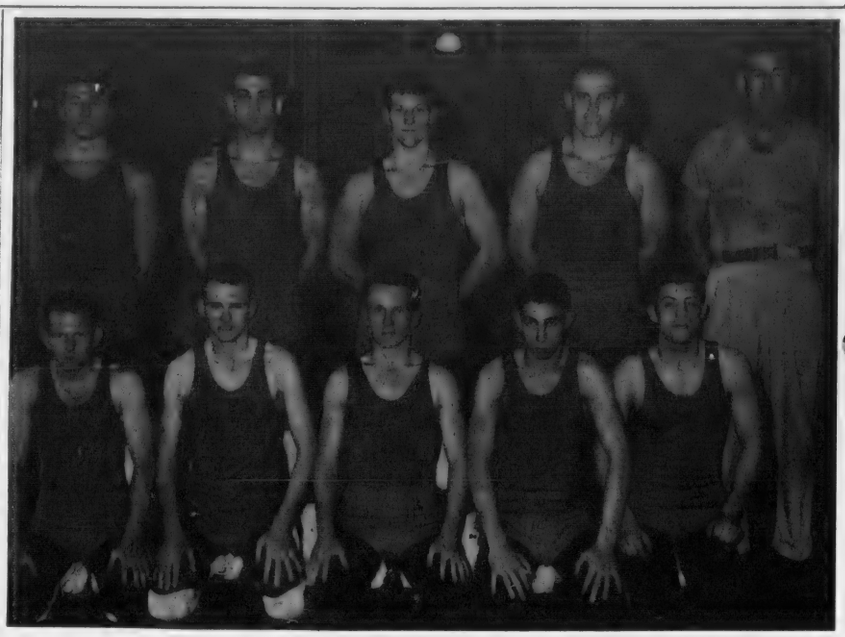
The Fellowship of Christian Athletes is one of the finest organizations of which I know, and is dedicated to the proposition that sport, to be at its best, must be fundamentally guided always by Christian principles, principles which were sadly lacking in last Saturday's "game." Some of our players should think about joining lest they be allowed to contaminate sport and eventually drag it down to the level of beast.

I would suggest that if a Stinkin Shoe Softball Game is to be played this spring, that each team member should be made aware of his responsibilities to his team, his school, his classmates and finally, himself. Athletes are privileged people; they have a particular talent which they display to the public, and the public in turn, has a right to expect sportsmanship at its best. Anything less offends their sense of fair play and their human dignity. It is an honor and a privilege to be chosen to represent a Stinkin Shoe Team, but with this honor a fellow must accept the responsibilities that go along with it, if he is to be respected and looked up to by his fellow students.

Team leaders should get together prior to the game and discuss with their teammates the rules under which the game will be governed, and an earnest effort should be made to develop a strong sense of sportsmanship in each player, in order that the team's intense desire for victory might be tempered and regulated prudently.

If these things are deemed unnecessary then I might further suggest that we abandon all Stinkin Shoe Games (as the annual Girl's powder puff game has been abandoned) and substitute in its place an annual inter-society prize fight, where all members can slug it out to their heart's content.

M.C. Students Attend Southern District AAHPER



Do you know what the Physical Education majors at Maryville have been doing? Did you even realize they were missing the week-end of February 21-25? Well . . .

On the above dates, the Physical Education majors attended the Southern District Meeting of the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation at the Andrew Johnson Hotel and at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville.

Many of the top names in sports equipment companies were present displaying the latest apparatus and attire for physical education. Among the displays was a Tours Booth co-sponsored by Maryville and Carson-Newman Colleges. Two tours were offered this year, one to Oak Ridge and a second to the Smoky Mountains.

Meetings were held continuously in the three general fields as well as in many specific categories. Some of the topics included "Physical Education — Creative Self-Expression," "School and Community Recreation and Their Inter-Relationships," Techniques of Teaching and Coaching Advanced and Competitive Swimming" "Recipe for Fun and Fitness — Third Grade Style."

We are happy to announce that Mrs. Edith Largen, Assistant Professor here at Maryville College was elected Secretary of the Measurement and Evaluation Section.

SEASON'S END—For the 1963 Scot Matmen after a creditable 5th place SEC finish which saw them beat out such schools as the Florida State University and Georgia Tech.

BACK ROW—left to right, Bill DeWeese, Ron Mancini, Fred Willocks, Pete Stafford, Coach John A. Davis

FRONT ROW—left to right, Jim Baxter, Will Mitchell, Adam Deveny, Gene Dixon, Steve Rago

Photo—Countesy of Maryville Times

Stafford, Baxter 2nd; Deveny 4th

SCOT MATMEN PLACE 5th IN SEC

"We did pretty well with the squad we had," said Coach Davis regarding the fifth place finish of his Maryville grapplers in last Friday and Saturday's wrestling tournament held in Atlanta, Georgia. "My only big surprise was that Auburn finished first, and by as many points as they did," coach said shortly after the team arrived home.

Three of the Scots made it into the finals. Jim Baxter, defending SEC 115 pound champion for the last three years was defeated in his attempt to hold the crown for an unprecedented four years by Auburn's 115 pounder, Factore, who gained a close 6-4 decision over him. Coach Davis felt that Jim wrestled well and that the match had been so close that the toss of the coin (which Baxter lost) went a long way in deciding the match's eventual winner. Adam Deveny placed fourth in the tournament, losing his consolation bout to Carr of Auburn on a 3-0 decision. Pete Stafford wrestled in the 191 pound class and did well in a fine second place finish, being decisioned finally by Stringer of Georgia in the finals.

Maryville finished ahead of both Georgia Tech and Florida State University in last week's tourney. The finish was as follows:

1. Auburn University
2. University of Chattanooga
3. University of the South
4. University of Georgia
5. Maryville College
6. Emory University
7. Georgia Tech
8. Florida State University

Few things are harder to put up with than the annoyance of a good example.

Mark Twain

WGAP

CAMPUS MIKE

Voice of Maryville College

Sunday Evening 9:30-10:00

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Washington Avenue

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . . WEAR

Southern Shoes

Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.

116 West Broadway

U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!

TIP TOP BARBER SHOP

105 Church

Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop

6 Days a Week

Kappa Phi Wins Basketball 'Shoe' 40 - 38

Ben Carney's Clutch Basket in Final 3 Seconds Kayos Alpha Sigma

Bullet Ben Carney drove in toward the basket, faked once and then put the ball up and in the nets to give Kappa Phi a 40-38 victory over Alpha Sigma in the annual Stinking Shoe game played last Saturday afternoon. Carney's clutch goal came with just three seconds remaining on the clock, in what proved to be the concluding moments of one of the most exciting and hard fought games in the history of Maryville College Intramural Sports.

A good crowd witnessed the contest—Maryville students who rooted quite vociferously for their respective societies. During the first half, Kappa Phi grabbed an early advantage and managed to keep a very narrow lead, although several times it looked as if Alpha Sigma would take it away from them. The first half ended with Kappa Phi clinging tenaciously to a 17-15 lead.

The second half began and was marred by several incidents; a few fist fights almost broke out on the floor but cooler heads prevailed and the game was resumed. As the third quarter faded into the fourth, it became apparent to all that this game was going to go all the way down to the wire. As the clock swung into the final minute of play the score was tied up at 36 all. A basket by Joe Fink had tied it up and the Sig rooters were in an uproar. Kappa Phi came down the court, determined, and scored on a shot by Rich Murchison which barely rippled the cords. Kappa Phi rooters went insane. But Sig came right back and would not be denied as Red Prudhon caged a 25 footer and it was tied up once again. The gymnasium was in a complete state of noise and confusion as Kappa Phi took the ball out of bounds and came down the court with the seconds ticking rapidly off the clock. There were 15 of them left as guard Ben Carney dribbled over the center court line, passed off to a teammate, and then received a return pass. He hesitated briefly and then suddenly cut toward the basket like a bat out of hades. His fake and shot were executed perfectly; the ball left his hand with just three seconds remaining on the clock and dropped through the cords just as the game-ending buzzer sounded. Kappa Phi was in a state of complete pandemonium; Carney found himself hoisted atop his cheering teammates shoulders and protested good-naturedly to be let down.

It had been a bitterly fought contest all the way, in one of the most exciting, if not the most exciting finish in the history of Stinkin' Shoe Games. For Alpha Sigma, Benny Monroe was high point man with 16 points while Rich Murchison lead Kappa Phi with 13 points.

The Box Score:

Kappa Phi
Rich Murchison—13
John Livingston—5
Carl McDonald—2
Jerry Kearns—9
Ben Carney—12
Bob Dowell—1

Alpha Sigma
Benny Monroe—16
Dave West—3
John DeRan—11
Red Prudhon—2
Joe Fink—4
Joe Malloy—4

Three Faculty Musicians To Present Trio Concert

Three members of the Maryville College music faculty will give a Trio Concert on Tuesday evening, March 19, at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center Music Hall. Mr. Kent Perry, violinist, Mrs. Kent Perry, pianist, and Miss Nancy Hearn, cellist.

The trio will play "Trio in d minor, Op. 49" by Mendelssohn, "Trio in B Major, Op. 8" by Brahms: For Bach's "Sonata in G Major," William Searle of Knoxville will accompany the trio on the flute.

Socks and Sneakers

Ginna Coon

The past week has found Maryville co-eds shedding their socks and sneakers to practice for the big swimming meet on Tuesday, March 12. They have been practicing for speed swimming and style swimming as well as for diving and stunt races. The swimming is one of the high-lights of the intramural program and one of the best attended by spectators.

Last week Women's "M" Club held a "somemore" roast in the Y Rooms in honor of the girls with the most points accumulated thus far. At the party Nancy Kinsman received her blazer that she won for being the outstanding woman in intramurals last year.

After swimming, the next sports will be badminton and horseshoes. Let's see everyone out these beautiful spring days.

Jeanne Price

It has been a long winter. After the good food of the February Meetings many co-eds are having trouble with skirt buttons and zippers. With spring's arrival and the approach of bathing-suit time everyone should take advantage of the intramural sports offered to our women students. Remember that just an hour spent playing badminton will begin to bring shape and firmness to muscles, and you will soon be ready to wear those new spring clothes. Sports are good for the morale too. Come on over to the gym on Tuesdays and Thursdays, even if you haven't been there all year. We'd love to see you.

OFF THE CUFF

by Dave King

Samuel T. Wilson Chapel has provided a rostrum for quite a number of speakers, especially during the past few weeks, but it probably has never opened its doors to any quite like Dr. Richard Armour, the final speaker in this year's Lecture Series. Poet, educator, satrist, lecturer, author—each aptly describes this most remarkable speaker.

It was our pleasure to talk in private with this extra-ordinary gentleman after his lecture on March 1. By the time we got to talk the hour had grown late, for Dr. Armour had chatted for over an hour with a small group who approached him when he had concluded his talk.

Our visit was all too short, but it was obvious that Dr. Armour is just as refreshing in a more candid situation as he is in public. One could not help realizing that here was a man who was making his living not just by being humorous, but by being himself.

We thought that it might be fitting to close a la Armour:

'Twas the first night of March and
The Chapel was crowded,
With creatures all stirring
And laughing out loud-ed.
The laughter it hung
From the rafters suspended,
In hopes that the Doctor's
Talk ne'er would be ended.
And we heard him exclaim
As he drove out of sight,
"It certainly has been a pleasure being here but I'm tired now and am going to bed . Good Night."

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

CUT OUT AND SAVE TELL YOUR NEIGHBORS TO LISTEN

SUGGESTED RADIO PROGRAMS FOR THINKING AMERICANS

"LIFE LINE"	WGAP	1400 KC	DAILY	6:00 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WKXV	900 KC	MONDAY	5:45 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:45 P.M.
CHURCH LEAGUE OF AMERICA	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:30 P.M.
20th CENTURY REFORMATION	WKXV	900 KC	MON.-FRI.	7:45 A.M.
CITIZENS COUNCIL	WGAP	1400 KC	THURS.	6:00 P.M.
INDEPENDENT AMERICAN	WKXV	900 KC	FRIDAY	5:45 P.M.
DR. KERSHNER	WGAP	1400 KC	WED.	6:00 P.M.

(Education for Americanism, Inc., P.O. Box 255, Maryville, Tenn.)

botany...monotony
notes...quotes...trig
...dig...review...stew
fuss...discuss...cram
exam...wow...whew
...pause

take a break...things go better with Coke

Bottled under the authority of The Coca-Cola Company by: RODDY MFG. CO.

Maryville College
STUDENT CENTER
proudly serves
FULLER LOCKER PLANT
Hamburgers
★
Hot Dogs

PET DAIRY
ICE CREAM
★
MILK
"Fresh from the Dairy"

Shop
Maryville's Newest, Most Complete Stock of Athletic Equipment and Sporting Goods.

Rawlings & Wilson Tennis Rackets .... $4.50 up
Rawlings & Wilson Tennis Balls ..... $1.75 up (Can of 3)
Tennis Oxfords, Ladies ..... $3.95 up
U.S. Ked & Converse, Men's ..... $4.95 up

Tennis Shorts, Shirts, Magic Fleece Athletic Socks Racket Covers & Presses

Rawling & Wilson Baseball Gloves .... $5.95 up
Rawlings Baseball Shoes ..... $5.95 up

GIFF'S
SPORTING GOODS
202 N. Cusick Street 983-2166

European Studies Institute Announces New Procedures

The Institute of European Studies has announced new admissions procedures and application deadlines for its academic year programs in Vienna, Paris, and Freiburg, West Germany. Application periods for all three programs opened officially on Monday, March 4.

New Deadline June 15

Deadlines for applications have been moved from June 15 to June 5 for the programs, beginning next August and September. The Institute's admissions committee will review all applications simultaneously after the deadline and mail notices of acceptance or rejection June 15.

Officials State Reason For Change

Institute officials said the changes were made because applications from qualified students have climbed beyond the capacities of the programs. To continue accepting qualified students as applications are received would entail rejecting some better qualified students who applied closer to the deadline date, they said.

However, students with good reasons for seeking advance notice may petition the admissions committee for a decision before June 15.

Program At University of Vienna

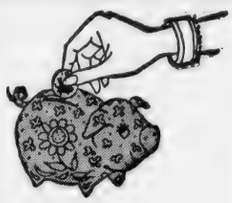
The Institute's program at the University of Vienna combines English-taught liberal arts and general studies courses, intensive German language instruction, regular German-taught university courses for those competent in German, and supplementary lectures and seminars. It is open to juniors and sophomores. There is no language requirement.

'Das Deutsche Jahr' Program

The "Das Deutsche Jahr" program is conducted for juniors only at the University of Freiburg. It stresses political science, philosophy, literature, history and German. All courses are taught in German. Tutorials have been added to aid U. S. students in preparing for classes and examinations.

Paris Honors Program

The Paris Honors program admits outstanding juniors and a few sophomores. It emphasizes contemporary European studies and offers qualified students opportunities for study at the University of Paris and other Paris schools. All classes are taught in French.



Address of Institute

Each program includes two field-study trips in Western Europe with Institute lecturers. A folder describing the programs and listing requirements is available from the Institute of European Studies, 35 E. Wacker Drive, Chicago 1, Ill.

Frosh Predict That Spring Will Be Early This Year: Beginning Tonight at 8 p.m.

The Freshman Class will present tonight their variety show entitled "Spring is Busting Out All Over" in the chapel at 8:00 p.m. Appropriate setting will change the chapel into a colorful spring garden.

Comedy monologues, solos, and folk songs are just a few of the various acts to be performed. The newly formed Freshman Chorus will sing the title tune along with others. The masters-of-ceremonies are Sandy Briggs and Dave Sawyer. In the words of Sawyer, the show's co-ordinator, "It should be a show everyone will enjoy and an hour of superior entertainment."

NOW!

Save up to 59¢ on

Eaton's

FINE LETTER PAPERS in double quantity boxes

Take advantage of this economy packaging of beautiful Eaton writing papers to buy ahead for yourself—and for gifts! (Price band is easily removed for gift-giving.) Full range of tints and textures.

White Office Machines

Corner Broadway at College

DULIN GALLERY
Continued from Page 1

Cornell, Herbert Bayer, Ben Shahn, Herbert Matter, Hazard Durfee, Leonard Baskin, Rene Magritte, Joseph Hirsch, and others.

Among the historic figures whose quotations are used are: Plato, St. Francis of Assisi, Goethe, Hegel, Immanuel Kant, John Locke, John Stuart Mill, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and many other leaders of Western thought. Art work in the show varies in size and technique from small water colors, collages and woodcuts to large oil paintings and sculptures.

The idea for "Great Ideas of Western Man" was an outgrowth of the philosophic round table discussions conducted at the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies, Aspen, Colorado, whose founder, the late Walter P. Paepcke, also founded the Container Corporation of America.

One of the objectives of the Aspen Institute is to develop Man's understanding of his role in society and the goals toward which he can direct his life. Herbert Bayer, one of the artists represented in the "Great Ideas" exhibition and a consultant to Container Corporation, points out that "It was only one step further for Mr. Paepcke to utilize CCA's advertising as a deeper stimulus to the minds of millions of magazine readers by devoting paid space to 'Great Ideas of Western Man.' In these days of social and moral uncertainty, it is good to recall and contemplate some of the ideas which great men have given us. In terms of advertising as we know it, this was an unusual approach. This unorthodox idea proved that not all advertising has to be of a 'hard-sell' nature."

Recently the collection has been shown at the following galleries and universities: Seattle Museum; Anderson College, Anderson, Indiana; Cleveland Institute of Art; Winston-Salem, North Carolina; Washington University, St. Louis; Hunter Gallery of Art, Chattanooga. Later this year, the exhibit is scheduled to appear at the Time-Life Building, New York, and the Art Alliance in Philadelphia.

Next Vesper Leaders: Briner of McCormick, McCord of Princeton

Speaker for the March 10 vesper program is The Rev. Lewis A. Briner, Professor of Theology at McCormick Seminary, Chicago, Illinios.

For the March 17 vesper program Dr. James I. McCord, President of Princeton Seminary, Princeton, New Jersey, will speak.

'Bye Bye, Birdie': Color, Magic, Music

by Libby Lee

What's pink and orange, and red, and yellow and funny and twists? Bye, Bye, Birdie! And when Mr. Jones or a stage manager yells "Heads up! Places, scene three!" the cast members have two choices: proceed with great alacrity and vigor to their pre-ordained spot; or get hit by a flying windowsill or run over by some speeding courthouse steps.

Magical Scene Shifts

A train disappears from the stage and, by magic or clever technical direction, is replaced within seconds by a kitchen, a bedroom or even a bar. That's how snappy Bye, Bye, Birdie shifts from Pennsylvania Depot to Sweet Apple, Ohio. Seventeen swift scene changes of this nature make this show a technical do-or-die type challenge.

Music, Song and Dance

Orchestra members find the now brassy, now beautiful score an interesting one with which to work, and it seems that everyone who is "anyone" in the Maryville College is learning to dance. Singing seems a mixture of the National Anthem, plus shrill "WE LOVE YOU, CONRAD!"s. No one should mistake this for "co-Mrad" although enthusiasm and allegiance is pledged to this swivel-hip song swingster with the same intensity as Castro to Khruschev.

An Entertaining Show

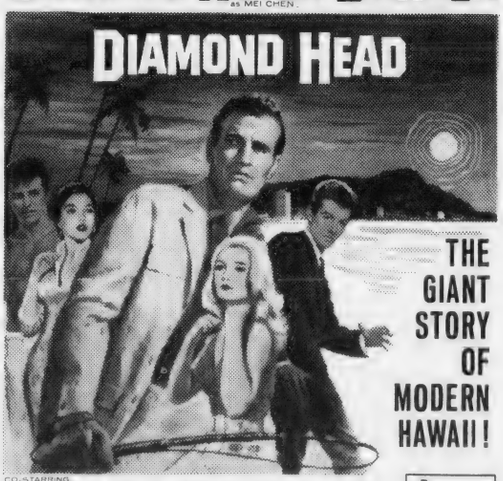
The results will be loud, and bright and will constitute real entertainment when the curtain goes up for Bye Bye, Birdie at 8:00 p.m. March 15 and 16 at the Theater.

Third TV Program on MC Features History Students Discussing Machiavelli

The life and influence of Machiavelli, the Florentine author of The Prince, is the focal point around which the history department will center its television production on March 17. Dr. Arda S. Walker, head of the department, will lead the discussion with the main of the program presented by students Judith Mikeal, David Marston, and Mike Garrett.

Under the direction of "Campus Mike," with John Spangler as announcer, this third and final program of a series presented by Maryville College will be seen on WBIK-TV (channel 10) at 1:30 p.m.

CAPITOL THEATRE



SUN.–TUES., MARCH 10–12

COLUMBIA PICTURES presents A JERRY BRESLER PRODUCTION

CHARLTON HESTON YVETTE MIMIEUX

GEORGE CHAKIRIS FRANCE NUYEN as MEI CHEN JAMES DARREN

DIAMOND HEAD

THE GIANT STORY OF MODERN HAWAII!

CO-STARRING ALINE MacMAHON / ELIZABETH ALLEN · Screenplay by MARGUERITE ROBERTS

Based on the novel by PETER GILMAN · Produced by JERRY BRESLER · Directed by GUY GREEN

Hear the exciting original music from "Diamond Head" on Colpix Records

PANAVISION® EASTMAN COLOR

SUN.–TUES., MARCH 17–19

NOW...ADD A MOTION PICTURE TO THE WONDERS OF THE WORLD!

TONY CURTIS | YUL BRYNNER

in the HAROLD HECHT Production

TARAS BULBA

Filmed in PANAVISION EASTMANCOLOR Released thru UNITED ARTISTS

DON'T FORGET

WHEN YOU GET HUNGRY

Come To

LEONARD'S CAFETERIA

and

STEAK HOUSE

"In The Center Of The Center"

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 48 | Maryville, Tennessee, March 23, 1963 | No. 11

62 Make Dean's List; Seniors Lead With 17

Of the 62 students on the Dean's List for the first semester, 1962-1963, 17 of them are seniors. In addition to the seniors, who lead the list, there are 15 juniors, 16 sophomores and 14 freshmen.

SENIORS

Ball, Beverly	3.30
Bucher, Scott	3.60
Everett, Sally	3.42
Garrett, Michael	3.66
Harrison, Ann	3.50
Herring, Lynn	4.00
Herron, George	3.60
Jones, Sharon	4.00
Lyerly, Janet	3.80
McFerren, Donald	3.40
Mikeal, Judith	3.68
Monson, Mary	3.50
Price, Jeanne	3.33
Renfro, James	3.46
Seely, Clarissa	3.28
Vredenburgh, Gertrude	3.33
Ward, William	3.63

JUNIORS

Bryson, Roberta	3.30
Cook, Charlotta	3.50
DeWeese, William	3.25
Dozier, Margaret	3.55
Ellis, Martha	3.45
McGruther, Robert	3.40
Marroquin, Beatriz	3.31
Marston, David	3.50
Myers, Icie	3.37
Pettigrew, Mary	3.25
Petty, Roger	3.80
Probasco, Linda	3.40
Randall, Albert	3.40
Sturmfels, Gloria	3.40
Taylor, Suzanne	3.43

SOPHOMORES

Carter, Ruth	3.27
Criner, Jane	3.29
Fisher, Norma	3.76
Flanary, Lois	3.90
Han, Eileen	3.43
Harrison, Kenneth	3.73
Huff, Carolyn	3.88
Jerome, Philip	3.70
Minear, John	3.25
Mitchell, William	3.33
Moyers, Michael	3.75
Schanefelt, William	3.37
Stryker, Barbara	3.70
Walker, Sharon	3.42
Walters, Judith	3.70
Wells, Randall	3.42

FRESHMEN

Aldrich, Sybil	3.50
Briggs, Sandra	4.00
Chittick, Sandra	3.50
Crawford, Louise	3.87
Dahl, Caroline	3.47
Erwin, William	3.25
Hallen, Gregory	3.47
Henderson, James	3.43
Jefferson, Marianne	3.64
Keen, Karen	3.31
Mitchell, Mary	3.25
Peyton, Alice	3.50
Renne, Keith	3.75
Tiffany, Celia	3.76

Former MC Student Elliott In 'Angel' at Peabody STC

Nashville, Tenn.—Paul C. Elliott, a former student at Maryville College and former president of the Maryville Playhouse, will have a major role in the Pulitzer Prize-winning play Look Homeward, Angel to be presented March 27-30 by George Peabody College for Teachers. He will portray Ben, a son of the Gants who represent Thomas Wolfe's family.

A junior at Peabody and a student at the State University of Iowa in Iowa City last year, Paul has a long list of dramatic achievements behind him. These include directing, set designing, and writing and directing an original musical, as well as portraying leading roles in numerous school and amateur theater productions.

Visiting Chemist From Swarthmore, Pa., To Deliver Scientific Lectures April 8, 9

On April 8 and 9, Dr. Walter B. Keighton, chairman of the department of chemistry at Swarthmore, Pa., will give a series of lectures on chemical problems here at 3:30 p.m. both days.

Lecture topics are "Water, the Most Abundant Chemical," methods proposed for obtaining fresh water from salt water, "Color in Feathers," and "Introduction to Reaction Kinetics," to be illustrated with a film.

Dr. Keighton

Dr. Keighton will conduct discussion sessions and lecture to chemistry classes. His appearance is being sponsored by funds provided by Maryville College and the National Science Foundation.

Having received his Ph.D. degree from Princeton, Dr. Keighton has been on the faculty at Swarthmore College since 1931. He has been a consultant for the United States Geological Survey, Water Resources Division, since 1951. He is the author of many publications in the fields of physical chemistry, water resources, and chemical education.

He has served as visitor for the American Chemical Society' program of visiting scientists in chemistry, and as visiting associate for the society's committee on professional training for several years.

Choir To Give Concert at Home April 7

In place of the regular vesper service on Sunday, April 7, at 7 p.m., the Maryville College Vesper Choir will present its home concert.

The program will include numbers by Bach, William Schuman, Stravinsky, Healey Willan, Normand Lockwood and Edvard Grieg. Especially featured will be "The Creation" by Tom Scott with narration, "The Twenty-Third Psalm" by Crimond as a Coda, plus many others, such as Negro spirituals and selections of famous church music of the past four centuries.

Besides having an annual tour, the choir has served as the official broadcasting choir of the Department of Radio and Television of the United Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. It has also been heard on the CBS Church of the Air, the NBC National Radio Pulpit, and the Protestant Hour.

YM-YW Evaluators To Report Findings At April 7th Meeting

At the Sunday evening "Y" meeting on April 7, the Evaluation Committee for the YWCA-YMCA will present certain recommendations regarding future action to enhance the Christian witness and atmosphere on campus.

Resulting from a recent study of the "Y" organizations themselves, as well as the needs of MC students for a campus Christian organization, these recommendations will be of great significance to the future of the "Y" at Maryville College. The chief decision to follow these recommendations is whether (1) to separate the Maryville College "Y's" and run them as individual organizations; (2) to merge the "Y's" into a Student Christian Association; or (3) to affiliate the present "Y" groups with the United Campus Christian Fellowship.

Other immediate "Y" plans, induding the election of new officers for next year will be undertaken in consideration of this decision. This year the YM-YW groups on campus have worked jointly as much as possible without merging completely.

Judith Mikeal Wins W. W. Fellowship Becomes 6th MC Fellow in 6 Years

Miss Judith Elaine Mikeal, senior history major from Carbon, West Virginia, has won a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship for 1963-1964. For graduate study at the institution of her choice, Miss Mikeal will receive an allowance of $1500 in addition to the payment of tuition and fees.

Miss Mikeal

Sixth MC Winner

Miss Mikeal is the sixth Maryville student in the last six years to become a Woodrow Wilson Fellow. The five graduates to precede her are as follows: Mrs. R. M. Blakely (Ruth Morris) '58, who continued her work in botany at Cornell University; Keith Ham, who in 1959 used his fellowship at the University of North Carolina toward a degree in American History; John Gilmour, who received a B. A. in Philosophy in 1960 and accepted an Honorary Fellowship; Charles Patrick Pearson, who in 1961 won a fellowship for continued study in English at Yale; and last year's winner, Harriet Joanne Fuhrman, who is presently working toward an M. A. in English at the University of North Carolina.

1,475 Total Winners

The purpose of the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Foundation is to encourage and enable promising students to enter the profession of college teaching. One-thousand four-hundred seventy-five fellowships are being awarded this year alone, in addition to 1,154 honorable mentions; and these students were selected from 9,767 candidates.

Eligibility Procedures

In order to become eligible for a W. W. Fellowship, a student must be nominated by any member or members of the faculty or administration of his college. After being notified of his nomination, the student must submit an autobiographical sketch, including his statement of purpose, three letters of recommendation, and a transcript of his academic records.

Ford Foundation Sponsorship

Approximately 25 percent of those nominated are invited for interviews at regional centers. Generally about half of them become fellows; those interviewed, but not elected to fellowships are awarded Honorable Mention. These awards are made possible through grants totalling $52 million-from the Ford Foundation, which since 1957 has supported the expanded Woodrow Wilson Fellowship program.

Dorm Women Get 12 p.m. Sat. Curfew

A new rule will be initiated on the Maryville campus April 6 when twelve o'clock becomes the Saturday closing hour for the three women's dormitories.

The WSGA coordinating council, in evaluating women's rules, recommended this change to the executive council which approved the measure.

The new ruling will permit women students to enjoy frequent concerts, lectures, hockey games, and movies in Knoxville without late permission. Week night late permission will still be available for special events in Knoxville.

Nancy Hearn, Sallie Schoen To Present Joint Cello-Piano Recital, Friday, April 15

Mrs. Sallie Warth Schoen and Miss Nancy Hearn will present a faculty recital for piano and cello on April 5th at 8:00 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center Music Hall. Selections to be performed will include Sonata for Piano and Cello, Op. 6 by Barber. This piece is of a modern-romantic nature and was written in the early 1900's. Suite III in C by Bach and Sonata for Piano and Cello, Op. 69 in A, by Beethoven will also be heard. Suite III, an especially demanding work, is one of six written by Bach for cello.

Nancy Hearn, a native Tennessean, completed her Masters work in music two years ago at Florida State University. Her selective study was done in the field of applied cello.

Sallie Warth Schoen received her B. Mus. from Oberlin Conservatory. She has studied piano at Indiana University and Mozarteum, Salzburg.

Drs. Copeland, McClelland To Attend Annual Meeting Of Tenn. College Assn.

President Joseph Copeland and Dean Frank McClelland will represent Maryville College at the Tennessee College Association annual meeting on April 4, at Nashville. The theme of the meeting will be "Ways and Means of Closer Cooperation Among Tennessee Public and Private institutions of Higher Education."

The main speakers will be Dr. Herman B. Wells, Chancellor of Indiana University, and President Andrew D. Holt, University of Tennessee. Dean McClelland is presently serving his second year of a three-year term as Secretary-Treasurer of the organization.

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor in Chief
LYNN HERRING

Assistant Editor — CHARLOTTA COOK
News Editor — PATRICIA REHM
Feature Editor — ANN HARRISON
Art Editor — GRACE ROSSER
Sports Editors — TODD OWERS and JEANNE PRICE
Exchange Editor — GAIL GARLOCH
Business Manager — PAUL BIGGERS

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Paul Millin, Dave King, Sue Foreman, Carole Brownlee, Libby Lee, Sandra Chittick, Louise Crawford, John Gamble, Helen Ryan, Karen Keen, Mary Janovich, Dave Marston, Phil Jerome, Nelson Miller, Mildred Miles, Celia Tiffany

CIRCULATION: David King, Bruce Bigart, Carole Brownlee, Harold Cones, Ginna Coon, Nelson Miller

PHOTOGRAPHER: Ralph Tucker

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR, MR. FRANK LAYMAN

From the Editor

The growth of interest in theatre and theatre-arts sponsored by the MC Playhouse has been phenomenal. In less than one year people on the campus and in the community have become excited over the possibilities of our Theatre. Over twelve hundred people witnessed the success of the spring musical Bye Bye, Birdie. They paid for seats in the aisles and along the edge of the orchestra pit—both Friday and Saturday nights—and many were turned away for lack of room. This was proof enough of the success of the show. Look Homeward, Angel and Tiger At the Gates were likewise indicative of the possibilities and the potential on this campus for good theatre production; and I would suggest that The Tempest will merit an unprecedented response.

Our Playhouse is a model Broadway theatre—an ideal theatre. Seating 456 people, it is designed to effect the maximum degree of communication between players and audience.

In view of such facts as these, the obstacles which our Playhouse must fight in order to have a decent opportunity for success are deplorable. To produce a play, Theatre works every day for six weeks, and it deserves a chance to feel the impact (emotionally and monetarily) of success.

With Bye Bye, Birdie the MC Theatre had a perfect opportunity to emerge with a significant cash margin. It asked simply to be allowed to perform the musical for three nights, because the House was sold out by Tuesday. The request was denied, and the only alternative was to run the show an extra night as a "paid dress rehearsal," "for students only." It is a disgrace to all of us that this third-performance publicity was reduced to a minimum and even discouraged.

The MC Playhouse is educational theatre! It should be an integral part of campus concern. When a cast and crew spend so many hours—worthwhile hours—in a major theatre project, they deserve the privilege of commanding that stage before a full house for more than two nights.

The arguments which discourage the development of our Playhouse are weak indeed when they are compared to those advantages which full endorsement would include. One argument used recently was that a Thursday night performance would detract from the study-time of the students who attended. But Lecture Series is generally on a Friday night (before Saturday classes) and Artist Series occurs habitually on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Above all, Theatre is asking simply for the opportunity to make its own money. With a decent cash margin it could pay the royalties to perform newer and better plays, choosing from a wider range of possibilities. It could afford more Experimentals and good Experimentals with adequate sets and costumes.

The Tempest is the final production for Playhouse this year. Are we as a campus going to support this last major effort? Are we willing to consider seriously the possibility of playing it more than two nights? This year, the Theatre has cooperated whole-heartedly with the Rush Shows, with Barnwarming, and with the Glee Clubs. Surely, everyone connected with this campus owes something in return.

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

Spotlight

Georges Bidault

by Dave Marston

Much of the growing bitterness between France and Britain is characterized by a moon-faced Frenchman named Georges Bidault.

Seen on a city street, as he was in London last week, Monsieur Bidault looks a lot like the man who sells roasted chestnuts on Market Street in Philadelphia. But as ex-Premier of France and reported executive head of the secret S.A.O. (the right-wing army organization which is sworn to kill President Charles de Gaulle), Bidault has until recently been understandably reluctant to make personal appearances.

In February, however, Bidault turned up in downtown London, allowed photographers to take several pictures and then disappeared, presumably returning to France. Back for a return visit last week, he paid a call on a London television studio and held a ten-minute interview which was later televised over the BBC networks. Perhaps the feeling was that the usually reluctant viewers of the government-operated BBC would never know the difference anyway.

Regrettably, several did. Among the most notable was French President Charles de Gaulle, who blasted the British government for harboring his enemies and particularly for giving them television time on the government network. Several members of the British Parliament expressed similar sentiments, but a majority seemed to feel that the whole thing served "le grand Charles" right for blocking Britain's entry into the common market.

Meanwhile, as the charges and countercharges flew across the English Channel, Monsieur Bidault providently did likewise. He slipped into Germany and went into hiding near the French border. At the week's end, the indignant French were still trying to get him back. But their prospects appear dim, and if Georges Bidault turned up next week in Philadelphia selling chestnuts, no one would really be surprised.

Students Spend Vacation At Ozone

For the second year a group of Maryville College students will spend their spring vacation in a service project. They will be working at the Presbyterian camp at Ozone, Tennessee, a small town west of Knoxville on the Cumberland Plateau. Both indoor and outdoor construction and cleaning will help to ready the camp for its summer program.

Accompanying the group again this year will be Dr. and Mrs. S. Neale Alter, who spent most of their lives as missionaries in Lebanon, where they worked with students a great deal. Dr. Alter is now the pastor at Houston Memorial Presbyterian Church.

Carol Rugh, Richard Norman, John Livingston and John Nakpur will participate in the work camp. Other students plan to join them for part of the time.

Another group from a northern campus will arrive at the camp two days after the Maryville students leave.

Off the Cuff

by Dave King

As they say, spring has sprung, and so has spring vacation. Using the new method of beginning spring vacation on the second odd-numbered day after the the first full moon following February Meetings, we find that our vacation no longer begins on a Wednesday but on a Saturday. With the vacation scheduled around weekends now, everyone has more time to travel, more time to spend with loved ones, and more time to put off doing that outside reading we put off until spring vacation to do.

Most of us are going home, although a few are going to visit our nearest Spanish-speaking neighbor—Florida.

It seems a little strange to be going home again after so long. You remember home—that's where your Mom gets more than eighty cents a day for your meals. Believe it or not—and I'm sure you will—it has been twelve long weeks since we crammed those Christmas presents into our suitcases and returned to school. And if that's hard to believe, only three weeks have passed since February Meetings ended. It has really seemed more like just one week—the week of final exams.

Ah yes, back to the outside world of legal automobiles, late dates, and private bathrooms. It's hard to know just what to expect when we do get home. Those of us heading to the North will probably have to shovel the walks before we're allowed into the house. But at least we won't have to cut the grass like you Floridians will. That is, if that cold snap didn't freeze all the grass like it froze all the oranges. Leave it to the Southerners to find a way to make frozen orange juice without even picking the oranges.

Now for goodness sake, when your parents meet you at the bus terminal or airport or wherever they're going to meet you, don't greet them with "When do we eat?" or "Can I have the car tonight?" That's high schoolish, and besides, your parents haven't seen you for a long time and want to know how you are.

When the right time comes, show them how college has broadened your outlook on life and tell them you're taking the car tonight. This will make them respect you for developing into a straightforward, firm college student. They won't give you the car, but at least they'll respect you for being a straight-forward, firm college student.

So, whether you're traveling by train or plane, bus or thumb, remember one thing—classes begin again on the second. Have a good time!

FELT . . .

Mud squidging around your boots . . . hot sun melting into red skin pores . . . the sting of a baseball smacking a glove . . . a roof pebble caught under a bathing-suit . . . the pull of an umbella trying to fly away . . . and the tug of a kite on a string . . . hair blown by the wind . . . feet in wet sneakers . . . gnats colliding with foreheads . . . blisters on the thumb from playing tennis . . .

. . . AND HEARD

It was so windy that Dummelow almost blew off the roof . . . what are you doing your research paper on?—I haven't decided yet whether to do it on 8½X14 . . . my cheeks are sore from laughing . . . walk alone at night . . . would you like to buy some Girl Scout Cookies? . . . but he said to come wearing a coat, shirt, and tie . . . it wasn't so much the kite as the seven balls of string . . . administrivia . . . Merry Christmas . . . a real diaphragmatic belch . . . 70 per cent have pi . . . but she cuts her toenails in the bathtub . . . I tried to use my Red Cross techniques, but he kept getting up and running away . . . what are those men with the funny little hats chasing her for? . . . well I don't see why they have to chase her like that just to talk to her . . . (and from Anne Kinsinger after Victor Schoen twisted into Birdie:) I wish my daddy would do the twist like that! . . . pack? I'm not unpacked from Christmas yet . . . and then he said "I wanted to surprise you dear but I may as well tell—I'm flying down to see you on the 24th . . .

Martin's DRUG STORE
401 S. Washington St. Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.

Offering Maryville College Students
a complete line of cosmetics,
plus
a reliable prescription service
Located just off campus on Washington St.

U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!
TIP TOP BARBER SHOP
105 Church — Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop — 6 Days a Week

SPRING SPORTALK

by Todd Owers

Spring vacation mania is here again and in just a matter of a few short hours Maryville College will closely resemble a museum. A new kind of quiet peace will descend upon our hallowed halls at precisely 12:30 p.m. this afternoon and with the last note from Anderson's bell tower ringing in the distance a mass exodus will have reached its climax.

The word is that practically everyone is heading south to some city of Florida and it's a safe bet that highway 411 to Altanta will see enough traffic this afternoon to make the New Jersey turnpike look like a side-street alley. Those of you who are travelling by more conventional modes than the thumb are asked to give a cheery wave as you zoom by fellow students armed with suitcases, various and sundry signs with destinations written on them, and of course Miss Ware's sack lunch. This incidentally, is generally eaten in hasty gulps during the lulls in traffic, and is indeed an art in itself; one time I got caught with an orange in my mouth when a fellow stopped, and I thought I would never get the darned thing swallowed! He almost drove off and left me there in my misery and I've never forgotten it.

Whether it's a sun tan you're after this spring vacation or just some peaceful relaxation in the yard, we're sure you'll agree that this spring holiday is coming at a most welcome time-except for the athletes. The baseball team travels to Knoxville the very day classes begin again, and will take on the University of Tennessee, while the following day the tennis team will journey to Harrogate, Tennessee to do battle with LMU. Only the track team has seen some pre-holiday action, which came Wednesday afternoon at Evans Collins field in Knoxville against the UT tracksters. Despite the week's layoff the tennis and baseball boys should report in good shape ready to play and will be eager to get their seasons underway.

The college woods has replaced the library as the center of campus intellectual life which has surprised exactly no one since by now even the dumbest coed has finally tumbled to the fact that spring has finally sprung. Students use various methods of study in this new environment, the most popular of which seems to be the "buddy system," or in more dignified language, the "partner system." By a strange coincidence the partners invariably are of the opposite sex, and Biology is reported way out in front of all other subjects studied, in terms of frequency.

Those students who prefer more active pursuits on Sunday afternoons have taken to the soccer field where two very lively encounters have taken place. Two weeks ago an inter-dormitory rivalry was formed with Carnegie and Memorial battling it out to a 1-1 tie. Last week a game was played, but the rivalry could not be continued as it is reported there were too many tests scheduled the next day.

A hearty wish to you all for a happy spring vacation goes out from this corner, with the hope that everyone will return in a week's time ready to do battle with the books again, and incidentally to enjoy this beautiful spring season to it's fullest. It's going to be a great spring.

To be great is to be misunderstood.

R. W. Emerson

7 Returning Lettermen; No Seniors

Baird's Baseballers Set

by Paul Millin

While Mickey Mantle struggles in Florida with his perennial bad leg and the Pittsburgh Pirates talk seriously about winning the National League Pennant for the last time this spring, Coach Baird prepares to field a team that Casey Stengel might glance at a second time. We were walking past the spring training headquarters of the Scots (the intramural ball field) the other day and noticed an intrasquad game was going on, so we sat down to watch.

Jim Symington was pitching (left-handed at the time). Jim has the unusual ability of being able to throw with either hand, and fooled quite a few of the hitters when we saw him in action. Pitching for the opposite team was 150 pound Dave West, coach's ace right hander last year, the "stopper" who could be counted on to come through with a well-pitched game most any time he walked out to the mound. Catching Symington was Sonny Hughes a freshman from Sarasota, Florida. Hughes is a good receiver and made a couple of beautiful throws to second base which were right on the bag. Dave Sandrock, the first string catcher, also has an arm like a rifle shot, and is noted especially for his heavy hitting and ability to handle pitchers well. Sandrock is a letterman, and was catching West the day we saw him behind the plate. Returning first baseman Gary Dutton stepped up to the plate and clouted a couple of towering drives into Dr. McClelland's front yard in deep center field. Dutton will be pushed this year by freshman Bob Dowell, a hard firing right-hander who is an excellent pitching prospect. When Dowell isn't pitching he may fill in some at first base. Second base is a position up for grabs this year, and basketballer Kip Martin appears to have the inside track, although he still has yet to prove himself with the bat. Shortstop is perhaps the strongest position on the team and is handled very well by Red Prudhon, who has an annoying habit (from the other team's point of view) of making the tough ones look easy. Red has real major league potential, has already been approached by several major league scouts, and will be working out some with the New York Yankees in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida over the spring vacation. Coach has a very able "hot corner" man in junior returnee Tommy Bowers who was just recently elected captain of the team. Bowers has shaken off and overcome the after effects of a football injury and says he's ready to go. The outfield is pretty well set with Ed Krusman getting the nod in left field, while center and right fields are handled by a couple of pitchers, oddly enough. Football quarterback Benny Monroe is also a pitcher and when he's not pitching he'll be patrolling the center field spaces for Coach Baird's gang this year. In right field is Joe Scheidler, a hard throwing left-hander with a beautiful curve ball and a live fast ball in his repetoire. As with Monroe, when Joe isn't pitching, he'll be playing in the outfield.

When we were talking with the coach, he pointed out that all told there were seven lettermen on the squad, not a single senior, and as he put it, "some very impressive newcomers." He singled out George Derbyshire, Sonny Hughes, and Bob Mullins as being hard workers and seemed pleased in general with the way the team as a whole was shaping up this year. Although not too happy about the opening game with the University of Tennesse on the day Maryville students return from spring vacation, he was optimistic and said, "We should field a very strong team." First home baseball game is April 3rd when Tennessee will return to Maryville's diamond. Both games should be very exciting, and the fans are undoubtedly in store for a great deal of good baseball.

PET DAIRY

ICE CREAM

★

MILK

"Fresh from the Dairy"

Maryville College

STUDENT CENTER

proudly serves

FULLER LOCKER PLANT

Hamburgers

★

Hot Dogs

Owers, Marston, Paul Return

1963 NET SKETCHES

"Rebuilding" is the adjective most correctly describing Coach Lauren Kardatzke's Net Squad this year, as he attempts to fill three slots in the lineup, left vacant from last year. His prospects of filling them well seem quite good too, thanks to an abundance of freshman talent which has left his problem partially solved.

Heading the list of newcomers is rangy, hard-hitting Rich Marshall who played number one singles for his Delaware high school team. Rich hits the ball well and seems to have a good net game to go along with it. Currently he lacks steadiness to his play but when this is developed, he should be a real asset to the team and should win his share of matches.

Pushing Rich all the way is a local boy you might mistake for a basketball player because he is so very tall. Likable Lynn Howard doesn't need much of an introduction around campus; he's readily identifiable to all by his gigantic height and ready smile. On the tennis court he uses his height to great advantage, especially at the net, and (as his opponents have found out from experience) it is almost impossible to lob over his head. His serve and ground game are good and it looks as though the fans will be seeing a lot of Lynn this spring.

Rich Reed, Dale Fischbach, Bill Gass, Jan Dearcopp and Dan Peterson currently are involved in a five way dog fight for the number 6 singles position, with Reed and Fischbach having the advantage of more playing experience at their command. Of these two, the difference is probably no greater than an eyelash, with perhaps Fischbach having a bit the edge on the basis of his high school experience. Dan Peterson, Bill Gass and Jan Dearcopp are just beginning tennis and have shown remarkable improvement since the beginning of the year. As they continue to improve, it is very possible that they might make things a bit warm for the lower half of the team ladder.

Returning lettermen this year number three in the persons of Todd Owers, Dave Marston, and Bob Paul. Bob has looked good in practice and has scored impressive wins in the challenge matches the team has been playing the past two weeks. His serve has improved greatly over last year, and his forehand is better, although his backhand is still a bit weak and needs constant work. Dave Marston, the most likable guy on the squad is the team humorist and a fine tennis player besides. He started off slowly this year but of late has played some exciting tennis, his most impressive win coming over Rich Marshall in a fine come-from-behind three set victory. Dave combines a driving forehand with a solid net game to win his points for him—and he wins a lot of them, for those who have never seen him in action.

We've saved the best for last in Todd Owers who appears to have the number one singles spot wrapped up and paid for. Todd has been working a lot on his serve and has improved it over last year. Also his forehand has improved, which provides an interesting complement to an average backhand, which he tends to slice too much at times. If Todd can develop his net game to a greater degree he will be well on the way to playing up to his potential, and should win more than his share of matches at the toughest position on the team.

First match for the team comes on April 3rd against LMU and will be played in Harrogate, Tennessee. Two days later, on Friday, April 5th LMU will journey to Maryville for a return match in what will be the Scot's first home appearance of 1963.

Tracksters Meet Cumberland Next

AFTER TOUGH UT MEET

The outlook for the 1963 edition of the Scots' track team looks good. Coach Tomlinson is looking for "improvement over last season" which saw a number of outstanding individual performances but didn't have enough men for team victory.

5 Lettermen Returning

Five lettermen are returning, including soaring Joe Malloy, the Tennessee pole vault champ. Other hard-working lettermen are speedy Roland McLanahan, weight man Bert Randall, sprinter Roger Thompson, and hurdler Kirk Copeland. Backing them up are experienced distance runners Will Mitchell and John Livingston, who "should run for first places."

The outstanding feature about this year's team is the large number of Freshmen competing. It looks as though these boys will bear much of the weight of this year's success, but from early indications they seem to have a good potential.

Heading the list of newcomers are Hugh McCampbell, a "hard worker and good runner," and Bill Malasitt, who is said to throw the javelin as though it were a soda straw. Other outstanding prospects include Terry Amon, a hurdler who "should do well." Mike Dalton, an "outstanding" sprinter, and Denny McGowan, a high jumper who did well in high school,

There is method in Coach Tomlinson's apparent madness in scheduling U-T for the first meet. He feels that this will give our boys a chance to run against "top-notch competition" on a good field and therefore give them an idea of how much they must improve in order to compete against more favorable competition. This year will probably not see Maryville set the track world ablaze, but people are certainly going to know that the Scots are around.

1963 SCHEDULE

March 20—University of Tenn. (T) 2:30
April 6—Cumberland (H) 2:30
April 11—Taylor Univ. (H) 3:00
April 16—Univ. of Chattanooga (H) 3:00
April 20—Bryan College (H) 2:30
April 26—Carson-Newman (T) .....
April 30—East Tenn. State (H) 3:00
May 3-4—Tenn. Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Meet—Murfreesboro

FOCUS ON HISTORY

Editor's Note: This issue of the Echo places a special focus on the Maryville College history department.

Professor Walker, Associate Professors Lynn and Ainsworth, and Mr. John, Dr. Mehl, and Mr. Lewis distribute historical facts as well as personal opinions.

There are 43 history majors who partake in a rather full way of the courses in this department. But their education extends beyond all this. The history seminars form an interesting, informal and informative part of a history major's education. The seminars are held twice a semester and are given by Dr. Walker for some of her courses. There is talk of extending the seminars to other history classes.

History graduates go into various fields including government, law, education, and ministry, and economics.

Pi Gamma Mu: Social Science Honor Society At Maryville

"Ye shall know the truth and the truth will make you free." This, the motto of Pi Gamma Mu, the social science honor society at Maryville, epitomizes the primary purposes of this society which are to improve scholarship in the social sciences, to inspire social service to humanity, and to encourage understanding and toleration among differing peoples.

Pi Gamma Mu, founded in 1924 by the Deans of William and Mary and Southwestern Colleges, has expanded throughout the nation and, from 1932 when a chapter was founded at the University of Toronto, throughout the world. Today it has over 100 active chapters and more than 5,000 members. Through the efforts of Dr. Case and Mr. Ainsworth, a charter was granted in 1956 to Maryville College's Epsilon chapter.

Membership includes officers, teachers, and students of a college, elected to the chapter for life. At least twenty semester hours in the social sciences, a B average, a ranking in the upper thirty five percent of one's class, and a good moral character are required for membership. Present student members are John Leland, President; Judith Mikeal, vice-president; Rich Gossweiler; Charles Spenser; and Mike Garrett. Six new members, Pat Anderson, Scott Bucher, Sally Johnson, Dave Marston, Linda Probasco, and Trudy Uredenberg have been elected to the society.

College Students
Faculty Members
College Libraries

Printed in BOSTON LOS ANGELES LONDON

SUBSCRIBE NOW AT HALF PRICE

Clip this advertisement and return it with your check or money order to:
The Christian Science Monitor
One Norway St., Boston 15, Mass.

☐ 1 YEAR $11 ☐ 6 mos. $5.50
☐ COLLEGE STUDENT
☐ FACULTY MEMBER
P-CN

History Majors Discuss Cuba

"If Russia does not remove her troops from Cuba peaceably, do you favor removal by force?"

This was a question put to several Maryville College students recently. Their answers were varied, widely in some instances, and interesting.

Dick Norman's reaction is that such intervention is not justified, because it would violate the sovereignty of Cuba. He contends that our main reason for making such a move against Cuba is based on the fact that American business lost money when Castro came into power. Thus, in a sense, we would merely be avenging our own financial losses. Instead, he suggests that, since the United States and Cuba are so geographically close, Cuba's economy will always depend to a large extent upon us. Russia, however, being so far away, will soon lose interest in Cuba. He says that the Kennedy administration's handling of the Cuban crisis has been fairly good, "in spite of their methods."

Richard Gossweiler believes that, since the Russian troops offer no direct or immediate threat to the United States, no action should be taken against them. Cuba, he says, cannot be used as a base from which to lauch an attack on the U. S. Instead, he Cont'd. Page 6, Col. 3

SAYS WHO?

I just woke up so don't ask me whether Romullus and Remus' lupa was a she-wolf or a loose woman! But now about General MacArthur I could write a book — he makes me want to cry. What's a spat with Harry Truman anyway? Just look at the rest of history — England's Harry of Monmouth is the only one to even come close to the General. History has taught me to love such men as Teddy Roosevelt, Abelard, and Suguki Beane from the Far East (and that does make me cry!).

(Carol Brown)

English History 209-210 Largest Class on Campus

by Phil Jerome

According to the official 1962-63 catalog of Maryville College (that small co-educational liberal arts college nestled in the foothills of the Great Smoky Mountains) History 209-210 covers the "political, economic, social, and literary development of British civilization from the beginning to 1832."

The English History class is the largest on the Maryville College campus. There are two reasons for this. The first of these may be learned by turning again to the catalog. History 209-210 is required for the majors in English and History.

The second reason why the class is so well populated is the nature of the teacher and the manner in which she handles her material. Dr. Arda Walker has many qualifications. In addition to her degrees, she has a firm and extensive knowledge of the importance of the date 1066. She says that she not only knows what happened, but that she also knows why it happened and what effects it had. (As we all know, William the Conqueror defeated Harold Godwinson at the Battle of Hastings and established such features as the Doomsday Book and the Futile System). In addition, Dr. Walker brings to the class what might best be termed "Extra-curricular" qualifications. These include her own theories based on extensive reading; slides and comments based on her own travels and observations in England, Scotland, and Wales; a wry sense of humor that can brighten the proceedings of even the dullest of historic periods; and a deep bravery that enables her to thrust her satirical saber at men even as illustrious as Winston Churchill.

History is a subject that lends itself to humor. The Magna Charta was one of the three great documents of human rights in the history of England. In 1215 King John was forced to apply the royal seal to the Charta by a group of barons. The barons cared for little other than the rights of the barons. Consequently, the Magna Charta provided for the right of everyone to be free (except for the common people) and the right of everyone to be tried by their peers (except for the common people). Thus students of English History learn that the Magna Charta was one of the chief causes of democracy in England (except for the common people). Furthermore, much is learned about the growth of the church which is a valuable thing to know (at Maryville). One readily sees how our modern church evolved because Henry VIII became tired of listening to the Papal Bull.

Dr. Walker excels at bringing out the personalities of the historical figures. Edward III of England was responsible for starting the 100 Years War with France. Edward felt he was the lawful heir to the French throne. When he demanded "his due," the king of France sent him a basket of tennis balls. Another outstanding character was William II. King William chose the Archbishop of Canterbury and made appointments to other religious offices on the basis of celerity in saying Mass. This system would probably be warmly received by the students at Maryville College, and William II would make a popular administrator. The finished product of Dr. Walker's class is also versed in the amours of Henry VIII and the basis for the establishment of the Order of the Garter.

Perhaps Dr. Walker's greatest fame lies with her tests. She readily admits that her exams can easily be completed in three hours and that the time limit of two hours is inconsequential. The tests consist of three parts: a large essay, four to six short essays and five identifications. Of the three, the identification part is the most treacherous. The well-prepared student will know the name of the dwarf on the Bayeux Tapestry and will recognize Tentravelis as the legendary elf who sits in the choir loft at Lincoln Cathedral and catches the dropped syllables of the priest in reciting Mass. The wise student is also careful to record any cough or sneeze that Dr. Walker might emit.

The large number of students in the class is the cause of keen competition. Anyone who has been through Dr. Walker's 209-210 English History class will readily admit that it was an Ardauous experience.

If This Were the End

If time stopped!!!!
While bunnies hopped
Wouldn't it seem funny
Looking there
To see a hare
Fixed in air?

—David Powell

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Washington Avenue

WGAP

CAMPUS MIKE

Voice of Maryville College

Sunday Evening 9:30-10:00

CUT OUT AND SAVE — TELL YOUR NEIGHBORS TO LISTEN

SUGGESTED RADIO PROGRAMS FOR THINKING AMERICANS

"LIFE LINE"	WGAP	1400 KC	DAILY	6:00 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WKXV	900 KC	MONDAY	5:45 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:45 P.M.
CHURCH LEAGUE OF AMERICA	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:30 P.M.
20th CENTURY REFORMATION	WKXV	900 KC	MON.-FRI.	7:45 A.M.
CITIZENS COUNCIL	WGAP	1400 KC	THURS.	6:00 P.M.
INDEPENDENT AMERICAN	WKXV	900 KC	FRIDAY	5:45 P.M.
DR. KERSHNER	WGAP	1400 KC	WED.	6:00 P.M.

(Education for Americanism, Inc., P.O. Box 255, Maryville, Tenn.)

SHEET MUSIC

HITCH'S RECORDS

IN THE MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

We have a wide selection of classical, contemporary, and popular RECORDINGS of your favorite artists on such labels as RCA, Columbia, Dot, etc.

SHEET MUSIC for all ages, groups, and occasions can be found from the wide selection available in our store.

Dr. Walker Discusses History

by Mary Gay Boettcher

When the relevancy of history to the non-history major was demanded of Dr. Arda S. Walker, she smiled and immediately began ticking off factors pertinant to the question.

Dr. Walker firmly stated that when one speaks of history, in reality one is speaking of the whole field of humanities. Thus she says, history "releases man from being a prisoner in time and space." Man now has the past to draw from in experience and illustration, both of which can help him relate history to his profession and profit by the linkage.

On another level Dr. Walker pointed out that a basic knowledge of history not only creates an informed voter, but also releases the individual from intolerance. The housewife has a whole realm of stories for her children when she turns to history. Decisions made can often be the result of careful studies of similar sets of circumstances.

Dr. Walker cited an incident on her trip to Athens, where she met the authoress Margaret Erwin. Miss Erwin, being rather negative about Americans, was speaking. At the end of her conversation she remarked: "I hope that none of your friends are Americans." Dr. Walker smiled. Later, the two became great friends — the reason being that they had found a common ground in history. In many instances history can be a good point of communication among strangers.

When asked about the total American feeling about their own history, the English history teacher said crisply, "American history taught in isolation is propaganda." This, of course is true of any history, but when American history is taught as a part of world history then it begins to fit into the overall pattern of contribution. It is also in this way that the contributive areas of other nations to us becomes evident.

SAYS WHO?

History is a great teacher of mankind. Now I can prove to anyone that a benevolent despotism is the best form of government, that education courses are a waste, and that the Fourteenth amendment has been wrongly interpreted. Add to this my understanding of Cellini's home life and a thorough knowledge of all types of flowers and I'll be a success whether it be in a brewery, prodding a president, or aiding a travel aide.

(Rich Gossweiler)

Prominent MC historians are seen here in leisure activities. At the top is Richard Norman, deep in Faustian study, or is it theological? Next down, Dave Marston rests with one of his racquets. Below are the president and vice-president of the student body, Mike Garrett and Rich Gossweiller, both engaged in — what else — smiling. See the front page for a feminine historian. She's smiling too.

Photos by Ralph Tucker

HISTORY GRADS BOAST SUCCESS

The History Department can boast of many distinguished graduates who have risen to high positions in teaching, law literature, Christian education, and other important fields.

Presently at Maryville College are Raymond Brahams, Director of Development, and Coach Baird. Past faculty members include Mrs. McNiell and Dr. Queener, once head of the department.

Otto Pflanze, now teaching in Minnesota, has recently published a biography of Von Bismarck. Dr. Richard Schwoebel, winner of fellowships with the Folger Shakespeare Library and the American Philosophical Library, wrote a book on Islam in fourteenth and fifteenth century Europe. This summer he will conduct a seminar in Europe.

Dr. Paul Hartman is professor of law at Vanderbilt University, while Frank R. Neff is an associate professor at Trinity University. Dan Ellis, now finishing law at the University of Chicago Law School, won the Joseph Henry Beal Prize in legal writing and the 1963 National Honor Scholarship in Law.

Dr. Charles Hildrith ('43) is in charge of Civilian Historical Research for the U. S. Air Force. In the U. S. Department of State, Neale Pearson ('53) is political analyst for Far Eastern Affairs, past vice consul for the Honduras, and a writer for the Brookings Institute.

Robert Lamont, minister of the First Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia, is on the Boards of Trustees of Christianity Today and Westminster College. He is a director of Maryville College and holds three honorary degrees from three different institutions.

John McGill of Abington Presbyterian Church is a Maryville College director, a songleader at past February meetings, and has conducted two around-the-world tours for church groups.

Michael Testa is dean of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Portugal and has received an honorary D. D. from Davidson College. Mildred Orr is field director for the Christian Board of Education.

SAYS WHO?

Of course England and Sweden have the most efficient forms of government — you insult me to speak otherwise. I would say that the great work in this world has been done by Pope Gregory VII, the 18th century Deists, pacifists, and England, bless her (would that we uncouth Americans spoke her language!). In regard to my secret wish, it would be that our 20th century had an Alexander Pope to answer the Billy Gene Hargisses and Carl McIntires. Zeus knows I try but . . .

(Dick Norman)

SAYS WHO?

You're absolutely right, sir, yes sir, the political liberals are the tools of International Communism. Now take the DAR, sir, they know how to be true Americans, Why, they're the best organization around for training young minds — just look at their clubs for Babes of the American Revolution (you know, for out of the mouths of . . .) and Boobs of the American Revolution (a typographical error of course).

(John Leland)

CAPITOL THEATRE

SUN.–TUES., March 24–26

MIRISCH PICTURES & ROBERT WISE PRESENT

ROBERT MITCHUM | SHIRLEY MacLAINE

TWO FOR THE SEESAW

PANAVISION PRESENTED IN ASSOCIATION WITH SEVEN ARTS PRODUCTIONS, INC. UNITED ARTISTS RELEASE

Sun.–Tues., Mar. 31–Apr. 3

A DARRYL F. ZANUCK PRODUCTION The Chapman Report

The personal story behind a sex survey... from the controversial best-selling novel.

SHELLEY WINTERS · JANE FONDA · EFREM ZIMBALIST, JR.
CLAIRE BLOOM · GLYNIS JOHNS · PRODUCED BY WYATT COOPER · DON M. MANKIEWICZ · RICHARD D. ZANUCK

TECHNICOLOR® From WARNER BROS.

Always Look Your Best

SEE US FOR ALL YOUR DRY CLEANING NEEDS

MARYVILLE CLEANERS

Contact Your Dormitory Agent—

Carnegie & Memorial— JOE FINK, ED KRUSMAN

New Dorm—SANDY SCOFIELD

Pearsons—SUE QUIGG

Baldwin—JANET MELVILLE

Save up to 59¢ on

Eaton's

FINE LETTER PAPERS in double quantity boxes

Take advantage of this economy packaging of beautiful Eaton writing papers to buy ahead for yourself—and for gifts! (Price band is easily removed for gift-giving.) Full range of tints and textures.

White Office Machines

Corner Broadway at College

Bye, Bye, Birdie: FRESH and HILARIOUS

by Mildred Miles

Conrad Birdie has been to MC, and passed through hardly unnoticed. The production last week-end of "Bye, Bye, Birdie" made a hit with all who saw it. And rightly so, for it was a colorful, lively, hilarious satire on life all around us, with an appeal to every age and level of society.

The plot, what little there was, was competely uninteresting. But it wasn't really needed, for the characters who came alive were more than adequate for an evening's entertainment. David Styles and Marty Miller, as Albert and Rose, exhibited not only talent, but great versatility as a temperamental show-biz team in a battle of wits and personalities. Their dance sequences, both the duets and singles, combined smoothness and flash, and Miss Miller's "Phi Beta Kappa's" alone were well worth the price of admission.

Laugh's from all sides

Gaile Wilkes as "Mama," provided the show with its best and funniest lines, and she delivered them with a polish of satire and sarcasm.

Lending a delightful charm to the whole was the MacAfee family and friend Hugo, played by Carl McDonald, Joy Godbey, Judy Smith, David Lyle, and Alan Childs. In the role of respectable Dad, McDonald exhibited his talent for being comic in his every word and movement and added many laughs to the evening.

Miss Smith, as Kim, was Sweet Apple personified, and provided the only really good music in the show. We regretted there was not more from her.

Music Varied

In the title role of Conrad Birdie, Ed Perantoni, like typical singing idol he portrayed, looked pretty, sounded terrible, and moved with magnificently disgusting twists and jerks. He was practically perfect.

The chorus provideu a realistic backdrop of mass teen-age America. It is too bad more of the enthusiasm and ease of the squeals and the personality and precision of the telephone scene didn't carry over into the singing-dancing production numbers.

Finally, congratulations to the backstage crew in their excellent handling of a most interesting and refreshing use of scenery.

Socks and Sneakers

by Ginna Coon

Theta Epsilon won the annual swimming meet against Chi Beta on March 14. A new feature was added this year with a placque being presented to the winning team. Individual trophies were also presented: to Mary Lee Dolvin, Theta, for Form, Kathy Kisler, Chi Beta, for Speed, and Dianne Eneboe, Theta, for points.

With the beginning of this nice weather girls can add to their points toward their letters by taking hikes. One hour hike is worth 15 points; but if it's too, too warm she can earn points for every hour of swimming.

During vacation, girls, practice your tennis—because as soon as we return, the tennis tournament will get under way.

CUBA, Cont'd. from Page 4

feels that the troops are in Cuba only for the purpose of training native pro-Castro troops to combat either another Bay of Pigs invasion or an internal revolution.

Dave Marston, on the other hand, thinks that the United States should intervene with all the force necessary for the immediate removal of the troops. He says that the communists are using Cuba as a stronghold from which to infiltrate the other Latin American countries. He thinks that we made a mistake in not following up our advantage last fall and demanding removal of the troops then when, he believes, they would have backed down. He states that the present Cuban government is an "illegitimate regime. We have never tolerated such in the past." He favors the establishing of a total blockade of Cuba. In his words, "It is my belief that if the U. S. were to impose a total naval blackade over Cuba, Russian options would be reduced to two: capitulation, or war. And I don't think they would risk destruction over Cuba."

Judith Mikeal believes that no immediate action should be taken against Cuba. She maintains that Russia has no immediate plans for the troops, so there is no reason why conflict should begin over the issue. Conflict over the missile base question, she holds, was justified, but not over troop removal. The problem is not that pressing at present. The time might come, she says, when it will be necessary to make a stronger move, but that time is not now.

To Date 4 Seniors Win Graduate Grants

Four senior students, to date, have been awarded grants for graduate work next fall. The following list is necessarily incomplete and will be supplemented in future issues of the Echo, for faculty members have stressed that many of the seniors in their departments have not yet received replies to their applications.

Michael Garrett

History major Michael Garrett has received a Rockefeller Foundation Fellowship which will enable him to enroll in any seminary in the United States or Canada for a period of one year to make his decision about the ministry.

Lynn Herring

An assistantship in English at the University of Tennessee has been awarded to Lynn Herring, who will be a teaching assistant while working toward her master's degree. In addition to fees and tuition, she will receive a stipend of $1100.

Judith Mikeal

Miss Judith E. Mikeal, graduating history major, has been awarded a 1963 Woodrow Wilson Fellowship grant.

William Ward

Biology major William Ward has been accepted to three year program at the Radiation Biology Institute of the University of Tennessee. Completion of the three year period would lead to the Ph.D. degree in radiation biology.

Jan. Grad. James Renfro

Already at work on his master's degree in chemistry is January graduate James Renfro. He is presently enrolled on an assistantship at the Sam Houston State University, Huntsville, Texas.

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES

★ SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

✓ CHECK ACCOUNTS

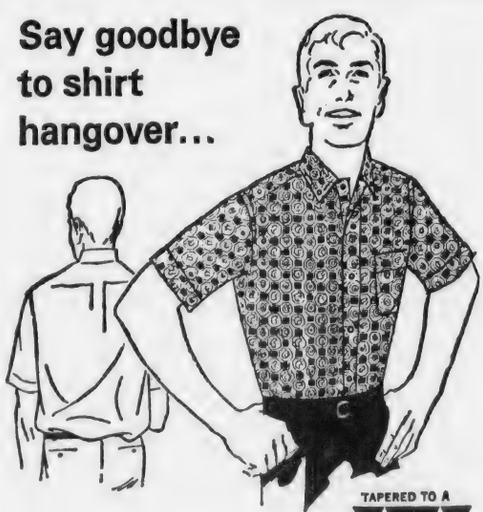
★ CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS

★ TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

DON'T FORGET
WHEN YOU GET HUNGRY
Come To
LEONARD'S CAFETERIA
and
STEAK HOUSE
"In The Center Of The Center"



....gym....tumble....
flip...flop...lug...tug
push...jump...leap...
...chin...lift...pull...
...run...puff puff...
pause

take a break...things go better with Coke

Bottled under the authority of The Coca-Cola Company by: RODDY MANUFACTURING COMPANY

Say goodbye to shirt hangover...

TAPERED TO A

Shapely UNIVERSITY CLUB

The Shapely shirt does something for you—no doubt about it. It gives you the look of a born dresser. How come? Simply that the Shapely shirt is tailored to taper where you taper—and gives the impression that it was made to order for you. Why contend with that droopy look? Look your best in a Shapely shirt.

$3.98

Minton's

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 48 | Maryville, Tennessee, April 13, 1963 | No. 12

United Presby. Radio-TV Center To Be Housed In MC Theatre

Maryville College will be the Southern Appalachian headquarters for the Division of Radio and Television of the United Presbyterian Church. This church, in cooperation with the National Council of Churches and the Council of Southern Mountains, is uniting denominations, colleges, and social agencies in raising economic, social, educational, and spiritual standards in this area by presenting radio and television programs recorded by prominent church leaders, social workers, and faculty members.

Initially, only radio work will be done in the office control room and recording studio which will be in full operation by the fall semester. Mr. Keith Le May, director of the headquarters, is already at work in Maryville.

Dr. Copeland's activity in radio and television programs, the college's interest, college facilities, and the central location near the airport have brought this honor to the school. The use of recording equipment in conjunction with Mr. Jones and the speech department; student participation in secretarial, recording, announcing, and dramatic capacities; and possibly an expanded curriculum to include radio and television work are among the anticipated benefits to Maryville College.

Harp Singers To Hold Easter Program

by Ann Harrison

Starting at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon a gathering of people within shouting distance of the college will be singing a kind of music seldom heard anymore. The 'Old Harp Singers" will sing all afternoon at Second Baptist Church on Ellis Avenue for their annual Blount County Easter Singing. They welcome visitors, especially students from Maryville College.

Harp singing doesn't have anything to do with any stringed instruments. In fact, it has no accompaniment but tapping feet. The name "Harp" comes from the title of the hymnbook.

"Shaped Notes" Featured

In this book each of the seven notes of the scale has a different shape. This feature makes it easy (for those who learned the method) to sing the proper syllable and tone—do, re, mi, fa, etc. In four parts the singers lustily chant the tone-syllables of each hymn before they sing the words. The hymns have strict rhythms and distinct harmonies, and most of them are pitched in a minor key.

Many of the words complain of the hardships of this world and anticipate the rest of the next, thus reflecting the hardships faced by their originators.

Nineteenth-century Beginning

The Old Harp tradition was begun in the mid-nineteenth century by dissenting religious groups in America. Not wanting to use the same hymns and psalm singing that the traditional church used, these new groups put their hymn words to traditional secular tunes brought from Europe. For instance one of the hymns, "Wondrous Love," has the tune which was earlier that for the rousing ballad of Captain Kidd. Other of the tunes are familiar in many churches today.

No Books At First

At first the people sang with no books. Instead the minister read the words to the congregation, who then sang them. In time, singing schools became popular, and singing teachers travelled from town to town teaching people to sing from the Old Harp book. The books are out of print now and difficult to find. The college library, however, has a copy.

Special Quartets singing "gospel" songs are often interspersed in the harp sings now. The two types of music are quite different.

Many Churches Visited

The singers visit churches wherever they are invited in the area from March to October. The president of the Blount County singers is S. D. (Chief) Williams, the retired chief of police of Maryville. A sizable group, headed by Knoxville attorney Frank Carter, leaves the Knoxville City Court House each Sunday for churches throughout the surrounding counties.

Often the program includes both morning and afternoon sings with an abundant dinner-on-the-grounds between.

Elem. Ed. Seniors Score On World Affairs Exam

Senior elementary-education majors at Maryville College recently achieved the highest average score of five area colleges on an experimental examination designed to test the prospective teacher's knowledge of national and world affairs.

According to Mr. L. D. Moyers, who composed and administered the test in fulfillment of graduate work at the University of Tennessee, Maryville students scored a group average of 38.3; this mean is nine points higher than the total average of the five schools participating, as well as seven points above that of the second highest-scoring group.

Mr. Moyers has not completed his project, for he will continue to test the political awareness of students at other colleges. But in reporting the results of his project up to this point, Mr. Moyers congratulates Maryville students for achieving "the highest average among Elementary Seniors thus far."

TO ELECT OFFICERS TUESDAY

"Y" Votes to Retain Current Structure For the Present

Members of the YMCA-YWCA voted last Sunday to elect new officers under the same structure that the Y's now have instead of making an immediate change. All active members may vote in the election for the two sets of officers on Tuesday, April 16.

The following recommendation was accepted:

The YM-YWCA evaluation committee recommends that the basic structure of two sets of officers be elected in the normal procedure for the regular one year term of office, unless otherwise decided by the group later next year. These officers would be responsible for the normal program and for continued study . . . toward the possibility of affiliation with the UCCF.

An evaluation committee has worked for several weeks to decide whether the group should continue as YMCA and YWCA or affiliate with the United Campus Christian Fellowship (UCCF). Representatives from each of these groups have come to the Maryville Campus recently. The committee has not definitely recommended a change from the Y's, although, according to YW president Lois Ann Jones, many on the committee "lean toward UCCF."

The head of the region of UCCF which could include Maryville will be on campus before the annual Y retreat, which is the April 27 week-end.

Special Services To Commemorate Easter Tomorrow

President Joseph J. Copeland will lead the twenty-sixth annual Easter Sunrise Service in the college amphitheater tomorrow morning, beginning at 6:05 a.m. At the evening Easter Vespers, College Chaplain E. Fay Campbell will discuss "Memory."

The Vesper Choir will present special selections at the Sunrise Service, including "Christ is Risen" by Hirsch, "Hosanna to the Son of David" by Willan, "Alleluia! The Strife is O'er" by Palestrina, "O Sons and Daughters" from the fifteenth century, "God's Son Hath Set Me Free" by Grieg, "Christ the Lord is Risen Today" by Rorem, and "Alleluia" by Bach.

MC DEBATERS WIN HONORS AT NAT'L FORENSIC TOURNEY

The National Tourney of the Pi Kappa Delta Forensic Society was the scene of the latest achievements of the Maryville debate team. Representing Maryville at the Convention, which was held at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, Illinois, on March 19-23, were Judith Mikeal, Gloria Sturmfels, Richard Gossweiler and Bradford Rehm.

Ratings Hold National Significance

Three classes of national ratings were awarded at the convention: superior, excellent, and good. Miss Mikeal and Miss Sturmfels received the rating of "excellent" in the sweepstakes competition, as well as in the women's debate. In addition, Miss Sturmfels was rated "excellent" in the field of women's extemporaneous speaking. Mr. Gossweiler and Mr. Rehm were rated as "good" in the sweepstakes, while Mr. Rehm achieved a rating of "excellent" in men's oratory.

The tourney was the Golden Anniversary Convention of the National Forensic Society Pi Kappa Delta, of which Maryville College was one of the first members. The convention was attended by 1,000 delegates from all parts of the country.

Ten Debaters in Final Event

The Maryville debate squad will enter the final competitive event in its 1962-1963 season at Carson-Newman College, the site of the Smoky Mountain Tourney on April 19-20. Five teams will represent Maryville at the tourney. Judith Mikeal and Richard Gossweiler, Annette Sensenig and Elaine Coleman, Sherry Proffitt and Jan Rickards, Bradford Rehm and Tom Stanley, and Will Mitchell and Lee Sikes. These people will participate both as teams and in individual competition.

TONIGHT AT 7

"Service of Shadows" Merges Old and New

The "Service of Shadows" or Tenebrae is an ancient Easter worship service which will be observed in the Theatre tonight at 7 p.m. Members of the YWCA and YMCA will lead in the service to which the college and community are invited.

Contemporary art and interpretive dance will be combined with the reading and candle ceremony of Tenebrae.

CHRISTIAN COLLEGE DAY

High Schoolers To Come Here April 27

National Christian College Day, which is celebrated nationally in churches and church related colleges, will be observed at Maryville Sunday, April 28, with a program for high school students in this area who attend churches in the Union Presbytery. All participating churches and colleges are to make a special effort to encourage young people to attend church related schools. Maryville will send faculty members to churches in the Union Presbytery if the speakers are requested; however, it is preferred that the young people come to the campus. Phillip Griffin will speak in Greenback and Roy Lindahl in Dandridge.

The students should arrive at Maryville about three o'clock for the program. It will consist of entertainment; orientation, which will tell about college and Maryville in particular; organized, student-led tours for which the library will be open; supper in the dining hall; vespers with Dr. Copeland as speaker.

Also in connection with Christian College Day, the Maryville College choir will sing at Second Presbyterian Church in Knoxville on April 21.

Christian Education Seminar To Conduct Open Meeting Soon

The Director of Christian Education—who she is and what she does—will be the topic of the open meeting of the Christian Education Seminar on Thursday, April 25. Senior Anna Baker will speak at 7:30 in the New Dorm basement.

The Seminar welcomes all those interested in Christian Education, regardless of their major, to this session. Freshmen who are just deciding on their major subject will be especially welcomed.

Some Christian Education students initiated the Seminar last fall. They were concerned with the idea that the church needs workers who are not only dedicated to God, but who also have inquiring minds. Faculty members have supported the Seminar, and it has often met in their homes.

Seniors, juniors and sophomores may attend the regular meetings. Some of the topics this year have been curriculum, the doctrine of major Protestant denominations, and the presentation of several independent studies.

MC Day Results so far Total $26,432 For Endorsement of 1962-63 Budget

Results of the 1963 Maryville College Day Campaign for educational funds total $26,432.81 so far. Even though this amount already surpasses the 1962 total of $24,000, it does not include all the reports to be made or an additional $4,219 in pledges yet to be paid.

All the current gifts acquired in this fourth annual fund-raising campaign, which was conducted in the Knoxville-Maryville area last March 6 by college alumni and friends, will help to endorse this year's budget. These funds will supplement the other sources of college financing: annual endowments, student fees, and additional unrestricted current gifts for the 1962-63 educational year.

Broken down into categories according to source, the funds received from Maryville College Day so far include gifts from local churches: $1,426.97; local businesses: $13,738.00; local individuals: $3,460.00; and local alumni: $3,588.84.

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor in Chief
LYNN HERRING

Assistant Editor — CHARLOTTA COOK
News Editor — PATRICIA REHM
Feature Editor — ANN HARRISON
Art Editor — GRACE ROSSER
Sports Editors — TODD OWERS and JEANNE PRICE
Exchange Editor — GAIL GARLOCH
Business Manager — PAUL BIGGERS

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Mary Gay Boettcher, Carole Brownlee, Sandra Chittick, Elaine Coleman, Louise Crawford, Elenora Easterly, Sue Foreman, John Gamble, Gail Garloch, Mary Janovich, Ann Jordan, Karen Keen, Libby Lee, Dave Marston, Mildred Miles, Nelson Miller, Paul Millin, Jane Swetnam

CIRCULATION: David King, Bruce Bigart, Carole Brownlee, Harold Cones, Ginna Coon, Nelson Miller

PHOTOGRAPHER: Ralph Tucker

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR, MR. FRANK LAYMAN

From the Editor

The way things look now, this is going to be a lean year for stimulating election campaigns. With nominations for Student Body offices open for over a week, a number of positions are shamed by having single, unchallenged nominees.

I cannot believe that the entire student body stands unified in common agreement that there is no need for competition—that each single nominee represents the feelings of all.

My question is: Why are these nominees unchallenged? Is it that the Student Body, which has an abundant supply of critics during the year, has barely enough critics to accept the responsibility of running for office? Is this hesitancy to run for office due to an unwillingness to risk the possibility of being defeated?

Whatever the reasons, the circumstance is unhealthy. A Student Body that can foster no spirit of competition when all issues are open and subject to challenge has no right to criticize later. It has only cheated itself.

COMMENTS ON CAMPUS

Poll Reveals Mixed Opinions On USNSA and Its Future Here

by John Gamble

Although this poll was taken early in the semester the ECHO prints it with the belief that the findings still prove interesting.
—Editor's note.

A poll of 100 students at Maryville College reveals a marked difference of opinions concerning the "good" the United States National Student Association (USNSA) has done for the student body, as well as the organization's future here.

The poll was conducted to seek the representative opinions of each class. All 4 classes were polled, 25 students from each class. Despite the fact that the number polled is not exceedingly large, the cross-selection of each class might give a fairly accurate account of the classes' opinions on the whole, if projected.

Freshmen Uninformed about NSA

One vital point shown by the poll is the fact that a serious degree of non-communication exists between USNSA representatives on this campus and the freshman class. Of the 25 polled, only 7 knew enough about it to give a reasonable answer. The remainder said either "no opinion" or "don't know anything about it."

Senior Sample Approves

The senior class is the only one which, for this poll, registered decisive approval of the NSA's past service to the campus and a positive attitude toward its future here.

Freshman and sophomore classes voted it down by large margins. Opinions in the junior class, however, were almost equally divided.

The question asked: "Do you believe USNSA is serving a good purpose on this campus, and if a referendum was held this week, would you vote in favor of its continued existence on this campus?"

ALL CLASSES

For	35
Against	41
No Opinion	24

FRESHMAN

For	2
Against	5
No. Opin.	18

SOPHOMORE

For	5
Against	15
No. Opin.	5

JUNIOR

For	12
Against	11
No. Opin.	1

SENIOR

For	15
Against	10
No. Opin.	0

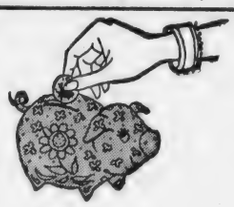
TOTAL

For	34
Against	41
No. Opin.	24

Trends Could Go Either Way

If all who said "no opinion" did vote, the trends could be broken perhaps. If all the dissenters voted for USNSA, the total would be 495 to 287 for its continuance. However, if all who said no opinion would vote against it, the total would be 527-245 for dropping it. Of the 24 people who said they did not want to commit themselves, 19 said they didn't know what USNSA was. The others did not want to say until they looked into the controversy.

MUSE TEN



The Flute

Encased in royal velvet radiant silver.
Daylight is transfigured into silent fugues
And shimmering tones beyond a Kincaid's power.
I tremble for suddenly my body fills
With rainbow echoes. Now, at last I live.
To spark, to move will kill this holy light.
But my audience awaits, impatient for its feast (Shall I become the charmer for these snakes?
They're deaf. They'd dance to any stick as well.)
But pity for their hunger makes me yield.
If I have bread I cannot let them starve—
Although I fear they will not like the taste.
My notes are clear as mountain streams I'm told.
Perhaps — Since flutes and streams are common things
The vision is not mine to give away.

—Ann Jordan

Always Look Your Best
SEE US FOR ALL YOUR DRY CLEANING NEEDS
MARYVILLE CLEANERS
Contact Your Dormitory Agent—
Carnegie & Memorial—JOE FINK, ED KRUSMAN
New Dorm—SANDY SCOFIELD
Pearsons—SUE QUIGG
Baldwin—JANET MELVILLE

WALGREEN
1c Sale
April 17 thru 27
Stop in for a FREE CIRCULAR
PARK DRUG STORE

NOW!
Save up to 59¢ on

Eaton's
FINE LETTER PAPERS
in double quantity boxes
Take advantage of this economy packaging of beautiful Eaton writing papers to buy ahead for yourself—and for gifts! (Price band is easily removed for gift-giving.) Full range of tints and textures.
White Office Machines
Corner Broadway at College

WGAP
CAMPUS MIKE
Voice of Maryville College
Sunday Evening
9:30-10:00

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student
116 West Broadway

Maryville College
STUDENT CENTER
proudly serves
FULLER LOCKER PLANT
Hamburgers
★
Hot Dogs

PET DAIRY
ICE CREAM
★
MILK
"Fresh from the Dairy"

Spotlight

General Park Chung Hee

by Dave Marston

Politicians are notorious fence straddlers, but rarely has anyone been in a more dangerously delicate position than South Korea's ruler, General Park Chung Hee.

To the north, General Park sees an armed Communist camp; to the west, there is the United States, urging him with the full weight of its prestige to allow free elections in South Korea. In his own country, General Park is threatened by a hungry and unstable populace demanding popular government and economic reforms. And in the next room, Park knows only too well that the dissatisfied members of his own military junta are plotting his overthrow.

Certainly, General Park is sitting on a powder keg. Should he allow the free elections, as he has repeatedly promised to do since he took office by a military coup some months ago, it is virtually certain that the resulting instability will pave the way for yet another military takeover. And yet if he continues to refuse free elections, smoldering resentment may well be ignited by the country's economic woes into a full-scale rebellion.

Ironically, it appears that Strongman Park has little to lose either way—his chances of gaining elected office are already virtually nonexistent, and so his strongest position is to keep what power he now wields.

Last week, only days after it was announced that the elections scheduled for this May had been postponed, General Park reset the election date for "sometime in the fall." Observers, however, conjecture that he might have more accurately put it "sometime after the fall"—that is, the fall of General Park Chung Hee, which seems increasingly inevitable.

Fugitive Pieces

by Gail Garloch

Easter is one of the most joyous events that happen around Christendom, and it is a day we at Maryville look forward to through the bleak winter months. In former years we looked forward to Easter for a very special reason: on that day we were permitted to go to the woods with the girls and the boys without our biology instructor. Even though we may go to the woods with the men and the women just anytime anymore, there are other things which happen only on Easter: like it's still the only day we can go to the woods at 5:00 a.m. with the whole Vesper Choir.

* * * * * *

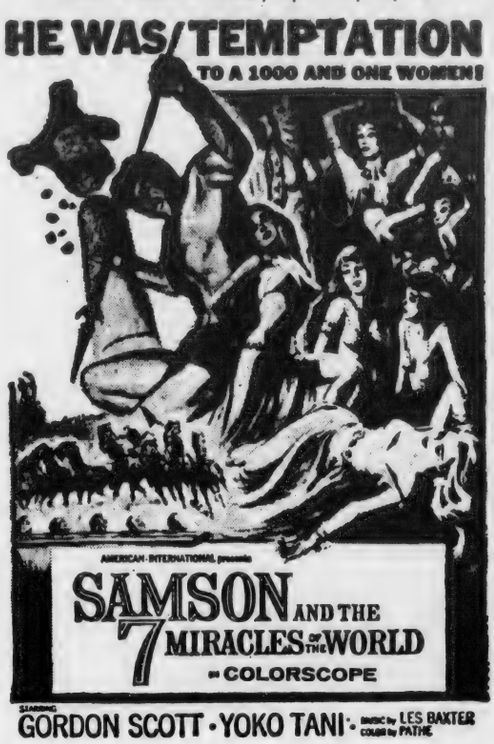
Two of my acquaintances began and carry on a traditional Easter egg hunt on the day before Easter. I remember in the Spring of 1961 inclement weather necessitated the removal of the party from the college woods to Anderson Hall. What I vaguely remember is that about a month after Easter Dr. Jackson was wondering why all the people in the back row were cutting all her classes. She was wondering, that is, until somebody found a great speckled egg under the left radiator.

* * * * * * *

Deck the halls with beans of jelly
Falalalalalalalala

* * * * * * *

In addition to the gladly solemn sound of the trumpeteers outside my window, on Easter morning of my Freshman year I was awakened by the prancing and clawing of two chicken feet outside my door. My roommate and I sprang from our beds to be greeted by the anonymously smiling face of a little yellow chicken. Naturally we took the foundling in, and after consulting Webster's New (only now there's a newer) Collegiate Dictionary, named the chick Paul Linus Hilary Anastasia Tobias. The name is taken from various languages and in translation signifies "Little flaxenhaired cheerfulness of the resurrection. The Lord is good." We called him Linus ("Flaxenhaired") for short. This chicken gave us many happy hours and in return we fed him All-Bran (thanks, Miss Ware). He throve. One black day the housemother instigated a purge, and Linus had to go. We found him a warm and comfortable home with Doc Williams.



Linus is now a full grown rooster. If you listen very carefully, you may hear him tomorrow morning around Son-rise time. By the way, did anybody hear him crowing Thursday night?

I try to remain cheerful, but the episode of Linus' courtship is a sad one. When Linus was one year old and had been living with Doc Williams for a while, it seemed wise that the former should take a wife. I went down to the J & K feed and animal store and picked out a nice looking girl chick. (Back in 1961 marriages were often arranged like this.) Melissa Eggsville, as the betrothed came to be called, lived in the dorm for a while and ate All-Bran. Melissa's roommate, or cagemate, was a frog named Stanley who had a dread disease called Redleg. Stanley was participating in a biology experiment which he won, but unfortunately Melissa lost. In the process of Stanley's sickness and recovery, Melissa caught the disease and died. Right before the Easter rush on fluffy baby chicks, Melissa died. Right before her marriage, Melissa died. All the money Linus, Melissa, and I were going to make died with Melissa. I had sinned in counting my chickens before the eggs were even laid.

Anyhow, Linus is going to celebrate another happy, though celibate, birthday on another happy (tomorrow) Easter.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Sun. – Mon. – Tues., April 14, 15, 16

STARRING GORDON SCOTT • YOKO TANI • MUSIC by LES BAXTER COLOR by PATHE

Wed. – Fri., April 17, 18, 19

VINCENT PRICE
TOWER OF LONDON
Released thru UNITED ARTISTS

– and –

2,000-YEAR-OLD HORROR LEGEND COMES ALIVE!
THE Vampire AND THE Ballerina
Released thru UNITED ARTISTS

Saturday, April 20 – Double Feature

JOSEPH E. LEVINE presents
THE WONDERS OF ALADDIN
STARRING DONALD O'CONNOR
EASTMAN COLOR AND CINEMASCOPE
MGM

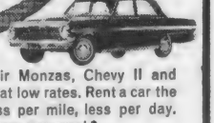
– and –

M-G-M Presents STEVE REEVES as THE GIANT OF MARATHON
GIANT THRILLS! GIANT EXCITEMENT!
MYLENE DEMONGEOT
A Titanus-Galatea Lux Production
IN DAZZLING COLOR!

Sun. – Mon. – Tues., April 21, 22, 23

TROUBLE WAS NEVER SO MUCH FUN!
TONY CURTIS in "40 POUNDS OF TROUBLE"
Eastman COLOR
CO-STARRING SUZANNE PLESHETTE • INTRODUCING CLAIRE WILCOX
WITH LARRY STORCH • MARY MURPHY • EDWARD ANDREWS • KAREN STEELE • KEVIN McCARTHY
HOWARD MORRIS • WARREN STEVENS • STUBBY KAYE
A Curtis Enterprises Production • A UNIVERSAL RELEASE
AND ALSO STARRING PHIL SILVERS

Wed. – Thurs. – Fri., April 24, 25, 26



Martin's DRUG STORE
401 S. Washington St. Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.

Offering Maryville College Students
a complete line of cosmetics,
plus
a reliable prescription service
Located just off campus on Washington St.

WE RENT TO COLLEGE STUDENTS AND SERVICE PERSONNEL

$5 PER 24 HOUR DAY 5¢ PER MILE
RENTS SHINY, NEW AUTOMOBILES THROUGH THE
BUDGET RENT-A-CAR SYSTEM

RENT NEW CARS AND SAVE UP TO 40%!

$5 24 HR. DAY
5¢ PER MILE

Brand new Corvair Monzas, Chevy II and Chevrolet Impalas at low rates. Rent a car the BUDGET Way, less per mile, less per day. You buy only the gas you need.*

We Feature Free Hotel and Airport Pickup and Delivery Service.

Phone 982-2702

Summer-school Data In Deans' Office

Probably most students this summer will be laboring to earn enough money to come back to MC in the fall or possibly just catching up on lost sleep missed during the previous semester. However, for those students who are impatient to get that degree or who want to take graduate work, information about summer school is available in the central office of the Dean of Men and the Dean of Women.

MC has no summer school program, but in the Anderson Hall conference room there is an impressive array of catalogues from other schools, all arranged in alphabetical order. These catalogues may be checked out for three or four days at the Dean's offices.

Courses offered vary from education courses required for a teacher's certificate, to seminary work at the major theological schools, to advanced graduate work at the larger universities.

It is advisable for students to apply promptly at the summer schools of their choice since many colleges have a March or April application deadline.

READY FOR THE BIG ONE—These MC baseballers will leave Monday morning for a game with highly rated LMU. The Railsplitters defeated the University of Tennessee earlier this year, as did Maryville in their season's opener. Tuesday the Scots will play at home against Hiwassee College.
PHOTO Courtesy of Maryville Times

College Students
Faculty Members
College Libraries

Printed In BOSTON
LOS ANGELES
LONDON

SUBSCRIBE NOW AT HALF PRICE

Clip this advertisement and return it with your check or money order to:
The Christian Science Monitor
One Norway St., Boston 15, Mass.

☐ 1 YEAR $11 ☐ 6 mos. $5.50
☐ COLLEGE STUDENT
☐ FACULTY MEMBER

P-CN

SPRING SPORTALK

by Todd Owers

Have you ever witnessed an ideal tennis match? Students at the University of North Carolina had the privilege last year. The University of Miami (Fla.) invaded the Carolina hills sporting a fabulous win streak of 87 straight victories. The Tarheels themselves had a record not to be sneezed at, as they had won some 30 straight matches going into this one with the undefeated Hurricanes from Miami. Enthusiasm ran high on the campus as the day of the match arrived. Some students even cut labs to witness the contest which was played under ideal conditions. The sun shone brillantly all afternoon long and the fans had a field day basking in the tropical weather. They paid a dollar a head to see their favorites knock off Miami from the ranks of the unbeaten and were rewarded by seeing some brillant tennis. By the time the first serve had found its way into play, there were five thousand people crammed into the immediate area watching from bleachers, benches, nearby windows, cars and anything else available and within binocular range of the courts. Quite a few students were even observed sitting in the trees watching proceedings from there. Miami finally won the match, which made national headlines because of the tremendous interest shown in it by the many students who turned out to watch.

Not to be outdone by the University of North Carolina, Maryville College sports a headliner this afternoon also. And it is hoped, just as much spirit will be generated this afternoon as was displayed in the match just described. Certainly the opposition deserves a good crowd. For this afternoon it is the Carson-Newman Eagles that invade our domain to do battle with the tennis rackets. This match promises to be a memorable one both for players and spectators alike. Both teams appear to be strong and quite evenly matched. Maryville opened her season with two easy victories over Lincoln Memorial University, while the Eagles trounced a weak King College racket squad 9-0 in their season's opener.

No great win streaks are at stake this afternoon but there is a very definite matter of school pride and a promise of revenge which must be settled on the tennis courts this afternoon. Last year Carson-Newman ruined an otherwise very good season for the Scottie netters by defeating them twice—these defeats still rankle.

Students taking in this match will not find themselves a dollar lighter, nor will they be seen cutting labs and climbing trees in order to witness this match of matches. It's a cinch too, that they won't be treated to any championship tennis exhibitions. But it is a safe bet that they will observe a Maryville team lacking, in finesse perhaps, but trying to compensate for this by concentration and determination out on the court. This dual combination can and does win tennis matches.

One important point that the spectators might keep in mind is that tennis atiquette demands that there be no loud talking or other noise while the points are being played. But this does not mean that all must keep perfectly silent throughout the match. Quite the contrary! Hands are wonderful things and were meant to be used. When applause is deserved and given, it is the best psychological boost a student can give a player because it is audible proof that the student body is behind his every effort at doing his small part to achieve the goal the whole school seeks—the defeat of Carson-Newman.

After Split with U-T

Baseball Team At L.M.U. Mon.

The baseball team travels to Lincoln Memorial University Monday afternoon for their fourth game of this young season, and hopefully they will be greeted by sunny skies when they arrive. Last Saturday the game was originally scheduled to be played, but was rained out shortly after both teams had taken batting practice. It was apparent that the afternoon rain was going to set in for quite a long time and the umpires wisely postponed the contest until Monday afternoon. Following Monday's game the Scots will be at home on Tuesday and will face the Hiwassee College nine from Madisonville, Tennessee. Friday, LMU will return to the Maryville diamond for the second of their two-game series with the Scots.

Maryville opened her season last Tuesday afternoon with a fine 9-8 victory over the University of Tennessee Volunteers in Knoxville. Benny Monroe went the distance for the win and was backed up by some lusty hitting by his teammates who tagged Tennessee pitching for 11 base hits, many of them extra base blows. The next day Tennessee came to Maryville for the game and the story was quite a bit different, as they routed the Scots, 14-0. Thursday afternoon Maryville went after their second victory as they took on Taylor University of Indiana, in a game played on the Maryville diamond.

Scot Netters Go After C-N This Afternoon

Maryville's clay courts will be the scene of battle this afternoon as the Carson Newman Eagles come to town for a tennis match, which promises to be the main sports attraction on campus. The Eagle netters will bring a strong team with them this afternoon.

Maryville's last outing came Wednesday afternoon on the home courts as Coach Lauren Kardatzke's six racketters went up against Tennessee Wesleyan College, in what proved to be their first real test of the year. The Scots entered this match a decided underdog as Wesleyan was reported in their usual good form with their usual tennis powerhouse well in the groove and ready to go. Led by their spectacular number one player, Jackie Robinson on scholarship from Oak Ridge, the Bulldogs have made no bones about the fact that they hope to win the Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Conference tournament this year.

But the Scots were not the least impressed as they went on to defeat Wesleyan 6-3 before a good crowd of Maryville rooters. Lynn Howard, Dave Marston, Rich Marshall and Dale Fischbach all scored singles victories and the match was almost won. Todd Owers and Dave Marston put it on ice by winning their number one doubles match, 6-3, 6-4 while Rich Marshall and Lynn Howard followed with a methodical 6-2, 6-4 victory in number two doubles. Thursday the team leaves for a three day road trip into Virginia. They will play Milligan, Emory & Henry and East Tennessee State in that order and will return home late Saturday night with their ten match schedule three-quarters finished, and hopefully an enviable won-lost record to show for their efforts.

Face Chattanooga Here Tuesday

Tracksters Lose To Cumberland

The Maryville track team lost its second track meet of the year to Cumberland last Saturday on a slow Maryville track. A steady cold rain fell throughout the meet, which saw the Cumberland runners pace their team to a 91-40 romp over Maryville. The home team was able to capture only four of a possible 15 first places. Three of the four were taken by the Scot field men, who scored 27 of Maryville's 40 points.

Bert Randall paced the field men by taking firsts in the javelin (136'6") and the discus (116'1¼") and a second in the shot put. Denny McGowan took a first in the high jump with a leap of 5'9½".

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

Once A Year Special

LANVIN TRAVELERS

ARPEGE $2.50
MY SIN $2.00
CRESCENDO $2.50

City Drug Company

Downtown

The Theatre Queries Anderson Hall

What's Ahead At Maryville For Drama And Speech

by Libby Lee

"A very dramatically successful year" for Maryville college theater, comments President Joseph Copeland. There have been close to 300 people directly and actively involved in the Maryville College Playhouse Productions this year. Enrollment in Speech and Theater Arts courses has totaled 72.

Decidedly enthused about the "excellent response of the public, community and campus," the President spoke of goals already achieved in the time of one year since the addition of Mr. Thomas E. Jones to the faculty. Mentioned were "broader participation and a more enthusiastic concern on the part of the whole institution."

The question before the administration now, says Dr. Copeland, is to determine what the major responsibility is to the total student body in the area of speech. Last spring upon a recommendation from the Southern Convention to make curricular consolidation, the major in Theater and Speech Arts was dissolved.

Majors in their junior and senior years were allowed to continue their course of study. People interested in obtaining a degree in Theater and Speech arts are, of course, no longer applying at Maryville. Instead it seems that the stress will be to fill the needs of the large percentage of graduates who go into a field in which communication is a vital vocational demand. Yet the President determines to "try and see if we are meeting adequately the needs for all involved."

Continuing this line of thought, Dean McClelland looks to the future plans for development of a Speech-Theater Department. Since last spring reportedly the college has been trying to acquire an additional staff member for this new Department-to-be. His qualifications must be high: a PhD. in Speech and sufficient training in technical theater work to supplement the now existing faculty. It is hoped that someone will be located for this position by the beginning of the 1964-65 school year, or certainly by the following year.

The Dean went on to state that plans for a reinstatement of a major course of study in this field are "dormant" and will doubtless remain so until the new faculty member is added. This is on the basis that the curriculum plans for the major must be worked out jointly through the efforts of the enlarged speech faculty sometime following 1965.

Both President Copeland and Dean McClelland are optimistic concerning the establishment of a T.V. and Radio center on campus. Discussion is also underway as to the possibility of transferring Debate and Forensics to the Speech-Theater area in the future.

It seems that plans and operations are progressing but at a cautious rate. Dr. Copeland expressed the thought well that we must not compromise quality and safety for speed. Dean McClelland put it this way: "When you build surely, you have to build slowly."

Dave Styles considers a dramatic problem

FOCUS ON THEATRE

For the second time the ECHO features a special report on a particular area of Maryville College. Other departments will be spotlighted in following issues.

Above — Anderson Hall viewed from the Theatre
Below — Mary Gay Boettcher and Thomas E. Jones deep in thought.
Photos by Ralph Tucker

The Tempest Slated as Season's Last Play

The Maryville College Playhouse will end its successful 1962-63 season with three performances of the commencement play William Shakespere's The Tempest. The dates for the production are to be May 24 and 25 and June 3. A play of impressive naturalistic setting and one of intriguing special effects, it promises to be an exciting evening of drama, music and dance.

STORY

The Tempest is a story of magic and monsters, and an enchanted island set in a distant sea. It tells of what happened in three hours on that island when beauty and nonsense and innocence and terror clash for a time and then quiet into a final peace under the power of a great magician. To see it is to enter into a wonderful world which is not quite like any other that Shakespere ever made.

CAST

Robert Orr is cast to play the part of Sebastian; David Evans to portray Prospero; Thomas Llewellyn as Antonio; Jerry Kerns to play the part of Ferdinand; Carl Macdonald to portray Gonzalo; Charles Meeker to play Adrian; Carl Dumford as Alonso; Thomas Stanley as Francisco; Wade Hampton as Caliban; David Scotchmer as Trinculo; Robert Dowell as Stephano; Elizabeth Lee as Miranda; Martha Bess Ellis as Ariel; Martha Miller and Eileen Han as dancers. Constance Williams will be assistant director to Mr. Thomas E. Jones.

Special Report Exposes Controversial Tryouts

The Kinsey-Chapman Report, Part II—(arranged according to Systematic Discourse and Research Method (sic) by Kinsey C. Report and Elaine Coleman).

A. Introduction:
   1. Recently, there has been stirring on an undisclosed campus the undercurrent of a burning scandal. Repeated whisperings, small intimate groups that cease all activity when a person approaches and popular rumors have brought about this investigation.

B. Theme:
   The controversy which centers around the issue: What goes on at the theatre during tryouts?

C. Discussion:
   The following discoveries were made (not by the committee).
   I. Tryouts are not a secret society.
   II. There are no sign-up sheets in the dorms for tryouts.
   III. Shakspere is not a sacred cow (1564-1616).
   IV. Anyone can get a part in a play, repeat, anyone can get a part in a play.
   V. Anyone can go to tryouts, repeat, anyone can go to tryouts.
   VI. Being in a play is fun, repeat, work, work, work, work, work.
   VII. You don't have to be Sir Laurence Olivier, Judith Anderson, or Elvis Presley (It might help though).
   VIII. Scientific studies show that tryouts do not reduce tooth decay.
   IX. There is a great need for new people in the theatre. (Ask not what the theatre can do for you, etc.)
   X. Crew work is not carried on actively at night, except just before performance.

D. Conclusion:
   The exhaustive data of the K.C. Report, Part II, has been handled through the channels and will never be heard of again.

Contrariwise . . . if it was so, it might be; and if it were so, it would be; but as it isn't, it ain't. That's logic.

Lewis Carroll

"COCA-COLA" AND "COKE" ARE REGISTERED TRADE-MARKS WHICH IDENTIFY ONLY THE PRODUCT OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

.....fox trot
twist...waltz
lindy...samba
mambo...cha-cha-cha..bend
dip..hop..step
turn...bump...
whew...

take a break
...things go better
with Coke
TRADE-MARK

Bottled under the authority of
The Coca-Cola Company by:
RODDY MFG. CO.
Maryville, Tenn.

3 PLAYS REPRESENTING THEATRE OF THE ABSURD TO BE HERE SATURDAY

Absurd. The theatre which has grown out of French existentialism? Or the society which it depicts? The significance of the word depends on the point of view of the audience.

A surface view of one of the plays which make up the Theatre of the Absurd will yield little save ridiculous chatter. Relinquishing a search for realism and opening the mind to impression and symbolism, an audience will be rewarded with a stark and embittered view of contemporary society.

Three one-act plays representative of this new theatrical movement will be presented by Maryville's experimental theatre on Saturday, April 20 at 8 p.m.

"The Bald Soprano," by Eugene Ionesco, a Frenchman, is a stab at the meaningless babble which passes for conversation and at the lack of individualism among people. David Styles is directing the cast which includes Libby Lee and David Powell as Mr. and Mrs. Smith; Norma Singleton and Ben Carney as Mr. and Mrs. Martin; Phyllis Weaver as the maid; and Bob Orr as the fireman.

"The Chairs," also by Ionesco, and "Kapp's Last Tape," by Samuel Beckett, deal abstractly with the idea that there is no true communication between individuals.

Mary Gay Boettcher, Dwight Campbell, and Thomas E. Jones are cast in "The Chairs." David Styles will do "Kapp's Last Tape," which is a monodrama.

Alumni Sponsor Banquet For Graduating Seniors

The annual Senior Banquet, sponsored by the Maryville College Alumni Association, will be held Tuesday, April 16, 7 p.m., at the Green Meadows Country Club. The evening's activities will include a specially prepared meal, entertainment, and acquaintance with the Alumni Association's functions.

Band Anticipates April Activities

On Friday evening, April 19, the Maryville College Highlanders Band will present its annual spring concert in the Wilson Chapel at 8 o'clock. Under the direction of Mr. John Roberts, the Band will play Prokofieff's "March Op. 99," Holst's "First Suite for Band," Schuman's "George Washington Bridge," and "Suite of Old American Dances" by Bennett.

A second Band activity scheduled for the remainder of April is participation in "The Dogwood Arts Festival" of Knoxville. On Saturday, April 20, the student musicians will give an International Day Concert on the Mall.

The following Saturday, April 27, will find the Highlanders serving as hosts to the East-Tennessee Band and Orchestra Association Solo Festival, which will take place here from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Drs. Copeland, McClelland Report on April 4 Meeting Of Tenn. College Assn.

President Joseph Copeland and Dean Frank McClelland represented Maryville College at the annual meeting of the Tennessee College Association at Nashville April 4. Dr. Copeland was elected to the Association's executive committee; Dr. McClelland, Association secretary-treasurer, is also a member of this committee.

Also at the business session, the eight Negro colleges of Tennessee were accepted into the Association, making a total representation of 39 senior colleges and 7 junior colleges in the organization.

The theme of the meeting was "Ways and Means of Closer Cooperation among Tennessee Public and Private Institutions of Higher Education." In accordance with this theme, Dr. Herman B. Wells of Indiana University discussed the effectiveness of the cooperation practiced by various colleges and universities in Indiana.

No man who has once heartily and wholly laughed can be altogether irreclaimably bad.

Thos. Carlyle

KC Students Resume Integration Movement

Once again this year, members of the student body, faculty, and friends of Knoxville College and the University of Tennessee have conducted non-violent demonstrations in Knoxville. The purpose of this present movement is to gain admittance for Negroes into movie theaters now closed to them. Only after negotiations with the theater managers came to a standstill did white students purchase tickets for the Negro students who wished to enter the theaters.

On the Saturday nights of March 22 and 29, theaters were picketed with the net result of 48 arrests. Despite the failure of a similar attempt in the fall of 1961, the integrationists are hoping for some resolution of the problem at hand. For the first time, managers of the respective theaters are acknowledging the need for action and have conferred in Atlanta with the owners of the theater chains.

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"
BANKING SERVICES
*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
*CHECK ACCOUNTS
*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
*TRANSFER OF FUNDS
— Your College Bank —
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands
OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You
Featuring a Fine Stock
of Quality Products Including
a Complete Variety of Cheeses.
DIXIE
SUPER MARKET
Washington Avenue

McGREGOR®
LONDON-INSPIRED SPORTSHIRTS
LONDON: Sources here report that British-influenced sportshirts are enjoying overwhelming popularity in the Colonies. The two most applauded are: THE LONDON CHECK, a superbly traditional pattern, tailored with regular collar and two uncannily matched pockets, and; THE LONDON SOLID, with an elegantly distinctive embroidered emblem and a convertible collar that may be worn with a tie. Both in launderable cotton, American-tailored by McGregor. Each, $4.00
As smooth as your flight on B·O·A·C
Proffitt's
Men's Dept.

CUT OUT AND SAVE — TELL YOUR NEIGHBORS TO LISTEN

SUGGESTED RADIO PROGRAMS FOR THINKING AMERICANS

"LIFE LINE"	WGAP	1400 KC	DAILY	6:00 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WKXV	900 KC	MONDAY	5:45 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:45 P.M.
CHURCH LEAGUE OF AMERICA	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:30 P.M.
20th CENTURY REFORMATION	WKXV	900 KC	MON.-FRI.	7:45 A.M.
CITIZENS COUNCIL	WGAP	1400 KC	THURS.	6:00 P.M.
INDEPENDENT AMERICAN	WKXV	900 KC	FRIDAY	5:45 P.M.
DR. KERSHNER	WGAP	1400 KC	WED.	6:00 P.M.

(Education for Americanism, Inc., P.O. Box 255, Maryville, Tenn.)

DON'T FORGET
WHEN YOU GET HUNGRY
Come To
LEONARD'S CAFETERIA
and
STEAK HOUSE
"In The Center Of The Center"

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 48 | Maryville, Tennessee, April 27, 1963 | No. 13

New Combo, 'Blue Shades,' Plays Here

A new combo known as "The Blue Shades" has recently appeared on campus. Under the general management of Bob Dunsmore, the group will perform once a week at the after-dinner dances. They are also available for other dances and entertainment.

Members of the Blue Shades are George Derbyshire (Derby), singer and musical director from Havre de Grace, Maryland; Bob Dunsmore, singer from Sarasota, Florida; Cliff Henderson, drummer from Punta Gorda, Florida; Sonny Hughes, singer from Sarasota, Florida; Hugh McCampbell, guitarist from Ritta, Tennessee; and Willie Malasitt, guitarist from Bangkok, Thailand.

Before the group got together formally, several of the members were performing independently for various events. At the freshman Christmas party, Willie and Derby performed several numbers. Hugh also played. Willie and Derby played again for several Alpha Sigma shows under the name of "The Dukes;" by this time they had gained a manager, Bob Dunsmore. Several weeks before the freshman talent show they all combined forces, with Sonny, Hugh, and Cliff being added.

In their attire of blue shirts and black pants, the Blue Shades open and close every performance with "Blue Moon," their theme song.

Some of the artists they use as their models are Bobby Vee, Del Shannon, the Ventures, and Jack Scott.

For Private Liberal Arts Colleges

Four Administrators To Attend Seminar

On April 29 four administrative officers of the college will travel to Nashville for a three-day "Long Range Planning Seminar" at Fisk University. President Joseph Copeland, Dean Frank McClelland, Treasurer Frank Layman, and Development Director Raymond Brahams will represent Maryville College as one of the fifteen private liberal arts colleges in the Southeastern United States invited to participate.

Series of Five Seminars

The Nashville seminar is one of a series of four to be held in the South during April and May. A fifth, the follow-up seminar, is scheduled for next fall. Approximately 15 different institutions will participate in each meeting.

To Consider Emerging Problems

All of the seminars will consider the emerging problems of the private liberal arts college, as well as possible solutions to them. Sponsored by the Ford Foundation's Fund for the Advancement of Education, this series of seminars is being conducted by Knox College in Galesburg, Illinois.

Juniors, Seniors Sponsor Movie, Games Tonight

Tonight at 7:30 in the Theatre the Senior Class will show "Anatomy of a Murder" with cartoons. Admission will be fifty-cents per person.

Immediately following the movie, the Junior Class will sponsor "Games Night" in the basement of the New Dorm.

Both programs are open to the entire student body.

Student Associations Elect New Officers

Elections of several campus organizations have taken place recently and several more will be held in coming weeks: classes, societies, theatre, Men's Student Cooperative, and student body.

WSGA

Results of the Women's Student Government Association election, held Friday, April 12, are as follows: Sue Quigg, president; Charlotta Cook, vice-president; Jan Melville, secretary-treasurer. In a re-run election on Wednesday, April 17, Ruth Carter and Gail Smith were elected as junior representatives.

SNEA

Officers elected for the Student National Education Association on Monday, April 15, were Beverly Wells, president; Ginnie Duval and Margie Loeffler, vice-presidents; Shirley Mease, secretary; Carol Rugh, treasurer; and Linda Brumley and Tina Criner, publicity.

Student Body Elections May 15

Marston Unopposed for Presidency; Brown, Moyers Compete for Veep

by Carole Brownlee

The nomination of only one junior, Dave Marston, for Student Body President has led to a situation not unique on our campus. The incidence of an unopposed candidate has occurred several times in recent school elections. Present Student Body President Mike Garrett views the condition with fear for the future state of campus politics. This trend, he feels, is unnecessary with the number of issues that exist at this time and could have been reversed with the nomination of other candidates with varying ideas on these issues. The situation, however deplorable, remains.

Necessarily, the main emphasis in the forthcoming elections will be on the office of vice-president. Mike Moyers, allegedly more liberal than his opponent, is convinced that his experience in working with Marston on Student Council committees would greatly decrease the possibility of friction developing between the two offices. Co-operation, says Moyers, is necessary for effective student body leadership. Both men feel that specific issues will come to the fore as the actual campaign progresses.

On the other hand, Phil Brown finds nothing in past associations that would hinder his relationship with Marston. He is of the opinion that organizational ability must be a basic characteristic of the vice presidency and that his former experience with committee organization would benefit him in that office. His conservative label has perhaps stemmed from his reluctance to rush issues which he feels must be considered carefully.

Both candidates, however, have expressed the desire that the election results be indicative of a conscientious vote based on merit, rather than a popularity contest.

Dean Massey Studies At Fla. State Univ.

Frances Massey, Dean of Women, left Maryville College April 17 for Florida State University. Using part of her sabbatical leave, Dean Massey will be doing additional graduate work in college personnel programs and counseling under Dr. Melvine Hardee, President of the American Personnel and Guidance Association.

The tri-mester system at Florida State will permit Miss Massey to work only a half semester before she returns to the Maryville campus about July 20 to prepare for the college's opening in the fall.

Miss Massey's duties have been allocated as follows: housemothers, all women's permissions; Miss Sandburg, scheduling and office matters; and Mr. Bushing and Dr. McClelland, administrative work. Also the WSGA is taking increased responsibility in discipline matters and in getting in handbook copy.

MC Directors To Convene May 10

On Friday, May 10, the annual Spring Meeting of the Board of Directors will convene here. Visiting the campus at that time will be many persons unknown to the students, yet having very important roles in determining the future of Maryville College.

POWERS, DUTIES OF THE BOARD

The thirty-six members of the Board meet at least twice annually, in the fall and spring. Being the ultimate authority on all of the college's policies and business, at these meetings the Directors transact, according to the Maryville College By-Laws, "any business deemed necessary for the welfare of the college." At this Spring Meeting, in particular, the Board will act upon the Faculty's recommendations for the degrees to be conferred soon.

MEMBERSHIP SELECTION

The membership of the Directors is divided into three classes, each containing twelve persons who have been selected for their interest in this educational institution, as well as their individual abilities. Annually at its June meeting the Synod of Mid-South of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., elects one class to the Board of Directors and fills any vancancies. Although the college is affiliated with the United Presbyterian Church, the Directors need not belong to that particular denomination.

OF VARIOUS OCCUPATIONS

Among the three classes of Directors are 22 professional men, including 15 clergymen, 3 educators, 3 attorneys, and 1 physician; 8 businessmen and bankers; 3 housewives who are active in civic and church affairs; and 2 professional women. Sixteen of them are Maryville College graduates.

EXECUTIVE OFFICERS

Board chairman is Joe C. Gamble, Maryville attorney; vice-chairman is Dr. W. Glen Harris, a pastor in Birmingham, Michigan; recorder is Edwin J. Best, Maryville resident and TVA administrator; and assistant recorder is Mrs. Lois B. Murphy, Maryville housewife.

HONORARY DIRECTORS

When a Director reaches the age of 70 during his term on the Board, he becomes an Honorary Director for the rest of his life. Presently nine persons hold the honorary classification.

Dean Announces Senior Counselors

The office of the Dean of Women has recently made public the names of five junior women who will be senior counselors in the underclass women's dormitories next year. The women, who will be living on separate floors of Pearsons and Baldwin, are Mary Addy, history major from Highland Park, New Jersey; Margaret Horne, Christian education major from Concord, Tennessee; Phyllis Sauerbrey, home economics major from Trinway, Ohio; Nancy Pierce, history major from Hopkinsville, Kentucky; and Miriam Stults, clementary education major from Kingston, New Jersey.

Laurel Lake Beckons for Weekend Retreat

Equipped with new officers, good food, and a beautiful site on Laurel Lake, about eighty members of the YMCA and YWCA leave this afternoon for their spring retreat near Townsend, Tennessee.

The retreat's theme is "The Hand of God." The weekend's program will include discussion of the commission system which has functioned this year; a discussion of the four areas of dedication, fellowship, witness and service; installment of new officers; worship; and entertainment.

Both the YM and YW elected new officers April 16. The presidents are John Spangler and Margaret Dozier. A junior philosophy major, Mr. Spangler has played a major part in Campus Mike. He is co-chairman of the church vocations commission of Y.

Miss Dozier is also a junior, majoring in biology. She is this year secretary of the YWCA.

Mr. Spangler made the following statement concerning plans for the future, "I feel that a common understanding and unity in our Christian commitment and witness must precede our going forth into the community and the world with a program of service which would be vital and valuable. Thus, it is felt that next year we must, because of the status quo, begin to build a new 'image' of the Y's as this college's Christian fellowship groups.

(Cont'd on Page 4, Col. 3)

Two in One Day

Orchestra To Give Children's Program Eve. Concert May 3

The Maryville College and Community Orchestra will present two concerts on May 3. That afternoon at 2:00 p.m. the musicians, led by Mr. John Roberts, will give a children's concert for students in the Maryville public school system. This concert is part of a community effort to teach youth to appreciate good music; each year a different instrument or part of the orchestra is stressed, so that eventually the children will become acquainted with the whole orchestra.

At 8 p.m. in the Chapel the orchestra will appear again, this time for its annual spring concert. The program will include "Overture To Opera," "Iphigenia In Aules," the ballet from "Rossamunde," Dvorak's "Fourth Symphony," and "Slaughter on Tenth Avenue."

Flutist Lewis, Pianist Seely To Give Joint Jr. Recital

Alice Lewis from Westfield, New Jersey, and Clarissa Seely from Thailand will present a joint recital on April 30 at 4:30 p.m. in the FAC Music Hall.

While Miss Lewis plays Handel's "Sonata No. 7" on the flute, Lee Sikes will accompany her on the piano. She will also play "Cantabile and Presto" by Enesco.

Miss Seely, pianist, will play Beethoven's "Sonata in F," Bach's "Prelude and Fugue in C Sharp," and "Etude Opus 25, No. 1" by Chopin. She will perform also selections from Lobo's "The Baby's Family."

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor in Chief
LYNN HERRING

Editor this Issue
CHARLOTTA COOK

Assistant Editor — CHARLOTTA COOK
News Editor — PATRICIA REHM
Feature Editor — ANN HARRISON
Art Editor — GRACE ROSSER
Sports Editors — TODD OWERS and JEANNE PRICE
Exchange Editor — GAIL GARLOCH
Business Manager — PAUL BIGGERS

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Rich Boyd, Carole Brownlee, Sandra Chittick, Louise Crawford, Elenora Easterly, Sue Foreman, John Gamble, Gail Garloch, Mike Garrett, Ann Jordan, Karen Keen, Mildred Miles, Nelson Miller, Helen Ryan, Jane Swetnam

CIRCULATION: David King, Bruce Bigart, Carole Brownlee, Harold Cones, Ginna Coon, Nelson Miller

PHOTOGRAPHER: Ralph Tucker

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR, MR. FRANK LAYMAN

Editorially Speaking

by Charlotta Cook

The pertinent question during this spring election time seems to be what functions (necessary or otherwise) student organizations have on the Maryville campus and whether they are justifying their "raison d'etre" in their activities. Why do organizations exist?

In other words, how vital is the student government in representing students? Does it initiate any legislation? What is the result if it does? Are students informed? Why not? Or, how much fellowship are four societies to provide for 800 students? How much do they provide? How much could they? Or again, why are the Y's retreating? Does the WSGA always meet behind closed doors? Should it? How many other organizations are there? Why?

Until some fundamental questions are answered about the real effectiveness of our student organizations, perhaps those students who have successfully "avoided responsibility" should be commended for their passive resistance.

Fugitive Pieces

by Gail Garloch

With apologies to Miss Miles whose excellent student help program I did not discover until relatively late in life, and since I won't be here much longer to reap the profits of my self-imposed capitalism, I feel inclined to confess some of my rags to riches and more rags past. There have been occasions in my experience when I have been utterly poverty stricken and in need of immediate funds. Necessity being the mother not only of invention but also of solicitation, ingenuity and good fortune, I have discovered various ways in which to remedy my destitution. These projects, by the way, are practical only on this campus and will not offer a solution to the permanently unemployed, to the starving masses of the world.

My first experience with free-lance moneymaking occurred my Freshman year late in the Spring. I had realized how little wholesome entertainment is available on week nights, and, in addition to making a few pennies, I was primarily interested in giving the students a valuable cultural experience. What I had was a "Wonder Show," and what I made was eighty-three cents. Above the picture molding in my room I had over 500 picture postcards (it pays to be a packrat) of interesting scenes and cartoons: a passive trip around the universe. Linus was there as the major wild animal attraction, and naturalists enjoyed the cocoon of a Polyphemus moth named Stephen. There was some fertile soil from the Lloyd's garden, one of Mary Anne Kramer's newborn puppies, and a piece of ivory tusk from Africa.

(Cont'd on Page 6, Col. 4)

Martin's DRUG STORE
401 S. Washington St. Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.

Offering Maryville College Students
a complete line of cosmetics,
plus
a reliable prescription service
Located just off campus on Washington St.

FROM WHERE I SIT..

by Mike Garrett

A recurrent theme at Maryville College has been the maledictions directed against student apathy. Generally this disapproval has been aimed at student disinterest in the affairs of "the outside world." But now it would appear that there is genuine cause for charges of apathy to be leveled at students' disinterest in their own affairs!

I refer here specifically to the lack of interest that students have displayed in recent campus elections. Rich Gossweiler ran unopposed for the Student Body Vice-Presidency; Mararet Dozier encountered a similar lack of opposition for the office of YWCA President; and now Dave Marston is likewise unchalleged in his bid for Student Body President. This lack of opposition may be interpreted in a number of ways: It may imply a lack of faith in the effectiveness of student government, and a consequential lack of interest in student government proceedings. It may also indicate a general confidence in a particular candidate's qualifications and merit. But to explain away the general campus attitude with these questionable answers is to miss the point!

Realistically, the lack of opposition in the instances cited above is most probably the result of a feeling on the part of potential candidates that their rival is too strong, and their own chances slim. In such a situation, a person cannot be blamed for his reluctance to run . . . or can he? Generally, I would say that any person who avoids candidacy for office simply because the opposition is formidable is very much to blame — and for a number of reasons. But most importantly, such a person is to blame because he fails to raise the significant issues which are invariably involved in any type of popular election.

But thankfully, there are still those who are willing to lock horns and raise issues in the hope that such issues will become the basis for people's votes and allegiance. This willingness is evident in the race for Student Body Vice-President, and it will be more evident as class and Student Council elections become the center of attention.

Circle K Club Inducts Ten New Members

On Tuesday, April 16, the Maryville College chapter of the Circle K Club inducted ten men, bringing the total membership to 24. In order to be eligible for membership a male student must have an overall college average of 2.25, plus the vote of the club. The newly elected members include two sophomores and eight freshmen who have already participated in the many service projects undertaken by the club They are: Ron Cheek, Bill Erwin, Greg Hallen, Phil Jerome, Richard Marshall, John Mulholland, Dave Scotchmer, Mike Ward, Oliver Williams, and Lupton Wood.

Sponsored by the Maryville and Alcoa Kiwanis Clubs, the Circle K Club has conducted several service projects in the community, as well as on campus. Such projects as ushering at vespers and chapel programs, collecting books for needy Asian countries, working at the children's home, maintaining a study room in Carnegie Hall, and sponsoring a campus-beautification week are typical of those undertaken by the club.

Photo by Elenora Easterly

SEEN . . . AND HEARD

They're so surprised to see that they're on coast to coast . . . ever try to shave a balloon? . . . I have two points which are relevant to the question . . . Are you a forsythia? . . . what a coincidence, how absolutely absurd . . . now the day is over . . . you killed the birds . . . May 8th? . . . well, how did your parents take it? . . . honeysuckle festival . . . the order of the clippers . . . have you been to the coffee house? . . . it was quiet—the sophomores haven't been over here yet . . . see my pettipants . . . that's 'cause we have the dirty habit of smoking . . . mass tattle plan . . . what was under that cheese thing at the senior banquet? . . . who needs a pogo stick—he bounces naturally . . . guess her weight, the best-kept secret of the year.

One Person Reacts to 'Theatre Absurd'

by Ann Jordan

Saturday, for the first time, I was exposed to the Theatre of the Absurd. I do not think I shall forget it soon.

Three plays—two by Ionesco and one by Beckett—presented with uncomfortable and devastating accuracy the banality, the triviality, the loss of identity and the isolation of modern life. One flaw, apparently inherent in the form, is the difficulty of presenting boredom and repetition without becoming boring and repetitious.

The Bald Soprano

The first play, Ionesco's The Bald Soprano, was extremely amusing. One must either laugh or cry at man's pompous attempt to be serious and important, and Ionesco chose to present the funny side. One of the funniest incidents was Mrs. Miller's (or was it Mrs. Smith) breathless account of a man bending down to tie his shoelaces. Everyone laughed, but it was only a slight exaggeration of the truth. Most of us have either lost the ability or the courage to talk about anything more meaningful. No one recognizes each other. No one seems to have any real individuality. Is there anything beneath this clownish facade? Ionesco seems to think not.

The Tape

Krapp's Last Tape is a much darker play. We are no longer amused; we are repulsed. That dirty old man has no relation to us, we say—sitting in dormitory rooms chewing a banana and recalling with mingled nostalgia and contempt all the wild things we did as freshmen.

Many college students are already disillusioned—they would not dream of spouting off idealistic, or foolish, tracts on life's meaning. What will we be like a few years from now?

Everything has ceased to have meaning for Krapp except sex—not even sex, which is healthy and beautiful, only obscenity. Look around you at the advertisements, the middle-class magazines, popular recreation—isn't

(Cont'd on Page 6, Col. 1)

WE RENT TO COLLEGE STUDENTS AND SERVICE PERSONNEL

$5 PER 24 HOUR DAY 5¢ PER MILE
RENTS SHINY, NEW AUTOMOBILES THROUGH THE
BUDGET RENT-A-CAR SYSTEM

RENT NEW CARS AND SAVE UP TO 40%!

$5 24 HR. DAY
5¢ PER MILE

Brand new Corvair Monzas, Chevy II and Chevrolet Impalas at low rates. Rent a car the BUDGET Way, less per mile, less per day. You buy only the gas you need.*

We Feature Free Hotel and Airport Pickup and Delivery Service.

Phone 982-2702

MC Netters—These Scots will leave Wednesday for the TIAC tournament to be held in Sewannee. Pictured above are: back row left to right; Bob Paul, Richard Marshall, Dale Fischbach. Front row left to right; Lynn Howard, Todd Owers, Dave Marston.

Photo—Courtesy of Maryville Times

Scot Netters At Home Today

M.C. FACES EMORY

The Maryville College Tennis Team, after a disappointing three day road trip last weekend, and a tough match with Carson Newman last Tuesday afternoon, take on Emory University this afternoon on the Scots' home courts. Matches will be played both on the clay courts and the hard courts in back of Baldwin Hall. Match time is set for 1:15 p.m.

Coach Lauren Kardatzke's netters had their noses bloodied in two of their three encounters last weekend, with their lone victory coming over the Emory and Henry Wasps, 6-3. The Milligan College Buffs and the East Tennessee State Buccaneers toppled Maryville by the identical scores of 5-4, in handling them their only two defeats of the season.

Against Milligan in the first match of the three day stint, Maryville took three out of six singles matches as Dave Marston, Richard Marshall, and Dale Fischbach all turned in victories. Needing two doubles victories to clinch the match, Maryville could manage only one, (that being turned in by Bob Paul and Dale Fischbach) and the Scots had tasted defeat for the first time of the year, 5-4. It had been a good match and a tough one to lose.

Against Emory and Henry the following day, Maryville again took three out of the six singles matches on victories by Dave Marston, Richard Marshall, and Dale Fischbach and from there went on to sweep all three doubles matches and the overall team match by the score of 6-3.

Then last Saturday afternoon in Johnson City came East Tennessee State University in what proved to be one of the closest and most exciting matches of the year. Todd Owers, Lynn Howard and Richard Marshall all turned in excellent singles performances and going into the doubles matches the match was knotted up at three apiece. For the third time in three days the Scots were faced with winning at least two of the three doubles matches in order to win the entire match. Before allowing the doubles matches to start however, East Tennessee State Coach Bob McClain decided his team needed a rest and took them into the dressing room and kept them there for quite a length of time. Maryville, tired of waiting and not to be outdone in this "waiting game" waited until State was out on the courts ready to play, and then they put on the stall act themselves which killed approximately ten minutes. Finally around five o'clock in the afternoon the deciding matches began. Needing two victories to win, Maryville could manage only one (that by Lynn Howard and Richard Marshall) and went down to their second loss of the season by the score of 5-4.

Monday the team travels to Athens, Tennessee to take on Tennessee Wesleyan, whom they defeated earlier this year. After classes Wednesday afternoon, they will leave for Sewanee and the Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Tournament which is to be held on the campus of the University of the South, May 2-3-4.

Malloy Paces Win

Trackmen Down Bryan 66 - 65

The few track fans that were on hand last Saturday afternoon for the Bryan — Maryville College track meet saw one of the most exciting meets of the current season. Bryan College brought only seven men with them, but these seven well conditioned athletes put on a fine display of ability and sportsmanship in front of the Maryville fans. Maryville came out on top winning their first meet of the season 66—65. It was a day for spectacular individual performances on the part of the victorious Scots. Injured Joe Malloy, Roland McClanahan, and Greg Hallen turned in outstanding performances to pace the victory. Joe Malloy won three first places, in the pole vault, high jump, and broad jump for a total of fifteen points, while Greg Hallen won the javelin with a toss of 162 feet, his best effort this season. Sprinter Roland McClanahan took a first place in the 100 yard dash, a first place in 220 yard low hurdles, and a second place in the 220 yard dash.

Bryan had some of the best distance runners that Maryville has competed against this season. They took the first three places in the mile run; the first two places in the 880 yard run with Hugh McCampbell of Maryville finishing third; and first and second again in the two mile run, Will Mitchell of Maryville taking third. In all three distance races the Bryan runners captured the lead early and pulled away the Maryville distance men for fairly easy victories.

In the shot put and discus Bryan took first place with the Scots taking second and third in both events. Bert Randall, the Scots' dependable weight man managed to take second place in both the shot put and discus.

The meet was not decided until the last event had been completed. With only the mile relay and broad jump left on the agenda Maryville held a slim five point point lead over the visitors from Bryan. Then the weary and over worked Bryan mile relay team (one of the members having just finished the two mile run) swept past the Scots' mile relay team for five points which tied the meet at 61 points apiece. Then came Joe Malloy's dramatic first place in the broad jump which gave the Scots their margin of victory.

The Maryville tracksters, fresh from their victory over Bryan, took on the Carson Newman, veteran track team Friday afternoon at Jefferson City. Tuesday Afternoon, April 30th, the East Tennessee State Buccaneers invade Honaker Field in what will be Maryville's last regular meet of the year. Friday and Saturday, May 3rd and 4th, Coach Howard Tomlinson's boys will participate in the Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Track Meet, which is to be held on the campus of Middle Tennessee State College in Murfreesboro.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock
of Quality Products Including
a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE
SUPER MARKET

Washington Avenue

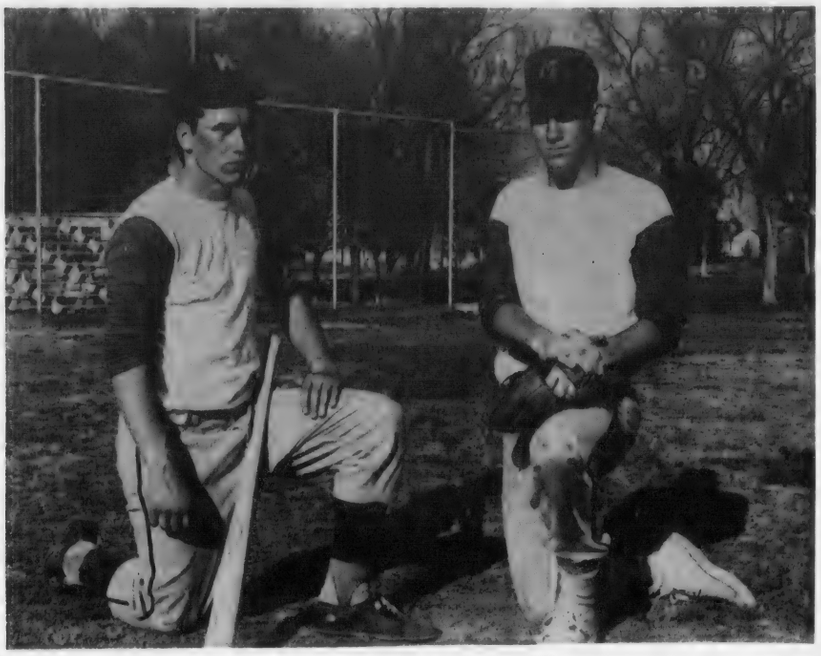
MC Athletes To Hold First All-Sports Banquet

The first All-Sports Banquet of the Maryville College athletic department will be held Tuesday night, April 30. Participants in all college activities, football, soccer, basketball, wrestling, baseball, track, and tennis, as well as the cheerleaders and other guests, will attend this event, which will be held in Pearsons Hall.

The master of ceremonies is to be Thomas Jones of the faculty, and the speaker is Judge James Witt. This banquet is the first all-sports banquet to be held. Heretofore, different banquets have been held for the various sports.

Socks and Sneakers

by Ginna Coon



As with everything else, the women's sports program is coming to its close. The big question now is who will win the trophy. Last year Chi Beta retired the trophy by winning it three years in a row. Which ever society wins the most sports events during the year wins the trophy. It is anybody's guess who will win. The count is 5 to 3 in favor of Chi Beta.

Janet Dearcopp won the badminton tournament for Chi Beta by beating Gail Wilkes, of Theta.

Fifty-three girls turned out for the tennis tournament. By the printing of this paper the winner will have been announced, so all I can do is congratulate the winner.

WGAP
CAMPUS MIKE
Voice of Maryville College
Sunday Evening.
9:30-10:00

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"
BANKING SERVICES
*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
*CHECK ACCOUNTS
*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
*TRANSFER OF FUNDS
— Your College Bank —
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Saturday's Heroes—Tommy Bowers (left) talks things over with pitcher Benny Monroe after Saturday's 5-4 victory over Milligan. The Scots won in the 11th inning as Monroe wrangled a walk and later scored the winning run on Bowers' clutch hit.

Photo—Courtesy of Maryville Times

M C Baseballers Win Over L M U, 7-0; Milligan, 5-4

The Maryville College baseball team brought their season's record to five wins and three defeats last weekend as they trounced Lincoln Memorial University 7-0 last Friday, and turned back Milligan in a 5-4 thriller here Saturday.

It took 11 innings to beat Milligan's strong team, as Maryville came from behind to take the 5-4 upset victory. In the Milligan half of the eighth inning, the Buffs tied up the score by pushing across three big runs. Third baseman Jim Howe led the attack with a booming triple, longest hit of the day for either club. This blow scored two of the runs for Milligan but Maryville came fighting back in the eleventh inning.

Benny Monroe, the Scot leadoff batter, worked the Milligan pitcher for a walk. Then after Red Prudhon looked at a third strike, Monroe stole second base. Tommy Bowers then stepped up to the plate in the hero's role and became just that—by lacing a single into right field to bring Monroe across the plate with the winning run. Freshman Bob Dowell was credited with the victory as he went all the way for the Scots in notching the first pitching victory of his college career. Dowell struck out 12 Milligan Buffs, gave up eight hits and did not walk a man.

Friday the Scots proved too tough for visiting LMU as they shut them out by the score of 7-0. Dave West went the distance out on the hill and gave up only five hits, while fanning five batters. Jay Martin, the starting pitcher for the Railsplitters gave up 10 hits and 7 runs to the Maryville batters who had a field day. He also struck out six.

(Cont'd from Page 1, Col. 4)

"What is needed is an image which does not limit the organization to the stiffness and stagnation of a narrow, pietistic Christianity. The image must be one which begins to match the universal love found in Christ, one which will consequently force us to open wide our minds, hearts, and arms in a more mature and relevant understanding, dedication, and witness."

Curriculum Change

Important changes in the biology curriculum this fall include the discontinuation of the premedical course in favor of a regular biology or chemistry major and classes consisting of three one-hour lectures and a three-hour lab. Two new courses will be Biology 214, micro-technique, and Biology 208, human anatomy and physiology (for physical education majors). Organic chemistry, physics, eight hours of botany, eight hours of zoology, and twelve hours of electives in advanced biology courses will be required of all biology majors.

Robert Mahley will soon leave his work space in the biology department here for the start of a promising future.

Mahley To Study Again at Vandy

Robert Mahley, a senior biology major, will enter Vanderbilt Medical School next fall. The university is far from strange to Mr. Mahley. Last summer he worked in its research laboratory, and he will be there again this summer working under a Maryville graduate, Virgil LeQuire. They will do research on blood serum, the same subject as Mr. Mahley's independent study.

Two unknown words, chromatography and electrophoresis, arose in a biology seminar last year. No one knew their meaning and Mr. Mahley took the trouble to find what they meant. In doing this, he became interested in them. These two subjects were thoroughly discussed in his independent study, "Blood Serum Analysis by Electrophoresis."

Mr. Mahley defined for us the meaning of those two words as "lab techniques used in the separation of mixtures of compounds into their individual components." Much of the information for his paper was taken from the research done at Vanderbilt last summer.

To the fool, he who speaks wisdom will sound foolish.
Euripedes

Save up to 59¢ on

Eaton's

FINE LETTER PAPERS in double quantity boxes

Take advantage of this economy packaging of beautiful Eaton writing papers to buy ahead for yourself—and for gifts! (Price band is easily removed for gift-giving.) Full range of tints and textures.

White Office Machines

Corner Broadway at College

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

SHEET MUSIC RECORDS

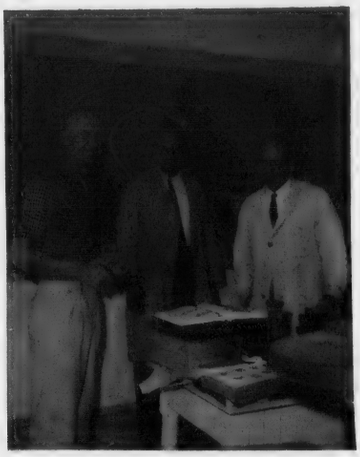
HITCH'S

IN THE MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

We have a wide selection of classical, contemporary, and popular RECORDINGS of your favorite artists on such labels as RCA, Columbia, Dot, etc. SHEET MUSIC for all ages, groups, and occasions can be found from the wide selection available in our store.

....gym....tumble....
flip...flop...lug...tug
push...jump...leap...
...chin...lift...pull...
...run...puff puff...
pause

take a break...things go better with Coke



Bottled under the authority of The Coca-Cola Company by: RODDY MANUFACTURING COMPANY

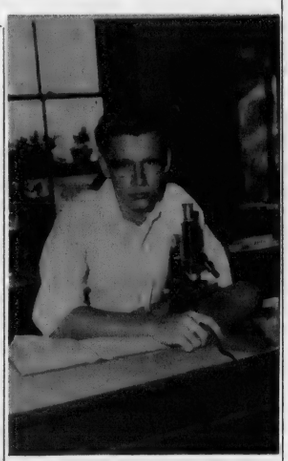
FOCUS ON BIOLOGY

A relatively small department at Maryville College, the biology division is diversified and active. Below, left Professors Ramger, Williams and Shields confer. In an other room of Fayerweather Hall the ecology class described in the article at right puzzles over data gathered in the college woods.

Photo by Pridi Malasitt

Biology Majors Plan Future

Senior biology majors will scatter throughout the country after graduation this June. Fred Kren plans to enter the University of Pittsburgh next September to study physical therapy. James Kring will either teach high school biology or work in research and development at Union Carbide.



Ann Stimson is particularly interested in working in either a marine or hospital lab. She would like to take a few courses in the field of archeology. Bonnie Woodward plans to teach high school biology at Johnston City, Tennessee, where her fiance will be completing his work at East Tennessee State University.

Biological Honor Society Organized

Eta Phi, Maryville College's chapter of Beta Beta Beta, was recently approved as a member of the National Honor Society. This chapter, organized through the efforts of the Junior-Senior biology seminar, is aimed at stimulating sound scholarship, disseminating scientific knowledge, and promoting biological research.

Eligible charter members include members of the junior or senior class in the upper fifty percent of the student body who have had at least three courses (ten semester hours) in biology. Second semester sophomores who meet these qualifications are eligible for regular membership.

Dr. Shields has been elected counselor-treasurer of the group

Outstanding biology major wears a solemn expression but the story below reveals he has much to smile about.

Ward to begin study at Johns Hopkins

A combined scholarship and fellowship to Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Maryland, has been awarded to senior William Ward. He will be working toward his doctorate in radiation and genetics which he will receive after three years of study. In addition to his tuition scholarship, he will receive a living fellowship of $1800.

If you give to a thief he cannot steal from you, and he is then no longer a thief.

Wm. Soroyan

Always Look Your Best

SEE US FOR ALL YOUR DRY CLEANING NEEDS

MARYVILLE CLEANERS

Contact Your Dormitory Agent—

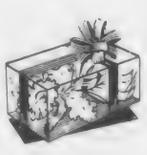
Carnegie & Memorial—JOE FINK, ED KRUSMAN

New Dorm—SANDY SCOFIELD

Pearsons—SUE QUIGG

Baldwin—JANET MELVILLE

FOR THE SPRING FORMAL ---



We feature the finest in cut flowers and corsages.

Sure to please that special someone.

See CARL McDONALD on Campus

HORNE'S FLORIST

215 W. Broadway 982-2690

Ecology Students Explore Facts of Life in the Woods

Ecology, the final course for biology majors, is defined by Dr. Randolph Shields as "the study of all organisms in their environment and relationship to other organisms." All previous biology courses are connected to one another through ecology. Thus, a student must have a knowledge of every organism whether it be an animal or plant.

There are thirteen people in the class. They have a four hour lab period every Monday afternoon. Field trips have been taken to the college woods and Cades Cove. Their most extensive trip was in our woods on April 15, when they made notice of all plants and animals in a small area of land. At Cades Cove they studied the old fields and how they were formed.

Different basic concepts of the course were expressed by various members of the ecology class. Ann Stimson calls it the study of the habitat of all things and how they are related. Jim Kring said, "Ecology clearly relates zoology to botany." Fred Kren is learning a lot about evolution and how the topic is connected with the things living today.

Dr. Shields has made the course very interesting, and those in the class feel it is definitely a worthwhile subject. It is valuable to all biology majors because it clearly connects plant life to animals. Frances Frost thinks that ecology is a course which everyone should be interested in taking because they should know more about the world in which they live. Miss Frost explains that people have the idea that ecology is just the study of conservation. This is far from the truth, since the class only studies living organisms in their environment.

Ecology is given every four semesters, but Dr. Shields hopes it may be given every spring semester. This will be possible if enough people are interested in the subject.

Biology Seminar Active

The junior-senior biology seminar, which meets every other week, consists of junior and senior biology majors and two teachers who share ideas on biology and related subjects. The seminar is an informal student organization with no officers. At each meeting, a student presents an original scientific paper, and a discussion period follows.

D. B. Williams, a former biology teacher, started the seminar six years ago with only four student members. The seminar, active ever since, now has twelve student members and two faculty members, Dr. A. R. Shields and Mr. Robert Ramger. The freshman-sophomore seminar was started this year by Bill Ward and Bob Mahley, co-sponsors. It has about fifteen members and operates along the same lines as the junior-senior seminar.

Bob Mahley believes that seminars are important because they introduce the members to different fields and topics in biology and related sciences and they make biology majors a closely knit group. Also, the presentation of papers, which require extensive preparation, encourages independent research. He points out that the organization is unique in that, once a person is invited to join, whole-hearted support and attendance of all meetings is a necessity. New members are voted in by the old members.

Frances Frost to be a graduate assistant at U-T next year, analyzes a solution in her investigation of water pollution.

Student Pursues Original Research on National Problem

Water pollution and its effects are a growing national concern, and Frances Frost, a senior biology major, has been studying the condition in this area in connection with her Independent Study. Her particular concentration in this field is determining if there are bacteria which consistently appear in industrially polluted waters which are not ordinarily present in the water.

Miss Frost's samples for study were taken from Pigeon River below the paper mill at Canton, North Carolina, and the tannery at Newport, Tennessee. Her control was the west prong of the Little River in the Smokies. Tests involved many steps, beginning with finding the carbonate oxygen and of each sample. She then plated the bacteria, isolated the colonies and identified them.

Although she is just now beginning to draw conclusions, Miss Frost does know at this point that there are two distinct bacteria in the polluted water. Much further research is necessary however to determine the exact relation of these to the pollution.

Although much has been done in the field of organic pollution (sewage, etc.), Miss Frost's work is one of very few studies in the area of chemical pollution (industrial). Its importance, she explains, lies in isolating bacteria which are present only and always in industrially polluted streams.

If such an organism could be found, it could be used as an indicator and industries which can now allow pollution to wash down stream a few days before a Public Health inspector arrives would not be able to rid the water of the critical bacteria. This might be a real boon for testing for industrial pollution.

Next year Miss Frost will continue her studies in the U. T. Graduate School, Department of Bacteriology. As winner of a graduate assistantship, she will be teaching an undergraduate bacteriology lab in addition to her own classes.

Old Nu Gamma Leaders Pick Their Successors

This year's Nu Gamma Leaders have picked their successors for next year, Sally Blair, Nu Gamma chairman, announced recently. Nu Gamma, which stands for "new girl," is the program by which the YWCA welcomes freshmen women to the college.

The girls selected will have about twelve new freshmen in their Nu Gamma groups. Their first duty will be writing letters to each of these girls during the summer. Their initiation will be providing entertainment at the Y retreat tonight.

Anna Belle Minear was elected chairman of Nu Gamma for next year. The leaders are to be Terri Barksdale, Sandra Briggs, Margaret Carter, Louise Crawford, Phyllis Evaul, Ann Fleming, Lois Grinstead, Linda Hayes, Ruth Hults, Ellen Lankenau, Peggy Malone, Marty Miller, Sara Parker, Gail Poth, Monique Sobczynski and Martha Weaver.

Alternates are Hazel DeWeese, Sandra Chittick, Sue Foreman, Dot Heismeyer and Barbara Bullard.

ONE PERSON REACTS . . .
(Cont'd from Page 2, Col. 5)

this the way of the modern world? We worship obscenity, but we are afraid of sex. If those of us who call ourselves Christian do not affirm the joy of living—living life to the depths, then we too may die like Krapp.

The Chairs

Or perhaps we can live in dreams for a little while like the old man and woman in The Chairs. Feverishly they prepared for their imaginary guests, but there weren't enough chairs. Surely the world was ringing their doorbell off in order to hear the old man's message.

His wife comforted him—he was not a failure. He was a quarter-master general. Even the emperor came to hear him. But finding himself inarticulate, he had to hire the orator—he would explain the message.

Then they had to face reality—in the person of the orator—and unable to face it, they committed suicide. And the message? A couple of incoherent groans.

These plays are pessimistic and shocking. But that does not mean that anyone—especially the Christian—should or can discount them.

Off the Cuff

by Dave King

Did you see the late movie on Channel 27 the other night? Probably not, unless you can get television signals on your electric razor. You can consider yourself lucky because, without a doubt, this was the worst movie Hollywood ever dared to produce.

You've probably never seen this particuular film, but if you've seen one science-fiction movie, you've seen them all. The title alone indicates its appeal—"Rock Around the Moon."

Our drama begins with the arrival of a tall, distinguished looking general at a hush-hush missile base somewhere in the desert. This fellow is gray-haired—movie generals are always gray-haired—and has a sort of pained expression around his eyes that is supposed to represent years of fatigue and anxiety. (Actually, it's caused by his rented costume, which is too tight.) The general brings bad news to the project's chief engineer—it seems as though "our friends over there" are also planning to go to the moon and if we want to beat them, we'll have to leave tonight. The scene then shifts to the near-by launching pad where we see the secret moon rocket, the X-WI-6-8151-462-0421, or as they've cleverly nick-named it, the "Secret Moon Rocket."

To make a long story short, they blast off that night and are soon in deep space.

The pilot, of course, is our brilliant engineer-hero, who has both the physique and acting ability of one of Tarzan's friends. Also on the voyage is a mousy little character, who couldn't pass a Girl Scout physical, let alone one for astronauts. This is the world-famed geologist, Prof. Von Barf, who will study the moon's surface. He's a German refugee with an accent so thick we can't understand a word he says, which is one of the few bright spots in the movie. We know he's important because he wears a white smock.

The remaining crew member is Ricky Cool, billed as "America's Greatest Singing Discovery." What this really means is that it would be a great discovery to find that he can sing.

You can probably guess the rest—how they don't have enough fuel to get back home and so they have to pitch all the non-essentials overboard. Naturally, they're about ten pounds overweight, so the kid sacrifices his guitar, which is the other high spot of the story. They're still a couple pounds over and don't have anything more to abandon. Then someone gets the bright idea to shave the extra pounds from the rock-and-roller's head.

Well, the whole mess ends mercifully as our bald friend warbles, "Oh, We beat Them There Bad Guys to the Moon—Yeah! Yeah!" (This is available at your local music store on 45's and sheet music.) What they don't show is that the engineer is faced with a desertion suit by his wife, the scientist goes back to his pretzel factory in Berlin, and the kid goes back to swiping hub caps.

All we can say about this masterpiece, then, is that the greatest missile gap in America seems to be between its science-fiction writer's ears.

FUGITIVE PIECES
(Cont'd from Page 2, Col. 2)

Domesticity has been another good source of income. I used to hem people's skirts so short that they had to give me the skirts. One season I took to cleaning rooms. This was pleasant work until I misfortunately accepted a position with a family who had and had had for several weeks in their small room two large rabbits. Those of you who know anything at all about rabbits will understand why I charged time and a half. A third aspect of domesticity is the realm of the ironer. It's about these new miracle fabrics: the miracle is that I never know what they're going to do next: shrink, scorch, melt, shred, crinkle. But when they do I usually get the ruined garments which I cut up and use or sell for dustcloths or tea towels.

Services such as typing, folk-singing, public speaking, bibliography gathering (at four cents a note card, but you've gotta sign the books out yourself), map reading and busy work doing (it's not ethical to do a worthwhile assignment for someone else, but drawing lines on charts or cutting out pictures are usually paid by the hundreds of hours which they take) are also highly profitable diversions.

Merchandising, especially drygoods, is another vocation which is both profitable and interesting. For instance, of what real value to the poor people who (may or may not ever) receive the boxes in our halls are regulation Maryville College gym suits? They afford little warmth or protection from the elements. Yet the incoming freshmen are always an eager market for the ill-fitting garments. Lab aprons, likewise.

Now is a good opportunity to put in a plug for the gigantic end of the year close-out sale to take place soon after comps. I have several "M-books" (both paper and cloth bound), some nearly new George Beverly Shea records, genuine church of India incense, and several sets of jacks. There is also on sale a lot of art work including paper mache advent kits, paintings and sketches of scenes and personalities around campus, origami birds and bees. Come over and browse.

There are other lucrative enterprises which I have never tried, but if anyone is interested I shall be glad to oblige. Haircutting looks easy, and interior decorating should be fun. I think, too, that although I have never contemplated marriage myself, I have the qualifications for a bridal consultant. Having been forced to overhear myriads of loud and annotated discussions on wedding gowns, invitations, rings, trousseaux, honeymoons, and compatability, I have at my disposal much pertinent material which should be of interest to the potential bridegroom.

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes
designed to please the college student
116 West Broadway

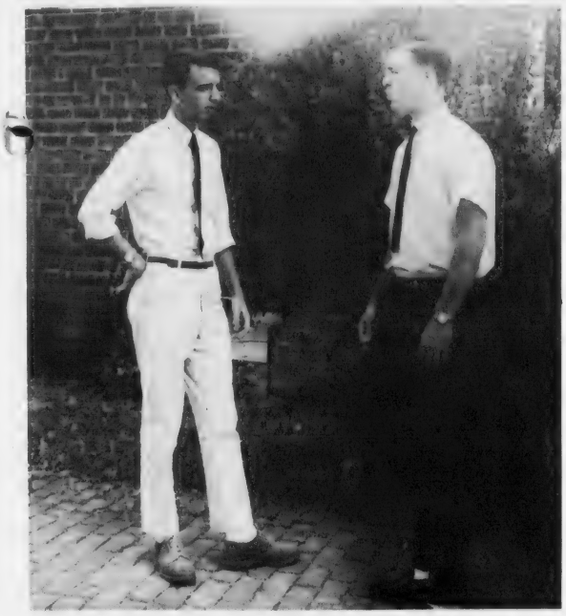
Maryville College
STUDENT CENTER
proudly serves
FULLER LOCKER PLANT
Hamburgers
★
Hot Dogs

PET DAIRY
ICE CREAM
★
MILK
"Fresh from the Dairy"

CUT OUT AND SAVE — TELL YOUR NEIGHBORS TO LISTEN
SUGGESTED RADIO PROGRAMS FOR THINKING AMERICANS

"LIFE LINE"	WGAP	1400 KC	DAILY	6:00 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WKXV	900 KC	MONDAY	5:45 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:45 P.M.
CHURCH LEAGUE OF AMERICA	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:30 P.M.
20th CENTURY REFORMATION	WKXV	900 KC	MON.-FRI.	7:45 A.M.
CITIZENS COUNCIL	WGAP	1400 KC	THURS.	6:00 P.M.
INDEPENDENT AMERICAN	WKXV	900 KC	FRIDAY	5:45 P.M.
DR. KERSHNER	WGAP	1400 KC	WED.	6:00 P.M.

(Education for Americanism, Inc., P.O. Box 255, Maryville, Tenn.)



DON'T FORGET
WHEN YOU GET HUNGRY
Come To
LEONARD'S CAFETERIA
and
STEAK HOUSE
"In The Center Of The Center"

Beautiful Corsages
IN EVERY PRICE RANGE
Perfect For The Homecoming Game!
Whether you prefer elegant orchids, or fragrant carnations, we can meet your specifications at a price that will please.
Call or see our Campus Representative
REMEMBER TO SEE US—
Hartmans Flowers
982-7500 333 E. Broadway
See Our Campus Agent
JACK SPENCER

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 48 | Maryville, Tennessee, May 18, 1963 | No. 14

Tentative Lecturers Named for 1963-64

Tentative plans for the 1963-1964 Lecture Series indicate that four lecturers will be presented. The major lecture will be given on April 17 by Harrison Salisbury, former Moscow correspondent of the New York Times and Pulitizer Prize winner. Salisbury is the author of a number of books, including A New Russia?, Moscow Journal, To Moscow—and Beyond, The Shook-up Generation, American in Russia, and a novel entitled The Northern Palmyra Affair. At the present time he is the Director of National Correspondence for the Times. His lecture topic will be "The Rising Conflict Between Russia and China."

A second lecturer will be George F. MacLeod, who founded the Iona Community in 1938 in Scotland as a religious brotherhood for the training of students. Dr. MacLeod is a former Moderator of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland, the author of several books, and a lecturer in various Scottish and American universities. He has also been an active contributor to the British Broadcasting Company's "Way of God" series. Dr. MacLeod will spend two days on the campus, giving his main lecture on February 28.

The alumni lecturer for the Series will be a member of the class of 1940, John H. Fisher, who is presently Associate Executive Secretary of the Modern Language Association of America, with headquarters in New York City. Dr. Fisher received his doctorate from the University of Pennsylvania in 1945 and has taught at the Universities of Pennsylvania, Yale, South Carolina, Michigan, Duke, and Indiana. His lecture topic will deal with present inadequacies and developments in language teaching and will be given on November 15.

It is hoped that a prominent scientist may be secured as the fourth lecturer. All lectures are open to the public at no charge and are financed from the Student Activities Fee.

Sophomore-Frosh Picnic To Be At Laurel Lake

The annual sophomore-freshman picnic will be held on Saturday, May 25, from 1:30 to 7 p.m. at Laurel Lake. Buses will leave there at 4:30 to bring back students who must be on campus for the production of "The Tempest."

Home Ec. Classes Hold Style Show

This evening at 7:30 in the theater, the Home Economics Department of Maryville College will present their eighteenth annual style show, "The Needle and Thread Revue." Wearing their own creations carefully styled in the freshman and advanced clothing classes offered this semester, thirty Maryville College co-eds and their instructors, Miss Meiselwitz and Mrs. Stanford, will model fashions designed for sports, school, and dress wear and those very special occasions.

The emphasis of this year's show is upon the marvelous things which can be made through skill with the needle and thread. Clothing which will be modeled represents both the latest thing in new styles and the permanence and versatility of classical lines. Concerning the theme, Miss Meiselwitz, head of the Home Economics Department, explains that "the importance of the distinction between fad, style, and fashion and homemade and custom-styled clothing will be stressed."

To add atmosphere to the show, appropriate music will be provided by vocalists and their accompanists from the music department. Following the event, a reception and dance will be held in the chapel court sponsored by the Student Council Social Committee; and refreshments will be served, prepared by other home economics students not enrolled in the sewing and tailoring classes.

Dave Marston, Phil Brown Relate Future Student Government Plans

Editor's note: On May 1, the student body elected as new officers for next year Dave Marston, president, and Phil Brown, vice president. The following article is based on an interview with them regarding their plans.

Dave Marston's key words for next year's student government are 'flexibility,' 'imagination,' and 'alertness.' Realizing the need for an attitude of flexibility is more important than setting down a detailed program. This involves taking advantage of opportunities when they come and being alert to the possibilities of the moment.

When asked for specific concerns, Dave stated first that he was "interested in seeing some tangible results from the town committee." Another interest is the car committee. He suggests that the work should not only be continued, but intensified. He is optimistic about results in this area. Dave also feels that some alternative to the present chapel cut system should be looked for.

Phil Brown's key word is 'efficiency.' This is an appropriate attitude for the vice president, as much of his service will be with the numerous committees of student council, committees which need an efficient administrator.

In addition to this, Phil has several pet projects. He would like to see a trophy case built somewhere on campus, perhaps in the chapel. He's going to work toward a better system for elections. Also, as permanent head of the town committee, Phil wants to see that the ideas of the town students are more efficiently worked into the program of the council.

Both Dave and Phil feel the need of some reasonable, practical change. One project would be a new student center. They suggest that a set of detailed blueprints could be drawn up to encourage donations. In the past, prospective donors have been discouraged by lack of a concrete plan. The total cost of the construction would, of course, be beyond the reach of the students, but this would be a feasible means of participating and showing interest.

Dave and Phil have shown concern over faculty-student relationships too. They have extended an invitation to the faculty to come to council meetings and give their opinions. Also, several teachers have suggested that they would like to see student ratings of teaching methods on campus.

Another major issue is U.S.N.S.A. Dave and Phil feel it likely to be defeated in the coming referendum. Maryville will then need an active current events program to fill the gap. Phil is interested in seeing a more regional organization in this position, and proposes one similar to I.C.C. (Intercollegiate Council), which served seven colleges in East Tennessee, including Maryville College, before we joined U.S.N.S.A.

Dave and Phil suggest that students register their views with the administration as individuals rather than by means of mass demonstrations. Dave's philosophy of student government is cooperation, to promote understanding; imagination, to present new ideas; and persuasion, to adequately explain ideas and suggestions.

Dean Has Chosen Sophomore Aides

The office of Dean of Women has announced the following Sophomore Aides who will live in Baldwin Hall next year: Janice Best, Margaret Carter, Phyllis Evaul, and Doris Price, on first floor; Betty Brown, Charlotte Devine, Ann Fleming, Lois Grinstead, Ellen Lankenau, and Martha Weaver on second floor; Edna Beatty, Louise Crawford, Martha Miller, Sara Parker, Sherry Proffitt, Mildred Riley, Margaret Shaklee, and Mary Lee Zorb on third floor.

Sophomore Aides, combined with the Nu Gamma Leaders, will welcome freshman girls next fall. The Aides will also serve as dorm officers for the first semester.

MSC, Classes Elect Officers for 1963-64

The results of the Men's Student Government election, held May 3, and the selection, many, of class officers for the 1963-1964 school year were recently announced.

MSC

The Men's Student Cooperative elected Frank Jablonski, president, and Ross Kerr, secretary-treasurer.

Class Officers

Officers selected by prospective seniors are Bert Randall, president; Bill DeWeese, vice-president; and Ginna Coon, secretary-treasurer.

The Junior class will be led by Harold Cones, with Linda Brumley as vice-president, and Jeanne Steele as secretary-treasurer.

The prospective sophomores have chosen David Powell as president, Adam Deveny as vice-president, and Terri Barksdale as secretary-treasurer.

Sixteen Women Form Daisy Chain

Bert Randall, vice president of the Junior Class, has announced the daisy chain, which the Senior Class will walk through as part of graduation ceremonies.

The girls chosen are Pat Anderson, a sociology major from Bloomfield, New Jersey; Sally Blair, an English major from Haddon Heights, New Jersey; Cynthia Blanchard, a psychology major from Dillsburg, Pennsylvania; and Roberta Bryson, a mathematics major from Louisville, Kentucky;

Ginna Coon, a sociology major from Amherst, New York; Phyllis Deloteus, a psychology major from Bowling Green, Kentucky; Margaret Dozier, a biology major from Decatur, Georgia; Martha Bess Ellis, an English major from Elizabethton, Tennessee; Nancy Haley, a history major from Galveston, Texas; and Ruth McDade, an elementary education major from Maryville, Tennessee;

Shirley Mease, an elementary education major from Vail, Iowa; Mary Pettigrew, a home economics major from Morris Plains, New Jersey; Sue Quigg, a biology major from Springfield, Missouri; Carol Rugh, an elementary education major from Missorrie, India; Deanna Sturgell, an art major from Paris, Illinois; and Lori Sturmfels, a psychology major from Sedalia, Missouri.

ARE YOU GO, ROGUE, OR ABORT?

by Deanna Sturgell and Cayle Eggers

A recent issue of Mademoiselle magazine cited an article from Queen, an alert British publication. The article, "Guidebook for Social Astronauts," was issued by the headquarters of Great Britain's Social Nuance Observation andd Breakdown System, the S.N.O.B. This system has produced over the years a restless terminology, subject to rapid obsolescence. What is in one year is out the next. The new guidebook revises these decencitized definitions to suit the Space Age. "People and behavior patterns," it states, "are now to be graded into three categories: GO — as when referring to a rocket launched correctly on course and on target, which travels in the right orbit. ROGUE — as when referring to a rocket released on the right course, which then goes badly astray and ends up off target and in the wrong orbit. ABORT — as when referring to a rocket which never gets into orbit at all, or which never gets off the launching pad."

"GO people," the guide goes on to explain, "are rare and are totally unaware of being GO. People who think they are GO are invariably ROGUE. ROGUE people secretly know they are ROGUE, even when they pretend to be GO. The Space Age moves so fast that GO people can easily become ABORT when caught up by ROGUE people. ABORT people are people who never got off the ground, and, unhappily, ROGUE people are always doomed to remain ROGUE no matter how hard they try."

Here are a few suggestions we have for a Maryville College edition of the Space Age Guide:

Communication — Writing letters is GO. Any type of printed or decorative stationary is ABORT. Personal letters written on plain paper are GO if written with a fountain pen. Typed letters are GO if they are personal ones typed badly by yourself. Cables and telegrams are very GO, except on birthdays or Mother's Day when you have forgotten to send a card. Picture postcards are ROGUE if sent from places like Gatlinburg or San Francisco, but become GO when sent from places like Elbridge, Ill., or the Brookfield Zoo.

Clothing — (women) Changing hair color once a week is ABORT unless you travel. Wig hats are ABORT; madras scarves are ROGUE. Matching skirts and sweaters are ABORT except when worn to equally ABORT teas, when they become ROGUE. Black dresses are ABORT when worn because the wearer thinks they are GO. Madras is ROGUE unless over three years old, when it becomes GO. Madras suspenders are GO. Bouffant hairdos are ABORT.

Clothing — (men) Thongs are ABORT, especially when worn on men with flat feet. Beards on men who don't have to shave over twice a week anyway are ABORT. Suits and ties worn only on election days are exceedingly ROGUE.

Class — Thoughtful class participation is GO, but talking only to impress the instructor is ABORT. Sitting on the back row is ABORT, and sitting on the front row is ROGUE, unless you are seated alphabetically. Starting classes before 8:30 is definitely ABORT.

Regulations — Attending church two years ago was ROGUE, but today it is GO. Last year, riding in cars was GO; this year it is merely ROGUE. Fire drills in Pearsons and Baldwin are GO, but are ABORT in the New Dorm because "it couldn't be burned down with a blow torch."

These are ABORT — Artificial flowers, complaining (only) about rules, complaining about food. (It is ROGUE to get up and leave the table.)

These are GO — A Sonny Hughs haircut, but only on Sonny Hughs. In the South, male names from childhood, such as Johnny, Tommy, Billie, or Jackie. These people: Mr. Dixon, Mrs. Swenson, Dr. Copeland, and Mr. Van den Blink.

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor in Chief
LYNN HERRING

Special Editors this week

News Editor — ELENORA EASTERLY
Feature Editor — MARY JANOVICH
Sports Editors — DAVE KING and GINNA COON

Assistant Editor — CHARLOTTA COOK
News Editor — PATRICIA REHM
Feature Editor — ANN HARRISON
Art Editor — GRACE ROSSER
Sports Editors — TODD OWERS and JEANNE PRICE
Exchange Editor — GAIL GARLOCH
Business Manager — PAUL BIGGERS

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: A. D. Ainsworth, Mary Gay Boettcher, Sandra Briggs, Louise Crawford, Tina Criner, Gayle Eggers, Ann Harrison, Libby Lee, Jim Lichtenburg, Todd Owers, Sherry Proffitt, Helen Ryan, Sandra Scofield, Deanna Sturgell, Mary Lee Zorb

CIRCULATION: David King, Bruce Bigart, Carole Brownlee, Harold Cones, Ginna Coon, Nelson Miller

PHOTOGRAPHER: Ralph Tucker

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR, MR. FRANK LAYMAN

Already weary before the long trek has even begun, Dave Powell leans on the knapsack of the other happy wanderer, Bill Weissenberger.

They're Getting Ready for THE APPALACHIAN TRAIL

The fifty mile hike craze spurred by Robert Kennedy and other New Frontiersmen has worn itself out by now—but two Maryville College politicians are ready to hike forty times that distance. After senior class president, Bill Weissenburger, and president-elect of the freshmen, Dave Powell, put the finishing touches on the school year, the two will set out for Maine via the Appalachian Trail.

7 Blisters, 1 Fallen Arch

The trail extends from Mt. Springer in Georgia to Mt. Katahdin in Maine. "This means, "according to Dave, "a walking distance of 2,050 miles—or a total of 7 blisters, 3 sprained ankles and a fallen arch."

The two men have been getting plans, equipment and themselves in shape for ther getaway from twentieth century society. They are looking for a ride to the vicinity of Atlanta as soon as graduation is over.

Their special sleeping bags are examples of the basic equipment which has so far cost $120. The mummy-type bags are imported from France. Made of down, they are meant to keep a camper warm in subfreezing temperatures. They weigh just 2½ pounds and measure only 10 inches in diameter when rolled up.

Why Are They Going?

Why are they going? Many people have asked that question. Says Dave: "I think our parents were the first to ask. Our answer is a little more than the usual 'Because it's there.' We expect to mature somewhat when we have no one to rely on but ourselves. No phones, no cars, few stores, no mail . . . college life is important, but it's soft. There's a great big world out there just waiting for little people like us.

"We plan to go out and talk things over with the physical part of that world. We believe the physical association will bring a deeper spiritual understanding of nature. Lots of city folks call it 'communing with nature.' We will live with nature and commune with nature's creator."

Built by Volunteers

Bill says that, contrary to popular opinion, the Appalachian Trail is not an old Indian or pioneer trail. In fact it was completed in only 1937. It was the result of the vision of a man named Benton MacKaye, who saw the need for a trail so large that, for the ordinary traveler, it should be a trail without end.

MacKaye once wrote: The old pioneer opened through a forest a path for the spread of civilization . . . . Now comes the great task of holding this (highly civilized) life in check—for it is just as bad to have too much urbanization as too little. America needs her forests and her wild open spaces quite as much as her cities and her settled places."

The trail was built almost entirely by the volunteer efforts of outdoor organizations. It is the longest marked foot path in the world.

Following the crest of the mountain ranges, it roughly parallels the Great Indian Warpath which was in the Great Valley to the west. Most of it leads through wilderness areas (about half of it in national parks), although sections pass through farming communities and a few towns.

Bill and Dave plan to average 25 miles a day. They have decided not to push for speed however, even if they have to stop before reaching Mr. Katahdin. Both have other engagements next fall—Dave will be here and Bill must be at Quantico, Virginia to begin aviation officer training with the Marine Corps.

Man is not the creature of circumstances. Circumstances are the creatures of men.

Disraeli

"Sour Grapes"

by Mary Gay Boettcher

The image of Maryville College as a small, conservative, church-supported liberal arts college becomes somewhat tarnished during this time of year; it is election time.

With the advent of this season, certain questions (i.e. "issues") arise and are thoroughly trampled before the end of the term. Usually there is an aftermath type of question which has been fomented by the heat of campaigning. This year the question has been one of considerable relevancy. "Should election statistics be published?" There are two very distinctly opposing views on this issue.

Let us call one of them the "sour grapes" group, since part of the dissenting faction feel that this is the only reason that such a plan would be put into effect. This may well be, but there are other more valid points. The simplest is a question as to the purpose behind such a publication. Since the election is over, why print statistics at all? This is a good point, especially as we, the student body, abide by the majority vote. Since we do this, we are also pledged to support the person elected. In that case, statistics may just deter this object. Why compare percentages . . . support doesn't come by percentages. Is it just that the losing candidates want "how close" they came to be well-known?

No, maintains the supporting half. Not at all. There are two main reasons why election results should be published. First, the student body has a perfect right to know the outcome. The majority of the student body simply because they may wonder, and would like to gauge campus feeling. The supporters of various candidates naturally want to see percentages in order to ascertain how successful their attempts were. And, of course, the candidate wants to see if he "put up a good fight," or by what margin he won. Besides that, this isn't detrimental material, only additional information following up a fact. The second argument is that, at least, published results will stop the fantastic amount of conjecture that fills the air for days after. (i.e. "did you know he only won by ONE vote?"). The pity of it is these nebulous figures are invariably incorrect and only begin to seem true because one figure becomes repetitious through endless retelling. Such a problem would be eliminated. However, the opposing argument to this is that people who chatter-buzz about election results will have no problem in replenishing their conversation with other such, once this particular topic is removed.

Regardless of which opinion you advocate, this is a problem which should be discussed . . . if only for no other reason than to give the haggard election committee an indication of student opinion.

CUT OUT AND SAVE — TELL YOUR NEIGHBORS TO LISTEN

SUGGESTED RADIO PROGRAMS FOR THINKING AMERICANS

"LIFE LINE"	WGAP	1400 KC	DAILY	6:00 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WKXV	900 KC	MONDAY	5:45 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:45 P.M.
CHURCH LEAGUE OF AMERICA	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:30 P.M.
20th CENTURY REFORMATION	WKXV	900 KC	MON.-FRI.	7:45 A.M.
CITIZENS COUNCIL	WGAP	1400 KC	THURS.	6:00 P.M.
INDEPENDENT AMERICAN	WKXV	900 KC	FRIDAY	5:45 P.M.
DR. KERSHNER	WGAP	1400 KC	WED.	6:00 P.M.

(Education for Americanism, Inc., P.O. Box 255, Maryville, Tenn.)

Off the Cuff

by Dave King

Every spring, just after the dogwoods bloom, a contagious plague sweeps the campus, infecting all those who breathe its poisonous vapors. The symptoms are readily recognizable, although they vary with the individual. Most commonly it is characterized by a marked swelling of the head, affliction of the mouth muscles causing a perpetual smile, and a definite shaking of the hand. Called "Campus Politics" by some, and a good many things by others, this scourge usually gives way to the more conventional ailments by the time final exams come barrelling onto the scene.

The race—would crawl be a better word?—for Student Body President this year saw a number of unexpected developments. A surprise write-in movement, spearheaded by an unusual number of biology majors, attempted to unseat the heretofore unopposed candidate, Dave Marston. Their dark horse candidate was that vivacious blonde, Evelyn Ramger; and their strategy was to denounce the controversial Cars-On-Campus Bill (also known as the Moyers Act) and replace it with one favoring tricycles. However, candidate Ramger's short-lived political career was scandalously destroyed with the disclosure that she had been seen entering rooms in Carnegie Hall at all hours of the day and night. (President-elect Marston, vacationing in the Bahamas, could not be reached for comment.)

The vice-presidential campaign was the one which generated the most interest, in case no one noticed. Popular opinion seemed to vacillate hourly between the two outspoken candidates. Mike Moyers' liberal campaign was organized around his liberal experience as class president and Student Council Representative, and his liberal ability to cooperate with the radical president. On the other hand, Phil Brown organized his campaign around his cautious experience as class president and student council representative, and his cautious ability to work with the still radical president.

Moyer's supporters are to be commended for their subtle allusions to Mickey Mouse, an ingenious attempt to appeal to voters' subconscious memories of happy times with the Mousketeers. However, Brown's promise to hold the job both semesters proved more appealing to the voters.

The critical point in the campaign came when Moyers emphatically refused to endorse a candidate who used "that greasy kid stuff." Brown fiercely countered with a companison of Moyers' leadership ability to his ability on the basketball floor. This remark proved to be the decisive blow, as the basketball fans swung over to the Brown camp.

Class elections also created a lot of excitement this year. For a while it looked as if everyone would run and the person getting two votes would win. The new senior class president, Bert Randall, won on the strength of the support of fellow Texan, Lyndon Johnson, while the junior and sophomore presidents, Harold Cones and Dave Powell, managed to win by only a hair.

Always Look Your Best

SEE US FOR ALL YOUR DRY CLEANING NEEDS

MARYVILLE CLEANERS

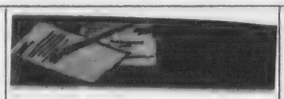
Contact Your Dormitory Agent—

Carnegie & Memorial—
JOE FINK
ED KRUSMAN

New Dorm—SANDY SCOFIELD
Pearsons—SUE QUIGG
Baldwin—JANET MELVILLE

ENJOY GRADUATION WEEK

at The



ESQUIRE INN MOTEL

52 Luxurious Rooms – Air Conditioned – TV

EXCELLENT DINING – SWIM & RELAX

"Hospitality Center U. S. A."

CONGRATULATIONS, SENIORS, ON YOUR DAY!

Dodez Speaks From Paris

Dear Friends:

Sitting here on the train watching the suburbs of Paris disappear in the distance, it seems almost impossible to believe that as each minute passes I am getting closer and closer to Geneva and school again . . .

In East Germany

With exams finished March 15th, I left the following day to meet Diane Fairbank (JYA Kansas State University) in Zurich. Hurried trips to Basel and Franfort served only to whet our appetities for our adventure in Eastern Germany and Berlin . . .

Once we had entered Eastern Germany, the train sped past station after station—all closed and standing like somewhat ridiculous sentinels in the dusk. We stopped only once for coal, and then the conductor walked up and down beside the track, seeing that no one got off. Berlin is indeed a city of contrasts. Walking down Kurfurstendam, West Berlin's main street, the usual city noises and flashing lights enveloped us.

Our first venture into East Berlin was with a tour group. At Check point Charlie our Communist guide came on board (this is because West Berliners are forbidden to enter East Berlin). I was astonished by the ruins standing everywhere, incongruously emphasizing the garish red and white propaganda signs which proclaimed such boasts as "socialism is of the people, by the people and for the people" or "the Communist Party is the party of Peace."

Our guide, instead of admitting what a poor job the communists were doing of rebuilding, concentrated his attack on the horrors and destruction of the Nazi regime. Points of interest were the old American Embassy (bombed by the British) and a half-hour stop at the Russian War Memorial. Returning to the West, a drive along the wall completed the tour . . .—these told only part of the story . . . Even the simple act of picking up a telephone and dialing a number across town is now denied to these people. Cars are few and expensive, many foods and medicines unavailable, and always, everywhere, the depressing silence . . .

In London

We crossed the English Channel from Ostende (in Holland) to Dover . . . At least half the people on board were sea sick and the rail was the most popular spot to stand (and not for the view). —

In London at last, I stepped out of Victoria Station and was greeted with what seemed to be a mile of bright red double-desked busses. While in London I stayed at the YWCA where my roommates were from West Berlin and Sidney, Australia. We had several good discussions and spent most of the day sight-seeing together—the changing of the guard at the Tower where the crown jewels are found, London-Bridge, Westminster Abbey—all just as I had imagined . . .

Parliment was fascinating—the House of Lords was discussing prison reforms and the

Cont'd. Page 6, Col. 2

SEEN . . .

. . . AND HEARD

I wish we subscribed to that newspaper so we could cancel our subscription . . . I'm going to run down the hill and fall on my chubby Austrian face . . . wanted: a dateless Maryville girl . . . boys on one hill, girls on the other . . . you're not running for Student Council ??? . . . in fifteen minutes you wrote all you learned in four years . . . Boony season? . . . things are tuff all over . . . now we can afford to go to a good school . . . no boys, we can always Hully Gully . . . you mean you turned yourself in . . . just get yourself a bush . . . comps? I feel like I've been all night on a Greyhouse bus . . . it's just a false front . . . you mean the men have come and gone already? . . . here in the Yale family . . . we want somebody to buy those new books so we can borrow them . . . all you young people turn out for this . . . nasty extraneous factors—like reality . . . the dorm commotion committee . . . a honeypot, a tombstone rubbing, and thou.

MUSE TEN

Days

When days are bad, and strong men cry
And women weep, and lovers die
We tend to turn our heads, to hide our face
To keep from seeing just what kind of place
We live in.

But when things are good, and salaries soar
And the Mets take the Dodgers three out of four
We stand on mountains to shout our praise
These truly are the best of days
We live in.

But best of days will never come
To them, from whom their lover's gone
Perchance good luck, perchance ill fate
Nothing can lower nor elevate
The world they live in.

These ones don't shout, nor faces hide
For they're already dead inside.

—James Gifford

Lines of the Lonely Crowd

How can you tell them you love them?
How can you let them know how much they mean
To you, as you watch and yearn for their joy;
As you watch and ache at their stumbling?
Can they ever know the smiles that were blessing their happiness,
Or the hands that wanted so to caress and to comfort?
Would they ever understand the hurt that brought so many tears
When they turned their backs and walked away from love?
It cannot be words, for their beauty is lost
When made sound by hearts full of feeling.
And glances too often are misunderstood.
It will be a dark room and a quiet, peaceful thinking.
It will be a silent prayer for those you love.

—Mildred Miles

ARE YOU GO, ROGUE, OR ABORT?

by Deanna Sturgell and Gayle Eggers

A recent issue of Mademoiselle magazine cited an article from Queen, an alert British publication. The article, "Guidebook for Social Astronauts," was issued by the headquarters of Great Britain's Social Nuance Observation andd Breakdown System, the S.N.O.B. This system has produced over the years a restless terminology, subject to rapid obsolescence. What is in one year is out the next. The new guidebook revises these decencitized definitions to suit the Space Age. "People and behavior patterns," it states, "are now to be graded into three categories: GO — as when referring to a rocket launched correctly on course and on target, which travels in the right orbit. ROGUE — as when referring to a rocket released on the right course, which then goes badly astray and ends up off target and in the wrong orbit. ABORT — as when referring to a rocket which never gets into orbit at all, or which never gets off the launching pad."

"GO people," the guide goes on to explain, "are rare and are totally unaware of being GO. People who think they are GO are invariably ROGUE. ROGUE people secretly know they are ROGUE, even when they pretend to be GO. The Space Age moves so fast that GO people can easily become ABORT when caught up by ROGUE people. ABORT people are people who never got off the ground, and, unhappily, ROGUE people are always doomed to remain ROGUE no matter how hard they try."

Here are a few suggestions we have for a Maryville College edition of the Space Age Guide:

Communication — Writing letters is GO. Any type of printed or decorative stationary is ABORT. Personal letters written on plain paper are GO if written with a fountain pen. Typed letters are GO if they are personal ones typed badly by yourself. Cables and telegrams are very GO, except on birthdays or Mother's Day when you have forgotten to send a card. Picture postcards are ROGUE if sent from places like Gatlinburg or San Francisco, but become GO when sent from places like Elbridge, Ill., or the Brookfield Zoo.

Clothing — (women) Changing hair color once a week is ABORT unless you travel. Wig hats are ABORT; madras scarves are ROGUE. Matching skirts and sweaters are ABORT except when worn to equally ABORT teas, when they become ROGUE. Black dresses are ABORT when worn because the wearer thinks they are GO. Madras is ROGUE unless over three years old, when it becomes GO. Madras suspenders are GO. Bouffant hairdos are ABORT.

Clothing — (men) Thongs are ABORT, especially when worn on men with flat feet. Beards on men who don't have to shave over twice a week anyway are ABORT. Suits and ties worn only on election days are exceedingly ROGUE.

Class — Thoughtful class participation is GO, but talking only to impress the instructor is ABORT. Sitting on the back row is ABORT, and sitting on the front row is ROGUE, unless you are seated alphabetically. Starting classes before 8:30 is definitely ABORT.

Regulations — Attending church two years ago was ROGUE, but today it is GO. Last year, riding in cars was GO; this year it is merely ROGUE. Fire drills in Pearsons and Baldwin are GO, but are ABORT in the New Dorm because "it couldn't be burned down with a blow torch."

These are ABORT — Artificial flowers, complaining (only) about rules, complaining about food. (It is ROGUE to get up and leave the table.)

These are GO — A Sonny Hughs haircut, but only on Sonny Hughs. In the South, male names from childhood, such as Johnny, Tommy, Billie, or Jackie. These people: Mr. Dixon, Mrs. Swenson, Dr. Copeland, and Mr. Van den Blink.

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor in Chief
LYNN HERRING

Special Editors this week

News Editor — ELENORA EASTERLY
Feature Editor — MARY JANOVICH
Sports Editors — DAVE KING and GINNA COON

Assistant Editor — CHARLOTTA COOK
News Editor — PATRICIA REHM
Feature Editor — ANN HARRISON
Art Editor — GRACE ROSSER
Sports Editors — TODD OWERS and JEANNE PRICE
Exchange Editor — GAIL GARLOCH
Business Manager — PAUL BIGGERS

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: A. D. Ainsworth, Mary Gay Boettcher, Sandra Briggs, Louise Crawford, Tina Criner, Gayle Eggers, Ann Harrison, Libby Lee, Jim Lichtenburg, Todd Owers, Sherry Proffitt, Helen Ryan, Sandra Scofield, Deanna Sturgell, Mary Lee Zorb

CIRCULATION: David King, Bruce Bigart, Carole Brownlee, Harold Cones, Ginna Coon, Nelson Miller

PHOTOGRAPHER: Ralph Tucker

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR, MR. FRANK LAYMAN

Already weary before the long trek has even begun, Dave Powell leans on the knapsack of the other happy wanderer, Bill Weissenberger.

They're Getting Ready for THE APPALACHIAN TRAIL

The fifty mile hike craze spurred by Robert Kennedy and other New Frontiersmen has worn itself out by now—but two Maryville College politicians are ready to hike forty times that distance. After senior class president, Bill Weissenburger, and president-elect of the freshmen, Dave Powell, put the finishing touches on the school year, the two will set out for Maine via the Appalachian Trail.

7 Blisters, 1 Fallen Arch

The trail extends from Mt. Springer in Georgia to Mt. Katahdin in Maine. "This means, "according to Dave, "a walking distance of 2,050 miles—or a total of 7 blisters, 3 sprained ankles and a fallen arch."

The two men have been getting plans, equipment and themselves in shape for ther getaway from twentieth century society. They are looking for a ride to the vicinity of Atlanta as soon as graduation is over.

Their special sleeping bags are examples of the basic equipment which has so far cost $120. The mummy-type bags are imported from France. Made of down, they are meant to keep a camper warm in subfreezing temperatures. They weigh just 2½ pounds and measure only 10 inches in diameter when rolled up.

Why Are They Going?

Why are they going? Many people have asked that question. Says Dave: "I think our parents were the first to ask. Our answer is a little more than the usual 'Because it's there.' We expect to mature somewhat when we have no one to rely on but ourselves. No phones, no cars, few stores, no mail . . . college life is important, but it's soft. There's a great big world out there just waiting for little people like us.

"We plan to go out and talk things over with the physical part of that world. We believe the physical association will bring a deeper spiritual understanding of nature. Lots of city folks call it 'communing with nature.' We will live with nature and commune with nature's creator."

Built by Volunteers

Bill says that, contrary to popular opinion, the Appalachian Trail is not an old Indian or pioneer trail. In fact it was completed in only 1937. It was the result of the vision of a man named Benton MacKaye, who saw the need for a trail so large that, for the ordinary traveler, it should be a trail without end.

MacKaye once wrote: The old pioneer opened through a forest a path for the spread of civilization . . . . Now comes the great task of holding this (highly civilized) life in check—for it is just as bad to have too much urbanization as too little. America needs her forests and her wild open spaces quite as much as her cities and her settled places."

The trail was built almost entirely by the volunteer efforts of outdoor organizations. It is the longest marked foot path in the world.

Following the crest of the mountain ranges, it roughly parallels the Great Indian Warpath which was in the Great Valley to the west. Most of it leads through wilderness areas (about half of it in national parks), although sections pass through farming communities and a few towns.

Bill and Dave plan to average 25 miles a day. They have decided not to push for speed however, even if they have to stop before reaching Mr. Katahdin. Both have other engagements next fall—Dave will be here and Bill must be at Quantico, Virginia to begin aviation officer training with the Marine Corps.

Man is not the creature of circumstances. Circumstances are the creatures of men.

Disraeli

"Sour Grapes"

by Mary Gay Boettcher

The image of Maryville College as a small, conservative, church-supported liberal arts college becomes somewhat tarnished during this time of year; it is election time.

With the advent of this season, certain questions (i.e. "issues") arise and are thoroughly trampled before the end of the term. Usually there is an aftermath type of question which has been fomented by the heat of campaigning. This year the question has been one of considerable relevancy. "Should election statistics be published?" There are two very distinctly opposing views on this issue.

Let us call one of them the "sour grapes" group, since part of the dissenting faction feel that this is the only reason that such a plan would be put into effect. This may well be, but there are other more valid points. The simplest is a question as to the purpose behind such a publication. Since the election is over, why print statistics at all? This is a good point, especially as we, the student body, abide by the majority vote. Since we do this, we are also pledged to support the person elected. In that case, statistics may just deter this object. Why compare percentages . . . support doesn't come by percentages. Is it just that the losing candidates want "how close" they came to be well-known?

No, maintains the supporting half. Not at all. There are two main reasons why election results should be published. First, the student body has a perfect right to know the outcome. The majority of the student body simply because they may wonder, and would like to gauge campus feeling. The supporters of various candidates naturally want to see percentages in order to ascertain how successful their attempts were. And, of course, the candidate wants to see if he "put up a good fight," or by what margin he won. Besides that, this isn't detrimental material, only additional information following up a fact. The second argument is that, at least, published results will stop the fantastic amount of conjecture that fills the air for days after. (i.e. "did you know he only won by ONE vote?"). The pity of it is these nebulous figures are invariably incorrect and only begin to seem true because one figure becomes repetitious through endless retelling. Such a problem would be eliminated. However, the opposing argument to this is that people who chatter-buzz about election results will have no problem in replenishing their conversation with other such, once this particular topic is removed.

Regardless of which opinion you advocate, this is a problem which should be discussed . . . if only for no other reason than to give the haggard election committee an indication of student opinion.

CUT OUT AND SAVE — TELL YOUR NEIGHBORS TO LISTEN

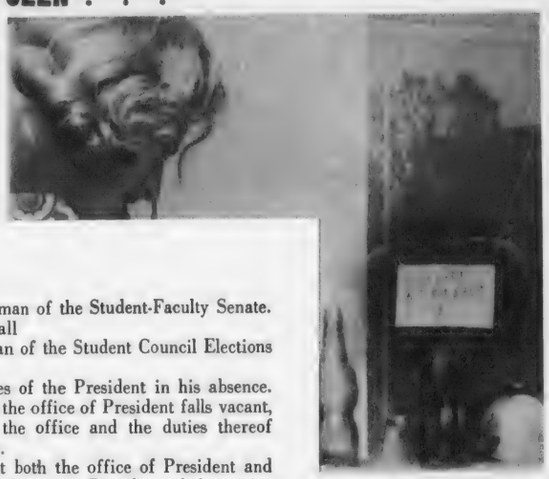
SUGGESTED RADIO PROGRAMS FOR THINKING AMERICANS

"LIFE LINE"	WGAP	1400 KC	DAILY	6:00 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WKXV	900 KC	MONDAY	5:45 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:45 P.M.
CHURCH LEAGUE OF AMERICA	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:30 P.M.
20th CENTURY REFORMATION	WKXV	900 KC	MON.-FRI.	7:45 A.M.
CITIZENS COUNCIL	WGAP	1400 KC	THURS.	6:00 P.M.
INDEPENDENT AMERICAN	WKXV	900 KC	FRIDAY	5:45 P.M.
DR. KERSHNER	WGAP	1400 KC	WED.	6:00 P.M.

(Education for Americanism, Inc., P.O. Box 255, Maryville, Tenn.)

Off the Cuff

by Dave King



Every spring, just after the dogwoods bloom, a contagious plague sweeps the campus, infecting all those who breathe its poisonous vapors. The symptoms are readily recognizable, although they vary with the individual. Most commonly it is characterized by a marked swelling of the head, affliction of the mouth muscles caus-

Dodez Speaks From Paris

Dear Friends:

Sitting here on the train watching the suburbs of Paris disappear in the distance, it

SEEN . . . AND HEARD

aper so we could cancel our wn the hill and fall on my eless Maryville girl . . . boys
're not running for Student ou wrote all you learned in gs are tuff all over . . . now
. . . no boys, we can always ourself in . . . just get your-e been all night on a Grey-
. . you mean the men have ie Yale family . . . we want ve can borrow them . . . all iasty extraneous factors—like ttle . . . a honeypot, a tomb-

Student Body to Hold Referendum On Proposed Constitution Changes

The following are the recommended revisions in the Constitution of the Maryville College Student Body. Articles I, II and III below are a condensation and revision of Articles I through VII in the former Student Body Constitution (pages 27 through 29 in the M-Book). Articles VIII through XI have been left unchanged, and only their numerical designation has been altered, becoming Articles, IV, V, VI, and VII in the new constitution.

The Student Council committee appointed to revise this constitution has presented its proposals to the Student Council, and the Executive Council of the Faculty. Both of these bodies have given their approval to the Constitution. A two-thirds vote of the Student Body is now required before the revisions become effective. The revised portions are printed below by the Echo so that students may have the opportunity to become aware of the proposed changes before voting early next week.

CONSTITUTION OF THE STUDENT BODY OF MARYVILLE COLLEGE — 1963

— PREAMBLE —

We, the students of Maryville College, in order to provide a responsible Student Government to represent, lead, and unify the student body in the common motive of self-government; to assume responsibilities in the management of our own affairs; to strengthen the cooperation among students, faculty and administration; and to increase loyalty to the best interests of the college, do establish this constitution.

ARTICLE I—Student Body Organization

Section 1. All full-time students of Maryville College shall be members of the Student Body;

Section 2. The governmental organization of the Student Body shall be as follows:

a. The general adminstrative and legislative organ of the Student Body of Maryville College shall be the Student Council, which shall share authority with the Executive Council of the Faculty.

b. The Student Council and the Executive Council of the Faculty shall cooperate through a Student-Faculty Senate, which shall consider and recommend legislation.

c. Women's Student Government Association (WSGA) and Men's Student Cooperative (MSC) shall constitute independent administrative departments of Student Body government, and shall govern only in matters pertaining to women's and men's residences.

ARTICLE II—Officers

Section 1. The officers of the Student Body shall be a President and a Vice-President.

Section 2. The President shall be a member of the senior class and the Vice-President shall be a member of either the senior or junior class during their respective terms of office (except when Sec. 5 is applicable).

Section 3. The President and the Vice-President shall be elected for a term of one year by the Student Body by a majoritiy of the votes cast.

Section 4. The duties of the officers shall be as follows:

a. The President shall

(1) Preside at meetings of the Student Body and Student Council.

(2) Call special meetings of the Student Body and Student Council.

(3) Nominate the chairmen of the standing committees of the Student Council and submit them for approval to the Student Council.

(4) Nominate the members of the standing committees of Student Council after consultation with the standing committee chairmen concerned, and submit them for approval to Student Council.

(5) Set up such temporary special committees as shall be necessary from time to time, subject to the approval of Student Council.

(6) Serve as ex officio member of all standing and special committees.

(7) Serve as co-chairman of the Student-Faculty Senate.

b. The Vice-President shall

(1) Serve as Chairman of the Student Council Elections Committee.

(2) Assume the duties of the President in his absence.

Section 5. In the event that the office of President falls vacant, the Vice-President shall assume the office and the duties thereof until the expiration of that term.

Section 6. In the event that both the office of President and Vice-President fall vacant concurrently, the President of the senior class shall assume the leadership of the Student Body and Student Council until these offices may be filled by a special Student Body election, to be held at the earliest possible date.

ARTICLE III—Student Council

Section 1. The objectives of Student Council shall be to

a. Represent accurately the points of view of the Student Body.

b. Consider, develop, and seek to promote matters of student interest in cooperation with faculty and administration.

c. Supervise and coordinate those student activities provided for in this Constitution and its ByLaws.

d. Promote a good relationship with other colleges.

Section 2. The Student Council shall be organized as follows:

a. The membership shall consist of the following students:

(1) The Student Body President and Vice-President.

(2) The Women's Student Government Association President and the Men's Student Cooperative President.

(3) The four class presidents.

(4) The following class representatives:

(a) Five Seniors.

(b) Five Juniors.

(c) Four Sophomores.

(d) Four Freshmen.

(5) A duly elected twon student representative.

b. To become and remain eligible for membership in the Student Council, a class representative shall meet the necessary academic requirements for membership in the class which he represents.

c. Class representatives shall be elected for a term of one year by a plurality of votes cast by their respective classes.

d. A member may be dropped from the Student Council by a 2|3 vote of Student Council for the following reasons:

(1) Four absences per semester.

(2) Inability to carry on Student Council duties because of illness or other reasons.

(3) Conduct unbecoming a Student Council member.

e. The class concerned shall have the power to fill any vacancies arising between regular elections.

f. The officers of the Student Council shall be a President, a Vice-President and a Secretary-Treasurer.

(1) The President and Vice-President of the Student body shall be the President and Vice-President of the Student Council.

(2) The Secretary-Treasurer shall be elected by the Student Council at the first meeting of the year from its own membership and shall

(a) Keep minutes of all Student Council and Student Body meetings.

(b) Handle all correspondence for the Student Council.

(c) Keep a record of the collection and expenditure of all funds for Student Council purposes.

Section 3. The duties of the Student Council as a whole shall include the following:

a. The Student Council shall meet at regular intervals as it may decide, but at least twice a month from September to June.

b. The Student Council, through its Elections Committee, shall be responsible for conducting all campus-wide elections, and other elections on request.

c. The Student Council shall assume responsibility for regulating and enforcing such agreements as may be entered into with the Executive Council of the Faculty.

d. In carrying out its objectives, the Student Council shall refer questions to the Student-Faculty Senate for consideration and recommendation and shall present to the Student-Faculty Senate proposals for enactment of legislation which may be considered desirable. The Student Council shall also receive, consider, and pass upon recommendations of the Student-Faculty Senate for such legislation.

EXCELLENT DINING - SWIM & RELAX

"Hospitality Center U. S. A."

CONGRATULATIONS, SENIORS, ON YOUR DAY!

the guard at the Tower where the crown jewels are found, London-Bridge, Westminster Abbey—all just as I had imagined . . .

Parliment was fascinating—the House of Lords was discussing prison reforms and the

Cont'd. Page 6, Col. 2

TEN

g men cry die hide our face at kind of place
ve in.

nd salaries soar
rs three out of four out our praise ys ive in.

ome over's gone
ce ill fate
te ces hide de.

—James Gifford

Lonely

you love know how and yearn ne at their the smiles their hap-nted so to rt?
understand it so many heir backs
rom love?
for their beauty is lost

When made sound by hearts full of feeling.
And glances too often are misunderstood.
It will be a dark room and a quiet, peaceful thinking.
It will be a silent prayer for those you love.
—Mildred Miles

SCOTS, VOLS DEBATE AND PLAY 0-0 STANDOFF

by Todd Owers

The scene of battle was the University of Tennessee's Hudson Field, and a hard, bruising battle it was, netting no victor as U-T and Maryville College played their soccer match to a scoreless tie before several hundred interested spectators Saturday afternoon, May 11.

The contest started late due to a spirited debate (not of the formal type) between the two schools which proved almost as exciting as the ensuing play itself. The discussion was over whether the game would be governed under intercollegiate rules or international ones, and finally ended in a compromise with Maryville gaining the benefit of free substitution rules and giving ground on certain out of bounds set ups.

Each team played excellent defensive soccer, and each team missed two excellent chances for a goal. Winger Phil Jerome of Maryville almost won the frustrating contest for the Scots with approximately two minutes of playing time remaining. Jerome received a pass at mid-field, evaded two converging Vols and skirted in toward the UT goalie unapprehended. His kick, however, was wide by about a foot.

On the other side of the field, U-T's playing coach, C.O. Mathews clouted a kick which zoomed just inches over the top of the Maryville goal, and missed another chance for a score when the ball skidded off the side of his foot and went wide.

The defensive contest continued, with Maryville defensemen Scott Bucher and John Vordonis playing a whale of a game and keeping the Highlander goal (and goalie Fred Kolb) well protected. Both Vol and Scot lineups were well stacked with foreign students which added a great deal of spice to the match and gave it a most welcome international tone. Soccer is an international sport and it was good to see it in Tennessee, especially in May.

He only earns his freedom and existence who daily conquers them anew.

Goethe

SPRING SPORTALK

by Dave King

We came, we saw , but we're not quite sure who conquered. The Knoxville newspapers seemed reluctant to concede that Maryville even had a soccer team and hinted that U-T would seek stronger opponents in the future. Well, they sang a different tune after last week's outing and even went so far as to spell our players' names correctly.

When the call went out on campus several weeks ago for volunteers, a large number of players responded enthusiastically. Most of the fellows who played on the "varsity" team this past season worked with the newcomers, teaching them the finer points of the game. Also working out with the group was Mr. Howard Young, more commonly seen in the chemistry lab.

During the past season Mr. Ainsworth, of our Political Science department, served the team in an advisory capacity, with Kirk Copeland serving as player-coach. These two contributed heavily to the spunky team that sported a 3-3 record for regular play. However, one cannot help wondering what the record might have been had there been an experienced faculty member for coach.

Let's face it—soccer hit this campus last fall and hit it hard. Attendance at the home games was surprisingly high and very enthusiastic, to say the least. And why not? Soccer is a fast-moving, exciting game, because it has an appealing combination of easy to understand strategy and physical effort.

Realizing that there are a great number of things to be considered, it would seem that the interest of a faculty member as a player may be of great benefit to the soccer Scots. A sport as well accepted by the student body as soccer deserves every chance it can get. More important, a varsity soccer team in intercollegiate competition would be of great benefit to the school. An informal team which can amass a 3-3 record against trained, varsity squads could better that record considerably with the proper leadership. It is hoped that the athletic department will seriously consider giving soccer the status of a varsity sport as soon as it is feasible.

Scot Track Team Loses To C-N, ETSC

The Maryville College track team closed out their season for this year by being outclassed by superior track teams from Carson-Newman and East Tennessee State. The Carson-Newman meet, which was run on a hard, fast track, was fairly even at the outset, but ended in a complete rout in favor of the host Eagles. For the first time this season the Maryville distance men outscored their opponents out-scoring Carson-Newman 18 to 9 in the three distance races: half mile, mile, and two mile. Hugh McCampbell won the mile and half-mile to account for 10 of the 18 points. Joe Malloy again was a star for the Scots in their losing cause. He placed first in the pole vault and high jump. Terry Amons took the only other first place for the Scots, winning in the 120 yard high hurdles. All in all the Scots' young track team gave a good account of themselves, losing to Carson-Newman's experience and depth.

In the East Tennessee State meet the Scots met possibly their strongest opponent of the season. Maryville managed only four first places in the entire meet. These were recorded by John Livingston in the mile, Hugh McCampbell in the half mile, Joe Malloy in the pole vault, and Greg Hallen in the javelin. John Livingston recorded his fastest time of the season when he ran the mile in 4:48.2 and Hugh McCampbell also beat his previous best time in the half mile when he ran the race in 2:10.2. From the beginning the depth and superiority of East Tennessee State overshadowed the fine effort put forth by the Scots as a team.

Three days after the East Tennessee State meet Coach Tomlinson and six members of Scots' track team left for the annual T. I. A. C. Track meet held this year at Middle Tennessee State College in Murfreesboro, Tennessee. The Scots gave a good account of themselves at the meet even though Joe Malloy was the only member of the team to place. He took a fourth place in the pole vault with a height of 12 feet. Mike Dalton gave a good performance in the 440 yard dash, leading the field for half the race. As the good crop of freshmen and sophomores on the team improve in the next two years the Scots should vastly improve over this year's performance in the state meet.

Socks and Sneakers

by Ginna Coon

Well fans, the deciding sport is now being played. Who will win the trophy is now all up to the society who can out play the other one in softball.

Theta Epsilon tied the record when Teddy Gillespie won the tennis tournament and by winning the track meet. Sue Kisch, Theta, came through with the most first places; she won discus, basketball and baseball throws, and the 220 yard dash. Other winners were Broom race, Nancy White (T); British walking race, Janet Dearcopp (C); Javelin, Ann Doscher (T); Standing broad jump and 100 yard dash, Gail Wilkes (T); hop, step, and jump, Kathy Burgess (T).

Today if you are wondering who and what the girls are doing running around in funny costume, they are the new members of Women's "M" Club. This afternoon we will find both new and old members starting out on their annual spring hike, to Cade's Cove, for a weekend of fun, steaks, and sleeping under the stars. Tents will be provided for those who want more over them than just the stars. Oh yes, girls, Watch out for the snakes!!

The new members of Women's "M" Club are:

Ann Alexander, Ann Doscher, Lorraine Briggs, Nancy White, Joyce Hooper, Barbara Pettigrew.

Women Reach Semifinals at U C Tennis Tourney

Jan Dearcopp, Terry Brusstar and Phyllis Deloteus represented Maryville at the Southeastern Women's Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament at the University of Chattanooga May 4 and 5.

Miss Brusstar and Miss Dearcopp got to the semifinals in the doubles competition, when they were defeated by Karen Stec and Marty Cannon, UC's top players. Miss Stec had won the singles championship the day before in an upset over Miss Cannon who had been ceded number one.

In the singles competition Miss Dearcopp played and was beaten by Miss Cannon in the quarterfinals. Phyllis Deloteus lost to champion Stec, also in the quarterfinals.

*Homemade Pies
*Breakfast Anytime
*Complete Short Order Menu
*Hol 'n One Donuts & Fine Coffee

FREE DELIVERY
on Orders of $5.00 or More

YOUR 24 HOUR HOST — WE NEVER CLOSE
Broadway Downtown 982-1541

THE COFFEE HOUSE

....gym....tumble....
flip...flop...lug...tug
push...jump...leap...
...chin...lift...pull...
...run...puff puff...
pause

take a break...things go better with Coke
TRADE-MARK

Bottled under the authority of The Coca-Cola Company by:
RODDY MANUFACTURING COMPANY

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes
designed to please the college student
116 West Broadway

FOCUS ON MATHEMATICS

This week the Echo shines the focus on mathematics. Pictured at left is the chairman of the department, Mr. M. B. Tolar. Other instructors in math are Hugh D. Landis and C. G. Doss

Math: Science Of Reasoning

In answer to the current need for technical manpower arises a new trend in mathematics which has disciplined, independent, rational thinking as its main objective.

Mathematics is often called the "science of reasoning," but for a long period of time this definition was ignored as math instructors followed a rather thoughtless mechanical approach in their teaching. Today however the more theoretical approach is used.

This new approach is exemplified in several math courses offered at Maryville College. The theoretical approach is one of building from a simple number system by use of a chain of reasoning to the most complex and inclusive number system.

To study the way a number system translates symbols into words requires the use of old and new concepts, fundamental operations, constant reference to the eleven postulates, and logical thinking.

After this study a student can finally explain what constitutes a proof, why division by zero is undefined, and why the undisciplined mind needs the work of a series of complicated hypotheses, reasoning, and conclusions — the ifs . . . and thens . . . A student can also apply rational thinking more easily in other areas because his mind has learned to work and discover the fascinating reasons behind what was a meaningless operation.

A discussion with Mr. Tolar and Mr. Doss, instructors in mathematics, brought forth the idea of mathematical maturity. Mathematical maturity is the ultimate goal of a math student; it is the capacity to continue the study of math independently. Effective independent study of math can be accomplished "if and only if" there is a firm mathematical background.

Computers, programmers, accountants, and other rational thinkers are necessarily a part of the needed technical manpower of today. A discovery and knowledge of such things as algorithms, integers, and "rubber geometry" can prepare men for their work in the "science of reasoning."

Math Majors Talk To Roving Reporter

Is mathematics related to other disciplines in the liberal arts program? The comments of several math majors to ECHO reporter Sherry Proffitt indicate the answer: a strong YES. Read these and other questions and answers below.

Scott Bucher

Question: Do you think that math relates to other subjects?
Answer: Yes, in such areas as psychology especially where probability and statistics are involved. Mrs. Cummings was telling us recently that math is also being used to identify certain letters. For instance, a certain letter is known to be written by Paul. An unknown letter can be determined written or not written by Paul by comparison of the number of times certain words occur.

In economics math is used to determine the relationship of labor to management (interaction—friendliness).

The reasoning in some of the other fields is like the reasoning used in math. Math isn't just composed of numbers to plug into a formula.

Q: Is math responsible for this good reasoning power?
A: No, scientists could reason well before math came into its own.

PLANS TO BE ACTUARY

Q: What are your career plans?
A: I'm going into Actuarial Science, which is a study of various contengencies which have adverse effects on families, such as birth, death, marriage, etc., and how to alleviate these problems through programs such as insurance. An actuary can predict unemployment trends, interest rates and the condition of the economy as a whole.
Q: How much extra study does this require?
A: Six to ten years. I will do it on my own. I'll have to pass a series of eight tests. I have already passed one and will take another soon.
Q: What related subjects are you taking?
A: Physics and chemistry. Economics is my second subject. I've had over twenty hours in economics and business administration.

Wayne Durham

Q: Why did you become a math major?
A: It is my best field.
Q: What are your plans?
A: I want to teach in a secondary school. Someday I will get my master's, but not immediately after I finish at Maryville College.

CAN'T BE LAZY IN MATH

I don't particulary want to teach subject matter, but I want to teach people. Since to teach people you have to teach a subject, and I am relatively sure of math, it is what I will teach. I have a tendency to be lazy and one can't be lazy in math. This is good for me.
Q: Do you think that math relates to other fields?
A: To some other fields, since reason in the abstract is the thing. In the sciences, of course, since math is the language of science. Philosophy and theology as differentiated from Bible study, for example, use math because of their methods of reasoning.

Two plus two equals four is true only in the abstract. Many people think that math is concrete. It arises out of the concrete and can be applied to the concrete, but it is abstract.

Math is in a period of change from separated courses to unified subject.

Roberta Bryson

Q: Why did you become a math major?
A: I've always liked math and have been fairly good in it.
Q: What are your plans after you finish at Maryville?
A: I was going to teach, but I've decided to go into industry. Maybe IBM. There are not too many openings for women, but more and more jobs are opening up.
Q: Do you think that math relates to any other fields?
A: To all other fields. It helps students to reason and to thing in the abstract.

Bert Randall

Q: What are your plans?
A: To go to graduate school and then to teach, probably.

MATH IS PHILOSOPHY

Q: How does math relate to other courses?
A: Let's take, perhaps the hardest, English literature. It is philosophy, and so is math. I'm taking a minor in English and enjoy it very much. The two courses together make a pretty well-rounded curriculum.
Q: Why are you a math major?
A: I started out as a Christian Education major, but Mr. Tolar got me interested in math. He has such a good approach. If I could be as happy in my job as he is in his, it would be wonderful.

Math III . . . Not Just "Kiddie Calc"

Have you ever been in a math class you really enjoyed? Thirty girls at Maryville have found one. The course is Math III, sometimes known jokingly as "kiddie calc," taught by Mr. C. G. Doss. It's very different—that must be why it's so great!

This course is one that is required for elementary education majors. The things that are taught in it are astounding. For example, Mr. Doss, in a most unusual way, has been able to teach the class how to work with exponents, how to prove the basic laws of mathematics, how to work with alogorithms, and just exactly what algebra is (almost). To get a class of girls to absorb such things is by no means a simple job!

This class has a personality! Having it first hour four times a week, beginning on Monday morning, certainly can't be the reason for its popularity. It seems hardly possible that an unconquerable desire to learn mathematics could be the reason either. There are several things to which this strange phenomenon may be attributed. Perhaps it is the sudden realization that this "Greek" isn't so "Greek" after all. With the influence of a teacher who knows how to say what he's trying to put across, the black fog of confusion in a girl's mind clears up considerably.

Did you know that mathematics can be related to nearly everything? This class proves that it can. Every minute does not have to be spent pouring over the pages of a "fairly old" text book. It is the strange variety of comments which are made, only half audible, that keep these eager young ladies on the edges of their seats, rather than slumped back, half asleep.

It does seem impossible that such a course can exist. Let's bear in mind the fact that it's the atmosphere of the classroom that makes the student want to learn. This class is living proof of that fact.! Come join us sometime!

College Students
Faculty Members
College Libraries
Printed in BOSTON LOS ANGELES LONDON
SUBSCRIBE NOW AT HALF PRICE
Clip this advertisement and return it with your check or money order to:
The Christian Science Monitor
One Norway St., Boston 15, Mass.
☐ 1 YEAR $11 ☐ 6 mos. $5.50
☐ COLLEGE STUDENT
☐ FACULTY MEMBER
P-CN

Save up to 59¢ on

Eaton's
FINE LETTER PAPERS in double quantity boxes
Take advantage of this economy packaging of beautiful Eaton writing papers to buy ahead for yourself—and for gifts! (Price band is easily removed for gift-giving.) Full range of tints and textures.
White Office Machines
Corner Broadway at College

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.
SEYMOUR'S
Open 6 am – 11 pm
982-9921

ALCOA MOTEL
"Exquisite But Not Expensive"
ALCOA, TENN.
Phone 983-4162 For Reservations
Make Your Graduation Arrangements With Us

Scots Close Season With Buffs, Eagles

Maryville College's improving baseball team left for Johnson City Monday morning, May 13, with an eye to both the present and the future. Firmly fixated in mind was their ball game with Milligan College that afternoon, while in the future the Scot baseballers were thinking of Tuesday afternoon's clash with arch-rival Carson-Newman in Jefferson Cty.

Carson-Newman has a well-balanced team seeking the VSAC baseball championship. The Eagles find that lusty hitting combined with solid pitching has resulted in a most satisfactory winning combination for them this year. At last report, they won 17 ball games this year, while losing only four.

Maryville, on the other hand, has been a hot and cold team on the season. A mid-April streak of six consecutive wins sent the team soaring, but since that time the Scots have cooled off, due to sporadic hitting, and what could be described as poor fielding at the very best.

Mary Skeen, Sr. Pianist, To Present Recital May 21

Mary Frances Headrick Skeen of Maryville will give her senior piano recital on May 21. Her program will include "Toccato in G Major" by Bach with the Allegro vivace, Adagio, and Allegro-Fugue. She will also play Ravel's "Tombeau de Couperin" and Beethoven's "Sonata in F Sharp Major," Op. 78.

JANE DODEZ, Cont'd. fr. Pg. 3

House of Commons, local government. My illusion of the dignified British Parliment was delightfully broken when I saw some of the Lords sitting there with their feet up on the table! . . .

It's a long way from Little John Lane and Sherwood Hills in Wooster, Ohio, to the Major Oak and Sherwood Forest where Robin Hood roamed in England, but the distance seemed small in comparison with the kindness of these grand people. An international hockey game between England and Germany, a visit to the pub "Trip to Jerusalem" which is supposed to be the oldest in England, and the trip to Chatsworth, the home of the Dukes of Devonshire will always be unforgettable! . . .

Returning

The channel crossing from Dover to Calais was much smoother, but from here on the rest of the trip and Paris seemed a little bit of a let-down. I can see now that I will never get in all I want to say.

Exams at the "l'uni" were quite an experience—some at 7:00 in the morning others at 6:00 at night—all thoroughly challenging. At the Institute the exams were oral. I was handed a question, had 10-15 minutes to prepare, and then was expected to speak for half an hour on the subject. It never worked like that, though, because the profs kept asking questions. Somehow I couldn't help missing Maryville College's well planned system, not only of exams, but of education in general . . .

Thank you all for your letters —I do appreciate them and will answer as soon as possible. Happy belated Easter! We had colored eggs and bunnies here too, but it wasn't quite the same. A bientot.

Sincerely,
Jane Dodez

Martin's DRUG STORE
401 S. Washington St. Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.

Offering Maryville College Students
a complete line of cosmetics,
plus
a reliable prescription service
Located just off campus on Washington St.

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"
BANKING SERVICES
*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
*CHECK ACCOUNTS
*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
*TRANSFER OF FUNDS
— Your College Bank —
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Maryville College
STUDENT CENTER
proudly serves
FULLER LOCKER PLANT
Hamburgers
★
Hot Dogs

PET DAIRY
ICE CREAM
★
MILK
"Fresh from the Dairy"

Proffitt's

the perfect sportshirt
McGREGOR
MILLION MILE
Perfect fabric, perfect styling... perfect for all your leisure. McGregor's famous Million Mile blend of 65% Dacron* polyester, 35% cotton is lightweight, tucks into the smallest suitcase, washes and dries ready to wear, throws off wrinkles. Styled with classic spread collar, two pockets, shirt tail that stays put.
MILLION MILE® COAT SHIRT. Trimly tailored with paneled front, authentic long-point button-down collar.
Price $5.00

WGAP
CAMPUS MIKE
Voice of Maryville College
Sunday Evening.
9:30-10:00

DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands
OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You
Featuring a Fine Stock
of Quality Products Including
a Complete Variety of Cheeses.
DIXIE
SUPER MARKET
Washington Avenue

DON'T FORGET
WHEN YOU GET HUNGRY
Come To
LEONARD'S CAFETERIA
and
STEAK HOUSE
"In The Center Of The Center"

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 48 | Maryville, Tennessee, June 1, 1963 | No. 15

Chilhowean Sent to Indian Students

Pat Anderson, editor of the 1963 Chilhowean, is shown above with Sally Blair, business manager, as they present Mary Miles, Fred Hope Fund secretary, with the two yearbooks that will be sent to India for Parveen Kaul and John Newton.

Two copies of the 1963 Chilhowean will soon be on their way to South India, thanks to the generosity of this year's Chilhowean staff. These yearbooks were presented to the Fred Hope Fund Committee just this past week, and are destined to be read by Parveen Kaul and John Newton, the two Indian students who will receive the money collected by this year's Fred Hope Fund drive.

As Echo readers will recall, John and Parveen were selected as the recipients of this year's Fred Hope giving in a campus-wide election in January. During the campaign that followed, $2070 was pledged to help these students continue their educations in India. To date, some $1600 has been contributed to the Fred Hope Fund, all of which will be forwarded to India at the end of the present academic year. Miss Mary Miles, secretary of the Fred Hope Fund Committee, expressed her satisfaction with the interest displayed in this year's drive. She also expressed her hope that the outstanding pledges—some $470—would be paid by June 5.

One to Scotland, One to Norway

Gleason and Brownlee To Travel in Europe

Alice Brownlee and Mary Gleason, sophomore and junior roommates, are each planning summers abroad. They will travel separately, however, under quite different circumstances.

Workers Will Set Up Camp

Miss Brownlee will be a member of an Ecumenical Work Camp of the World Council of Churches. She will join with other young adults at Sandom, Garmo, Norway to set up a children's camp. Besides manual labor for some six hours each day, she will take part in Bible study and visit in nearby communities.

The camp lasts only through the month of July, but Miss Brownlee has travel plans for the rest of the summer. Before reaching Norway, she will tour England and Scotland. During August she and a friend will take to trains and bicycles with hopes of seeing some of Denmark, West Germany, Switzerland, Italy, France, Belgium and Holland.

Families Will Swap Places

On June 12, four days after Miss Brownlee sails from New York, Mary Gleason will fly with her family to Edinburgh, Scotland. Theirs is an unusual situation, for they are switching places with a family in Scotland. Mary's father, a Presbyterian minister in Louisville, Kentucky, will take a Presbyterian church in Edinburgh while that church's minister takes Mr. Gleason's church. The families move into each other's homes, cars, and jobs for what should prove a rewarding and exciting experience.

In addition to the time in Scotland, the Gleasons plan to travel through Europe for one month while they are away.

Both roommates will arrive home just in time to begin the fall semester here at Maryville. Miss Brownlee will leave by boat from Rotterdam on August 26, and Miss Gleason will fly home on September 9.

Rev. K. A. Nakajima

Seniors Give Up Seats To Juniors in Sr. Chapel

The tradition of Senior Chapel was continued yesterday morning by the Class of 1963. Beginning the program was the reading of the Class History, written by Gail Garloch, Carl McDonald, Bill Ward, and Ginnie Jefferson. Sharon Jones accompanied several members of the senior class in a medley of songs chosen from the spring musicals presented during the past four years. The group included numbers from "Where's Charley?" "Brigadoon," "Carousel," and "Bye, Bye, Birdie." A key was presented by Bill Weissenberger, class president, to next year's senior class president, Bert Randall. Giving up their chapel seats, the graduating seniors moved out to allow the juniors to come forward. The service was closed with the singing of the Alma Mater.

MC Will Award 91 Degrees June 5

Graduation exercises at Maryville College will be 10:30 a.m., Wednesday, June 5, for 89 men and women who have completed the requirements for the bachelor's degree. An additional eight students are expected to complete their requirements in August and will then be counted in this year's graduating class.

The speaker for the commencement exercises will be the Rev. K. Arnold Nakajima, who will also be awarded the honorary Doctor of Divinity by Maryville College. Mr. Nakajima serves on the staff of the United Presbyterian Board of Christian Education as the Eastern Area Secretary of the General Division of Higher Education. He served as instructor of Oriental languages at Princeton University, field representative for the Board of National Missions, minister of Union Church in Los Angeles, chaplain of Utica College, and Westminster Foundation University Chaplain at Syracuse University. Mr. Nakajima is a naturalized American citizen of Japanese birth, was educated in San Francisco public schools, graduated from Asbury College, and holds the BD and ThM degrees from Princeton Theological Seminary.

Maryville College will award the LLD degree to Mrs. Daisy Albertson Douglas of Weirsdale, Florida, during the graduation ceremonies. Mrs. Douglas has been a trustee of the college since 1957, and recently was a candidate for moderator of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church. She was the first woman to become moderator of synod. She attended what is now Tulsa University in Oklahoma and Stetson University.

Mrs. Douglas is the wife of J. Morton Douglas, who is engaged in the citrus industry in which he pioneered in central Florida.

The honorary degrees were approved by the Maryville College Board of Directors on the recommendation of the Executive Council of the Faculty and Maryville College President Joseph J. Copeland.

Maryville College Gives Scholarships To 24 New Students

Maryville College has awarded twenty-four scholarships for next year, sixteen four-year grants and eight Kind Memorial Scholarships. The four-year scholarships, based on need, range from $100 to $600 annually. This amount is reviewed and adjusted each year to those students maintaining a B average.

Four-year scholarship winners are Joel W. Payne III of Jonesboro, Tenn.; James E. Stockburger of Oak Ridge; Frank M. Eggers II of Maryville; Elizabeth Ann Doran of Cookeville, Tenn.; Thomas Allen of Demarest, N. J.; Marvin Beard of Louisville, Miss.; Joseph Burton of Atlanta; Frederick Doscher of Merrick, N. Y.; Robert Hart of Enid, Okla.; Marjorie Koehler of Arlington, Va.; Martha Currie of Hamlet, N. C.; Carol Kaufmann of North Hills, Pa.; Florence Corbett of St. Petersburg, Fla.; William Rumsey of Dover, N. J.; Ann Bissett of Tampa, Fla.; and William Evaul of Louisville, Ky.

Kind Memorial Scholarship winners are J. David Alexander of Knoxville; Zeta Jones of Bristol, Tenn.; John Kerr, Jr. of Maryville; Alice Leeth of Lebanon, Tenn.; Suzanne Wyman of Maryville; Thomas Jobe of Maryville; Marion Huffines of Folsom, Pa.; and Sara Humphries of Birmingham, Ala.

Band Concert Tonight

Tonight the Highlander Concert Band will present its Pops and Marches Concert in the Fine Arts Center amphitheater, beginning at 5 p.m. and lasting through the dinner hour. The program will include light numbers such as "Moon River" and selections by Jerome Kern. The atmosphere will be informal, the audience being invited to eat their sack suppers as they listen.

Alpha Gamma Sigma Takes in Members

On May 25, during the regular morning Chapel hour, Alpha Gamma Sigma celebrated the anniversary of its thirtieth year on this campus.

Following the organ prelude by Alan Hoak, the scripture, Colossians 3:12-17, was read by Dean McClelland. Dr. Copeland, in introducing the main speaker, stressed the importance of intellectual achievement at Maryville since the time of Isaac Anderson, 144 years ago.

President Andrew Johnson and education was the subject discussed by Dr. Leroy Graf, history professor at the University of Tennessee. Dr. Graf elaborated on the controversy surrounding the attitude of the seventeenth president toward formal academic education.

Dr. Copeland summarized the purpose of Alpha Gamma Sigma as an effort "to stimulate interest in intellectual and cultural pursuits in youth." He went on further to classify the members of Alpha Gamma Sigma as active members, associate members, and honorary members.

Stating the requirements for membership, the president of the society, Miss Irmgard Birkelbach, explained that the candidates must be of good moral character, have been in residence for one and one-half years, and have a grade-point ratio of 3.3. Graduating seniors meeting these requirements, as well as two juniors, are eligible to be considered for membership.

The new members, all seniors, welcomed by President Copeland are Sharon L. Jones, Judith E. Mikeal, Clarissa J. Seely, Peggy J. Swafford, and William F. Ward. Mr. E. Newell Witherspoon, secretary of Alpha Gamma Sigma, closed the service with prayer.

COMMENCEMENT CALENDAR

FRIDAY, MAY 31

8:00 a.m. Senior Class Chapel Service

SATURDAY, JUNE 1

8:00 a.m. Chapel Service—Music Program by Faculty Ensemble
12:30 p.m.—2:00 p.m. Alumni Class Reunion Luncheons
5:00 p.m. Band Concert
6:30 p.m. Annual Alumni Dinner

SUNDAY, JUNE 2

10:30 a.m. Baccalaureate Service—Sermon by President Joseph J. Copeland
4:00 p.m. Senior Music Hour
7:30 p.m. Commencement Vespers Speaker, Rev. William G. Walker, Stated Clerk of Mid-South Synod; Pastor, First Presbyterian Church, Lebanon, Tenn.

MONDAY, JUNE 3

8:00 a.m. Chapel Service—Distribution of Prizes

TUESDAY, JUNE 4

8:00 a.m. Chapel Service
3:00 p.m.—5:00 p.m. The President's Reception at Morningside
8:30 p.m. Commencement Play—"The Tempest"

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5

10:30 a.m. Graduation Exercises—Address by K. Arnold Nakajima, Area Secretary, Higher Education, United Presbyterian Board of Christian Education

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor in Chief
LYNN HERRING

Assistant Editor — CHARLOTTA COOK
News Editor — PATRICIA REHM
Feature Editor — ANN HARRISON
Art Editor — GRACE ROSSER
Sports Editors — TODD OWERS and JEANNE PRICE
Exchange Editor — GAIL GARLOCH
Business Manager — PAUL BIGGERS

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Mary Gay Boettcher, Carol Brownlee, Ginna Coon, Elenora Easterly, Gail Garloch, Dave King, Dave Marston, Mildred Miles, Dan Rineer, Jane Swetnam, Sandra Chittick, Louise Crawford, Michael Garrett, Linda Clopton

CIRCULATION: David King, Bruce Bigart, Carole Brownlee, Harold Cones, Ginna Coon, Nelson Miller

PHOTOGRAPHER: Ralph Tucker

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR, MR. FRANK LAYMAN

From the Editor

Commencement is an exciting, inspiring occasion. It is not to be taken lightly. To be a part of the academic procession or to be involved as a student in that institution which the procession represents should be considered an honorable experience. Here is scholarship and academic concern—from the smallest beginnings of the bachelor's degree to those professors who have spent their lives encouraging the pursuit of knowledge and scholarship. Consider the colorful doctoral hoods—from our neighbor the University of Tennessee, to the University of Colorado, the University of Chicago, Yale University, and on and on—all in one place, in one procession, sharing one experience.

To be thrilled by such an occasion is not sentimentality; it is a right and proper attitude. And this is a right and proper time to show respect—not necessarily for individual personalities, but respect for the ideals, the aims, the hopes of higher education as a medium for gaining a clearer understanding of the world as it has been, as it is, as it could be, and for gaining a clearer understanding of ourselves.

Commencement, with all that it represents, is an exciting, inspiring occasion.

Fugitive Pieces

by Gail Garloch

Buying mothballs, brown tape, and stiff twine to pack away our meagre belongings is more exhilarating than buying blue books and ink, and although there is an air of finality about finals, the air of mothballs in a dusty room, empty except for the large boxes advertising Lay's Potato Chips, Northern Tissue, and Handy Hot Water Bottles, is a more symbolic close to the year. As we bid farewell to the campus, some of us for ever, and go our separate ways to Ocean City, Newark, Trenton, Camden, and Atlantic City, we feel that it is finished, that the 350 acres must lie dormant over the summer.

Not so, however, for the evacuation of the student population permits the campus to assume a whole new character, and those who remain have many tasks which must be completed before September 10. The first major project in which all who remain participate with vigor is the general room search. The librarians eagerly reclaim from behind radiators the 82 books for which they have collected $18 in fines. Those with sensitive olfactory systems and adding machines sniff the specially treated woodwork and window sills of dormitory rooms and tabulate demerits at three per whiff. The eight place settings of beige china are removed from each closet, and the sheets and pillowcases which were left on clotheslines and in driers are ironed and placed on the beds in the guestrooms. Hearing rumors that the dining hall bell is in the fishpond, they drain it. The objects of reclamation are many, and by late August there are enough light bulbs, brooms, wastebaskets, spare tires, and blue plastic daffodils to begin another academic year.

The maintanence crew remains hard at work throughout the long hot summer. Cobwebs are swept away, floors waxed, and windows windexed. Probably another floor of Fayerweather will be redecorated and more of the ivy cut back. John Dotter plans to be among those who remain, in order that he may complete his honeysuckling.

The offices in Anderson are astir as long distance phone calls are made to men all over the

Cont'd. Pg. 8. Col. 2

Interview with Mr. Bloy

Ideas on Travel

by Mary Gay Boettcher

After spending two hours haunting the Fine Arts Center and Chapel-Theatre for Mr. Bloy, I walked out the theatre door just as the only red Tempest convertible on campus appeared. With none of the traditional tools of the interviewing trade on hand I loped across the street and caught up with the convertible's owner. "I-am-from-the-newspaper," I began, when met with a politely inquiring look.

When travel, the subject of my interview was announced, we immediately launched into a discussion on roses. Then, as suddenly as this tangent had begun, it was stopped. Within the next ten minutes my conception of travel as a conversational subject changed from a travelogue to a philosophy, of sorts.

As Mr. Bloy said, travel can only be broadening if one doesn't take a ready-made environment along. It is difficult, at best, to begin to accept other customs, cultures, and peoples if wrapped in one's own background. If you go to Europe looking for cheeseburgers, not only will you miss the whole point of travel, but you probably won't find a decent cheeseburger either. Travel, like other things, is only a broadener to those wishing to be broadened.

Mr. Bloy also asserted that travel is a good way to determine which ideas are universal and which are local or individual. Those concepts which one unconsciously thinks of as being exclusively American may well be universally held. Many individual feelings are closely duplicated in people of all countries. And, conversely, those ideas which one thinks of as being the same everywhere may quite easily be of a personal nature and taste.

Since Mr. Bloy is one of the most widely traveled faculty members, I would have liked to pursue the subject further. But we had reached the Fine Arts Center, and, as Mr. Bloy disappeared through a door with his sheaf of music, I remembered that I hadn't taken a word of this down and raced off to meet my deadline.

Spotlight

Lyndon Baines Johnson

by Dave Marston

Traditionally, this column has been devoted to a sketch of some unknown person involved in an important undertaking. This week, however, the Spotlight shifts to a well-known person—Lyndon Johnson—who is engaged in an apparently unimportant task—Vice-President of the United States.

For some months now, there has been growing speculation as to just what LBJ, former Senate majority leader, is doing. Indeed, even at the time of his nomination, there was some conjecture as to how well he would fit in with the Kennedy clan, especially after his last-ditch attempt to win the Presidential nomination for himself.

But after the election, things quieted down, and it was assumed that Johnson had taken to his new job just as easily as he had slipped into the majority leader slot in the Senate. Then there was his well-publicized adventure with the camel driver, and friends confidently agreed that rancher Johnson was certainly in his element. Things looked rosy.

But during the intensive autopsy of the Bay of Pigs fiasco, it became apparent that things were not so rosy after all. Indeed, outside of U.N. delegate Adlai Stevenson, no one involved in the undertaking seemed to have so little to say as Lyndon Johnson, or maybe it was just that nobody was listening.

At any rate, since that time, it has been an open question what Johnson is doing. Constitutionally, he is designated to preside over the Senate and to assist the President whenever necessary. But as presiding officer, Johnson exerts nothing like the influence he did as Majority leader; and as Presidential assistant, the Texas rancher takes an admitted back seat to Kennedy's Harvard brain-trust. To be sure, Johnson does have other responsibilities—such weighty matters as chairing the Peace Corps Advisory Council, and sitting in on Cabinet meetings when invited.

All things considered, it appears that the New Frontier could move forward with equal "vig-ah," with or without the services of Lyndon Johnson. But Johnson will keep his position this term, and probably stump for reelection in 1964 to another four years of solitude. What then? Close friends say Jonhson is eyeing the 1968 Presidential slot, when Jack will have exhausted his eligibility and Teddy will still be a bit young. Some feel that the Kennedys will reward his eight years of obedience with their support for the Presidency. But the majority opinion seems to be that Texans will never have the chance to "go all the way with LBJ."

Prospero (D. Evans) stands on the cubistic mountain, watching his daughter, Miranda (L. Lee) and Ferdinand (J. Kerns).

Curtain Time is 8:30 for the third performance of "The Tempest" here Tuesday.

Technical Effects Surpass Acting In "The Tempest"

by Mildred Miles

Last weekend Shakspere was played in Maryville College Theatre. It is too bad that the best of the Playhouse this season wasn't given to the best of all playwrights.

Though the whole was entertaining, the leading roles were portrayed mechanically and affectedly, comparing very unfavorably with the Playhouse's previous laudable reality and naturalness of characters.

Ariel and Comics Superb

There were highlights, however. Martha Bess Ellis, as Ariel, and David Scotchmer and Robert Dowell as Trinculo and Stephano were superb. Miss Ellis's nimble grace and wispy loveliness were a marvel as well as a delight to see. She couldn't have been more perfect. The two comic friends were unceasingly funny.

Credit should also be given to Wade Hampton for portraying an effectively grotesque Caliban.

Costumes, music, and lighting effects were all used to great advantage. They created a rich and magical tone even before any words were spoken. The set was fascinating but grew somewhat monotonous. There were a few annoying mechanical kinks that surely would have been remedied with more rehearsal time.

Should Not Be Missed

While there are considerable weaknesses the whole is a better than adequate presentation of "The Tempest" and should not be missed by anyone wishing to enrich his life by further acquaintance with Shakspere.

It is interesting to speculate as to what impression would have been given by a production relying solely on the acting, as theater did in Shakspere's day.

It would be even better if such quality of acting were coupled with technical effects like those of the production here.

May The Years Ahead
Bring Success and Happiness

CITY DRUG CO.

May You Enjoy Success
in the Years Ahead!

SEYMOUR'S

Bonnie Woodward
Dariush Hamrahi

Dottie Saint
Lloyd Hanton

Beverly Ball
Don Stupak

Janet Lyerly
Carl Dumford

Merelee Knott
Chuck Steele

Donna Murphy
Chuck Spencer

THE HIGHLAND ECHO
announces these summer marriages and extends to each couple Warmest Congratulations

Marty Rems
Bob Severn

Patt Higdon
Bill Woodby

Carol Cox
Roger Nooe

Ruth Light
Roy Fox

Joy Godbey
Dick Park

Phyllis Weaver
Steve Henderson

Carol Davidson
Don Hensley

Dot Byrd
Kenneth Berry

Libby Lee
Chris Woodman

Linda Probasco
Richard Murchison

Our Sincere Best Wishes To the Class of 1963! HORNE'S FLORIST	We've Enjoyed Serving You Congratulations! VAN'S BAKERY	Best Wishes In All Your Endeavors PET DAIRY	Congratulations Graduates! May You Prosper In The Future LEONARD'S CAFETERIA AND STEAK HOUSE
Our Best Wishes to The Seniors of 1963 ! BYRNE DRUG COMPANY	Our Best Wishes to The Graduates of 1963 BADGETT STORE COMPANY	To the Class of '63 Our Best Wishes! Parks Belk	Best of Luck in the Months and Years that lie ahead. WHITE STAR BUS LINES

ESPECIALLY FOR SENIORS

Here are a few scenes typical of the doings of the Class of 1963 since the first of September, 1959. The words are excerpts from the class history, written and presented at Senior Chapel by Bill Ward, Gail Garloch, Carl McDonald and Ginny Jefferson.

"We took full advantage of the exciting horizons for intellectual development."

"Even our vocabulary increased, adding such words as blue books, roommate, A hour Monday, Stinkin' Shoe, February Meetings, cuts, overcuts, Housemother, Howie, Howie, Chilhowee.

"Dr. Lloyd shared with us his experiences with the three gates of Cambridge University; and we were cheered to find that Maryville topped this total by one. We had the Gilbert's Gate, the Aztec Ruins gate, the College Hill Grill Gate (unfortunately the Grill has since been shut down, but this gate still leads to the cemetery), and number four gate, the northeast gate.

". . . J. D. Davis unleashed the power of public prayer against hapless Carson-Newman. The Great Football Coach in the Sky answered our prayer, and stopped a 2 point conversion for our victory 14-12, the first win in 3 years. Newcomer Coach Baird went around singing 'Somebody up there likes me,' for 2 weeks."

"It snowed once that winter—no it snowed twice that winter. And we found out that dining hall trays and bed springs were good for more than one thing. After the third snowstorm, we all agreed that enough was enough. The fourth blizzard lasted all through February, and some of the more optimistic students whistled, "I'm dreaming of a green Easter.' "

"Spring finally did come and with her came the rite of the missing Maypole. They finally wised up and bought two Maypoles, but that just gave us one more to steal."

"Spring also brought 'Ivory Palaces,' played by a little man with Wagnerian gusto . . ."

"All American number 35 was retired, and we stood in chapel for the first time since the DAR."

"The Class of '61 had a distinguished alumnus; after 31 years of trying, Dr. Lloyd graduated from college."

" . . . a February Meetings leader had been promoted to President of the college."

"We discovered that the 'New Regime' was beneficent, as in quick succession, the Tuesday Morning Club was abolished, and girls became legal on Sunday, as did golf, tennis, and other games."

"We picked daisies for graduation and looked forword to the day when the junior class would pick them for us."

Murphy-West
MOTOR COMPANY
CHEVROLET-OLDSMOBILE
MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE

Good Luck to the
Class of 1963
CAPITOL
THEATRE

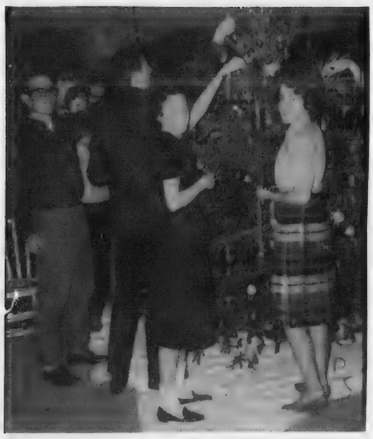
Congratulations and
Best Wishes
HARTMAN'S
FLOWERS

Congratulations Grads!
May You Enjoy Much Happiness
GIFF'S
SPORTING GOODS

Congratulations, Seniors!
We've Enjoyed Serving You
Minton's

May Your Labor
Always Prosper
THE
J and K
SUPER STORES
Maryville—Alcoa

May The Years Ahead
Bring Success!
PARK DRUG STORE
CAMERA STORE



Best Wishes To
All The Seniors
CHRISTIAN
BOOK NOOK

"We returned to our senior year, horrified at all the special studies we didn't do over the summer, and we glumly looked forward to doing a year's worth of work in three months."

"There was a time when dogs outnumbered students."

"We took arms against a sea of honeysuckle, and by opposing caught poison ivy."

Entering the "World Out There"

DISPERSED SENIORS WILL HOLD VARIETY OF JOBS

Following the great dispersion next Wednesday, members of the class of '63 may be found spread from Pakistan to San Francisco. Although many plans aren't definite yet, at least 27 graduates plan to teach next year, while some 28 are looking toward further academic work. Twelve of the latter group will be at a theological seminary. About 15 members of the class will add the title of husband or wife to their new degree.

Below, some of the predictions of the class prophets, John Dotter, Caroline McCaskill and Carl McDonald are interspersed with (perhaps) more realistic plans. The prophecies, which were read at the senior banquet, are boxed.

* * * *

Janet Adsit plans to be a laboratory technologist in or around Chattanooga.

Lee Armentrout will teach second grade, Birmingham, Alabama.

Anna Baker will be a Director of Christian Education.

Beverly Ball will marry and teach music in Cleveland, Ohio.

Connie Beagle will be a secretary-youth worker, Fort Lauderdale.

Mary Beatty will teach third or fourth grade, Troy, Ohio.

Paul Biggers will study political science at New York State University.

Sondra Bracken will enter training for Peace Corps service in West Pakistan.

Rosalind Brown will teach in Parkesburg, Pennsylvania.

Scott Bucher will enter Naval Officers' Candidate School, Rhode Island.

Singtoh Changtakul will study education at the University of Tennesse Graduate School.

Linda Clopton will be editorial assistant at the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, Richmond, Virginia.

Wendy Compton will enter training for Peace Corps service in the Philippines.

Carol Cox will marry Roger Nooe and teach retarded children in Harodsburg, Kentucky.

Ann Stimson can be found hip deep in the cypress swamps of the Everglades studying the water table. Jeanne Price is housmother for Sigma Tau fraternity house at VPI where she is still patiently awaiting Mike's graduation. Trudy Vredenburgh is now Wisconsin sweetheart for the International Dairy Association

Merelee Knott, teaching English at an Army School in Hawaii, has successfully patented a wrist alarm watch, set according to her own standards.

Joan Creadick will teach second grade in Bethesda, Maryland.

John Dotter will study at San Francisco Seminary.

Carl Dumford will study at Louisville Seminary.

John Ehasz plans to teach math in New Jersey.

Frances Frost will be a graduate assistant in bacteriology at the University of Tennessee.

Libby Fuqua will teach in Richmond, Indiana.

Gail Garloch will study English at the University of Tennessee Graduate School.

Mike Garrett will study at McCormick Seminary, Chicago.

Harry Giffin will enter business.

Margie Gillespie will teach near Pittsburgh.

Janet Glasgow will teach second grade in Pittman, Ohio.

J. L. Goins will enter business.

Joy Godbey will marry Dick Park and teach in Louisville.

Sondra Bracken is now in East Pakistan as a curator of the contemporary art collection of Sally Iralu Everett . . . Carl Dumford was baseball pitcher for the 1988 alumni student baseball game at Louisville Seminary. John Dotter, alias "Jack Sprat"—an internationally famous Barthian theologian — can be found down at Home Avenue shining shoes.

Gail Garloch, a PhD scholar at UT, is turning out her tenth volume on Dylan Thomas which has a complete analysis of his erotic imagery. Harry Giffin is now baseball coach and store proprietor in Little Rock, Arkansas. Rich Gossweiler is now in the third week of a Senate filibuster . . . Joe Fink can be found investigating the ecological habitat of the Canadian water-guppy in the Hudson Bay Region.

Richard Gossweiler will study history in graduate school.

Wade Hampton will be in the Navy for two years, then graduate school.

Ann Harrison will teach in Cumberland County, Tennessee.

Steve Henderson will marry Phyllis Weaver and study education and psychology at Iowa State University Graduate School.

Lynn Herring will study English at the University of Tennessee Graduate School.

George Herron will study at the University of Tennessee Graduate School.

Art Ihrig will do graduate work in chemistry at the University of Kentucky.

Ginny Jefferson will teach in Nashville, Tennessee.

Lois Ann Jones will work toward a Masters in Christian Education at Princeton Seminary.

Sharon Jones will teach music in a public school system.

Nancy Kinsman will teach high school math in Parma, Ohio.

Fred Kren will enter physical therapy training in Pittsburgh.

Jim Kring will enter graduate school in biology, University of Tennessee.

Merelee Knott will marry Chuck Steele and teach in Pittsburgh.

Ann Kuykendall will teach in Decatur, Georgia.

Carolyn Lurcott will study at Louisville Seminary.

Janet Lyerly will marry Carl Dumford and teach in Louisville.

Carl McDonald will sell for Colgate Palmolive Company, Manchester, New Hampshire.

Caroline McCaskill will attend Pittsburgh Seminary.

Joyce Hutchison, known as JUICE, is the dietician for the Cook County jail. Ginny Jefferson has written a first primer on the Civil War entitled "Run Yankee Run."

Dolores Kimber is investigating, the psychological effects of the Brazilian coffee bean.

Robert Mahley will attend Vanderbilt Medical School in Nashville.

Ed Mitchell will attend Vanderbilt Divinity School.

Judith Mikeal will study history at the University of North Carolina.

Mildred Miles will work in Louisville and do part time graduate work at the University of Louisville.

Donna Murphy will marry Chuck Spencer and work at a hospital in Louisville.

* * * *

Richard Norman will do graduate work in history.

Sandra Presley will teach high school English in Cable County, Georgia.

Jeanne Price will teach first grade in Bethesda, Maryland.

Brad Rehm will attend McCormick Seminary, Chicago.

Patricia Rehm will teach school in Chicago.

Marty Rems will marry and work as a Director of Christian Education in Philadelphia.

Grace Rosser will do advertizing work in a department store in Maryland.

Dottie Saint will marry and work in Detroit.

George Schember will do graduate work in history at the University of Tennessee.

Clarissa Seely will enter Peace Corps training for service in Thailand.

Midge Slater will attend Pittsburgh Seminary for one year.

Judy Smith will teach English in Knoxville.

Chuck Spencer will attend Louisville Seminary.

Alice Stengel will attend Presbyterian School of Christian Education, Richmond, Virginia.

* * * *

Dave Styles will remain close to Maryville.

Peggy Swafford will be organist at First Baptist Church, Maryville and will teach piano and organ.

Jane Swetnam plans to direct a church student union at a college in Louisiana.

Phyllis Tepper will teach in Parma, Ohio.

Jennie Wyatt will be a Director of Christian Education in the Presbyterian church's Mission to the Mountains, Hazard, Kentucky.

Bill Ward will study radiation genetics at Johns Hopkins.

Bill Weissenburger will go to Quantico in Virginia for Marine Corps Officer Training, then to Pensacola for flight school.

Linda Wherry will teach a class of slow learners, Auburndale, Florida.

Ray Williams will attend Officer Training School for the USAF.

Bonnie Woodward will marry Dariush Hamrahi and teach biology near Johnson City, Tennessee.

SPRING SPORTALK

by Todd Owers

Just hours remain in the school year 1962-63; as these hours dimly fade into nothing the sights and sounds of a new September come crowding into Focus as our exam-weary minds relax at last, and ponder idly upon next year.

There are thoughts, feelings, impressions, of football fever, with the shrill sound of the referee's whistle breaking the stillness of the crisp, Maryville autumn air. There are thoughts of the first big home football game with Centre College and pep rallies with huge, hot bonfires on the baseball field. Flames leap to the very heights of heaven in this setting; crackling embers glow red hot and reflect pert, excited Maryville College coeds in slacks and sweatshirts who cheer and cast glances at fellows wearing unconventional bermuda shorts, weird hats, and an assortment of color-clashing clothes bold enough to make one's eyes fairly dazzle. Society skits, laughter, and fun abound, with cheers spontaneously flowing forth from eight vivacious cheerleaders. Rousing music whips the crowd into a frenzied peak and prepares them for a talk from Coach Baird. Finally, in the light of the dying embers from the exhausted bonfire, the college choir sings their inspiring rendition of the alma mater.

September passes (a month of introduction it is) and October blossoms forth, colorful October, glamourous October. There is the Homecoming Parade through the sunlit streets of downtown Maryville. There are snake dances, floats galore, pretty majorettes, and Coaches and Captains riding in new automobiles, waving to the crowd, talking and laughing, looking uncomfortable all the while. There is the big Homecoming game that night, with the colorful spectacle of the halftime ceremonies, the announcement of the winning float, and the dimming of the lights with fire batons streaking against the blackness of the night sky. This night a very happy young woman will be crowned 1963 Homecoming Queen of Maryville College.

November will come, cold and bleak, with leafless trees which appear not to notice the biggest paid crowd of the year jam its way through the Honaker Field turnstiles the night of November 16, for the final football game of the year against arch-rival Carson-Newman College.

Undoubtedly, next year's student body has many thrills and happy moments awaiting them in the small college sports storehouse of intercollegiate athletics. The long, hot summer months will come and go. September will come—all too soon for football players, not soon enough for the remainder of the student body. Come September there will be another year, which (with the passage of time) will slowly dissolve into a million memories, just as this past year has.

Memories are made of many things—laughter, tears, heartaches, joys, victories and defeats. Through these memories as we live them, we begin to feel more strongly than ever, all the warmth and excitement of the Saturday evening football goers as we rise to our feet with one accord, a full-throated roar upon our lips as we cheer the orange and garnet jerseyed player on, as he twists his way through a broken field toward the last white line. We cheer and we applaud and are caught up in the excitement of life, momentarily forgetting our troubles, anxieties, and disappointments. Slowly, surely, and unmistakably we come to the realization that all this, and much more, is Maryville College — at its unforgettable best!

ELLISON SWIMS 50 MILES

David Ellison, a freshman from Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, recently completed 50 miles in the Red Cross Swim-To-Stay-Fit Program, sponsored by Maryville College and the Blount County Red Cross. The program is paced in quarter mile segments, which equals eighteen times the length of our pool, or nine round trips.

All told, Dave swam thirty-six hundred lengths, or almost 270,000 feet. Needless to say, this was accomplished over the course of the entire year, rather than in one or two concentrated efforts.

The Swim-To-Stay-Fit Program will be repeated again next year for all swimmers who would like to stay fit. (And you don't have to swim 50 Miles!)

Happiness and misery consist in a progression toward better and worse; it does not matter how high up or low down you are, it depends not on this, but on the direction in which you are tending.

—Samuel Butler

Martin's DRUG STORE
401 S. Washington St. Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.
Offering Maryville College Students
a complete line of cosmetics,
plus
a reliable prescription service
Located just off campus on Washington St.

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"
BANKING SERVICES
*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
*CHECK ACCOUNTS
*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
*TRANSFER OF FUNDS
— Your College Bank —
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Save up to 59¢ on

Eatons
FINE LETTER PAPERS
in double quantity boxes
Take advantage of this economy packaging of beautiful Eaton writing papers to buy ahead for yourself—and for gifts! (Price band is easily removed for gift-giving.) Full range of tints and textures.
White Office Machines
Corner Broadway at College

SIGS SEAR PHI 14-4!

by Dave King

Alpha Sigma won the annual Stinkin' Shoe softball game, 14-4, Wednesday afternoon May 22, with a remarkable outburst that saw 21 hits splattered to all parts of the field. Kappa Phi, in one of their poorest performances of the season, could do nothing right against a Sig team that could do no wrong that day.

The undisputed star of the game was Sig's Ed Zeigler, who proved that married life can have its advantages. Zeigler allowed 8 hits, 4 of them coming in the first inning. In addition to this, he was Sig's top batter, reaching base safely every time he came to bat with 5 solid smashes, including a bombing triple in the seventh.

Phi began the game as though they really meant business but quickly ran out of steam. Earl Flansburg and Rich Murchison led off with back to back singles. Then Bert Randall singled and took second on an error, driving in both runs. From that point on, Zeigler got stingy with his pitches and Phi couldn't score again until the last inning. Ken Young got on on an error and rode home on Carl McDonald's screaming triple, Jerry Kerns sacrificed Carl home for the fourth and final Phi tally.

Alpha Sigma, who seems to be making a tradition out of winning Stinkin' Shoe softball games, scored in almost every inning. Their barrage began in the second when Fiedler walked and Guy Dietz, who collected 4 hits that day, singled. Jerry Stewart reached base on a fielder's choice and both he and Dietz later scored. The next inning saw two more runners cross the plate, as Wayne Samson took the first of his 3 hits of the day and then Dietz had another. This scored Huskey and Samson.

Sig's biggest inning was the fifth, when the bats of Samson, Dietz, Zeigler, Mobbs, and DeRan literally smoked from the ensuing four run outburst. In the seventh inning, it was Samson, Stewart, Zeigler, and Mobbs (who reached base 5 times during the game) who teamed to tear at the melting Phi's. Even the last inning wasn't safe from the fury of the Sig's, as Boyd, Zeigler, Mobbs and Malloy scratched Bert Randall for 3 runs before the side was retired.

When the smoke finally cleared, Alpha Sigma stood triumphant.

Socks and Sneakers

by Ginna Coon

The Women's "M" Club brought its activities to a close at the annual retreat at Cades Cove May 18 and 19. At the retreat the election of officers was held: Janet Reinke was elected President; Ann Doscher, Vice President; Nancy White, Treasurer; Barbara Pettigrew, Secretary; Lorraine Briggs and Joyce Hooper, Program Secretaries. Also at the retreat Women's "M" Club, as coordinators of the WAA program, took a stand on the annual powderpuff football game. The letter is as follows:

"M" Club Recommendation

To the Maryville College student body,

At the M Club Spring Retreat last week-end the fall sports program was discussed. The decision was reached by the Club that the WAA will no longer sponsor the traditional girls' powderpuff football game held in the fall, and we do not recommend that it be played in the Inter-Society Sports program. The basis for this decision is that we feel the game itself is too rough and is no longer played only for the sportsmanship of the game. However, we are planning another sport to take the place of the powderpuff game. Since there has been considerable interest shown in the game of field hockey, we are looking into the possibilities of setting up Inter-society girls' field hockey.

Barbara Pettigrew,
Secretary — Women's M Club
1963-64

The special guest on the retreat was Mrs. Carle (Connie) Davis who will be taking Miss Leslie's place this coming year in the Physical Education Department. She will not only take over Miss Leslie's classes but will become the new director of WAA, and sponsor of Women's "M" Club.

The following letter, addressed to WAA was received this week:

Ladies:

WAA participation and enthusiasm was at a peak this year. More girls enjoyed a variety of events spiced with a keen spirit of competition. The success of this program was made possible by the fine leadership of Women's "M" Club and the vigorous support of each player. To all these girls and to everyone who has contributed so much time and energy for the purpose of recreation in WAA, I wish to express my sincere appreciation. A personal thanks is extended to the officers and members of Women's "M" Club and the physical education departments for their leadership and cooperation.

I am sure that with the growing interest and achievement in sportsmanship shown in the past three years the WAA program will continue to share success and fun . . .

Mary Dee Leslie
WAA Sponsor

College Students
Faculty Members
College Libraries
Printed In BOSTON
LOS ANGELES
LONDON
SUBSCRIBE NOW AT HALF PRICE
Clip this advertisement and return it with your check or money order to:
The Christian Science Monitor
One Norway St., Boston 15, Mass.
☐ 1 YEAR $11 ☐ 6 mos. $5.50
☐ COLLEGE STUDENT
☐ FACULTY MEMBER
P-CN

MUSE TEN

The birth of a new season:
The wind in the pines on the hill
Reminds me of other days, on other hills,
With other hopes.

The birth of a new year:
Not bleak January, but from Spring to Spring,
The season of the clean and fresh
And new.

The birth of a new life:
A chance to start again;
To forget the blunders of the past
And strive toward future hopes
And heights.

The birth of a new love:
To watch the growth of new dreams
Reminiscent of other dreams, in other seasons,
With other loves.

—Linda Clopton

* * * * * *

Stone slab nestled in lazy grass
While breezes slide past sunbeams
Glancing from marble, —
Crazy dancing;

Bounding back to warm the robin
And God his inspiration
Throating soft trills, —
Lazy floating;

Charms a discontented ear,
The world comes rushing in,
While briefly this giving, —
Happy living.

—Lynn Herring

* * * * * *

The person asked God to speak to him.
And God asked, "Are you willing to accept the full responsibility of Love?"
"No, I think not."
So God did not speak.

I asked a friend, "What is your purpose in life?"
"Purpose?"
My friends are fewer by one.

—Don Jackman

* * * * * *

Renaissance

As breaks the dawn over golden rim of earth
To light the sky with hues of radiant pink,
Foretelling that Heaven now proclaims new birth
Of Life: And angels hang new daylight on brink
Of Time, to await the Word of God Omnipotent.
He speaks and the light of day again breaks through.
So I, alone now, see the dawn and think
The thoughts of one who must his faith renew;
Faith that now must to your counsel bid adieu.
Fear not! I know I now can stand alone,
Convincing myself, although I speak to you.
The words which I, listening, heard you in tone
Tarnish not as dawn's dim light breaks o'er my mind.
They give my heart warm promise of the friendship of Time.

—Dan Rineer

SEEN...

"If Winter comes can Spring be far behind?"

How about a ballad of the Far East?

Cake and ice-cream orgy.

Not just any old art exhibit . . .

AND HEARD...

Coughing bushes and laughing trees . . . Awards anyone? . . . Three perfectly good bottoms and no tops . . . The New Dorm waterfront . . . Mellowed rib cage . . . Tombstone rubbings . . . Under the sheet . . . Elephants and white sneaks . . . 21 and teen-of-the-week? . . . Oh for a photographic memory! . . . Summer school and quarter-hours . . . The graphite reactor . . . Death of exemptions . . . The original version . . . Tassels and hem lengths and "swaying together" . . . The Honeysuckle Chain . . . Our revels now are ended.

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student
116 West Broadway

botany...monotony
notes...quotes...trig
...dig...review...stew
fuss...discuss...cram
exam...wow...whew
...pause

take a break...things go better with Coke
Bottled under the authority of The Coca-Cola Company by: RODDY MFG. CO.

Maryville College
STUDENT CENTER
proudly serves
FULLER LOCKER PLANT
Hamburgers
Hot Dogs

MC Playhouse Announces Plays For 1963-1964

The 1963-64 season of the Maryville College Playhouse will open with the light and exciting "Kiss Me Kate," a "play within play" written by Sam and Belin a play" written by Sam and Bela Spewack, and based on a play by William Shakespeare. Music and lyrics are by Cole Porter. This play will run October 25, November 1 nad 2, 1963.

The second production on January 10 and 11, 1964, will be either "A Man for All Seasons" by Robert Bolt, the story of Sir Thomas More, the author of "Utopia"; or Arthur Miller's "The Crucible," a tragic drama set in seventeenth century America during the period of persecution and witch trials in Salem.

On March 13 and 14, 1964, the Playhouse will present Henrik Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler," the first and greatest psychological study of a woman to be presented on stage.

The final play of the season will be "Teahouse of the August Moon," by John Patrick. This comedy won both the Pulitzer Prize and the Critics' Circle award. It will run May 1 and 2 and May 29, 1964.

If a man has a talent and cannot use it, he has failed. If he has a talent and uses only half of it, he has partly failed. If he has a talent and learns somehow to use the whole of it, he has gloriously succeeded, and won a satisfaction and a triumph few men ever know.

—Thomas Wolfe

D. Edelman Elected Officer of Circle K

At its annual district convention held at the Farragut Hotel in Knoxville on April 19-20, Dennis Edelman of Maryville College was elected secretary of the Kentucky-Tennessee District of the Circle K International for 1963-64. This office involves the taking of the minutes of district meetings; compiling and printing of the district bulletin; and gathering of reports from the 27 clubs in the district.

Maryville College placed in two competitive events, taking fourth place in both the achievement report contest and in the single service activity contest.

Cont'd. from Pg. 2, Col. 2

country in order to even up the freshman ratio and make it financially practical to reopen Carnegie Hall. Evaluations are reevaluated, new faculty members hired, and the IBM overhauled. The printing office is also busy as a year's supply of pink slips, blue slips, library fine slips, Y-rooms permission slips, and commitment cards is processed. M-Books are manufactured and mailed, as are the first pleading letters to the new crop of alumni. Of course the treasurer's office remains open, eagerly awaiting the build-up of $25 checks.

Those who remain in the book store supervise the termite and wasp exterminating process and order a new supply of textbooks, bluebooks, yellowpads, Christmas cards, black and blue binders, and 5c stamps. The bookstore people have lots of Time on their hands, as few students remember to have their addresses changed. It's always good to come back in the fall to the nine Presbyterian Lives which the bookstore has graciously preserved through the summer.

During the summer months several groups take advantage of the facilities our campus affords. The high school United Presbyterian Youth conference is a typical one. The youngsters live in the dormitories and eat in the dining hall. They go to chapel in the mornings and attend classes during the day on such topics as Old Testament Bible Studies, Christian Ethics in Our Society, Group Recreation, and Religious Drama. During the afternoons they swim in the pool, play ping-pong, tennis and golf, and stroll arm in arm over the campus. After the preaching service each evening, there is a period of supervised recreation which may include a square dance on the tennis courts, a sing on the chapel steps, a games night on the intramural field, or an open discussion of Sex and the Single Presbyterian. Adolescents need a lot of rest, and so they are usually expected to be in their dormitories by 11:00. To these visitors we might express gratitude, for they keep the dogs well fed, they keep our chapel seats from getting dusty, and in general, they keep those who remain from getting too lonesome for us during the all too short summer vacation.

As I would not be a slave, so I would not be a master. This expresses my idea of democracy.

Abraham Lincoln

Schiller Elected IRC President

After a successful if brief period of organization this year the International Relations Club has elected its officers for next year. Roberto Schiller of Brazil will take the presidential post vacated by John Vordonis, graduating senior from Greece. The other new officers are Carol Rugh, vice-president; John Nelson, program chairman; Gail Poth, secretary.

The club's last activity of the year was the International Festival, held in the Intramural Gym on May 13. The entertainment came from several countries—Norma Sharp taught folk dances from Africa, Roberto Schiller supervised the Bossa Nova and Limbo. John Nikpur (Iran) told Iranian tales, Margret Schmidt (Germany) sang, Beatriz Marroquin (Mexico) played the harmonica, Carol Rugh did an Indian dance, and John Vordonis and Dr. Mehl did a Greek folk dance.

Refreshments also had the international flavor. Russian tea was served with Siamese shrimp-flavored wafers and Indian pakoras, which are fried concoctions containing some onion and green pepper. Himalyan apricot bars and Italian aniseed wafers added to the variety of the table.

Alumni Return Tonight For Annual Banquet

The annual alumni banquet will be held tonight, Saturday evening, June 1, at 6:30 p.m. in the Pearsons dining hall. The program will include business of the alumni association followed by the presentation of classes having their twenty-fifth and fiftieth reunions this year. Joyce Hutchison and Mike Garrett are providing the entertainment. Dr. Copeland will conclude the banquet as he awards citations to three alumni who have become outstanding in their fields.

New Echo Editor Announces Staff

New editor of the Highland Echo, Charlotta Cook, has recently announced the staff for next year. A junior English major from East Liverpool, Ohio, Miss Cook has appointed as copy editor Sandra Scofield, junior English major from Glenside, Pa.; as news editor Elenora Easterly, sophomore English major from LaFollette, Tenn.; as feature editor Mary Janovich, sophomore English major from Claysville, Pa.; as men's sports editor Dave King, sophomore sociology major from Coraopolis, Pa.; as women's sports editor Ginna Coon, junior sociology major form Amherst, New York; as art editor Deanna Sturgell, junior art major from Paris, Illinois.

In preparation for full assumption of Echo management next fall, the new staff has worked in cooperation with the present staff members on the last two issues this spring.

A powerful agent is the right word. Whenever we come upon one of those intensely right words in a book or a newspaper the resulting effect is physical as well as spiritual, and electrically prompt.

—Mark Twain

Dr., Mrs. Copeland Attend Meeting of General Assembly

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Copeland attended the meeting of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in U.S.A. in Des Moines, Iowa, from May 16 to 22. Under his role as a member of the Board of Christian Education, President Copeland was sent to the Assembly as an advisory member of the standing committee, the Church and Society Committee.

This committee reports to the Assembly on such issues as the racial problems, population explosion, armaments race, migrant labor, and corporate worship in public schools. After discussion, a vote is taken, and the Assembly makes a pronouncement on the issue. Each presbytery has a year to vote for, against, or not to take action. These pronouncements serve as guide lines or challenges to the Church.

A main issue of this year's General Assembly was by a special committee concerning the action taken by the Presbyterian, as a Protestant Church, on the relations of church and state.

There were 840 commissioners elected to the Assembly to represent the 3,200,000 members of the U.P.U.S.A. In addition, many foreign countries were represented.

Always Look Your Best

SEE US FOR ALL YOUR DRY CLEANING NEEDS

MARYVILLE CLEANERS

Contact Your Dormitory Agent—

Carnegie & Memorial—JOE FINK, ED KRUSMAN

New Dorm—SANDY SCOFIELD

Pearsons—SUE QUIGG

Baldwin—JANET MELVILLE

CUT OUT AND SAVE — TELL YOUR NEIGHBORS TO LISTEN

SUGGESTED RADIO PROGRAMS FOR THINKING AMERICANS

"LIFE LINE"	WGAP	1400 KC	DAILY	6:00 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WKXV	900 KC	MONDAY	5:45 P.M.
THE MANION FORUM	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:45 P.M.
CHURCH LEAGUE OF AMERICA	WGAP	1400 KC	SUNDAY	12:30 P.M.
20th CENTURY REFORMATION	WKXV	900 KC	MON.-FRI.	7:45 A.M.
CITIZENS COUNCIL	WGAP	1400 KC	THURS.	6:00 P.M.
INDEPENDENT AMERICAN	WKXV	900 KC	FRIDAY	5:45 P.M.
DR. KERSHNER	WGAP	1400 KC	WED.	6:00 P.M.

(Education for Americanism, Inc., P.O. Box 255, Maryville, Tenn.)

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Washington Avenue

Sealtest TRADE MARK DAIRY PRODUCTS

CONGRATULATIONS SENIORS!

We Wish You The Best in Years to Come.

1963 - 1964

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

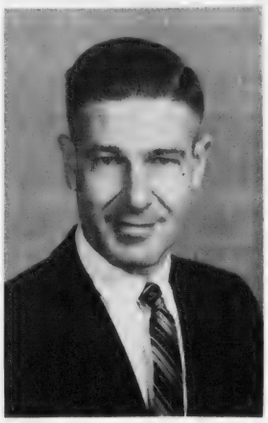
Vol. 49 | Maryville Tennessee, September 28, 1963 | No. 1

Dean's List

SENIORS

Brown, Rosalind — 3.25
Bucher, Scott — 3.75
Creadick, Joan — 3.50
Godbey, Joy — 3.33
Herring, Lynn — 3.80
Herron, George — 4.00
Jefferson, Virginia — 3.25
Jones, Sharon — 4.00
Keesling, Marcia — 3.42
Kinsman, Nancy — 3.83
Kuykendall, Ann — 4.00
Lurcott, Carolyn — 3.75
Mahley, Robert — 3.25
Marroquin, Beatriz — 3.40
Mikeal, Judith — 3.64
Miles, Mildred — 3.63
Murphy, Donna — 3.34
Schember, George — 3.25
Seely, Clarissa — 3.50
Skeen, Mary Frances — 3.25
Slater, Mildred — 3.56
Spencer, Charles — 3.62
Swafford, Peggy — 3.81
Vredenburgh, Gertrude — 3.37
Ward, William — 3.73
Williams, Raymond — 3.50
Williamson, Frances — 3.25
Ziegler, Edward — 3.28

JUNIORS



Anderson, Patricia — 3.33
Berg, Barbara — 3.37
Blanchard, Cynthia — 3.62
Brown, Philip — 3.60
Brown, Shirley — 3.43
Cook, Charlotta — 3.47
Dozier, Margaret — 4.00
Ellis, Martha Bess — 3.27
Fieg, Karen — 3.62
Fisher, Norma — 3.60
Harrison, Kenneth — 3.71
Hodgson, William — 3.43
Horne, Margaret — 3.61
Lewis, Alice — 3.47
Marston, David — 3.42
Marx, David — 3.26
Murchison, Richard — 3.43
Probasco, Linda — 3.83
Rago, Stephen — 3.37
Randall, Albert — 3.83
Runyon, Joan — 4.00
Showalter, John — 3.35
Spangler, John — 3.27
Spraetz, Webb — 3.66
Stewart, Gordon — 3.33
Stewart, Sandra — 3.44
Stults, Miriam — 3.60
Sturmfels, Gloria — 3.82
Taylor, Suzanne — 3.52

SOPHOMORES

Carter, Ruth — 3.27
Criner, Jane — 3.45
Flanary, Lois — 3.82
Han, Fileen — 3.67
Hanson, Margaret — 3.48
Heckler, Harry — 3.68
Henderson, James — 3.26
Huff, Carolyn — 3.88
Kirk, Kathie — 3.56
Mitchell, William — 3.60
Moyers, Michael — 3.62
Nichols, John — 3.47
Salmon, Thomas — 3.52
Walters, Judith — 3.55
Wells, Randall — 3.38

FRESHMEN

Briggs, Sandra — 3.70
Brownlee, Carole — 3.25
Carter, Margaret — 3.25
Chittick, Sandra — 3.65
Crawford, Louise — 4.00
Erwin, William — 3.31
Fowke, Carol — 3.43
Haggart, Margaret — 3.35
Horne, Linda — 3.62
Jefferson, Marianne — 3.41
Millin, Paul — 3.31
Mitchell, Mary — 3.56
Peyton, Alice — 3.75
Powell, David — 3.52
Renne, Keith — 3.82
Tiffany, Celia — 3.64

Horst Will Chair P-R Department

Among the unfamiliar faces on campus, some of the newer students may include that of A. Thomas Horst, Associate Professor of Philosophy and Religion. Mr. Horst, however, is better acquainted with Maryville College than most of the students. For the past two years he has taken a leave of absence for continued study, but prior to that, Mr. Horst was a part of the Department of Philosophy and Religion, joining the faculty in 1956.

Working toward a PhD degree at Emory University, Mr. Horst has studied for the last two years in the Graduate Institute of the Liberal Arts. He was in an interdisciplinary program, in which his study was centered on two academic disciplines: philosophy and religion. Mr. Horst will now jokingly speak of his ABD degree—All But Dissertation.

Mr. Horst entered Maryville College as a student in 1944 and was graduated in December of 1947. He then entered McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago from which he received a BD degree in 1950. After serving for three years as pastor of a church in Illinois and then one in East Tennessee, Mr. Horst came to Maryville to teach in 1956. He is now Chairman of the Department of Bible, Philosophy, and Religion.

Library Adds New Services

The library has made many new additions and improvements of services provided in the library and in the dormitories. These include the addition of new stacks, new office space, a rotating dormitory collection, and a weekly news map.

The news map is expensive to maintain, but it is felt that if students make use of the map, they will find it an effective means of keeping abreast of current news events. The map comes with the news stories which were in the headlines during the previous week, pictures illustrating the stories, a map which pinpoints the location of these events, plus a special feature.

Because of the Kellogg Foundation Grant, the college is to receive 10,000 books over a period of 3 years. This has made necessary the new office space to accommodate the large number of books. New stacks are located in the 400's and part of the 500's at the east end of the building.

Signs have been placed to aid students in relocating books.

In addition to the services offered in the library itself, lending collections have been placed in each of the dorms on a rotating basis. Cards are provided for self-service and there is a flexible time limit on keeping the books.

Foundations Award Dr. Young Grants

Doctor David Young of Maryville College's chemistry department recently obtained $3500 in research grants.

A $2000 academic year extension grant from the National Science Foundation is for use over a two year period in synthetic organic chemistry research. Dr. Young received this grant as a result of his research this summer at the University of Florida. He has chosen Bill DeWeese, a senior at Maryville College, to work on the project.

A $1500 grant, awarded to Dr. Young as a young scientist by the petroleum Research Fund of the American Chemical Society, will allow him to do research in organal phosphorus chemistry at Maryville College.

College Engages New Faculty, Staff

New faculty and staff at Maryville College this September include six full-time teachers, six part-time instructors, and three staff members.

Miss Alice Bliss of Decatur, Georgia, will instruct in English. Mrs. Carl M. Davis of Maryville will instruct in health and physical education. Edgar H. Drum, a TVA attorney who lives in Maryville will teach a special course in business law.

Thomas I. Hicks, who has been a physicist with the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Huntsville, Alabama, and with the U. S. Navy Mine Defense at Panama City, Florida, will teach physics. He was formerly instructor in physics at Howard College, Birmingham, and is continuing advanced study at the University of Tennessee.

Grady W. Humphrey will teach education. Miss Sharon Jones, a 1963 graduate of Maryville College, will instruct in music. Mrs. Robert A. Lynn, wife of Dr. Lynn, professor of economics and business administration, will coach the debate team. Robert Mahley, a '63 graduate, will instruct in the biology department. Mrs. Stuart P. McNeil, who formerly taught at the college, will teach two courses in the history of civilization.

Miss Carolyn Scruggs, a resident of Maryville, will instruct in music. Jerry E. Waters, a Maryville graduate, will be teaching psychology. Mrs. E. Leslie Webb of Maryville will teach two classes in freshman English.

New members of the staff include Mrs. Ruby Gillespie assistant house mother in Pearsons; David O. Styles of Atlanta, admissions counselor; and Mrs. Christopher Tang, wife of associate professor Dr. Tang, periodicals librarian.

Sue Quigg, band sponsor for 1963-64, is shown above with drum major Hal Laster during the presentation ceremony last Saturday evening at the half-time show of the Maryville-Mars Hill game. She was sponsored by Kappa Phi and elected by the band members.

Campus Improves During Summer

Those on campus for the first time, and perhaps many others, may not be aware of the massive improvements undertaken by the College during the summer months. In Anderson Hall, for the purposes of coordination and efficiency, the offices of the President, the Dean of the College, and the Director of Development, whose work is integrated, are being relocated together. An underground area has been excavated to house the office of the Director of Information Services. One of the three stairways in Anderson, not considered necessary, will be replaced by a general reception center to serve these four offices.

Although not an actual part of the remodeling plan, necessary work is being done to renew the gutter system and improve the roof of Anderson. Estimates of a completion date range from Thanksgiving to Christmas.

Fayerweather Science Hall was the scene of large-scale remodeling. New floors, lights, paint, storage rooms, and offices were the results of work in the physics section, while in the biology department, partitions were added to form lecture rooms, laboratories, and an informal reading room for individual use or a seminar.

Six classrooms, the hallways, and half of the exterior of Thaw Hall were painted. An old storage area was redone to make another room available to the library.

One-third of the rooms in Baldwin, Pearsons, Carnegie, and Memorial were repainted, as were the football bleachers and the swimming pool. The New Dormitory gained a second smoking area. Several rooms in Bartlett were made ready to accommodate the larger number of boys enrolled this semester. The book store was made more modern, with new glass counters and post office area. With the help of $400 from the Class of 1963, the dining hall added a walk-in freezer.

Messiah Rehearsals To Begin October 14

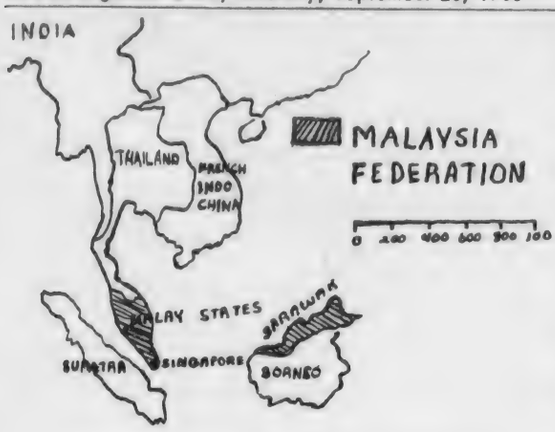
Rehearsals for the thirty-first annual presentation of Handel's "The Messiah" will begin Monday evening, October 14, at 7:15 in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center. The College Choir, the Men's Glee Club, and the Women's Choir will form the nucleus of the chorus, and all interested students, faculty, and members of the community are invited to join the chorus.

"The Messiah" will be performed on December 8 in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel, under the direction of Dr. Harry H. Harter, Professor of Music at Maryville College.

The dates for tryouts for solo numbers and for orchestra rehearsals will be announced later.

Choir Takes In Members

The Maryville College Choir, under the direction of Dr. Harry H. Harter, has twenty-eight new members, chosen after the highly competitive and difficult tryouts held Monday and Tuesday, September 16-17. Ninety-three students tried out, including the thirty-six former members.



The annual tour of the choir, to be in early April this year, will be in the Western Pennsylvania-Ohio area.

New sopranos are M Frazier, Ellen Hamlett, Ingrid Hellmer, Terry Brusstar, Ibbie Jack, Cheryl Robbins, and Joan Simmons.

New altos are Marty Lowe, Mary Rucker, Margaret Shaklee, Ardis Chubb, Jean Page, Arlene Larsen, Marty Miller, and Eileen Wagner.

New tenors are Jim Breckenridge, David Allen, Jeff Hinkle, Robert Martin, and Doug Rankin.

New basses are Charles Meeker, Marvin Beard, Richard Calhoon, Tom Allen, Chuck Doscher, Pat Ducey, Allen Fields, and Phillip Morey.

her mark

As the Highland Echo begins another year of active duty, we feel that perhaps a redefinition of purpose is in order. We believe the Echo a most important medium for representing student ideas, activities, and opinions. As such, it must be something more than a glorified announcement sheet. A college newspaper's existence is justified to a great degree by the extent of its communication with the students it represents. This communication has certainly been the intention of previous Echo staffs. Nevertheless, in recent years there has been a notable lack of interest displayed by this campus in its newspaper. (This has been especially evident in the area of letters to the editor). In order that we responsibly represent all sides of student opinion, we must be made aware of it.

* * * * * *

Letters to the Editor: All letters must be signed and addressed to: Editor, The Highland Echo. Should any student wish to print a letter without his signature, he must present his reasons to the editorial board for consideration.

The Highland ECHO
Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor-in-Chief
CHARLOTTA COOK

News Editor — ELENORA EASTERLY
Feature Editor — MARY JANOVICH
Sports Editors — GINNA COON and DAVID KING
Copy Editor — SANDRA SCOFIELD
Art Editor — DEANNA STURGELL
Exchange Editor — CAROL BROWNLEE
Business Editor — GORDON STEWART

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Pat Anderson, Mary Gay Boettcher, Sandra Briggs, Carol Brownlee, Chris Carlisle, Ben Carney, Sandra Chittick, Mary Dilkes, Jane Dodez, Diane Eneboe, Wayne Frey, Sandy Hoggart, Jane Hickey, Bob McGruther, Will Mitchell, David Powell, Sharon Walrond

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR and MR. FRANK LAYMAN

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"
BANKING SERVICES
*SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
*CHECK ACCOUNTS
*CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
*TRANSFER OF FUNDS
— Your College Bank —
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

International I

by Chris Carlisle

Malaysia, a new word, but an old idea. This month a new nation was born into a troubled world. It is the smallest in population in the Southeast Asia area, and is located south of Thailand and South Viet Nam. Its northeastern tip is 1,100 miles south of Hong Kong, one of the few remaining areas of British influence in the Far East. Indonesia is to the south. The country is in three water-separated sections.

The federation consists of the former soverign state of Malaya, the self-governing British state of Singapore, and two British colonies, Sarawak and Sabah (formerly North Borneo). Harmony between these countries comes through a common heritage of British influence and protection, a homogeneous population, and thorough similarity in resources and the need to export them.

Just why should we know about the new federation? It demonstrates the need for togetherness in this modern world both economically and strategically. It shows us that harmony can exist when countries unite. The country itself is a bulwark against Communism. It is important to the Commonwealth for valuable tin, timber, and rubber resources. In turn Great Britain, Australia, and New Zealand have pledged physical support to the world's youngest nation.

It does raise some troubling implications, however, in the form of Indonesian, Philippine, and Russian distaste. These three seem to comply with Moscow's Moskooskaya Pravda which labels the new federation as a British effort at "neocolonialization." It appears the Philippines and Indonesia are demanding some portions of the Sabah region, and the Soviets seeing a chance to profit are backing them up. It will be of interest to all of us to see what develops in this light and also in the light of political and economic growth.

The words of the first Prime Minister, Prince Abdul Rahman, are of concern to all the peoples of every country and hopefully true of the new Federation of Malaysia: "My ambition is not a mighty Malaysia, but a happy Malaysia:" "food instead of bullets, clothing instead of uniforms, houses instead of barracks."

Phil. 327

There is a certain atmosphere that pervades classes taught by Dr. Swenson. It is difficult to identify . . . perhaps freshness, for Dr. Swenson is in love with life, a quality here which becomes dearer every day, more's the pity. Instructors are no better at masking their feelings about a course than students, and Dr. Swenson's vitality would be difficult to submerge.

It may be for this reason that there is so much interest about her Contemporary Philosophy class. It may be an exasperation with something about that nebulous word Existentialism. Regardless of motivation, the members of this class are amazingly intent.

It is too early to tell yet, but it may with luck turn into that educationally pious term, the "learning experience." The members of that class may honestly learn something united as a result of excellent meshing of material.

In regard to mechanics: the class meets three times a week (this discounts the nightly meeting of three or more members at the reserve desk at 9:30), the semester will be into a period of background and orientation, and a relaxed sort of seminar lead once by each student.

It is refreshing to feel about a course that one is working toward a real goal of understanding, and that one must keep up in order not to miss a road sign along the way.

Editor's Note: Jane Dodez has participated in the Junior Year Abroad Program sponsored by the United Presbyterian Church.

All Abroad

by Jane Dodez

As I stepped from the Swissair jet in Accra, the capital of Ghana, the moist heat of the tropics enveloped me. My visa had only arrived the night before, so I knew that no one could possibly meet me. Looking neither to left or right, I walked hurriedly by the "reception committee" of a hundred blacks, chanting and yelling in front of the airport. Customs passed, I picked up my suitcases and trudged wearily toward a taxi, asking myself for the tenth time what I was doing there.

Just then a man appeared out of the crowd, tapped me on the shoulder, and asked me if I was Jane Dodez. When I replied "yes," he introduced his wife and four children Fifi (fourteen), Akua (twelve), Kofi (ten) and James (six), with whom I was to spend the next two weeks. (I later found out that the World Council of Churches had telegraphed them that morning from Geneva.) What a wonderful two weeks they were!

The family took me everywhere with them — to a mourning service held on the night before a funeral, to church where I was the only white person in the thousand that filled the sanctuary, to Tema, Ghana's new seaport, to the Volta Dam Project which the United States is largely financing and to a party with several members of parliament. The work camp project — my main reason for going to Ghana — began July 29th. Berekuso, a tiny jungle village which boasts of 99 gods and having a chief with three wives was our headquarters.

The first morning we arrived we were not permitted to do any work until we had been officially greeted by the chief. That afternoon found us filing solemnly around the circle, shaking the chief's hand and those of all the tribal elders. The chief then presented us with gifts as was the custom. This consisted of a bottle of coca cola and a yam each, plus a beautiful white goat which we immediately named "Lumumba" and ate for supper that night.

Later the tribe put on a special dancing, drumming exhibition for us. I was just sitting there clapping with the rest, when the chief's jester appeared in front of me and asked me to dance with the tribe. At first I refused, but glancing at his scowling face, I quickly changed my mind and agreed to try. My steps were far from authentic, but the natives seemed to love it as I jumped wildly around.

The next morning our work began at 5:30 A.M. Our job was to plaster a school which had been constructed by the natives and to dig a foundation for a new block of classrooms. Always interesting were the children who would line up in front of the school for their opening exercises. After the Lord's Prayer and a hymn, the schoolmaster would say, "Nkrumah (Ghana's President) can do no wrong." The children, repeating this would add, "Nkumah is our Messiah." They concluded by singing "He will make you fisher's of men" substituting Nkrumah's name for Christ's.

The terror many of the people live under appeared more clearly to me several weeks later. Dan, another American from Dallas, Texas, Yamje, from the Cameroons and I were invited to stay with the camp director for a few days Kumasi. Our car was stopped and searched for bombs several times along the way which was rather annoying, but exciting just the same. Mr. Dadson is a professor at the Kwame Nkrumah Institute of Science and Technology and he and his wife live with their nineteen month old twin daughters in a lovely home near the university. Everytime he started to tell us about the government, his wife became terrified. She checked to see if any of the servants were in the room and warned him that someone could be hiding outside in the bushes.

After visits to the Kumasi zoo (the only place I saw any wild animals), the home of the Ashanti chief and an African night club, Dan and I boarded a plane for Accra. We spent most of the day at Cape Coast and left that night for the United States — tired, sad for having to leave so soon, but excited about coming home.

Heriosm is the brilliant triumph of the soul over the flesh, that is to say over fear;: fear of proverty, of suffering, of calumny, of illness, of loneliness and of death. There is no real piety without heroism. It is the glorious concentration of courage. —Amiel

---

The cynic is one who knows the price of everything and the value of nothing.
—Oscar Wilde

Powell-Weissenburger Hit Appalachian Trail, Pt. I

by Dave Powell

For Bill Weissenburger and myself thoughts of hiking the Appalachian Trail had been rolling around in our skulls for years. A definite plan with any semblance of order had been formulated for at least one year in my mind, and had been remoulded frequently as two would-be co-hikers limped in and out of the picture.

Thus, in a few short sentences I dispense with the frustrations, blood, sweat, and other cliches that went into the groundwork of a 205 mile hike.

The partnership of Bill and Dave however was founded on the rock of fate. Our plans to hike the Appalachian Trail were doomed to success from the start. Having read the Rubalyat of Old Omar, I returned the book to the library, but failed to remove some Trail material placed therein.

Mike Garrett (M.C. '63) borrowed the book, retrieved the material, and placed it in Bill's hands. (Bill and Mike were at one time planning to walk the Trail together). This trail material was the means of our convergence. Later it was remarked by an outsider, "Gee without the Rubaiyat involved you might never have gotten together."

At this point I dismiss another six months of serious planning and purchasing so that we may get on with the meatier turn-of-the-ankle tales.

The day Bill graduated I punched two holes in my belt and witnessed a few elephant jokes. With these rituals completed we headed for Georgia with our chauffeur Art Ihrig (M.C. 63).

By ten the next morning, after a restful stay at the Ihrig's summer home, we had reached via auto the approach trail (see picture) at Amicalola Falls State Park in Georgia. Adieus were exchanged, pictures posed, and we were off. Part of the way around Amicalola Lake we stopped for prayer, just as we were to do from time to time in later weeks.

Thus we began . . .

In no time Bill was leading the safari at a wicked pace. Being of a larger build than myself he seemed to move up the jeep track like a gazelle. Within two and a half miles he was so far ahead that he had to wait for me at a point where the trail left the road to meander through the woods.

It was here that we relieved our packs of many useless ounces. We burned pencils, rubberbands and even a girl scout mess kit cover, but this move of course was basically psychological. The aches were hardly alleviated.

After this rest stop I began to lead, and before we had gotten far enough to get our second and a half wind it began to rain! The rain came upon us so quickly that our ponchos remained in our packs and clothes sloshed. Then my left arm turned numb, and my calves and thighs ached, and the climb up Mount Springer broke my will to live, and lunch consisted of two donuts, and we were still on the approach trail, and weren't even on the Appalachian Trail itself, and at that point I could have sat down and cried. In fact I think I did. I'll check Billy's diary on that.

Not only did I sleep right out on the open top of Mount Springer (the Appalachian Trail starting point in Georgia), but after my brief nap I discarded a pair of rubber leggings that had failed to be useful during the storm.

Exaggeration?

Nooooo . . .

We hiked a little more that day, and after completing ten miles I forced down a shredded wheat and went to bed. As I was stumbling into the tent I remember seeing Billy down by the brook. He was washing out his socks and singing something about "Until the Twelfth of Never, I'll still be loving you."

Solitude is as needful to the imagination as society is wholesome for the character.

—Lowell

Purple Patches

The night has its own loneliness
— a forgetfullness all its own.
She's dark and quiet and innocently holding my hand.
I walk with her — the lonely one of black edges and frayed darkness and spinnings inside that cry because she is one who is alone.

Last night when the holes in the sky peeped down at me,
I took hold of night's hand — Oh

God! Is this what love is? Is This what loneliness and love feel like?
Her hand is icy cold — her hand is in my hand and both are icy cold.

The night has her loneliness wrapped in baby clothes strapped in girdles of sweat rolled in patterns of gray 'round the plaintive moan of a starving old man who — no, that's too dramatic!

night's soul is simple and lonely — And I hear her,
So I'm going walking with her.
Do not be alarmed if I have said nothing. The night has said nothing.

I was only fooling you.
The night has no soul, no moan, no
frayed edges or patterns of gray.
She is only lonely and silent.

. . . most times I'm careful not to step on little bugs like today when I did on purpose and tomorrow the street cleaner will erase the spot that was life before I stepped on it.
most times, like today . . .

---

caught the sun's rays in my hand and peeking in to see I saw . . .

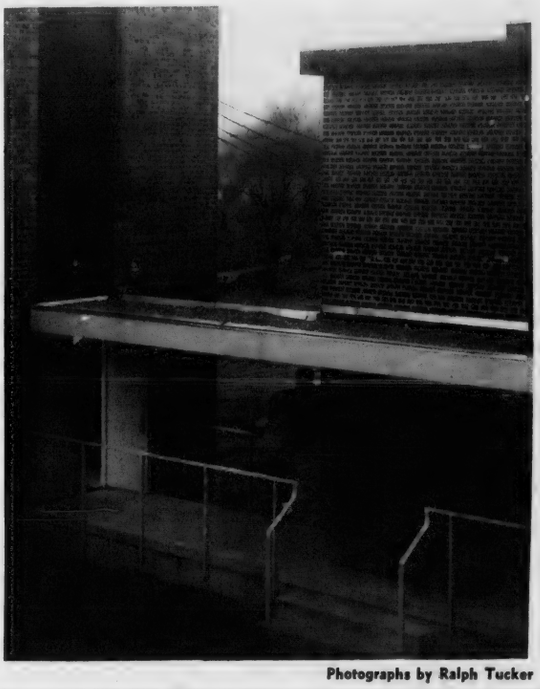
only darkness

—by Marc Grapes

Clifford E. Barbour



Clifford E. Barbour, Ph.D., D.D., LL.D., President Emeritus of the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, is a member of the Class of 1965 of the Board of Directors.

After attending public school in the Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, system Dr. Barbour continued his education: receiving his A.B. in 1921 from the University of Pittsburgh; the S.T.B. in 1922 from Western Theological Seminary; and Ph.D. in 1927 from the University of Edinburgh, Scotland. Later, Maryville College and the University of Pittsburgh awarded him honorary Doctor of Divinity degrees, and

Cont'd. Page 6, Col. 3

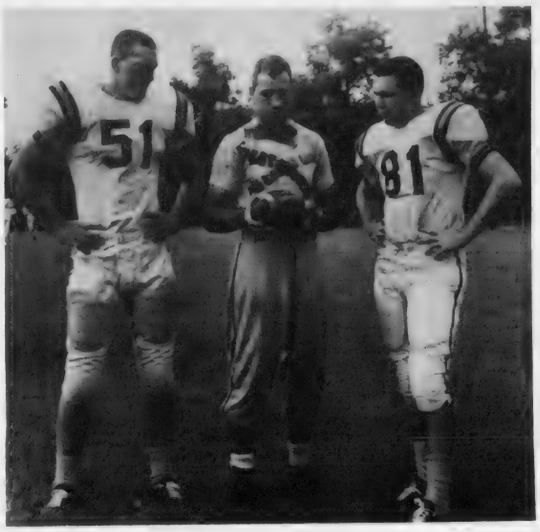
SEEN . . .

Photographs by Ralph Tucker

For Cards For All Occasions,
Cosmetics, Prescriptions
and Reliable Service
Visit
Byrne Drug Company
120 E. Broadway 982-1461

Parks-Belk
Home of Better Values
MARYVILLE'S FINEST
Shop In Our
Sportswear
Department

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway



HIGHLAND FLINGS

by Dave King

Without a doubt the most popular form of diversion here at Anderson U. is dating. The second most popular form of diversion is participation in athletics of some sort. Realizing that the two have their similarities, we hasten to point out that newspaper coverage of the results of athletic competition is much more appropriate than stories dealing with the results of a date. Besides, sitting and watching a football game for a couple of hours is more enjoyable in the long run than staring at some poor couple who only want to be alone anyway. So now that we've justified our reason for being here, let's take a little deeper look into just what it is that we'll be reporting on this year.

The general philosophy of this column, if we may be so presumptious as to have a philosophy, will be to report on all sorts of things in the general field of sports and athletics. We'll be talking from time to time about a few things of general interest that pertain to this area which we think you might like. For instance, are you familiar with the Swim-to-Stay-Fit program over at the swimming pool? Maryville College, in conjunction with the local Red Cross chapter, sponsors this excellent swimming exercise on Tuesdays from 4 to 5:30 and on Thursdays from 7 to 8:30. The ultimate goal is to swim 50 miles but it isn't necessary, or very likely, to swim this in one session. Mileage is computed in quarter-mile segments, which is only nine round trips of the pool. This is a fine opportunity for swimmers to practice their strokes and to work off a few of those extra pounds. It's great for the figures, ladies.

Although the first football game of the year has been completed, it is still appropriate to say a few things about the infant football season and about the sports year in general. This just could be a good year for varsity athletics at Maryville. The outlook for football, which is reported here in a separate article, seems bright. There are also faint rumblings concerning wrestling and basketball but we'll have to wait and see. This huge influx of new students seems to have included some talented newcomers and we're anxious to see them perform. The bugaboo that could hit Coach Baird and his staff is injuries. Last year's football team lost too many front line players and consequently wound up with a 4-4 record. Needless to say, all of us are wishing our boys the best of luck throughout the year. Perhaps when we stick up our thumbs at the next game, it might be a good idea to cross our fingers, too. This just could be a good year.

Scots Open Season, Beat Mars Hill

by Will Mitchell

The Scots opened their 1963 season auspiciously last Saturday night by downing Mars Hill College 14-0. Dominating the play all through the game, the Scots scored first in the second quarter when Donny Phelps culminated a 70-yard drive by breaking across the goal from the seven. The second score came midway through the third quarter when Roland McClanahan took a pitchout and scrambled for 32 yards. Benny Monroe tallied both conversions.

A mere summary of the score does not do justice to many fine performances. Fullback Ken Berry, a real workhorse, was the leading rusher of the game, picking up 80 yards in 14 attempts. Most of this yardage was won the hard way: grinding it out through the center of the Mars Hill line. Making Ken's job easier was Charlie Thomas, who created a "weakness" in the Lion's center line and secondary. In total offense the Scots rolled up 184 yards on the ground and 25 yards in the air as compared to the Lions 84 yard ground attack and 16 yards passing for a commendable 209 to 100 yard offensive comparison. Maryville made 11 first downs versus 6 for Mars Hill, but lost 70 yards in 6 penalties,, while the Lions lost 55 yards for 5 misdemeanors. The Scots compiled their yardage in three long drives, the first of which was thwarted by a hard rush and an intercepted pass after it had penetrated within the Lion's ten. For a few tense seconds, it looked as if the interception would be the Lions' big break, for their speedy back found Maryville's goal unprotected. In one of the most exciting plays of the game, Monroe caught him on the Scots' 25. In the next few plays the Scots defended stubbornly, regaining the ball on their own nine, and ending Mars Hill's only serious threat.

The story of the Lions' impotent offense is once again told not in statistical summaries of yards gained, but in some excellent defensive work on the part of the Scotties. Bill Napier led the team with nine tackles, followed by Clint Abbott and Charlie Thomas with six each and Junior Masingo and Benny Monore, each with five. Turning in impressive, hard-hitting play were John Ross at guard and Sonny Webb in the secondary.

Dare we make a forecast for the season? Coach Baird has been conservative in his predictions, but with the talent and promise displayed last Saturday night, I think we can justify some optimism. We have good depth in all positions, and the competition for the starting spots should continue to be keen throughout the year. We have three good quarterbacks in Herman Ramsey, Benny Monroe, and H. H. Linginfelter, all of which saw action and demonstrated their capabilities. We have displayed a desire to win that will wax especially strong for our two big games: Emory & Henry and Carson Newman. In view of these factors I'd make at least one prediction: Centre College, you better watch out!

True happiness consists not in the multitude of friends, but in the worth and the choice.

—Jonson

Scots Ready For Action-Filled Season

by Ben Carney

Football is here and Maryville College is ready for action. Eighteen lettermen have returned to bolster a team whose chances for success seem excellent. Good depth behind an almost exclusively veteran line should give a talented backfield all the protection it can use.

Returning Co-Captains Charlie Thomas and Wilbur Ramsey should provide just the right kind of leadership for an aggressive team. Thomas, whom Coach Baird describes as being in the "best shape ever", will again be snapping the ball from center and giving the opposition fits on defense. Ramsey, an experienced, glue-fingered end, is beginning to work back into form after suffering a knee injury.

Clint Abbot, 180 lb. Junior guard, a very fast lineman, will give a big push to the front line. Bill Cochran, 220 lb. tackle, and Gene Smith, 220 lb. guard, can both be counted on for aggressive, hard hitting play. Bill Napier, Junior tackle, another horse at 220, and Fred Willocks, senior guard at 185 are expected to be essential in opening holes in defenses. Mike Dalton, 175 lb Sophomore end, will add speed and a great pair of hands to a powerful line. Junior Masingo, 180 lb, Junior, can be counted on for effective relief of Thomas at center. Dan Besch, stocky Junior guard, who still loves to hit, and Ken Christy, Sophomore speedster, both seem ready for action and will be used often. Jim Pryor, Sophomore tackle at 210, will see lots of action, as will Rex Stafford, 190 lb. Senior end who has looked sharp in workouts.

A running battle seems to be raging for the quarterback slot. Herman Ramsey 145 lb Sophomore, seems to have the edge, however. Ramsey's talented right arm has looked good so far. Ramsey is being pushed by Benny Monroe, a Junior at 180 lbs. Monroe has looked cool and collected in scrimmages and his strong running game is hard to stop. H. H. Linginfelter, Junior at 180 lbs. with good speed and deceptive hands, will also see lots of action at the helm.

Other returning lettermen in the backfield are: Roland McClanahan, 155 lb. Junior halfback, Donnie Phelps, 145 lb. halfback, and Ken Berry, 190 lb. Senior fullback. Both McClanahan and Phelps will bring speed, hustle, and talent to the running game. Berry will handle the bulk of hard running, a chore for which his power comes in very handy. All three men are great competitors and can be counted on for necessary yardage.

In addition to these stalwarts a number of newcomers are on hand. Jeff Slagle, transfer student, is described as being a powerful runner. Mike White, another transfer, looks agressive and hard-hitting . Ray Eaton, Roger Banks, and Charles Berry are three freshmen who should see a lot of action.

A squad which appears stronger in depth as well as talent has not made the coaching staff commit themselves to over-optimism, however. Coach Baird is quick to point out that this year's schedule will be considerably tougher than last year's. He believes the Scots will "hold their own," however, and is expecting a stronger showing than last year's respectable .500 season.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands
OPEN 8:00 a.m. – 11:00 p.m. to Serve You
Featuring a Fine Stock
of Quality Products Including
a Complete Variety of Cheeses.
DIXIE
SUPER MARKET
Washington Avenue

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL ! !
Office Supplies? We Got 'em
Office Equipment? Likewise
Office Machines? Our Middle Name
Service? On All We Sell
Delivery? Fast and Easy
Parking? Free, 10 Feet Away
WHITE OFFICE MACHINES
"Won't Write – Call White"
217 E. Broadway Call 983-4762

Birthday Cakes
Pastries of all Kinds
BIG 97 Cent PIZZA PIE
Deliveries Twice Daily
VAN'S BAKERY
Call the Sweetest Number in Town
982-7920 983-4413

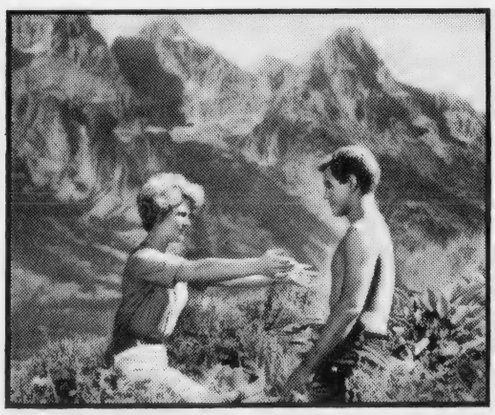
Martin's
DRUG STORE
401 S. Washington St. Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.

Offering Maryville College Students
a complete line of cosmetics,
plus
a reliable prescription service
Located just off campus on Washington St.

CAPITOL THEATRE

SUNDAY thru THURSDAY, Sept 29–Oct. 3

PAUL NEWMAN · JOANNE WOODWARD



A NEW KIND OF LOVE

THELMA RITTER / EVA GABOR / and MAURICE CHEVALIER

Written and Directed by MELVILLE SHAVELSON / New Themes composed by ERROLL GARNER / A PARAMOUNT RELEASE

AS HIMSELF

SUNDAY thru THURS. OCTOBER 6, 7, 8, 9, 10

This is your place, Clayboy. Your father brought his sweetheart here and married her. Your eight red-blooded uncles fell in love on Spencer's Mountain. This is your place, Clayboy, and this is your time..

HENRY FONDA and MAUREEN O'HARA

in DELMER DAVES' PRODUCTION

Spencer's Mountain

Co-starring JAMES MacARTHUR · DONALD CRISP · WALLY COX Introducing MIMSY FARMER

Based on the novel by EARL HAMMER, Jr. · Written for the screen and Directed by DELMER DAVES · Music by Max Steiner

TECHNICOLOR® PANAVISION® Presented by WARNER BROS.

Intramural Football Opens

by Robert McGruther

Coach John A. Davis announced that the Intramural Flag Football season would open on Thursday, September 26 at 4:30 P.M. This year games will be played each week day at 4:30. On Tuesdays and Thursdays there will be two games played while on Monday's, Wednesday's and Friday's there will be only one game because of Highlander Soccer practice.

Kappa Phi Athletic Chairman, Harry Repsher, stated that Phi would field four teams with the possiblity of a fifth. As usual the Knights should be the strongest Phi team. Such players as Dave Marston, Phil Brown, Ken Young, and Bert Randall will lead the action for the Knights. Another strong Phi team will be the One Eyed Jacks.

Joe Scheideler, the Alpha Sigma Athletic Chairman, said that Sig might have four teams, but would definitely have three strong ones. The Sledge Hammers should prove to be the most powerful Sig team. They will be led by Phil Rittersbacher, Joe Scheideler, Red Prudhon, and Jerry Stewart.

To provide good competition for everyone else in the league will be the always powerful Town Team. As usual this team is loaded with talented football players and could easily walk off with the championship.

go back to school with
CARAVELLE
A PRODUCT OF BULOVA

FROM ONLY $10.95

HOLDS THE LINE ON COST
SKIFF. Rugged as the star half-back! Shock-resistant. Sweep second hand. Precision-jeweled movement. $10.95

SHOCK-RESISTANT

SCORES FOR STYLE
CHARLENE. So tiny and so practical, too! Shock-resistant. Precision-jeweled movement. $16.95

C. R. TIPTON
JEWELERS

Y's Plan Big Year

The YM-YWCA's have planned a tremendous year for 1963-64. Each commission is headed by hard working students who intend to make the "Y" program a total success. Any student wishing to contribute both time and effort to further the "Y" program will select the commission he or she would care to work in, and contact that particular commission chairman.

The Program Commission, headed by Dave Sawyer and Barbara Bullard, plans an exciting, thought-provoking year. The commission's main goal is to stimulate thinking in the light of Christ's teachings. There will be a program planned for three Sunday nights in a month, leaving the fourth Sunday open for a business meeting.

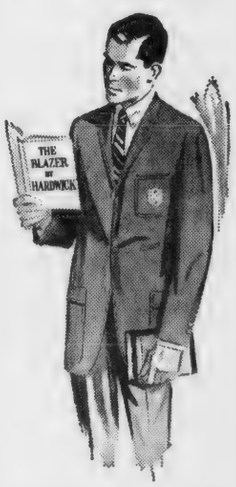
The programs this year will be led by members of our faculty as well as students. There will be discussions on such controversial issues as predestination, its theories and its problems; the divinity of Christ; Ecumenism, pro and con; sex, male vs. female. Dave and Barb hope to schedule a debate between a Christian and an Agnostic. There will also be musical and dramatic presentations.

In past years, the "Y" has seemingly lost its sense of unity except through its Sunday night programs. This year, the Fellowship Commission, headed by Bob McGruther and Beverly Wells, hopes to remedy this situation. They will attempt to unite all "Y" members through various social activities carried on in a Christian atmosphere. Bob and Bev have several activities scheduled this fall. They include a picnic in the college woods before the Georgetown football game (Oct. 5), YM-YWCA overnight hikes (Oct. 19), and Barnwarming on Thanksgiving Night (Nov. 28). Barnwarming will be planned and executed entirely by MC students. The proceeds from the program will go towards a project decided on by the YM-YWCA's.

One of the largest commissions, Community Service, is headed by Ron Elly and Ellen Saint. This commission's role is exactly as its name implies. It serves the community in any way possible. Areas of particular interest this year are Asbury Acres, an interdenominational home for retired people; Montvale Nursing Home, a hospital for the elderly; Home Avenue and Sunnybrook Chapels, which are operated by the New Providence Presbyterian Church for the aid of those in the depressed areas; Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, an excellent opportunity to work with young boys and girls; and the Children's Home, a home for needy children of all ages.

Jack Spencer and Bonnie Frazier are chairmen of the Human Relations Commission. This commission's purpose is to help "Y" members to grow in Christian stature by serving others in the field of human relations. Jack and Bonnie expect to participate in another Human Relations Conference this year. It will be in the form of a retreat and will be held off campus. Also, the commission plans to hold monthly seminars. Discussion will involve integration as well as many other current human relation problems. This commission is working jointly with the Community Service Commission on work in the Blount County Jail (Sunday School, prayer groups, etc.), and the Blount County Boys Club (working with athletics).

All students who plan to enter some church vocation are urged to join the Church Vocations Commission. This commission, led by Bill Erwin and Judy Martin, intends to sponsor programs of vital interest to persons interested in some field of Christian work. Programs will include problems of church and state, prisons and mental hospitals, current theological problems, and others. The discussions will be led by people who are distinguished in their particular fields. There will also be a Church Vocations Conference involving other colleges.



Ken McHarg and Sally Blair are chairmen of the Campus Life Commission. This commission's duties are many and varied, including dorm devotions, grace at meals, Time Out With God, and the Devotional Booklets. It also organizes activities which contribute to the spiritual life on campus.

The Publicity Commission which is working under the Program Commission is headed by Wayne Frey and Sara Parker. The purpose of the commission is to keep all students informed as to programs, projects, and other "Y" activities.

Behave toward everyone as if receiving a great guest.

—Confucious

HARDWICK BLAZERS
Provide UNIFORM DISTINCTION
for
COLLEGES, SCHOOLS, CLUBS, ATHLETIC TEAMS, FRATERNITIES

All wool flannel tailored in the authentic natural shoulder manner with hook vent, lap seams, edge stitching and antique metal buttons.

Available in Navy, Black, Red, Olive, Cambridge Grey, Antique Gold and Camel. Regular, long, short, extra long.

WITH YOUR OWN ORGANIZATION CREST
(at small extra charge)

$25.95

Minton's

Student Center Info

The Student Center is operated under an agreement entered into by the College, the YM-YWCA, and the Student Council. Under this agreement the Student Council has assumed the responsibility for efficient management of the Student Center and for maintenance of proper conduct in and around it.

This Student Center is for your enjoyment and convenience. In order to insure its proper use and care, and to keep its activities in proper relation to the general program of the College, you are asked to cooperate in observing the following regulations:

1. Bermuda shorts (but no extreme shorts) are permissible in the Student Center at all times.
2. No person is allowed in the Student Center office except the hostess in charge.
3. Game equipment will be signed out and in at the door of the office; no equipment will be signed out after 9:00 P.M.
4. No furniture may be removed from the Center.
5. Those sitting at tables are responsible for clearing their tables before leaving.
6. No smoking.
7. All workers must be appropriately dressed.
8. All men are expected to wear shirts in the Center.
9. Student Center and Y-Store hours are given below. Please remember that those in charge are required to conform to these schedules.

Socks and Sneakers

by Ginna Coon

Well, fellow co-eds, another year has started and with it come many various activities. Some you will want to take part in. Others you won't. But there is one thing that offers something for every girl — that is the Women's Athletic Association (WAA).

WAA offers both individual and team sports. This year's activities will begin Tuesday, Oct. 1 with a get-aquainted party sponsored by the Women's "M" Club. The following Thursday the season will get under way with volleyball. Mrs. Davis will serve as the new advisor of "M" Club and WAA. Let's show that old Maryville college spirit by all turning out to the party and continuing out the year.

This year's WAA council is made up of Ann Doscher, chairman; Barbara Bullard and Judy Wasson, Chi Beta; and Arlene Pateman and Lorraine Briggs, Theta Epsilon.

Y-Store
Weekdays, except Saturdays
8:15—4:00
6:30—10:00
Saturdays
8:15—4:00
6:30—11:00
Student Center
Weekdays, except Saturdays
8:15—5:00
6:30—10:00 (doors close)
Saturdays
8:15—5:00
6:30—11:00

BARBOUR: Cont'd. from Pg. 3

Waynesburg College the Doctor of Letters.

He has held pastorates in Pittsburgh and in the Second Presbyterian Church of Knoxville, and was president of Western Theological Seminary prior to going to Pittsburgh Theological Seminary in 1960.

Active in numerous church leadership capacities, Dr. Barbour served the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. on the Board of Christian Education, Long Range Planning Committee, and as Moderator in 1949-1950. He has demonstrated his interest in community work as president of the Knoxville Community Chest for two years, chairman of the Pennsylvania Committee on Affairs of Handicapped, member of the Pittsburgh Board of Society for Crippled Children, and as a member of the Board of Trustees of Chatham College.

The author of various articles covering a wide-range of topics, Dr. Barbour has also written Sin and the New Psychology, published both in this country and in England.

Since retiring from the seminary presidency in 1962, Dr. Barbour has made his home in Maryville.

Young men think old men fools, and old men know young men to be so.

—Anonymous

RECORDS

Complete Selection of Jazz, Classical, Popular, and Folk Music in Hi-Fi Stereo.
Quality Repair Work on Radios and Record Players

HITCH RADIO and T.V.
Midland Center

WELCOME STUDENTS!

For a Delicious Steak
And a Pleasant Atmosphere
Dine at

LEONARD'S STEAK HOUSE AND CAFETERIA
At The Midland Center

Busses To and From Every Half Hour

unimoc

Trampeze
Black
Cordavan
AAAA to C
4 to 12
$8.99

A PATENTED EXCLUSIVE!

A breathtakingly handsome classic moccasin that sets a standard in sports casual footwear. Beautiful, comfortable with all the long-wearing qualities of one-piece full moccasin construction. You'll love it . . . positively.

C. C. MOORE'S
SHOEMAKERS SHOE STORE
Maryville's Good Shoe Store

YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED

To Visit

Proffitt's

Midland Shopping Center

COMPLETE SHOPPING HEADQUARTERS
FOR MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS
SINCE 1919

RIDE WHITE STAR BUSSES FREE FROM ELLIS AVE.
TO MIDLAND CENTER AND RETURN
EVERY 30 MINUTES

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 49 | Maryville, Tennessee, Saturday, October 12, 1963 | No. 2

Cast Selected For 'Kiss Me Kate'

On October 25 and November 1 and 2, the Maryville College Playhouse will open its fifty-fourth season by presenting Kiss Me, Kate, a musical by Sam and Bella Spevak, with Cole Porter music. Leading roles are played by Bruce Jenkins, as Fred Graham; David Clinkman, as Harry Trevor; Marty Miller, as Lois Lane; and Joyce Koch, as Lilli Vanessi. Other members of the cast are Martha Hall as Hattie; Bill Talmadge, as Stage Doorman; Jim Shannon, as Paul; Robert Martin, as Bill Calhoun; Mary Gay Boettcher, as First Gangster; David Evans, as Second Gangster; and Tom Llewellyn, as Harrison Howell.

The characters in the play portray actors in the production of The Taming of the Shrew. The cast for this play follows: Bianca (Lois Lane), Marty Miller; Baptista (Harry Trevor), David Clinkman; Gremio (First Suitor), David Seeley; Hottensio (Second Suitor), Jim Stockburger; Lucentio (Bill Calhoun), Robert Martin; Katherine (Lilli Vanessi), Joyce Koch; Petrucio (Fred Graham), Bruce Jenkins; Haberdasher, John Boretsky; Dance and Song Ensemble: Anne Doscher, Shelby Sullivan, Sara June Schue, Suzanna Gamsby, Nancy Pierce, John Vassey, Sue Donaldson, Beverly Alcan, Helen Griffin, Carol Kaufman, Toni Sidle, Jack Graham, Marty Schlapfer, Lee Rosser, and Alice Leeth.

Mr. Tom Jones will direct the play, and Jean Dorcheid is assistant director. Mr. Dan Kinsinger is directing the vocal music; Mr. John A. Roberts, the orchestra; and Mrs. Cheryl Van Meter, choreography.

Season tickets for the theatre productions are available in the speech office on second floor in the Chapel, at $2.00 for faculty, staff, and students, and $4.00 for townspeople. Tickets for individual productions may also be obtained there. Kiss Me, Kate prices are $1.25 and $1.50. Prices for future plays will be $1.00 and $1.25.

Societies Take In Freshmen Oct. 2

Maryville College freshmen, who have already become acquainted with registration, book store, and reception lines, were introduced to a new kind of line Wednesday, October 2, when they registered with the society of their choice, as prospective members.

The selection of societies followed a week of rush shows, dances, teas, and fashion previews, begun by Theta Epsilon and Alpha Sigma under the chairmanship of Linda Schug, Kathy Burgess, and Ralph Tucker; and concluded with the program of Chi Beta and Kappa Phi, led by chairmen Judy Wasson and Harold Laster.

At present sixty-nine have joined Chi Beta; forty-four, Kappa Phi; fifty-eight, Theta Epsilon; and thirty-six; Alpha Sigma. Initiation day will be scheduled at the beginning of second semester.

Pictured above are band members Louise Crawford, wearing the traditional kilt, and Hal Laster, wearing the new Royal Scotch Grey uniform.
Photo by Lupton Wood

Band Wears New Uniforms

This year the Maryville College Highlander Band has a new look. Because of the difficulty and expense of importing new kilts, the men will be wearing a uniform adopted from the Royal Scott Grey, the Queens Regiment.

Chrome British army buttons set off the red tunic, and the black trousers are accented with a red stripe and white piping. A white belt with chrome buttons and a ten-inch black shako (a type of British hat) complete the uniform.

The women will continue to wear Hay tartan kilts. The use of the two uniforms together is British tradition.

The financing of these new uniforms will be undertaken completely by the band through several projects.

Presbytery Day To Be Tomorrow

Maryville College will be the meeting place of the ministers and laymen of Union Presbytery on Presbytery Day, Sunday, October 13. The program for the day includes several speeches by distinguished Presbyterian leaders and a series of workshops on the "Local Church." The convocation at 2:30 p.m. in the Chapel is open to everyone. M. Richard Shaull, Th.D., Professor of Ecumenics at Princeton Theological Seminary, will speak on "Christian Witness in a Secular Society." Following this, the ministers, elder delegates, and committee members of Presbytery will hold a seminar in the Fine Arts Center Music Hall. Meryl Ruoss, Chairman of the Institute of Stratogic Studies of the Board of National Missions, will speak on "Planning for the Presbytery."

At the same time, beginning at 3:30, three interest groups will be held for senior highs, students from Maryville College, Knoxville College, and The University of Tennessee, who will meet with Mr. Shaull; and others, who will hear John Grosvenor tell "How the Churches Interrelate in Mission." John H. Grosvenor, Jr., is the Moderator of the Presbytery of Washington City.

Beginning at 4:15, the groups will break up into three workshops on "Planning for the Local Church." The Rev. Shubert Frye, Director of the Department of Town and Country Church and Indian Work of the Board of National Missions, will lead a discussion on Town and Country Churches. A group on Suburban Churches will be directed by John Grosvenor; and the Rev. G. Daniel Little, Associate Director of the Department of the Urban Church of the Board of National Missions, will be in charge of a final group on Inner City Churches. These workshops will be held in the Fine Arts Center.

Also at 4:15, the Rev. Silas G. Kessler, D.D., Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Hastings, Nebraska, and Moderator of the General Assembly, will meet with all persons not in one of the other workshops.

The day will close with the regular Vesper service in the Chapel at 7:30 p.m., with Dr. Silas Kessler speaking on "A Different Drummer."

Registration will begin at 2:00 p.m. Those attending will bring their own sack suppers, and a beverage and dessert will be provided.

Freshmen Choose Wolfe as Prexy

On Tuesday, October 1, the freshman class elected its officers for 1963-64. Chosen were John Wolfe, president; Jim Breckenridge, vice president; and Alice Leeth, secretary-treasurer.

On Friday, October 5, a second election was held, and Linda Zacherle, David Alexander, David Hutchinson, and John Kerr were chosen by their class as freshmen representatives to the student council.

COLLEGE APPOINTS ADMISSIONS DIRECTOR

Colonel William F. Taylor, Jr., until recently with the Eighth Air Force, Strategic Air Command, has been appointed Director of Admissions at Maryville College and will assume his new duties on October 15.

Colonel Taylor and his wife have been stationed at Eighth Air Force Headquarters, Westover Air Force Base, Massachusetts for seven years, and for an additional year and a half were in England.

Seventy-five chaplains of all religious faiths were under the direction of Col. Taylor at fourteen bases in the command. Total annual attendance at religious services was two million.

Since attending Davidson College, the University of Tennessee, and graduating from Columbia Theological Seminary and the Air Force Command and Staff School, Col. Taylor's work and experience have been largely with youth. After entering the Air Force he traveled through all countries in western Europe, North Africa, and Central America, and to Newfoundland, Labrador, and Greenland.

Col. Taylor's appointment will coordinate two responsibilities previously separate. He will be responsible for both the Admissions Counseling program, until now a function of the Development Office, and the actual admission of students, previously a function of the Personnel Office.

Several Students Win Scholarships

Many of the students at Maryville College are recipients of scholarships to aid in underwriting educational expenses. Seventeen of this year's freshmen received four-year scholarships in amounts from $100 to $600. The following were chosen for this award: Thomas Allen, Marvin Beard, Ann Bissett, Joseph Burton, Florence Corbett, Martha Currie, Elizabeth Doran, Frederick Doscher, Frank Eggers, William Evaul, Robert Hart, Carol Kaufman, Marjorie Koehler, Joel Payne, Danny Ratcliff, William Rumsey, and James Stockburger.

Kind Memorial Scholarships of $200 for the freshman year went to David Alexander, Lois Huffines, Sara Humphries, Thomas Jobe, Zeta Jones, John Kerr, Alice Leeth, Reva Roark, and Susan Wyman. Nancy Unger was awarded a Special Scholarship for her freshman year.

The largest group of scholarships went to children of ministers, missionaries, faculty, and staff. There were thirty-two in this group. Three students outstanding in the fine arts were awarded scholarships according to their field: organ, Martha Lafferty: voice, Ibbie Jack; and art, John Boretsky.

Fourteen upper classmen received scholarships on the basis of their previous academic record and need. Sandra Briggs, a sophomore, became a four-year scholar, replacing one of last year's scholars who dropped out. The others were David Allen, Wanda Blaylock, Ben Carney, Bill Irwin, Margaret Gross, Eileen Han, Art Herron, Ken Harrison, Greg Halen, Beatrice Marroquin, Janet Melville, John Minear, and J. W. Nichols.

Directors Hear Development Progress Report

A report of significant progress toward Sesquicentennial Development Program goals provided the keynote for the fall meeting of the Maryville College Board of Directors held on campus September 26-27.

Maryville College President, Dr. Joseph J. Copeland, reported to the Directors that more than $1,880,000 in new resources has been realized against a $7,000,000 objective since the program was announced three and a half years ago. The program, a comprehensive plan to advance the college's academic life and provide needed capital improvements, is scheduled for completion in the school year 1969-70, during which time the 150th anniversary of the college's founding will be observed.

Specific goals encompassed in the program as originally announced included $3,000,000 in current funds to be used primarily for a doubling of faculty salaries during the decade; $1,500,000 in additional endowment funds, the income from which would be used annually for further improvement of the educational program; and $2,500,000 for plant rehabilitation and new construction including a new science building, a student center, and two dormitories.

At the close of the fiscal year on May 31, 1963, $1,096,000 had been received in current funds, $541,600 had been added to the endowment funds, and $242.000 had been given for plant development. Major gift commitments for plant improvement include $100,000 from the Alcoa Foundation, three anonymous gifts totaling $40,000, a matching commitment of $25,000 from the Kresge Foundation which must be met by July 1, 1964, and a gift in excess of $30,000

Cont'd Page 5, Col. 5

Committee Relates Artists Series Plans

The Maryville College-Community Artists Series Committee is announcing the program for the 1963-64 season. The season will open Friday, October 18, with the United States Air Force Band and the Singing Sergeants. The band, under the direction of Colonel George S. Howard, performs every type of music with precision. Its interpretation and appeal has made it a sensation in the finest concert halls of five continents. The Singing Sergeants is a chorus made up of members of the band and sings in seven languages.

her mark

"Big things are getting bigger, and small things smaller." Perhaps, Mr. Marston, but you are living at the ever-present exception. Have you noticed the population explosion evident on the MC campus — you know, the longer lines at the reserve desk in the library, chapel rows filled all the way to the ends, and those "left-over" women who have pitched tents on the roof of the (relatively) New Dorm? If not, think about it the next time you race from table to table in the dining hall looking for a nonexistent chair, and then are forced outside to a lawn party because the directors have come to lunch.

Yes, the enrollment at Maryville is getting larger, and growing along with it are the ratio of majors to English profs (forty-six to one), the number of people on each Anderson stairstep between classes (about twelve), and all those workmen singing "Hello, mudda, Hello, fadda," from the bell tower. Nevertheless, Mr. Marston, while we are growing in number, we are not in size, for we have begun listing prices for rooms in the infirmary, and it is rumored that soon classes will go underground to the tunnel between Baldwin and Anderson (why else are they digging up that side of the building?). Someone should be warned (and quickly) that one portion of the ten year plan is an overwhelming success. Meanwhile, we are simply thankful that some things (namely facilities) aren't getting any smaller!

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor-in-Chief
CHARLOTTA COOK

News Editor — ELENORA EASTERLY
Feature Editor — MARY JANOVICH
Sports Editors — GINNA COON and DAVID KING
Copy Editor — SANDRA SCOFIELD
Art Editor — DEANNA STURGELL
Exchange Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Business Editor — GORDON STEWART
Circulation Manager — FRANK WALLACE

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Duncan Bennett, Sandra Briggs, Carole Brownlee, Chris Carlisle, Ben Carney, Tina Criner, Mary Dilkes, Diane Eneboe, Elsa Eerenberg, Jim Gifford, Lois Huffines, Sara Humphries, Karen Keen, Robert McGruthers, Paul Millin, Mike Moyers, Dave Powell, Sandra Scofield, Lori Sturmfels, Sharon Walrond, Robert Young, Raymond I. Brahams, Jane Hickey, Judy Siver.

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR and MR. FRANK LAYMAN

REAL ITALIAN PIZZA

"If your mouth is watering for some taste-tempting pizza, why not take a break in your studies and call us."

Only 97c
DELIVERY TWICE DAILY
CALL 982-7920

VAN'S BAKERY
Midland Center

WE HAVE FLOWERS
IN EVERY PRICE RANGE

See our Campus Agent. . .
JACK SPENSER
For Lovely Flowers
From

Hartman's Flowers
982-7500 333 E. Broadway

Appalachian Odyssey

Part Two
by Dave Powell

Rigor mortis was not victorious that first night. In the morning the realization that I had lived struck me square in the face as the first rays of dawn stalked brazenly into our tent.

Now it wasn't really as bad as all that. In fact we started walking that second day as though we were having fun. Billy let loose such a "Wahoo" that I swore it was the Second Coming.

Then we passed an old cemetery in Hickory Flats. Hickory Flats isn't a ghost town, it's a ghost church. Ten weathered gravestones and that's it!

Shortly upon leaving the Flats a three foot blacksnake slid across the path and I promptly re-ate the previous night's shredded wheat.

Billy wahooed.

On Hawk Mountain (3,619 ft.) the guide book said, "Excellent panoramic view from firetower," and I said "So what?" Bill, on the other hand, climbed the tower, ignoring the fact that the warden had removed every wooden step.

It was here on the fire warden's porch that we made Jell-o and drank it hot.

It was here, too, that a couple of army guys came up in a jeep and gave us a can of army coffee and some bars of dry cereal. They were the same Joes who demonstrated a little grenade that poured out clouds of white smoke for five minutes straight.

So we left Hawk Mountain with a bang, so to speak, and to this day I can recall vividly those fellas laughing like kooks as smoke rolled around the mountain top and orange Jell-o dripped from our beards and shredded wheat churned around down there and . . .

We camped on the side of a hill that night, and we probably slid in our sleep farther than we had walked in the past two days.

Next morning, a new hiking stick in my hand, we happily began anew, only to pass a beautiful shelter one-tenth of a mile from where we had camped. I muttered an oath.

Woody Gap is one of the most gorgeous panoramas in the state of Georgia. Highway 60 crosses here, and to the left according to our guide, "it is 1.6 miles to Suches, Georgia where supplies may be obtained."

The book lies.

It is four miles to the first pig wallow, and the Suches post office opens whenever Mr. Llyod Gooch (honest!!) gets there. On Saturday June 8 he arrived at 2:00. It was then 12:00. Mr. Caldwell, who lived next door, volunteered to drive us down the road a speck to the Mountain View diner where we ordered the biggest hamburger steak in the world. Suffice it to say that I drank three ten-ounce Dr. Peppers, one large iced-tea and a glass of water.

At the p.o. we mailed home thirteen pounds of luxury including our axe, tent, flashlight, mess kit and a dirty shirt.

Back on the Trail at Woody Gap we walked like fiends, being all of six and a half pounds lighter. Shortly, though, the sky got so black and it rained so hard that we couldn't possibly have gone another step without the lightning.

And me with two metal poles sticking out of my pack. Ah, Youth!

Cont'd Page 6, Col. 3

Purple Patches

There

There where the moonlight creases the mantle of water that lumps up when a silent breeze
tickles its side,
And your softest thoughts sink slowly with the mist that covers the nest where the whippoorwill cries
And love blossoms.
And magnolias shed flimsy negligees of fragrance to caress the heart that does somersaults in the shadows.
There my weary soul finds cause for rest

by
Dave Powell

And where is the future?
Gloomy or bright —
And where is the home
The peace of night . . .
And where are my friends?
Lost in a dream.
And where my respect
The face filled gleam . . .
And where is decay?
It is burdened rot —
And where is a heart
It's not, it's not.

by
C. Davis

Today, my love wears a green dress and a black brassiere.
Laced minds caught
A day like this could give a guy a headache with green brassieres.

by Marc Grapes

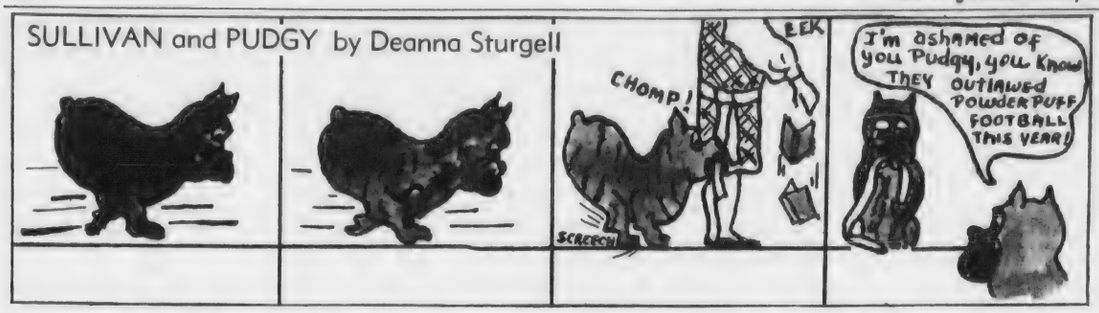
Fort Mudge and Beyond

by Mike Moyers

This article constitutes my argument (and I hope it proves a logical one) for the publication of election results. It is put forward because I feel that publication of results can give us students here at Maryville a better election system.

The two arguments most often heard against publication are 1) the possibility of personal harm to the candidates and 2) the division among campus factions which publicity would entail. These two arguments come frighteningly close to absurdity.

In the first place there is no room for consideration of the personal in a public election. Elections are the privilege of the voters, not of the candidates. A candidate should first be aware of the position he is in before he begins to tell the voters about it. By placing all candidates under this same natural restriction, we can assure for ourselves more thoughtful campaigns.



The second criticism has to be a little more warped than the first. Knowledge of election results will not divide the campus. Quite the opposite—it should have the reverse effect. Even the most casual student of American government (i.e., any old Maryville College student) can tell you that the campaign divides, that the election solidifies.

This peaceful transfer of power is the cornerstone of contemporary democracy. Why then can't we do that same thing here, without obscuring the results, without the cloak and dagger atmosphere which surrounds the Elections Committee. Rather than cause division, publication of results will tend to eradicate any resentment the defeated may harbor—a resentment which can influence supporters who happen to be entirely ignorant of the results. The danger is that ignorance and rumor will breed division. And there is one simple way to remove ignorance and rumor.

This does not mean that with published results we have gathered the student body into a single harmonious unit. Division will always exist in any situation where two or more factions contend for power. This is obvious. But we can insure our chances of enlightened opposition by giving both points of view the same set of facts on which to build their cases. These facts can be found and confirmed in the numerical results of our elections.

What good is a mandate unless the student body recognizes that it has given a particular candidate this endorsement? How can the ideas of a narrowly defeated candidate have the weight they should unless the students themselves are aware of the closeness of the election? I beg your indulgence while I give you the obvious answers. There is no mandate while the returns remain unpublished. A defeated candidate's ideas are left to the mercy of the elected, despite the size of the minority he commanded, when the voters are not aware of the election results.

Some literalists (and there are some) would question the constitutionality of publishing election results. I would simply refer them to By-law 1, Section 4, of the Student Body Constitution and let their semantics take them in any number of conflicting directions. As for the legitimacy of my position, I can only point to the absurdity of elected leaders who keep the results from the voters who elected them. Perhaps this is stretching the secret ballot a bit too far.

by Deanna Sturgell

With this issue of the ECHO begins the series of "Sullivan and Pudgy" cartoon strips. Sullivan, an elderly boxer, and his girlfriend Pudgy, whose father might have been a tiger, are the two most loved creatures on this campus. (There is great concern over the asthma attacks Sullivan has quite frequently.) The two can be found in dormitories, classrooms — they climb stairs well —, at football games, chapel, in and in front of Pearsons around meal time, or in the bookstore snoring under the sweatshirt display. Because they see everything on campus, and because we love them, this cartoon strip is in honor of Sullivan and Pudgy.

INTERNATIONAL I

Chris Carlisle

The "International I" is the part of us that should be interested in world happenings. The self is herein catered to by semi-monthly reports resulting from an international eye.

* * * * * *

Wheat, the staff of life, is gradually replacing rice as the staple of Asia. It's importance on the world scene is the difference between starvation and an adequate livelihood. It's importance to us is the alleviation of farmer and storage problems.

Recently a sale of 228 million bushels of wheat brought Canada the promise of $500 million. This sale will help Canada's unfavorable balance of trade problem as well as energize her internal economic system. Since the US trades so constantly with Canada (e.g., we ship 90% of her auto needs), the wheat sale will definitely affect us.

The purchaser of this food resource was the Soviet Union, once again demonstrating her farm program failure. The failure this time is due to unanticipated weather factors in addition to normal problems of light soils, little rain, and a short growing season.

Speculators believe the Soviets will soon come to us for wheat. President Kennedy appears to favor the sale despite Lend-Lease and patent problems, long time bones of contention. Some feel Kennedy's okay will set a precedent of trade relations with all "unfriendly countries." Others feel no precedent will be set, rather a close survey of present trade policies will result.

Across the border we find Canada's Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson (Liberal) revelling in the results of the wheat sale. An 850 mile long train will be necessary to transport the milled wheat to the work-starved shipping crews and the U.S.-Canadian St. Lawrence Seaway en route to Russia. It is said each wheat farmer will obtain an average of $2,000, enough to bolster retail purchases to new highs. The total wheat sales to end in fiscal year 1964 will meet the Canaditn unfavorable balance of trade deficit now incurred in trade with the United States. (This includes Red China purchases of over 185,000,000 bushels.)

The world? Great Britain, the Netherlands, Belgium, and West Germany have recently made large wheat purchases from the U.S., most likely due to the Canadian's selling all of their surplus. Onlookers see the U.S. ending its stolid anti-Red trade policies because of our 30,000,000 ton wheat surplus. A Washington Post editorial sees the U.S. as the "granary of the world" and as having the "impulse to supply the world." Poland is asking the U.S. for wheat and will most likely get it. Australia plans to ship wheat to Russia. Japan will be needing grains to overcome the result of crop damage. Wheat is a staple and we have it to sell. Russia has recently sent $200 million worth of gold to Britain in preparation for payment to Canada. The U.S. could use such remuneration to bolster her weakening gold supply now about $15.6 billion.

Let us remember two views on the wheat issue: the British view that "a fat Communist soon becomes a bourgeois . . .," and the view of the Little Rock Arkansas Gazette — "What Aesop did not tell was that the Grasshopper, when reproached by the Ant for not laying by a store of food for winter, said he feared he would involve himself in the problem of an unmanageable surplus."

Quiz Yourself

by Bob Young

Have you ever wondered how your knowledge might stack up with the students of Oxford University and other English universities? Out of the following liberal arts questions the average Oxford student answered 8 questions correctly.

Test yourself and see how you do.

1. Who wrote "The Divine Comedy"?
2. Who wrote "Leaves of Grass"?
3. Name one novel by Feodor Dostoevsky.
4. Name the first of the Ten Commandments.
5. What is the dominant religion of Pakistan?
6. Name one philosopher before Plato's time.
7. What artist painted the "Last Supper"?
8. Name any famous Spanish painter.
9. Who wrote "The Wealth of Nations"?
10. Name a publication written by Thomas Paine.

Agh Choo

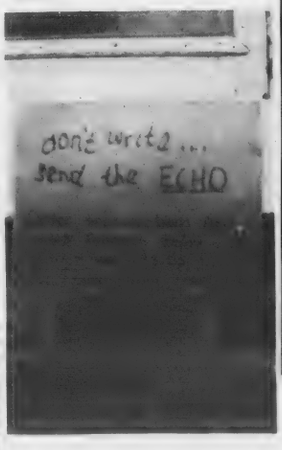
by Mary Dilkes

Rush Week without initiation is like a college without colds, and Maryville campus this year has heard more wheezing and sneezing than a pepper-producing plant. To a visitor a red nose and a New Jersey nasal accent would appear to be quite the fad, and after a morning in chapel he would be either convinced or indoctrinated.

They say the average sneeze travels about three feet, but on this campus it's more like three hundred and three—and that's with the wind blowing in the opposite direction. But don't get discouraged if the person sitting next to you in class refuses to use Scot tissue with wet strength, or your dorm echoes with a big whoosh that would give Hurricane Zelda competition, because you can always get a flu shot. And if this doesn't seem to have a guaranteed effect on you, you can always give up the vices of the campus social circle smoking pipes and cigars—for mentholated cigarettes.

This year, however, the typical Maryville College student is no longer the advocator of twelve o'clock Saturday curfews or the scientist working out a method to stop the monsoon seasons—he has something else on his mind. Armed with his box of tissues (Scotties, of course), nose drops, cold pills, and smelling something like Vicks VapoRub, he conforms to the standards of his fellow "non-conformists."

But the one who studies hard to achieve his goals has no time for colds—besides that, you're only allowed five chapel cuts. So if you are one of those "conscientious objectors" who refuse to join the ranks of Miss Hall's infirmary squad, send your roommate instead and . . . GESUNDHEIT!



SIGnals

by Paul Millin

Lois Anthony and her performing bird will make their theatrical debut, and Hugh McCampbell will tell elephant jokes. It will be one of the most interesting and exciting evenings of the school year. Tonight at 7:30 in the basement of the New Dorm ALPHA SIGMA and THETA EPSILON are having a pizza party for their pledges. It will be a casual affair. The MSC will not be checking for bermuda shorts.

Sigs and Thetas will be having many combined activities this year as the Stewart and Sturgell administrations have promised to work very closely together. Of course this will mean long hours spent at the ruins in preparation, but both Deanna and Jerry have indicated that they are willing to make the sacrifice. All Sigs and Thetas will be making some sacrifices this year. For instance, on November 2 we will all be asked to sacrifice studies and spend the afternoon and evening at Laurel Lake. The Thetas will be staying all night, but the Sigs will have to come back to the school at 10:00.

Work began Monday on the Sig float and according to construction chief Jeff Little it is moving along on schedule. Contrary to the rumors now circulating over the campus, the Sig bell will be rung at all home games. We know this will come as a relief to all Southern bell ringers on campus. See you at the party.

Walker-Massey Make First TV Appearance

by Karen Keen

It is not generally known that two television personalities grace our fair campus. Dr. Arda Walker and Dean Frances Massey made their television debuts this summer in a startling expose of the tourist problem in High Point, N. C.

When questioned, Dean Massey sprung from her chair and asked, "How did you find out about that?" Reseating herself, Dean Massey explained that the only television show she had been on was a spontaneous affair, completely unplanned and unrehearsed.

She and Dr. Walker, on their way to a North Carolina beach, had stopped at a roadside park for lunch. An interviewer with a mobile TV camera unit approached them and wanted to ask a few questions concerning their opinion of High Point as a potential tourist attraction. After prolonged consultation and a quick look at the Maryville College Miss, Dean Massey and Dr. Walker agreed.

"How long do you plan to stay in North Carolina? What are you interested in as tourists in this area? Should High Point advertise more extensively?" were some of the provocative questions thrown at Dr. Walker and Dean Massey.

Off-camera, the interviewer explained that High Point was trying to build up its tourist trade. Found between the beach and the mountains, High Point is so centrally located that no tourists ever go there. At present, the main tourist attraction is a furniture mart.

Dr. Walker assured me that Dean Massey had gotten in "a few good plugs for Maryville," With a chuckle, Dean Massey informed me that Dr. Walker had subtly mentioned Maryville several times.

A teacher who can arouse a feeling for one single good action, for one single good poem, accomplishes more than he who fills our memory with rows on rows of natural objects, classified with name and form.

—Goethe

SEEN . . .

. . . AND HEARD

Familiarity breeds attempt . . . Sullivan has a better class schedule than I do . . . I stumbled over a blade of grass and sprained my ankle . . . Cauliflower People . . . Let's take an obscenity break . . . Happiness is a warm sweatshirt . . . What's purple and sits in trees and is dangerous? . . . — a man-eating plum . . . What do you mean I don't have any reponsibility, I got you up for chapel didn't I? . . . Meals were four and a half cents and I worked for five cents and hour . . . The word-by-word-of God . . . I'm a football widow again . . .

Highland Flings

by Dave King

Who would have believed it? Who would have imagined that our fightin' Scots would win their first three games against big, tough opponents? From the day we returned a few weeks ago, the grapevine worked overtime grinding out stories about the chances for the year, but even this seems a little beyond what anyone dared hope for. The first sign that anything extraordinary might be in the cards was Coach Baird's statement that he hoped for a season where we would at least break even. Athletic coaches are generally noncommittal and this sort of observation indicated that something might be up.

Something was indeed up as Maryville literally rolled over hapless Mars Hill in the season opener. The game was originally scheduled to be played at Mars Hill but was moved to Honaker Field at the last minute. The Scots promptly made their foes wish they'd stayed at home by outplaying them to a tune of 14-0. Maryville displayed a rockbound defense that gave up only 77 yards on the ground and an offense that could have played in the SEC. It was strictly our night all the way as three Maryville units moved the ball in an impressive display of the way football should be played.

The Centre College game the next week was just as impressive as the men in garnet and white again powered their way into the win columns. They started out just as strongly as in the previous game and by the time the band took the field for its halftime show, the scoreboard was aglow with a 20 to 0 reading. The Scots seemed to slow down somewhat during the second half and Centre managed to squeeze by with a touchdown. They were unsuccessful in their attempt at a conversion and the score stood at 20-6. The Maryville ground defense again distinguished itself as the big boys really dug in and held their ground. Coach Baird had a field day substituting his three talented quarterbacks, each of whom engineered one of the scoring plays. Enthusiasm and school spirit ran high after this second win in a row and wary eyes were cast toward the next week's opponent, the Tigers of Georgetown.

Whoever named the Georgetown team the Tigers must have been stating a wish rather than a fact. Make no mistake about it, that Georgetown team was the toughest Maryville has yet faced, but they didn't quite live up to their advanced billing. This was a different game from the first two because it seemed as though Maryville had finally met its match. We looked strong at the beginning of the game as we held the Tigers deep in their own territory on several occasions. But then the Tigers began to claw and stormed to a TD in the second quarter. Their failure to score the extra point didn't seem too important then but as it turned out, it made all the difference in the world. We came into the third quarter really feeling our second wind and by virtue of a pass interception and recovered fumble, scored twice in three minutes. Benny Monroe's kick was good for the first PAT but the attempt for the second one was a failure due to a low snap from center. During the final period Georgetown became the flying Tigers and their fearless quarterback penetrated a nonexistent Maryville pass defense. Their second TD was an inevitable result but the attempt to run the ball for two points was foiled by Donnie Phelps, who had scored both Maryville touchdowns.

And so, with the season a third of the way over, Maryville College has a 3-0 record in football. Today's foe is Emory and Henry and nothing would be nicer than another victory to write home about. It is hard to look ahead to this afternoon's game and predict what will happen. This is the first time this season we've played on the other team's field and this might be a factor. But if team spirit has anything to do with it, we'll clobber them. It does seem hard to imagine that our Scots could defeat their first three foes but then again, who would have believed that the mighty New York Yankees, the same team who ruled the American League by what seems to be Divine Right, would bow to the Dodgers for four straight games?

Winners of the first weekly Amos Alonzo Stagg Awards: Ken Berry, for his performance in the game against Centre College, and Donnie Phelps, for his play against Georgetown.

Scots Make It Three In A Row

by Will Mitchell

Last Saturday night the Scots emerged victorious from one of the most tense games that your writer has ever seen them play. The 13-12 victory over Georgetown made it three in a row for Maryville, but no one will deny that they did it the hard way. The victory was not assured until Charlie Thomas snared a Tiger pass with two minutes remaining in the game.

The Scots received the opening kickoff and looked strong on their initial series of plays, getting a quick first down before finally being halted in mid-field and forced to punt, but once Georgetown got their hands on the ball, the life seemed to go out of the Scots. Georgetown was not able to capitalize on this at first, and consequently the first quarter resolved itself into some pretty indecisive football, neither team able to pose any real threat. When the Tiger attack finally did take shape in the second quarter, the Scots were no match for it. Commencing with a run around end for 43 yards, the Tigers marched 95 yards for the first score midway through the second period. Tiger quarterback Steve Leach found Maryville's pass defense somewhat porous, and he passed again and again to receivers seemingly wide open. The outlook at the end of the first half was glummer than the 6-0 score indicated. The fact was that Maryville had been outrushed 102-86 and out-passed 76-8.

We will probably never know what Coach Baird said during the halftime, but the Maryville squad which played the second half was a different team. Barely minutes after the Scots kicked off, Mike White picked off a Tiger pass on his own forty and ran it back 14 yards. Benny Monroe came in and ran the right end, getting, for the first time that night, beautiful downfield blocking. Tension mounted when the Scots were stopped with inches to go for a first on the Tiger 23, but the sneak worked and Ken Berry chewed up the yardage through the center to the one. Donny Phelps carried the mail for the Scots first score, pandemonium broke loose when Benny made the conversion.

The Scots were still fired up, and this was their half. The Tigers fumbled after the kickoff and Junior Masingo was there to recover on the Tiger 37. Clint Abbott threw a key block to free Roland McClanahan to the 30, and then Roland carried the ball again around the right end to the 7. Again it was Donny Phelps who carried the ball across from the 4, slipping through the big hole gouged by Bill Cochran. Even though the conversion attempt was missed, the 13-6 score was cause enough for jubilation in the Scottie stands, and the realization was beginning to sink in that we were seeing some real football.

The Tigers fought back courageously in the forth quarter, and once again their passing attack began to click—despite improving pass defense by Mike White and Wilbur Ramsey. When a 17 yard touchdown pass was called back for a penalty, they were still not to be denied. The next play found the same end in the clear, and this time the score remained: 13-12. In the most crucial decision of the game, Georgetown decided to go for broke with a two point conversion attempt. Even when a fine play by Roland McClanahan foiled the attempt, the Tigers were not out. Tension was high as they got the ball deep in their own territory and mounted a drive in the last five minutes of the game. Still using the inexorable passing attack, they started tearing hunks out of the yardage separating them from the Scots' goal. Everyone was gripped with nervous anticipation as the Tigers rolled up the field, only to be met and stopped by a man whom they had already met many times before during the game, a man who stopped them this time, not with a bruising tackle, but with a pass interception on the Maryville 45 yard line

What's the outlook for tonight's meeting with Emory & Henry? We're primed and ready and capable of revenging last year's defeat if we play football as we played it during the third quarter last Saturday. If the coach will give the team the same talk before the game that he gave last week at halftime, we've nothing to worry about.

Stagg Awards Initiated

by Jim Gifford

In keeping with our ever-increasing school spirit an award presented by the student body to the outstanding football player of the week is being initiated this year at Maryville College. This award, the Amos Alonzo Stagg Century of Physical Fitness Medal, is being given here at Maryville and at other schools in honor of Amos Alonzo Stagg. Stagg, now over a hundred years old, was an All-American, the Coach of the Year in 1943, and a Gold Medalist winner. He is a member of the National Football Hall of Fame, and was still coaching, quite actively, at the age of ninety-six.

Each week a three-man committee selected by the coaches chooses the Outstanding Player on his overall contribution to the team's effort. The first recipient of this medal was Maryville fullback Ken Berry for his performance against Centre College.

Scots Overpower Centre, 20-6

by Ben Carney

"Two in a row!" changed from a battle cry to a victory cry as the Scots posted their second straight win without a loss. Centre College of Danville, Kentucky was the victim of an onslaught of offensive power and defensive ruggedness.

The first Scot ground attack carried the length of the field to the goal as Ken Berry blasted over for an apparent touchdown. The ball was knocked from his hands, however, and Centre recovered in the end zone to prevent a score. Centre was stopped cold after gaining one first down and was forced to punt. The Scots hauled in the punt on the Centre 46 and four plays later scored, as slippery quarterback Herman Ramsey twisted and turned and finally stumbled over the goal line. Benny Monroe kicked the conversion and the Scots led, 7-0.

The second quarter began with the Colonels in possession on their own eight yard line but the Maryville defense held again and Centre punted. On the second play after regaining the ball, McClanahan took a handoff, eluded several tacklers, and with tremendous blocking raced sixty yards for a dramatic touchdown. Monroe's kick was again good and the Scots led 14-0 early in the second quarter. The Scots were not yet to be stopped and soon an impressive ground drive was climaxed by Ken Berry's plunge from the one yard line for the third Maryville TD. The conversion was wide and the Scots led 20-0 at the half.

The second half of the game saw both teams settle down to good defensive ballplaying and it was only by a stroke of bad luck that Centre scored. Quarterback Benny Monroe was caught by the rushing Centre line and knocked loose from the ball. Centre recovered on the four and on the next play scored their only touchdown of the night. The kick was good just before the gun and Maryville wrapped up another decisive victory.

There is nothing more frightful than ignorance in action.
—Goethe

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable Since 1885"

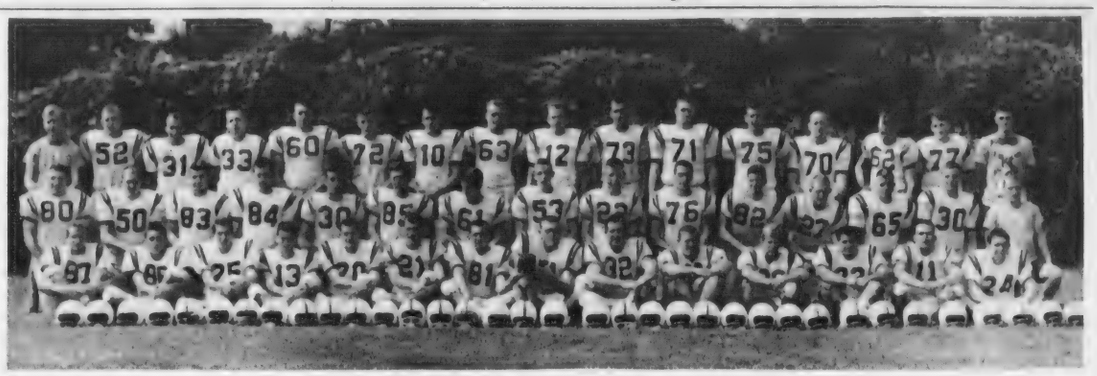
BANKING SERVICES
★ SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
✓ CHECK ACCOUNTS
★ CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
★ TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Martin's DRUG STORE
401 S. Washington St. Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.

Offering Maryville College Students
a complete line of cosmetics,
plus
a reliable prescription service
Located just off campus on Washington St.



YEA TEAM fight... fight... fight... give em... the ax the ax the ax ...hold that line fight... fight... fight... ...YEA TEAM whew pause

take a break... things go better with Coke

Bottled under the authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

RODDY MANUFACTURING CO.

Maryville, Tenn.

1963 Maryville College Football Team

Photo courtesy Maryville-Alcoa Daily Times

Three Teams Play Intramural Football

At the writing of this article the Intramural Football season is a little more than a week old. It appears that it'll be a three team race for the championship once again this year. The Alpha Sigma Sledge Hammers and the Kappa Phi Knights are both very strong as they have been in the past, but the other strong team is a real surprise. For the last few years the Chinese Bandits have been strong contenders but this year they have been replaced as a leading candidate for the championship by a young Kappa Phi team: the Eagles.

The season opened on September 28th with a clash between the big boys: the Knights and the Sledges. Both teams played a rough hard-hitting, but fairly clean football game. It's hard to single out any particular players on either side for having played the best game since every member of both teams played his heart out to win. When the final whistle blew, though, the Knights were on top 20-6. This defeat doesn't eliminate the Sledges from the possibility of winning the championship because neither of these two teams have played the Eagles as yet.

Phi's Eagles are made up entirely of freshman and sophomores, most of whom are tall and fast. Speed is the key word in the Eagles' attack. Their offensive game is quite different from that of most of the other teams in the league. They use only one blocking back, but have two wing backs. Both the wing backs and the ends are speed merchants. And quarterback Rich Marshall can really fire the ball to them. This team is definitely a threat to both the Knights and the Sledges.

With the exceptions mentioned here, most of the other teams are fairly evenly matched and should have a lot of fun this season.

Davis On Wrestling

by Paul Millin

In an interview recently concerning the wrestling team, Coach Davis said that he had not seen his team work out yet and was reluctant to make any predictions or to single out any new men as outstanding prospects. He did say that he felt the team had great potential, and he appeared somewhat optimistic.

This year's team has an unusually large number of newcomers with experience. Ray Palyak (147 lbs.), Roy Ries (123 lbs.), and Don Shields (147 lbs.) all have high school experience, and Gary Hall, a sophomore transfer from the University of Pittsburgh, has a year of college wrestling under his belt. Returning from last year's team the Coach has some exceptional talent in Van Pallis (157 lbs.), Adam Deveny (130-37 lbs.), Dale Hudler (137 lbs.). Will Mitchell (130 lbs.), Joe Kucinski (177 lbs.), Gene Dixon (137 lbs.), Hugh McCampbell (137 lbs.), and Clint Abbott (heavy weight).

Coach Davis suggested that he could use some more help at the heavyweight position and hinted that some more boys will be coming out later in the season. The loss of ex-SEC champion Jim Baxter should not greatly hurt Maryville. David Worobrau, a tough little sophomore, is eagerly awaiting an opportunity to step into the 115 lb. spot, and Roy Ries is aiming for the 123 lb. slot. There are a number of good looking freshmen out and as the Coach pointed out, "competition will be keen in all the divisions."

The boys started training under Coach Davis' direction last Wednesday and will work out twice a week from now until December 3 when they have their first match at Carson-Newman. The schedule is shorter than last year's but teams like Sewanee and Auburn will give the Scots an opportunity to prove themselves under fire. Wrestling on the Maryville campus has a traditionally large following and, as the Coach indicates, if the potential of this team develops, the fans should be well pleased.

Wrestling Schedule

Dec. 3	Carson-Newman	A
7	Appalachian State Teachers College	H
9	Milligan	A
14	Knoxville "Y"	H
Jan. 4	Knoxville "Y"	A
11	Chattanooga	A
18	Chattanooga	H
25	Carson-Newman	H
Feb. 1	Milligan	H
8	Sewanee	H
15	Emory University	H
22	Auburn University	H
26-27	SEC Tournament Chattanooga

A conservative government is an organized hypocrisy.
—Benjamin Disraeli

Socks and Sneakers

by Ginna Coon

The volleyball season is well on its way, with both societies showing a great spirit. Only time will tell which group will win the most games toward the coveted trophy presented each spring

This weekend will find the members of Women's "M" Club enjoying their fall retreat at Mrs. Largen's cabin in the mountains. At the retreat the members will plan the sports for the rest of the year, besides enjoying the favorite meal of charcoal broiled steak!

These cool crisp fall days give all you girls a fine opportunity to earn points for "M" Club by taking part in hikes. — one mile — 10 points. If there are any questions about "M" Club or the WAA program, ask any of the "M" Club members.

P.S. All volleyball games are open to the public—so come on boys—cheer on the victory of your favorite society designating the Chapel organ as a memorial to John L. and Bell Tallent Lambert. In addition, two sums totaling approximately $150,000 have been received through bequests and have been added to the college's endowment funds.

DIRECTORS HEAR

Cont'd from Page 1

The Directors took several important actions, including adoption of the revised budget for fiscal 1963-64 of $1,213,000, an increase of approximately $108,000 over that of 1962-63. Frank Layman, college Treasurer, reported that the fiscal year 1962-63 closed on May 31, 1963 with a small operating surplus.

Resolutions were passed recalling and commending the long and dedicated service of two former Directors, Hugh R. Crawford, Sr., and Clyde T. Murray, both of Maryville.

Thirty of the thirty-six active Directors and two Honorary Directors attended the two-day meeting, representing ten states and the District of Columbia.

If all our misfortunes were laid in one common heap, whence every one must take an equal portion, most people would be contented to take their own and depart. —Solon.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

WASHINGTON AVENUE

WGAP CAMPUS MIKE

Voice of Maryville College

Sunday Evening 9:30-10:00

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . . WEAR

Southern Shoes

Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.

116 West Broadway

All Abroad

by Elizabeth Eerenberg

After getting up very early in the morning, we packed the lunches and strapped the suitcases onto the bikes. We bade good-bye to the ones traveling by train to "Egmond aan Zee" by the sea.

Thus began the day's excursion in Holland. We cycled at a steady pace over the cobblestone streets, past the homes built so closely together, past the milkman with bottled milk for drinking and open containers of milk for cooking, the butcher shop, meat shop, and the bakery until the highway was reached. Cycling is easier in Holland than in Maryville. There the land is below sea level and flat, except for the inclines when crossing the bridges over the canals.

In the country canals are used as drinking water for farm animals, as swim areas for the ducks and swans, and as irrigation for watering the land. In contrast, the city life brings barges up and down the canals, tourist boats point out the city sights to their passengers from them, and house boats use the canals to get from one town to the next during the market season. In Amsterdam alone, there are 80 canals of 110 km. in length.

Trees border each side of the road through which are seen fields of flat, green farmland. Cows drink from the miniature canals that section a farm into several rectangles. For each farm there is a water-mill, a little lower in height than the average person. And, perhaps a windmill can be seen.

The windmill is a six or seven story house of which the "kop" or head holds the crosses in place. This is rotated accordingly as the wind changes. The mill's shape is the same as an inverted cone with the "kop" to replace the tip. Usually two families lived in a windmill and controlled its surrounding area. Now, most of them are preserved by the government for historical purposes. Others have been converted into homes due to the scarcity of space and the dense population.

We had been cycling for two hours and were somewhat tired. Further on the road was a fish stand, a good resting spot. We each bought a salt herring, dipped it in chopped onions, and ate it by holding the fish's tail above our heads for a better angle at which to take bites. We wiped our hands on a towel hanging from a pole and with "dag mijneer" took to the road again.

This time we passed the now-numerous flats (apartments). Each town takes pride in the design of their flats. They do not want box buildings or tenements. Rather, they are designed with variety given to the steps, windows of circular or square shape—sometimes stain glassed, flower beds around the entire building, or placing them at different angles of position on the facing streets. Usually, four flats will be positioned to enclose a two acre playground. These flats answer a part of the housing problem for the overflowing population of the small country. There is even a waiting list for those wishing to get into one.

Soon it was time for lunch. When a comfortable spot was found to eat and relax we leaned the bikes against a tree and opened the boxes of thickly sliced bread with cheese. Very good. Now it is the sun inducing sleep. We stretched out in the open air and relaxed. This was the "hei" — fields and fields of "hei".

The closer we got to the sea the stronger the wind fought against us. There were only 15 out of the 55 miles left to cycle, but they were the longest.

Once at the cottage our energy picked up again — we had made it and the oncoming events of the week were exciting.

Singing, swimming, walks in the dunes, rabitts at night, pasteries, war remnants on the beach, "patate frites" with "picadilly", cycling for an egg — it is life and very good.

APPALACHIAN ODYSSEY

Cont'd from Page 2

From Jarrard Gap we took a side trail down to Lake Winfield Scott. No one let us in the shelter there because we couldn't convince them that we were Boy Scouts. Since the camping grounds cost a dollar fifty we pitched camp in the picnic area a mere horseshoe pitch from the odoriferous stables.

Down the road by the lake there was gaiety a brewin'. A bass man, guitar picker, banjo twanger and git-fiddler were rockin' the hills. They were mountain folk just a dancin' up a storm. "Square dancin' " they called it, but it warn,t nuthin like what I think square dancin' was. Hit war lettin' go; hit war praisin' creation; hit war livin'.

Hit war also our third night out. I know because I could see the moon and stars, and could sense night all about me.

I had no choice.

Llyod Gooch had our tent.

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL ! !

Office Supplies? We Got 'em
Office Equipment? Likewise
Office Machines? Our Middle Name

Service? On All We Sell
Delivery? Fast and Easy
Parking? Free, 10 Feet Away

WHITE OFFICE MACHINES
"Won't Write – Call White"
217 E. Broadway Call 983-4762

HORNE'S Florist
Whatever the Season . . .
Whatever the Occasion . . .
You can convey your message better with flowers
We can supply all your floral needs . . .
See our agents on campus – Rich Boyd & Dave West
Remember to say it with flowers!
215 W. Broadway 982-2690

U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

WAYNE SIMMONS

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!
TIP TOP BARBER SHOP
105 Church St. Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop Open 6 Days a Week

GILBERT'S COFFEE HOUSE

FEATURING:
CHARKETTE STEAK – SANDWICHES
WHOPPERS
CHIPPED HAM
EXTRA THICK SHAKES
PANCAKES AND SYRUP
BREAKFAST ANY HOUR

ATTENTION ALL STUDENTS!
HAVING A GET TOGETHER? ALL ORDERS
$5.00 OR OVER WILL BE DELIVERED
FREE!!

982-1541

Ruth McDade Reigns Over Homecoming

Miss Ruth McDade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McDade of Maryville, is Homecoming Queen of 1963-1964. She was elected by the student body on Friday, October 11. Miss McDade will be honored at the homecoming banquet at 6:00 p.m. tonight (Friday), and will be presented and crowned at half time of the Maryville—Guilford game tomorrow night.

Miss McDade will be attended by four other senior women: Misses Roberta Bryson of Louisville, Kentucky; Phyllis Deloteus of Bowling Green, Kentucky; Nancy Haley of Galveston, Texas; and Mary Ellen Pettigrew of Morris Plains, New Jersey.

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 49 | Maryville, Tennessee, October 25, 1963 | No. 3

The Abortive Automobile

By Mike Moyers

The latest chapter in the familiar car committee story was written last week. It is a story that began early in 1962, and has continued, with a few interruptions, to this time. Its beginnings were innocent enough: an unbelieving freshman's question at a "campus problems" seminar. The young idea was met rather unenthusiastically, and sent to its death in committee.

But the little idea lived, and grew. The fall semester of 1962-63 saw the committee go to work. Gathering information took time — a student poll, letters to campuses of our approximate size and outlook. In the months that followed, as the results of the study began to come in, it became quite obvious that there was something lacking here at Maryville.

Our answers from other schools varied:

"College implies education, and self-discipline is certainly part of one's education."
Student Body President, Milton College

"We feel that cars are not good for a college student."
Dean, Newberry College

"The grade requirement has made for more study to qualify."
Dean, Catawba College

"Extending car privileges."
Student Body President, Hood College

"I prefer bicycles."
Dean, Blackburn College

"We do not regard cars as a problem."
Dean, College of Idaho

"I have been deaning here at this college for 17 years . . . "
Dean, Charleton College

But most interesting and familiarly frank were the comments from the student survey:

"It's time MC grew up."
Senior Male

Cont'd. Page 5, Col. 4

Founders Day Busy

Activities for Founders Day, October 26, 1963, commence with the chapel address to be given by Rev. Walter R. Courtenay, D.D., of the First Presbyterian Church of Nashville, Tennessee. Chapel will begin at 9:40 a.m. The February Meetings schedule will be in effect for the day. Afternoon festivities include the Homecoming Parade at 1:30 p.m., a soccer game beginning at 2:30 p.m., and open house of dormitories, beginning at 3:30. A big half time program by the Highlander band has been planned for the Homecoming football game, which starts at 8:00 p.m. A main part of the show will be the coronation of the Homecoming Queen for 1963-1964 and the presentation of her court. Also at this time, the winning floats will be announced and shown.

Today: Second All Scots' Day

Today Maryville College will start to celebrate its Homecoming weekend with the traditional All Scots Day. Spirited Maryvillians are being called upon to wear orange and garnet, Scottish plaid, or anything with a Scottish motif.

Homecoming will get off to a really good start at the Second Annual Homecoming Banquet, tonight at six o'clock. Besides the good food, a main attraction will be a short talk by Eugene Orr of Knoxville, president of the Maryville College Alumni Association. Dr. and Mrs. Tang will represent the faculty. Sundey dress will be in order.

Later this evening, at 8 p.m. will be the opening performance of "Kiss Me, Kate," a musical starring Bruce Jenkins, David Clinkman, Marty Miller, and Joyce Koch.

At 9:30 tonight Alpha Sigma and Theta Epsilon will sponsor our Homecoming pep dally. A fitting ending to All Scots Day, it will get us in the spirit to cheer our Scots on to victory over Guilford, tomorrow night.

Seniors Present $300 to SC Fund

A massive fund-raising drive for a new Student Center was launched this week by Maryville students. The goal set for the student campaign was $1,000, the major portion of which is to be collected during the festivities of Homecoming Week. The senior class kicked off the drive with a $300 contribution, presented by President Bert Randall at a Student Body meeting on Tuesday morning.

Enthusiasm for the fund drive spread quickly. After the dramatic presentation by the senior class, which was possibly largely through the efforts of Pat Anderson and Sally Blair, as editor and business manager, respectively, of the 1963 Chilhowean, other campus organizations soon got on the band-wagon.

Each of the four societies volunteered to join the drive in seeking donations from their membership of both time and money. Circle K, a service organization, arranged to build a Student Center float for the Homecoming parade, with the aid of pledges from all societies. Student Council, co-ordinating the entire campaign, supervised the erection of a symbolic thermometer in front of the present Student Center. And individual students gave generously in an effort to make the "$1,000 IN A WEEK" goal a reality.

The purpose of the student body drive, according to President Dave Marston, is to dramatize student interest in a new Student Center, as well as to encourage the necessary outside contributions.

Phil Brown, student chairman of the student-faculty Student Center Committee, reported that present college development plans call for construction of a half-million dollar student center. Since no specific starting date is planned, raising the necessary funds appears to be the only obstacle to immediate progress.

DR. COURTENAY TO BE SPEAKER TOMORROW

Walter R. Courtenay, D.D., S.T.D., will be the Maryville College Founders Day speaker tomorrow, Saturday, October 26. Dr. Courtenay, author and regular contributor to religious and secular publications, is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Nashville, Tennessee. He often appears before business associations, service clubs, and religious groups, and in recent years has spoken annually at one of America's air bases, such as Randolph Field, Texas, and Keesler Field, Mississippi.

Having graduated from Maryville College in 1922, Dr. Courtenay received his theological training at Princeton Seminary. Upon completion of theological studies, he served a church in Wisconsin for 11 years. During that ministry, two of Wisconsin's colleges honored him with degrees, Doctor of Divinity and Doctor of Sacred Theology. While there he did graduate study at the University of Wisconsin in the field of secondary school administration and philosophy. In 1943, he was called to be minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Nashville.

Seven of Dr. Courtenay's addresses have been read into the Congressional Record, and the Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge has twice honored him with medals of merit and cash awards. In 1957, Life magazine featured him and one of his sermons, calling the sermon one of the six best Easter sermons preached in 1956.

Wives of Faculty Form New Club

A new organization, the Faculty Wives' Club,has been formed for fellowship and service to the college community. The members meet once a month in various homes. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. E. Fay Campbell on October 31, at 9:30 a.m.

The temporary officers are Mrs. Thomas Jones, Chairman; Mrs. Daniel Kinsinger, secretary; Mrs. Thomas Horst, service chairman. Mrs. John Roberts is nominating committee chairman, and also serving on that committee are Mrs. A. S. Bushing and Mrs. George Hill.

Seven Floats To Be Part of Parade

Homecoming has again arrived at Maryville College, bringing with it one of the most waited-for events of the year, the Homecoming parade, with its colorful floats, the always exciting Highlander band, and an abundance of school spirit.

The '63 parade, led by the band, dignitaries, judges, and the queen and her attendants will begin at the First Baptist church and wind its way along Cates Street to Broadway. The floats will travel the length of Broadway to the new Knoxville Highway. Then down the highway, a left turn to Cusick St., and on to the end of the line, the Midland Shopping Center. Kappa Phi, always a strong contender for judging honors, has centered its float around the theme, "Roll 'em Under." A football, pushed by a M.C. Scot, will roll down an incline and simultaneously, a scoreboard will spring up, showing an ever increasing Maryville score, as the ball rolls up the hill and the sequence begins again.

Cont'd. Page 5, Col. 3

her mark

The word "Homecoming" usually brings to the Maryville mind Scotch plaid, chicken wire and napkins, a four a.m. reveille, bagpipes, and cheering sections. With characteristic faulty associationism, however, this mind remembers a Louisville (Ky.) newspaper editor who remarked last spring that the years spent in college are much like the Dark Ages. His comparison is especially applicable to our campus, for we tend to bury ourselves in the personal, forgetting to communicate with surrounding civilizations.

In September we take refuge in the foothills, sighing with relief that for nine months we won't have to think beyond the mountains to bombs, hurricanes, or Mao-Tse Tung. Instead, we pre-occupy ourselves with indignation about chapel cuts, dime cokes, and library fines. While this may be financially profitable (we are paying for an education), the Maryville microcosm is not conducive to extensive intellectual development.

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor-in-Chief
CHARLOTTA COOK

News Editor — ELENORA EASTERLY
Feature Editor — MARY JANOVICH
Sports Editors — GINNA COON and DAVID KING
Copy Editor — SANDRA SCOFIELD
Art Editor — DEANNA STURGELL
Exchange Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Business Editor — GORDON STEWART
Circulation Manager — FRANK WALLACE

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Duncan Bennett, Sandra Briggs, Carole Brownlee, Chris Carlisle, Ben Carney, Sandra Chittick, Mary Dilkes, Michelle Ann Douglas, Robert Dowell, Diane Eneboe, Sandra Haggart, Jane Hickey, Lois Huffines, Sara Humphries, Phil Jerome, David Marston, Bob McGruther, David Powell, Deanna Sturgell, Lori Sturmfels, Ralph Tucker, Sharon Walrond, Randy Wells, Robert Young

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR and MR. FRANK LAYMAN

For New Shoes,

Polishes & Dyes
Shoe Shine Equipment
Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Remedies

City Shoe Shop

106 West Broadway

THE BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES
★ SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
√ CHECK ACCOUNTS
★ CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
★ TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Appalachian Odyssey

Part Three

by Dave Powell

Mr. Halloway was a 72 year old gnome. His innocent-looking face was suspended between two patches of milk-white cornsilk, and his gravelly voice seemed tuned to a one string banjo. He was a Baptist minister from the mountains of Georgia, and he sang the songs that he used to sing to his flock:

"If you been drinkin'
You'd better quit yer drinkin',
If you been drinkin'
You'd better quit it now."

The tune was from the hills, but the message was from the heart.

He sang, too, about the Ten Commandments, Noah, and the wiles of women—at which point his subject turned to "the song them Scout-Boys comes to hear."

"I been layin' on my bed
Thinkin' you was dead
Oh honey
Cryin' tears over you."

The South breeds a strange bunch of Boy Scouts, indeed.

Mr. Halloway raised a gnarled hand and blessed us as only a God-fearing, glad-to-be-alive, wisp of a man can bless. Then he sent us on our way with the plea of "Write, though it might be a time 'for I can return the kindness."

* * * * *

Blood Mountain is the place where the Creeks fought the Cherokees over an Indian princess named Trahlyta. It's also the home of Walasi-yi, the Great Frog, chief god of the Cherokees. To tell the truth, we never saw the frog or the princess, though goodness knows how we tried. We did see thirsty high school boys and a jeep at the top of Blood, a red Corvair at the bottom, and a note from Ann Kuykendall (M.C. '63) that she had stuck in a tree.

Next a brief three and a half hour break at Vogel Lake (the cause for such a concentration of civilization) and we were once more plodding pleasantly on.

Tesnatee Gap shelter was the fun place! Said the Trail book, "shelter may be concealed by seasonal growth." It failed to mention that "seasonal growth" meant elm spanworms. Did you know that inchworms on your sleeping bag make walking noises? Ten of them constitute a drill team, and my bag was parade grounds for the First United Bug Infantry.

At Tesnatee, Bill went to get water while I set up camp. By dusk I noticed that Bill had been gone for over half an hour. When several shouts brought no reply, I headed out to look for him, only to realize that I had no idea which direction he had taken. I shouted again. I swore. I waited.

Silence.

A slight chill swept up the valley of my spine, and a little less sunlight filtered through the forest of my mind.

Stop! Control yourself!

I headed back to the shelter and began to survey the possibilities: lost, snakebitten, fractured head, desertion. . .

Further shouting was useless. You could have baked saltines in my throat. Only prayer contained my panic.

Cont'd. Page 8, Col. 2

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I feel that it has come time for me to take pen in hand and denounce the wave of antiChristian heresy which is corrupting the doctrines of our church..

A few weeks ago I went to see a play. I had been warned that it was written by an atheist, and sure enough, it was. A completely vile and un-Christian demonstration! And that woman who got up and spoke afterwards! Why she was saying such nasty things, things no one should even be allowed to think, that I really wanted to get up and leave. Therefore I think that it is only right and proper for a member of the group being attacked to reaffirm the basic beliefs we were all raised with and know to be self-evident truth.

Before I start, however, I want all of you who attended that play to realize what a sin you committed in sitting there and listening to another person's beliefs expounded. It is a basic principle of today's church that the church is correct in all matters. You should have left, especially when that awful woman got up and started talking—why, did you notice her dress? Too long: that's suspicious, in itself, just ask anyone. She obviously thinks, and does it well. That's dangerous. And the worst thing about her is that she refuses to fit the cliches we expect: she's entirely too individual. Brethren, as we all know, this is heresy. What do I mean, too individual? Well she's not a proper intellectual; she thinks too much for herself. She's not a proper member of today's church; she's too close to the Bible — you get the picture. In other words, she's a living danger to the comfortable values that you and I as 20th century American churchmembers hold highest.

Let us reaffirm the real spirit of what we believe! Let us gossip until this woman is driven away! Otherwise, she will speak of what is true; she will remind us of what dozens of philosophers, sociologists, authors, painters and little children have been telling us for years, may Satan take them. We must destroy her or the truth will destroy our security, false though it may be.

What can there be of the security we all love and lean on, when she is around to remind us of the obvious facts that our church is a motley collection of doctrines, money, inflated theologists, preachers, secular power, unholy priests, social workers—and millions of mindless slugs blindly demanding to be soothed, not shown the truth; that the church of today is the killer of Christ, the destroyer of faith, the encourager of corrupt and lifeless doctrine; that it is made up in body of lifeless beings without demonstrated belief in anything, shallow creatures who refuse the beauty of the world Christ loved so; that church members are hollow, lonely shells ignoring the fulfillment implicit in the Bible and grasping instead for brainless security to take its place; that the church member is a befouled conventionalist who ignores all that is placed before him, be it affirmation of his pseudo-beliefs or violent attacks on them.

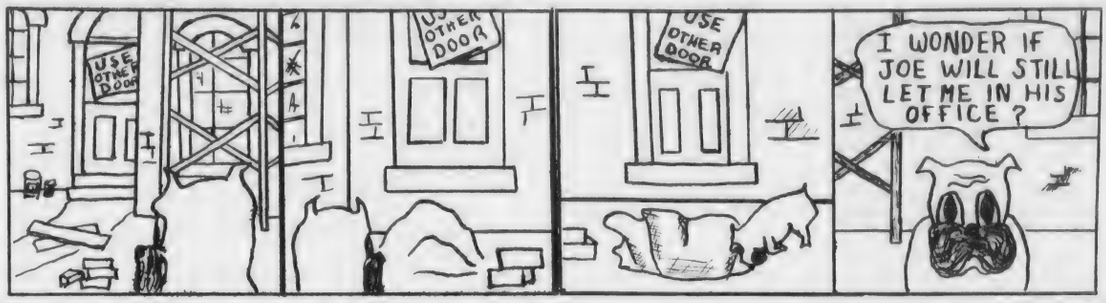
How can we maintain our self-righteousness, our churchly cloak of respectability, when she reminds us, with impressive documentation, about the rootless society we live in; reminds us that it is a direct result of the failure of the church; remind us that it (society) is composed of cowards deserted long ago by a church which gave them nothing but medievalism, yet cowards unwilling to attempt finding anything to fill the needs. Again we will have the truth about us spoken aloud— that we cowards are deceived fools believing in the rationality of the universe; blind fools believing in the goodness of the dead culture we belong to; dangerous fools believing in our own personal, essential rationality; and poor, silly, pitiful fools ignoring the power, the beauty, the all-importance of what we are really capable of doing without our comfortable (let us preserve them, friends) crutches.

Pray destroy her with me — she'll remind us that a culture made up of two-legged reaches is only as useless as we who compose it. I do not wish to hear western culture shown up far the farce it is, a self-centered grasping for strength in weaponry— which perversely ignores the only real strength it has: the strength of its individuals. Not that there are that many real individuals, Praise the God of Paul; and if you will just help me, not that I discount your devoted efforts in the past, we will drag them down to our level too. Then we can ignore the fact that our culture of millions of slugs is doing nothing but vegetating in its ridiculous, small, artificial world. We can all crawl under our warm, moist rocks and watch TV without anyone bothering us. We must never let her or any like her tell us what we know we are —mass men, mass fools, driving all others to our own shapeless image so that in uniformity there will be no contradiction. And above all, never let yourself be tempted to examine the roots of difficulty. Be sure and stay safely within the limits of trivia, so that you will neither stretch your mind to a dangerous degree or else see something which will make you uncomfortable.

I know not what course others may take, but as for me, Brethren, I will not stand for it, I will do my best, by subterfuge, untruth and malicious distortion, aided by near-complete ignorance, to strive to eliminate the person I most hate. I must use all the weapons available to the gutless modern that I am. If this splinter in my dead flesh is not removed, I may have to painfully tear away the old and let living, human flesh take its place. And I am afraid.

—Name Withheld

We are all travelers in the wilderness of this world, and the best that we find in our travels is an honest friend.



—Stevenson

McBRAYER SHOE SHOP

QUALITY SHOE REPAIR WORK

Open 6 Days a Week

SULLIVAN and PUDGY by Deanna Sturgell

INTERNATIONAL I

Chris Carlisle

Canadian-American hostilities are on the increase due to the recent wheat sales to Russia. Arguments over the price per bushel have been rather superficial, for undergirding the problem is the unfavorable balance of trade presenting Canada with a yearly deficit of $1.1 billion. Though the U.S. profits from this and other trade scores, it has been losing out, due to military and other aid promises, to such extent that our gold reserves of $24.6 billion for 1949 have dropped to $15.6 billion. As a result, both nations attempt to get the most out of the other through regulating dollar outflow.

For some years now "off-the-record talks" have taken place concerning these problems. The word "inevitable" keeps reappearing. This inevitability concerns a startling two-fold proposal; elimiate U.S. and Canadian tariff barriers, and create a common currency and treasury.

What possible basis has one for inferring such a thing could come about? We have argued enough. It is time we settle down to facing facts. Pierre Berton aptly put it in these terms in Canada's McLeans: National soverignty is on the wane . . . We have cast our lot with this continent for better or for worse and the people know it. I doubt if we could escape the tide even if we wished to." Implied then, is a union based on similarities of people and problems. (This business incited proposal is not to infer a political union be established, rather a solely economic one as seen in the St. Lawrence Seaway Project.)

What is to be gained by Canada's entry? A. H. Cameron, a reknowned Canadian economist, calls the 5% of Gross National Product paid annually for tariff protection only one of the penalties his 90 plus % importation of American manufactured auto needs. It country pays for economic "independence." These tariffs cover the also shrouds the great importation of U.S. industrial machinery, chemicals, and textiles. Last year a 25% tariff covering automatic transmissions was levied. In another light, Canadians view their thousands of miles of common border as close-at-hand trade arest barred only by tariffs. They also see ten times their own population as a possible market. They sense the 30% higher average wage in the United States. Mr. H. J. Maidenberg in a Times article (Oct. 13) states: "In times of fiscal crises (as now), talk of economic union takes on more than a defeatist tinge in Canada. It becomes enmeshed in patriotism and other emotions.

This side of the border sees an increase in gold per capita. It predicts less struggle over American business firms-in Canada regulation. Goods would be cheaper here if tariffs were removed. We import all of Canada's export oil and gas. We take 90% of her whiskey, fish, and farm machinery trade and 89% of her newsprint, pulp, timber, uranium, and iron ore outflow. In turn, we can more easily ship auto and industrial supplies to our northern neighbors, and in greater quantities. Vast natural resource complexes could also be forthcoming, especially since we import $147 million of nickel a year, $402 million of copper, and $93 million of lead, all of which are quite abundant in Canada.

Some people insist the economic union would lead to eventual political union and thus end Canadian nationalism. The Toronto Globe and Mail has recently said "If we continue to use our access to the U.S. money market as a crutch to support our financial structure, we will be inviting certain trouble in the future." Quebec, as has been seen in the news, might well completely secede if Canada joins in the pact. This feeling has also been voiced by other nationalistic elements. Why set money ahead of men and nation? Who here wants to be dominated by an outside force?

To counter, we must look the strong points of the pact. We could offset The Common Market. The Commonwealth of Nations would have an expanded market. Customs problems would decrease. Tourism and greater buying habits would develop. Eccrease. Tourism and greater buying habits would develop. Economically based highway construction would result in better military preparedness. Communication problems would most likely be alleviated. Costs on both countries would be lowered. Facility in Great Lakes shipping and pleasure boating would result. Border clashes over 8% increase and 10% decrease in our dollar value and. (Currently, the Canadian dollar 92.5c.)

Cont'd. page 8, Col. 1

For Cards For All Occasions, Cosmetics, Prescriptions and Reliable Service Visit

Byrne Drug Company

120 E. Broadway 982-1461

Liberal Arts

by
Bob Dowell

Many a morning 'bout a quarter till eight
Slip outta bed in a hurried state.
Stumble to the sandbox and grimace one or four
And slide back to the cell without touching the floor.
Throw in the towel and pull out a shirt
Jump in the jeans, and off in a spurt.
Got forty-five seconds and more'n a hundred yards
Had five cuts and now forgot my Right Guard.
Later. . .

This old Anglo-Saxon poem always reminds me of some of the more memorable mornings at Maryville. Strange the way times never change. Why just yesterday I over-heard a conversation while I was down in Knoxville that touched an old familiar memory. I could only catch one side of the conversation but it went something like this.

"Why chapel?"

"Yes, but compulsory chapel?"

"Even so that's a half-hour's credit lost because of missing one extra fifteen minutes session. Isn't it?"

"You really mean to say you can lose credit because of something you can't even get credit for?"

"You go to Maryville College?"

"Well, for a liberal arts college. . ."

No, I wasn't in Knoxville yesterday and I didn't hear that conversation, but I'm sure many of us have indulged in such exchanges. During the first year of school these questions arise time and again, but the answers to them are hardly satisfactory.

Why chapel? These answers vary from "It's the only way I can get going in the morning," to "Sometimes it makes me think; helps me to develop my attitudes: social, religious, philosophical, etc."

The answers to the question of why chapel is compulsory are usually worded a little stronger. In essence, the feelings conveyed are of an indignant nature. The present system could be compared to the parent taking his child by the hand to church every Sunday. This is fine, but are we still children?

The third area of consideration deals with the penalty for over-cutting chapel: addition of credit hours for graduation requirements. This naturally is the way in which the administration must enforce class attendance, but how does this apply to chapel attendance? There is no connection. It's almost like the judge taking away your hunting license because of reckless driving. If the administration feels that com-

Cont'd. Page 5, Col. 5

Quiz Yourself

The quiz for this issue is designed for the person whose ego was raised considerably by the first quiz. Again, try to answer eight correctly. These are more difficult, but they are from the same set that the average Oxford student mastered.

1. Name one novel by Gustave Flaubert.
2. Name one German Poet.
3. Who said, "I think, therefore I am"?
4. What modern philosopher is associated with existentialism?
5. Name two types of Grecian columns.
6. What is La Scala?
7. What sculptor produced "The Thinker?"
8. With what countries were Metternich and Cavour connected?
9. What is the "Malthusian Doctrine?"
10. Who was Pavlov?

Roget's Reflections

Words . . . theauruses are full of them, but too often our vocabularies are not.

Our language abounds with adjectives, but we over work a few general ones, and neglect the more descriptive and precise terms with which our language overflows. Our modern vocabularies have reached the point where we have only two words to describe the beauty of something—pretty and beautiful. For extreme emphasis we stretch out the word "How b e a u t i - f u l" or we put so or very in front of the word "It's sooo pretty."

This can be very frustrating, especially if one is confronted with many lovely things in rapid succession. Even to the conditioned ear, pretty and beautiful begin to sound trite after a while.

To help with this situation, listed below are a few of the more neglected adjectives. They are more limited in their use than the "all purpose two," but are much more descriptive. And you will find them much more pleasing to the ear.

Radiant	Lovely
Delightful	Exquisite
Handsome	Magnificent
Picturesque	Enchanting
Breath-taking	Attractive
Superb	Elegant

A task without a vision is drudgery; a vision without a task is a dream; a task with a vision is victory.

—Anonymous

FROM THE TOP OF THE WORLD
PURITAN® COLD FRONT V WITH "ANTRON"*

COLD FRONT V $19.95

Here is an exciting broad shouldered, slim hipped jacket with total taper. Inside and out, its exciting "V" taper conforms to your body movement. Floating raglan shoulders and tapered sleeves with zippered closures are designed for action and are practical too. Cold Front V is interlined with 100% Antron as insulation against the cold. What's more, the jacket is easy to care for, it's made for machine washing and drying. See it soon in handsome colors. Sizes 36-48.

MOSER'S
123 W. BROADWAY

SEEN . . .

. . . AND HEARD

. . . Anderson existentionalism — no exit . . . Happiness is walking through "fun crunchy" leaves . . . I would love to be a courtly lover . . . If you don't shut up, I'll start reading my special studies to you . . . and bless the Messiah rehersal . . . Our room has indirect heating and central lighting . . . Are you going to make like a tree and leaf? . . . Hey! we already had cherry preserves and guess what, we are having dessert too!! . . . It doesn't make much difference that you are 21 on this campus . . . You can sign out for a walk, but you have to keep walking . . . This is not a matrimonial bureau—it's a college production . . . We have a very liberal cut system—if you're on the Dean's List.

A Man for all Seasons

by Carol Brownlee

Recently produced on the Knoxville stage, Robert Bolt's A Man for all Seasons concerns itself with the conscience of an historically correct, sixteenth-century Englishman, Sir Thomas More, who finds it impossible to relinquish his convictions to the whims of Henry VIII. His silence on the matter of Henry's divorce and remarriage, though not verbal disapproval, brings about his imprisonment and execution as a traitor to his country.

Sir Thomas is pictured as a calm man; deep in his love for family and friends, religious in his position as Chancellor, courageous is his silence. He does not seek martydom, but only the right to follow faithfully his life's chosen path. Because he possesses no fundamental tragic flaw, More is not condemned for a fault, rather for his strength of character.

The instigator of the entire conflict, Henry VIII, is a monarch unwilling to entertain even the slighest opposition. His middleman is Robert Cromwell, an unreasonably ambitious courtier, who explains, "The King's a man of conscience and he wants either Sir Thomas More to bless his marriage or Sir Thomas More destroyed . . . either will do." Loyal to More even when his life is endangered, the Duke of Norfolk eventually sees the hopelessness of his friendship and serves as judge on the court which gives the death sentence.

Son-in-law William Roper is a fanatic for a doctrine, the nature of which is not important so long as he can become passionately involved with the cause. The immediate family, wife Alice and daughter Margaret, are unable to comprehend the madness of defying the king. Their utmost concern is for the safety and well-being of their husband and father, not for the importance of his sacrifice.

An interesting character, Common Man, is used as a commentator on the events as they occur and as a means of transition. In these roles he becomes in turn a servant, boatman, jailer, foreman of the jury, and executioner. His inherent selfishness is representative of all mankind.

Leaving for each generation to draw its own conclusions, Common Man ends with the advice: "It isn't difficult to keep alive, friends—just don't make trouble — or if you must make trouble, make the sort of trouble that's expected." Sir Thomas More did nothing subversive or radical; only his thoughts condemned him.

Purple Patches

A Distant Mist

Obscure flashes from a cold-blue sign
Diffuse on the slimy street where he walks

A thin cloth coat absorbs the dampness attracts the chillness
And clings about his rigid frame.

Footfalls echo down lonely alleyways where he passes.

Oil spots on the pavement,
Attacked by the throbbing neon sign,
Slither to the gutter
And are borne away in a trickle of Liquid moonlight.

A cold drop from heaven
Splatters on his cheek,
A tightness in his nose

Between the eyes.

A sticky dough-wad in the throat.

Hands clenched in drafty pockets hesitate
And a tear that had crept along the crease of a cheek
Falls to the street

The rain-soaked street—

Footsteps fade in the mist.

by Dave Powell

Jumble up, jumble down
Striving for a place
Go your way my jumble
I want no loss of face.

In a few moments
the words took their toll.
The scroll of registry took new terms.

In a bit of frenzy of excuse making comes misinterpretation and misinformation

As time whirls on lifeless lingerings remain unadorned in a saddened hollowness.

It is past.
The result is counting,
and, reorientation
must replace apathy.

by C. Davis

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

Office Supplies? We got 'em . . .
Office Equipment? Likewise . . .
Office Machines? our middle name
Service? on all we sell (with a smile)
Delivery? Fastest and best . . .
Parking? Free, 10 feet from the door.

White Office Machines

"WON'T WRITE — CALL WHITE"

Ship'n Shore great new oxford button-down
for shirt-lovers
$3.98

Its assets: back pleat and loop, taper tails, an easy-going look! BanCare® all cotton.

White, Beige, Blue, Pink, Maize
Sizes 28–38

Proffitt's
WOMEN'S DEPT.

WGAP
CAMPUS MIKE
Voice of Maryville College
Sunday Evening
9:30-10:00

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products
Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses

DIXIE
SUPER MARKET
WASHINGTON AVENUE

All Abroad

By Randy Wells

Last night as I read my Chaucer book, I began dreaming and drifting, drifting away, over fields and redwood forests to a great ocean. Across the water I drifted, farther and farther, until a strange land appeared, a jungle, then giant mountains from whose peaks came a stream. Down, down I followed it until it flowed smoothly in a green plain, through cities where people were bathing in it. Then I saw an ethereal white form on the riverbank. It was a palace of marble, bordered by pools and gardens.

Two young men were there. They stared at the palace and touched it and walked around it. They watched its reflection in the pools and saw from the garden its forms bordered in foilage. When they went away, they walked backwards, still watching the palace. what strange young men! They were dressed roughly—one even wore a beard — and laughed much of the time. They pushed each other while getting into some strange machine like a buggy-bicycle (anything can happen in a dream) which another man pedaled down the road. But then the man got out and rode while the one without the beard pedaled, and they all laughed. Then the two in back got out while the young man pedaled up a hill. The one with the beard laughed.

Nobody laughed a few minutes later when they arrived at a great red fort, because the man who owned the carriage wanted more money and they wouldn't give it to him. They ignored everyone who tried to sell things, but once inside the gate they started laughing again. What happened next in this strange dream? The one without the beard saw a water well and when he looked inside he noticed that the shaft dropped to an underground stream and was met by a passageway which came to the surface a dozen yards away.

The steps of the steeply-slanted tunnel were worn almost off, I noticed, and the only light parts were near the entrance and at the bottom, where a pinpoint reached from the opening of the well. The young man sat down and started inching his way down the tunnel! He had to light matches to see his footing. Finally he reached the bottom and yelled and made echoes and waved to his friend who had gone over to the well. I was glad his mother hadn't seen him.

I followed these strange people through the streets of the city. A few children came, too, and sometimes they would giggle —I thing because the young men winked and made faces at them. Where was this strange pair bound for, I wondered? So I followed them to see where they lived. Where do you think it was? In a railroad station! The sign said the town's name was Ag. . . was Ag . . .

". . . Agaton, for hire goodness!" Read my Chaucer book. I'm back to reality now, but what a dream I carry with me.

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

ABORTIVE AUTOMOBILE
Cont'd. from Page 1, Col. 1

"Cars would result in . . . the disruption of that sense of togetherness which is so important to Maryville College students."
Sophomore Male

An encouraging response: "Onward!"
Freshman Male

To the query of what purpose she would use car for: "to escape from 'it all'."
Senior Female

"If this move were allowed, which I doubt, it would ruin the atmosphere that it has taken this college so long to establish. I favor progress, but this is not progress, but a fatal mistake."
Junior Male

"We are at college to get an education primarily. I don't see how a car on campus would help . . . "
Junior Male

"Why doesn't this school allow the student to be a bit more responsible for himself."
Freshman Female

"If this committee wants cars, may I suggest you go to a large school where cars are allowed. They (the cars) and you don't belong here!!"
Sophomore Male

"Students at Maryville live in a protected atmosphere. The car restriction is one evidence of this . . . "
Sophomore Male

"How nice it would be to kiss your girl without a housemother watching."
Senior Male

"It's about time Maryville College came out of the Victorian Age and into the 20th Century."
Freshman Male

From a freshman concerned with the traffic problem: "We would have to tear down half the buildings to have enough parking places. I guess we could start with Baldwin."
Freshman Female

Many students responded to the question on the disruption of the dating equality which now exists on campus:

An astute observation from a sophomore: "Those without cars may be deprived of activities offered to those with cars."
Sophomore Male

"A guy with a car would be like a '2 dab man', snowed under with women."
Freshman Male

"With the exception of reduced wear on the furniture in the girl's dorms, cars would make little change in dating."
Sophomore Male

"That's life."
Sophomore Male

"What equality in dating!"
Senior Female

Even more popular was the question on the changes in our campus moral standards:

"Yes—motel room on wheels."
Junior Male

"No comment".
Sophomore Male

"Too many things could happen that can't happen now."
Freshman Male

"Cars have a nasty link with kids, unwanted ones."
Freshman Male

"Yes; students would be tempted to go beyond."
Freshman Male

"Only of the feeble minded."
Sophomore Male

Of interest to the Deans and of some students: "There just wouldn't be any more sneaking out to the field behind the coke plant."
Junior Male

"Yes; cars would encourage moral licenses which are impossible to pedestrians."
Sophomore Male

One interesting analysis: "I think that cars on campus would ruin some of the high standards. These standards are rapidly disappearing. Let us not lose any more. Let us try to get the return of those we have lost."
Freshman Female

All of which are entertaining, and perhaps not all irrelevant.

When it was all over, and the smoke had cleared away, it could be seen that some 46 of the 50 schools that replied had cars. Some 80% of our campus students approved the concept of cars on campus. It looked like a landslide.

Looking back at the heaped correspondence and questionnaires, the committee began wondering just how they did it. But, with these and other relevant facts in mind, the students began to develop a car program which would fit this campus.

The result of their efforts was an extensive report sent by student Council to Student-Faculty Senate in the middle of the Spring semester, 1963. This plan called for cars on campus as a senior privilege, with both academic and disciplinary restrictions. If anyone desires further information on the specifics of the report, three of the car committee members have framed copies hanging in their rooms.

The faculty and administration were agast. Overcoming timidity, some read the voluminous three page report. It was extensive. All the loopholes had been plugged. The Administration just couldn't say no! So, in a sweeping compromise with student opinion, they said "maybe," and tabled the committee report.

A student-faculty committee was formed to study the problem further. It has not yet gotten off the ground.

Student committee members at the beginning of this semester gathered clandestinedly. Since this reporter was not present, there will be no speculation as to the intrigue and plotting which this meeting must have entailed. At any rate, out of this meeting came a motion which Student Council passed unanimously and sent to the Executive Council. This motion asked for approval or disapproval of the concept of a limited program of cars on campus. Student thinking was that it would be ridiculous to work another year and a half for another maybe. Executive Council tabled this and is awaiting the activation of the student-faculty committee. This committee is now being reappointed. While students wait for this committee to get off the ground, the administration is hoping that it will come back down to earth (i'e' Maryville College, all 375 acres).

This reporter, due to the instability of the present situation, will continue to park his car off campus, and is planning on removing that spare tire from his closet.

LIBERAL ARTS
Cont'd. from Page 3, Col. 3

pulsory chapel is necessary for men and women aging from seventeen to twenty-eight, and if they aren't able to enforce this with penalties that don't effect a student's academic standing, then they should either increase the allowance for legal cuts or reduce the number of required chapel's per week. Is it reasonable to force a person to take an over-loaded schedule or go to summer school because he has missed over five of the required ninety chapels per semester?

Welcome - - - Old And New Scotties

Delicious Hamburgers
Thick Milk Shakes
Golden Brown French Fries
Pancakes & Syrup
Real Homemade Pies and Donuts
Chipped Ham Sandwiches
Fountain Drinks

GREETINGS, FRIENDS! We're glad to have you alums back on the campus and we'll be looking forward to seeing you at your downtown refreshment headquarters. Stop by and say "Hello." All you Scotties—old and new—will find that there is no better or more popular eating place near the campus than ours, and you'll always get a friendly welcome from our waitresses. Try some of our fine food and you'll be a Coffee House "fan" from now on. Take home a menu for telephone orders, too. See you soon!

Breakfast served Anytime
We're Always Open
Orders of $5.00 or more Delivered Free
Daily & Sunday Papers
$5.50 Meal Ticket for $5.00

GILBERT'S COFFEE HOUSE
EAST BROADWAY IN DOWNTOWN MARYVILLE
PHONE 982-1541

Highland Flings

by Dave King

There has been a good bit of discussion by some lately concerning school spirit—just what it is and how much we do or don't have here—and it seemed particularly fitting to carry this discussion onto the Sports Page. Before we go any further, it would probably be a good idea to decide just what we mean by school spirit. School spirit is that chill in the spine when the choir sings the Alma Mater, the forming tear in the eye of the processing graduate, the lump in the throat as the float you've worked so hard on is manuevered into its position in the Homecoming Parade.

Along the same line, isn't school spirit linked to our feelings of pride in the accomplishments of our athletic teams? Perhaps it would be more fitting to call this team spirit, but whatever you call it, it's all the same feeling. When we have a team that can perform well against all sorts of opposition, and this year's football team certainly has that description, we naturally feel a sense of pride. We want to see our boys beat everyone they play and when they do win, Maryville College doesn't seem like such a bad place to be from after all.

One thing that many people noticed on the recent trip to Emory and Henry was the apparent lack of enthusiasm on the part of their student body. It was Emory's Homecoming but the alumni were dissatisfied enough with the cheering section that they formed their own with their own cheerleaders. They weren't up on all the latest cheers but they certainly did deserve a pat on the back for showing their team that someone was rooting for them. On top of that, they had a grand time.

Our cheering section isn't silent by any means but it is often difficult to understand how a person can sit quietly and watch a football game. Football is an emotional game, particularly when you have an exciting team, and the fan who can sit and watch without letting himself become emotionally involved, without cheering for that "Orange and Garnet Yama-yama" is missing half the pleasure and enjoyment of the game. Besides, what better way is there to release all the tension and frustration of a long week of classes than to stand and yell for a while?

We certainly don't mean to be critical of Emory and Henry in any way because many of the people there were most kind. But someone suggested that perhaps their students had been so swept up in the worldliness and sophistication of campus life that it just wasn't in their nature to let themselves get excited. Could this apply to us in a way? Are we so caught up in the busy activities that comprise college life that we don't know how to let ourselves go and have some fun? Maybe this is too harsh a judgment but since this is the only explanation offered, we'll have to accept it.

Tomorrow night is the first game of a unique two game series with Guilford College. You can be sure that our fightin' Scots will be doing their best to beat them—let's do our best to yell them off the field.

A Look At First Half Statistics

The fightin' Scots of Maryville are on their way to what could be one of their best season's in quite a few years. The victory over Hanover last week marked the arbitrary midpoint in the season's activities and a quick glance at some of the more important statistics shows how the Scots have been able to total a 4-1 record.

Maryville has now scored 72 points in its five games while allowing 49 to its opponents. The Scots have passed for a total of 245 yards as opposed to 350 for the other teams. However, we've rolled up a magnificent 1035 yards rushing, averaging better than 200 yards a game, while vielding only 570 yards. This adds up to a total of 1280 vards gained for Maryville and 920 yards for its opponents. It is also interesting to note that we've lost 259 yards in penalties, as contrasted with 216 yards for the other teams.

There are also a number of individual performances that are impressive and that give a better understanding of that 4-1 record. Ken Berry leads the team in individual rushing and as the total offense leader. Berry has carried the ball 85 times for a net gain of 410 yards, an average of almost 5 yards a carry. Benny Monroe is the second offensive leader with a total of 333 yards rushing and passing. Monroe also leads the club in passing with a total of 171 yards gained, completing 19 out of 46 attempts. Herman Ramsey is second in the passing department with 5 complete passes in 12 tries for a total of 59 yards. Donnie Phelps is the team's leading scorer, personally accounting for 5 touchdowns for a total of 30 points.

One of Maryville's stronger points this year has been its defense which has consistently held down opposition scoring attempts. Big Bill Napier currently leads the squad in tackles with 38, while Charlie Thomas, in between pass interceptions, is credited with 37. Clint Abbott has 29 tackles and Junior Masingo has racked up 25. Bill Cochran is in with 19 tackles, which seems to indicate that the opposition hasn't cared to mess with Bill.

It is always dangerous to speculate too much about coming ball games, but it is safe to say that there don't seem to be any pushovers in the final four games. Guilford College, whom we play twice, is a newcomer to our schedule and can be counted on to provide good opposition. The game with Millsaps is away, giving them some advantage, and there is no way of accurately predicting the outcome of a game with Carson-Newman. The C-N Eagles, Maryville's biggest rival, travel to Honaker field for the final game of the year, bringing with them a record of fine play this year. This final half of the year could be a tough one for the Scots but then again, the first half wasn't peaches and cream.

Speedy Roland McClanahan carries the mail as the Scots try vainly to overcome Emory and Henry.

Photo courtesy Maryville Alcoa Daily Times

Scots Suffer First Loss, 13-6

The law of average caught up with Coach Baird's crew in the form of the Wasps of Emory and Henry as we took our first loss 13-6. The Wasps had a big, powerful team that held together long enough to thwart an agonizing last minute drive by the Scots that might have won the game.

Emory won the toss to start the game and took the kickoff. However, big Charlie Thomas, who is getting accustomed to this sort of thing, made his second pass interception of the season on the E&H 43 and the Scots drove to the home 22 before losing the ball on downs. Errant play in the Wasp backfield led Wilbur Ramsey's recovery of a fumble a few plays later but again the hardnosed Wasps dug in and we couldn't progress further than the 18. Once more the slick-fingered Wasps fumbled and this time Ken Berry was the man on the ball. Donnie Phelps finally broke through the ironclad defense and scored the first tally of the day. The kick was wide and the score stood at 6-0 with 45 seconds left in the quarter.

Maryville managed to gain possession early in the second quarter but, as happened many times that afternoon, the Emory and Henry defense was too strong and we were forced to punt. Halfback Tim Sarver took the punt on his own 30 and zigged and zagged for seventy yards and a speculaculer touchdown run. This time the kick was good and Emory and Henry's Wasps commended a slim 7-6 lead at the commencement of the Homecoming activities at halftime.

The third quarter saw its share of action but no scoring as the Scots drove to the opponents' 19 yard line, only to see a Benny Monroe pass intercepted in the end zone. The final period was the most exciting of the game as the Scots fought desperately to keep their undefeated record. On the first play of that quarter huge Earl Hawkins moved his 6'4". 210 pound frame an unbelievable 35 yards for the second Wasp score of the game. An attempted pass was knocked down and the score read 13-6. Then the Scots began to move. With only a few minutes left in the game Benny Monroe ran and passed like a man possessed but it was all in vain. The tension grew greater and greater as one Scot after another was nullified by penalties. With bare seconds left Monroe threw a strike to Mike Dalton in the end zone but Dalton was unable to hold on to the ball. Insult was added to injury as an alert Wasp intercepted a Monroe aerial and the horn sounded, ending the game.

Maryville played a good game against the Wasps but the difference was over a hundred yards in penalties against us. The Maryville pass defense shown particularly bright as Emory didn't complete a pass in seven attempts and we intercepted three of those. Our ground game kept running into the brick wall defense and Monroe was forced to take to the air. It was an exciting sixty minutes of football.

Soccer Takes Emory

With half of the season behind them, the Maryville college soccer team has a record of one win and two losses. Their single victory was at the expense of Emory University last Saturday in a game played on the field of the vanquished. The two defeats were at the hands of Warren Wilson College in the season's opener and Berea College.

The Scots entered the season with high hopes. Bob Mullins and Red Prudhon headed a delegation of six starters from last year's team. The others were Adam Deveney, John DeRan, Harry Repsher, and Phil Jerome. In addition two top prospects appeared in the freshman class — inside Billy Evaul and Fullback Dave "Peacock" Taylor. The squad elected Prudhon and Deveney as co-captains.

In the game against their archrival, Warren Wilson College, the Maryville team was completely outclassed. The Wilson team with their international line-up was too strong for the Scots. They pounded the goal with six scores while holding the visitors from Tennessee scoreless.

Against Berea College, the Highlanders had little more success, losing by a score of 5 to 1. However, the Scots showed more life on the offensive line. Adam Deveney scored on a long pass from Phil Jerome at the start of the second half. Two more goals were called back. Counters by Sonny Hughes and Billy Evaul were discounted for offside infractions. The Berea team was aided by defensive lapses in the Maryville secondary. The Woo brothers, George and Henry, were responsible for three of the Berea goals.

Victory came last week to Maryville at the expense of Emory University. In a low scoring game, center forward Adam Deveney tallied the only goal. The score came in the closing minutes of the first half after Sonny Hughes had crossed the ball into the center of the goalie area. Deveney was in the right place and converted the pass for the winning margin. The Scots were the superior team and monopolized play for most of the game.

Martin's
DRUG STORE
401 S. Washington St. Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.

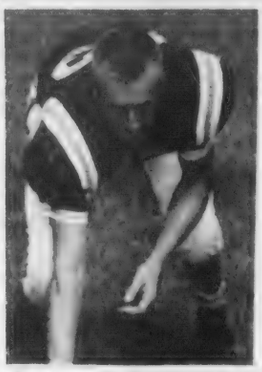
Offering Maryville College Students
a complete line of cosmetics,
plus
a reliable prescription service
Located just off campus on Washington St.

U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

WAYNE SIMMONS

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!
TIP TOP BARBER SHOP
105 Church St. Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop Open 6 Days a Week



YEA TEAM fight... fight... fight... give em... the ax the ax the ax ...hold that line fight... fight... fight... ...YEA TEAM whew pause

Coca-Cola

take a break... things go better with Coke

Bottled under the authority of The Coca-Cola Company by:
RODDY MANUFACTURING CO.
Maryville, Tenn.

Latest winners of the Amos Alonzo Stagg Awards: Quarterback Benny Monroe, whose passing attack almost overcame mighty Emory & Henry, and Clint Abbott, whose head's up play on the line enabled the Scots to overcome Hanover.

Maryville Ruins Hanover's Homecoming, 19-17

Maryville's Scots upped their overall season's record to a glorious 4 wins and only 1 loss as they came from behind to disappoint Hanover College last Saturday, 19-17. Hanover, who hasn't won a game in longer than they care to talk about, was really fired up for their Homecoming encounter, but Benny Monroe's passing and Ken Berry's running overcame a 17-0 halftime score.
downs to Hanover's 9, 86 yards passing to Hanover's 102, but Hanover really came on like gangbusters in the first half as they scored a field goal in the first quarter and two touchdowns in the second. The Scots never really did get going in the first half as every potential drive was stopped before it really got started.

The second half of the game was something altogether different as Maryville ripped the Hanover defense apart. Our first score came toward the end of the third quarter as Donnie Phelps carried over from the five, culminating a 71 yard push. Benny Monroe placed one through the uprights and it was 17-7.

The final period was ours all the way with two touchdowns and almost a third. As the fourth quarter opened Hanover was on its own 19 and had a fourth down and ten yards to go situation. They were unable to get the first down and Maryville took over on downs. Mike White soon exploded around left tackle for the second TD, narrowing the gap to 17-13. The Scots were really on fire now and wanted more.

Hanover took the next kickoff but couldn't move the ball and was forced to punt. Mike Dalton broke through the tiring Hanover defense and blocked the kick, giving us a first and ten on the Hanover 30. It was no time at all until Ken Berry, who rolled up an impressive 102 yards that afternoon, powered across the eight yards to the goal line for the winning score. The kick failed but it really didn't matter. Even yet the Scots weren't to be stopped, and when the final whistle blew, they were down to the Hanover 12 yard line, trying to get another score.

Although the halftime score sounds a little frightening, the statistics show how Maryville dominated the game: 20 first downs to Hanover's 9, 86 yards passing to Hanover's 102, but 246 yards rushing as compared to Hanover's 103. For a while it looked as though the hapless Hanover team might be on their way to a Homecoming victory, but the rejuvenated Scots, eager to avenge last week's loss to Emory and Henry, made short work of any victory hopes. Tonight the Scots put their 4-1 record on the line against newcomer Guilford College as the high point in the weekend's Homecoming Activities.

Knights Take First Half

At the writing of this article the first half of the Intramural football season is about over. Kappa Phi's Knights rolled over every team in the league to complete the first half of the season untied and undefeated. If the Knights become a little too sure of themselves they could be surprised in the second half.

Second place is still up for grabs. Alpha Sibma's Sledge Hammers and the Eagles of Kappa Phi played off on Monday, October 21 to see which team would place second. Each team lost only once previous to Monday's encounter and that loss was at the hands of the Knights, the Sledges getting picked off 20-6 and the Eagles, 19-14.

The league this season is made up of eight teams. Sig is represented by three teams: the Sledges, the Hammers, and the Ball Peen Hammers. Phi has four teams in competition this year. In addition to the Knights and Eagles, Phi has the Marauders and the always dangerous One-Eyed Jacks. The Chinese Bandits, the town team, has not been up to par this season, but nevertheless has provided good competition for most of the teams on the league.

Thursday, October 24 featured another big ball game. Two teams with perfect records clashed head-on for the first time. Both Sig's Ball Peen Hammers and Phi's One-Eyed Jacks were out to nail down their first triumph of the season. At the time the Jacks probably rule as a slight favorite since they do have a tie game to their credit.

REAL ITALIAN PIZZA

"If your mouth is watering for some taste-tempting pizza, why not take a break in your studies and call us."

Only 97c
DELIVERY TWICE DAILY
CALL 982-7920

VAN'S BAKERY
Midland Center

For Fashion in Young Men's Sportswear

It's McGREGOR. at Proffitt's

SWEDISH ARGYLE CARDIGAN is the sweater that captures the look of autumn. Wait 'til you see what the Burning Leaf Tones do for the argyle pattern (socks never had it this good)! Soft washable Orlon* acrylic. Six buttons.

$15.95

Proffitt's

Midland Shopping Center

Sadism?

By Bob Young

Homecoming! The word seems to have a special ring to it. And for each individual it has a certain special meaning. For some it means the dance, for others The Big Game, and for still others the elaborate game festivities. There seems to be little connection between these concepts other than the general heading "Homecoming." But look at these closer, and you may see the strange basic mixture of Sociality and Sadism.

Now you might ask how these two points were arrived at, are they good or bad, and what in heaven is sadism doing in the discussion? First it should be said that the relationship between Sociality and Sadism may seem out of the ordinary because occasions which lead to such a situation are few during any school year. Only during Homecoming is it permissible socially to let ones' imagination run free as to the ways in which the opposing team, school, and its students should be tortured. Our floats generally call for the destruction by ordeal of almost everything connected with the opposing school. We then turn out in gay attire and with best manners to attend said game, with its attendant dance and general merriment. Fun is had by all, and no further thought is given to gore until next Homecoming. And yet, is this practice a bad one? I think not. These unholy thoughts do not go very deep into a person, at least consciously. We enjoy the game, we enjoy the floats and we enjoy the dance. And besides, everyone should scream at something at least once a year.

INTERNATIONAL I
Cont'd. from Page 3, Col. 2

Some estimates see a pact in five years. A leading Canadian businessman sees it in ten to fifteen years. It is a radical idea, but a necessary one. Let us keep in mind the words of Canada's Minister of Economics and development Hon. R. W. Maculay: The United States and Canada "are inseperable partners in the making of a greater economy." "To insist on Canada for Canadians is no longer desirable. From an economic point of view, nations are melding into an international whole in this changing world."

When people complain of life, it is almost always because they have asked impossible things from it. —Renan

APPALACHIAN ODYSSEY
Cont'd. from Page 2, Col. 3

Eons passed. Civilizations decayed and collapsed and new ones came to take their place. Galaxies collided. In time there came a still, small answer to my prayers and my shouting. It said "What's up, Poot?"

"Nothing."

"Sorry I'm late, I was taking a bath."

We mixed up a batch of banana pudding, threw it away, and crawled in bed to battle the worms.

The next night was better. A truck loaded with chicken feed took us from the Trail at Unicoi Gap to Hiwassee, Georgia, where we picked up supplies. Unfortunately we didn't pick up a ride back, and by pitch black time we were still on Highway 75 waiting for cars and watching the cows. We were 17 miles from Unicoi gap and 3 dollars apiece from a real live bed.

Next morning we got a ride to the Gap.

Konita Flynn, (age 10) and her grandmother took us up in a VW bus. For 17 miles uphill Konita entertained us with "On Top of Spaghetti," and "I Will Follow Him." She knew only three lines of each song, and she didn't take requests. Nevertheless, she was cute, and she reminded me of my own ten year old sister whose birthday had been the day before.

So we hiked a bit, and soon June eleventh ended at Addis Gap with macaroni and cheese and gelled peach Jell-o—a hiker's dream of heaven, if hikers can dream. Thus we had come 58 miles.

SEVEN FLOATS
Cont'd. from Page 1, Col. 5

The Alpha Sigma float, "Chew 'em Up Scots," portrays a huge Scottie dog stirring an immense bowl of Guilford Quaker Oats. Of intricate design, the entire construction has several smart and independently-moving parts.

Chi Beta has chosen to lend an aura of staunch symbolism to the proceedings. Titling their float, "The Pride of the Scots Means Victory," the girls present an eight-foot-tall Celtic Warrior who symbolizes the victorious attitude of the Scots and the pride of Maryville.

The Freshmen plan to "Stew Guilford." A Maryville Scot will be caught showing no mercy as he prepares to "stew" a Guilford Quaker. A Scottie dog will be seen waiting patiently for his due.

The Sophomore float adds a touch of satire to the construction work. A classic Greek statue (of T.V. ad fame), wearing a victory wreath and carrying a bottle of Ban conveys the feeling that for Maryville a well-fought, hard-won game is "No Sweat."

The Junior Class, top prize winners last year as Sophomores, have another fine float. Two Scottie dogs will pull on a huge bell so that the Scots can "Make the Welkin Ring," reminding us all of the traditional ringing of the bell after a winning football game.

The Seniors have decided to clothe their entry in the competition in mystery. This float will be designed to carry the 1963 Homecoming queen and her court of four other senior women.

RECORDS

Complete Selection of Jazz, Classical, Popular, and Folk Music in Hi-Fi Stereo.

Quality Repair Work on Radios and Record Players

HITCH RADIO and T.V.

Midland Center

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK

MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

RELIGIOUS READING MATERIALS TO FIT EVERY STUDENT'S NEEDS

STUDENTS ALWAYS WELCOME!

983-4982

CAPITOL THEATRE

Sunday, Mon., Tues., Oct. 27, 28, 29

LOVE IS NOT A THING THAT HAPPENS ONLY IN THE DARK...!

jean simmons / robert preston in david susskind's production of all the way home

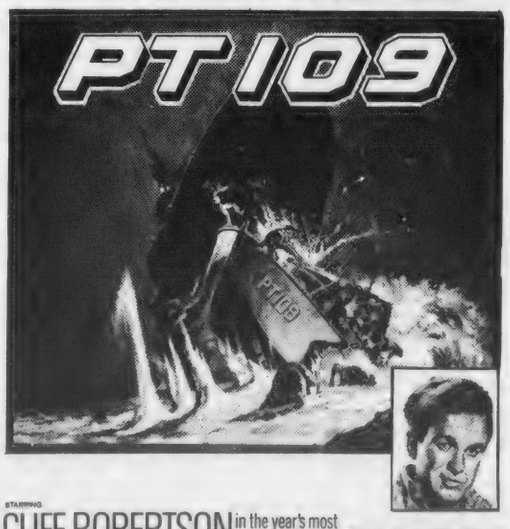
From the Pulitzer Prize novel and play



co-starring pat hingle · aline macmahon · thomas chalmers

SCREENPLAY BY PHILIP REISMAN, JR. · BASED UPON THE PLAY BY TAD MOSEL AND THE NOVEL "A DEATH IN THE FAMILY" BY JAMES AGEE · PRODUCED BY DAVID SUSSKIND

DIRECTED BY ALEX SEGAL · A PARAMOUNT RELEASE

Wed., Thurs., Fri, Oct. 30, 31, Nov. 1

The true story of Lt. John F. Kennedy's incredible adventure in the South Pacific!

STARRING CLIFF ROBERTSON in the year's most talked-about role! TY HARDIN · JAMES GREGORY

ROBERT CULP · GRANT WILLIAMS UNDER THE PERSONAL SUPERVISION OF JACK L. WARNER · FROM THE BOOK BY ROBERT J. DONOVAN · SCREENPLAY BY RICHARD L. BREEN

DIRECTED BY LESLIE H. MARTINSON · PRODUCED BY BRYAN FOY · TECHNICOLOR® · PANAVISION® · PRESENTED BY WARNER BROS.

Give the gift that GIVES PLEASURE !

CHANNEL MASTER

RADIOS

MARYVILLE JEWELERS

Socks and Sneakers

by Ginna Coon

PLUG: Homecoming is now upon us!!! With it comes a soccer game, a parade, open house in all dorms, a football game, crowning of the queen, a banquet, a pep rally, last minute rush to finish floats, and last but not least those Saturday morning classes. But the most important event will be the Homecoming Dance sponsored by the Women's "M" Club. It will be held in the Alumni Gym right after our VICTORY over Guilford. The theme of the dance will be Harvest Time, and it will be in honor of all of the Alumni, the Queen, and her court. The Dan Rineer Quartet will supply the music for the evening.

A total of 83 girls turned out for volleyball — let's keep up the good work girls and all out for field-hockey, which will start Tuesday, October 29.

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 49 | Maryville, Tennessee, November 9, 1963 | No. 4

Appalachia Synod Drops Support of U-T Center Pastor, Ewell Reagin

On November 1 the Synod of Appalachia of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., discontinued its support of the University of Tennessee Presbyterian Center pastor, Rev. Ewell Reagin. Mr. Reagin spoke at the Maryville College vespers service on November 3, and was a February Meetings counselor last year.

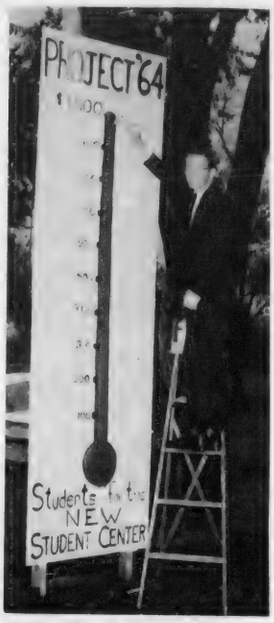
The action by the Synod of Appalachia is the climax to a series of actions by the United Presbyterian Church and the Presbyterian Church, U.S., concerning the student center at U-T. The investigation of the program and operation of the center began after The Knoxville Journal charged that the center was linked with the program of the controversial Highlander Educational and Research Center.

On May 6, soon after the controversy began, Knoxville Presbytery of the U.S. Church requested that the Synod of Appalachia "take steps for a full investigation of the situation at the Presbyterian Center since the arrival of the university pastor" and "make an inquiry into the theology of Mr. Reagin...." The Presbytery stipulated that this was not a condemnation of Mr. Reagin.

On May 7, the Knoxville newspapers were given a statement by the Board of Directors of the University Center, stating its regret at the threat to "Mr. Reagin's reputation, the Center and the church," and affirming its "complete confidence in the integrity, Christian dedication and loyalty of the Rev. Ewell Reagin."

Also on May 7, the Presbytery of Union of the United Church adopted a resolution affirming "the unquestionable right of every individual citizen in the United States to associate with whomever he pleases, so long as the law is not violated thereby; that it is not only the right but the responsibility of the Christian to establish contacts with persons of all economic, political, religious, social and racial backgrounds." The Presbytery further stated that it was "convinced that the Presbyterian Student Center has a unique opportunity to develop frank and open encounters between the church and the world, and we find the activities of the Reverend Ewell Reagin to be consistent with the faithful performance of this part of his assignment.

"We hereby request the Synod of Mid-South and the Board of Christian Education of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States of America to support the ministry of the Rev. Ewell Reagin at the University of Tennessee by giving its assistance to whatever extent is necessary to assure its continuation.



"We appeal to all concerned in this matter and to the community at large to lend their support to all efforts at redeeming this sad affair from the destruction of the best in our tradition to a more responsible use of the freedoms which are ours in this nation."

At the meeting of the Mid-South Synod on June 18, the Christian Education Committee stated: "We reaffirm our confidence in the present director as expressed by the local joint board in its paper of May 7, 1963, and we report that we will continue our support of the local joint board.

"We concur in the statement adopted by the Presbytery of Union May 7, 1963."

Since that time the decision to discontinue support was made by the special administrative commission of the Synod of Ap-

Cont'd. Page 6, Col. 1

S C Funds Drive Reaches $1000 Goal

The $1,000 Student Center Fund Drive initiated by Maryville students two weeks ago has reached its goal. The campaign, which started October 22 and was emphasized throughout Homecoming week-end, ranks as perhaps the most successful student fund drive in recent memory. Universally enthusiastic response made the ambitious "$1000-in-a-Week" goal a reality.

In a related development, Phil Brown, student chairman of the student-faculty committee on the new Student Center, announced that a list of proposed facilities for the new building is now being approved in committee, and will soon be sent for administrative approval. This timely action clears the way for the drafting of an artist's conception of the proposed building.

The fund drive was kicked off in a Student Body meeting on October 22, at which time the senior class donated $300. In the following days, the juniors added $309.11 to the fund, the sophomores contributed $100 and the freshmen gave $30. The Women's Choir and the Men's Glee Club announced the donation of their profits from the musical, "Kiss Me Kate." Circle K organized a scrap metal drive and added the proceeds to the fund. The Highland Echo contributed an unspecified amount. Generous individual contributions made up the remainder.

Student Council, coordinating the drive, keyed the campaign around the theme, "Make Maryville Move." Faculty and alumni joined the enthusiastic students in supporting the campaign. One ex-student, now on the faculty, remarked, "They needed a student center when I was here—I'm happy to give to that."

In evaluating the success of the campaign, Student Body President Dave Marston said, "We planned this to dramatize our interest in having a new student center here in the immediate future. We realize such a building is in future plans—we think this display of student concern should throw these plans into high gear."

MC May Conduct Summer Term

Plans are now being formulated for a possible 1964 summer term at Maryville College. Tentative arrangements call for an eight-week session, beginning June 8 and concluding July 31. The regular load carried by a summer school student will be six to eight hours, with a maximum of nine hours by special permission. In order to complete a normal semester's work, classes will meet five days a week for a period of sixty minutes, leaving the whole weekend free for personal undertakings. The cost for the entire eight weeks will be as follows: Tuition, $175, or $30 per hour for less than six hours; Room $50; Board, $100.

The offerings being considered are those in the core curriculum and teacher-education courses, with other possibilities upon demand; however, no class will be held for less than ten students. Those course now proposed are Art 313; Bible 101, 102, 222, 314; Biology 101, 102; Chemistry 101, 102, 111, 112; Economics 201; Education 215, 218, 219, 303, 308, 345, 346; English 101, 102, 205, 206, 224; French 101, 102, 201, 202; German 101, 102, 201, 202; Geography 232; Health 203; History 101, 102; Mathematics 101, 102, 111, 121; Music 313; Philosophy 216, 217, 311; Physics 101, 102; Political Science 201; Psychology 201; Russian 101, 102; Sociology 201; Spanish 101, 102, 201, 202.

There will be conducted shortly in chapel a student survey to determine interest in the above proposition, continuance of the plans depending largely upon the response. If there is sufficient interest indicated in the survey to warrant a summer term, other possibilities for students will be sought: among them local teachers desiring additional courses and borderline applicants needing remedial work to qualify them for admission the following fall semester.

The survey will not require a definite decision to attend the summer session, but should represent serious consideration of the proposed offerings.

Choir Will Present Mozart's Vespers

On Sunday evening, November 24, at the hour of the regular vespers service, the Maryville College Choir, under the direction of Dr. Harry H. Harter, will present Mozart's Choral Vespers Service, a canata in five movements. Soloists will be selected from the choir, and accompaniment will be by a small orchestra and the organ.

The itinerary for the 1963-64 tour, to be April 3-13, will take the choir to eastern Ohio for the first weekend and to western Pennsylvania for the second weekend. Commitments have been made to appear in Newark and Columbus, Ohio, on Sunday, April 5, and in Allison Park and and Columbus, Ohio, on Sunday, April 12. The Choir will be in Warren, Ohio, on Wednesday, April 8, in Kitanning, Pa., April 10, and in Ellwood City, Pa., April 11. Other dates are not yet committed.

Dr., Mrs. Rhodes To Lead Panel Nov. 21

A panel discussion, "Careers in Music," will be lead by Dr. & Mrs. J. Clark Rhodes of Knoxville on Thursday, November 21 at 7:30 p.m. Dr. Rhodes is a member of the Music Education faculty of the University of Tennessee. Mrs. Rhodes is director of the choral and instrumental program at Bearden High School in Knoxville.

This discussion is open to all interested students regardless of their major fields. The meeting will be in the lounge of the Fine Arts Center. Sponsors of this meeting are the Student Chapter of Music Educators National Conference and Tau Kappa Chi, music honorary society.

Brenda Lewis To Sing At MC Nov. 26

On Tuesday evening, November 26, at 8:15 p.m., the Maryville College-Community Artists Series will present Brenda Lewis, soprano member of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Miss Lewis studied voice with Sylvan Levin of the Philadelphia Opera Company and with Madame Freschl of the Juilliard School of Music in New York. She made her debut with the Philadelphia Opera while still in her teens, as the Marschalin in "Der Rosenkavalier." In 1944 Miss Lewis became a permanent member of that company.

Miss Lewis toured with the Metropolitan Opera in "Der Fliedermaus" in 1951-52, and became a permanent member the next season. She has sung in Strauss' "Salome," Mussorgsky's "Boris Godunoff," Grieg's "Song of Norway."

Included in her program will be "Billowy Harvest Field," "Lilacs," and "Floods of Spring" by Rachmaninoff; "Widmung" by Schumann; "Ich liebe Dich" by Grieg; "Die Ihr schwebet" and "Erstes Liebeslied" by Wolff; "Il est doux, il est bon" by Massenet; "Vissi d'arte," "Un bel di," and "Ouando m'en vo" by Puccini; "When I Weary" by Chasins; "Maybe" by Kagan; "Stars in My Eyes" by Kreisler; and "Miranda" by Hageman.

First Lecture To Be Fri., Nov. 15

The first lecture of this year's Lecture Series will be Friday evening, November 15. John H. Fisher, Professor of English at New York University will speak on developments in language teaching.

In accordance with the Lecture Series policy that one of the speakers be a faculty member or an alumnus of Maryville College, Dr. Fisher will be the Alumni lecturer.

After graduating from Maryville in 1940, Dr. Fisher entered the University of Pennsylvania, receiving the Ph.D. degree in 1945. In 1955 he became professor of English at Duke University, where he began a book on John Gower, which was recently completed. Among other publications is his book The Teaching of English in College; he is also editor of Reviews of Research in Medieval Literature.

After three years on the staff at Indiana University, Dr. Fisher has rejoined the faculty of New York University, and is now Executive Secretary of the Modern Language Association. He is a member of the National Commission of Project English and on the Language Development Section of the National Defense Education Act, and of the U. S. National Commission for UNESCO.

her mark

Committees are such useful parts
Of our society —
They occupy creative minds
In mediocrity.

The hours spent in idle talk
Use so much energy
That no results are ever aired
To stir complacency.

Or when an idea does escape
With possibility
It is immediately lost
In another dull committee!

The Highland ECHO
Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor-in-Chief
CHARLOTTA COOK

News Editor — ELENORA EASTERLY
Feature Editor — MARY JANOVICH
Sports Editors — GINNA COON and DAVID KING
Copy Editor — SANDRA SCOFIELD
Art Editor — DEANNA STURGELL
Exchange Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Business Editor — GORDON STEWART

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Duncan Bennett, Carole Brownlee, Chris Carlisle, Ben Carney, Sandra Chittick, Robert Dowell, Mary Dilkes, Phil Jerome, David Marston, Bob McGruther, Paul Millin, David Powell, Ralph Tucker, Judy Siver

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR and MR. FRANK LAYMAN

Letters to the Editor

In the October 16 meeting of Student Council this motion was made and adopted unanimously, "We recommend to a committee an investigation of a change in emphasis of the Fred Hope Fund to a local scholarship fund for a Negro student." In the October 23 meeting of the Council a resolution was drafted and accepted unanimously to be sent to Washington. This is a part of that resolution, "As individuals and as members of the Maryville College student government, we think it appropriate to reaffirm at this time our belief in the most basic of human rights, that of equality of treatment." It seems to me that these two resolutions are in direct conflict with one another. Any program which excludes one race or another is discriminatory. Discrimination against whites is just as wrong as discrimination against Negroes.

I talked to a member of the Student Council about this matter when the proposal for the Negro scholarship was being discussed. He agreed with me that it was discrimination but justified it by explaining that there were no scholarships in this area available to Negroes except those to Knoxville College. Even if this were true I do not think that it would justify breaking that "most basic of human rights!" The fact is that there are many scholarships offered which Negroes in this community are eligible to receive. Maryville College makes available many scholarships every year (46 this year). These scholarships are open to everyone regardless of race. The only restrictions on them are academic.

Too often we set ourselves up as judges for others. Maryville College students long condemned the race situation in the Maryville community. This summer without our help or advice Maryville made a big step in solving its race problem. Possibly some of our northern home towns could profit from this example. We from the North too often give unneeded and unwanted advice to the people of the South on how to solve their race problem when in fact the same problem exists to as great or greater an extent in the North. One more example of such advice is the Maryville College Student Council advising the Congress of the United States on a matter of legislation to bar discrimination when just one week before the Council had unanimously passed a piece of discriminatory legislation. Let's clean our own house before we take the vacuum cleaner next door.

—Paul Millin

"Kiss Me Kate"

by Carole Brownlee

To over 1200 people, the Maryville College Playhouse production of "Kiss Me, Kate" has been a thoroughly delightful experience. In two acts and sixteen scenes, director Thomas E. Jones and cast of thirty-one students developed the story of an egocentric actor and divorced wife who attempt in Baltimore a revival of Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew."

With forceful, yet relaxed acting and superb singing, Bruce Jenkins filled the theatre with his portrayal of the sometimes lovable, sometimes despicable actor, Fred Graham. Mr. Jenkins made excellent changes in attitude from the subdued "Were Thine That Special Face" to his spirited view of Georgian life with Harrison and its "brisk canters, cripsy critters, and domino games."

Joyce Koch, as tempermental Lilli Vanessi, complemented Mr. Jenkins in their duet "Wunderbar" and left to each his own thoughts with "So In Love." Despite an occassional relapse into mechanical gestures during a few scenes, Miss Koch was the "realistic actress" she called herself in the furious pummelling of her ex-husband; a struggle that sent sounds of flailing fists and stomping feet to the back row.

As Lois Lane, Marty Miller provided the natural mischievous sparkle needed for "Tom, Dick, or Harry" and "In My Fashion." Miss Miller and her opposite, Robert Martin as Bill Calhoun, added a bit of class to the show with their interpretations of the Rose Dance and the Pavane.

With an almost-distracting shuffle, David Clinkman, as Baptista, navigated around the stage and created a realistic character by the use of facial expression and hand movement. He was able to command all sorts of sympathy from the audience who felt pity for his Kate-problems.

Although filling the minor part of a maid Hattie, Martha Hall got the whole thing going with her bang-up version of "Another Opening, Another Show." Also in "minor" parts, gangsters Mary Gay Boettcher and David Evans were a real highlight. Miss Boettcher's "Ain't he virILE!" brought gales of laughter as did the dumpy dancing and slurped syllables of Mr. Evans. Together they executed quite a routine in the breezy "Brush Up Your Shakespeare."

A word must be said about the fine foundation provided by the members of the singing and dance ensemble who acted as if they were actually having fun in the performance. Their steps were often not perfect, but their gay spirit was transmitted to the audience.

One thing is for certain—this year's production of "Kiss Me, Kate" has set a good standard for musicals yet to come.

INTERNATIONAL I

by Christopher Davis Carlisle

This fearless earl, this eminence,
Promoted by Macmillan,
Could harm us more by innocence
Than any scheming villain.

Thus were the words from members of the House of Commons, Britain's lower house. The man engendered was Lord Home (pronounced Hume) who became Sir Alec Douglas-Home after renouncing his peerage. This man is now Prime Minister of Great Britain, perhaps taking up a role similar to Churchill, Eden, and the nine years his senior, predecessor, Harold Macmillan.

In the past months Macmillan has faced up to and overcome the Profumo affair. He had earlier spoken of retirement, but due to inevitable controversy over retirement during scandal, he held on to his Conservative Party leadership. Illness struck him down recently and an operation was pending when he sent the following letter to the annual Conservative Party conference to open October ninth. The letter was sent the eighth and read the next day by Foreign Minister Lord Home. The official Macmillan announcement came October tenth.

> It is now clear that . . . it will not be possible for me to carry out the physical burden of leading the party at the next general election. If the operation, which I am to undergo tomorrow, proves successful, it is clear that I will need a considerable period of convalescence. I would not be able to face . . . a prolonged electoral campaign. Nor could I hope to fulfill the tasks of prime minister, and I have so informed the queen. In these circumstances I hope that it will soon be possible for the customary process of consultation be carried out within the party about its future leadership . . .

The aftermath of the reading of the letter was a guessing game of replacement candidates. Most preeminate was Science Minister Lord Hailsham, seeminingly Macmillan's favorite, but later seen as a patsy for getting Home into the PM position. Also contenders were Deputy PM R.A. Butler and Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maulding.

Upon making an unprecedented visit to the PM, Queen Elizabeth II was told of Mac's choice for a successor. The word was out and Labor Party's Harold Wilson was most upset: "In this ruthlessly competitive, scientific, technical, industrial age, a week of intrigues has produced a result based on family and heredity connections. The leader has emerged—an elegant anachronism."

Ironically enough, it was the Labor Party's earlier actions which allowed Lord Home to take on the PM position. Custom had it that no Lord may become Prime Minister, but a bill passed in the previous session of Parliament allowed Labor Party's Anthony Wedgwood Benn to renounce his newly obtained title and remain in the House. Home is now Sir Alec Douglas-Home after ending his own peerage under the bill.

Home's future looks promising, except for Labor opposition. He has said, "The country has a right to assume that men's minds will be as modern as the machinery they tend, that private enterprise will be enterprising—that the government will govern."

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

For Cards For All Occasions,
Cosmetics, Prescriptions
and Reliable Service
Visit
Byrne Drug Company
120 E. Broadway 982-1461

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!
Office Supplies? We got 'em . . .
Office Equipment? Likewise . . .
Office Machines? our middle name
Service? on all we sell (with a smile)
Delivery? Fastest and best . . .
Parking? Free, 10 feet from the door.
White Office Machines
"WON'T WRITE — CALL WHITE"

RECORDS
Complete Selection of Jazz,
Classical, Popular, and Folk Music
in Hi-Fi Stereo.
Quality Repair Work on Radios
and Record Players
HITCH RADIO and T.V.
Midland Center

Purple Patches

Time is like the wind
as it puffs, inhales the day, and Life is like the sailboat
as it tacks this, that way.
And we are the tipsy drifters
(our sails filled with a dream) like whirlpools with empty faces that gurgle, die whispering, no scream.

by Bob Dowell

Security

We live in a marshmallow world
Of cream and marshmallow pie
And the people we meet
Are marshmallow sweet
And the sky is a saccharine sky.

Soft is the life in our whipped cream world
Softer than marshmallow eggs.
Gentle the girls
With the sponge-rubber curls
And the boys with the styrofoam legs.

Languid and long are the pastel days
And warm are the peaceful nights.
The world holds no fears
Til our twilight years
When sleep is a passive fright.

D. Powell

SEEN . . .

A Challenge To Termites

by Mary Dilkes

As another year begins to filter into the bottom of the hour glass, Mother Nature stages a most colorful array on Maryville campus. Fall is ushered in soon after the first earth-shattering clang tells you that September has arrived and breakfast is now being served at 7 o'clock.

But together with the orange maple, the scarlet oak, and the yellow sycamore, one still can find remembrances of the past spring and summer crawling around campus—everything from ants and beetles to moths, flies, hornets, and long-legged whachamacallits. Yes, this seasonal occurrence is the promise to all the dorms on Maryville campus that we have been invaded once again. According to statistics, insects make up nearly 80 per cent of all living creatures—maybe those science fiction movies are trying to tell us something.

But where they come from is almost as puzzling as their strange attachment to steam irons. Nevertheless, they buck the mountainous climb up three flights of stairs to make their permanent home on Bureau Plateau in spite of Clorox bleach, poisoned food, and any other get-rid-of-pests ideas.

After all, today's ant is definitely educated. Remember that piece of chocolate cake you so cautiously snatched from the dining hall for a midnight snack? You know, the one you put in a celophane bag with an elastic band around it and hid it in your covered tin box on top of a newspaper under a paper bag. Didn't work, did it?

At this rate it's useless even pretending to be an exterminator. But, then again, things could be worse—like a migration of the hornets rooming in the boys' dorm!

Appalachian Odyssey

Part Four

by Dave Powell

June 12, 1963.

It had to be a special day.

A wonderful sleep, hot cream of wheat, powdered milk straight from the box, and our pans washed in hot water for the first time.

We glided silently through groves of fern and rhododendron along the crest of Powell Mountain (an omen in a name if ever I heard one) with our minds many miles from our feet.

Impish clouds played hide-and-seek with the sun, and a gentle breeze nudged us gently onward ever onward.

Dazed with the immensity of life we flowed forward over the hills and down the crease of a ridge—following our hearts and the hint of a leaf-brown path.

When I stopped short it took Billy many seconds to reach me.

"What's up?" he asked.

"Rattlesnake," was all I answered.

He was a big son of a gun. Big around as your upper arm. and when he coiled up he was wound tighter than the mainspring of creation. He buzzed furiously, and his diamond head stared fierely through our souls.

I had missed stepping on his tail by inches.

I hate to have to say that we killed him. I'd like to say we left him to another destiny. He had no choice but to let us intrude, he didn't know that we would chance along, and if he had known he would have probably gone off somewhere to mind his business.

But we did happen by, and we killed him because we had to. Even the word "rattlesnake" oozes venom, and our instincts overpowered our love of nature.

We threw rocks, and we killed him.

God intended that the first rattlesnake a person meets should be immortal. So though we snuffed out his animal life, he still takes breath in my imagination and memory.

We finished the day's walk on tiptoe.

Just before the sun slipped into bed we stopped at Plumorchard Gap. Down at the spring a little crawdad eyed me from his watery castle in a rock. A few steps away Billy peered cautiously into a nest built lovingly in the rafters of our shelter. What he found has likely made us godfathers by now. What he saw is my last memory of that unique day—four plain and tiny, pink and perfect eggs in a brown-twig nest.

* * * * * *

June 13

I awoke with a start, and a hop-toad jumped into my sleeping bag.

Our Special K spilled, and it looked like rain all day.

We arrived at our first milestone—the Georgia state line. The view there was straight from Heidi—I swore we were in Switzerland.

We topped out on Standing Indian after a lunch of Rye-Crisp and potted meat.

Up, up and up.

Eighteen miles that day proved to be the best mileage yet.

And did it thunder and lightning that night while we wrestled with sleep. Once it was as bright as day for a period of fifteen seconds, and every moment of that time my heart stood as still as one A.M. The mob of thunder that raged by after that display, however, wasted no time in starting my ticker thumping again—double time.

June 14

For the first time on the trip Billy and I talked as we walked. Perhaps it was the first time we ever had enough wind to talk and not have to stop. We discussed his senior and my sophomore presidency. We mulled over freshman beanies and their place in a modern campus society. We talked about certain soon-to-be-constructed Homecoming floats, and we cussed our blisters.

At Wallace Gap we saw a church purposely constructed without walls, and we pitched my poncho as a tent right below a bird. The latter incident made it necessary to wash my poncho in the morning.

June 15

Today, a family of grouse sprang up on the side of the Trail. In an instant my mouth turned to solid steel, and it felt as though I had swallowed all my fillings.

At Wayah Bald picnic ground a kind lady gave us each a big hunk of lemon cake. Here, too, we experienced the strange sensation of leaving a piped spring run without turning the water off.

At the top of Wayah Bald another nice lady was so deeply moved by our thrilling adventures that she gave us a whole pack of M and M peanut candy.

Somehow, though, I think we personified her conscience, for as we thanked her and moved on I couldn't help noticing that she was slightly on the chubby side. Nevertheless, her gift was swiftly consumed.

Martin's DRUG STORE
401 S. Washington St. Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.
Offering Maryville College Students
a complete line of cosmetics,
plus
a reliable prescription service
Located just off campus on Washington St.

Candle Craft
UNUSUAL CANDLES
In A Variety of COLORS, SIZES, SHAPES & SCENTS
Ideal Gifts for –
★CHRISTMAS
& All Occasions
120 Miller Ave.
½ Block Off Campus
982-1770
Joyce & Jerry Cooper

REAL ITALIAN PIZZA
"If your mouth is watering for some taste-tempting pizza, why not take a break in your studies and call us."
Only 97c
DELIVERY TWICE DAILY
CALL 982-7920
VAN'S BAKERY
Midland Center

U. S. SHOWN

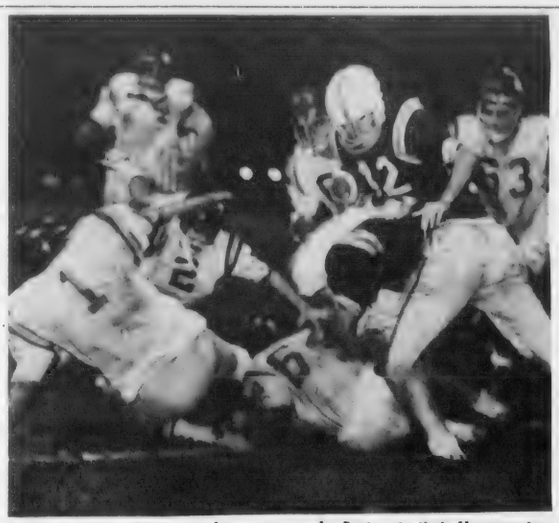
PAUL CAUGHRON

WAYNE SIMMONS
ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!
TIP TOP BARBER SHOP
105 Church St. Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop Open 6 Days a Week

Highland Flings

by Dave King

New York City, known here at Maryville as the largest city in New Jersey, is known to the outside world for a number of things, not the least of which is that it is the home of the worst baseball team in the National League and the best team in the American League. The Yankees, although they were greatly humiliated in this year's World Series, are nevertheless the best team the American League has to offer and the Mets, who couldn't ever embarrass anyone let along humiliate them, have given fans a fine display of baseball at its lowest as they lost 120 games in their first season. Recently the Yankees made the sports pages as they announced a shuffling of their front office and the appointment of Yogi Berra as the new field manager. This gives the two New York teams the distinction of having the two most talked about and most quoted figures in baseball as managers, for if there's anyone who is more of a character than Yogi Berra, it could only be Casey Stengel, the manager of the Mets.



The Mets have become a legend in their own time in much the same manner as "Wrong-way" Corrigan. Jimmy Breslin, a veteran sports writer, has written an entertaining book entitled "Can't Anybody Here Play This Game?" which he calls "The sprightly saga of the New York Mets, the world's most improbable baseball team." The title of the book comes from a statement made by the quotable Mr. Stengel in a moment of utter despair. "Ol ' Case," who has now passed the 72 year mark in life, gained his fame as the manager of the impressive Yankee teams of the past couple decades and when Ralph Houk was hired to replace the aging Stengel two years ago, the organizers of the Mets grabbed him in hopes that some of his magic would work on their crew of National League castoffs.

Apparently Stengel left his magic wand at Yankee Stadium, for the only resemblance between the two teams is their grey-flannel uniforms. But the incredible part about the Mets is the wild enthusiasm of the fans who have followed them. The personal attraction of a man like Stengel is undoubtedly an important reason for the team's unbelievable success at the ticket office, but the team itself is what draws most of the fans. Breslin says that the Mets "became . . . almost a national symbol. The Mets are losers just like nearly everybody else in life." There seems to be some wisdom in this statement because the "New Breed," as the sports writers have dubbed them, follow their team with almost fanatical devotion. Breslin goes on to say "The Mets try to play ball. They are serious. But everything they do comes out like the Marx Brothers in Room Service."

While the Mets fumble their way onto the sports pages, their crosstown comrades have announced the appointment of a manager who has carved a name for himself in American folklore that almost overshadows Davy Crockett and Paul Bunyon. Lawrence Berra, whose boyhood friends in the Goat Hill section of St. Louis nicknamed him "Yogi" because he looked like a fakir in a movie, is often compared to the Neanderthal Man in both appearance and intelligence. Berra is a simple man but anyone who can earn over a hundred thousand dollars a year in addition to his salary can't be called stupid. There have been almost as many stories about Berra as there have been about Casey Stengel, most of them centering around his love for comic books or his supposed lack of mental abilities. Recently we came across a tale in which the squat catcher is credited for really using his noggin.

Berra dropped out of high school at the age 14 and was playing sandlot ball when a New York Yankee scout saw him and signed him to a contract with the Norfolk Tars, a Yankee farm team. Yogi was paid $90 a month but had to pay all of his expenses out of this, leaving him with about 80 cents a day for his meals. As anyone knows, this isn't enough to keep anyone going very long, let alone the stocky Berra, but in no time at all the boy from Goat Hill had earned a raise. One night the Tars' regular catcher was injured and the manager turned to Berra to start the game. Yogi dropped to the floor and began to roll and moan, holding his stomach and complaining of lack of food. The harried manager, faced with the thought of refunding the receipts for 8000 paid admissions, withdrew a dollar bill from his wallet and gave it to Berra, who promptly jumped up and ran across the street to a hamburger stand to fill his stomach. That night Yogi went 4 for 4 and was given a $10 a month raise.

It's quite unlikely that the Mets will rise from the National League cellar next season and just as unlikely that the Yanks will slip from first place. But regardless of how the teams do, the sports writers should have a field day writing about the managers.

Archie Anderson drives over for a score as the Scots win their Homecoming game against Guilford.

-courtesy Maryville-Alcoa Times

Scots Win Homecoming Game

by Ben Carney

A successful Homecoming means a winning football game, and the Maryville Scotties did just that, beating Guilford College 28-0. The Scots had to wait till the second half to score, but then they did it with a will, scoring one touchdown in the third quarter and three more in the fourth. Both teams moved the ball well in the first half but neither could seem to push it across for the TD. The first half ended with the Scots on the one-yard line of Guilford. Pass defense for the Scots showed marked improvement as the defense snagged four Guilford passes.

Maryville took the opening kickoff and were stalled on their own 47. The punt was grounded by a Quaker who failed to cover the ball. Clint Abbott pounced on it at the Quaker 20 and the Scots were in scoring position. Penalties stopped the Scots on the 20 after an unsuccessful fake punt and run, at which point Guilford took over. The Quakers then began a concerted drive which carried them to the Scot 17 yard line where they were stopped and Maryville took over. Guilford's most serious threat came soon after the 2nd quarter began as they drove from their 44 to the Maryville 5. Three 15 yard penalties forced the Quakers to try a field goal which was no good.

With H. H. Linginfelter at the controls, the Scots drove to the visitor's 14 yard line. Guilford intercepted a pass to stop the drive but on the next play Charlie Thomas recovered a fumble and the half ended with the Scots on the one yard line.

The second half began with a bang. Stopped cold after the kickoff, Guilford was forced to punt. End Mike Dalton raced in to block the punt and the Scots recovered on the 24. Three plays later Benny Monroe shook off his opponents for 16 yards and the first touchdown of the game. Roland McClanahan charged across for the two-point conversion and the Scots led 8-0.

Late in the third quarter, Maryville began one of its familiar power drives and nine plays later, in the early minutes of the fourth quarter, Archie Anderson charged over from the 3 for the second M.C. touchdown. Monroe kicked the extra point and the score stood 15-0.

It took the Scots only seven plays to march relentlessly a long 81 yards for their third TD. Mike White began the drive with an intercepted pass, and Freshman Hal Schultz ended it by diving across from the five. The extra point was no good but the Scots led 21-0 with six minutes to go. Guilford was stopped cold in a hurry with another interception by Kip Martin who returned the ball 15 yards to the Quaker 30. Lingenfelter took over with his arm. One pass to Jeff Slagle—15 yards. Another to George Derbyshire—15 yards and a touchdown. Bill Terry's extra point kick was good and an impressive 28-0 homecoming win was history.

Socks and Sneakers

by Ginna Coon

The cold is here and with it comes a new intramural sport, field hockey. The game is played on a field the size of the soccer field. It is played with eleven girls on a team, five forwards, three halfbacks, two fullbacks and a goalie. The game is played with a ball, about the size of a hard ball, with a stick which looks something like an ice hockey stick except that it has one rounded side. The ball can only be hit with the flat side, otherwise a penalty is called. The object of the game is to maneuver the ball, by dribbling and passing it from player to player, until a goal is scored. The game is not easy and only by playing and watching can one get the full benefit of it.

Now to a subject which is seldom written about from a feminine point of view, boys' Soccer. For the past two weeks, Maryville has been honored with two soccer games and two wins. Comparing the two games, last Saturday's game was a better game than the previous one. In the game against Berea, Billy Evaul, and Red Prudhon played a tremendous game offensively, but if it hadn't been for the defensive work of Harry Repsher and Bob Mullins the game might not have gone down as a Scottie victory.

From the playing exhibited by Jim Allsman, a red and white stripped shirt seems to be in order. In the Berea game he assisted in scoring a goal. The Oglethorpe game awarded Jim with two of the seven goals scored.

We hope that our soccer team continues on to bigger and better things—varsity status.

Intercollegiate Swimming Here For Women

For the first time at Maryville College the Women's Physical Education Department is offering the opportunity for women to organize an "Intercollegiate Swimming Team." This team will swim against other colleges at a meet to be held here in February. There will be a very important meeting of all those interested in swimming, diving, timing, etc. on November 14, at 4:30 in the Intramural Gym. If there are any questions see Mrs. Davis or Terry Brusstar.

For New Shoes,

Polishes & Dyes
Shoe Shine Equipment
Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Remedies

City Shoe Shop

106 West Broadway

WGAP CAMPUS MIKE

Voice of Maryville College

Sunday Evening 9:30-10:00

THE BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES

★ SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
√ CHECK ACCOUNTS
★ CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
★ TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Millsaps Bows to Scots, 22-0

Appearing in their fourth homecoming game in a row our Scots won their sixth of the season in a game that was much rougher than the 22-0 score indicates. This time it was Millsaps College who fell but not without putting up a good fight.

The first quarter went slowly for us as Millsaps controlled the ball and almost scored on several occasions. The middle of the second quarter found the Majors on our 5 yard line but the big boys on the line dug in and we took over on downs. With the goal line behind them and an awfully long field ahead of them, the Scots tore at the Majors with a vengence. The first play from scrimmage was a 17 yard run by Ken Berry, who racked up 84 yards in the game. The next play saw Roland McClanahan break loose and really turn it on as he scampered 78 yards for the first score. Benny Monroe's kick went wide and the score stood at 6-0. In no time at all the charging Scots had the ball again and marched from their own 13 to the Millsaps 15. As the quarter was about to expire, Monroe threaded the uprights with a perfect field goal and the half-time score read 9-0.

The third quarter was generally uninspiring but Maryville did manage to piece together a bit of a drive. Retaining possession of the ball into the final quarter, the Highlanders pushed deep into the Majors' territory, only to run into an important fourth down and 2 to go situation at the 11. Donnie Phelps eased the tension as he gained the first down and then scored from the 8. This time the kick was good and the scoreboard glowed to the tune of 16-0.

Displaying the second half, late-in-the-game drive which has characterized all our games so far, the Scots took the offensive again, this time through the air. H. H. Lingenfelter took the reins at our own 38 and guided us into scoring range. A 26 yard pass to basketballer Kip Martin helped set up the final T.D. and a 25-yarder to Martin made it a reality. Again the extra point was no good but it really didn't matter as we ruined Millsaps' homecoming, 22-0.

The luckless Majors, who haven't won a game yet, nevertheless gave us a mighty good fight. The statistics show how much of the game they dominated and a lot of credit must be given to Clint Abbott and Bill Napier whose respective 18 and 14 tackles helped us up our overall season mark to 6-1.

	Maryville	Millsaps
first downs	13	18
yds. passing	180	91
yds. rushing	228	219
passes attd.	15	21
passes comp.	10	4

The latest winners of the Amos Alonzo Stagg Award are H.H. Linginfelter, whose aeriel attack helped win the Homecoming game against Guilford, and Roland McClanahan, whose 78 yard touchdown run helped outmaneuver the Majors of Millsaps.

Soccer Team Posts Two Wins

The Maryville College soccer team was revealed as what they really are in games played at Maryville for the past two weeks. Prior to the two consecutive home games, the Scots had compiled a mediocre record of one victory against two losses. However, once they got in front of the home fans, they were converted into a bunch of world-beaters. Perhaps the most glorious display of soccer at its best occurred on Homecoming Day when, with the old grads watching, the Scots massacred Oglethorpe University by a score of 7 to 0. Last week the Scots pulled off one of the biggest upsets of the season by downing Berea College 3 to 2 in perhaps the fastest and most exciting game ever to be played on the Maryville campus.

Against Oglethorpe, the Scots had little trouble. The game was primarily a display of the Scots offensive team. The offense kept sustained pressure on the Oglethorpe goal, leaving the defense with little to do but watch the proceedings. Adam Deveney, the Scots' center-forward and co-captain, led the Maryville attack. Deveney accomplished the rare feat of scoring a hat trick — three goals in one game. As fate would have it. Deveney's feat was almost matched by his roommate Jim Allsman. Allsman tallied twice and had a third called back when one of his team mates was called for an offsides infraction. Maryville's other goals were scored by Sonny Hughes and Phil Jerome

Last week, the Scots faced one of their biggest challenges of the season when Berea College of Kentucky journeyed to Tennessee to meet Maryville in soccer. In a game played earlier in the season, the Berea squad had soundly defeated Maryville 5 to 1. The Scots awaited the rematch, determined to prove that they were the better squad. The game was a momentous one. It was an outstanding display of soccer at its roughest, fastest and toughest. When the smoke cleared at the end of the game, Maryville had ended the five game winning streak of Berea and walked off with a 3 to 2 victory.

Berea was the first team to break into the scoring column. The first goal came on a corner kick. The Berea right wing, Bashir Khalil, kicked the ball into the jumble of players around the Maryville net. Maryville's excellent goalie Bob Mullins leaped above the others and caught the ball. However, on his way down, he was bumped by one of the Maryville defensive men and the ball rolled into the net. Shortly after this fluke goal, Berea's George Woo sent a screaming shot past Mullins to give Berea a two goal lead. At this point it looked as if the Berea team was going to route the Scots. However, with a few minutes left before the half time break, Maryville got a break. Red Prudhon was awarded a penalty kick from just outside the goalie's area. Co-captain Prudhon sent a low shot skidding along the ground toward a group of players clustered in front of the Berea goal. Jim Allsman deflected the ball past the Berea goalie into the net. At half time, Berea held a narrow 2 to 1 lead.

The Scots scored the equalizer early in the second half. Again Prudhon was awarded a direct penalty kick. The red-headed center halfback drilled a shot toward the goal. Berea's goalie jumped in the air and caught the ball. However, the force of the drive drove him and the ball across the goal line and the score was even. At this point a long struggle ensued between the two teams in an effort to gain the third goal. It was not until a mere eight minutes were left to play that the breakthrough came. Again it was Prudhon who came through for the Scots. Prudhon, taking his third direct kick of the day, sent his shot toward the goal. One of the Berea fullbacks, trying to head the ball out, deflected the ball past the goalie and into the nets for the decisive goal.

Despite the scoring heroics of Prudhon, the real standout of the game was the Scots' excellent right halfback Harry Repsher. Repsher had the unenviable task of guarding the Woo brothers, Berea's Chinese All-American candidates. However, after the game was completed it looked as if Repsher is the one whose name should be submitted to the All-American board. Repsher hounded the two Woos all afternoon. Time and time again he stole the ball and sent it back to the Maryville offensive line. Repsher combined speed, agressiveness and desire in completely subduing the Chinese stars.

Intramural Football

The second half of this year's intramural football season is well on its way. Action in the first half was concluded on a high note. Sig's Sledge Hammers and Phi's Eagles played off for second place, with the Eagles eventually winning the game. After the game the Eagles announced that they would not participate in the second half because of injuries to key players and because several of their players were out for varsity basketball. The players that wanted to were able to play for other Phi teams.

The second half began with Sig's Sledges looking like a different team. They rolled over Phi's One-eyed Jacks by a wide margin and then defeated Phi's Knights 26-20. Thus far the Sledges lead the league in the second half.

In other games the Chinese Bandits beat the Ball-peen Hammers and then the Bandits lost to the Sledges. The Maurauders were beaten severely by the Knights. The One-eyed Jacks, after the thrashing at the hands of the Sledges 61-6, were beaten again by the same team 28-18. The Jacks then won their first game of the year as quarterback Bob Mullins led the team over the Ball-peen Hammers. It appears that the Sledge Hammers are the team to beat in the second half of league play.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products
Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses

DIXIE
SUPER MARKET

WASHINGTON AVENUE

MARYVILLE COLLEGE
CHARM
$2.00

MARYVILLE JEWELERS

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK

MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

RELIGIOUS READING MATERIALS
TO FIT EVERY STUDENT'S NEEDS

STUDENTS ALWAYS WELCOME!

983-4982

"COCA-COLA" AND "COKE" ARE REGISTERED TRADE-MARKS WHICH IDENTIFY ONLY THE PRODUCT OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY

.....fox trot
twist...waltz
lindy...samba
mambo...cha-
cha-cha..bend
dip..hop..step
turn...bump...
whew...

take a break
...things go better
with Coke

Bottled under the authority of
The Coca-Cola Company by:
RODDY MFG. CO.
Maryville, Tenn.

APPALACHIA SYNOD
Cont'd. from Page 1, Col. 2

palachia, charged with the responsibility of investigating the center and "determining this synod's relationship to the center."

The announcement of the Synod's decision was printed in the Knoxville News-Sentinel October 25. The statement follows:

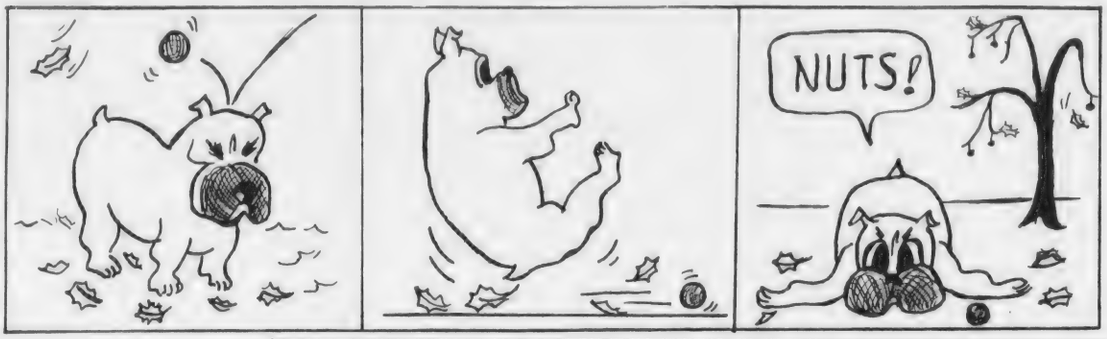
"1. The commission has met on several separate occasions during the last four months. It has engaged in a careful study of the Center, reviewing its history, its purposes, its present program and administration. It has studied documents and papers related to this ministry, received testimony and heard witnesses, and engaged in discussions with members of the board of the center and its directors.

"It has conferred with representatives of the Synod of the Mid-South . . . with which our synod has been engaged in the joint operation of the center since its creation some 13 years ago.

"2. Due to unresolved differences concerning emphases, methods and administration of the center as presently constituted, the commission has voted unanimously to discontinue the Synod of Appalachia's support and operation of this jointly sponsored ministry as of Nov. 1.

"3. The above action has been taken without inferring or implying in any manner that the director of the center has been disloyal to our country.

"4. We instruct the Synod's Committee on Christian Education to honor its financial commitments toward the purpose of the property and instruct the Synod of Appalachia . . . directors to continue to hold the property jointly in behalf of the Presbyterian Church US and the United Presbyterian Church USA until it is determined what disposition is to be made of the property. All interim expenditures for the alteration or improvements of the property shall be subject to the approval of the Appalachia Synod's Council on Campus Christian Life.



"5. The commission takes this action with deep regret. It would assure our brethren in the Synod of Mid-South it does so with real reluctance. The commission appreciates the ties which . . . have bound us together in this campus ministry.

"It is our hope that it may be possible at some future date under the leadership of God's Spirit to engage in some kind of mutually acceptable joint ministry on the U-T campus."

HELP!
Recent American History (333) notebook missing! Anyone knowing the whereabouts of said article contact Judy Butler (303 New Dorm) immediately.
REWARD

Satire is a sort of glass, wherein beholders do generally discover everybody's face but their own.
—Jonathan Swift

SULLIVAN and PUDGY by Deanna Sturgell

We have just enough religion to make us hate, but not enough to make us love one another.
—Jonathan Swift

McBRAYER SHOE SHOP
QUALITY SHOE REPAIR WORK
Open 6 Days a Week

Autumn is brisk walks, football weekends and

BURNING LEAF TONES

by McGREGOR

Colors that capture the splendor of autumn leaves . . . in all their subtle, muted elegance. The sportshirt with the long-point button down collar is the BURNING LEAF TARTANS COAT SHIRT. The tartans are authentic and so is the tailoring in staunch cotton. $5.95

The other is the BURNING LEAF MADRAS, tailored in domestic cotton with classic spread collar. $5.00

Proffitt's

Midland Shopping Center

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 49 | Maryville, Tennessee, November 27, 1963 | No. 5

Study Shows MC's High Rank

Academic excellence has historically been one of the chief objectives of Maryville College, and the College has received startling proof of its continuing excellence in a recent publication of the National Academy of Sciences, National Research Council. The publication, entitled Doctorate Production in the United States, includes a study of baccalaureate origins of research doctorates in science, arts, and professions exclusive of professional degrees such as M.D., D.D.S., and D.V.M.

The most startling revelation is probably that there are only 242 other institutions in the whole United States which rank above Maryville in the numbers of doctorates. This puts Maryville College in the top 17 per cent of the 1470 four-year colleges in the nation, a comparison which does not consider size and which includes all the big state and private universities and colleges.

Only the top 299 colleges and universities providing baccalaureate origins are listed as "leading baccalaureate sources of doctorates," and when size is considered Maryville's position becomes even more impressive. Only 17 of the schools ranked above Maryville have less than 1,000 enrollment, and only three (Haverford, Wabash, and Park) have enrollment of less than Maryville.

In Tennessee, with 34 four-year institutions in the state, Maryville ranks fourth, with only the University of Tennessee, Vanderbilt, and Peabody ahead. Among the schools related to the Presbyterian Church, Maryville is eighth in a list of 49. Ahead of Maryville are Wooster, Lafayette, Occidental, Park, Coe, Muskingham and Monmouth, of which only Park has a smaller enrollment than Maryville.

In the period covered by the report, 1920 through 1961, 136 Maryville College graduates have earned the doctorate. Most heartening is the progression of the figures, which show that Maryville is becoming "increasingly excellent." Broken down by periods, from 1920 to 1929 there were five doctorates; from 1930-39 there were 23; from 1940-49 there were 43; from 1950-59 there were 49, and for 1960-61 alone there were 16—indicating that in the next decade there will be another gain.

Also gratifying, in these days of increasing emphasis on science and technology, is the number of doctorates in the sciences. A breakdown of the total of 136 by subjects shows that 23 of the doctorates are in the physical sciences, 20 in the biological sciences, 28 in the social sciences, 38 in the humanities and arts, and 27 in education.

In a table in the volume showing 40 leading doctorate institutions and their major baccalaureate sources—in other words the 40 leading institutions granting doctorates in the country—Maryville graduates are shown to have earned doctorates in each of the top 23 universities and in 31 of the top 40. The University of North Carolina and the University of Indiana lead with nine each, followed by the University of Chicago with eight, Columbia with six, and Cornell, Yale, and the University of Pennsylvania with five each.

College Presents 'Messiah' Dec. 8

On Sunday, December 8, at 3 p.m., in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel, Maryville College will present its thirty-first annual performance of Handel's "The Messiah." Dr. Harry H. Harter, professor of music, will direct the chorus and orchestra for the sixteenth year.

The chorus is made up of the College Choir, the Women's Choir, the Men's Glee Club, and other members of the College and community. The orchestra has been trained by John A. Roberts of the College music faculty.

Soloists this year are Jean Dorscheid, "Rejoice greatly"; Sara Tompkins, "Come Unto Him"; Joyce Koch, "I Know that my Redeemer liveth," There were shepherds," "And the angel said unto them"; Ibbie Ann Jack, "And lo, the angel of the Lord," "And suddenly there was with the angel," "How Beautiful"; Lorna Brusstar, "How Beautiful"; Martha Hall, "O Thou that tellest"; Carole Webster, "He shall feed his flock"; Barbara McCarter, "He was despised";

Dan H. Kinsinger, "Comfort Ye," "Every Valley"; James Breckenridge, "Thy Rebuke," "Behold and See"; Jonathan Gresham, trumpet solo, "The Trumpet Shall Sound"; David Evans, "But who may abide." "Thou art gone up on high"; L. B. Sikes, "Thus saith the Lord," "For Behold darkness shall cover the earth"; John Spangler, "The People that walked in darkness"; and Bruce Jenkins, "Behold, I tell you a mystery," "The Trumpet shall sound."

Pictured above are the chorus director, Dr. Harry H. Harter (lower right), and the soloists for the December 8 performance of "The Messiah." From left to right the women are Misses Hall, McCarter, Tompkins, Webster, Koch, Dorscheid, Jack, and Brusstar. The men, left to right, are Messrs. Gresham, Spangler, Kinsinger, Jenkins, Breckenridge, Sikes, and Evans.

Linda, Rich Murchison Reign As Barnwarming Queen, King

Pictured in the center above are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Murchison (Linda Probasco), King and Queen of 1963 Barnwarming. With them, left to right, are the class sponsors: Dottie Sansburg, Mary Ann Jeffers, Shirley Mease, and Carolyn Foust.

Mr. and Mrs. Rich Murchison (Linda Probasco) were elected Barnwarming King and Queen for 1963 by the student body on Wednesday, November 20, and will reign over the Barnwarming festivities Thanksgiving night, November 28.

The class sponsors, elected on the same day, are Shirley Mease, senior; Carolyn Foust, junior; Mary Ann Jeffers, sophomore; and Dottie Sansburg, freshman. Escorting the sponsors will be class presidents Bert Randall, Harold Cones, David Powell, and James Wolfe.

The presentation of the king and queen and their court will be at 7:30 in the Alumni Gym, between the carnival and the talent show.

At 6:30 the carnival will begin, with booths run by campus organizations. A prize will be awarded to the booth selling the most tickets. After the presentation ceremonies, the talent show, with Dave Powell as M.C., will begin. This will also involve competition, a prize of $5 going to the best act. Balloting will be done by the audience.

An extra attraction is a skit, produced and directed by members of the Maryville faculty.

Admission fee will be 75 cents.

Chi Beta-Kappa Phi Hold Fall Formal Sat.Night

"Winter Spectacular" is the theme of this year's fall formal, being sponsored by Chi Beta and Kappa Phi. It will be held in the Maryville College Ski Lodge (Alumni Gym) on this Saturday, November 30, from 8 to 11:45 p.m. Music will be by Will Scarlet and band of Knoxville.

Heads of the society committees in charge of dance arrangements are Nancy Buckwalter and John Gresham.

Faculty Wives Elect Mrs. Jones Prexy

Mrs. Thomas E. Jones was elected president of the re-organized Faculty Wives Club of Maryville College at the monthly meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. David Young. Plans were completed for the Christmas dinner on Dec. 13 at Morningside.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Duncan Bennett, vice president, Mrs. Lee Crippen, secretary, Mrs. Charles Doss, treasurer, and Mrs. Joseph J. Copeland, adviser. Chairmen of permanent committees elected are Mrs. Thomas Horst, service, Mrs. Jerry Waters, contact, and Mrs. E. Faye Campbell, hospitality. Mrs. Boydson Baird was named to the by-laws committee.

Those assisting Mrs. Young were Mrs. David Briggs, Mrs. Frank Layman, Mrs. Robert Ramger, and Mrs. Christopher Tang.

Tau Kappa Chi Admits Member, Peggy Gross

Tau Kappa Chi, honorary organization for music students, has admitted a new member. Peggy Gross, a sophomore organ major, this semester. Other members are Alice Lewis, president, Eileen Han, Margaret Hanson, and Carole Webster. Adviser to the organization is Mr. James A. Bloy. All members of the music faculty are honorary members.

The purpose of the organization is to promote student and community interest in music, to raise academic standing of music students, and to further the understanding of all types of music.

A general average of "B" for two semesters and nomination by the music faculty for excellence in musical performance are required for membership.

Miss Davies To Go To NASM Session

Miss Katharine C. Davies, Chairman, Department of Fine Arts, will represent Maryville College at the thirty-ninth annual meeting of the National Association of Schools of Music, held this year at the Palmer House in Chicago on November 29-30. Miss Davies is a Liaison Committee member, and has been a member of the NASM since 1942.

The NASM has been designated by the National Commission on Accrediting as the responsible agency for the accreditation of all music degree curricula. Its deliberations will play an important part in music education trends in this country during the coming years.

Some 280 schools will be represented by the Deans of the Music Departments in most of our universities and colleges, and by the administrative heads of conservatories.

General sessions will start Friday, November 29. The principal speaker will be the distinguished educator, Dr. Gustave O. Arlt, Washington, D. C., President of the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States. The underlying theme of the meeting will be entitled "The Inner Look," and much time will be spent in evaluating the problems and the future goals which face the NASM and music education in this country.

her mark

Recently those circles which concern themselves with the more philosophic problems involved in life on our fair campus pointed the finger of normative science at us and asked, "And just what ought an editorial to be?" While we hope that particular question is answered bi-weekly, perhaps we could describe what an editorial is. An editorial is

1) a question (or several): Why are the student council meetings so short? Is it that MC students no longer need government? Or is it simply that our government is not of the Y-rooms?
2) an observation: We are interested in discovering that mysterious, unique quality possessed by MC students that makes us so desirable to have on campus at all times of the day and year.
3) a suggestion: Why not give the Fred Hope Fund to one of our underprivileged Smoky Mountain Cherokee Indian friends? After all, that, too, is a neglected segment of our population.

The Highland ECHO
Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor-in-Chief
CHARLOTTA COOK

News Editor — ELENORA EASTERLY
Feature Editor — MARY JANOVICH
Sports Editors — GINNA COON and DAVID KING
Copy Editor — SANDRA SCOFIELD
Art Editor — DEANNA STURGELL
Exchange Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Business Editor — GORDON STEWART

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Duncan Bennett, Alice Brownlee, Chris Carlisle, Ben Carney, Phyllis Deloteus, Phil Jerome, Bob McGruther, Robert Morey, Dave Powell, Judy Siver, Ralph Tucker

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR and MR. FRANK LAYMAN

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

It seems a bit strange to me that there has been no visible sign of an answer to the letter which Mike Moyers wrote and which appeared in The Echo on October 12.

Mike presented, if you remember, a very good case for the publication of campus election results. His letter created an issue which the Elections committee would like to think does not exist.

Yet, there is an issue, especially if the committee has no good reason why election results should not be published. This seems to be the case since there has been no rebuttal. This tends to give the impression that they couldn't care less, one way or the other. Then if the committee has no opinion, why not consider an opinion that has been presented? Polls seem to be the popular thing these days, if the committee would like the student opinion. However, the committee, with seeming indifference, says that it has never been done before. You cannot buck tradition, you know.

I feel that the students on this campus would like to know the election results. Even the candidates who might have their feelings hurt would like to know how close they came to winning. Students are able to face facts, even hard, cold facts. We do not ask to be protected from the truth. We merely ask the whole truth, instead of just part of it.

—Jane Hickey

Appalachian Odyssey

Part 5

by Dave Powell

"And . . . seven days the waters of the flood came upon the earth."—Genesis 7:10.

* * * * * *

With every sigh of wind, fat raindrops fell in waves across the roof. A grave-gray curtain of water hung in folds from the gutter edge making a jagged perforation on the damp earth. In the drafty hollow of the shelter, two nomads ate the last bit of dry cereal in silence.

Through the fog and mist of some lonely world we trudged. Gusts of wind took turns racing up the mountain side and across our path trying to snatch away our useless raincapes. Near a solitary tower at the summit of an uncaring mountain we squatted briefly to rest. Beside us on a clump of rain-drenched grass a bunch of ladybugs said nothing.

Somewhere along the slippery path Billy faltered and dropped to his knees. A bit later he stumbled again and landed astraddle the roots of a fallen tree. From the waist down my Billy was disguised as a clump of mud.

By two o'clock we had reached the relative safety of nowhere, so we stopped for the day. Cows had been the former occupants of our shelter and the probable usurpers of our water rights. Also, my hand was strangely yellow.

We fell asleep.

One hour it took to cook the chicken glop we hated for dinner.

In the morning we got up early because we hoped to find mail in Wesser, North Carolina. We followed a raggedy-old chicken down a gravel road past a moss-mortared stone wall and a mailbox made from an anti-freeze can. And then we were in Wesser—a town so small that the post office floated downstream six years ago and nobody missed it.

So William hitched a ride to Almond and picked up our mail. I mean his mail. They had sent mine back the day before.

In a drizzle we followed the railroad tracks out of town and missed our turnoff by half a mile.

At Stekoah Gap a man, his wife and his two sons came up out of a little valley. The woman

Cont'd. Page 6, Col. 3

INTERNATIONAL I

by Christopher D. Carlisle

The world could not exist without struggle. The truth of this is seen in every daily paper. Of late, Morocco and Algeria have been clashing over their common boundary in northwest Africa.

Morocco is based on agriculture with 70% of its population deriving its livelihood from such crops as wheat and barley, beans, olives, almonds, and citrus fruits. Stock raising is one of the important elements of the society too. This former French protectorate has over 12 million inhabitants in a 171,000 square mile area. Independent since July, 1962, it became a constitutional monarchy on December 14.

Algeria, France's most worthy economic benefactor of the 1860's, formed a free government in 1958. Actual freedom was given July 3, 1962 by Charles de Gaulle. The Republic has a 114,000 square mile area with over 11m inhabitants. The basic exports are phosphates, iron ore, potatoes, fresh vegetables, wine, and oranges and lemons.

According to reliable sources, the border between these two nations was drawn up in two different ways by the French while they held some power. Some dissatisfaction was voiced, but not officially until September 30, 1963, when Morocco claimed an area of border land had been "annexed" by the French in a way favorable to Algeria.

Evidentally, Morocco eased troops into the border area. Several clashes occurred followed by meetings which wrought little. As time passed, the area of contention spread to a 500 mile long sector between the two countries.

On October 12, a victory was announced by Algeria's Ben Bella. This victory, however, was not against the imposing Moroccan troops. It was over the Kabyle Berbers who had been an internal menace to his government. Actually, the group of some 1500 rebels was not taken, but fled to the mountains where it established guerrilla tactics. The fleeing of these men and the strife with Morocco brought an increase in central government control through a tide of nationalistic spirit.

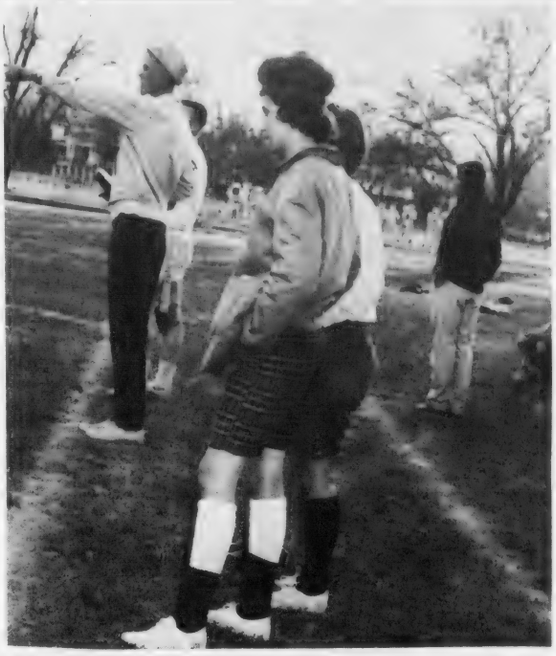
On October 16 and 17, Morocco and Algeria had not come to terms. Morocco wanted a cease-fire but refused to comply with Algeria's demand that ALL troops be withdrawn. This last failure activated the world. The Arab League demanded an immediate cease-fire by its fellow members, Algeria and Morocco. Their League Council appointed a six man mediation commission to help quiet the situation. UN Secretary General Thant conferred with A&M officials at the UN. Ghana's Foreign Minister Botsio came to Algeria on a mediation mission. Tunisia asked the quarreling nations to come to Tunis to talk over the dispute. Ethiopia's Emperor Selassie and Mali's President Keita finally succeeded in arranging a meeting in Maliat the end of last month. A cease-fire was also agreed on, but continuing clashes prevented peace until November 4. The initial agreement called for Malian, Ethiopian, Algerian, and Moroccan representatives to establish a neutral demilitarized zone, from which both sides would withdraw. Supervision would be placed under two Malian and two Ethiopian officers. Further discussion of the boundary would take place in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, at the African Unity Organization headquarters. Another, and final stipulation, called for an end to press and radio attack promulgated by each of the two factions.

The picture was clearing up. Insurgent military chieftans in the mountains agreed to give up when Ben Bella promised amnesty for all of his political opponents. In Morocco, the struggle on the part of King Hassan II to get left and right wing factions to form a coalition had failed, but in its stead the Royalist Party emerged with a general shake-up of the Moroccan hierarchy. Hassan's premier position went to Justice Minister Bahnini. Two cabinet members were dropped and several others changed ministries. A new foreign minister, Ahmed Reda Guerdira, was appointed two days prior to the meeting of 32 foreign ministers at Addis Ababa to comply with the latest A&M agreement at Mali.

The solution is imminent. The internal disorder of the two nations has been settled. The settlement of border lines is fast approaching. For us, questions arise. Why could not the two have peacefully arbitrated? Why did they not accept mediation immediately after strife became apparent? The affair raises questions of another nature. Since Algeria received arms from Cuba and troops from Egypt and used tanks made in Russia, just how is she leaning? Since Morocco broke relations with Cuba and recalled ambassadors from the UAR and Syria, just where does she stand?

So ends and so begins another struggle to keep us alert and ever ready to watch the international scene.

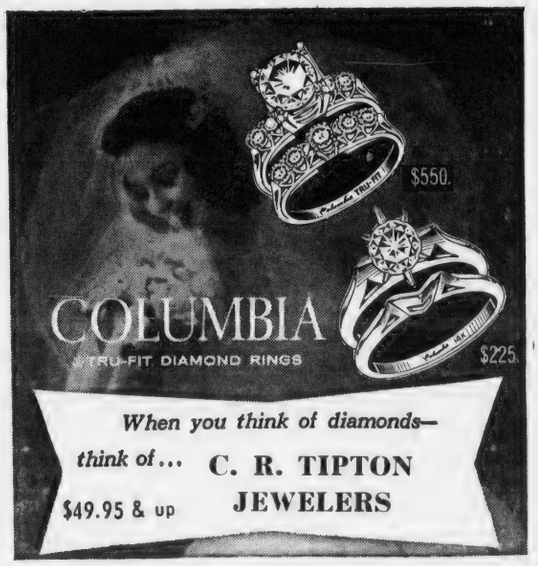
REAL ITALIAN PIZZA



"If your mouth is watering for some taste-tempting pizza, why not take a break in your studies and call us."

Only 97c
DELIVERY TWICE DAILY
CALL 982-7920

VAN'S BAKERY
Midland Center



WGAP
CAMPUS MIKE
Voice of Maryville College
Sunday Evening
9:30-10:00

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

SEEN AND HEARD

Award Fitness Physical of Century Stagg Alanzo Amos . . . If the guys on second floor Carnegie don't shut-up there will be three dead Billy Grahams and two dead Elmer Gantrys . . . I feel like saying hell . . . HELL ! ! ! . . . I decline . . . This class should be called Build Your Frustration Tolerance 305 . . . Instead of throwing our special studies cards into the fire we're going to jump in and leave the cards behind . . . It says here it's rising . . . I've got to pick the ants out of my sponge . . . Why does she have a doctorate? . . . Happiness is a bicycle ride.

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

Office Supplies? We got 'em . . .
Office Equipment? Likewise . . .
Office Machines? our middle name
Service? on all we sell (with a smile)
Delivery? Fastest and best . . .
Parking? Free, 10 feet from the door.

White Office Machines

"WON'T WRITE — CALL WHITE"

"Fascination"

Dave Marx, a senior art major from Sommerville, New Jersey, recently had one of his two entries accepted in the Fourth Hunter Gallery of Art in Chattanooga. This is an honor for Dave since the exhibit was open to all artists—professional, art professors, students, and amateurs, residing in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia. The exhibit runs from November 10th until the 27th.

The selected painting, Fascination, was first shown here in the 1963 spring student art show. It is a sixty by forty inch abstract in color and form, composed of subtle maroons with elusive greens and browns, and bright spots of orange. Dave did the painting during his first semester of oils, under the direction of Mr. William H. Swenson.

Dave is most interested in landscape painting, and wants to be a good landscape artist. He is doing abstracts now to learn to use colors and form and to make paints work together. Becoming a good artist, he believes, takes a combination of hard work, concentration, and open-mindedness.

After getting his masters degree from Ohio State, Dave wants to be a college professor in some school in the West, preferably in Colorado, because of the colors there. Dave said about having his painting selected for the show: "I like walking in a gallery and seeing my painting hanging there," and "I don't have to pay the five dollars to have the painting shipped back."

Candle Craft

by Phyllis Deloteus

Candle-making is the newest activity at the Jerry Cooper household. The kitchen at 120 Miller Street has been transformed into a candle craft shop. Joyce Cooper started her candle-craft as a hobby, and it has practically turned into a big business. Jerry and Joyce now have mail orders, as well as many sales in the surrounding community. Even Leonard's Steak House has a display of the Cooper candles.

When Joyce first started making candles over a month ago, her production rate was 4 per day, and now she has more than doubled production. The heavy wax is purchased in 55 pound slabs, hammered down into thick chips to melt and to start over adding any color to the clear again. The process continues by wax and a scent of pine, cinnamon, bayberry, anise or one of the new flower fragrances. After the wax is boiled, it is poured into a mold where it must set for 6-8 hours in a pan of water to harden. After this time lapse the candles drop out of the molds in perfect shape, ready to be decorated. As the candles come out of the molds, each of the four young Coopers lines up to sample the new fragrance. Joyce has much help in her candle-making, and there is never a dull moment in their daily schedules. Candles of all sizes and shapes are made, as well as complete arrangements.

All Abroad

by Alice Brownlee

There we were two American girls shoulder deep in a large outhouse hole at Sandom Camp in Norway. Why were we there???? Barb, a senior at the University of Delaware, and I were glad that we were not to be ditch diggers the rest of our lives. We two were the first campers and the only Americans to arrive at the Ecumenical Work Camp in Garmo, Norway. After the first night of battling the ferocious mosquitos (I counted twenty bites), we arose and were given the work of digging the holes for the outhouse and the drainage in the tent kitchen. This kept us busy for several hours.

As the hours passed by, we anxiously awaited the arrival of the other campers. There were to be twenty-seven of us in all (twenty girls and seven boys) from thirteen countries. All arrived on a bus that afternoon after traveling from Oslo together. My tentmate, Moniha, was an Austrian girl six days younger than myself. Each person had his or her unusual characteristics. Peter, the Swiss-German boy, spoke English with a Cockney influence. Dorli, one of the camp leaders, was five feet tall and weighed only eighty-six pounds. Jaap, the Dutch boy, constantly played two or three American cowboy songs on his banjo. Soon, though from many and varied backgrounds, a true fellowship grew among us.

The next morning we arose at six and by seven we were hard at work. It was to be this way for four solid weeks. Everyday we had six hours of hard physical labor, for our work consisted of finishing a retreat house for the church in that district of Norway. This included painting, adding a room on to the house, finishing the chapel, leveling land and building three stone walls. If not working at the retreat house, a camper was sure to be discovered on kitchen duty peeling potatoes (sixty to one hundred at a time) or making sandwiches for second breakfast. One didn't mind this for it gave a change of outlook in work.

During our free time we had Bible studies and discussions concerning the Ecumenical movement of the church. This proved most interesting and gave us all a new understanding of our basic belief in Jesus Christ, for we were from varied denominations. In other free moments we tried to go swimming in our freezing mountain lake or cleaned our tents.

Barbara and I had hoped for a warm summer, but we found this was not to be so. The first two weeks it rained and our nightly temperature went down to zero degrees Farenheit. I remember many a night wearing pajamas, slacks, sweater, bathrobe, wool socks, gloves and a scarf to bed. To top that there were blankets both inside and outside of my sleeping bag, but I still froze.

Another fond memory is that of the wind storm. We stayed up until one in the morning securing our tents, so that we would not find ourselves blown to oblivion the next morning. An all night watch was set up for the main tent. Several times it seemed about to give way, but luckily it didn't and we were able to use it once again.

The four weeks at camp passed far too quickly, and it was soon time to bid our many new friends good-bye. This was sad, for I then realized that I never again would see all of these people together. Yet today and for many years to come I hope to receive letters from them. Only last week I received a letter from Torunn, a girl who lives in Garmo. She said, "Well, now it is two months since you all left the camp. I have talked to Sigmunt a few times. Sandom is very quiet now." Oh! How I long to go back, but somehow it would not be quite the same as it was this last magic summer.

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK

MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

RELIGIOUS READING MATERIALS
TO FIT EVERY STUDENT'S NEEDS
STUDENTS ALWAYS WELCOME!

983-4982

For Cards For All Occasions, Cosmetics, Prescriptions and Reliable Service Visit

Byrne Drug Company

120 E. Broadway 982-1461

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

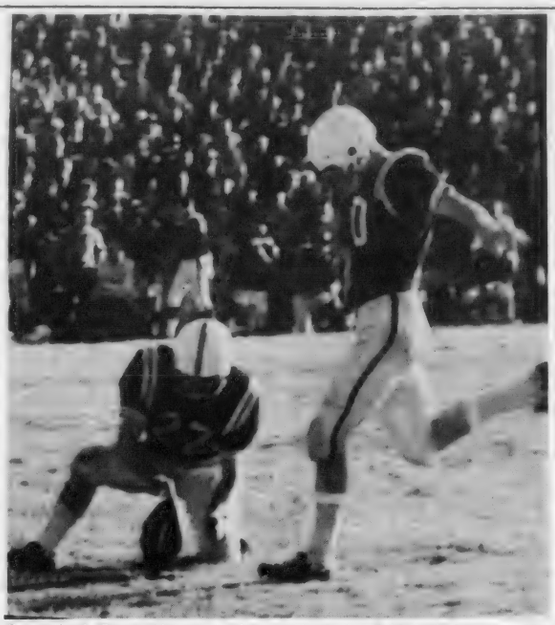
Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

Highland Flings

by Dave King



Just about everything that could be said has already been said by now but there are a few things that need to be repeated. There couldn't possibly be a man, woman, child, or stray dog in Blount County that doesn't know that the Maryville College football team finished its finest season since the undefeated campaigns of 1946. This tremendous 8-1 slate includes, as you're undoubtedly aware, a victory in The Big Game against Carson-Newman. The sole loss to Emory and Henry now stands out as the one thing between us and an undefeated season.

It is very difficult and in some ways a little dangerous to try to analyze the reasons for such a profitable year on the gridiron. The 1963 edition of the Scot football team was indeed one that any coach would be proud of. Our backfield featured the power running of Ken Berry, winner of the new Student Body Most Valuable Player Award, the speed and know-how of halfbacks Donnie Phelps and Roland McClanahan, and it was triply blessed with the talents of quarterbacks Benny Monroe, H. H. Linginfelter, and Herman Ramsey, any one of whom might have qualified as a starter if it had not been for the other two. These are the boys who carried the ball but they couldn't have done it alone.

The big boys on the line, the guys who miss the glory of carrying the ball were led by center Charlie Thomas, who played a real bang-up year in every sense of the word, and tackle Bill Napier, two of the nicest guys off the field who turn into Army tanks when they put on the Orange and Garnet. Close behind them came Clint Abbott, Gene Smith, and Bill Cochran, all of whom played a vital part in the 8 wins. A special pat on the back goes to ends Wilbur Ramsey, Rex Stafford, and Mike Dalton, a youngster who has a great career ahead of him, who had the difficult assignment of being part defensive and part offensive, part lineman and part back.

There is still one man to whom a large share of the season's success must be credited—Coach Boydson Baird. Coach Baird, who sees triple duty as head coach for football, basketball, and baseball in addition to being the athletic director for the school, is in his fifth year here at Anderson U. Coincidentally, this year's 8-1 mark is a mirror image of his first season, when the Scots finished 1-8, beating only Carson-Newman and that by a nerve-wracking 14-12. As well, we extend congratulations to Baird's assistants, Howard Tomlinson, and Lauren Kardatzke.

This was a great season that you gave us, fellows, and to all of you who contributed to the success—players, coaches, managers, trainers, statisticians—we say thanks a lot. Best of luck next year.

Quarterback Benny Monroe is about to boot the field goal that won The Big Game for us, 17-14.

—courtesy Maryville-Alcoa Times

Scots Edge Eagles Of Carson-Newman, Finish Year With Tremendous 8-1 Mark

by Ben Carney

At Maryville College a winning season, regardless of the season's record, means a win over Carson-Newman. The first game of the season is important and so is Homecoming, but the Carson-Newman game is the one which this school, as well as some of our friends from town, wait for through nine tension-filled weeks. Well, the Carson-Newman Eagles came to Maryville last week and went home—to use a campus expression for that week—plucked.

The game got started quickly as Carson-Newman got off to a great start by rushing and passing for 68 yards in the first quarter. The drive culminated in a three yard smash for a quick touchdown, making it 7-0 for the visitors.

The Scots got their machine moving in the second quarter with the backfield men racking up yard after yard on power plays. With the ball on the 8 yard line and fourth down, Roland McClanahan skipped for five yards and a first down on the three. It took four more plays to spring Ken Berry loose for the score. The extra point was no good and Carson-Newman led 7-6. The Eagles turned on the steam again and charged 75 yards for their second and final touchdown. A beautiful pass play and a fine catch put the ball across from the nine.

There was no stopping the Scots in the third quarter as a Maryville punt was fumbled by an Eagle and the Scots pounced on the ball. Hitting as never before, the line opened holes in the C-N defense just wide enough for Berry, McClanahan, and Phelps to charge through. A 40 yard punt return by McClanahan had fired up the Scots and the fumble only added flame to the fire. With beautiful blocking, Phelps swept end for 16 yards and the touchdown. A two-point conversion pass to end Mike White deep in the end zone deadlocked the score at 14-14.

Not finished yet, the Scots continued to pile up yardage on the tired Eagles. A powerful 61 yard drive to the C-N five was stopped by a determined defense to set up the tie breaking field goal by Monroe.

Not to be denied, the Eagles took to the air. Adding a 24 yard run to their aerial artistry, the Eagles swept into scoring position. On first down and with time running out, three plays were broken up by Scot defensemen. On fourth down and the crowd on its feet and roaring, the Eagle quarterback fired his final pass straight to the end zone. With a terrific lunge, Mike White beat the Eagle receiver to the ball, clutched it in his arms and simply sat down with an ear to ear grin as the final gun sounded.

After the game was concluded, Student Body President Dave Marston presented Ken Berry with a trophy for being the Most Valuable Player of the Year. This new award will be given annually by the student body and is presented in addition to the award given for the M.V.P. as chosen by his teammates.

Statistics:

	Maryville	C-N
First Downs	11	14
Yds. Rushing	160	196
Yds. Passing	65	57
Passes Attd.	11	8
Passes Compltd.	5	6

Scots Tumble Guilford Once Again by 13-7

Guilford College, who fell 28-0 to the surging Scots at our Homecoming game, found themselves on the wrong end of a 13-7 score as the same team beat them again, this time for their Homecoming. In the second game of an unusual two game series, Guilford played a better ball game but wasn't able to keep us from boosting our record to 7 and 1.

The game opened with sophomore Jimmy Williams, the speedy Guilford tailback, engineering his boys down the field to an eventual touchdown. Williams, whose major is, of all things, music, also set a school record in total yards gained early in the game. The Guilford touchdown made it 7-0 for the Quakers and it looked as though they were really eager to avenge their earlier loss.

However, with H. H. Linginfelter at the wheel, the Scots began to move. Early in the second quarter the Highlanders powered their way deep into scoring territory. We had a first and goal situation on the Guilford 5 but it took three plays until Ken Berry could plunge over. It was decided to try for a two point PAT but Roland McClanahan, who took the snap from center as though he were going to hold the ball for Monroe's kick, found too many Quakers in his way and the score settled at the 7-6 mark. Roland had another bit of bad luck in the dying seconds of the quarter as a long pass intended for him was stolen from the air by a Guilford player, foiling a possible touchdown.

After the crowning of an attractive Homecoming queen and the presentation of some risque floats and decorations, Maryville took the kickoff and promptly invaded Guilford territory. An attempted pass to McClanahan overshot him in the end zone on a fourth down play and Guilford took the ball on downs. They kept the ball only briefly as Junior Masingo intercepted a pass and Maryville took over again. This time there was no stopping them and they moved quickly from our 46 to the Quaker 23. As Porky and the Simple Seven called for a touchdown, Monroe called for a quarterback option, a play in which the quarterback may either run with the ball or, if the going gets too rough, may pitch back to his halfback who is running a few yards behind. Amos Alonzo Stagg couldn't have run the play any better himself as Benny Monroe slipped one deftly to Donnie Phelps, who waltzed across the goal line. This time the kick was good and the Maryville cheering section, led by and composed mainly of the Porkies, went wild at the prospect of another victory.

The final quarter saw the two teams trade the ball back and forth and what might have developed into a Guilford rally was extinguished by Herman Ramsey's pass interception in the last few seconds.

Statistics

	Maryville	Guilford
first downs	18	10
yds. rushing	277	81
yds. passing	37	107

For New Shoes,

Polishes & Dyes
Shoe Shine Equipment
Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Remedies

City Shoe Shop

106 West Broadway

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES
★ SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
✓ CHECK ACCOUNTS
★ CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
★ TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Martin's DRUG STORE
401 S. Washington St. Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.

Offering Maryville College Students
a complete line of cosmetics,
plus
a reliable prescription service
Located just off campus on Washington St.

Soccer Team Finishes Winning Season Despite 3-3 Tie Game With Oglethorpe

by Phil Jerome

The Maryville College soccer team built up a commanding two goal lead against Oglethorpe University, only to have it disappear in the closing minutes as the Georgia school rallied to salvage a tie at three goals apiece. The tie game was cause for celebration among the Oglethorpe players since they had been soundly defeated by Maryville earlier in the season by a score of 7-0.

The Scots entered the contest with an abundance of confidence built up by their easy victory in the game played at Maryville. The Petrols entered the game determined to prove that they were not as bad as the earlier score indicated. Maryville's overconfidence didn't last long. Early in the first quarter Oglethorpe broke through for a goal. With the advent of this score Maryville realized that the game was not going to be as easy a victory as they had thought it would be. The Scots started hustling and were soon dominating play as thoroughly as they had at Maryville. However, they couldn't get the ball past the goalie and a the half, Oglethorpe led 1-0.

The second half began just as the first had ended—with Maryville dominating play and this time they were able to score. After the third successive shot at the goal, Red Prudhon banged the rebound past the goalie into the net and the score was knotted at one apiece. Maryville resumed peppering the Oglethorpe goal with shots and halfway through the fourth quarter Prudhon scored again. Minutes later Adam Deveny pushed in the third goal. The Petrols hadn't given up and picked up their second goal when Maryville's defense got their signals crossed and with a "go ahead, you take it" attitude, let the ball bounce into the goal. Only one goal behind, Oglethorpe went all out to gain a tie and with only 56 seconds left in the game, Roy Cowart headed a corner kick into the nets, tying the game.

The Scots' inability to score was the decisive factor. They dominated play so thoroughly that it was estimated that they took from 75 to 100 shots at the goal. They hit the goalposts at least 20 times but couldn't get the ball past the goalie.

The game was the last of the season for the Maryville squad and represented the best record ever recorded in the short history of the game here. The final tally was 3 wins, 2 losses, and one tie. Saturday's game ended the careers of the standouts on the squad. Bob Mullins is the finest goalie ever to play for Maryville and his brilliant goal tending saved many goals from being scored. Pee Wee Tongyai, who moved up to a starting berth midway through the season, combined speed and a strong foot as halfback on the left side.

In summarizing the season, much of the Scots' success must be credited to the working of the fullbacks—John DeRan and Dave "Peacock" Taylor. Their height was invaluable in "heading" the ball away from the goal and their booming kicks not only cleared the ball from danger but also set up Maryville's fast break offense. On the scoring records for the year, it was Adam Deveny who led the Scots with 6 goals. Red Prudhon tallied four times, Jim Allsman banged in three, and Sonny Hughes and Phil Jerome rounded out the scoring with one apiece.

Sledges Win Championship

With the exception of the biggest game of the year, the Stinkin' Shoe game, the intramural football season is over. On Tuesday November 12, the Sledge Hammers of Alpha Sigma, winners of the second half, met Kappa Phi's Knights, the first half champs.

Late in the first period Joe Scheidler intercepted a Lynn Howard pass and ran the ball back to about the Knight five yard line. This was the first big break of the game for either team and the Sledges immediately took full advantage of the situation. Jerry Stewart took the snap and faked a run left and then angled right into the end zone for the first score of the game. A Stewart-to-Sonny-Hughes pass for the extra point was good. Later in the first half the Knights, with the aid of a fifteen yard penalty, moved the ball inside the Hammer five yard line. Lynn Howard tried several pass patterns for the score but all failed, leaving the half time score Sledges-7, Knights-0.

In the third period the ball changed hands several times, but neither team could get a sustained attack going. However, early in the final period Red Prudhon punted for the Sledges with the ball rolling out of bounds near the Knight one yard line. Lynn Howard rolled left and tried to pass the Knights out of trouble, but Sonny Hughes was right there to intercept the ball and ran it back the five yards for the T.D. This time the point after attempt failed, but the Sledges led 13-0. On the first play from scrimmage after the Sledges kicked off, Howard pitched left to Phil Brown, who in turn found Ken Fugate open and hit him with a long pass for a touchdown. In the waning moments of the game the Knights tried desperately to move the ball but just couldn't against the strong Hammer defense. Both teams played great defensive ball but neither team could do much offensively. When the final bell rang, the Sledge Hammers were the new intramural champs, beating the Knights, 13-6.

The final winners of the weekly Amos Alonzo Stagg Awards are co-captains Charlie Thomas, who led the defense against Guilford, and Wilbur Ramsey, whose offensive play helped overturn the Carson-Newman Eagles.

Socks and Sneakers

by Ginna Coon

Last Saturday was a big day in the Women's Athletic program. It was the day that nine of our co-eds participated in the annual volleyball play day at East Tennessee State University in Johnson City, Tenn. The girls left Friday night and began their games Saturday morning. The first game was against Virginia Intermont and the tournament was of the double elimination type.

These play days—volleyball ETSU; basketball at Carson-Newman; tennis at the University of Chattanooga; and beginning this year, swimming at Maryville—form a pattern in the East Tennessee area making inter collegiate sports available to co-eds. The general practice of the colleges in East Tennessee is not to have varsity sports for women so these play days provide an opportunity for an area of inter collegiate competition that has been missing.

The girls participating were Terry Brusstar, Janet Dearcopp, Ann Doscher, Sue Kisch, Ellen Lankenau, Arleen Larson, Charolotte McNeilly, Lee Rosser, and Nancy White.

Field Hockey ended very successfully for Chi Beta. Tina Lundstedt and Ann Ruckelshaus paced the Chi Beta team to victory in their second game. The first game was forfeited by Theta to give Chi Beta their first win. Tina scored two goals while Ann took the ball from mid-field and covered the field unaided to score the final goal.

Bicycling has been approved by the Women's "M" Club to be a way to earn points toward a WAA letter besides the regular planned schedule of sports. Qualifications for the points are identical with those given for hiking and can be found on page three of the WAA booklet.

Basketball Forecast

by Paul Millin

Basketball season opens December 7 here at Maryville when the Scots take on Shorter College. The boys have been working out since the middle of October and should be in fine shape for the opening game.

Coach Baird has seven returning lettermen this year. Mike Gregory and Mike Moyers, both 6'3" forwards, saw a lot of action last year; Bert Randall, a 6'3" center, adds good point putting power to the team; Dennis McGowan, a 6'2" forward, makes a notable contribution to the cause with his versatility and ball handling skill; Bo Henderson, a 5'9" guard, has the fire and hustle that make defensive play exciting; Bill Schellinger, a 5'10" guard, has reserve speed which on many occasions will make the fast break a success; and, Kip Martin, a 5'11" guard who was recently made team captain, is noted for his playmaking. Also returning is George Byars who helps to give the team that much needed strength in depth.

Coach Baird has a couple of outstanding freshmen who should see a lot of action. Dave Alexander, 6'3½" forward from Knoxville, and Dan Radcliff, a 6'1" guard from Fort Myers, Florida, will make the returning boys hustle to keep their positions. Other outstanding newcomers are Jeff Slagle, a transfer student, and Mike Mayo. John Doerschuk, Richard Fox, Hobart Ford, and Dan Mitchell, all freshmen.

Coach Baird, who has been tied up with the football team, will join the basketball team on Monday. The schedule, although incomplete at this time, includes 20 games, and basketball fans, who we know are hoping for an improvement upon last year's poor 7-13 record, can look forward to lots of exciting action.

RECORDS

Complete Selection of Jazz, Classical, Popular, and Folk Music in Hi-Fi Stereo.
Quality Repair Work on Radios and Record Players

HITCH RADIO and T.V.
Midland Center

"Coke" IS A REGISTERED TRADE-MARK. COPYRIGHT © 1960 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY.

Dr. Livingstone?

What a happy man he would have been if his man Stanley could have brought along a carton of Coke! That cold crisp taste, that lively lift would certainly hit the spot with any tired explorer. In fact, after your next safari to class—wouldn't Coca-Cola taste good to you?

Drink Coca-Cola

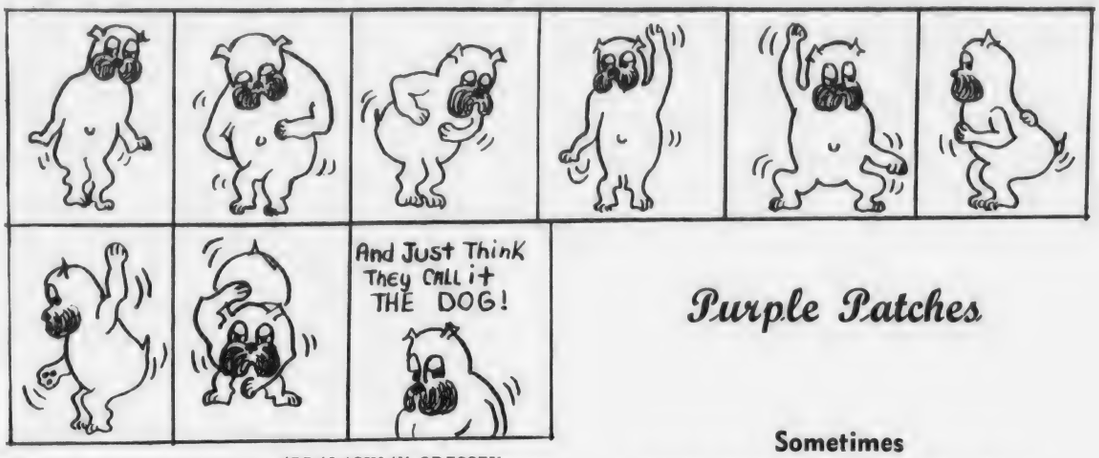
BE REALLY REFRESHED...HAVE A COKE!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

RODDY MANUFACTURING CO.
Maryville, Tenn.

McBRAYER SHOE SHOP
QUALITY SHOE REPAIR WORK
Open 6 Days a Week

Alumni Meetings Held Over U.S.



A series of twenty Alumni meetings will be held during November and December in areas of Alumni concentration throughout the country. President Joseph J. Copeland will represent the College at most of these meetings, giving Alumni a chance to become better acquainted with him and hear from him personally the College's progress and plans. He will be accompanied by Raymond I. Brahams, director of development.

Written invitations to attend one of these meetings will go to regular members of the existing Alumni Clubs; however, any Alumnus in the area is encouraged to attend, and is extended an invitation. Parents of students now in College, prospective students and their parents, and friends who are not Alumni are welcome to attend the meetings.

Meetings have already been held in the Florida, Chicago, Virginia, Huntsville-Decatur-Athens areas. Already-scheduled meetings will be held December 6 in the New York and the Atlanta areas; December 7, Detroit; December 9, Washington, D. C.; December 10, Louisville; December 13, Central North Carolina; and January 7, Southern California.

Dates for the following area meetings will be announced later: Asheville, N. C.; Cleveland, Ohio; Birmingham, Ala.; Ohio Valley (Cincinnati); Indianapolis, Ind.; Delaware Valley (Philadelphia); Pittsburgh, Pa.; Maryville, Tenn.; Nashville, Tenn.; and Knoxville, Tenn.

SULLIVAN and PUDGY by Deanna Sturgell

Library Stops Self-Notices

Several students have not received the Self-notification Cards from the library during this semester although these have been delivered to the residence hall boxes or chapel seats. The Library staff feels that it is not right to offer this service and not be able to assure delivery of notices; therefore, this notification system is being discontinued. Students are urged to keep up with the dates their books are due by referring to the date stamped in the back of the book. All two-week books are due either on Tuesday or Friday of each week.

For truth itself has not the privilege to be spoken at all times and in all sorts.

—Montaigne

APPALACHIAN ODESSEY

Cont'd. from Page 2, Col. 3

took one boy and walked on down the hill, but the man stayed and talked a bit. He had his son show us the buckets of lizards they had caught. "Gets thirteen cents apiece for the big ones sometimes. Sells 'em as bait."

The little boy wore no shoes.

We talked about the Trail and the weather, then I asked him to pronounce the name of a nearby mountain. I spelled it, but he wasn't sure, so I showed it to him in the book. He gave a half-glance and stammered, "My eyes aren't to good, I'm afraid." I wondered how much lizard-money it would take to teach the boys to read.

* * * * * *

Handfuls of Sugar Smacks for breakfast, and the rain came down around our makeshift tent.

When we walked, our boots squished so faithfully that Billy suggested we put soap flakes in them to keep our socks clean.

Lunch was attempted in the middle of a road that intersected our trail. The fire wouldn't start, the saltines were soggy and a jeep came right through our kitchen—the driver was looking for stray cows. Suddenly my water tasted funny.

Later we passed a pile of fat in a ditch and a dead snake in a creek. This was our introduction to Fontana Dam and the southern entrance to the Smokies.

There was a laundromat at Fontana Village so we donned ponchos in the men's room and threw everything else into the washers. Billy even warmed his sleeping bag in a dryer while I kept an eye open for girls.

That night I called home for the first time. Billy also put in a call to Mr. Brahams (Maryville's Director of Development) who promised to meet us at Clingman's Dome in the Smokies two days later.

Security is a mother that misses you and a clear sky at the end of the day. Tired and damp we fell asleep in five minutes.

Purple Patches

Sometimes

He said he didn't think life was so bad after all.
"But don't quote me."
Which we did.
And he chastised us,
If for no other reason than life is bad
Sometimes.
If you live that long
And we all do
—More or less—
According to taste
Which varies
With the Season
Amen.

D. Powell

Second love
Livelier than she
Who took first place—
Yet different wonderfully—
And in that difference, the first.

C. Davis

Sparrow sing solemnly—
I am not, I have not,
I should not have—
I should be, I could be,
I might have been.
Sparrow—you are free—
I am too for I have not,
I am not, but I should.
Sparrow, I cannot go on,
I have not, I am not
And now no place will have me.
You have the trees, I too.
You have the worms, I too.
But trees are not houses to me.
Worms are not food.
Sparrow, sweet sparrow,
Tell me true—
How can I get to work
And stop playing the fool—
Speak loud, speak clear
Sing my way home—
" 'Tis for you to,
'Tis for you to"
And the sparrow flew.

C. Davis

Living Water

God's streams drain the mountain of life
Who can number the multitudes that drink thereof?
God's brooks flow with swift compassion
Who can discover the source of their joy
—The springs that conceive in Truth?
Yea, who cleanses in their waters
Or eats of the fruits that God's streams nourish?
Who dares to wander their valleys?
None save Love.
Whom I seek.

—D. Powell

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products
Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses

DIXIE
SUPER MARKET

WASHINGTON AVENUE

U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

WAYNE SIMMONS

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!

TIP TOP BARBER SHOP

105 Church St. Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop Open 6 Days a Week

1963-64 Who's Who Includes Fourteen Maryville Seniors

Fourteen Maryville College seniors have been selected to appear in the 1964 volume of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." The students were nominated by the members of the senior class, faculty, and staff.

Those selected were eight girls and six boys: Patricia Troy Anderson, sociology major from Bloomfield, New Jersey; Sally Ann Blair, English major from Haddon Heights, New Jersey; Philip Conner Brown, political science major from Gary, Indiana; Roberta Louise Bryson, mathematics major, Louisville, Kentucky; Charlotta Ethel Cook, English major from East Liverpool, Ohio; Jane Louise Dodez, political science major from Wooster, Ohio; Margaret Johnson Dozier, biology major from Decatur, Georgia; Martha Bess Ellis, English major from Elizabethton, Tennessee; Robert Raymond McGruther, philosophy major from Wayne, New Jersey; David Weese Marston, history major from Wyncote, Pennsylvania; Susan Kay Quigg, biology major from Springfield, Missouri; Albert B. Randall, Jr., mathematics major from Amarillo, Texas; John Joseph Spangler, philosophy major from Waynesboro, Pennsylvania; and Gordon Campbell Stewart, political science major from Broomall, Pennsylvania.

Criteria for election to "Who's Who" are excellence and sincerity in scholarship, leadership and participation in extracurricular and academic activities, citizenship and service to the college, promise of future usefulness to business and society. To be eligible for nomination, a student must be scheduled for graduation in the current year, and must have an over-all grade point of at least 2.5.

Pictured here are the Who's Who electees for 1963-64. Left to right, top row, are Miss Bryson, Miss Dozier, Mr. Brown, Miss Anderson, Miss Cook, Mr. Spangler, Mr. McGruther, and Mr. Stewart; bottom row, Miss Blair, Miss Dodez, Miss Ellis, Mr. Marston and Miss Quigg. Not pictured is Mr. Randall.

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 49 | Maryville, Tennessee, December 14, 1963 | No. 6

'The Crucible,' Set In 1690, Shows Universal Intolerance Problem

The Maryville College Playhouse will present The Crucible, by Arthur Miller, on January 10 and 11. This production, directed by Mr. Thomas E. Jones, will be the second of four plays scheduled for this year.

The Crucible is a moving tragedy centering on the witch trials of Salem in 1690, but in doing so it points out to modern audiences the universal problem of intolerance. Mr. Miller wrote the play in 1953, during the accusations and investigations of Senator McCarthy, a period he considered similar to the Salem situation.

Richard Watts, Jr., in an introduction to the play, writes this about Arthur Miller:

"He was interested in something that had shocked his moral sense, the weakness in the national character that made a people presumably dedicated to a belief in freedom and the right of dissent so susceptible to hysterical violence against dissenters and heretics. The frightening thing was happening at the time he wrote, and he turned to a famous period in our early annals, which appeared to have so many parallels to the current frenzy and from which contemporary lessons might be drawn."

In this production, some unique methods are being employed. A unit set will be used, with all of the scenes being played in a single basic unit rather than separate sets. A three-color lighting system will create an almost sculptural effect, and the light will be even more effective as it moves with the action on the stage. The costuming will be in the contemporary mode rather than that of the seventeenth century, adding to the realization that the underlying ideas in the play are still relevant to the twentieth century.

The cast includes Ben Carney as Reverend Parris, Pat Ducey as Reverend John Hale, Barbara McCarter as Elizabeth Proctor, Hazel Myers as Abigail Williams, and Dale Schellenger as John Proctor. Also playing are Sue Gamsby as Betty Parris, Sue Kisch as Tituba, Joanne Osborne as Susanna Walcott, Joanne Gidley as Mrs. Ann Putnam, Wayne Durham as Thomas Putnam, Kathleen Lutz as Mercy Lewis, Carol Kaufman as Mary Warren, Constance Williams as Rebecca Nurse, Dwight Campbell as Giles Corey, David Armentrout as Francis Nurse, Charles Gilmore as Ezekiel Cheever, David Clinkman as Judge Hathorne, David Evans as Deputy Governor Danforth, and Jayne Shelby Sullivan as Sarah Good. Charles Meeker and Margaret Lee Moffett are assistant directors.

Choir's Spring Tour Itinerary Complete

The Maryville College Choir has announced its itinerary for the spring, 1964, tour. The concerts to be given will center generally in the Columbus, Ohio, and Pittsburgh, Pa., areas from April 3 to April 12, Duncan C. Bennett, Choir Business Manager and Director of Information Services said.

The touring choir of approximately forty voices will sing in at least ten churches at the churches' invitation. In addition, several high school concerts will be given whenever the choir's schedule permits. The tour is planned as follows:

Friday, April 3—The First Presbyterian Church of McMinnville, Tenn. High school concert in the afternoon.

Saturday, April 4—Covington, Ohio. (Travel schedule may not permit a presentation; plans are indefinite as yet.)

Sunday, April 5—Second Presbyterian Church of Newark, Ohio, morning services, and the Boulevard Presbyterian Church of Columbus, Ohio, in the evening.

Monday, April 6—First Presbyterian Church of Sistersville, West Virginia.

Tuesday, April 7—Bauer Hill Community Church, Pittsburgh.

Wednesday, April 8—open

Thursday, April 9 — Cavalry United Presbyterian Church, McDonald, Pennsylvania.

Friday, April 10—Grace Presbyterian Church, Kittanning, Pa.

Saturday, April 11 — Christ United Presbyterian Church, Elwood City, Pa.

Sunday, April 12 — Parkwood United Presbyterian Church of Allison Park, Pa., morning services, and Calvary United Presbyterian Church of Butler, Pa. in the evening.

In addition, the choir is committed to sing in Oak Ridge on March 15, and in the Graystone Church of Knoxville on April 23.

Miss Massey Will Continue Study

Miss E. Frances Massey, Dean of Women at Maryville College, plans to complete her sabbatical leave from the college during the second trimester at Florida State University in Tallahasee. Miss Massey will leave the Maryville campus in early January and will return here in late April.

While at Florida State, she will continue her study in student personnel work, counseling, and testing methods in higher education under the direction of Dr. Melvene Hardee, who is past head of the American Personnel and Guidance Association.

Miss Vickie Samburg, assistant to the Deans of Men and Women, the Women's Student Government Association, and the housemothers in the women's dormitories will assume the responsibilities of women's government in Miss Massey's absence.

Christmas Vespers Sunday

The traditional Christmas Vespers will be held in the Wilson Chapel Sunday, December 15, at 6:50 p.m. The theme for the program is "A Service of Nine Lessons and Christmas Music."

Readers of the lessons are David Marston, representing the Student Government, first; Dr. Carolyn Blair, faculty, second; Tom R. Hutsell, staff, third; Charlotta Cook, student publications, fourth; Rich Boyd, societies, fifth; Mrs. Thomas E. Jones, faculty wives, sixth; Boydson Baird, athletics, seventh; Jan Melville, societies, eighth; David Sawyer, Y's, ninth.

The College Choir, directed by Dr. Harry H. Harter, and the Women's Choir and the Men's Glee Club, directed by Daniel H. Kinsinger, will sing, accompanied by James A. Bloy, organist. Nancy Hourey, violinist, will accompany one of the numbers, and the Bell Ringers of New Providence Presbyterian Church in Maryville will assist.

Contributors to the program include Thomas E. Jones of the Speech and Theater Department, who will help with the staging; William Swenson and Miss Barbara Mueller who will advise and provide slides of suitable art works to add interest to the program.

This year, on Sunday, December 22, from 1:00 to 1:30 p.m., the vespers will appear on the Knoxville television station, WBIR. The program, basically the same as the Vespers presented at the College, will be taped for broadcast on the evening of December 16. Campus Mike will supply technical assistance and personnel.

President Copeland Still Traveling For MC

Dr. Joseph J. Copeland, President of Maryville College, will continue to travel in the interest of the development of Maryville College. On January 12-15, 1964, he will attend the annual meetings of the Presbyterian College Union Association of American College, and the Council of Protestant Colleges and Universities, to be held in Washington, D.C.

Dr. Copeland and Raymond I. Brahams, director of development, will also be attending the series of alumni meetings in areas of concentration throughout the country.

Columbus Boychoir To Sing Jan. 13

On January 13, 1964, at 8:15 P.M., the Columbus Boychoir of Princeton, New Jersey will perform in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel as part of the Maryville College-Community Artist Series.

The Boychoir has toured the United States and Canada and has performed at Carnegie Hall, New York and the Academy of Music, Philadelphia. It has made a film for RKO called "America's Singing Boys," which tells the story of the choir. The boys have appeared on such television shows as The Arthur Godfrey Show, Bell Telephone Hour, and others, and have cut three popular record albums: "Festival of Songs," "Joy to the World," and "Singing for the Joy of It." A member of the Boychoir has always sung the lead in the annual television performance of Gian-Carlo Menotti's opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors."

her mark

Christmas — that magic time of year when our world is suddenly transformed by the appearance of tinseled pine trees, sparkling stars, and almost ethereal music, and when we all smile at each other as though we suddenly appreciate and enjoy our common humanity.

But what if there were no Christmas?

Materially, we would be eliminating vacations, expensive gifts, and those colorful decorations that made their appearance at Halloween. Spiritually, however, what difference would having no Christmas really make to us? We would, of course, miss the ritual involved in the pageantry, carol singing, and services conducted, but does Christmas really carry enough effective spiritual significance for us to make a difference in us throughout the year to truly justify its existence?

The Highland ECHO
Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor-in-Chief
CHARLOTTA COOK

News Editor — ELENORA EASTERLY
Feature Editor — MARY JANOVICH
Sports Editors — GINNA COON and DAVID KING
Copy Editor — SANDRA SCOFIELD
Art Editor — DEANNA STURGELL
Exchange Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Business Editor — GORDON STEWART

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Duncan Bennett, Sandra Briggs, Sandra Haggart, Sandra Chittick, Mary Dilkes, Pat Ducey, Lois Huffines, Bruce Hensley, Will Mitchell, Sharon Walrond, Randy Wells, Mike Moyers.

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR and MR. FRANK LAYMAN

From The Editors

A Santa Claus head (artificial), hung near the only traffic light in a small town, winked at me . . . There was a champagne-colored St. Laurent dress for $10 . . . A stocking hung from a cardboard fireplace toppled over and spilled candy into my pocket . . . It would have fooled me, but I thought: "I came that ye might have life, and that ye might have it more abundantly."

—Elenora Easterly

The traditional white Christmas will be just a shade darker this year, thanks to the events of a few weeks ago. We were vividly reminded that evil doesn't always manifest itself in the diluted, rationalized forms we'd like it to take. Perhaps it takes something like this to jolt us back into the real world that we often try to hide from. This Christmas, as we search for the "true Christmas Spirit," it might be well for us to consider that the man who told us to love the other fellow just as much as we love ourselves has such an unlovable character as Lee Oswald in mind. Let us keep in mind that Christ asked forgiveness for the men who killed him—this is the "true Christmas Spirit."

—Dave King

Appalachian Odyssey

Part 6

by Dave Powell

Perhaps I am taking the easy way out.

When I sat down and tried to write about our Smoky Mountain adventure, the words failed me. This part of our journey is too deep, too real, and too near my heart to be described. It is too close to the secret of freedom and the joy of being alive to be confined in prose.

But I want you to understand something of this feeling; something of this strangeness that was at once both the high peak and the low valley of our journey.

The following was written in the very midst of a very, very day. It is taken directly from my diary, and not a single punctuation mark has been changed. The grammar itself expresses part of how and what I felt.

June 20 — Thursday

Woke up to rain and fog just as Bill predicted. Ate three boxes of cereal (had milk on them). Ate rest of macaroon cookies that mice enjoyed the night before. We were off early because we had to meet Mr. Brahams at Clingman's Dome.

On Spence Field with the mist I was reminded of an old Scottish traveler on a heath somewhere walking toward a warm pub.

The trail was not too rough, but the dampness took the life out of me. It rained from time to time but mostly it was foggy. We stopped at our first shelter just for a rest. We wanted to eat at the next one (which we did-potted meat on one crumby roll). I had visions of food all day. I plan to get a stock to keep at Maryville. In supermarkets I drool at the food, candy and cakes. All day I dream of frosted cookies and orange juice. I hoped that Mr. Brahams would have a picnic basket full of things.

Toward the time that we were due at the Dome, Bill swore and sat down because all we did was go up in the fog. I kept going (he wanted me to get out the trail guide). After a long distance I stopped — it was still uphill from there. It began to rain. I thought it was hail, but it was driving, ice-cold rain. It ran down my pants and I almost froze. I wondered if Bill would ever come. I even thought he might have turned back after having called me. Soon he came.

INTERNATIONAL I

by Christopher D. Carlisle

Those wretched people are sent to filthy slaughter like a herd of sick, neglected cattle. But I won't talk about it, I only get nightmares from such thoughts.—Anne Frank.

These "nightmares" are still with us today, but the actions they depict are not. The reality that is still with us is the living symbolism of those who caused the worthless slaughter of World War II. Recently, for example, two men have been tracked down and are charged with aiding the death of Anne Frank. Most recent is Karl Siberbauer who had been working on the Vienna police force. The other man is Mr. Rajakowitsch, a business man worth over $1.6 million. Both of these men will undergo trails almost twenty years after their crimes.

Capt. Rajakowitsch should be of interest to us for he was Eichmann's legal expect. He is known for his slaughters and his ability to manipulate humans. He was very anti-Jews, even to the extent of refusing to release certain ones who had Portuguese ancestory and a very high bribe. Recently, however, this man was known in the business world, not in the world of soldiers. He would have continued incognito, but Eichmann recalled publically having met the man recently. This sent Eichmann's own tracker, Simon Wisenthal, out after Rajakowitsch. This Jewish chief of the Jewish Documentation Center in Vienna finally found his prey, but could not get him extradited. In the end, however, the "fugitive" gave up in order to clear his name.

In other areas of the world, the dreaded war is still talked of. Russia recently demanded that the United States render up General Heusinger labeled as the man who burned one of her villiages. This plea was brought before the United Nations. It was later found that the "documented" photograph was not of the General and his men at the village in question.

In the Netherlands, four men are spending their lives in the Breda prison. These men were Gestapo officers and leaders of the concentration camps. Their fellow prisoners of some years before were shot, but these four were passed over by the Queen's command. In Holland, it is customary for "lifers" to be released after twenty years. The controversy now raging is whether or not to release these men. Most outspoken is Abel Herzog, a Jewish lawyer-novelist, who cites the crimes invovved as being too grievous to make release possible.

In the West German regieme, the 1958 Central Office for Clering-up of National Socialist Crimes is still in operation having to date passed 400 of its 650 defendants on to the prosecutors. It is hoped this Office will be disbanded by next year and that the pending trials of some hundreds will be rapidly concluded.

The Yuletide spirit is here, yet the past is still creeping in upon us. It appears that the neighbor who once wronged us will not receive a present, unless it is a similar wrong — death for death. Dr. Arendt's Eichmann in Jerusalem suggests that man is petty when it comes to such an enormous crime as Eichmann took part in. It appeared to this author that the difficulty lay in the German devotion to the job before him and to obeying edicts to the letter. Constantine Fitzgibbon in the New York Times Magazine of August 18 tells us "Most Germans were guilty of one, and only one, crime: they allowed Hitler to come to power and once he was in power they failed to dismiss him."

The "brotherhood of man" is still struggling to suurvive as we rake the coals to bury it. Man certainly is small, so very small. Where are those "tidings of comfort and joy, comfort and joy, oh, tidings of comfort and joy?"

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products
Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses

DIXIE
SUPER MARKET

WASHINGTON AVENUE

WGAP
CAMPUS
MIKE
Voice of Maryville
College
Sunday
Evening
9:30-10:00

CAPITOL
THEATRE

SUNDAY through FRIDAY

DECEMBER 15 -- 20

ELVIS NEVER HAD IT LIKE THIS!

A HAL WALLIS PRODUCTION
URSULA ANDRESS · ELSA CARDENAS · PAUL LUKAS · RICHARD THORPE · ALLAN WEISS
A PARAMOUNT RELEASE

Construction Ahead

by R. Wells

There is a choice plot of land on the Maryville College intellectual campus which is soon to be put to use. For the last three months, surveyors, architects, contractors, zoning inspectors, realty lawyers, financiers — all have visited the area to work out a plan for an edifice worthy of its prominent location, a building solid enough to last through the years.

This vacant area is what a Literary Magazine should fill. It is the gap not covered by opportunities for writing in other campus publications, nor in required writing for class, nor in private letters and diaries. The surveyors, and so forth, are interested people who have been discussing the nature of the magazine and have been working to insure its quality and permanence.

The bulldozers should begin digging soon: watch for them!

Christmas Vacation and...

by Mary Dilkes

December, the month we've been waiting for since September 13, has actually snowballed its way in (it's the fourth month on your activities calendar). To show the special meaning it has for Maryville College students, a picture of Anderson Tower is placed above it — through rain, snow, sleet, and hail . . .

December is the month when Jack Frost replaces Autumn Romances as the wonder worker of the woods, and we find that Miss Ware's serving trays can be turned into jet-propelled toboggans. And with these first frozen monsoons comes the gaiety of the Christmas season. If the Southern Railroad decides to spend Christmas Eve on a track in Pulaski, Virginia, however, Johnny Mathis' "I'll Be Home for Christmas" will be more of a guess than a fact. As for our dorm Christmas parties, there's no rule that gives you a dishonorable discharge for trying to spike the punch with fermented orange juice. And this is the only night of the year that you can use mistletoe as an excuse for kissing in the parlor.

But for those of us who don't have more than five tests and four papers due before we go home, we can turn our thoughts to suitcases and train tickets. Fifteen vacation days will mean to some of us a time to daydream. Christmas lights, Gimble's bargain basement, the clicking of ice skates, snow tires (they're for cars), New Year's Eve at the Colony Champagne and the hustle of 42 Street.

Yet there's a deeper meaning in the beauty and solemnity of the Christmas season of which Christmas cards, carols, candles, and trees are just symbols. At Maryville College we have the coming-to-life of the Christmas story in the Messiah, Christmas Vespers, and Christmas readings. At home there are the stained-glass windows, a manger, and a silver star on the highest branch of a brightly dressed Christmas tree. This is a moment of joy as well as merriment, a moment that has been recurring for more than the 144 years of Maryville College, and a moment that will not die in the next eleven months.

May you live all the days of your life.

—Jonathan Swift

SEEN . . .

. . . AND HEARD

The Lord said to make a joyful noise, not a musical one . . . I want to thank the choir for giving us such a fine introduction into the Easter season . . . But there isn't going to be any Easter this year!! . . . French fried sweet potatoes??? . . .

Purple Patches

Impression

At last, the night descends;
The evenings amusement ends.
A dimness settles down about the room.
Tobacco smoke seeks escape
Along the mullion and the drape;
Beyond the wrinkled window pane
A pool of silent rain
Reflects the ominous still.

I have ventured out,
Among the searching eyes and faces
Within the austere neon places —
And returning with grey doubt
For eyes that fix you on a cross
And spit their hasty glances,
I ponder Lady Nemesis.

May I say upon a page
That I have seen Gethsemane
Portrayed for you and me
By artificial faces,
As if mirrored on a massive stage?

No. I am no seer
And here's no primacy.
There will be time to persevere,
Time to temporize
Behind a telling guise.
And there will be time
To ask an enormous question.

—Pat Ducey

Our fevered lips met in hot embraces.
Stubborn crags, Tiger fog, and
Blasts tore our love together.
Snow racked our bodies
Joined in storm.

Lightning showed our path
As we ran sexing.
The path writhed apart
And she pulled away.
Where she went nobody knows.
I fell in a white river
That dived to a deep valley.

Down in the Valley
The Valley so low
Hear the wind sigh.

Rough, white, wet —
Up jumps down, and down
Goes out, and up and out
Become alike because love
Is I don't give a damn.

"Drink to me, with thine eyes
As you sink in quicksand
And I'll 'To your health!"

Earth is thick green where
Now sluggish river slobbers me
Where grass is brown and Birds are bees and
Sex is quick and blue.

Please, don't step on my shoes;
Please, my blue swede shoes.
Damn you, look out for my shoes.

The land is fractured and flat.
The mountains are behind.

I'm on my way rejoicing
Oh thou God of Love.

—Bruce Hensley

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK
MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER
RELIGIOUS READING MATERIALS
TO FIT EVERY STUDENT'S NEEDS
STUDENTS ALWAYS WELCOME!
983-4982

Martin's DRUG STORE
401 S Washington St Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN
Offering Maryville College Students
a complete line of cosmetics,
plus
a reliable prescription service
Located just off campus on Washington St.

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

Wrestling Round up

by Will Mitchell

Maryville College wrestlers will seek to run their record to two wins, one draw and one defeat when they take on the Knoxville Y tonight in their second home bout.

The season opened against Carson-Newman on the third of December, and the Scots came away with a 16-16 draw. Wrestling on an average of ten pounds a man out of weight, the Scots still very nearly pulled out a victory—only to be beaten by their own mistakes. Roy Ries overcame an initial mistake to decision his man. Gary Hall at 130 pinned his opponent. Dale Hudler was decisioned, Will Mitchell was pinned at 147, and Don Shields was decisioned before Maryville again scored on Van Pallis's pin at 167. Fred Willocks fell into a pin in the 177 pound class, but Joe Kucinski saved the draw by decisioning his 230 pound foe at heavyweight.

Wrestling at exhibition, Chuck Hucknall won by default, Hugh McCampbell pinned his man, Ray Palyoc won a decision, and Ralph Williams drew, while Jarvis Johnson, Wayne Frey, John Chaki and John Ross were all pinned, way out of weight. Everyone got his feet wet and came to the sober realization that despite the depth of experience represented on the squad, there was still a lot of work to be done before it would begin to live up to its potential.

Exactly that kind of hard work was expended the rest of that week in order to get down to weight for Appalachian State on Saturday night. This North Carolina team is perennially strong, and wrestles many Northern name wrestling schools, yet optimism was high among the Scot grapplers. A combination of off nights and just plain stupid mistakes made what by rights should have been a close match a runaway 12-22 defeat. Roy Ries slipped into a pin, and Gary Hall found his hands full wrestling to a draw. Will Mitchell at 137 drew the weak link and managed the only pin. Don Shields and Bill DeWeese both fell into pins, while Van Pallis spent his time slipping out of pins. Fred Willocks fought to a draw and Joe Kucinski won his second decision. In exhibition Dave Worobrow, Hugh McCampbell and Dale Hudler found themselves outmanned, giving up two decisions and a pin respectively.

Monday afternoon the squad travelled to Milligan College in Johnson City, Tennessee, still looking for their first win. This time they were not to be denied. The forecast was made in the preliminary exhibition bouts, where Worobrow and McCampbell both got 1:21 minute pins. Dale Hudler was decisioned, Ray Palyoc, wrestling at 167 lost by one point, and John Chaki was pinned. Roy Ries started off the varsity round with a pin, but Gary Hall lost a 4-0 lead to be decisioned 4-5. Will Mitchell got his second pin in 40 seconds of the first period. Don Shields was decisioned at 147, but Bill DeWeese contributed a hard won pin at 157, and Van Pallis reversed roles for an 18-6 decision. Both Fred Willocks and Joe Kucinski were decisioned.

Tonight the squad takes on the Knoxville Y, which was able to win only three matches from Milligan two weeks ago. Strong as the present squad promises to be, the addition of new personel after Christmas, and the recovery of some injured men will greatly expand its potential. Blessed with a strong second string for the first time in years, the prospects that the varsity will be honed to one of the best in years is not unfounded.

Basketball: Scots Drop Opener with Shorter by 65-40

The 1963-64 basketball season opened last Saturday in the Alumni Gym as the well-oiled machine of Shorter College humiliated our Scots, 65-40. The Shorter squad, all of whom seemed to be tall and fast, is a newcomer to Maryville's list of opponents and returned home to Rome, Ga., with a nice victory under their belts.

The loss was a disappointment to the Scots and to the large crowd of enthusiastic fans, but it did give them a chance to see how our boys could play together. The game got off to an incredibly slow start and it looked for a while as though we'd not get a chance to even get our hands on the ball. By half-time we had only managed to score 13 points as contrasted with 27 for the enemy. The second half wasn't much of an improvement and the final score read 65-40.

Many Veterans Back

Center Bert Randall, in his final year of play, was high point man for our side as usual, being credited with 12 points. Bill Schellinger, whose absence during the second half of the season last year was felt sharply, has returned to the wars and ran up 5 points. Mike Moyers and Kip Martin, also regulars last year, dumped in 6 points and 5 points respectively, and Denny McGowan, a sub last year elevated to a starting berth, accounted for 3 points. Mike Gregory, a tall standout last year is still recovering from a broken foot and hopes to be able to return to play after the Christmas holidays.

Newcomers Add Strength

Although the game wasn't too thrilling from our point of view, it was interesting to watch several of the newer members of the roundball squad. Dan Radcliff and Dave Alexander, both freshmen, were used often by Coach Baird as he gave his starters a rest. Both fellows played fine ball during the practice sessions and looked good against the superior Shorter team. A surprise substitute was footballer H. H. Linginfelter, who has only been out for the team for a week but played a good game. Apparently Coach Baird is pleased with these fellows' performances and will use them with dependable "Bo" Henderson to make up his second unit. This will give Baird more bench strength than he had last year, an important factor to the Scots' success.

A key point in the loss was the fact that Shorter was appearing in their sixth game of the year, which meant that they had had more of a chance to be prepared. They played an exciting, heads-up game that was simply too much for our Scots. Their ability to play well together is reflected in the fact that each of their starters scored in the double figures. There was surprisingly little fouling in the game.

Highland Flings

by Dave King

Regardless of what the calendar says, winter is officially here. It began last Saturday when the '63-64 editions of the basketball and wrestling teams made their home debut in the Alumni Gym. Football and soccer are now no more than happy memories and hopeful expectations and spring sports seem a long way off with the snow falling. The grand unveiling of these two cold weather activities was a little short of spectacular and many fans went away remarking what a long winter it was going to be. Coach Baird's magic touch with the boys on the gridiron hasn't seemed to work its way indoors yet as we dropped one by a humiliating 25 points. Coach Davis' "rasslers," reported by some to be the best in the past few years, also had a discouraging evening. However, this was just the beginning of a long season's play and really doesn't give a very accurate picture of what might be to come.

First of all, Appalachian State is well-known in these parts for having one of the better wrestling teams and is undoubtedly one of the tougher teams we'll be up against this season. The Orange and Garnet matmen, in most instances, gave a good showing of themselves against generally superior competition. Their opening 16-16 tie with Carson-Newman is more of an indication of what these boys are capable of doing. Will Mitchell deserves a pat on the back for pinning his opponent and Fred Willocks and Joe Kucinski, back after a year's absence, are to be commended for their showings. As well, Bill DeWeese and Van Pallis, a better wrestler than he looked against Appalachian, are returning to give strength to the middle weights. Keep your eyes on these newcomers — they are definitely going to provide some excitement. Roy Ries, Don Shields, and Gary Hall, said to be one of our best, are no strangers to the mats and can be counted on for a number of victories through the season. One final word about college wrestling — we hope those of you who have never seen any wrestling other than the farcial performances on television will enjoy the fast-moving excitement of genuine competition.

Just as a number of newcomers are helping make the wrestling squad, a couple of youngsters are going to make the basketball regulars hustle to keep their positions. The loss to the giants of Shorter College hurt, but we were playing against a definitely superior ball team. Shorter (the fellow who named the school must laugh himself silly when he sees their basketball team play) came here with a bunch of tall, talented boys who worked well together as a team. The score was nothing to overlook but we did get a look at the fellows who'll be doing the playing for us this year. Particularly interesting to watch were Dan Ratcliff and Dave Alexander, two freshmen with height and ball-handling know-how, and H. H. Linginfelter, who has traded a football for the roundball. Mike Gregory, a standout last year, will be on the sidelines a few more weeks while his foot mends, a loss that will be felt until he can get back. Bert Randall, looking heavier and slower this year, has returned from last year's starting five, as has Mike "Robin" Moyers. Denny McGowan, who didn't have much of a chance to play last year, was given the starting nod by Coach Baird and proved his value as a frontline player. Kip Martin, who makes up in skill what he lacks in height, and Bill Schellinger, badly missed during the second half last year, round out the starting five. Joining the newcomers to provide the bench strength that was lacking last year is "Bo" Henderson, who makes the Dean's List as easily as he makes the scoring columns.

It is a little difficult, and rather foolish, to make predictions at this early stage of the game but we think that some of the winning spirit that pervaded Honaker Field during football season will spill over into the "Barn" this winter. The first couple of games are always tough ones and we think that once the basketball team picks up a little momentum and gets rolling they should at least break even in the scoring columns and hopefully, will win a few more than they lose. Right now there are a few too many "if's" — if Mike Gregory hasn't lost his touch, if they can put some of that height to good advantage — but we're counting on them to come through once they get going. The wrestling team is a stronger team all around and the loss of three-time SEC champ Jimmy Baxter shouldn't be felt too keenly. Coach Davis seems to be pleased with his boys and we think this could be one of Maryville'e better years on the wrestling circuits. The big SEC tourney at the end of the year, when we participate against some of the biggest schools in the South, should be particularly interesting this year. One thing to bear in mind — Maryville competes against a good many schools which offer extensive athletic scholarship programs, a difference which is often significant. When a school can promise to underwrite a major portion of an athlete's expenses, that school will undoubtedly be able to field more skilled teams than Maryville.

So, in closing, we wish Coaches Baird and Davis and their boys a lot of good luck during the coming season. We also hope that those of you who missed the opening double-header will be on hand the next time these teams perform at home. You won't regret it.

Come See Our WONDERFUL WORLD OF CHARMS
Crafted by GRIFFITH
HAPPY BIRTHDAY
In Sterling, Gold-Filled and 14 Kt. Gold
A Magnificent Selection of Charms on Display
See Our Selection of Charm Bracelets
C. R. TIPTON JEWELERS

College Students
Faculty Members
College Libraries
SUBSCRIBE NOW AT HALF PRICE
Printed In BOSTON LOS ANGELES LONDON
Clip this advertisement and return it with your check or money order to:
The Christian Science Monitor
One Norway St., Boston 15, Mass.
☐ 1 YEAR $11 ☐ 6 mos. $5.50
☐ COLLEGE STUDENT
☐ FACULTY MEMBER
P-CN

McBRAYER SHOE SHOP
QUALITY SHOE REPAIR WORK
Open 6 Days a Week

SWIMMERS TAKE YOUR MARK, GO . . . As seen at Friday night practice for the big swimming meet

Socks and Sneakers

by Virginia Lee Coon

"On guard, Advance, Touche." These are the words heard recently in the intramural gym during the fencing matches. The tournament will have been completed before the publication of the paper, so congratulations, winner!!!

The next sport, basketball, will start on January 7 and will continue into second semester. Basketball usually is one of the best attended sports, so come on co-eds let's not make this year an excepion.

On December 17 the Women's "M" Club will hold their annual Christmas party in the "Y" rooms. On the menu will be some-mores, a fire, and movies to bring back wonderful memories of those retreats in the mountains. The top twenty-point winners of the first semester will be the guests of the "M" Club at their party.

If y'all are wondering what all that noise is over at the swimming pool between the hours of 8:30 and 9:30 Friday nights it is Terry Brusstar shouting out commands to get the swimming team in shape for the meet on February 14 and 15. The girls practice every Friday night. The team will resume practicing Friday, January 3. Starting on this date strict attendance will be taken. The pool is open everyday at 4:00 and at 2:30 on Saturdays for individual practice, so come on girls, there is still time for you to come out and help make the swimming meet at Maryville Victory! ! ! !

All Abroad

by Margaret Schmidt

Editor's note:
Margaret Schmidt, a student at MC from 1961-1963, has written the following article about her last summer's trip to Mexico especially for the Echo. She is now attending school in her homeland, Germany.

It was night when the jet landed in Mexico City. The moment had finally come for which I had waited so long. Some years before a wealthy American lady had had no understanding for my idea to see Mexico. To visit such a dirty country with those poor Indians still living in miserable huts, was disgusting. However, I had read some books, mainly about the Pre-Spanish civilization, and was enthusiastic to travel through that country myself.

I still could not believe that I had arrived. That particular night I got only a glimpse of the city with its five million inhabitants. But soon I found that this was one of the contrasts that I had never noticed before anywhere. I saw skyscrapers and wide beautiful avenues that reminded me of every modern city, then I observed the slum areas with their little light-brown huts where many Indians and Mesitizes lived. Never in my life had I seen so many children with barefeet and dresses that hung loosely around their tiny bodies. However, the dirty brown faces had an expression of satisfaction and happiness. I had heard that these people love children very much, although some of them do not even know the number of their offspring. After some days of visiting the places of interest in the City, Tichi, her mother, Tita, and I made a trip to the pyramids only about 35 miles away.

We passed through part of the plateau of Anahuac, meaning 'at the water.' This enormous elevated plain, on which also Mexico City is located, is more than 6000 feet above sea level. In the distance I noticed Popocatepetl and Ixtaccihuatl, two snowcovered volcanos, raising their peaks high up into the blue sky. Along the street I observed the green corn fields, as corn is one of the basic foods of the Mexican people. Tichi showed me a typical village that was built on the slope of a mountain. I had trouble to discover it because the huts were of the same color as the ground. Here in the country the Indians lived better, they had enough to eat and were dressed neatly. They don't desire more. We drove along Indians with their typical big hats driving their gray donkeys that had disappeared under the heavy loads of wood. Then we passed by a famous convent. The church had been built in the Colonial period and now no foreigner would have imagined by seeing only the outside what a treasure of gold, carvings and paintings was to be found inside. They were the gifts of the poor people who give their last centimo to the church.

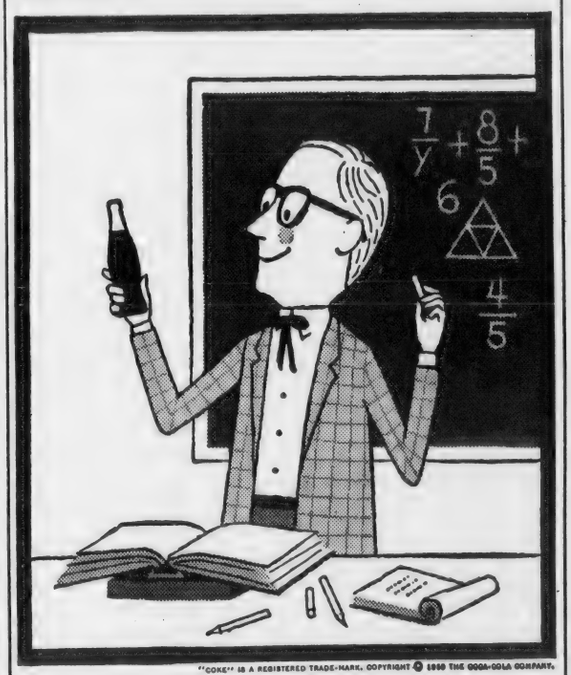
Finally we arrived at the center of a past civilization: Teotihuacan, 'the place where one becomes God.' I could not spot the largest building, the pyramid of the Sun, until I was close. The whole city plan is very complex and impossible to overlook. Therefore it was the best to climb the 64-meter high pyramid. This was not too difficult, although the steps were very narrow and steep. The sacrificial temple no longer stands on the top, but the view from there was beautiful. The legend tells us that sun and moon took their course from there and that the 'meeting of the Gods' took place at the same location. When I looked down, the City of the Gods, from which archeologists do not yet know the builders, was spread out over an area of several square kilometers. The God whom most people worshipped

Cont'd on Page 6, Col. 2

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

For School and Office Supplies,

Excellent Service



and

Fast Delivery

White

Office Machines

"Won't Write – Call White"

"COKE" IS A REGISTERED TRADE-MARK. COPYRIGHT © 1960 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY.

Q.E.D.

Yes, it's been demonstrated time and time again, that for real refreshment it's Coke every time! Add up that cold crisp taste, that lively lift and you really have a drink worth going after. So whenever the crowd has a multiple thirst, make the high sign of good taste . . . pass around the Coca-Cola! Quod Erat Demonstrandum!

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED...HAVE A COKE!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

RODDY MFG. CO., MARYVILLE, TENN.

Dining Designed For Your Pleasure

For A Snack or A Full Course Meal, You

Can't Beat Our Delicious Food and Low Prices

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 a.m. – 11 p.m. 982-9921

For New Shoes,

Polishes & Dyes
Shoe Shine Equipment
Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Remedies

City Shoe Shop

106 West Broadway

APPALACHIAN ODYSSEY
Cont'd from Page 2, Col. 3

At last a sign said "Clingman's Dome" and another "Clingman's Dome road." We chose the first. At the paved trail we met people walking up in the rain ! ! and mist — none (no car was) the right one. Eventually a Ranger (da—which way did he go) told us Brick (Mr. Brahams) and Dave Styles had been there.

He would send them up if they were at the Gap. He left at 3:45. We waited till 4:30 in the rain, cold, soaking feet, cold, rain, drizzle. People would pass in cars and stare or smile or something equally asinine. Finally we decided to take shifts waiting or spend the night in the john. At last Bill thumbed. (It was so cold I couldn't get my hands out of my pockets.) A lady opened her window.

"Where are you going?"

"Anywhere."

They stopped.

Hesitation — in — WARM

They took us to Gatlinburg. There we bought groceries in a cold air-conditioned store while she bought stuff. They are the Schardt's — Leo (funny as heck), Helen, Linda (nurse's training at Ste. Therese's) and Kathy. They invited us to chicken, whipped potatoes, peas, real milk, and cantalope and coconut mounds for dessert. We ate in their trailer at Elkmont campground.

I wore baggy blue pants and a Stout State sweatshirt that Mr. Schardt gave me. Mrs. ate dinner on the floor. I washed dishes and Linda dried (my inspiration).

Later we played cards and had Coke and some more coconut mounds. The card game was 31. Kathy was sixteen, Linda was a brunette — and a lady.

Slept in their station wagon. Very thankful for their generosity. Worried about how to repay them.

Card game was perfectly lovely.

* * * *

That's it.

Should I have written about the windmill cookies they gave us moments after getting in the car?

Or the dry blankets?

Or the warm smiles?

I didn't need too — I knew I'd never forget all those things.

The next morning Mrs. Schardt packed us a lunch and they drove us back to the Gap.

It was threatening rain when we parted, and there was a big old basketball in my throat. In fact they hadn't stopped waving before we were lonely again.

Yet it didn't take long to realize that something wonderful had happened.

Now I had two families.

SULLIVAN and PUDGY by Deanna Sturgell

ALL ABROAD
Cont'd from Page 5, Col. 3

was Quetzalcoatl, the feathered serpent, the God of the winds.

When we walked over to the temple that was consecrated to him, it rained. I climbed up some stairs to take a good look at the carryings of serpents and was surprised how well they were preserved. I thought of the legend telling us that Quetzalcoatl lived in a city called Tollan, which he lost because other Gods envied him. He left the country and went to the east where he sacrificed himself by burning. His ashes were converted into all kinds of birds, however, is heart became the morningstar. The Aztecs believed that Quetzalcoatl would come back some later day.

It was at the arrival of Cortez that the last king of the Aztecs, Montezuma, thought the God had returned. However, Cortez had come to destroy the ancient civilization and to begin the Christian era. And although the Mexican people today are ardent Catholics, the Indians have not forgotten that they are the legatees of the great culture.

My stay in Mexico was wonderful as far as I had the opportunity to visit many places besides Mexico City; however, more wonderful as I was able to get to know the people.

Arts and sciences are not cast in a mould, but are formed and perfected by degrees, by often handling and polishing.

—Montaigne

REAL ITALIAN PIZZA

"If your mouth is watering for some taste-tempting pizza, why not take a break in your studies and call us."

Only 97c

DELIVERY TWICE DAILY

CALL 982-7920

VAN'S BAKERY

Midland Center

For Cards For All Occasions, Cosmetics, Prescriptions and Reliable Service Visit

Byrne Drug Company

120 E. Broadway 982-1461

THE

BANK of MARYVILLE

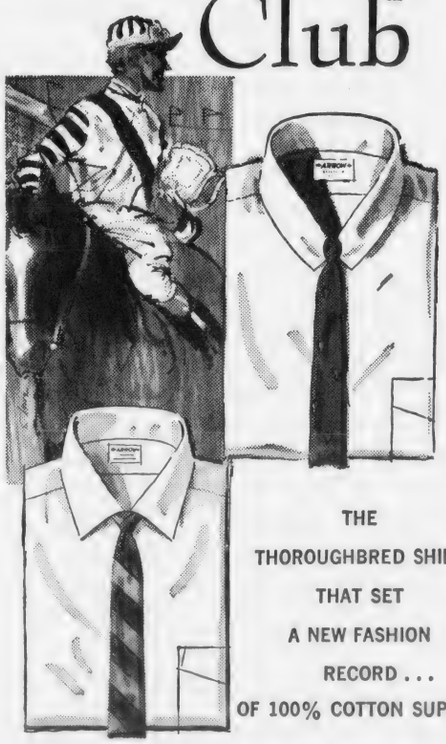
"The Old Reliable Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES

★ SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

✓ CHECK ACCOUNTS

★ CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS



★ TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

It's ARROW®

Paddock Club™

THE THOROUGHBRED SHIRT THAT SET A NEW FASHION RECORD . . . OF 100% COTTON SUPIMA

The man with impeccable taste unerringly chooses this superlative shirt made of 100% cotton Supima®, the most luxurious cotton of them all. Mitoga-tailored for the fit and feel of being personally measured. "Sanforized" labeled. Featured in Tabber Snap, an English-cut collar with snap closure tabs, and in Glen, a soft, short-point collar, both in convertible cuffs. $5.00

Proffitt's Midland Center

U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

WAYNE SIMMONS

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!

TIP TOP BARBER SHOP

105 Church St. Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop Open 6 Days a Week

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 49 | Maryville, Tennessee, January 18, 1964 | No. 7

Opera Workshop To Give Puccini, Mozart Works

On the evenings of March 6 and 7 John Roberts will conduct the performance of two one-act operas: a tragedy, The Cloak, by Puccini and a comedy, The Impresario, by Mozart. The productions, to be sung in English, will be presented by the opera workshop, under the musical direction of Dr. Harry Harter and the technical direction of Thomas Jones.

The Cloak is the story of people living on a barge on the Seine River. A young wife, Georgette, tiring of her elderly husband, Michel, falls in love with a younger man and arouses her husband's anger. The cast consists of David Evans as Michel, the barge owner; Don Brakebill as Louis, a stevedore; Bruce Jenkins as Tinca, a stevedore; Tom Llewellyn as Talpa, a stevedore; Jean Dorschild as Georgette, Michel's wife; and Martha Hall as Frugola, Talpa's wife.

The Impresario is written in German singspiel form, with spoken dialogue and song, much like an operetta. The story is filled with mock pathos as Madame Goldenpeal, an aging opera star, and Miss Silvertrill, an aspirant opera star, strive for top billing. The singers include Dwight Campbell as Mr. Scruples, an old-school Impresario; David Clinkman as Mr. Bluff, Mr. Scruples assistant; Dan Kinsinger as Mr. Angel, an elderly stage-struck financier; Sarah Tompkins as Madame Goldenpeal; and Carole Cooper as Miss Silvertrill.

Drs. Briner, Nakajima Will Speak At Feb. Meetings

Dr. Lewis A. Briner and Dr. K. Arnold Nakajima will be the speakers for February Meetings scheduled for February 20-26. There will be a change in the general program this year which will provide for the two speakers. Dr. Briner will be the leader from February 20-23, and Dr. Nakajima will have charge of the meetings from the 24-26. The two men will plan their messages around a central theme which will be chosen by them.

Dr. Briner

Dr. Nakajima

Dr. Lewis Briner is the Dean of Chapel and Lane Professor of Pastoral Theology and Liturgics at McCormick Theological Seminary, where he has been since 1961. He received the Bachelor of Arts degree, magna cum laude, from Albright College, Reading, Pennsylvania, and the Bachelor of Divinity degree from Oberlin Graduate School of Theology, Oberlin, Ohio. He has completed work for the S.T.M. degree in New Testament at Union Theological Seminary, New York. The honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred on him by Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Before going to McCormick in 1961, Dr. Briner served three years with the Board of Christian Education, the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. As secretary of the General Division of Vocation and Ministry, he supervised the Board's work in vocational guidance, enlistment for church vocations, psychological testing, educational loans and scholarships, personnel services and continuing education. He has served as a pastor in the Calvary Presbyterian Church, Wyncote, Pennsylvania, the First Presbyterian Church, Northport, New York, and in a church in Cheverly, Maryland. Dr. Briner was also a chaplain in the United States Navy, serving in the American and the Asiatic-Pacific theaters.

Dr. Briner has been a frequent speaker for student and faculty groups and served as chapel speaker or Religion in Life leader at a number of colleges and universities across the country. He is married and has two children.

Dr. K. Arnold Nakajima serves on the staff of the Board of Christian Education of The United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. as Eastern Area Secretary of the General Division of Higher Education. His various experiences include work as an educator, a minister, and a university chaplain. He served as instructor of Oriental languages at Princeton University; field representative for the Board of National Missions; minister of Union Church in Los Angeles; chaplain of Utica College in Utica, New York; and Westminster Foundation University Chaplain at Syracuse University, where he taught in the Religion Department and was the co-director of the Religious Education Summer Institute program.

Dr. Nakajima is a naturalized American citizen of Japanese birth. He came to America at the age of two, and was educated in the public schools of San Francisco, California. A graduate of Asbury College, Wilmore, Kentucky, he holds B.D. and Th.M. degrees from Princeton Theological Seminary and has completed his graduate theological studies toward a Th.D. degree at the Pacific School of Religion. He is a recipient of two honorary Doctor of Divinity degrees, from Maryville College and Monmouth College, Monmouth, Illinois. He is married and has three children.

Besides the two principal speakers, the February Meetings guests will include a group of counselors who will stay in the dorms and be available for conversation with students.

MC Enters Contract For Catalog Printing

The College has entered into a four-year contract with the Stein Printing Co. of Atlanta, Ga., for printing of the College Catalog.

The new catalog will be approximately 160 pages, 6¾ x 9 inches, printed on 60-pound paper. This means the paper will be more opaque and that pictures should show up much better.

It also means that the type will be completely reset, and the order of contents of the catalog has been extensively revised. The type will be bigger, and there will be more white space on the pages, which should make the catalog much easier to read and to use, and much more attractive. Typography, layout, and design are being done by the printer.

The catalog will be printed each year for the next four years. The copy deadline is late January, with delivery promised two months after the last copy is given to the printer. The printing order has been increased from 7,500 to 8,000.

This is the best opportunity in many years for complete revision of the catalog. Suggestions for changes in content will be welcomed by any member of the committee.

Honors Program Revised, Will Include Freshmen

The Sophomore Honors Program has been renovated; for the first time second semester freshmen will be eligible to participate in this independent study.

The honors program is for the purpose of extending the principle of independent study into the sophomore and freshmen years. The program is on a selective basis, with the intent of making the opportunity available to a few highly qualified sophomore and freshmen students. Only students with a scholarship average of 3.25 are admitted.

The study may take the form of reading, writing, experimentation, or all three. The freshman student may do work in any subject he is taking; the sophomore student normally works in a field other than his major. It is expected that fifty extra hours be spent on the study per semester. For each semester of work a credit value of one hour is designated on the student's transcript and with notation of the work as "with honors."

If any second semester freshman or sophomore is interested, he may check first with the major adviser and then with the teacher of the desired course. Cards for registration may be obtained at the personnel office.

Presently one sophomore is enrolled in the program: Bill Irwin, studying German with Miss Birchelbach.

College Conducting "Largest Financial Effort Ever"

Underway at the present time at Maryville and throughout her constituency is the largest fund-raising effort in the history of the College. Its goal is to secure the needed financial backing for a new science building, complete interior renovation of Fayerweather, increased faculty salaries and scholarships, and a new student center.

President Copeland, in order to more successfully carry on the campaign, has traveled in recent months from coast to coast. He has attended all but one of the many meetings held in areas where a concentration of Alumni is found. The widely scattered gatherings have seen Dr. Copeland in Jacksonville, Coral Gables, Mount Dora, Florida; Chicago; Richmond; Huntsville; New York City; Atlanta; Birmingham, Michigan; Washington, D. C.; Louisville; Winston-Salem; Pasadena; San Francisco; Cincinnati; Philadelphia; and Pittsburgh. The importance of this campaign is clearly evidenced in the extensive travels of the President.

Heading the Campaign Cabinet as General Chairman is David W. Proffitt, well-known area businessman. Assisting him are Joe C. Gamble, Earl W. Blazer, Glen A. Lloyd, Thomas I. Stephenson, Jr., Clifford E. Barbour, Howard E. Lamon, Jr., R. Arnold Kramer, Dr. Copeland, Raymond I. Brahams, Jr., and David H. Kidder.

Each man has an assigned responsibility including solicitation of the Board of Directors, administration and faculty members, students, families, corporations, foundations, and alumni.

Plans at this stage provide for the possibility of construction of the new student center at the same time as the science building, if the necessary funds are forthcoming. Great interest has already been generated by the quick donation by students of over $1000 in one week of giving last October.

The present science building, Fayerweather Hall, will have the entire interior changed to house the departments of home economics, biology, and mathematics. Moving to the new building will be the departments of physics, chemistry, and the earth sciences.

Because of the number of people involved, and the size of the goal in relation to a six months period of time, Dr. Copeland has described this campaign as the "largest concentrated financial effort ever conducted by the College."

Ten Seniors To Graduate In Jan.

Seniors completing requirements for graduation at the end of the present semester are William Cochran, Maryville, biology major; Dorothy Heagen, Ezel, Kentucky, home economics; Marcia Keesling, Alexandria, Virginia, music education; Susan Kisch, Springfield, New Jersey, health and p.e.; Joyce Koch, Hagerstown, Maryland, music; John Leland, Washington Court House, Ohio, history; Beatriz Marroquin, Mexico City, Mexico, French; Don Peterson, Maryville, health and p.e.; Ann Stimson, Sarasota, Florida, biology; Charles Thomas, Maryville, health and p.e., Maryville.

Y Sponsors Joint MC-KC Conference

The Church Vocations Commission of the Y, under the leadership of Judy Martin and Bill Irwin, will sponsor an Interdenominational Church Occupations Conference to be held jointly with Knoxville College February 1 and 2. Registration will begin Saturday at 2 p.m. The opening statement will be given by Metz Rollins, a special representative of the United Presbyterian Church in the area of racial tension, who is now serving on the National Commission on Religion and Race in the United Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Harold Hunter, minister of Fourth Presbyterian Church in Knoxville, will be a speaker at the Saturday evening session.

Sunday afternoon will be devoted to the meeting of vocational interest groups, followed by planning and discussion. Included in these study groups will be pastoral ministry, church music, physchological counseling and youth work, missions, military chaplaincy, inner-city church work, summer opportunity, and the ministry of the laity. Rev. Metz Rollins will speak at the Sunday night Vespers service, which will serve as the official close of the vocations conference.

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor-in-Chief
CHARLOTTA COOK

News Editor — ELENORA EASTERLY
Feature Editor — MARY JANOVICH
Sports Editors — GINNA COON and DAVID KING
Copy Editor — SANDRA SCOFIELD
Art Editor — DEANNA STURGELL
Exchange Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Business Editor — GORDON STEWART

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Duncan Bennett, Carole Brownlee, Sandy Briggs, Chris Carlisle, Sandy Chittick, Sara Humphries, David Marston, David Powell, Will Mitchell, Robert Morey, Judy Siver, Deanna Sturgell

Faculty Advisors
DR. CAROLYN BLAIR and MR. FRANK LAYMAN

her mark

We're not quite certain how it started, or who the participants were, but we heard several most interesting comments about Maryville College on an open-telephone-line radio show one night last week. It seems that a debate was touched off by a UT student who firmly announced "Maryville College Stinks!" (because, he said, MC students are always claiming superiority). Several remarks followed, and then another caller barked into the phone that he had learned more in one semester at Maryville than he had in two years at the nearby university. He went on to describe our women as "intellectual . . . stimulating . . . and inspired" (which means we're not pretty?)

What all this proves is actually very little, except that complimentary remarks concerning our fair school are heard so rarely from its students these days, we feel that some comment should be made, coupled with a public hope that this is indicative of a trend. This doesn't mean that we're waging an all-out campaign to place the orange-and-garnet on the summit of Mt. Le Conte, or that every Maryville student should chant himself to sleep with the Alma Mater. It is merely a suggestion that we do attempt to dig up some positive reason why we get on the southbound Greyhound on January second.

Appalachian Odyssey

Part 7

by David Powell

Cold Springs shelter in the Smokies is just that. Down from the wall, across the dirt floor, and out the front door wanders an icy, bubbly, carefree spring that bounces just inches below the wire bunk. Friday, June 21 we slept on cold springs.

In the morning everything was globuliferous — the trees, ground, mist, the Cream of Wheat.

A wandering ranger with a "T" on his belt told us of a bear that had come scraping the ground with its nose the night before. "Why," said ranger T, "I just shined my flashlight and whizzed a couple a rocks at him." And off he walked in his ripple sole boots. The ranger, I mean.

We ate lunch with the mice and drank from a spring that welled from a clump of God's green grass.

From Mt. Cammerer, for the first time in a week we could see farther than fifty feet — nearly seventy-five I believe, and the five mile descent was so long that my toenails began to ache.

At Davenport Gap, one mile from the northern terminus of the Trail in the Smokies, we found a package hanging from a beam in the shelter. We thought it was garbage but instead it held candy, raisins, saltines, powdered potatoes, Vienna sausages and Kipper snacks. Within a half hour we contained the same things.

The evening's final words were from Billy. He recapitulated the day in a succinct observation, "It threatened to clear."

The sunshine came at last. It had to. For many days and miles I had been singing, "Back of the clouds the sun is always shining After the storm your skies will all be blue."

True, there may have been other outside forces responsible, but I think it was my singing that really brought the sun.

A brisk walk through some guy's garden brought us into Waterville, North Carolina and right out again. Remember Wesser where the mail was six miles away? It was 24 miles away in Waterville. We did a jig, then raced on, laughing our way up the side of Snowbird Mountain.

Groundhog Creek Gap found us conversing with two fellows who had just set up camp for the day, a Dr. Somebody and his young friend Jim. They had peanut butter with them (something that we didn't carry because of its weight), so we discussed the energy providing merits of peanut butter, the unique taste sensation, the body building nutritional value, the childhood deification, and the ever-so-often craving for peanut butter.

In further discussion they learned that we were planning to hike ten more miles before dark. — the entire distance they had come that day!

They were a friendly and generous sort, as were so many people we met, so they bestowed gifts upon us before we departed. Bill received a bag of M and

Cont'd. Page 6, Col. 1

A wise man never loses anything if he has himself.

—Montaigne

INTERNATIONAL I

by Christopher D. Carlisle

Last week, headlines such as the Journal's "Gunfire Repulses Students Storming US Canal Zone" swept across the nation. It was reported by AP that some six Panamanians had been killed and forty-five injured by US troops dispelling enraged crowds. The problem was over the flag of the United States as opposed to, or in unison with, the flag of Panama.

Panama's flag is of four rectangles. The left hand two are white and blue and the right hand two are red and white. In the white field over the blue one stands a lone blue star and below the red field stands a lone red star. In toto, the American and Panamanian flag go very well together.

The trouble started by our obtaining a strip of land for an inter-ocean waterway. The resultant 1903 Hay-Bunau-Varilla Treaty was replaced by the Hull-Alfaro Treaty of 1936. This latter agreement gave Panama a greater hand in the affairs of the Zone. In 1955, following growing friction, a new treaty granted Panama more annuity ($1.93 million) and suggested greater sovereignty for her. Four years after this Eisenhower-Remon Treaty, riots broke out over remaining sovereignty problems as well as growing difficulties over segregation. One result of this rioting was the order issued by Eisenhower to allow our flag to fly at the same heighth as Panama's flag. The Congress opposed this due to a public law of July 9, 1953, expressly forbidding such a practice. In January of 1963, an agreement was reached allowing the two flags to fly together.

Recently, this 533 square mile area, of some 45,000 inhabitants was faced with unruly students who protested the equality of the flags. The result was an order issued by the Governor to have both flags brought down. Students last week decided to put up the US flag before schools (in 1958 there were 15 US and 10 Panamanian schools). The Panama people felt they too should raise a flag in the Zone. US students stopped them and evidentally pushed the treasured flag to the ground and trampled it. Bloodshed and tarnished relations resulted.

Recently, Panama has decided to take the question to the OAS (Organization of American States) and to the UN. This would bring to a head the struggles which have strongly persisted since 1946 when we refused to get our bases out of the Zone.

The great spirit of international good will shall reign. It is most likely to come about through the UN and the fulfillment of Truman's 1945 suggestion of placing all international waterways in the hands of the UN. This precedent would certainly be a right step toward a world of peace, considering the historic record of waterway furor.

* * * * * *

Have you heard of the International Relations Club? The rather formidable title is perhaps deceptive. Meetings are designed to let everyone share ideas and experiences, but not to force them to do this. After all, every country is made up of people—and what could be more interesting? Every major in this college is a study of people. Why not attend several meetings to see what makes the world tick? Get an International I.

The IRC.

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

REAL ITALIAN PIZZA

"If your mouth is watering for some taste-tempting pizza, why not take a break in your studies and call us."

Only 97c

DELIVERY TWICE DAILY

CALL 982-7920

VAN'S BAKERY

Midland Center

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR

Southern Shoes

Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.

116 West Broadway

RECORDS

Complete Selection of Jazz, Classical, Popular, and Folk Music in Hi-Fi Stereo.
Quality Repair Work on Radios and Record Players

HITCH RADIO and T.V.

Midland Center

SEEN . . .

. . . AND HEARD

. . Is this Dave Styles' apartment? . . . better lock your drawers . . . But don't want to look just all right the rest of my life . . . ribald Protestant mirth . . . What's round and purple, and goes grrrrr? — a grape of wrath . . . the Mormons conquered England in 1066 . . . he's G-R-E-A-T!!!...

A little folly is desirable in him that will not be guilty of stupidity.

—Montaigne

* * * * * *

Winter Sports

by Dave Marston

The main hazard to surviving a ski jump is that you never know what you'll do wrong until you try it, and then it's too late. Independent studies is much the same.

Of course there is a 20-page style sheet prepared to guide you in the latter exercise, but it does about as much good as watching the Olympic ski trials on TV before trying your first 90-foot jump. In short, that style sheet just wasn't written for the average guy. Maybe Issac Anderson and a few of the other greats could have written acceptable studies the first time using it, but for modern man, it's tough.

Another thing—if you notice the unobtrusive little note on the cover, you'll see that since 1953, revisions have been made at least once every three years in the style sheet—until this year. Think about that. My personal theory is that it was actually revised again on schedule this year, but the revisons were only made on the master copy, which is locked in a big vault somewhere. Next year, when the Class of 1964 is safely out of the way, someone will add the innocuous inscription, "4th rev. 1963" to the cover of the style sheet. Sure, it could drive you nuts, but then why do you think they have that bed in the special studies office?!

Don't get the wrong idea—this isn't intended as a criticism of the independent study program itself, which is certainly one of the most valuable of our college offerings. Indeed, this program not only provides opportunity for educational exploration, it fosters a wide range of other positive results.

It develops closer student-faculty relationships. One student had a direct line telephone installed from his typing desk to Mrs. Navratil's home. Don't let the Democrats tell you that "hot line" to Moscow was their idea—it started right here.

Cont'd. Page 5, Col. 3

Purple Patches

You are the heart and lifeblood of my finest moments.
Stop beating for me only and I will chill in the icy wind of the world.
Stop loving me and I will be as nothing . . .
. . . nothing in eons of endlessness.
Stop pulsating in me and a great love will die . . .
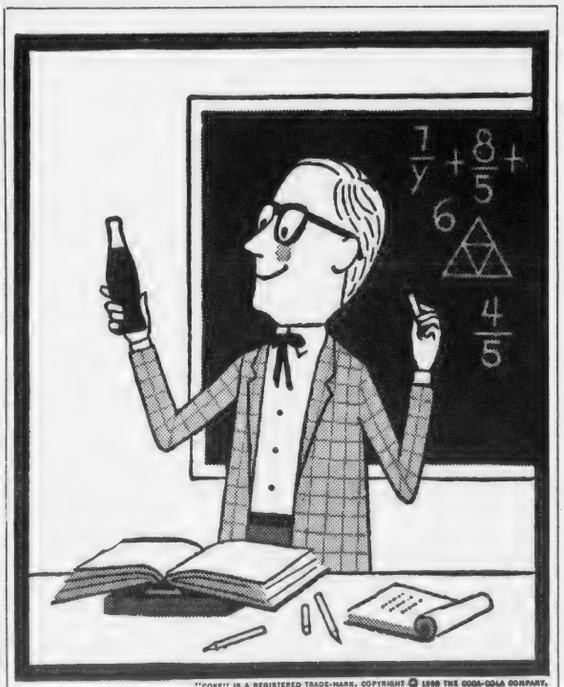
and part of me will die.
I am no longer mine.

I am yours,
D. Powell



College is not ivy
Nor stone nor brick.
It is dead souls
With live minds
Seeking rebirth of self.

Lost, the wanderer
Seeks, and in the seeking Learns. In the end
He has achieved
What college offers him.

Am i needed
here? or am i a cog—
on a wheel of chance suspended over hell?

You are a cog
you are unneeded
lest you work—
apply yourself and you will be the suspender.

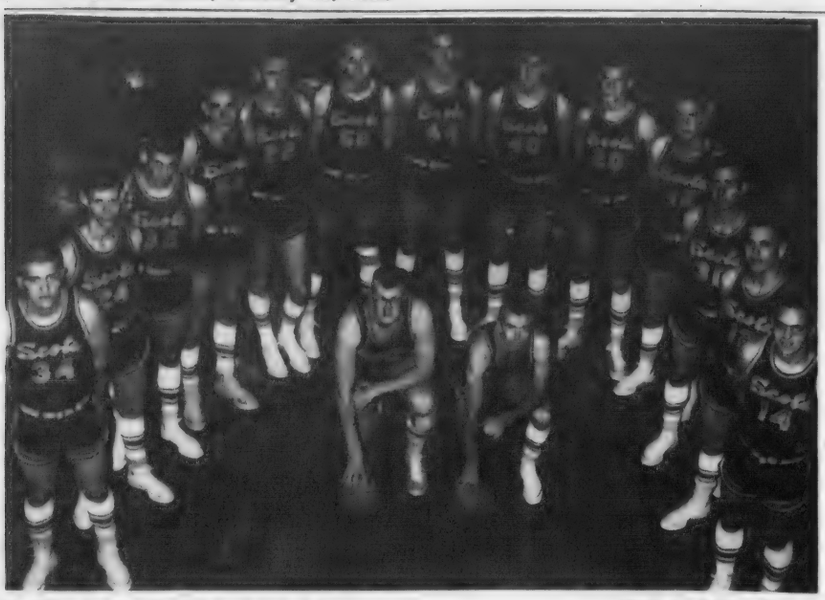
C. Davis

"COKE" IS A REGISTERED TRADE-MARK. COPYRIGHT © 1960 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY.

Q.E.D.



Yes, it's been demonstrated time and time again, that for real refreshment it's Coke every time! Add up that cold crisp taste, that lively lift and you really have a drink worth going after. So whenever the crowd has a multiple thirst, make the high sign of good taste . . . pass around the Coca-Cola! Quod Erat Demonstrandum!

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED...HAVE A COKE!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

RODDY MFG. CO., MARYVILLE, TENN.

The 1963-64 Maryville College Basketball Team. Photo by Duncan Bennett

Socks and Sneakers

by Ginna Coon

For the last two weeks we have seen the Maryville co-eds practicing their basketball for the tournament that will start on January 30th. Both societies have shown a great deal of enthusiasm, and it promises to be one of the most exciting sports so far. The games will be played on Tuesdays and Thursdays, one at 3:30 and one at 4:30. Everyone is welcome at the games, so come out and cheer your favorite society on to victory.

The swimming team is shaping up really well for its meet February 14th and 15th, but there is still time for any girl who is really interested in working to become a member of it. The team practices every Friday night at 8:30, and members should get their individual practice in any time that the pool is open. Come on girls and support the team so Maryville can make a good showing at the meet!!!

Football Stats Show Final '63 Results

The '63 football season is gone but won't be forgotten for a long time. This was the Scots' best season in 17 years and one of the best of all time. Mike Moyers, statistician for the Athletic Department, has compiled the final statistics for the year, a portion of which are included here.

INDIVIDUAL STATS.

Rushing	Atts.	Yds.	Ave.
Berry	153	739	4.8
McClanahan	63	380	6.0
Phelps	82	375	4.6
Monroe	60	229	3.8

Pass Receiving	Cgt.	Yds.
Ramsey	9	133
Dalton	9	125
White	12	111
McClanahan	10	107

Scoring	TD's	Total Pts.
Phelps	8	48
Berry	4	24
Monroe	1	22
McClanahan	3	20

Passing	Att.	Com.	Yds.	Ave.
Ling.	36	20	316	15.8
Monroe	68	29	296	10.2
Ramsey	18	8	85	10.6

Punting	No.	Yds.	Ave.
Phelps	34	1268	37.3
White	8	255	31.8

Tackles	Pos.	Total
Napier	T	65
Thomas	C	63
Masingo	C	60
Abbott	G	60

TEAM STATISTICS

	MC	Opp.
Scoring	152	70
Rushing
—Atts.	454	339
—Yds.	1980	1259
—Ave.	4.4	3.7
Yds. Pass.	706	723
Penalties
—No.	40	53
—Yds.	449	467
Fumbles	7	8
1st Downs	144	102

FINAL SCORES

MC 14	Mars Hill	0
MC 20	Centre	7
MC 13	Georgetown	12
MC 6	Emory & Henry	13
MC 19	Hanover	17
MC 28	Guilford	0
MC 22	Millsaps	0
MC 13	Guilford	7
MC 17	Carson-Newman	14

Sits he on never so high a throne, a man still sits on his bottom. —Montaigne

For New Shoes,

Polishes & Dyes
Shoe Shine Equipment
Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Remedies

City Shoe Shop

106 West Broadway

U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

WAYNE SIMMONS

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!

TIP TOP BARBER SHOP

105 Church St. Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop Open 6 Days a Week

Highland Flings

by Will Mitchell

(We've had a number of requests for some sort of article about the why's and wherefores of wrestling for those who are new to the sport and have relinquished the typewriter this week to 137-pounder, Will Mitchell.)

When you attend a wrestling match, you see eighteen men engage in a hand to hand combat which has its own peculiar rules, the primary of which is, paradoxically, the prevention of injury to each other. Yet at this point you are witnessing only the culmination of a preparation process which has stretched back for months. Before a man takes to the mat to test his ability to control a foe, he must first learn to control himself. Self-discipline is the key word in the wrestler's world.

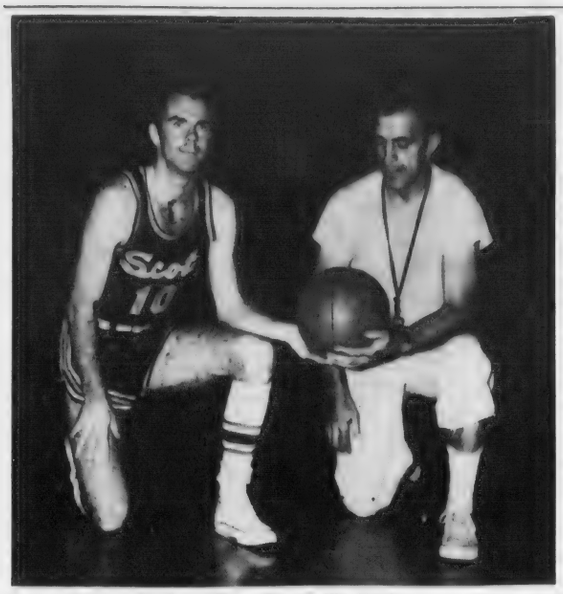
One of the most important areas of discipline faced by the wrestler throughout the season (which stretches for four and a half long months) is his appointment with the remorseless scales every day of a meet. The only common denominator that he is guaranteed with his opponent is that they will both be the same weight some time on match day. Not only must he make the weight in which he can wrestle successfully (there are many fiendish devices for this purpose), but he must also condition himself so that he will have the physical stamina to exert his peak efforts for nine minutes. Wrestling is not basically a sport of strength but is a test of skill: the successful wrestler is the one who knows how to use his opponent's strength while conserving his own. Balance, coordination, and knowledge more than offset physical strength.

Weight Classifications

The varsity match consists of bouts in nine of ten weight classes: 123, 130, 137, 147, 157, 167, 177, 191, and unlimited. The team score is computed on the basis of the outcomes, with the team scoring five points for a fall or forfeit, three points for a decision, and two for a draw. The match is won by the team with the most points and the running match score is kept at the scorer's table.

Each bout consists of 3 three minute periods. The first period commences with both wrestlers standing, and in the subsequent two they alternate the position of advantage in the referee's position. The decision as to who will have the first choice is made before the match, with a team getting the choice on either the odd or even bouts. In the first period the wrestlers try for a "take-down," which consists of driving or pulling the opponent to the mat and obtaining control of him. The decision of whether or not control has been made is made by the referee, at which time he awards the controlling wrestler two points. Take-downs can only be scored from a standing position and all subsequent to the first score only one point. Once in control the top wrestler tries to break the opponent down flat to the mat and secure a pin or fall. If he can turn his opponent's shoulders to the mat in a position that threatens a pin, he receives two points for a "predicament." If he can hold one shoulder to the mat and force the other one within inches of the mat, or hold both of them to the mat momentarily, he receives three points for a "near fall." If he can secure control and force both shoulders to the mat for one second, he has scored a "fall, and receives five points. A fall ends the bout.

Defensive Maneuvers



The downed or bottom wrestler, in the meantime, is trying to escape and reverse positions. If he can free himself and return to a neutral (standing) position, he has "reversed," and scores two points. Points are also awarded to the offended wrestler when he is subjected to an illegal hold (one point), roughness (one point), or when his opponent continues to stall after being warned (one point). A wrestler is disqualified after three such violations.

The bout scores are kept on the clock with the bout time. If a tie occurs at the end of a bout, it may be broken by riding time, which is the time which each wrestler has spent in control or "on top." This is kept at the scorer's table and is applicable only if there is a tie and one of the wrestlers has ridden for a minute or more longer than his opponent.

Lots of Action

Most of the action which takes place on the mat does not involve scoring; rather, it consists of attempts by the wrestlers to improve their respective positions and to prevent (counter) the moves of their opponent. When two wrestlers are evenly matched, the scoring will usually be low, for counter follows move with such rapidity that clear control is not easily gained or lost. When a wrestler is seemingly flailing around the mat, he is actually attempting to break his opponent's balance so that he can initiate a serious of moves which he hopes will accomplish a reversal. Correspondingly, the top man has to work to counter all such moves and attempt to break the balance of the bottom man so that he can initiate a pinning combination. The problem faced by the wrestler consists of recognizing the move and having the knowledge and ability to apply the correct counter effectively. This problem is overcome only by familiarity and the development of proper reactions is a product of years of training.

Wrestling is not an easy sport either in which to participate or to watch, but to the initiate it offers the beauty of a trained mind and body in purposeful action. It is a fiercely competitive sport in which the individual can take only his own resources and desire out on the mat to face his opponent. It appeals to the basic animal nature of a man to prove himself in combat with his fellow. There is a very satisfying feeling of personal accomplishment when he walks off the mat after proving himself superior—magnificently so if one has succeeded in pinning a peer. This is a high point in a wrestler's world.

Basketball Coach Baird and Team Captain Kip Martin.
Photo by Duncan Bennett

Wrestling Review

by Will Mitchell

Maryville wrestlers split a pair of matches recently with the Knoxville Y and will seek a split against Chattanooga tonight.

Night of Horrors

On what was otherwise a night of horrors, Maryville defeated the Knoxville YMCA 23-15 last December 14. Roy Ries and Gary Hall started the Scots off well with two pins and Dale Hudler, wrestling 137, barely missed continuing the trend when he decisioned his opponent. Don Shields made the Scots 12-0 leaders when he contributed his second pin of the season. The Y struck back by pinning Bill DeWeese and Van Pallis. Then tragedy struck for the third time that night. Earlier in exhibition, Hugh McCampbell's opponent broke his arm at the elbow. As a result of a pinning combination he was subjected to, Pallis had suffered a rolled rib. Now Fred Willocks, on the verge of obtaining his first season win, fell out of bounds and sustained a fractured vertebra in his neck. Fred is now out of the hospital and is improving rapidly. Joe Kucinski then won the final bout by forfeit. Coach Davis commented that it was the worst series of accidents he had seen in twenty years of wrestling.

Return Match

It was a different story when the Scots returned from Christmas vacation and took on the Y the next day. Ries and Hall again won, but this time by decision. Dale Hudler got pinned but Don Shields evened that. But there was no one to even the rest of the bouts. Bill DeWeese was pinned, John Ross, wrestling for the still injured Van Pallis, was decisioned at 167, Joe Kucinski was decisioned at 177, and Jim Pryor was pinned at heavyweight. The final score of the match in which Maryville was clearly outgunned: 21-11.

Bad Day at Chattanooga

The Scots were back in shape when they went down to Chattanooga last Saturday night but the Mocs showed too much strength. Charles Hucknell was decisioned at 123 but Gary Hall evened the score. Maryville then lost four straight bouts as Will Mitchell was pinned at 137, Don Shields was decisioned, Bill DeWeese was pinned, and Van Pallis was decisioned. Joe Kucinski, trimmed down to 177, garnered the only other Scot score by decisioning his opponent. John Chaki was pinned at 191 and Jim Pryor suffered the same fate at heavy. The final tally was a dismal 29-6. The Scots suffered from inexperience (three of the varsity were wrestling for the first or second time), from underconfidence (Chattanooga, in addition to its other fine personnel, has two SEC champions), and from a lack of drive that allowed some very close bouts to become defeats.

Try Again Tonight

Tonight some of those factors will be negated. More experienced personnel will be back in the line-up and much of the confidence will be regained because the boys who were beaten last week will be more prepared. Most important, spirit on the squad is good and there is always that incentive to make a special effort before the home crowd. It will be an exciting match.

For Cards For All Occasions,
Cosmetics, Prescriptions
and Reliable Service
Visit
Byrne Drug Company
120 E. Broadway 982-1461

WINTER SPORTS
Cont'd. from Page 3, Col. 1

In addition, entire families are drawn together by independent studies. One teacher couldn't explain the suggestions scribbled in the margins of a student's rough draft—since his wife had written them. The student, in the true spirit of friendship, simply had his girl friend write the rest of his study. Today, the wife and the girl are close friends. It gives real meaning to the educational experience to realize that faculty wives are interested enough to criticize and make suggestions about your independent research.

Another positive factor is that special studies, like the spring rains, keeps Maryville green. Roughly 100 seniors pay from .25 to .30 a page every year. And most studies run around 100 pages. Figure it out—this amounts to about $3,000 a year, a tidy $12,000 in four years, a single college generation. On top of that, throw in a cool $100 spent for those binders, several hundred more for ribbons, erasers, and bribes, and somebody's making some money. Who? Nobody's quite sure—but an investigation would make Billie Sol Estes look like a piker. They'll sell TVA before they give up Special Studies.

And even if the faculty would drop the program, the students wouldn't. There's a certain snob appeal about the whole thing. Whenever you're questioned about your topic, just put a finger to your lips, shake you head indulgently, and whisper: "Shhh—my area of independent research." Then smile and hurry away, as if you'd like to say more but the CIA won't let you. You'll be the life of the party.

But personally, if I ever see another black binder, I'll take that 90-foot ski jump every time—blindfolded.

NOTICE TO STUDENTS:
Second Semester Fees May Be Paid As Follows:

Friday, January 24:
8:30-12:00; 1:30-4:30

Monday, January 27:
8:30-12:00; 1:30-4:30

Tuesday, January 28:
8:30-12:00; 1:30-4:30

Please arrange to pay your fees during these hours.

WGAP
CAMPUS MIKE
Voice of Maryville College
Sunday Evening
9:30-10:00

CAPITOL THEATRE

SUN.—MON.—TUES.—WED. Jan 19—22

JILL ST. JOHN · RAY WALSTON · JOHN McGIVER · AGNES MOOREHEAD · TECHNICOLOR®

THURS.—FRIDAY, January 23—24

JANET LEIGH · VAN JOHNSON · SHELLEY WINTERS · MARTHA HYER

You can't tell them apart without a scorecard!!

CO-STARRING RAY WALSTON · JEREMY SLATE · Directed by JOHN RICH · Screenplay by EDWARD ANHALT
A PARAMOUNT RELEASE

SATURDAY, Jan. 25
Also —SHOOT, OUT BIG SAG

CAMERON MITCHELL · ALICE AND ELLEN THE KESSLER TWINS
DIRECTED BY MARIO BAVA · A GALATEA-LYRE-CRITERION PRODUCTION · COLORSCOPE

SUNDAY—FRIDAY, January 26—31

Yum's the word...
WELCOME TO THE SIN-BIN!

Jack's A Landlord With The Prettiest Tenants In Town...And He's Got A Pass-key To All That Fun!

COLUMBIA PICTURES presents Jack Lemmon under the yum yum tree
IN YUMMY COLOR

co-starring
Carol Lynley
Dean Jones
Edie Adams
Imogene Coca
Paul Lynde · Robert Lansing AND THE YUM-YUM GIRLS

Screenplay by LAWRENCE ROMAN and DAVID SWIFT · Based on the stage play by LAWRENCE ROMAN Produced on Broadway by FREDERICK BRISSON and ROGER L. STEVENS / Directed by DAVID SWIFT · Produced by FREDERICK BRISSON

APPALACHIAN ODYSSEY
Cont'd. from Page 2, Col. 3

M chocolate covered peanuts and I got a Planter's Peanut Bar and a Tom's Peanut Log.

* * * * * *

Out of the mother forest and under the open sky we wound our way, walking in the green quilt of hills. Max Patch Road, a rural path linking pasture fence with pasture fence, gently coaxed the dusty travellers on.

A busy, brown grouse scampered across the road with his head lowered so that we wouldn't see him.

A pickup truck that was born with manure in the grill came rumpity bump bump by. It mumbled a passing acknowledgment, its sun-stained driver nodded, and two shawls with silk sc.rves waved from their perches in the back of the chug-a-long Ford. My charming hay-bred ladies were out for their Sunday drive down old Max Patch.

An earthen man with a bucket of milk on one arm and a barefoot girl in the other didn't think it would rain. It didn't, and he moved on.

To our right in the shallow valley between ridges, shirts and socks waved at us from the porch of a whitewashed wooden shack.

Two mutts loped by, their ears flopping out of control. A boy and his wagon made secret plans in the lengthening shadow of an abandoned car.

The miles seem longer at the end of the day.

Walnut Mountain begged us pause on its pine studded crown. It cried for company. But we had to be moving on, twisting down its side to a shelter where we gathered wood and began supper and worked at other humble things.

Behind us it ached, the mountain ached for a traveler to talk with. I could not refuse its call. Leaving Billy I summoned my faithful feet to one, just one more quarter mile.

From the field at the mountain's crest I could see in every direction. Below me a fleecy haze came tip-toeing up the valley tucking the meadows in bed. Night lights from some distant city blinked on now and then, and a sigh from the sleepy world below scurried among the weeds and was gone.

The vastness of my thoughts could not encompass the expanse of being that surrounded me. My insignificance in this confrontation with nature caused me to question life itself. How can one live in a world he cannot call his own or be a passing stranger in this favored place?

"Oh, to live forever!"

"Pardon me?" whispered the mountain.

Ashamed, I dropped my head.

"Look up," breathed the mountain, "look up, look up."

A spray of brilliant red was lighting the world before me. Yellow shafts made slivers of the blue sky. Puffy white clouds turned gray and pink and gold—their centers slowly charring black. Wisps of vapor turned to pink steam and vanished. A battle of fire flared up as all of nature turned to watch in wonder. Sky was consumed in silent agony as the sun tore into its side with merciless molten fingers.

One by one the cautious stars peeped from their velvet hiding place in heaven to stare at the spectacle that was dying in its birth.

The hungry flames had already consumed the day when my unconsciousness snapped into thought. By then a glow of heat was all that framed the contour of a distant range.

For a short time it lingered then in one brief flicker was gone.

Eternity is an instant.

The night took up its vigil.

SULLIVAN and PUDGY by Deanna Sturgell

Arts and sciences are not cast in a mould, but are formed and perfected by degrees, by often handling and polishing.

—Montaigne

College Students
Faculty Members
College Libraries

SUBSCRIBE NOW AT HALF PRICE

Printed In BOSTON LOS ANGELES LONDON

Clip this advertisement and return it with your check or money order to:
The Christian Science Monitor
One Norway St., Boston 15, Mass.

☐ 1 YEAR $11 ☐ 6 mos. $5.50
☐ COLLEGE STUDENT
☐ FACULTY MEMBER
P-CN

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

Office Supplies? We got 'em . . .
Office Equipment? Likewise . . .
Office Machines? our middle name
Service? on all we sell (with a smile)
Delivery? Fastest and best . . .
Parking? Free, 10 feet from the door.

White Office Machines
"WON'T WRITE — CALL WHITE"

THE BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES
★ SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
★ CHECK ACCOUNTS
★ CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
★ TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

McBRAYER SHOE SHOP
QUALITY SHOE REPAIR WORK
Open 6 Days a Week

Martin's DRUG STORE
401 S. Washington St. Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.

Offering Maryville College Students
a complete line of cosmetics,
plus
a reliable prescription service
Located just off campus on Washington St.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products
Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses

DIXIE SUPER MARKET
WASHINGTON AVENUE

Proffitt's
Midland Shopping Center

Pre-Inventory Reductions

Men's and Young men's Items Reduced

Sport Coats
Suits
Sport Shirts
Pajamas
Other Items
Slacks
Sweaters
Socks
Jackets

Shop Proffitt's for excellent values during their Pre-Inventory Sales

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 49 | Maryville, Tennessee, February 15, 1964 | No. 8

Poll Shows Most Students Prefer Aug.-May Calendar

A recent issue of vital concern to the Maryville College campus has shown itself in the change of schedule for the 1964-1965 school year. When the current college catalogue was distributed last year, the announcement was made that the calendar had been moved up to begin August 25, 1964, so as to have the break between semesters during Christmas vacation and school closing in mid-May. However, the Executive Council has reversed its previous decision in favor of retaining the present September-to-June system.

In an attempt to clarify the basic reason for both changes, Dean McClelland was interviewed by a member of the Highland Echo staff. He stated the following three considerations studied to determine the correct procedure:

1. The reaction of alumni and prospective students.
2. The importance to future development of the college.
3. And the achievement of an academically sound schedule.

Numerous alumni throughout the country have expressed dissatisfaction with the plan to begin in August. In addition, incoming freshmen have protested the short vacation after high school graduation, lack of opportunity for summer employment, and the difference between the August starting date and that of most other colleges and universities.

Cont. Page 6, Col. 1

MC Offers Month's European Tour To College Family

The Maryville College Development Office is organizing a special European vacation this summer for Maryville College students, faculty, and alumni. The tour is being offered for $799 per person, which includes transportation, hotels, meals and sightseeing.

The group will leave New York City by jet June 8, and will arrive in Amsterdam, Holland, the next day.

Travel on the continent will be by car and train. Members of the group will fly from Paris to London, where they will spend three days and then fly to Scotland. After a day in Scotland, they will depart from Edinburgh for New York on June 30.

Anyone interested in the tour is asked to have a $100 deposit in at the Development Office by March 10, and the balance by April 9. A passport and smallpox vaccination certificate are the only required documents.

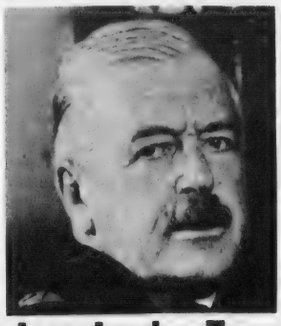
Council Considers Rules on Drinking

Currently being considered by the Executive Council of Maryville College is an alteration in the Student Handbook which would relax restrictions on off-campus drinking for students.

The proposal began in a special Student Council commitee on student responsibility. This committee drew up a resolution for the change in the rule in the handbook on page five, as follows:

"Students will at all times comply with the state and local ordinances concerning alcoholic beverages. The possession or use of alcohlic beverages on campus, or at any off-campus, college-sponsored activity, is prohibited. At all times, students will exhibit conduct becoming to one at a Christian college."

After having been taken to Student- Faculty Senate on January 16, a motion was passed without dissent to "approve and submit" the proposal to the College Executive Council.



On February 6 the Executive Council took up the measure and created a committee composed of students and faculty members to further study the proposal. This committee has the power to approve, amend, or reject the measure. It will report its findings to the Executive Council for final action.

COLLEGE HIRES NEW TEACHER, STORE AIDE

Maryville College this semester has two new additions to the faculty and staff.

The newest member of the English department is Mr. David G. Hoch. Mr. Hoch, originally from Pennsylvania, received his B.A. from Washington and Jefferson College and his M.A. from the University of Florida. Mr. Hoch's wife, Julia, after studying at the University of Florida, is now taking additional courses at M.C.

Mrs. Ernestine Teffeteller is the new assistant in the Book Store. Mrs. Teffeteller, a graduate of Everett High School and a resident of Maryville, has two children, Kathy and Kim.

Iona Leader To Lecture Feb. 28

The very Reverend George F. MacLeod, founder and leader of Iona Community in Scotland. will be at Marville College on Friday, February 28, as a Danforth Visiting Lecturer. The lecture will be given in the Music Hall of the Fine Arts Center at 8 p.m.

Dr. MacLeod was educated at Winchester, Oxford, Edinburgh, and Glasgrow Universities and was first Fosdick Professor at Union Seminary in New York in 1954-55. He has been a missionary in the British Columbia lumber camps and a minister in Edinburgh and Glasgow.

Dr. MacLeod holds many honors. He was the first Presbyterian to preach in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, since the eighteenth century and was chaplain to Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth.

Since 1938 Dr. MacLeod has been leader of the Iona Community, a Presbyterian brotherhood of ministers and craftsmen which has undertaken the restoration of the ruined Abbey at Iona, founded by St. Columba on the West Scottish island in the sixth century. The island is regarded as the cradle of Scotland's Christianity, and is used for conferences and retreats.

A burial ground attached to the Abbey contains the graves of 50 Scottish kings, among them Macbeth, villain of Shakespeare's tragedy.

Dr. MacLeod will arrive in Maryville February 26 and will meet with two classes before the lecture Friday. The public lecture will be illustrated with a film in color, "The Iona Community."

February Meetings To Begin Thursday a. m.

This year's February Meetings at Maryville College, to be held February 20-26, will be led by Dr. Lewis Briner and Dr. K. Arnold Nakajima, as reported in the January 18 issue of The Echo. Four counselors who will hold dormitory and individual meetings are the Rev. Ed Payne Miller, associate pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Decatur, Ala.; the Rev. Dale Watson, associate pastor of New Providence Presbyterian Church, Maryville; the Rev. David T. Mair, pastor of Highland Presbyterian Church, Maryville; and Mrs. Forrest Orr, Greeneville, Tenn.

Dr. Briner will open the meetings, conducting the meetings Thursday through Saturday mornings, by presenting his ideas about "Man in the 1960's." Dr. Nakajima will speak at the meetings Monday through Wednesday mornings about "What Man Can Do in the 1960's.

This year, under Dr. Campbell's guidance, three evening programs have been set up to meet the present needs of the Maryville campus. On Thursday evening Dr. Briner will give a short talk on his concept of how to develop a sound campus morality. After a short discussion by the panel of counselors, the meeting will be devoted to discussion with students and faculty. The questions of social drinking, man and woman relationships, and cheating will be some of the subjects. There will be an effort to approach these with realistic attitudes.

Friday evening discussion will continue along the same lines. On Monday evening, Dr. Nakajima will give his views on these issues. For the final evening meeting, on Tuesday, a communion service will be held.

Circle K Collects Stamps For Asians

Circle K, terminating another successful semester in its program of campus and community service, is sponsoring a campus-wide stamp drive.

This project, scheduled for completion by mid-February, has met with favorable student response and numerous inquiries have been received about the nature of the project.

The project is being conducted through the channels of the Church World Service Department of the National Council of Churches. The stamps collected on campus will be sorted and processed by club members and then sent to a central agency which acts as a clearing-house. This agency in turn sells the stamps to stamp dealers, and the proceeds are donated to a foundation which uses the funds to purchase surplus foods for needy Asian children.

Commemorative and foreign stamps are more valuable, and all are acceptable and usable in the program. An idea of the relative worth of cancelled stamps which so many of us throw out daily can be gained from the fact that 100 ordinary special issue or commemorative stamps will provide 1500 cups of milk or 75 pounds of food.

Directors' Goal For Jan.-June - $920,000

The Directors of Maryville College, having initiated the Sesquicentennial Development Program in 1960, have set the goal of $920,000 to be reached between January and June, 1964. In order to realize this goal, which constitutes phase two of the long-range program, alumni meetings have been held in cities throughout the United States. A minimum of 22 campaign organizations have been set up where meetings were held with the hope of expanding the number to 42.

The following projects are included in the development program:

- $625.000 to construct a new science building for chemistry and physics.
- $70,000 to complete a fund for rehabilitation of Fayerweather hall.
- $175.000 to reduce the debt on Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel-Theater.
- $50.000 in current funds to replace the 1963-64 Alumni Fund and Maryville College Day Programs, and to provide for increased salaries and scholarships.

Following the Development Fund campaign of early 1964. efforts will continue to complete the Sesquicentennial Development Program including the following projects: Student Center, Women's Residence, Men's Residence, Maintenance Building. and North Entrance. The program is scheduled for completion in 1969, when the 150th anniversary of the college's founding will be celebrated.

Alumni To Publish "This Man's Art"

This Man's Art, a volume of 50 poems by Dr. Edwin R. Hunter, will be published this spring. The poems will be about impressions and experiences in Dr. Hunter's years at Maryville.

The original plan for the printing of these poems was formulated by two Maryville College graduates, Dr. John H. Fisher, Executive Secretary of the Modern Language Association. and Dr. Delbert L. Earisman. Professor of English at Upsala College. Writing an appraisal of Dr. Hunter's works, they conclude, "The poems form a remarkable record of poetry from 1911 to the present. Dr. Hunter has recorded campus scenes. historical events, and his own literary enthusiasms in a highly individual poetic idiom. His rich sense of humor and warm humanity pervade his poems . . ."

With the aid of 34 other supporting alumni, Dr. Fisher and Dr. Earisman have arranged for a limited edition of the poems to be printed. At present approximately 275 copies have been sold; and they may still be purchased for $5 by all those who are interested, though the date for publication and closing of sales will be set soon. Arrangements and selling of the poetry volumes at Maryville College are being handled by Mr. Raymond I. Brahams through the Development Office.

The poet has been at Maryville since his student days began in 1911. He graduated 50 years ago with the class of 1914 and returned to become an English instructor in 1918 after receiving his M.A. degree at the University of Chicago. He received his Ph.D. in 1925 from the same university, and Maryville College also awarded him an Honorary Litt.D. in 1944.

Some of the positions Dr. Hunter has held at Maryville include Chairman of the Department of Languages and Literature, Chairman of the Department of English, Chairman of the Committee on Independent Studies, and Dean of Curriculum. Since 1960 he has served as Professor of English in a part-time capacity, and he is presently teaching a course in Shakespere and serving as an Independent Studies advisor.

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor-in-Chief
CHARLOTTA COOK

News Editor — ELENORA EASTERLY
Feature Editor — MARY JANOVICH
Sports Editors — GINNA COON and DAVID KING
Copy Editor — SANDRA SCOFIELD
Art Editor — DEANNA STURGELL
Exchange Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Business Editor — GORDON STEWART
Circulation Manager — JUDY SIVER

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Duncan Bennett, Sandy Briggs, Carole Brownlee, Chris Carlisle, Sandy Chittick, Florence Corbett, Mary Dilkes, Sandy Haggart, Jane Hickey, Carolyn Huff. Lois Huffines, Sara Humphries, Phil Jerome, Karen Keen, Dave King, Dave Marston, Paul Millin, Will Mitchell, David Powell, Sandy Scofield, Judy Siver

Faculty Advisor — DR. CAROLYN BLAIR
Editorial Advisor — MR. DUNCAN BENNETT
Financial Advisor — MR. FRANK LAYMAN

her mark

There exists on this campus a problem which, regardless of administrative unawareness, or attempts to dismiss it as a typically-student attitude, is considered quite seriously by students as being of major concern. This problem is that we do not feel that we possess any effective means of expressing ourselves to the power that be. That is, there is considerable confusion about exactly what position the student occupies on this campus (other than our primary purpose of obtaining an "education").

For example, the position and function of the Student-Faculty Senate is now in question. The Senate is, ideally, designed to receive items of special campus concern from either the Student Council or the Executive Council. These areas of concern are to be discussed, and some mutual understanding is to be reached before referring the suggestions to either council for final action.

The existence of this body would imply that there are areas of interest which should be worked out mutually. But how long has it been since the Executive Council has referred some matter of campus concern to the Senate? And again, when a proposal has once been approved by the Senate, why must it again be considered by another student-faculty committee? Is the problem here that students misunderstand the function of the Senate?

Another area of concern in student thinking is that we are somewhat confused about that word so often tossed at us — responsibility. We seem to believe that in presenting suggestions we must have considered all implications involved, be able to support our proposals with informative background material, and be aware of other points of view. In this way (something like the systematic discourse system), we are able to present an intelligent representation of our thinking.

Again—perhaps we are mistaken in expecting our minds to be respected outside of the classroom. But it must be pointed out here that confusion concerning "responsibility" exists elsewhere, for we note that it isn't the student body who lacks the quorum in the Student-Faculty Senate meetings.

The administration must be unaware that communication is of so much concern to the student body. If this is the case, perhaps we should be more active in revealing our support of proposals initiated by the Student Council. If, however, there is awareness of the problem, perhaps some definite action should be taken by the administration to clear up the confusion.

Men are most apt to believe what they least understand.
—Montaigne

There are some defeats more triumphant that victories.
—Montaigne

International I

by Chris Carlisle

In 1863, the Gold Coast was British. Today it is called Ghana and it is but seven years old. Its basic problem on the international scene coincides with most of the new countries of Africa—no money. Certain debts must be taken care of in the very near future. The Nkrumah one-man regime is unable to meet these demands and has therefore turned to a policy of buck passing. The United States is now under harrassment, indirectly being labeled the cause of the poor economic situation.

Last week, the government sent out a sound-truck to get the public stirred up against the U. S. Crowds marched on our embassy in Accra and brought down our flag. Negroid Emerson Player of the United States went out and put the flag back up. Luckily, Ghanian troops arrived and encircled the flag to prevent further riot. Troops also prevented a storming of the embassy proper.

The question of who is actually to blame comes to mind. The newspapers, for instance, have been battling the U. S. with "Ghana yes, Yankees no. Yankees go home." In actuality, however, the papers were all taken over by the government in October of 1962. This leaves little question in our minds. Evidentally, the government wants the people to hate the U. S.; however, the officials are to maintain good relations. This latter segment of their idea is to keep U. S. money invested there, so that the economy will eventually work itself out. The one haven from debt is the pr posed Volta River hydroelectric project and its resultant aluminum and other industries, presently U. S. sponsored.

Recently, G. Mennen Williams, Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs, protested to Ghana's foreign minister for the actions in Accra. Our ambassador was then called home for "consultation." These actions and several highly suggestive notes sent to Nkrumah have been the diplomatic way for the U. S. to approach the situation. Africa is a very touchy continent and our proceedings in this matter could quite likely make or break our ties with this major untapped world resource. If the Communists get a strong foothold there, our expectations of continued world leadership will vanish. It is truly amazing to realize a country of just seven million could make or break us.

APPALACHIAN ODYSSEY

by Dave Powell

Hot Springs

He stood tall because he was proud and because his Lee's overalls had baked hard in the Carolina sun. His wife stood nearby holding something in her apron. The swayback and the dog sniffed smell-signals from one another.

"Hot Springs? Hit ain't but mebbe hait mile." And he spit with such force that a litttle puff of clay dust hopped with surprise. Tobacco juice settled permanently in the corners of his mouth.

Off we went, climbing over or sliding under a total of eight fences.

Lunch came on strong—three saltines, cheese, spam, six raw Vienna sausages, one package of dry apple Jello and an orange vitamin.

Hot Springs was visible an hour before we reached it—warm and busy in the lumpy French Broad River valley. A sawmill buzzed out the message that two strangers were arriving. Ant-like automobiles scurried up and down the one or two main lanes. Our trip down the mountain side was an inspired display of craftmanship speed-hiking.

At the Alpine Diner two cute waitresses were peeling paper placemats. The jukebox blared an unmitigated misrepresentation of feasibility. Pimply-faced junior high schoolers the country over sway soft-boned hips to the preposterous lyrics "Twenty miles from my house to yours twenty miles and I walk it every day." That's twenty miles out and twenty back for a total of forty miles. It's a slim Chubby Checker that could walk it everyday.

We ate a bit then stomped across the street to buy some lime Fizzies and a jar of honey. While Billy swam in a motel pool, I stuffed our packs and changed into some moccasins.

Josie sat down to talk. Her parents owned an Old Country Store, and Josie was "left alone to run it."

Sure, kid.

Her ten year old sister Margaret came, and they took off on a spotted horse. Unless I was dreaming.

Billy and I bought a quart of orange juice apiece and walked across a bridge to the edge of town looking for the National Forest Service campground.

An old guy gave us a ride in the back of his truck a few hundred feet in the wrong direction.

The Silver Mine campsite was just off the main highway and across a creek. We pitched camp and headed back to town to call home and to exchange our fermented orange juice.

At Josie's store I played Margaret a game of checkers — and lost.

We talked to two policemen who sat in their squad car. They told us the story of a pet bear that was up in the mountains and the tale of the un-pet bear that chased two boys up a firetower.

We learned that copperheads do not smell like cucumbers—timber rattlers do. Needless to say, I smelled tons of cucumbers along the trail ever after that.

Josie invited us to her cottage "for a beer," so we went up and watched her drink it. She told us of a wreck that happened in town awhile back between a tractor trailer full of jelly and a freight train. "Everybody in town had a case or two of Delited jelly before the day was over."

The Negro driver was shaken up a bit but was unhurt. What really frightened him was the scramble for the jelly jars. With bulging eyes he told a nearby cop, "If they thought it was jelly what was in my pants, I'd be tore to shreds."

Josie and a friend drove us back to the dirt road leading to camp. We thanked them, assured them we were happy and waved good-bye. 'Suddenly there was nuttin.' No stars, no moonlight. no street lights.

We stumbled down the grassy path to the sound of the creek. a creek that in daylight was just about manageable.

Well I lit three matches and each of them fizzed. There we stood.

Billy puffed calmly at his cigar.

Friendship-two guys in a predicament and who cares?

"Want some gum, Dave?"

So we lit the gum wrappers on Billy's cigar and juggled our orange juice across the rocks to the glow of Spearmint.

By morning, Billy had rolled out of our makeshift tent and had knocked it quite flat.

That boy Billy is quite a character.

Martin's DRUG STORE
401 S. Washington St. Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.

Offering Maryville College Students
a complete line of cosmetics,
plus
a reliable prescription service
Located just off campus on Washington St.

U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

WAYNE SIMMONS

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!
TIP TOP BARBER SHOP
105 Church St. Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop Open 6 Days a Week

Library Adds New Books For "New Experience"

The current theme of the Lamar Memorial Library is, "It only takes 15 minutes each day to start a new reading experience." The purpose of the library is to have on display and within easy reach of the student a selection of new books from a variety of fields.

The library is constantly adding new books to its shelves.

The Idexicon, a reference book concerning not only the authors and writings of the Harvard Classics, but also their ideas, is one of the many new books added to the library during the period of January 25 — January 31.

Of the science books introduced, one concerns the genetic efforts of radiation and another the machinery of the brain.

An interesting book has been brought in the field of fiction in the novel Bread and Wine by Ignazio Solone, an Italian author. New biographies include Dorothy and Red, the story of Dorothy Thompson and Sinclair Lewis, and Dag Hammarskjold, Servant of Peace, edited and with an introduction by Wilder Foote.

An unusual book of historical interest is the collection entitled Presidents Speak, which contains the inauguration speeches of the presidents of the United States from President Washington to President Kennedy. Of special interest are the Russian books added in the librar. Included is a Russian dictionary which gives the English word, the Russian word, and a picture of the word. Russian opera librettos have also been included, as well as a novel by Sholokhov, Quiet Flows the Don.

Heriosm is the brilliant triumph of the soul over the flesh, that is to say over fear;: fear of proverty, of suffering, of calumny, of illness, of loneliness and of death. There is no real piety without heroism. It is the glorious concentration of courage. —Amiel

SEEN . . .

. . . AND HEARD

I wish Mr. Ainsworth would get a Beatle haircut . . . That's okay, I have two sisters . . . Security is an umbrella . . . Malnutrition is so bad here that we're going to have to request CARE package from the starving people in Asia . . . Dear Heavenly Father . . . hic . . . When I went to school here I didn't go down town alone at night because I was afraid I'd get points. Now I don't because I'm afraid I'll be attacked . . . Real people doing real things . . . It doesn't say refreshment from a bottle . . . They don't smoke. don't drink, don't dance and they look clean in public, but then you could say that about a telephone poll.

SCOREBOARD

by Dave Marston

In the spring, a young man's fancy turns lightly to thoughts of drinking, cars and vacations. At least that's how it would appear by the Student Council agenda for the coming spring months. Actually, of course, these items are not new this spring—and it's a safe bet that when warm weather finally arrives, the fancies of many young men will turn elsewhere.

Nevertheless, Student Council will continue its work in these areas, and with your support, perhaps progress can be made. At present, the status of the three topics mentioned above may be summarized:

DRINKING: Probably the tactful designation for this topic would have been "Alcoholic Beverages." At any rate, Student Council and Student-Faculty Senate have both approved a proposal which would modify the present rule on drinking, and a Student-Faculty Committee is currently considering the question. The decision of the committee will then be referred to the Executive Council of the faculty.

CARS: A student-faculty committee, formed last spring after the Student Council report to Senate on automobiles on campus, is currently studying this topic. This committee will submit a report to the Student-Faculty Senate.

VACATIONS: Reaction in Student Council has indicated the most recent change in the college calendar is opposed by a majority of students. Student Council. having become familiar with student sentiment on this topic at the time of the first change, felt they should have been consulted before the second one. Although it has said that the present calendar cannot be changed, and very likely it won't be, the same thing was said at the time of the original change in October. Students are encouraged to voice their opinions on this topic.

These topics, then, are under consideration. Maybe all of them will be acted upon this spring—maybe none will. The decision rests, in large part, with you, the student body. Students opposing measures are generally vocal in their opposition—it is time students supporting these measures became equally vocal in their support. Talk to a faculty member or administrator, write a letter to the Echo, come to Student Council—for student governmentcannot be effective without student support.

For Cards For All Occasions, Cosmetics, Prescriptions and Reliable Service Visit

Byrne Drug Company

120 E. Broadway 982-1461

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

For School and Office Supplies,

Excellent Service

and

Fast Delivery

White Office Machines

"Won't Write – Call White"

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

WASHINGTON AVENUE

Scot Matmen Drop Two Tough Matches

by Will Mitchell

Chattanooga handed the Scots their fourth defeat of the season by a 24-13 margin back on January 18. Chuck Hucknell was decisioned, Gary Hall evened the match, and then a pin by Will Mitchell put the Scots in the lead. Chattanooga came back by decisioning Adam Deveny, who was wrestling at 147 pounds in place of injured Don Shields, and then pinned Van Pallis in what was easil the most exciting bout of the match. Chattanooga continued their scoring b decisioning John Chaki before dropping another five points to captain Joe Kucinski. Wane Fre, wrestling varsity 191 for the first time, was pinned, as was Jim Pryor at heavyweight.

Carson-Newman Squeaks By

The Scots had hopes of avenging an earlier 16-16 draw when Carson-Newman came to Maryville the next Saturday but the match ended in a disappointing 15-14 defeat. Roy Ries and Gary Hall decisioned their opponents and Will Mitchell contributed his third consecutive home match pin to make the score 11-0. Gene Dixon, a two-year letterman now eligible again, was decisioned at 147 pounds, and Van Pallis lost a squeaker by riding time. John Chaki was pinned, making the score 11-10 because of a penalty against Carson-Newman during the 147 pound match. Joe Kucinski made it 14-10 but Jim Pryor couldn't break into the win column and went down in a first period pin to end the match. Maryville looked strong in the exhibition bouts where Chuck Hucknell, Dale Hudler, and Ray Palyok all pinned their men. Gordon Higgins found himself outclassed at 157, but Al Williams held out for a decision at 167.

Before the semester break Maryville beat Milligan College by an 18-12 margin, although they split the bouts 4-4.

Two participants in the W. A. A. Basketball Tournament GO GIRLS!!

Socks & Sneakers

by Ginna Coon

The day of the inter-collegiate swimming meet is finally here!! Last night was the diving competition. Terry Brusstar and Phyllis Deloteus participated for Maryville. The other schools that are participating in the meet are Carson-Newman, Virginia Intermont and East Tennessee State University. Today's meet will include these swimming events: 50 and 100 yard front crawl, 50 yard back crawl, 750 yard butterfly, 50 yard breast stroke, 75 yard individual medley, medley relay and the free style relay. The swimmers participating for Maryville are Terry Brusstar, Kathy Burgess, Diane Dawley, Jan Dearcopp, Phyllis Deloteus. Shirley Jones, Kathy Kisler, Jean Peech, Lee Rosser, Ann Ruckelhaus and Nancy White.

The meet begins this morning at 9:00. Everyone is welcome.

With the beginning of a new semester let us take time to sum up the activities of WAA for the first semester. We began with volleyball, which was won by Theta. Chi Beta came back by winning the second sport, field hockey. The last complete sport was fencing which was won by Jan Dearcopp, an independent. At the end of last semester, basketball practice started and it is continuing into this semester. The field is still wide open for either society to win the trophy.

Highland Flings

by Dave King

This has been a rough, cold winter for the varsity athletics here at the U. of Maryville. Our wrestling team, although they've dropped a couple of matches they deserved to win, are preparing for the upcoming SEC meet with a fair amount of confidence, but our poor old basketball Scots have really had to struggle to even dent the win column. This is hard to understand after all the pre-season reports seemed so hopeful, and it is hard to accept after our 8-1 football season when we fielded one of the finer small college football teams.

It is understandable, then, that the achievements of other area teams have replaced the local athletic wars as the center of interest in the sports world. The strongly pro-sports Southeastern Conference has produced some top-flight collegiate basketball from dependable Kentucky and Georgia Tech, dark horse Vanderbilt, and, surprise of surprises, our own University of Tennessee. All four teams have hit high in the national ratings and are taking in quite a profit at the turnstiles. Tre upcoming February 29 visit of Adoph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats to Knoxville to meet the Vols has been a sell-out since very early in the season.

"Our Adopted Brothers"

U-T's hoop success this year has been a soothing salve to those who followed their grid misfortunes and such names as A. W. Davis and Danny Shultz have almost become household words. Those of us who live over here in the shadows of the University have found a sense of pride in the fortunes of our adopted brothers anl every time the Vols have a game, transistor radios tuned to WNOX pop up everywhere. The Tennessee-Georgia Tech game, played during our semester break, was viewed on the various campus television sets by a surprising number of fans. Many Maryville Juniors and Seniors can remember back a couple of years ago when Hiwassee, then a two-year school, was paced by a youngster named Danny Shultz, who literally beat the kilts off our Scots and did it without too much help. This is the same fellow who transferred to U-T to complete his education and who is causing his SEC opponents no small amount of consternation. The untimely death of Coach Bill Gibbs of the U-T Freshman squad in a recent plane crash cast a dark blot on an otherwise exciting season.

Ice Hockey in Knoxville

Although skiing seems to have replaced ice skating as the top winter-time participant sport, there are still a number of Maryville students who follow the adventures of the Knoxville Knights hockey team. Since the Knights made their first appearance in this area in the autumn of 1961, East Tennessee has become definitely ice hockey-oriented and evidently those of us over here are no exception. Ice hockey's appeal comes from the fact that it is a fast-paced, exciting game, which isn't too hard to follow. The Knights have presented the fans with some exciting hockey in their stay here and are currently battling to take the division lead away from the Greensboro, N. C., Generals. The Knights, led in the scoring columns by a fellow with the unlikely-sounding name of Gene Achtymichuk and placed by Player-Coach Don Labelle, have played a more subdued brand of hockey since a free-for-all several weeks back with the Nashville Dixie-Flyers. It seems as though these two are traditional rivals, and when the referees sent several players to the penalty box for fighting, the melee continued there until the players (one of whom was Labelle) were expelled from the game. It is action like this that makes the game as exciting as it is.

Today's Women's Swim Meet

And so it goes. We hope that you'll drop by the swimming pool today and have a look at the swim meet our ladies are having with several area schools. The idea of a swimming team here is a good one, and Mrs. Davis, Terry Brusstar, and all the girls who worked on the program are to be congratulated for organizing the meet. Perhaps this will be a positive stimulus toward re-establishing a varsity swimming team here at Maryville, something we definitely should have. Today's meet will be interesting to those who enjoy the competition of an aquatic meet and even interesting to those who just enjoy seeing pretty girls in bathing suits. And who doesn't?

RECORDS
Complete Selection of Jazz, Classical, Popular, and Folk Music in Hi-Fi Stereo.
Quality Repair Work on Radios and Record Players
HITCH RADIO and T.V.
Midland Center

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable Since 1885"
BANKING SERVICES
★ SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
✓ CHECK ACCOUNTS
★ CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
★ TRANSFER OF FUNDS
— Your College Bank —
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

WGAP
CAMPUS MIKE
Voice of Maryville College
Sunday Evening
9:30-10:00

For New Shoes,
Polishes & Dyes
Shoe Shine Equipment
Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Remedies
City Shoe Shop
106 West Broadway

C-N Eagles Avenge Football Loss, 86-49

by Paul Millin

The Carson-Newman Eagles, seeking revenge for their football loss to Maryville, rolled over the Scot cagers by a score of 86-49. The game was not all the score would indicate as the Scots battled hard the first half, and for a while it looked as though the Eagles had walked into a real hornets' nest.

The Maryville defense effectively muffled the Eagle guns throughout the first half and the Scot offense, sparked by Mike Gregory, proved itself effective in the face of a tight defense. The high point of the game for Maryville fans came with 4:00 left in the first half when the Scots led 25-23. From this point on it was all down hill for Maryville and when the half ended Carson-Newman had opened a 9 point lead, 36-27.

Second Half No Ball Game

The second half was no ball game at all. Carson-Newman scored 50 points and Maryville had 22. We were unable to move the ball under a tight Eagle press, our rebounding fell off until we could not control either board, and our defense continually left one of the Eagle guards open for an easy shot from the foul line. Add to this a remarkable Eagle shooting average, and a gallant Scot effort was doomed to defeat.

Mike Gregory, looking better each time he plays, led the Maryville scorers with 15 points. Kip Martin and Bill Schellinger came in next with 8 and "Bo" Henderson was right behind with 7. Bert Randall, hobbled by a bum heel, totaled only 5 and Mike Moyers, Denny McGowan, and Carl McDonald each were credited with 2.

Scoring

	FG	FTA	FT	Pts.
Gregory	6	4	3	15
Randall	1	4	3	5
McGowan	0	3	2	2
Moyers	1	0	0	2
Schellinger	4	1	0	8
Martin	4	1	0	8
Henderson	3	1	1	7
McDonald	1	0	0	2

Nathalia Wright, '33 MC Graduate, Publishes Book

Nathalia Wright, graduate of the Maryville College in the Class of 1933, has written a new book entitled, Horatio Greenough. This is the first full-length biography of the first recognized American sculptor, Horatio Greenough.

Dr. Wright was born in Athens, Ga. After graduation from Maryville College, she went to Yale University where she received M.A. and Ph.D. degrees. After serving on the Maryville library staff from 1940-1949, Dr. Wright became professor in the English Department at the University of Tennessee. She has been the recipient of a Guggenheim Fellowship (1953) and the American Association of University Women Fellowship (1959). Other works by Dr. Wright include Inner Room and Melville's Use of the Bible.

SULLIVAN and PUDGY by Deanna Sturgell

Milligan Outwrestled But Sewanee Wins

by Will Mitchell

The Scot wrestlers won their third match by defeating Milligan for the second time on February 1. The Scots gave up 15 points as Will Mitchell, Joe Kucinski, and Jim Pryor were pinned, but garnered 19 points on pins by Roy Ries at 123 and Bill DeWeese at 157 (Bill set a season record by doing the job in just 37 seconds) and on decisions by Gary Hall, Gene Dixon, and Van Pallis.

Lose to Sewanee

Last Saturday they lost a close match to the University of the South, although things started out with a 13-0 lead after a decision by Roy Ries and pins by Gary Hall and Will Mitchell. Bill DeWeese fought his experienced opponent to a 1-1 draw and then misfortune struck the Scots again. Van Pallis aggravated an old injury in his knee and had to forfeit the match. John Chaki fought well against the SEC's 167 pound champ before being pinned, but Joe Kucinski made it 18-12 by decisioning his opponent. Pat O'Brien, wrestling his first match of the year, was pinned by his 191 pound opponent in the third period. Jim Pryor showed how much he has progressed this year, but his desire was not equal to his experience, and he lost a 5-3 decision. The final score: 20-18.

Rough Schedule Ahead

Tonight the Scots host Emory University of Atlanta. On the basis of this season's records, the Scots must be considered comfortable favorites. The real work of the wrestling squad will begin next week as they prepare to host the SEC champs, Auburn University. The following week is the Southeastern Conference Tournament at Chattanooga. Maryville has the potential of a dark horse candidate for the SEC championship if the squad can overcome its bad luck and wrestle to its full potential.

REAL ITALIAN PIZZA

"If your mouth is watering for some taste-tempting pizza, why not take a break in your studies and call us."

Only 97c

DELIVERY TWICE DAILY

CALL 982-7920

VAN'S BAKERY

Midland Center

McBRAYER SHOE SHOP

QUALITY SHOE REPAIR WORK

Open 6 Days a Week

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK

MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

RELIGIOUS READING MATERIALS TO FIT EVERY STUDENT'S NEEDS

STUDENTS ALWAYS WELCOME!

983-4982

CAPITOL THEATRE

SUN.–MON.–TUES.–WED.

February 16––19

NOW A LOST WORLD BECOMES A NEW WORLD OF ADVENTURE!

THE MIRISCH COMPANY Presents

YUL BRYNNER
GEORGE CHAKIRIS
SHIRLEY ANNE FIELD

'KINGS OF THE SUN'

COLOR by DELUXE PANAVISION

THURS.–FRI.–SAT. February 20–22

THE yellow canary

CINEMASCOPE

A Cooga Mooga Production
Released by 20th Century-Fox

Starring PAT BOONE · BARBARA EDEN · STEVE FORREST · Co-Starring JACK KLUGMAN

– AND –

ELVIS PRESLEY

JERRY WALD'S WILD IN THE COUNTRY

CINEMASCOPE COLOR by DE LUXE

SUN.–THURS.–FRI., February 23–28

TWENTIETH CENTURY-FOX PRESENTS

doris day
james garner
polly bergen

AN AARON ROSENBERG MARTIN MELCHER PRODUCTION

"move over, darling"

CINEMASCOPE COLOR BY DE LUXE

Country Music Holiday

A PARAMOUNT RELEASE

FEB. 29 Saturday Only
DOUBLE FEATURE

Li'l ABNER

COMES ALIVE IN TECHNICOLOR

PARAMOUNT RELEASE VISTAVISION

POLL SHOWS

Cont. from Page 1 Col. 2

It was noted that the next two years will see the greatest increase in graduating high school students in the next decade. To accomplish the college's goal for an increased, superior enrollment, the opportunity for more students at this time must be utilized.

Two variables are already being introduced next year (increased expense to the students and requirement of SAT or ACT scores for freshmen), and it is felt that the added change of schedule would be unwise at this crucial time.

A standard semester must include at least 15 full weeks of instruction, in addition to registration, orientation, and testing. To fulfill this time in a semester ending before Christmas, it is necessary that the August date be set. Insufficient time remains if classes are delayed until after Labor Day, and semesters of unequal length are unsatisfactory in almost all respects.

As it stands at this time, the 1964-1965 calendar is based directly on that of this year. The starting date of September 18 is the week after Labor Day, but appears to be later because the first Monday of September is not until the 7th. An extension of two days on the Christmas vacation is the only difference in holiday time from this year.

A poll was conducted by the Highland Echo in an attempt to discover which calendar is preferred by the Maryville student body. Of the 437 students polled, 258 (160 women and 98 men) prefer an August-May session, while 165 (107 women and 58 men) want a September-June calendar. Twelve persons did not register a preference, and two suggest that Maryville adopt a quarter system.

Reasons given most often in support of the August-May session include the suggestions that finals should be ended before Christmas in order to insure a restful vacation, without the pressure of returning to final exams, and that vacation disrupts study habits and thus negatively affects the final grade.

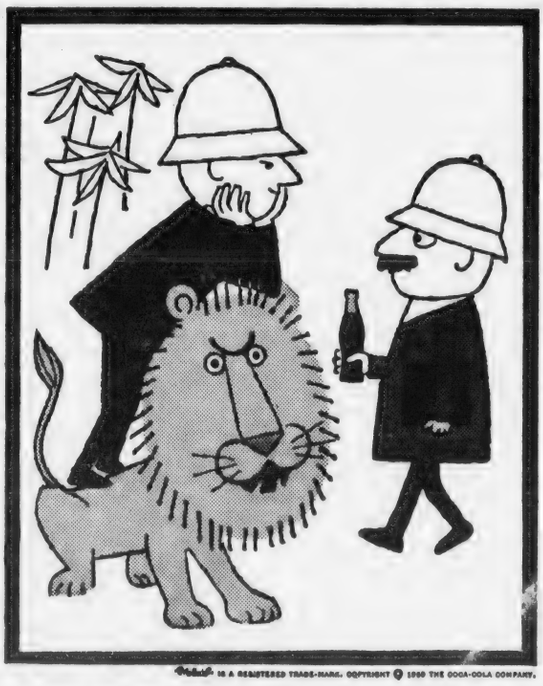
Other reasons frequently mentioned are that a semester ending in May gives an advantage to those who are seeking jobs, and that a semester ending in December is easier for those who are graduating at the end of the first term. One girl comments that a semester ending in May makes more time for planning June weddings.

Students supporting the September-June calendar point out that this system provides better summer working time, that it coincides more easily with summer school schedules, and that it is easier for students to transfer to Maryville in January. Some persons mention the problem of August heat, and one male student writes that he didn't want to be home when his first semester grades arrived.

A summary of the poll shows:

For the new calendar, August to May: 258

For the old calendar, September to June: 165



Fred Hope Fund To Sponsor Work Abroad, At Home

Dr. and Mrs. David G. Stanley with their two children will be leaving in the middle of February for an 18 months' stay as medical missionaries in Southeast Laos with the Tom Dooley Foundation. The work will be supported in part by Maryville College's Fred Hope Fund, an annual collection established in 1900 and named in honor of a Maryville College student who became a missionary to Africa.

The Stanleys will set up a 20-bed hospital on an island in the Mekong River. Two American nurses and an interpreter are provided, but other personnel will be native-trained technicians and workers.

The Fred Hope Fund will also be used in a project at home. A worthy Negro student will be provided with a scholarship for education at Maryville College. This was suggested by the Student Council and standards for the recipient have been set by council.

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

"Coca-Cola" is a registered trade-mark. Copyright © 1960 The Coca-Cola Company.

Dr. Livingstone?

What a happy man he would have been if his man Stanley could have brought along a carton of Coke! That cold crisp taste, that lively lift would certainly hit the spot with any tired explorer. In fact, after your next safari to class—wouldn't Coca-Cola taste good to you?

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED . . . HAVE A COKE!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

RODDY MANUFACTURING CO.
Maryville, Tenn.

College Students
Faculty Members
College Libraries

Printed in BOSTON LOS ANGELES LONDON

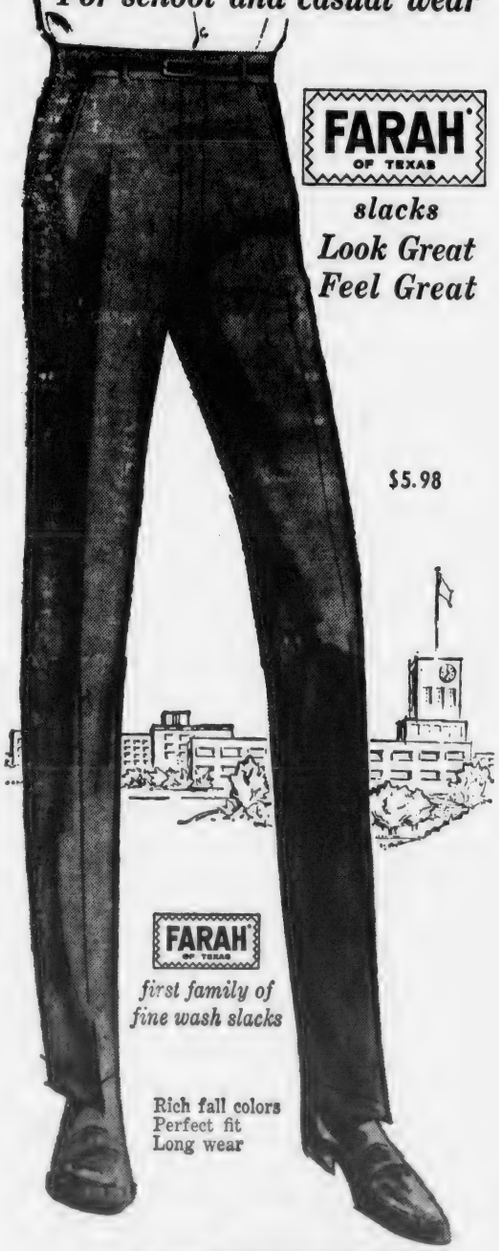
SUBSCRIBE NOW AT HALF PRICE

Clip this advertisement and return it with your check or money order to:

The Christian Science Monitor
One Norway St., Boston 15, Mass.

☐ 1 YEAR $11 ☐ 6 mos. $5.50
☐ COLLEGE STUDENT
☐ FACULTY MEMBER

P-CN



CARLISLE'S
I NEED A CENTURY
NOW IN THE LIBRARY OR MAY BE PURCHASED (AUTOGRAPHED) FOR $3
232 Mullin, Watertown, N. Y.

FOR SPRING — — IT'S FARAH

As Advertised in LIFE

New Member of the First Family of Fine Wash Slacks

For school and casual wear

slacks Look Great Feel Great

first family of fine wash slacks

Rich fall colors
Perfect fit
Long wear

Proffitt's
Midland Shopping Center

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 49 | Maryville, Tennessee, February 29, 1964 | No. 9

MC Students Debate On 'De Bottle

Do's and Don'ts Discussed and Digested

by John Graham

A recent decision confronting the Student Council concerns that of drinking. There is a movement toward adding another clause to the present rule prohibiting the use of alcoholic beverages anytime and anyplace at M.C. This new clause says that students over the age of 21 years, in compliance to state and local ordinances, will be allowed to drink intoxicating beverages off campus as long as they behave in a manner becoming that of a Christian college.

A representative opinion poll of students of all ages and many types was conducted recently concerning whether they thought that this clause should be added to the present statement on this subject. The poll revealed such remarks as the following:

A junior male says, "I'm for letting students drink. The whole campus is not going to go off and drink, just the ones who drank previously."

"I am entirely opposed," says a freshman female, "to drinking anytime or any place and I believe that the policy Maryville has had in the past on drinking should not be changed now."

"A change like this would not be revolutionary. It would not greatly affect life here at Maryville because those who drink, drink regardless of the rules," says a sophomore male.

Two senior males agree that "Because students would and do drink regardless of the present law, the new law merely puts this on a legal basis. At the present there is no feeling of guilt in breaking the law against drinking because many feel that the rule isn't right."

"I believe that when a rule is made, it should be obeyed by all, not just by those under 21 years of age. When we signed our contracts, we all agreed to obey the rules of M.C. For this reason, I am opposed to the new "Liquor Code!" says a freshman male.

"This new rule is both good and bad," remarks a senior female. "It is good becauses it places responsibility in our hands. However, it increases the opportunity for drinkers to become alcoholics. Some may go off campus, get drunk, and stay off for a day or two."

A sophomore male states, "I believe that any college age person should be given the responsibility for making his own mind up as to whether he should or should not drink. He should be able to make this decision while

See POLL, Page 3

Nine Students Elected To Alpha Gamma Sigma

Eight members of the Senior Class at Maryville College and one junior have been elected to membership in Alpha Gamma Sigma, College honor society. The elections were held at a general meeting of Alpha Gamma Sigma Feb. 24 and were announced today after the new members were notified.

Seniors elected were Roberta Bryson, Charlotta Cook, Margaret Doxier, Kenneth Harrison, Margaret Horne, Linda Murchison, Bert Randall, and Gloria Sturmfels. The new junior member is Carolyn Huff, who is the current recipient of the Alpha Gamma Sigma Scholarship Award.

An installation ceremony will be held March 9 at 7 p.m. in the Lounge of the Fine Arts Center for the new members, and the annual spring recognition ceremony with a special Chapel speaker is being planned.

Jr. Class Sponsors Sadie Hawkins Day

The junior class, in celebration of leap year, which occurs only once in the undergraduate's experience, has designated today (Saturday) as Sadie Hawkins Day and is sponsoring a series of activities.

At 1:30 a race, complete with Marryin' Sam, will be held at the track—girls chasing boys. At that time, a prize will be awarded to the "best-dressed" hillbilly couple.

At 4:00 there will be a hootenanny at the chapel Colonnade (in case of rain, the intramural gym). Among the singers are John Minear, Barbara McCarter, Vernon DuBois, and Margie Henderson.

Immediately after supper will be a square dance with a caller, a moonshine still, and other surprises.

The Golden Age of Comedy with Harold Lloyd and Charlie Chaplin will be shown in the theater at 8:00, with three cartoons.

Opera Workshop To Present Comedy And Tragedy on March 6 and 7

'The Impresario' and 'The Cloak' Scheduled

The Maryville College Opera Workshop will present two one-act operas in English on Friday and Saturday, March 6 and 7. Curtain time is 8 p.m. in the theater.

The Opera Workshop productions are given on alternate years. Two years ago the Workshop presented Ralph Vaughn Moore's Gallantry. This year Mozart's The Impresario and Puccini's The Cloak will be staged.

Roles in The Impresario are played by Dwight Campbell as Mr. Scruples, Dave Clinkman as Mr. Bluff, Dan Kinsinger as Mr. Angel, Sara Tompkins as Madame Goldentrill and Carole Cooper as Miss Silverpeal.

The cast for The Cloak includes David Evans as Michel, Don Brakebill as Louis, Bruce Jenkins as Tinca, Tom Llewellyn as Talpa, Jean Dorscheid as Georgette, Martha Hall as Frugola, and Ben Carney as the vender. There is also a supporting chorus, accompanied by Mary Rucker.

The Impresario is a comedy about theatrical and operatic life, utilizing spoken dialogue interspersed with solos and ensembles. The work was written in 1786 for the Austrian Royal Court and was first performed at Schoenbrunn Palace.

The Cloak is one of three one-act operas by Puccini, well known for the operas Madame Butterfly and La Boheme. The tragedy centers around the marriage of an older man to a young girl.

The musical director is Dr. Harry H. Harter, and the director of the College-Community Orchestra is John A. Roberts. Staging and costuming are under the direction of Thomas E. Jones.

OPERA, TRAGIC AND COMIC — Here are characteristic scenes from Mozart's 'The Impresario,' and Puccini's 'The Cloak.' The Mozart comedy, a spoof of operatic life, has Carole Cooper, Mr. Dan Kinsinger, and Sarah Tompkins in leading roles. The bottom picture shows Jean Dorscheid and Mr. Don Brakebill in a scene from the Puccini tragedy. The one-act operas are part of the program of Opera Workshop and are Directed by Dr. Harry H. Harter. Mr. Thomas E. Jones, director of the Playhouse, is in charge of the sets and staging, and Mr. John E. Roberts, Director of the Highlander Band, conducts the College-Community Orchestra.

Ibsen's 'Hedda Gabler' Is Study Of Restless Emancipated Female

On March 13 and 14, the Maryville College Playhouse will present "Hedda Gabler" by Henrik Ibsen. This is the third presentation in the Playhouse schedule for this year. Thomas E. Jones will direct the play, and Cecelia Bridges will be the Assistant Director.

Written in 1890, "Hedda Gabler" is Ibsen's comment on a new type of women — products of the spirit of freedom and emancipation sweeping the world at that era. These women, once elevated to a new station of freedom and equality, can achieve neither self-realization nor happiness.

Editor John Gassner comments on Hedda and her counterparts in the modern world:

Because her sisters are to be found everywhere in the Western world, Hedda deserves more study than is usually given her. Restlessness without direction, self-regard combined with uselessness, desire for a rich life without willingness to enrich her own and others' lives, bold ideas of 'living dangerously' nullified by a cold heart — these are some of the elements that went into the making of Ibsen's highly individualized yet decidedly representative portrait.

The Playhouse members are constructing the unique type of furniture needed for the set of "Hedda Gabler."

The cast of seven includes Janet Purcilla as Hedda Gabler, Dale Schellenger as Jorgen Tesman, David Evans as Judge Brack, Sharon Walrond as Mrs. Elvsted, David Eby as Ejlert Lovborg, Margaret Moffett as Aunt Juliene, and Margaret Hay as Berte.

Two Delegates To Attend Conference

On March 15-18, Sue Quigg, president of Women's Student Government Association at Maryville, and Louise Crawford, house chairman of Baldwin Hall, will attend a regional meeting of the IAWS (Intercollegiate Association of Women Students) at the University of Kentucky, Lexington.

The theme for the convention will be "Communication: Its Art and Value." In preparation for it, those who attend are asked to read Edward Hall's book, The Silent Language.

Maryville College's WSGA is not a member, but has been considering affiliation. Part of the purpose of sending the delegates is to discern whether this would be worthwhile. The Association of Women Students at the University of Tennessee is a member, and has conferred with the WSGA as to values of the association.

FEBRUARY MEETINGS - 1964

LEADERS AT WORK — Dr. K. Arnold Nakajima and Student Body President Dave Marston chat informally in the Chaplain's Office at the close of February Meetings Wednesday, and Dr. Lewis A. Briner, leader for the first half of the February Meetings, is caught in a characteristic pose in the Chapel pulpit. The evening meetings ended with a communion service Tuesday led by President Joseph J. Copeland .

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor-in-Chief
CHARLOTTA COOK

News Editor — ELENORA EASTERLY
Feature Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Sports Editors — GINNA COON and DAVID KING
Copy Editor — SANDRA SCOFIELD
Art Editor — DEANNA STURGELL
Exchange Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Business Editor — GORDON STEWART
Circulation Manager — JUDY SIVER

Faculty Advisor — DR. CAROLYN BLAIR
Editorial Advisor — MR. DUNCAN BENNETT
Financial Advisor — MR. FRANK LAYMAN

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Carolyn Huff, Duncan Bennett, Karen Keen, John Graham, Virginia Wells, David Powell, Lori Sturmfels. Judy Siver, Sandra Briggs, Carolyn O'Neal, Will Mitchell, Teddie Gillespie

her mark

The phrase "February meetings" normally causes a shudder in those members of the Maryville family who object to religious emphasis in a week's dose, and we must admit that we, too, are skeptical of mountaintop experiences. This year, however, we find quite a different atmosphere invading the campus, although at this point (Sunday, February 23) in the meetings it is rather difficult to determine exactly what the implications of it will be.

We are somewhat sorry that Dr. Briner, a man with so much insight to share concerning the human situation, had to tell us something that we should have already discovered about ourselves. Last Thursday was inevitable, however, and we're relieved that it happened at a time when there was someone present with the ability to see the situation in the greater context of freedom and law, rather than as a uniquely Maryvillian problem.

Dr. Briner's remarks implied the answers to the two questions posed here previously. The student's primary purpose is to study, but his position on this campus also involves the responsibility for maintaining those uniquely worthwhile elements based on valid moral standards which should be found in the Maryville atmosphere. However, no one involved in activity on this campus can afford to be afraid of making the attempt to determine what these valid moral standards are.

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK

MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

RELIGIOUS READING MATERIALS
TO FIT EVERY STUDENT'S NEEDS
STUDENTS ALWAYS WELCOME!

983-4982

For New Shoes,

Polishes & Dyes
Shoe Shine Equipment
Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Remedies

City Shoe Shop

106 West Broadway

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor

The original purpose of an initiation seems to have been to test a person to see if he was capable of assuming an adult role in his society. The goal was a proof of capability, usually of physical prowess. The initiation was ritualistic, symbolic, and related to the future actions and responsibilities of the individual to the group of which he was becoming a part. Through proving himself able to fulfill the requirements of the group he became a part of the group.

Now, however, the rites of initiation, other than those of the formal ceremony, have disintegrated to acts of hazing. Do the choir initiations test an initiate's vocal ability? Does a social society's initiation test competence in social, athletic, or service areas? Or do these times of hazing merely give those who have once undergone similar treatment the socially acceptable license to feel powerful? Is it a case of attaining some kind of status in one's own eyes by forcing someone else to gravel? The difference between hazing and initiation is that an initiation has a purpose beyond itself while hazing exists as an end in itself. Modern initiations involving hazing are simply perversions of an originally purposeful activity.

A choir member once said that the choir hazing was necessary in order for the new member to truly feel at one with the spirit of the choir, and that after the initiates had been humiliated they could be built up to the achievement of full status during the symbolic formal ceremony. This seems to be the philosophy of the societies: In the fall freshman and transfer students are wooed, treated like royalty, made to feel desired, worthwhile. In February they go through hazing designed explicitly to make them feel hated, worthless, inferior, degraded. Then they are formally initiated. By this procedure they are expected to become an integral part of a unified whole, loyal, co-operative, and infused with group spirit. They "appreciate" the organization more; they must really want to belong in order to go through the process.

Assuming for the moment that hazing does promote greater group spirit, it would seem that initiations would vary only slightly in degree of harshness from year to year. Is this the case, however, or do they tend in general to become more difficult through the years? If this is the case, what is the reason? Is it harder to make the initiate appreciate the organization? Is it that each new group of actives wants to make it harder for the pledges than it was for them?

The danger is not as great for the pledges as it is for the actives. The pledges usually live through the hazing and start plotting their revenge on the yet unknown freshmen of the next year. It is fascinating and horrible, however, to study the older members. Their laughter is not that of reminiscence. Their eyes are not those which show understanding of feelings of others or those which say, "This is hard for them, I know, but it must be done for their own benefit." No, their eyes, their smiles, their entire demeanors become charged with enjoyment of power, with

Cont. Page 6, Col. 3

APPALACHIAN ODYSSEY

by Dave Powell

Part 9

Emma Gatewood

I had never met a legend.

In fact I thought legends were mostly superstitions heavily stewed in imagination. You know, like Ichabod Crane and his headless friend — stuff straight from the old country.

Well let me tell you that my relationship with legends has changed considerably in recent months. In fact, I'm about to acquaint you with an honest-to-goodness living legend.

* * * * * *

Roy Sawyer had stories to tell. He had a mountain wife who made strawberry jam, he had seen the world during the war, and he cherished his briar-bitten hound named Muggie.

"Never so scared as the time Howard, my son, fell into the branch dead as four o'clock. Some kinda disease he'd got in the tropics had come back on him.

"Boy, I seem to recall a little old lady that came through here twice in the past ten years. Said she was walking to Maine, and I believed her though she looked to be about sixty — said so herself."

Mr. Sawyer hitched up his trousers and showed us his beehives that were scattered in the field.

Fifty or so miles later Althea Shelton remembered an "Emma Gatewood." She was going on sixty-nine when she came through here about five years ago.

"I used to get cards from her at Christmas, but I don't anymore. I wonder if she's died. I'll bet she has — walkin' like she did.

"Me and Letta (that's my husband, he passed on a little while back) we used to talk to her for hours and feed her cream and cake every time she'd come through here. She seemed so intelligent. Talk? Why she was so jolly — just so jolly."

Now a fellow can get pretty skeptical hearing stories like that, especially after some three-hundred miles of conflicting tales. On the other hand, when he's walking down a sun-speckled path miles from a beer-can and he sees a "little elf" come tripping up the hillside in size eleven black sneakers, it doesn't take long to realize that he's run smack-dab into that "legend" that's been avoiding him for so long.

"Yep, I'm a grandmother of 75. Eleven children, 30 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren."

From that point on we were nothing but questions, and Emma Gatewood of Cheshire, Ohio was nothing but lovable.

She wasn't much taller than a hickory stump, and she laughed to punctuate every sentence. Her happy eyes hopped like crickets behind Ben Franklin glasses.

We learned that she was the first woman to hike the full length of the Appalachian Trail (2000 miles), and she was now working on her third complete trip. She walked from Missouri to Oregon once (2000 miles) to celebrate the Oregon Centennial, "and when I got there they had a 'Grandma Gatewood Day.' I got room and board free, and they even flew me to Disneyland. Boy was that fun!

"One time a little dog followed me out of a campground. I fed him some bread and he liked it so he decided to stay. We came to a little spring about the size of a saucer, don't ya know, and can you guess what that scamp did? He ran right past me and lapped up that water before I could take a step. Ooo, was I mad!

"A few days back I was sleeping and this mouse got so tangled up in my hair that I thought I never would get him out. Another time I was resting and when I opened my eyes there some buzzard had come and landed on my shoulder. Golly that'll make you wonder just how bad you really do smell.'

"I'm not afraid of anything — why what's there to be afraid of in the woods? One time I did see a bear coming down the trail and I said 'Lordy, there's a bear' but he didn't hear me so I hollered 'Dig' and he did.

"Timed a snake to rattle for twenty minutes on Blood Mountain one time before I gave up and walked around him. For all I knew he might still be rattling except for the fact I've been back over Blood since then.

"If a snake were to bite me I guess I'd just cut the fang marks,

Cont. Page 5, Col. 1

RECORDS

Complete Selection of Jazz, Classical, Popular, and Folk Music in Hi-Fi Stereo.
Quality Repair Work on Radios and Record Players

HITCH RADIO and T.V.

Midland Center

POLL, Cont. from Page 1, Col. 1

in school, and not just when he is at home or on vacation where he is exempt from Maryville's rules. The question is not really 'Should drinking be allowed for the Maryville student while the college is in session,' but 'How much responsibility is given to a student at Maryville College?'."

A sophomore female comments, "A student should be given the responsibility of deciding this question for himself. One who is prohibited this responsibility until after graduation is more likely to 'go wild.' With some people prohibition leads to rebellious attitudes."

A freshman male adds, "Smoking, allowed only in certain prescribed areas, occurs commonly and universally in the dormitory rooms against regulations; the same will be true for drinking."

"I stand entirely behind the newly proposed bill on drinking," says a determined freshman male, "because not only will this relieve much dissention, but it will speak much for the foreward looking movement at hand in our students and teachers. It's about time."

A junior male comments on allowing 21 year olds to drink, "Fine! As long as we clearly define what happens when a student abuses this rule; it places a responsibility on the student."

A freshman female replies, "If Christians from Maryville College drink in any community, will they be representing Maryville as a Christian college? And more important, will they be serving their Christ? I doubt this very much."

"It is definitely a step in the right direction toward reality. It is more realistic in the world we live in—outside of Maryville College. To live in the world, we must meet it realistically head on and not be sheltered from its vices," says a sophomore male.

"Everyone must form his own moral code from which he patterns life," says a freshman female. "He must do this in college in a secular atmosphere and not in an artificial atmosphere which would not put this moral code to the test."

A sophomore adds "Drinking is a tradition as an after dinner or with-dinner enjoyment and as an 'acidity neutralizer.' Drinking is not sinful (Grapes and yeast grew in Italy long before cows existed). Why should this barrier of not drinking follow us into life?"

"The clause states 'as long as they behave in a manner according to that of a Christian college.' Just what is this manner — a compliant Christianity? I am against changing the regulation," declares a freshman male.

A sophomore female states compromisingly, "I don't care what the Student Council decides as long as they stick to what they decide and enforce it."

"Drinking does not bring us any closer to the goals of Maryville. As a means of escape, it tends to draw us away from these goals," says a senior female.

A freshman male declares, "I say leave the statement in the handbook as it is. Does making it legal to drink make it right? Why should a 21 year old be allowed to drink while a person who will be twenty-one in a week not be allowed to? If it is wrong for a 20 year old, it is wrong for any age to drink. Drinking is not the way to serve the Lord, or witness to his Name. By drinking we mutilate our bodies. This offends Christ in that we are polluting the "temple of God.' (I Corinthians, 5) Nobody can drink and still act as should one who is going to a Christian college."

When the battle subsided and the smoke cleared a little, some 80% of the males and some 60% of the females who participated in the poll, were in favor of allowing responsible persons of age drink off campus. 20% of both sexes were opposed to the ruling and .08% of the women were undecided.

The President of the Student Council, Dave Marston, hopefully promised that this proposal will not be quietly tabled, but will receive action and he hopes that whatever the outcome on the proposition that it will benefit Maryville students.

SULLIVAN and PUDGY by Deanna Sturgell

Va. Intermont Wins WIS Meet

by Teddie Gillespie

February 14th and 15th Maryville College was host to Carson-Newman College, Virginia Intermont College, and East Tennessee State University — all four schools participating in the first annual Women's Intercollegiate Swimming Meet.

Diving Competition was held Friday evening. First place was taken by Sharon Doherty of East Tennessee State with 195.9 points; second place was taken by Terry Brusstar with 185.5 points and third place went to Phyllis Deloteus with 161.7 points.

That evening a party was held in the New Dorm Basement for the visiting teams and their hostesses. Refreshments and entertainment were provided by the Women's "M" Club.

Swimming events began at 9:00. Those swimming for the Maryville team were Kathy Kisler, Anne Ruckelshaus, Jean Peech, Terry Brusstar, Nancy White, Kathy Burgess, Jan Dearcopp, Shirley Jones and Diane Dawley. Those placing in events for Maryville were Anne Ruckelshaus in the 50 yard free-style and 100 yard free-style; Terry Brusstar in the 50 yard breast stroke; and Jan Dearcopp in the 100 yard free-style. Kathy Burgess, Diane Dawley, Shirley Jones and Jan Dearcopp all joined together for the 100 yard free-style relay.

The final score of the meet was Virginia Intermont: 40, Carson-Newman: 16; Maryville College: 14; and East Tennessee State: 14.

Pi Delta Phi, French Society, Organized

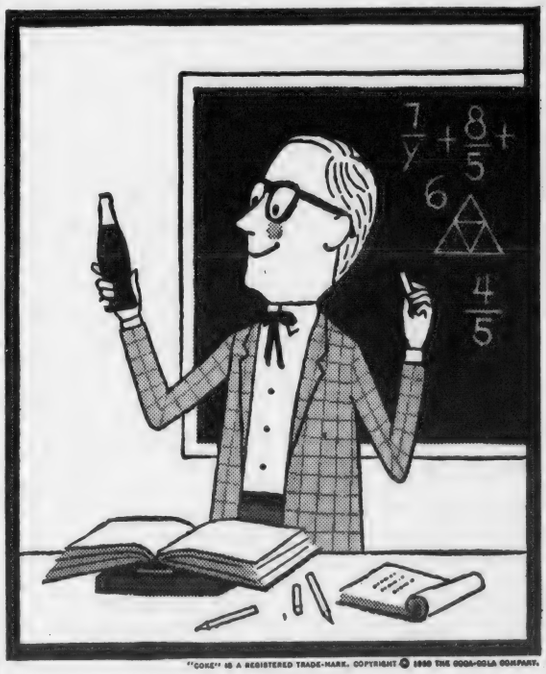
A chapter of Pi Delta Phi, national honorary society for students of French, has been organized at Maryville College. Inaugural ceremonies will be March 4 by the 10 charter members.

The Maryville unit is the Delta Gamma Chapter. Officers are Kenneth Harrison, president; Monique Sobcynski, vice president; Jeanie Page, secretary-treasurer, and Miss Catherine Wilkinson, faculty advisor.

Other honor societies on campus include Alpha Gamma Sigma (scholarship), Beta Beta Beta (biology), Pi Gamma Mu (social science), Theta Alpha Phi (drama), Pi Kappa Delta (rhetoric), Circle K (service), Sigma Delta Psi (athletics), and Women's "M" Club (athletics).

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

For School and Office Supplies,



Excellent Service

and

Fast Delivery

White Office Machines

"Won't Write – Call White"

"COKE" IS A REGISTERED TRADE-MARK. COPYRIGHT © 1960 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY.

Q.E.D.

Yes, it's been demonstrated time and time again, that for real refreshment it's Coke every time! Add up that cold crisp taste, that lively lift and you really have a drink worth going after. So whenever the crowd has a multiple thirst, make the high sign of good taste . . . pass around the Coca-Cola! Quod Erat Demonstrandum!

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED...HAVE A COKE!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

RODDY MFG. CO., MARYVILLE, TENN.

REAL ITALIAN PIZZA

"If your mouth is watering for some taste-tempting pizza, why not take a break in your studies and call us."

Only 97c

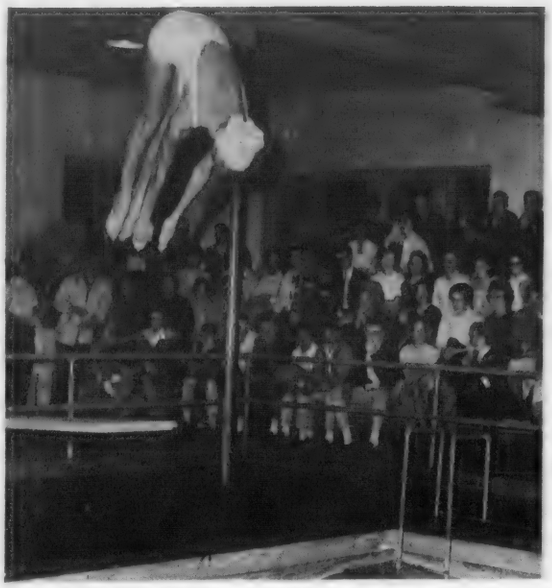
DELIVERY TWICE DAILY

CALL 982-7920

VAN'S BAKERY

Midland Center

Wrestlers Close With 3-8-1 Mark; Move to SEC Tournament



by Will Mitchell

The Scot wrestlers closed out a 3-8-1 season last week and began the final preparations for the Southeastern Conference Tournament.

On February 1, the Scots met Emory University, only to go down in a heart-breaking 21-17 defeat. Roy Ries and Gary Hall started the Scots off with first period pins and Emory forfeited at 137 to put the Scots into a 15-0 lead. Emory struck back as Bill Deweese was decisioned at 147 and John Chaki was pinned at 157. Wayne Frey, wrestling 167 for the first time, had won a match until he left the mat unauthorized and incurred a tie-making penalty. It was the last score that Maryville was to make as ailing Joe Kucinski was outpointed in the last period, Pat O'Brien was decisioned, and Jim Pryor was pinned.

When SEC Champion Auburn University came to the Hill last Saturday, the Scots departed from their close match prediction but they were not as badly beaten as the 30-3 score would imply. Roy Ries fought well against his SEC Champion opponent, only to lose on a reversal in the last minute. Gary Hall scored the Scots' only victory by outpointing his SEC Champion opponent at 130. Will Mitchell went down 2-0, to be followed by 147-pounder Gene Dixon. Bill Deweese lost a one-point decision and then Adam Deveny, wrestling 20 pounds out of his weight class, gave up to the first pin. Joe Kucinski lost his match on riding time — all of one second of it. Pat O'Brien and Jim Pryor both fell into pins.

This weekend the squad is in Chattanooga, participating in the SEC tournament along with teams from such schools as Milligan, Carson-Newman, Chattanooga, Emory U., Auburn, Sewanee, The University of Tampa, The University of Georgia, Georgia Tech, and Florida State. Wrestling began on Friday, with the finals scheduled for tonight. Those with excellent chances to be wrestling tonight include Joe Kucinski at 177 and Gary Hall at 130. Outsiders might be Roy Ries at 123 and Chuck Hucknell at 115. As for the others — we wish them all luck because no matter what the odds are, there's no predicting what will happen out on that mat when the moment for the final effort comes.

DIVING: Sharon Doherty, ETSU, who took first place in the WIS meet.

Moyers Shines But Chattanooga Wins

Still not able to break their horrendous losing streak, the Scotty basketball team again fell to the University of Chattanooga, this time by a score of 63-48. The boys from Chattanooga never lost control of the action and usually were ahead by a comfortable margin. They employed a half court zone press defense, effectively blocking any Maryville ambitions.

The big star of the game for Maryville was junior forward Mike Moyers who hit for 21 points and his highest output in his college career. Our team as a whole looked better than they have in most of their games of late, although they made a number of needless mistakes. We either passed or gave the ball away a total of twenty-two times during the course of the game.

As mentioned before, Mike Moyers was the big gun of the evening for our boys with 21 points and a number of rebounds. Mike Gregory was next highest with 13 points and Bert Randall gets credit for 9. Denny McGowan had 2 points and Kip Martin, Bill Schellenger and "Bo" Henderson each had one apiece. The low scores by our guards were a result of the half court defense effectively employed by the Chattanoogans.

Scoring:

Moyers	21
Gregory	13
Randall	9
McGowan	2
Martin	1
Schellenger	1
Henderson	1
Llewellen	0

Socks and Sneakers

by Ginna Coon

Eight to one was the record for the WAA basketball tournament with Chi Beta coming out on top.

The swimming meet, one of the big features of the intramural program, took place on February 20. The meet consisted of comic races, the regular speed swimming, form swimming and diving. Terry Brusstar and Phyllis Deloteus took the two top places in diving for Chi Beta, and Lee Rosser, Theta, took third. The final score of the meet was 83 to 63 in favor of Chi Beta. First place winners are as follows: Ping Pong Relay: Furgenson, White, Kisler, and Larsen (T); Mu-Mu Relay: Ruckelshaus, Dawley, S. Jones, and Dearcopp (C); 25-Yard crawl: McConeghy (C); 25 Yard Back Crawl: tie McConeghy (C) and White (T); 50 Yard Front Crawl: Ruckelshaus, (C); 50 Yard Back Crawl: White (T); 25 Yard Butterfly: Ruckelshaus (C); 100 yard Free Style: Dearcopp, (C); 50 Yard Breast Stroke: Deloteus (C); Individual Medley: Brusstar (C); Medley Relay: Lantz, Deloteus, Brusstar, Dearcopp (C); Front Crawl Relay: Reinke, Dawley, Waldron, S. Jones (C); Side Stroke Form: Dearcopp (C); Breast Stroke Form: White (T).

Highland Flings

by Dave King

The recent women's invitational swimming meet on our campus reintroduced an exciting sport after a long absence. The fact that we tied for last place in the meet is unfortunate, of course, but the fact that enough girls were willing to work hard enough to give it a try overshadows the defeat. We are proud of Terry Brusstar, an old hand at performing in swim mets, and Phyllis Deloteus, who only recently learned to dive for competition, for taking second and third places in Friday night's diving. Although our ladies had trouble keeping up with superior swimmers in the next day's racing, they too deserve a pat on the back for their determination. The officials, timers, and judges gave the week-end's festivities a well-organized air which left our visitors with a favorable impression of the school.

The presence of an intercollegiate swimming meet at Maryville revived the frequent question, "Why don't we have a swimming team here?". This is a fair question for a number of reasons. We do have a swimming pool large enough to facilitate most forms of swimming competition. More important, we have enough fellows who have either swum competitively before or who are good swimmers to at least organize a team. Maryville hasn't had a varsity swimming squad since people like Mr. Ed Brubaker, our February Meetings leader two years ago, swam for it in the late '30's. Incidentally, the coach in those days was a fellow named Fischbach — Dale's dad.

Why then don't we have a team these days? Well, for one thing, a good aquatic squad, like any athletic team, needs a qualified coach. This is no reflection against our athletic department but there doesn't seem to be anyone there with the background for coaching this particular sport. And even if someone now on our coaching staff had the training for it, they undoubtedly couldn't fit it into an already busy schedule. So, the only solution would seem to be to either add another person to the athletic staff or look somewhere else for a coach. Since it's unlikely that a new faculty person would be hired just to coach a swimming team, the only alternative would then be to look elsewhere on the faculty. When the boys interested in forming a soccer team needed someone to work with them, they were able to draft a couple of faculty members and look how far the soccer team has progressed. This year the prospects for finding a faculty member to work with a swimming team seem greatly enhanced.

A varsity swimming team could be a valuable addition to Maryville College's athletic program. The inter-society swim meets have always been popular and the response to the women's meet a few weeks ago was really impressive — the pool was literally jammed with spectators. There can't be any doubt that the students would be in favor of such a sport here. This isn't to be taken as an ultimatum but only as a statement of fact — let's look into the possibilities of reviving swimming here. It would certainly be worth our while.

Scots Finish Season With Timely Victory

The Maryville College basketball team, reeling from what must be its worst season in many a year, overturned the Emory and Henry Wasps to finish the season on a winning note. In what was probably their best game of the year, the Scots kept control of the ball most of the game and outplayed the fumbling Wasps. It was refreshing to watch our boys take the upper hand for a change and to see them play good ball.

An unfortunate aspect of the evening was Bert Randall's injury, forcing him out of the action. Playing only about five minutes before spraining his ankle, Randall had still managed to dump in five points and had taken five rebounds. This was Bert's last game for the Scots and also for Mike Gregory and Bill Schellenger, all of whom will graduate this year. The Scots had a scoring average of 42% in the game, much higher than usual. We also controlled the backboards with 47 rebounds to Emory's 39.

High point man for our side was Mike Gregory who has played well for the Scots since recovering from a broken ankle. Next to Gregory's twenty points was Kip Martin's 12 and Denny McGowan's 10. Mike Moyers, hero of the Chattanooga game, had 6 points, Bert Randall, forced to leave the game with an injury, nevertheless got 5 points, and Bill Schellenger had 3. A group of enthusiastic students swarmed all over Coach Baird after the game and carried him off the floor on their shoulders.

Scoring:

Gregory	20
Martin	12
McGowan	10
Moyers	6
Randall	5
Schellenger	3
Henderson	0
Llewellen	0

I never saw, heard, nor read, that the clergy were beloved in any nation where Christianity was the religion of the country. Nothing can render them popular but some degree of persecution.

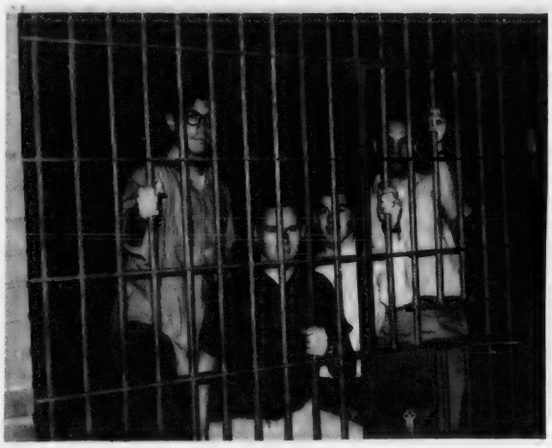
Thoughts on Religion
Jonathan Swift

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

WGAP
CAMPUS MIKE
Voice of Maryville College
Sunday Evening
9:30-10:00

Martin's DRUG STORE
401 S. Washington St. Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.
Offering Maryville College Students
a complete line of cosmetics,
plus
a reliable prescription service
Located just off campus on Washington St.

SEEN . . .



This were a weder

for to slepen inne!

And gladly wolde he learne and gladly teche.

In his owene grece I made him frye.

A fool can noght be stille.

. . . AND HEARD

APPALACHIAN ODYSSEY . . . Cont. from Page 2, Col. 5

let 'em bleed and put a Band-Aid on them.

"Going up a mountain I never look ahead. I just stare at my feet and say to the one, 'If that fella made it so can you.'

"The first time I came down tc Georgia to hike on the Trail I carried my gear in a hatbox. The guy driving the taxi thought I was a nut because there he was leaving me out in the middle of the woods with nothing but a hatbox."

The day we met Grandma she was wearing a frayed, yellow shirt and peddle-pushers with a little zipper at the ankles. I thought they looked like jodphurs, but she said they were "dunjarees."

She carried an eleven dollar umbrella that someone had given her, around which was sown a home-made cover. The umbrella helped in quick showers as well as serving as a hikeing stick. Sometimes it could be used to "swat small critters."

Our conversation with Grandma Gatewood had lasted an hour and a half. As suddenly as she had appeared she was gone. Just up and left like those wee-folk tthat people legends.

Whenever I try to recall my little puck; I always think of Mrs. Shelton's phrase;

"And she was so jolly — just so jolly."

I know I'm not telling this very well . . . But, you don't really want responsibility . . . I guess the "How To Stamp Out the Kilt" course worked . . . Why does an elephant have red eyes? So he can hide in cherry trees. Have you ever seen an elephant in a cherry tree? See, it works . . . you can submerge the "e" but you can't annihilate it . . . I'd resign, but . . . such a pig-sty? . . . there are nice little men and nice little women, but they're all incompetent . . . lost her marbles? . . . looks like someone pinched her — all blue and green . . . I can always go in the Peace Corps . . . as much imagination as my left arm . . .

I am a free agent checked only by my lack of courage . . . one woman is always worth four men . . . college tries to be unique and ends up being peculiar . . . satchel-ful of remuneration . . . do you have as much trouble getting out of a car? . . . Dave Marston and I have a very happy relationship . . . but if we'd had Ed Sullivan, maybe he'd have brought the Beatles.

THE

BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES

★ SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

√ CHECK ACCOUNTS

★ CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS

★ TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

CAPITOL THEATRE

SUN., MON., TUES., WED., MARCH 1. 2. 3, 4

SUN., thru THURS., MARCH 8, 9, 10, 11, 12

HOME SWEET HOMER

by Karen Keen

A short story complete in this issue

The creepers seemed to be alive, deliberately entangling his feet so that he made no headway through the vibrant mass of jungle growth. If it weren't for the incompetence of the Colonial Board, he wouldn't have to be tramping around in the heat to get a water sample for analysis. He could have just zipped over in the flyer. Man could cruise halfway across the galaxy without a hitch, but he couldn't produce a flyer with spare parts that worked.

"A comprehensive survey of all planets in sector 4-Y-893-12A-F is to be completed immediately, please. There are hordes of colonists waiting to be located," read the instructions.

"Nothing," thought Homer, "would make me happier than finishing this job and going home."

ZZZzzz zz-flarp.

The genuine, guaranteed-for-a-lifetime, ever-ready, handy-dandy undergrowth-on-primitive-planets demolisher refused to demolish.

"Shades of John Glenn!" exclaimed Homer. "How do they expect us to accomplish anything with war surplus equipment that works as if it didn't quite survive the war?"

Calming himself, his thoughts turned back to the task at hand. "That lake should be around here somewhere. According to my infallible, antimagnetic, shockproof, dustproof, radiation-proof compass, it's located about right . . ."

Kersplush.

"Well, the boots are waterproof and my pants are drip-dry," Homer consoled himself, "Utilizing my acid resistant, fungus inhibiting, undentable, anti-alcholic explorers cup, I should have no trouble getting the sample back to the ship."

Some time later, in the wardroom of the good ship Richard Nixon, the off-duty crew had gathered for a coffee and conversation hour.

"O.K., get off my back. I'm sorry I took so long, but my cup sprung a leak halfway here and I had to go back," Homer explained exasperatedly. "Believe me, I would have chucked the whole thing up if I hadn't kept repeating, 'This is the last planet. In three more days, we can go home.' "

"Homer," said Captain S. Mann learnedly, "your symptoms indicate that you are suffering from an acute case of exploratoryitis."

"What's that?" asked Homer suspiciously.

"It's like stir fever and spring fever and homesickness combined and can be very serious if allowed to go unchecked," replied Mann. "I suggest that you go to the galley and get something to eat. That always helps."

Homer left the wardroom and entered the elevator. He pushed the button for the third level, whistling a song that had been popular on earth at the start of the flight, "Carry Me Back to Old Alpha Centauri." The tune always reminded him of something he had heard before. Suddenly the elevator came to a grinding halt. Homer pushed the button again. Nothing happened. Then he pushed all the buttons very slowly. Then he pushed all the buttons very fast. Then he pushed them all at the same time. Still nothing happened. Then Homer did what any well trained explorer would have done — he panicked and began shouting and beating on the door.

Two hours later, the chief engineer released a profane and hungry Homer.

"How do you feel, fella?" asked the engineer.

"War surplus! Bah!" snapped Homer.

* * * * * * *

In the following few days, several jolly events occurred. It was discovered that what was thought to be three hundred cans of assorted luncheon meats was actually three hundred cans of kosher salami. There was one Jew.

The evening movies consisted of the fifty-second, fifty-third, and fifty-fourth showings of Lust in the Dust, starring Chance Wayne and Starlet Light. The movie librarian had made a slight mistake and given the ship one hundred copies of Lust in the Dust instead of one hundred different reels.

Our hero is next found in the radio room, waiting for the broadcast from earth which will send the ship home.

"When I get home, I'm not going any further off the ground than my dentist's office. He's on the twenty-sixth floor of the Sinatra Building, but, since his office doesn't have any windows, I won't mind too much," said Homer. "Yes, sir, I'm ready to settle down. Gonna rent a little apartment in Tokyo or Detroit or maybe Melbourne. I suppose I'll have to get a job. Even the most perfect plans have a flaw somewhere. I thought I'd . . ."

* * * * * * *

"Shut up," ordered the radio operator. "Earth is starting to send."

Official radio sounds filled the room for several minutes.

"Here, Homer," said the operator. "I think you should be the one to deliver this to the captain."

"What does it say?" asked Homer, who, in his excitement, was twisting a knob marked "do not touch."

" 'The Board regrets to inform you that, due to a faulty automatic typewriter, your orders were incorrect. You were to have surveyed sector 4-Y-89311-A-F. 4-Y-89312-A-F was surveyed three months ago. Please proceed immediately to the new sector and, as soon as you reach it, radio us for further, more extensive orders."

There is only one way to achieve happiness on this terrestial ball.

And that is to have either a clear conscience, or none at all.

—Ogden Nash

LETTER,
Cont. from Page 2, Col. 3

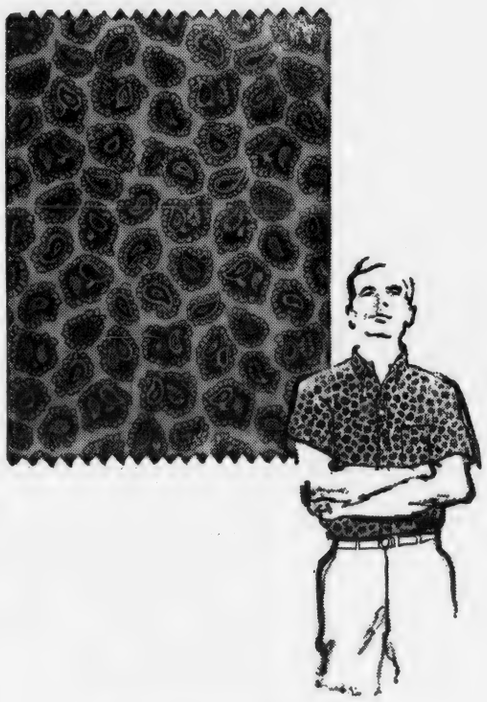
enjoyment of socially acceptable sadism. It is distressing to see this disintegration of civilized man. It is fightening to see that the veneer of compassion is so thin that society can accept and condone man's revealing of the basest part of his nature.

I am not innocent. I have taken part in initiations, many of which were more rigorous than those I faced here. It is only because I can see these factors in myself that I have any valid reason to speak at all. I can order no plan of action for anyone but myself. All I would ask is that each person taking part in initiations think of the implications to themselves both as individuals and as members of a group — a group which may be as small as a campus society and as large as the human race.

Gloria Sturmfels

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands



OPEN 8:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

WASHINGTON AVENUE

Proffitt's

Traditional tailoring, smart new design...

ARROW

short sleeve Paisley print sport shirt

An exciting new Paisley print comes to town in this Arrow all-cotton short sleeve sport shirt. Tailored in authentic University Fashion style, it's cut for maximum comfort, tapered to give the clean, lean look of true Ivy. "Sanforized" labeled to assure lasting perfect fit. The button-down collar features a casual roll, button and box pleat in the back. $5.00

Proffitt's

Midland Shopping Center

McBRAYER SHOE SHOP

QUALITY SHOE REPAIR WORK

Open 6 Days a Week

U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

WAYNE SIMMONS

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!

TIP TOP BARBER SHOP

105 Church St. Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop Open 6 Days a Week

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 49 | Maryville, Tennessee, March 14, 1964 | No. 10

Events To Mark 400th Anniversary Of William Shakspere's Birth

The English department faculty members and the junior and senior English majors at Maryville College have been working on a series of events to celebrate the Four Hundredth Anniversary of the birth of William Shakspere on April 23, 1564.

At the faculty club on Monday evening, April 20, Dr. Edwin R. Hunter will present a paper: "Social and Political Overtones in Shakespere's The Tempest."

On Tuesday evening, April 21, readings from the plays and poems of Shakspere will be given by the Shakspere students and the English faculty. The aim being to emphasize the beauty and peculiar quality of Shakspere language, acting, costuming, and staging will be minimized. The public is invited at no admission charge.

A subscription dinner will be given Wednesday evening, April 22, for all members of the "College family" who are or were English majors, current English and drama teachers, and all non-majors who have had the Shakspere course at Maryville. Husbands or wives of these may be included.

At the dinner, Dr. Alwin Thaler, retired member of the University of Tennessee English faculty and highly respected and well known Shaksperean authority, will address the group on "Behind the Scenes: Shakespeare's Off-stage Characters and 'Mutes'!"

On April 24, Dan Kinsinger of the Maryville music faculty will sing a groups of songs from the plays of Shakspere in his faculty recital.

On Monday, April 27, the English and drama departments will sponsor the showing of the motion picture version of Richard III, starring Sir Laurence Olivier.

Already the anniversary has been emphasized by James A. Bloy in his organ recital on February 7, in which he played compositions by four of Shakspere's contemporaries: William Byrd, John Bull, Giles Farnaby, and Orlando Gibbons; and by Miss Carole Cooper in her senior voice recital on February 27, in which she included a group of the clowns' songs from the plays.

Vespers Mar. 22 To Begin Holy Week Celebration

Celebration of Holy Week will begin with the vespers service on Palm Sunday, March 22. The Rev. Miss Wilmina Rowland, Director of Education Loans and Scholarships for the Board of Christian Education of the United Presbyterian Church, will be the speaker.

Daily chapel services during Holy Week will be presented by members of the Bible department. The Bible readings will be passages dealing with the events of that day in the life of Christ.

As is customary, the Good Friday service, at eight a.m., will consist of three talks on the seven last words of our Lord. Mr. A. Thomas Horst will speak on the first three; Mr. Victor R. Schoen on the fourth and fifth; and Dr. Elizabeth H. Jackson on the sixth and seventh words.

Mr. Ramger Wins Grant For Study At U. of Minn.

A Maryville College professor, Robert C. Ramger, who teaches biology, has won a $5,035 grant for a year's study at the University of Minnesota in radiation biology.

Ramger, who has been engaged in research work in biology at Vassar College, and who will go to Vassar again this summer, will move to St. Paul, Minn., in the fall. His grant will last from September, 1964, until June, 1965, and may be renewed. The work will give him a full year of study toward a doctorate in biology.

The program under which the Maryville teacher will work is sponsored by the National Science Foundation and the Atomic Energy Commission. One of the major goals is to improve college teaching. Ramger's award is the first of its kind obtained by a Maryville teacher.

In the program at Vassar, Ramger is working with a former professor at Maryville, Dr. Donald B. Williams, who holds an AEC grant for research on radiation effects on protozoa. Ramger's wife and three children will continue to live in Maryville for the summer, and the family will move to Minnesota in the fall.

The newly-elected members of Alpha Gamma Sigma, the Maryville College scholastic society, are pictured after induction Monday evening, March 9. Front row, left to right: Margaret Horne, Gloria Sturmfels, Roberta Bryson, Charlotta Cook. Back row, left to right: Linda Murchison, Carolyn Huff, Kenneth Harrison, Bert Randall, and Margaret Doxier.

Kresge Foundation Gives MC $25,000

Maryville College has received $25,000 from the Kresge Foundation which will be used in the program of modernization of Fayerweather Science Hall as soon as a new science building is erected.

The Kresge Foundation grant was first announced in June, 1961. The $25,000 grant was conditional upon the college raising $210,000 to make the estimated $235,000 cost of the work to be done in the present science building.

The college passed the required $210,000 figure in February in connection with the current development effort, and the Kresge Foundation was notified by President Joseph J. Copeland. The Kresge contribution, earmarked for the renovation of Fayerweather Science Hall, is not part of the $920,000 now being sought. About two-thirds of this sum will be for the new science building.

Maryville Board Of Directors Hears Reports On Campaign Progress

A special called meeting of the Board of Directors was held Friday, Febuary 28, 1964, to discuss the Maryville College development campaign. Reports concerning the twenty alumni meetings of this fall and winter, given by President Copeland and Raymond I. Brahams, Jr., Director of Development, showed a promising response from the 1000 alumni who attended these meetings.

A kick-off breakfast was held Tuesday, March 10, for a Blount County solicitation campaign which will be held under the direction of H. F. Lamon, Jr. and Judson B. Murphy. Business firms and individuals as well as alumni of the area will be called on by 120 campaigners working on the program.

Lamon told of plans underway in Richmond, Virginia; Jacksonville, Florida; Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; and Atlanta, Georgia, for solicitation of alumni in these areas and of plans for other areas of concentration.

Announcement of the advancement toward the $920,000 goal was made at the dinner for Blount County workers and business and professional leaders on March 6.

Gloria Sturmfels Acquires Woodrow Wilson Fellowship

Gloria Sturmfels, senior psychology major from St. Louis, Missouri, has won an appointment as a Woodrow Wilson fellow for one year of graduate study at the university of her choice, with full tuition and fees paid, as well as a stipend of $1800. Miss Sturmfels is the seventh Maryville College student to win such a fellowship in seven years. Former winners are Ruth Morris, chemistry, 1958-59; Keith Ham, history, 1959-60; Helen Gilmour, philosophy, 1960-61; Charles Patrick Pearson, English, 1961-62; Harriet Fuhrman, English, 1962-63; Judith Mikeal, history, 1963-64.

The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation is the largest private source of support for advanced study in liberal arts in North America. 1507 students from 357 colleges and universities received appointments this year. These winners were chosen from over 11,000 college seniors from 904 schools in the United States and Canada.

The Foundation made honorable mention awards to 1216 students, among them, Kenneth Harrison of Enterprise, Alabama, a student at Maryville College.

Ainsworth, Schoen Attend Asian Studies Seminar

Arthur D. Ainsworth, associate professor and chairman of the department of political science, and Victor R. Schoen, assistant professor of music, are among teachers from Maryville College and other colleges in this area who are participating in an Asian studies seminar which meets once a month at the University of Chattanooga. Financed by the Ford Foundation, the seminar is a three-year program with an extremely broad scope — the culture of Asian countries, including literature, art, history, political science, and music.

Having begun in September, the seminars are studying each month this year different phases of Chinese and Japanese culture. In May, the subject will be Chinese painting; in April, Japanese literature. Next year the Middle East and Africa will be studied; India and Southeast Asia are the last areas for discussion.

Each participating school is allotted funds for books. These funds will enrich Maryville's library in many fields by providing a wonderful collection on ancient to modern Oriental culture. Some of the books are about Chinese Communist leaders and Chinese and Japanese relations with the West.

Among the translators of Chinese authors is J. Edward Kidder, a Maryville alumnus who is an authority on Oriental art, particularly Japanese art.

MC Decides To Withdraw From Y; Will Join UCCF

At the last meeting of the Executive Council, a resolution was passed by which Maryville College will drop out of the YMCA and YWCA and join the United Campus Christian Fellowship (UCCF). This decision was the product of a long period of study and careful consideration.

For three years a study committee has existed to consider the relation of the Maryville YM and YW to the national Y. Last year a resolution was passed whereby Maryville was to stay in the Y but to study affiliations more closely, especially UCCF. The committee, consisting of both faculty and students, carried over to this year; and last summer John Spangler attended the UCCF conference. During the Christmas vacation, eight MC students attended the Quadrennial Conference, in which UCCF participated, at Athens, Ohio.

After this a recommendation to drop out of the Y and join UCCF was passed and taken to the Advisory Board, consisting of faculty and staff, where it was passed unanimously. The recommendation was then taken to the Y Cabinet, where it was also passed. An amendment was passed providing that Maryville will remain in Y until a new constitution is written. The amended recommendation was then taken to the Executive Council.

Two sessions of the Executive Council acted on the recommendation; at the second one, Dr. Nakajima, who is a secretary of UCCF, was present. He was able to give valuable information regarding UCCF, and the Executive Council passed the recommendation. As soon as the new constitution providing for membership in UCCF is written, it will be submitted to the Y membership for a vote.

There are several basic reasons for this decision: first, UCCF is church related; the Y is not. Second, as a member of UCCF, Maryville can have any type of physical organization de-

Cont. Page 6, Col. 1

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor-in-Chief
CHARLOTTA COOK

News Editor — ELENORA EASTERLY
Feature Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Sports Editors — GINNA COON and DAVID KING
Copy Editor — SANDRA SCOFIELD
Art Editor — DEANNA STURGELL
Exchange Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Business Editor — GORDON STEWART
Circulation Manager — JUDY SIVER

Faculty Advisor — DR. CAROLYN BLAIR
Editorial Advisor — MR. DUNCAN BENNETT
Financial Advisor — MR. FRANK LAYMAN

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTERS: Sandra Briggs, Sandra Chittick, Carolyn Huff, Phil Jerome, Ann Jordan, Dave Marston, Will Mitchell, David Powell, Judy Siver, Lori Sturmfels, and Carolyn O'Neal

her mark

It has been brought to our attention several times lately that the women's honor system is failing because honor is an individual matter and does not extend to being thy sister's keeper. Since part of the honor code as it now exists includes responsibility to the community, some change must be made in it.

While the most logical step would be a revision in the honor code to limit its scope to the individual, perhaps a more advantageous program would be to abolish the system altogether, and with it to disband the women's government. This would then eliminate any obligations one might feel toward maintaining campus standards, and would also rid us of those imperfect judges we elect for the purpose of having someone to blame when we feel guilty about the rules.

This lack of restrictive measures could lead to chaos. We propose, therefore, a spy network of student informers. This organization would exist for the purpose of catching rule breakers, and could be hired by the Student Help Office. Pay by the hour might not be lucrative because it takes only minutes to catch someone infractioning. We suggest that a bounty system with pay by the head would be more successful, especially in numbers reported, for everyone is concerned more with his own pocket than for his friends. This system might even be extended on a commission basis to the whole campus.

There are disadvantages here, for motives could become purely mercenary and perhaps a few innocents would be caught up in the headhunt. This danger isn't especially grave, however, for while a few might suffer from circumstantial evidence (such as having a house key on one's key ring which, of course, means an illegal house on campus), the number of subversives justly punished would far outweigh the number of innocents.

I make this suggestion with the good of the community in mind, but do not intend to do anything personally about the matter. Letters to the editor on the subject would be greatly appreciated.

Appalachian Odyssey

by Dave Powell

Conclusion

Most mornings we couldn't contain ourselves, so we hummed.

Or whistled . . .

Or sang . . .

"Oh, the Lord's been good to me

And so I thank the Lord

For givin' me the things I need

The sun and the rain and the appleseed

Oh the Lord's been good to me."

Bill sorta liked "And it's only seven miles to Mary Ann."

Most days I found salt in the sweatband of my trusty old, crusty old red hat.

Vanilla Wafers don't last more than one meal no matter what size box they come in.

Bill Seabreeze sells 200 hamburgers a night at his yellow counter in Erwin, Tennessee. He can cook you up a hot dog, french fries and pour a Coke in 55 seconds flat.

The Chestoa Baptist church has three rooms, no kitchen, no bathroom, no running water.

We discussed population explosion, 1984, girls, Soupy Sales, food, mercy killing, Spartacus.

Some days I wore a daisy in my buttonhole.

Skeptically we v e n t u r e d through a bellowing, hollering herd of Black Angus cattle.

Bruce Winters was carrying a shotgun bigger than he was. His Pop was toting a Remington automatic.

Frank Norman wanted to know if I was going to become a doctor. Said he hoped so " 'cause no one knows what's wrong with my head."

W. C. Oaks, Route 3, Roan Mountain ("Mounting"), Tennessee, wondered if we had been "borned again."

"Honey, I has led many a man to Jesus stayin' up nights talkin' to 'em about what is right for our mortal frame."

From a letter dated September 30, 1963, "—it brought Joy to me when I got your letter. It made me feel that I might of planted a word upon your Hart and probly upon the hart of your friend also."

Let it be known, Mr. Oaks, that you have.

* * * * * * *

We stopped to watch fellas building a log bridge across a pasture creek.

In Dennis Cove, four butterflies held council on a white quartz chip.

Roy Calhoun and Henry converted their 1950 Buick into a truck.

Gig and Gene knew how to

Cont. Page 6, Col. 2

February Meetings In Retrospect

by Sandy Chittick

Editor's note: This is the third in a series of surveys conducted to determine campus reaction and is not intended to be all-inclusive.

Dodging the menacing looks of an impatient librarian and convincing students that their anonymity would be preserved, I managed to solicit some opinions about the February meetings.

The general feeling is that the meetings this year were very good. Impressions ranged from "O.K." to "cool as a moose," from one freshman boy. Another freshman said "they weren't the awful February Meetings that everyone had told me about; they were interesting!"

Subject

The subject of "A Valid Campus Morality" was appealing to most students. A senior said, "the speakers spoke to us as students about things vital to us, as related to Christian thoughts." Most people appreciated the frankness of the speakers. Some students complained of a lack of real religious emphasis and "too much sociology." One sophomore girl wondered if everyone thought "all they had to do was mention the word 'sex' and people would come to their meetings in droves."

Speakers

Both speakers were very popular. Some students thought Dr. Briner, with his intellectual appeal, was "the greatest." Others were impressed by Dr. Nakajima's candid approach. Some students liked the depth given to the meetings through the two varied presentations of the same basic subject; others felt that the unity afforded by one speaker would have been better. One junior thought that the idea of two speakers worked well this year, but with different individuals it might be a risky endeavor.

Singing

Suggestions on the music included letting students select their favorite "good ol' hymns instead of those fancy jobs," more singing by the choir, a student song leader, an outside leader, and more singing by the students. A typical upperclassman's comment was, "I miss Barry," the piano-banging, peppy wonder that so brightened the February meetings in previous years.

Counsellors

Almost everyone considered the counsellors valuable aids to personal problems. Many people admired their willingness to give up their time. A few students felt that some of the counsellors should have spent more time with a group rather than a few individuals.

Several thought that the panel idea used in discussions was good, but criticized the panel for lack of organization and coordination with the speaker. One of the housemothers suggested use of a panel with smaller groups where more specific questions and answers could be considered. Many people were unhappy with the Thursday evening discussion, but agreed that the discussions were greatly improved after the students had brought out many of the sore spots in campus life.

Communion

The Communion Service rated as the least controversial activity; everyone agreed that it was "wonderful," "the best one I've ever been to," "simple yet significant," "a way of bringing the school closer," and "a perfect way to end." The serving of Communion by College people was well received.

Length

Students considered the length of the February meetings all right. A few thought that they were too long to allow full participation without becoming exhausted. Thursday t h r o u g h Wednesday was considered a good time since it gave a break in the middle. One junior said, "Thursday to Wednesday is fine — only not a week!"

The meetings this year might be summed up by one boy's comment, "I wasn't planning on going at all this year, but they were so interesting I ended up going to every one!"

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES
★ SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
√ CHECK ACCOUNTS
★ CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
★ TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

WAYNE SIMMONS

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!
TIP TOP BARBER SHOP
105 Church St. Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop Open 6 Days a Week

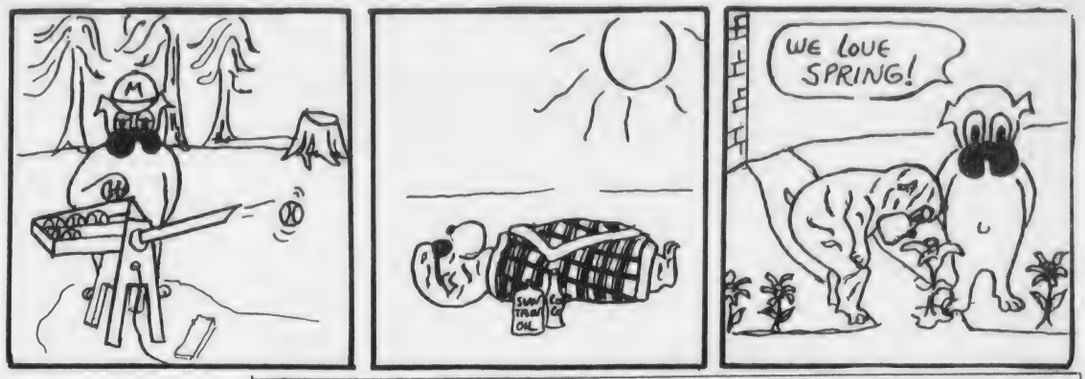
SCOREBOARD

by Dave Marston

Rules relax. Almost invariably, the rules which guided one generation are somewhat relaxed in the succeeding generation. If you have younger brothers, you know that they're allowed to do things that you couldn't even talk about at that age, and probably that bothers you just a little. It does me. Similarly, the rules which guide our college life have gradually been relaxed over the years, and here too, each relaxation tends to draw criticism from those who can remember back when things were different.

But if changing rules are indeed a fact of community life (and even a quick glance at world history confirms that they are), it is not enough to simply criticize and oppose the changes as they come. For they will come anyway. Rather, it would seem more effective to concede the possibility of change, and then work to shape that change into the most constructive one possible. In the Student-Faculty Senate in recent weeks, students and faculty members have been working together, in an effort to decide whether or not cars on campus would be a constructive change for Maryville College.

The Car Committee was formed by Student Council nearly three years ago—or about the same time that Detroit quit making DeSotos. During its first years of life, this committee compiled a somewhat remarkable pile of information on car programs of other campuses (or campii, if you're a purist!). Nearly one hundred colleges were consulted, the majority of them similar in size and purpose to Maryville, and of these well over half replied with useful information.



From this preliminary work, a proposal was drawn up and presented to Student-Faculty Senate, a proposal suggesting a limited number of cars on this campus as a senior privilege. The Senate discussed the measure, and appointed a student-faculty committee to look deeper into the matter, and to submit another report.

At the Senate meeting on February 27, which, incidentally, was excellent, the Senate voted unanimously to request that the Car Committee "work for a proposal to be presented at the next Student-Faculty Senate meeting for a trial period of cars on campus after spring vacation this year."

This, in itself, is not momentous. The proposal may or may not meet with the approval of the Senate, or it may be rejected later by either the Executive Council or the Student Council (although I wouldn't bet on the latter possibility).

What is significant, however, is that at this point, the concept of cars on campus is not being impulsively railroaded by students, nor is it being stubbornly opposed by faculty. Working together, students and faculty are carefully and unemotionally considering the possibility and all of its implications, in an effort to determine the most constructive change. In such atmosphere, there is every reason to believe that the final outcome of this study will mark significant progress for Maryville College.

SULLIVAN and PUDGY by Deanna Sturgell

A jest's prosperity lies in the ear
Of him that hears it, never in the tongue
Of him that makes it.
—Shakspere

McBRAYER SHOE SHOP
QUALITY SHOE REPAIR WORK
Open 6 Days a Week

AN EVENING OF OPERA REVIEWED . . .

by Ann Jordan

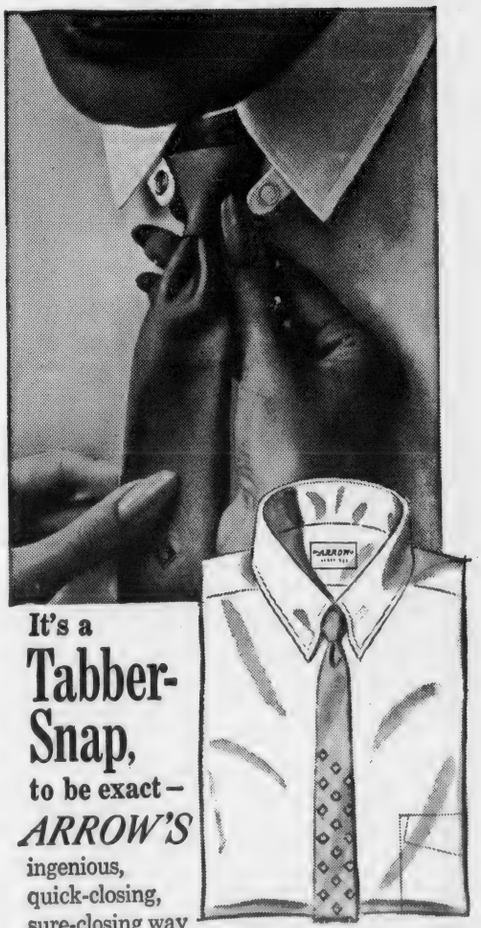
The "Opera Double Bill" was an impressive example of Maryville's capabilities in an extremely difficult medium for amateurs. The vocal, instrumental, and drama departments collaborated to put on a smooth production which was almost a professional performance. The incredibility of most opera plots is proverbial; yet skillful acting and settings are usually neglected, presumably on the theory that it is not the musicians' business. What happens when there is a real attempt at coordination of all facets of the opera was superbly demonstrated by the performance.

The "Impresario," which is not really an opera, but a spoken comedy interspersed with arias, is a witty spoof on operas and their production. Included among its cast of characters was Mr. Scruples, the impresario who wants only to retire to a farm; Mr. Bluff, his none too scrupulous assistant; Mr. Angel, a wealthy businessman with an excellent head for figures—especially female ones; and his two rival proteges, Miss Silverpeal and Miss Goldentrill.

I would especially like to compliment Dwight Campbell's amusing acting as Mr. Scruples and David Clinkman as Mr. Bluff, whose facial expressions made a difficult part acceptable. Both Carole Cooper and Sarah Tompkins showed immense talent and explored quite an astonishing vocal range; Miss Tompkins' diction, however, was not quite up to the clarity of Miss Cooper's.

The plot is a lively one demonstrating that all the characters, except Mr. Scruples, were motivated to produce an opera not for art's sake, but for personal advancement. The make-up and the acting were highly exaggerated burlesque on the stylized action of much opera. As each person spoke or sang, he would make elaborate gestures illustrating nearly every word while the rest of the cast remained stock-still in whatever position they had assumed last. Of course, all of this would have been meaningless without Mozart's music—gay, brilliant, intimate and completely civilized.

Puccini's "The Cloak" was quite a change of mood. From a clever pen-and-ink sketch we turn to somber Rembrant-shades. As always it is Puccini's haunting and melodious music (though in this case often quite dissonant), which turned sheer melodrama into moving tragedy. The quietly somber setting established the mood perfectly for the opera. One of the most pleasant surprises was the remarkably clear enunciation of the leading characters.



As for the singing, it was remarkable. David Evans' deep baritone was just right for the part of the jealous husband (although a few of his lowest notes didn't quite come through). Don Brakebill's magnificent tenor really showed off in the high notes, while Jean Dorscheid maintained amazing control and range. At the same time, the supporting cast contributed nearly equal musical performances and enhanced the production immensely.

The orchestra also came through with flying colors on a most difficult score. A quibbler would point out occasional slurred attacks, and in the Puccini the horns had a little trouble with intonation. But balance, both among the instruments within the orchestra and between the orchestra and stage was amazing.

If this sounds like a rave notice, it is. All I can say is congratulations, Fine Arts Department, and let's have more!

Martin's DRUG STORE
401 S Washington St Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.
Offering Maryville College Students
a complete line of cosmetics,
plus
a reliable prescription service
Located just off campus on Washington St.

Proffitt's
EASTER — March 29
It's a snap to hold down a neat white collar job.

It's a Tabber-Snap, to be exact — ARROW'S ingenious, quick-closing, sure-closing way to fasten down a neat tab collar. This Paddock Club shirt that looks like silk is really smooth broadcloth made of the finest long-staple Supima® cotton and "Sanforized" labeled to ensure perfect fit. This is one tab you should pick up.
It's only $5.00
Proffitt's
Midland Shopping Center

FORECAST OF SPRING SPORTS

Newcomers Dominate Track Team Future

by Phil Jerome

The 1964 edition of the track team will be an interesting one to watch. With a distinct shortage of lettermen, Coach Howard Tomlinson will have to rely on a large turn-out of freshmen and transfer athletes. Fortunately for Tomlinson, the group of freshmen is one of the most interesting ever to appear on the Maryville athletic scene.

Heading the newcomers is Dave Alexander. Alexander is a coach's dream. He is tall, strong, and fast, and can compete in any event. In high school he won honors as the state decathlon champion. The other newcomers are not as versatile as Alexander, but in their individual specialities will be important factors in the success of the team. Among these are Jerry Bell in the 440, Dave Taylor in the high jump, Carl McDonald in the distances, and Jack Smoot in the 220.

The Scots will be considerably stronger in the trade events than they will be in the field events. The sprints will be headed by returning letterman Roland McClanahan. He will be joined in the 220 by Jack Smoot and possibly Alexander. Tomlinson expects to be strongest in the middle distance events. Transfer student Jerry Bell is capable of a :51 second quarter mile, and Hugh McCampbell and Rich Reed will form a strong twosome in the 880 yard run. Both McCampbell and Reed are able to

Cont. Page 5, Col. 3

Baseballers Ready But Lacking Depth

by Phil Jerome

In discussing the possibilities of the 1964 baseball team, Coach Boydson Baird can say that he has a letterman for every position except third base. Technically the statement is true, but it is not an honest one. With seven returning veterans, Baird can fill eight positions, but not at one time. From the ranks of a somewhat untested freshman turnout, Baird must find two men capable of stepping immediately into a starting role.

Although the infield is the only area that Baird cannot place an experienced hand at every position, it might be one of the strongest areas on the team. At first base is letterman Gary Dutton. Dutton's size gives him plenty of power at the plate. However, in the field it is a definite handicap and Dutton has only a limited range. To make up for Dutton, Baird can place Kip Martin, the hustling captain of the basketball team at second base. At shortstop, Red Prudhon makes that position one of the strongest on the team. Although he had only a mediocre year last season, Prudhon at his best is an excellent baseball player. He can be a flawless fielder with wide range who wields a dangerous and potent bat. Even when he is below his best in the mechanical functions, Prudhon is an invaluable member of the team. From his shortstop position he holds the infield together and directs the action of the outfielders. Third base is wide open. Roger Petty is a possibility. A letterman at second base, it is not known if Petty will be able to make the switch to third. Perhaps the strongest candidate for the position is senior Bob Mullins. Last year Mullins served wholly as a pitcher. However, if he is given the chance he might develop into a fine third baseman. He has the arm needed to make the long throw from third to first and may be the fastest man on the team. This would give him the range to field bunts and balls hit between third and short.

Baird's primary problem is the lack of pitchers. Only one returns from last year's squad — Dave West. West is a strong right-hander who has been the most effective pitcher on the team for the past two years. However, the Scots have a busy 20 game schedule and it is obvious that West cannot carry the load by himself. In finding other pitchers to back up West, it is not as much question of who can pitch well, but who can pitch. Lettermen Bob Mullins and Joe Scheideler have both pitched in the past. Of the freshmen, Jack Llewellyn, Paul Koster, and Ken Fugate are all applying for the team as pitchers. If the team squad is to do well, pitching help will have to be found.

The brightest spot on the team is catcher. Sonny Hughes distinguished himself last year at that position. However, freshman Roger Banks is reputed to be an excellent prospect. If Banks lives up to his advanced billing, Sonny Hughes will be freed for service at either first base or in the outfield.

The outfield tends to be pretty much of a question mark. Joe Scheideler will hold down one of the positions. Dave West, when he is not on the mound, is one of the finest outfielders in the area. For the third position, Baird may use Sonny Hughes. However, the outfield on the whole will be subjected to many changes. Again, Baird will have to turn to the crop of freshmen for help in this area.

The Scots have fine catching and an adequate infield. Although they are not as powerful at the plate as they were last year, hitting is not one of Baird's major problems. The team suffers from a pronounced lack of depth. This and the pitching shortage must be solved if the team is to equal last year's record.

Tennis Outlook Bright With Entire Team Back and Talented Marx Playing

by Phil Jerome

Lynn Howard is a tall, lean lad who customarily fills the number two single's position on the Maryville College tennis team. If he is conspicuous for anything, besides his height, it is his inconspicuousness. Quiet and soft spoken, he is not the type of person that one would expect to burst into displays of excessive enthusiasm. Nevertheless, when discussing the possibilities of the 1964 tennis team, Howard reaches height comparable to Cassius Clay: "We'll be three times as good. We're shooting for a record of 16 wins and O losses." He thought a moment, sliding back into his more reserved character, "Better make that 13 and 3."

Howard is not alone in his enthusiasm. A spirit of high optimism has pervaded the rest of the team and the athletic department as a whole. Track coach Howard Tomlinson spares few adjectives: "The tennis team is loaded. If they don't have a perfect season they ought to fire the coach." The "coach," Lauren Kardatzke, is not willing to go as far as his companion in assaying the prospects of his team, but, even with the traditional display of pessimism that is required of all coaches, he admits that he is "hoping to do better than break even."

Whatever form the enthusiasm might take, it is well founded. Coach Kardatzke will welcome back the same team that posted a 6 and 4 record last year (three of the defeats were by scores of 5 to 4). The returning lettermen will be headed by Todd Owers, a veteran of three previous campaigns. Owers held down the number one singles position on last year's squad. The other returning netters, in the order of their seeding are Lynn Howard, Dave Marston, Rich Marshall, Bob Paul and Dale Fischbach. In addition to these six Kardatzke's squad will be blessed with the services of Dave Marx. A letterman two years ago, Marx dropped out of competition to concentrate on extra-athletic activities. His return to the team will further enhance the power of the team. He is expected to be a strong contender for the number one single's position. To continue a listing of the wealth of talent, Bill Gass and Jan Dearcopp must be mentioned. Both saw limited service on last year's team. Bill Humphrey, and Will Michell are newcomers to the squad.

As a coach one of Kardatzke's major problems will be to place his talented netters into the six singles positions and three doubles teams. Most of this trouble can be attributed to Marx's decision to return to action. As he can be expected to fill one of the early seedings, one man from last year's team will have to be dropped from regular activity. Thus, competition for the sixth position will be fierce. Chief contenders will be Bob Paul, Dale Fischbach, and Bill Gass.

The following is a sketch of the talents of each of the six lettermen and Dave Marx. The comments are based on remarks by the members of the team and Coach Kardatzke.

TODD OWERS: Played number one singles last year. His strongest asset is his consistency. He has only a fair service. It is not over-powering or difficult to return. He has one of the best overhead shots on the team and is a good lobber. As a doubles team, he and Dave Marston posted a creditable 6 and 3 record in the difficult number one position. He is an ideal partner for Marston because he works well at the base line while Marston is a good net man.

DAVE MARX: Marx will challenge Owers for the number one position. His forte is his serve. "If it is hitting, no one can return it." He has very good ground strokes.

LYNN HOWARD: Played number two singles position. If he wanted to he could challenge Marx and Owers for the first slot, though his chances would be hurt by his lack of experience. He has an excellent serve and "thinks the game well." He has good speed and good range. His height makes it difficult for opponents to lob over him. However, his height also makes his reactions at the net a bit slow; he's a bit "too lanky to maneuver" well. He teamed with Rich Marshall to form the number two doubles team. Last year they compiled a 6 and 3 record. This year they may move up to the number one doubles postion.

DAVE MARSTON: Played number three singles last year. He doesn't have a consistently strong serve. If the first one misses, the second one is a lob. He also has a weak backhand. Frequently he can talk his opponent to death. He is "an outstanding doubles player," as a very good net man.

RICH MARSHALL: Played number four singles. He had a 7 and 2 record last year. He has a good forehand, even though it is "a bit unorthodox." He has a strong overhand shot. He is an unusually calm player, and is not easily affected by tension.

BOB PAUL: He was the number five singles man last year. If his serve is in, he's hard to beat. He has to work on his ground game. He has been practicing placement of shots, his follow-through and a new serve. He will have to fight to earn a spot in the top six.

DALE FISCHBACH: Played in the sixth position last year, and posted an 8 and 1 record. He has the shots and the confidence. He should do better this year. His greatest handicap is his slowness.

WGAP
CAMPUS MIKE
Voice of Maryville College
Sunday Evening
9:30-10:00

FOR EASTER . .
We Feature The Finest In Cut Flowers and Corsages.
See DAVE WEST or RICH BOYD
HORNE'S FLORIST
215 W Broadway Phone 982-2690

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK
MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER
RELIGIOUS READING MATERIALS TO FIT EVERY STUDENT'S NEEDS
STUDENTS ALWAYS WELCOME!
983-4982

Sigs Regain 'Shoe' With Basketball Win

The coveted "Stinkin' Shoe," symbol of inter-society athletic victory, will go back to the Sig house, thanks to that society's timely victory over the Kappa Phi All-Stars, 43-29.

The game was never in much doubt as the Alpha Sigma All-Stars built up a comfortable lead that they made stick until the final buzzer. Mike White and Toby Ford were the heroes for the Sig squad as they contributed 17 and 14 points apiece. Roger Banks was next with 5 points and Sig President Red Prudhon had 4. Smoot had 2 and Petty had 1 to round out the scoring for the victors.

The scoring for the Phi's was a little more evenly distributed with tall Lynn Howard's 9 points being the highest for the losers. Rich Reed came next with 6 points and John Livingston had 5. Rich Marshall was credited with 4 points and John Gardepe 2. Ben Carney, hero of last year's intramural game, was held to only 3 points, one of the deciding factors.

The "Stinkin' Shoe" is awarded to the society who wins at least two of the three all-star games played between the societies during the year. The competition comes in softball, football, and basketball.

Davis Cup Stars To Play In Knoxville

Dennis Raulston and Chuck McKinley, two of America's top amateur tennis players and members of this year's team which returned the Davis Cup to the United States, will be in Knoxville on March 22 for an indoor exhibition. Sponsored by the Knoxville Tennis Patron's Foundation, Inc., the match will be held at the Coliseum and student tickets may be ordered for $1 by writing the sponsors at P. O. Box 2187.

The return of the coveted Davis Cup, symbol of world amateur tennis supremacy, was one of the highlights of the past sports year but the news was lost among the news of Christmas basketball tournaments and post-season football bowl games. The U. S. lost the mug to the Australians in 1959 and wasn't able to recover it until McKinley and Raulston, a couple of "one-time wild kids who had been set down by U. S. tennis officials for their tempermental outbursts," superbly whipped the "Aussies" for the victory. Raulston has been particularly noted for his displays of temper on the courts and was known as "Dennis the Menace" to many who watched his antics.

The duo was forced to fight to the end against some rangy competition and for a while it looked as though the team from down under might retain the trophy. It was McKinley's chips-down pressure playing that enabled him to overcome his faltering opponent to clinch the victory. It will be this same great team that will be performing at the Knoxville Coliseum, one of the biggest sports events in East Tennessee this year. Also appearing with Raulston and McKinley will be Ham Richardson, himself a former Davis Cup star, and Cliff Richey, an up and coming youngster.

Town, Faculty Teams Basketball Champs

The Intramural basketball season came to a close with the Town Rounders rolling over the Sig Sledge Hammers for the "A" League championship and the Faculty edging out the independent Who-Dun-Its for the "B" League title. Final statistics show that Mike White of the Town Rounders was high scorer in the "A" League with 95 points and 'Battlin' Bob" Ramger of the Faculty team took high honors for the "B" League with 112 points.

The game between the Town Rounders and the Sledge Hammers wasn't much of a basketball game as the town boys completely dominated play, winning by a 59-33 margin. Wilbur Ramsey was high man for the victors, pumping in 15 points. Herman Ramsey was close behind with 11 points, while Mike White and Clint Abbott had 9 and 8, respectively. Archie Anderson and Donnie Phelps each had 6 points and "Beetle" Bailey had 2. For the conquered Sigs it was Red Prudhon with 10 points, Roger Banks with 7, Gordon Higgins and Toby Ford with 6, and Dave Solomon with 4.

The "B" League finale was a much closer game as Dr. Young and Mr. Ramger left the test tubes long enough to lead their team to a 49-42 victory. Dr. Young was high man with 22 points and Mr. Ramger has 15. Athletic Coach Kardatzke dumped in 5 points and Psychology instructor Waters had 2. Honorary faculty member Jim Cummings was held to 4 points but was second high scorer in the league. For the Who-Dun-Its it was Robertson leading the team with 20 points, Mullins with 9, Fischbach with 8, Gready with 3, and Evaul with 2.

TRACK
Cont. from Page 4, Col. 1

record a respectable timing of 2:05 in this event. Tomlinson will put Bell, Smoot, Alexander, and Reed together to form one of the finest mile relay teams that Maryville has had in recent years. Maryville will also be well stocked with hurdlers. Tomlinson feels that Terry Amon, Dave Hutchinson, Chuck Hucknall, and Dan Mitchell form "the most experience group of hurdlers" that he has ever had. The distance events will be handled by dependable letterman John Livingston. After two years of work, Tomlinson feels that Livingston is about ready to blossom into a fine long distance runner. Carl McDonald, who brings a fine high school record with him, will challenge Livingston.

If the squad has a weak link, it lies in the field events. Fortunately, the team has Alexander. The former decathlon champion can pole vault, broad jump, high jump, and put the shot. Before the season is over, he may have to learn to throw the discus. The team should be strong in the high jump and in the javelin. Dave Taylor, the tall fullback on the soccer team, is even more adept as a high jumper. In high school he topped the six foot mark. If he can equal this height in college, he will record a long string of first place finishes. In the javelin, Greg Hallen provides Tomlinson with a strong contender in that event. McClanahan and Alexander will present a formidable twosome in the broad jump. In the shot put, Gene Smith can be expected to gather place and show points consistently, although first place finishes are a bit idealistic. Pole vault duties will be shared between Alexander and freshman Bill Hollis. With the injury to Bert Randall's foot, little can be expected on the discus.

Wrestling Wrap-Up

by Will Mitchell

The most descriptive word for the wrestling squad's opinion of the SEC tournament in Chattanooga is "disappointing." We really weren't expecting very much, but we did hope to put a few men in the finals, and we also hoped that Auburn University would be dethroned. Auburn managed to win their 18th consecutive title by the narrow margin of 2 points. Maryville placed seventh of the 11 schools participating, scoring on Gary Hall's second place in the 130 pound class, and fourth place finishes by Chuck Hucknall and Roy Ries in the 115 and 123 pound classes respectively. Next year there is always the chance to do better, especially as the squad will lose only Bill DeWeese through graduation. Next year also, we will have the home mat advantage, as Maryville will host the 19th Annual Southeastern Wrestling Conference Tournament. Auburn beware!

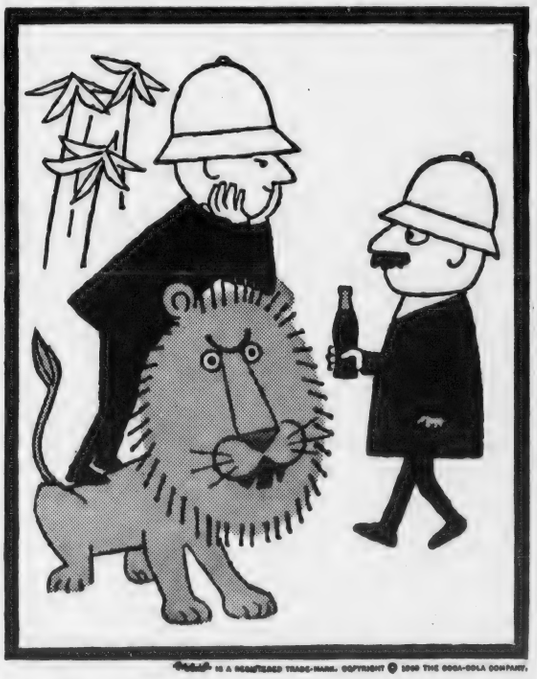
Varsity Records

	wt.	pts.	season W.	L.	D.
Charles Hucknall	123	0	0	2	0
Roy Ries	123	32	8	2	0
Gary Hall	130	40	10	1	1
Will Mitchell	137	25	5	3	0
	147	0	0	1	0
Dale Hudler	137	3	1	2	0
Gene Dickson	137	5	1	0	0
	147	3	1	2	0
Don Shields	147	10	2	4	0
Bill DeWeese	147	2	0	1	1
	157	10	2	5	0
John Ross	167	0	0	1	0
Van Pallis	167	11	3	4	0
	157	0	0	2	0
John Chalki	157	0	0	1	0
	167	0	0	3	0
	191	0	0	1	0
Wayne Frey	191	0	0	1	0
	167	2	0	0	1
Joe Kucinski	HW	13	3	1	0
	177	14	4	4	0
Fred Willocks	177	2	0	3	1
Pat O'Bryan	191	0	0	3	0
Jim Pryor	HW	0	0	8	0
Adam Deveney	147	0	0	1	0
	167	0	0	1	0

For New Shoes,

Polishes & Dyes
Shoe Shine Equipment
Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Remedies

City Shoe Shop



106 West Broadway

Birthday Cakes
Pastries of all Kinds
BIG 97 Cent PIZZA PIE
Deliveries Twice Daily

VAN'S BAKERY

Call the Sweetest Number in Town
982-7920 983-4413

"Coke" is a registered trade-mark. Copyright © 1960 The Coca-Cola Company.

Dr. Livingstone?

What a happy man he would have been if his man Stanley could have brought along a carton of Coke! That cold crisp taste, that lively lift would certainly hit the spot with any tired explorer. In fact, after your next safari to class—wouldn't Coca-Cola taste good to you?

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED...HAVE A COKE!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

RODDY MANUFACTURING CO.
Maryville, Tenn.

DEAN'S LIST

FIRST SEMESTER

Freshmen

Alcan, Beverly	3.56
Bates, Ruth Ellen	3.25
Corbett, Florence	3.63
Currie, Martha	3.82
Eggers, Frank	4.00
Evaul, William	3.35
Hart, Robert	3.69
Huffines, Lois	3.63
Kerr, John Allen	3.25
Radcliff, Danny	3.50
Rumsey, William	3.65
Story, Donald	3.44
Thomas, Joseph	3.25
van Hartesvelt, Fred	3.31
Weeks, William	3.44
Wright, Cynthia	3.25

Sophomores

Briggs, Sandra	3.78
Carpenter, Donald Dale	3.67
Chittick, Sandra	3.65
Crawford, Louise	3.82
Erwin, William	3.35
Hughes, Gerald	3.43
Jefferson, Marianne	3.37
Millin, Paul	3.26
Mitchell, Mary	3.44
Renne, Keith	3.76
Tiffany, Celia	3.47

Juniors

Carter, Ruth	3.59
Cook, Martha	3.67
Criner, Jane	3.25
Fisher, Norma	4.00
Fulton, Sara	3.61
Heckler, Harry	3.43
Higgins, Thomas	3.31
Hinderer, Jon	3.56
Hodgson, William	3.80
Huff, Carolyn	4.00
Jordan, Ann	3.33
Kirk, Kathie	3.52
Larsen, Arlene	3.30
McDade, Ruth	3.35
Martin, Judith	3.84
Melville, Janet	3.25
Napier, William	3.33
Robbins, Cheryl	3.57
Salmon, Thomas	3.53
Spraetz, Webb	3.28
Wasson, Judith	3.33
Webster, Carol	3.43
Wells, Randall	3.25

Seniors

Anderson, Patricia	3.38
Berg, Barbara	3.40
Brewer, Meredith	3.40
Cook, Charlotta	3.40
Dozier, Margaret	3.78
Ellis, Martha Bess	3.25
Harrison, Kenneth	3.64
Hoerig, Carol	3.50
Horne, Margaret	3.61
McGruther, Robert	3.33
Marston, David	3.60
Marx, David	3.67
Murchison, Richard	3.60
Murchison, Linda	3.60
Rago, Steve	3.33
Randall, Bert	3.80
Rugh, Carol	3.80
Runyon, Joan	3.67
Stewart, Sandra	3.60
Thomas, Charles	3.47

UCCF
Cont. from Page 1, Col. 5

sired. There will be only one set of officers, with this organizational unity stressing unity in the church; in Y, separate sets of officers for the YM and the YW are required. Also, YM at Maryville has suffered from a lack of unity with the regional YM.

One of the guiding principles of UCCF is stated thus:

"United Campus Christian Fellowship is called to find ways of living and working together as Christians while being caught up in the day-to-day life of the university — in study, in discussion, in extracurricular programs and organizations, in teaching's rigor, in administrative decisions."

APPALACHIAN ODYSSEY
Cont. from Page 2, Col. 3

spit tobacco before they could speak, and I'll bet their first words were cuss words.

Johnny McGaurey watched us eat.

Bob Blackwell gave us a sip of moonshine.

Jack Huggins has painted houses in New York, New Jersey . . .

Ernie . . .

* * * * * * *

Back along the trail a few miles before Damascus, Virginia, we signed a register. Below the heading "Destination" Billy wrote — Damascus.

We shared a long silence.

Later Billy asked what I had written as my destination.

Do you still remember what I told you, Billy Boy?

Can you still recall that weary farmer walking down the ridge at dusk calling his cows?

Remember the secret swimming hole where the drunk came looking for us?

And the time we giggled through lunch?

The time we tried to push over the dead tree?

The "short cuts"?

It's a mighty heavy pack of memories we brought home, wasn't it Billy?

* * * * * * *

"Oh, the Lord's been good to me

And so I thank the Lord

For giving me the things I need . . .

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

For School and Office Supplies,

Excellent Service

and

Fast Delivery

White

Office Machines

"Won't Write – Call White"

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products
Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses

DIXIE
SUPER MARKET

WASHINGTON AVENUE

WE HAVE FLOWERS
IN EVERY PRICE RANGE

See our Campus Agent. . .

JACK SPENSER

For Lovely Flowers

From

Hartman's Flowers

982-7500 333 E. Broadway

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

CAPITOL THEATRE

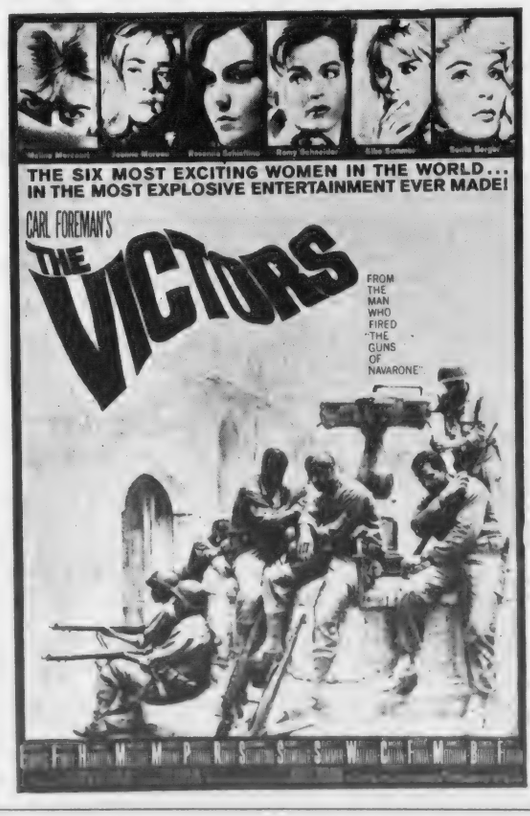
SUN., MON., TUES., WED., THURS.

March 22, 23, 24, 25, 26

There is a moment–a long moment–when everything is risked with the proper stranger.

A PAKULA-MULLIGAN PRODUCTION

Love WITH THE PROPER STRANGER



WRITTEN BY ARNOLD SCHULMAN

Co-starring EDIE ADAMS

Also co-starring HERSCHEL BERNARDI · and introducing TOM BOSLEY · Produced by ALAN J. PAKULA · Directed by ROBERT MULLIGAN · Music— ELMER BERNSTEIN · A PARAMOUNT RELEASE

SUNDAY thru WEDNESDAY

March 15, 16, 17, 18

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 49 | Maryville, Tennessee, March 28, 1964 | No. 11

Executive Council Votes Down Car Proposal; Count Is 11-9

Had Been Passed By Student Council, Student-Faculty Senate

On Friday evening, March 20, at a joint meeting of the Executive Council and The Student Council, the Executive Council announced that the proposal for a trial period of seniors having cars on campus after spring vacation had been defeated, 11 to 9.

Student-Faculty Senate had passed the measure 13-2 on Monday, March 16, and had sent it to Executive Council and to Student Council where on Wednesday evening, March 18, it was passed unanimously.

For Student Body Pres. Dave Marston's Comments, See Page 2, Col. 3

The decision was made after three years of extensive study by the car committee, both of the programs of other schools similar to MC and of the problems such a privilege might present to this school's functioning properly.

Following the defeat of this specific proposal, further discussion by the Executive Council took place. A vote concerning the general principle of cars on MC campus was taken, 14 against, 6 for.

27 Register For European Tour Sponsored By MC

Twenty-seven persons have registered at this time for the 1964 European vacation sponsored by Maryville College. The tour, scheduled from June 8 to June 29, will begin with departure from New York by KLM Royal Dutch Jet Airliner. The itinerary includes stops in Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, France, and England.

The price of the tour is $788, which includes a $100 down payment made at the time of registration. It will be possible for interested persons to register for the trip until April 15.

The College's Twenty-Sixth Sunrise Service At 6:27

The twenty-sixth annual Easter Sunrise Service will be held March 29, 1964 at 6:27 a.m. in the Maryville College Amphitheatre in the College Woods. Dr. Copeland, Dr. Campbell, the Maryville College Choir under Dr. Harter's direction, and a brass section of the Highlander Band under the direction of Mr. Roberts will take part in the service.

The format of the service will be a liturgy type with the minister, choir, and audience taking responsive participation throughout the worship.

Easter Vespers will be a brief meditation service led by Dr. Campbell with the College Choir participating.

Harrison Salisbury, Journalist And Pulitzer Winner, To Lecture Here

Harrison Salisbury, Pulitzer Prize winner and former Moscow Correspondent for The New York Times, will lecture in the Maryville College Chapel at 8:00 p.m. on Friday, April 17.

Mr. Salisbury launched his journalistic career as editor of the University of Minnesota's daily newspaper, but was fired, "for smoking a cigarette in the University library." Later he worked for the United Press and was head of the UP bureau in Moscow before joining the staff of The New York Times in 1949. He spent five years in Russia as Moscow correspondent. In 1953 he was the first American correspondent to visit Soviet Central Asia, long closed to the outside world. A series of articles written on his return to the United States brought him the Pulitzer Prize for international correspondence.

Barred from Russia for five years for his objectionable reports, Mr. Salisbury revisited Russia in 1959.

Since his return in February, 1962 from his seventh visit to Russia, Harrison Salisbury has been appointed Director of National Correspondence for The New York Times.

He has written five non-fiction books, including A New Russia, the latest, and one novel, The Northern Palmyra Affair. These two may be obtained at the Maryville College Bookstore.

Thanksgiving? Christmas? February? A Month to Six Weeks? Alumni Day?

First Step Toward Trimesters

Plans For Six Weeks Summer Term Mature

Plans for the summer term at Maryville College are being worked out now, in consideration of both the needs of current students and community members. The summer term will last six weeks, extending from June 8 to July 17. This is the first step toward a year-round trimester program. Although not as much interest has been shown toward summer school as had been hoped for, the feeling is that this is the time to begin working toward the goal of a full-year program. The schedule is not yet firm and will not be until the end of this semester. Attempts will be made to offer a reasonable assortment of courses for current student and for those in the community.

Credit, Non-Credit Courses

A special attempt will be made to accommodate high school seniors who are planning to go to college or who are doubtful about their ability to do college work. Maryville's summer session will offer non-credit courses for high school graduates in orientation to college in the fields of English and mathematics as well as credit courses in introductory English and mathematics. The course in basic mathematics will attract not only college students but also teachers of high school mathematics. In addition, there will be beginning courses in regular freshman subjects for students who wish to get an early start in college.

Eventually, many students will go through college in three years. There will be more lenient admission to freshman courses in the summer term than in the fall semester for those who are poorly prepared for college, but who wish to attempt college work on a short-term basis. Thus, those who would not ordinarily be accepted at Maryville will be accepted on a probationary basis for the summer term.

Work Counts On Grade-points

There will be advantages to students who wish to build up their grade-point average. Summer work done at Maryville will count both hours and grade-points, whereas summer work taken elsewhere does not count in the grade-point average until the time of graduation.

Courses will be offered in a wide range of subjects, including social studies, philosophy, Bible, education, history, English, mathematics, psychology, and biology. This will enable students to take courses which are otherwise hard to fit into the regular semesters.

Fees $245

The tuition will be $135; room will cost $35; and board will be $75, making a total of $245 for the dormitory students. A maximum of two courses may be taken. Classes will meet for an hour and fifteen minutes every day, five days a week, for a three-hour course. Four-hour courses will have, in addition, two afternoon periods of sixty-five minutes. There will be one chapel period per week, probably on Wednesday.

The course titles are not definitely decided upon as yet, and more information will be given later. However, there will probably be no further survey. Students interested in the summer offerings should go by the Personnel Office and make their needs known, since the actual schedule is still to be worked out.

Nine Inducted Into Theta Alpha Phi

Nine Maryville College students were inducted into Theta Alpha Phi national dramatic fraternity, in ceremonies Saturday night after the performance of "Hedda Gabler" at the Theatre on the campus. The college has the Tennessee Delta Chapter of the national organization, which recognizes outstanding work of students in the theatre.

The new members are Constance Williams, Janet Purcilla, Bruce Jenkins, Robert Hutchison, Joseph Futcher, David Evans, Christopher Carlisle, Cecilia Bridges, and Mary Gay Boettcher.

Development Fund Reaches $226,000

As of March 20, the amount reached in Maryville College's intensive drive to raise $920,000 between January and June is $226,000, pledges being payable over three years. $110,000 of the amount has come from Blount County.

The campaign, part of the $7,000,000 Sesquicentennial Development Program begun in 1959, is to supply funds for the construction of a new science building; to complete a fund for rehabilitation of Fayerweather Hall; to reduce the debt on the Chapel; to replace the 1963-64 Alumni Fund and Maryville College Day programs; to provide for increased salaries and scholarships.

The campaign is under the Office of Development, Raymond I. Brahams, director; and David Kidder, a Maryville graduate, who is working under the auspices of Ketcham, Incorporated.

Other leaders are general chairman David W. Proffitt; Joe C. Gamble, in charge of Initial Gifts (directors, faculty, and staff); Earl W. Blazer, Primary Gifts (potential large supporters); Howard W. Lamon, Jr., alumni; Arnold W. Kramer, East Tennessee Region; and Judson B. Murphy, Blount County.

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor-in-Chief
CHARLOTTA COOK

News Editor — ELENORA EASTERLY
Feature Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Sports Editors — GINNA COON and DAVID KING
Copy Editor — SANDRA SCOFIELD
Art Editor — DEANNA STURGELL
Exchange Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Business Editor — GORDON STEWART
Circulation Manager — JUDY SIVER

Faculty Advisor — DR. CAROLYN BLAIR
Editorial Advisor — MR. DUNCAN BENNETT
Financial Advisor — MR. FRANK LAYMAN

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Duncan Bennett, Sandra Chittick, Sandra Haggart, Carolyn Huff, Sara Humphries, Bill Irwin, Dave Marston, Will Mitchell, Carolyn O'Neal, Judy Siver, Deanna Sturgell, Lori Sturmfels, John Wolfe.

For Cards For All Occasions, Cosmetics, Prescriptions and Reliable Service Visit

Byrne Drug Company

120 E. Broadway 982-1461

For New Shoes,

Polishes & Dyes
Shoe Shine Equipment
Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Remedies

City Shoe Shop

106 West Broadway

THE

BANK of MARYVILLE

"The Old Reliable Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES

★ SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

√ CHECK ACCOUNTS

★ CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS

★ TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

"50 years behind the times, and that's the way we like it"

In the progressive, changing world of today, Beer is about the only thing to which we can apply this popular advertisement—and yet—we may find that the next time we pick up Presbyterian Life this quote will be included under the listing for Maryville College.

Let's keep Maryville the unique little campus it's supposed to be—Let's keep "Chapel at 8," no fraternities or sororities, no cars — the little things that make Maryville what it is" — for let's face it, we might as well — we will never change it. That's the way we like it . . .

Sincerely,
John Wolfe

SCOREBOARD

by Dave Marston

There will be no cars on campus at Maryville this year—and very likely none for many years to come. Probably this amounts to something less than a startling revelation, but nevertheless, it is official now.

The Executive Council of the Faculty, meeting in an extended session on March 20, voted 11-9 against the proposal for a trial period of cars on campus this spring. The plan had previously been approved 13-2 by the Student-Faculty Senate, and unanimously by the Student Council.

As a result of their decision, the Executive Council called a special joint meeting with the Student Council on the evening of March 20 to explain their position. The logic displayed there was hardly devastating — it was generally agreed that the car proposal was rejected because it appeared likely it would be successful — but at the end of the hour, there was at least no doubt about the prevailing sentiment of the Executive Council. In short, the proposal for a trial period of cars this spring was rejected because it was agreed that the concept of cars on campus was not a desirable one for Maryville College. Students could not help wondering why six months ago, when the Executive Council was asked specifically to state their reaction to the concept of cars on campus, such a conclusion was not then reached. Quite a few committeeman-hours of work might have been saved.

But despite criticism of the intermediate handling of the car proposal, Student Council was unanimously grateful for the attitude of the faculty in presenting final decision. The joint meeting of the Executive and Student Councils, well-attended despite an exhausting, two-hour meeting of the Executive Council just three hours previous, went a long way toward clearing the air and allowing both students and faculty to appreciate each other's position. In such an atmosphere, despite widespread disappointment that a moderate and constructive plan was rejected, there is no place for a bitter post-mortem. The proposal was given a fair chance and a secret ballot—and it failed. Nothing more should be said.

Eighty Years of Y Service at M C

by Margaret Doxier

Back in the days when students were allowed two cuts a semester in a four hour course (students on the honor roll having one additional cut from each class) and when students who smoked were ineligible for student help jobs, the "small, white building in back of Baldwin" served as a student center under the sponsorship of YW-YMCA. For many years Y maintained this store until our present Student Center was built. Until a few years ago, the refreshment bar in our Student Center was known as the Y-store and was under complete Y management.

In the 1930's the YM recognized the need for what was then termed interclass athletics and set up a program of golf, tennis, swimming, wrestling, track, baseball, basketball, and football, the first version of our intramurals today. The Lyceum Course of 1933, begun as a joint activity of the Y's, became the Artist Series in 1934 and continued under Y sponsorship for many years.

The YWCA has always placed an emphasis on human relations, planning conferences and exchanges with Knoxville College and other colleges in the East Tennessee region. This emphasis came from the National YW and was adopted to fit our situation. YM soon joined the YW in human relations activities. The International Relations Club, the Peace Forum, and other groups such as these were established as early as the 1930's to acquaint the student with current events.

The annual Fred Hope Drive, begun solely as a Y project, not too many years after Fred Hope was a student here, became a joint project of the Y's and student government.

Although many of the activities begun by the Y's have been put under joint sponsorship, such as the Fred Hope Fund, dropped because they were outdated, such as the May Day Pageant, or taken over by other groups, such as Y-Radio which is now Campus Mike and the publication of the student handbook, many of the programs originating with the Y's remain under their direction today. Barnwarming is an annual, Y-sponsored, Thanksgiving Day production. Organizing a local cub pack and scout troop grew into the community service program of today. Thursday night "Time out," the annual Y hikes, and vocational conferences continue as Y activities.

The YM, on campus for 87 years, and the YW, here for 80 years, became part of the Maryville tradition and made many contributions to campus life. Just as the May Day Pageant became outdated, so the Y's today feel the need for a change. Thus an old tradition gives way to a new movement with the incorporation of the United Campus Christian Fellowship into the life of Maryville.

Review: Bruce Catton's 'The Coming Fury'

by Bill Erwin

Seldom has a period of history captured the attention of historians as that commonly identified as the American Civil War. In sheer narrative genius, Bruce Catton has captured in his book, The Coming Fury, those years which led to the internal conflict. The first volume of the multi-volume Centennial History of the Civil War, The Coming Fury is proclaimed by many critics as Catton's "best work to date."

Within the immediate years that preceded the Civil War must be found the answers to the searching questions of the historian. Could it not have been prevented? Why? What did it all mean? George Santayana stated the need for the study of such a work when he said, "Those who do not remember the past are condemned to relive it."

The Coming Fury, however, does not claim its worth in the mere subject it covers. Beginning with the Democratic Convention of 1860, Cotton presents the overall picture of those events which led to disaster. He delves even deeper to bring out the small man who added his link to the chain that finally broke on April 13, 1861. In reliving the crisis the reader shudders at the appalling picture of deceiving, drunken politicians who at times held the balance of power which would enable them to determine the future of the nation. Compromise, protest, deceit, failure became entangled to form a web from which there was no longer escape. The fate of a nation of millions was then placed in the hands of two Kentucky-born men, Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis.

One who sometimes finds the study of history to be a task rather than a pleasure, will find Bruce Catton's style refreshing in its liveliness. With exhaustive research and absence of unnecessary prejudice, Catton has placed in the hands of the reader a work that will enable him to see the significance of the pre-Civil War years. Winner of both the Pulitzer Prize and the National Book Award, Mr. Catton's comprehensive work has secured for him recognition as one of the outstanding American historians of the twentieth century.

Dr. Shields To Attend Summer Institute At ASU

Dr. A. Randolph Shields, Professor and Chairman of the Department of Biology at Maryville College, has been named to attend a Summer Institute in Desert Biology at Arizona State University in Tempe, Arizona.

The institute is scheduled from June 22 until Aug. 1. The appointment carries an $800 stipend. Both Dr. and Mrs. Shields are planning to go to Arizona.

The Institute in Desert Biology is a National Science Foundation project.

Circle K Aids Asians

With the help and support of the faculty and student body, Circle K has been able this year to carry out two projects which aid those in need in Asia. At the beginning of this month the annual Asian Book Project netted 100 textbooks which will be shipped to underprivileged Asian colleges and universities.

Since return from Christmas vacation in January, a Stamp Collection Project has been carried out. Thanks to those who took the effort to tear the stamps off their letters and deposit them in the collection boxes, 2500 commerative and foreign stamps have been collected. These will provide nearly a ton of surplus food for Asian Children. This project will continue to the end of the semester, and has been recently joined by the Key Club of Maryville High School.

Other projects which the club has planned for the rest of the semester include the recent clothing drive, an all-campus pizza party on April 3, and the annual campus beautification project, planned for after Spring vacation.

New officers will be elected just before vacation, and delegates will be chosen for the District Convention to be held near Pikeville, Kentucky, April 3 and 4. At the convention, the club will enter their rehabilitation project at the East Mountain View Presbyterian Church, near Walland, in the single service project competition. This project, which will be completed today, was recognized in the International Circle K. Bulletin.

SULLIVAN and PUDGY by Deanna Sturgell

Suzuki Violinists To Be On TV April 19

On Sunday, April 19, Maryville's Suzuki violinists will be presented on WBIR television, Channel 10. The Suzuki violinists are children of the Maryville community, more than half of whom are boys, ranging from three to twelve years in age. They receive lessons weekly from Mr. Kent Perry at Maryville College.

The Suzuki method, which began in Japan, is based on the idea that the early years of development is the time when learning to play musical instruments will come most naturally. The method met with such phenominal success in Japan, that it was established in the United States by Mr. John Kendall who was present on the Maryville Campus in February for the Middle Area String Clinic. By use of this method children become accomplished violinists at a remarkably early age.

Among the faculty, the Swensons, the Roberts, the Schoens, the Joneses, the Lynns, and the McNeills have children taking lessons.

Johnson Administration Backing Free Higher Education

A plan providing two free, compulsory years of college is gaining the support of President Johnson's administration.

An indication of White House backing came in a speech this week by Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz who proposed extending the legal required education age to 18 in an effort "to get youth unemployment out of America's bloodstream."

Wirtz took time out from talks with labor officials over the boycott of wheat shipments to Russia to outline the plan.

If states now required students to continue their education for two years after high school, Wirtz said half of the 2.5 million youths in the hard-core unemployment lists would be back in school.

Wirtz noted that the number of unemployed youths with meager educations is radically higher than among those with 11 to 12 years of education.

While not offering the plan as an official government program, Wirtz emphasized that it was a thought germinating within the administration for the past several months.

Observers saw Wirtz's statement as a further indication that administration economists fear that the historic income tax cut bill won't sufficiently help unemployment problems facing the nation.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., the late President Kennedy's first Health, Education, and Welfare Secretary, has led attacks on the income tax cut's ability to spur employment.

Ribicoff said the hard-core unemployed — including the large number of school drop-outs — are unskilled. No amount of money pumped in the U. S. economy can create jobs for the uneducated, Ribicoff asserts.

A state-federal all out effort for two years of public college would drastically drain the nation's limited teacher resources at first. But education officials feel a new demand would spark higher quality and salaries for U. S. teachers.

As Wirtz said, current standards "were adopted 150 years ago and are 150 years out of date."

Sponsored by the NEA, the Educational Policies Commission urged two free years of college-level study for U. S. high school graduates.

"The nation as a whole has never accepted the idea of universal opportunity as applying to education beyond high school," the commission said. "It is time to do so."

The NEA group said students should be given general courses rather than training for a specific job during the two years "to develop the tendency and ability to define problems as well as solve them."

Accessibility was just as important as flexibility for students during the two years of college, the group said.

Public colleges, the report said, "should exist in every population center, and they should expand through their range beyond their immediate environs through radio, television, self-teaching devices, extension programs and correspondence courses."

Neither Wirtz nor the NEA group mentioned the cost of a two-year free college program.

For vocational education alone in 1965, the administration plans to spend $183.3 million not to mention federal millions indirectly flowing into coffers of present junior colleges.

If the administration did throw its full support behind such a program, it would not only mark a turning point in U. S. education, but perhaps offer — at great cost — a concrete method of whittling down chronic unemployment.

(NPA Release)

McBRAYER SHOE SHOP
QUALITY SHOE REPAIR WORK
Open 6 Days a Week

Proffitt's
FOR SUMMER . . .
McGREGOR.
OXSTRIPE COAT SHIRT has a 100% Pure long-point button down collar, 100% Pure tapered body, 100% Pure box pleat, hang-a-loop and back button. It's authentic! Tropical cotton oxford, varying width stripes.
$5.95

Proffitt's
Midland Shopping Center

WGAP
CAMPUS MIKE
Voice of Maryville College
Sunday Evening
9:30-10:00

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK
MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER
RELIGIOUS READING MATERIALS TO FIT EVERY STUDENT'S NEEDS
STUDENTS ALWAYS WELCOME!
983-4982

CAMPUS FASHION SCOOPS; SPRING...

By Deanna Sturgell, '64

Funny things happen to people in spring. You get restless and can't stand to be shut in; you don't feel healthy unless you become four shades darker than usual: you become a sun worshiper.

Spring on any college campus means freedom in two months. Until then, you just exist, doing the work you have to do, watching baseball games, not only because you like them, but because they are a conditioned response to spring: and making pilgrimages to your favorite mountain.

Spring on Maryville Campus this very day means spring break in only one week. We are very fortunate in this, because having our vacation after Easter means that we have the Florida beaches all to ourselves, with no outside influences.

But that's all right . . . because one thing you learn to do on this campus is to become a creative individual. So in the spring, we don't conform with the thousands of other college students on the white sands, we create our own riots.

Right: The Hitchhiker. Now on what other campus would a girl think of thumbing, unless it was the U. of Georgia? Ruth McDade, 65', creates her own riot out on Washington. She says that for thumbing, (girls) always wear an action-pleated skirt, that's in case you have to walk a while. This one is blue with a gold latch-buckled belt. The shirt — blue and white checked gingham, buttoned down collared by Bobbie Brooks. Shirt, $5, skirt, $10, 5-15. At Minton's.

Photographs by Marvin Dockery

Top Left: Frosty (Mary Jean) Kent, 65', will try a new way home (New York State) this vacation . . . freight. Much cheaper, and you sure can soak up the sun. Just the thing for freight-jumping — coulottes, here extra reliable with suspenders. The matching blazer has a handkerchief-like lining. It comes in pink or blue with the denim look. Skirt, $10, blazer $13, 5-15, by Bobbie Brooks.

Top Right: Some students remain seriously studious in the spring. After studying Michaelangelo's Moses, Lois Anthony, 64', thinks the Pope should be sending him to the World's Fair instead of the Pieta. Wanda Blaylock couldn't care less. They have twin wardropes — the fabric is tourquoise and stretches. The shift zips down the front, and is white stitched and buttoned, as are the slacks and matching top. The summer sweaters are nylon by Fairfield Knit, $5.98, 32-40. Shift, $13, slacks, $11, top, $8, by Cambridge Casuals.

Right: "I'm sorry, but you'll have to get out," says Jerry Stewart to Marcia Hickey, both 65', "maybe they'll vote on it again next year." Fortunately Marcia is prepared for the Saturday night walks to the bus stop in the rain, with her reversable rain coat — non-bleed madras on one side, blue denim-like on the other, $17.98. All clothes at Minton's.

Top left: Spring is a good time for climbing. Toothbrush in hand, Buck Petty scales New Dorm. The walk shorts, for easy climbing, are authentic Bleeding Madras, by Van Heusen. $7.95. The shirt — what no male should be without a wardrobe of — button down and oxford cloth, in blue, camel, navy and burgundy, by Norris Casuals, only $3.98.

Top Right: Some of the group still try the sand and sun anyway. Coming on strong again is Buck Petty torn between two two-piecers. Sandy Stewart (walking) likes hers in red and blue with its own white pleated skirt (?) by Petti, $18. Buck likes Gayle Eggers' (under the hat) in navy, red, and white with its own rope belt. The suit, $18, also has a matching v-necked pullover, "Boulder Yet," by Catalina. Buck's swim trunks, the "Hawaiian Surfer," by Robert Bruce, $5.

Right: "Yes Marcia, there is a Henry Ford." Marcia and Jerry again. Great for spring dates, Marcia is in a suit by Wipette Sportswear. The outfit, blue vest and brown skirt are in lineny rayon-flax with a white rayon blouse that has a big bow. Price — $24.98. Jerry wears the no. 1 sport coat on the scene — dacron-cotton seersucker, by Don Richards, $24.95 — made for hot days. The slacks are another must for the male wardrobe, and the crease always stays in. Look for them in the new spring color — lovat, by H.I.S. Also in sun tan and navy, $6.98. All clothes at Minton's.

Top Left: Spring training sees these three back in their younger days — it's good exercise. Sandy wears the newest thing in parkas — navy, blue and white cotton with a pouch pocket and zipped neck, $5.98. Her slacks are stretch denim — cotton and nylon $5.98. Wanda wears the classic Bermuada set — green printed, roll-sleeved blouse and coordinated light green shorts with their own leather belt. Blouse, $5.98, shorts, $6.98, also in blue, by Rosecrest. Gayle's outfit: blue rayon-arnell triacetate shorts and matching blue and white cotton knit shirt with the hip slung belt — good example of the popular droped-waist. Shirt, $2.98, shorts, $2.98, by Petite Juniors Only.

Bottom Left: This is dressing properly for Sunday sports. John DeRand proves this summer black suit is for all occasions, and definitely a college man's suit. Dacron and wool. Lois' dress is another all-occasioner — classes or church. Dacron polyester makes it easy to care for. Pink and white or blue and white, $17.98, by Jonathan Logan.

Bottom Right: You can either climb a tree or sit under it. Looks like Ruth had better sit this one out. Her dress has the drop-waist and two action pleats in the front and back, trimmed with four gold buttons and red and white cord at the low waist and around the neck. Polyester, Avril, rayon, $14.98, by Bobbie Brooks. Red Pruhdon wears the sport coat in casual living — in deep muted tones blending the popular burgundy and olive madras, by Haspel, $29.95. The washable semi-dress pants are a blend of Dacron and cotton. By Higgins, $8.95. All clothes at Minton's.

Baseball Team Opens Season With Big Victory Over Tennessee by 4-2 Score

by Phil Jerome

The Maryville College baseball team inaugurated their 1964 season successfully last Tuesday, turning back the Volunteers of the University of Tennessee by a score of 4 to 2 in a game played on the victor's home field.

The Maryville victory can be attributed to a nearly flawless performance of the fundamentals of the game. The Highlanders allowed only four men to reach base undeservedly, with pitcher Dave West yielding three walks and the infield committing but a single error. Tennessee, on the other hand, made four errors in the field while their pitchers contributed nine bases on balls to the Maryville batsmen, giving thirteen Maryville runners an unearned life on the base paths.

Maryville opened the scoring by notching a run in the first inning. Tennessee's mound ace Glenn Ford experienced a streak of wildness and issued consecutive walks to Sonny Hughes, Sonny Webb, and Roger Banks. Then, with the bases loaded and two down, Ford unleashed a wild pitch that rolled to the backstop allowing Hughes to race in from third with the initial counter. After this score, West and Ford settled down into a tight pitcher's duel that held both sides scoreless for five innings. In the sixth, however, Ford was replaced on the mound by Applewhite, and the Scots greeted the new hurler with the two runs that proved to be the decisive ones. Webb worked the big left-hander for a walk. Banks forced Webb at second, and Gary Dutton lined a single to center which sent Banks to third. After Scheideler was retired, Mullins reached base when the second baseman dropped the ball while Banks rambled in from third to score. Red Prudhon collected the Scot's second hit, a shot to right field that loaded the bases. Then, Applewhite walked West, forcing big Gary Dutton in from third with the winning run. U-T managed to push across a run in the top of the seventh. However, two walks and an error in the bottom of that inning enabled Maryville to match the Vol tally. The Volunteers threatened again in the ninth inning. However, Dave West choked off the rally after one run was scored.

A victory over Tennessee is always a high point in the athletic program at Maryville College. However, Coach Baird could find numerous other reasons to be happy with the triumph. The work of Dave West on the mound was superb. The right-handed West faced and disposed of the best that U-T had to offer in scattering seven hits over the nine inning span that he worked. The fine ball-hawking of Sonny Webb in centerfield gave proof that spot will be adequately filled. Final'y, the infield of Dutton, Martin, Prudhon, and Mullins worked smoothly, and displayed excellent coordination as a unit for a date so early in the season. Although the game also revealed certain weaknesses that must be mended, the game seemed to indicate that Maryville baseball fortunes may be on the rise.

Intramural Wrestling Tournament Victories For Seven Amateurs

The annual men's intramural wrestling tournament, conducted by Coach Davis and the varsity wrestling squad, ended in victories for seven skilled amateur wrestlers. Victors included Ben Holmes, 123 pound class; Webb Spraetz, 130 pound class; Hal Shultz, 147 pound class; John Nelson, 157 pound class; Lloyd Lemke, 167 pound class; John Smoot, 177 pound class; and Charley Berry, Heavyweight.

With no entries in the 115 pound class, Ben Holmes beat Fred Van Hartesveldt for the 123 pound title. The preliminaries for the 130 pound competition saw Ken Hitchens outpoint Dave Powell, Webb Spraetz pin John Boretsky, and John Spangler with a bye. Spraetz next pinned Hitchens and then went on to beat Spangler for the 130 pound crown. Competition in the 147 pound weight class was also crowded as Donny Phelps pinned B. T. Bigart, Bill McDonald outpointed Dave Solomon, and Hal Shultz pinned Dave Spencer. Phelps then moved up to a pin over McDonald but lost by a pin to Shultz, who thereby took first place for that weight class.

The 157 pound section was no less crowded with John Nelson pinning Jack Mullins, Eric Bergman decisioning John Kerr and Todd Owers drawing a bye in the early rounds. Nelson then went on to outwrestle Bergman 7-2, and then pinned Owers to take his division's top honors. In the 167 pound area Lloyd Lemke pinned Jim Bernard in the preliminary round and then pinned Bob Bell for the 167 pound crown. The 177 competition saw George Byars pin Lawrence Hoppock only to lose to John Smoot for the championship. The heavyweight class title went to Charlie Berry who pinned Bill Napier for the Honor. Berry had earlier defeated Mike Gregory and Napier had pinned Charles Cook to set up the final meeting.

The intramural tournament is held each year by Coach Davis and the wrestling team, who act as scorers and referees.

Highland Flings

by Dave King

If our tennis team seems to be going at their work with increased vigor these days, it's probably because they were inspired by watching a couple of the best tennis players in the world play. Last Sunday Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston came to the Knoxville Coliseum for an indoor exhibition of top-notch tennis. The two stars were joined by former Davis Cupper Ham Richardson and National Junior Champ Cliff Richey in an almost unbelievable display of tennis as it was intended to be played. McKinley and Ralston were the backbone of the American tennis team that won the coveted Davis Cup from the Australians in the closing minutes of the year 1963. McKinley is ranked No. 1 among the world's amateur tennis players and Ralston is right behind him. To put the frosting on the cake, the two together are the national doubles team. Having them appear in Knoxville was like having the New York Yankees and the Los Angeles Dodgers give a baseball exhibition.

McKinley is a good-looking young fellow who is built like that brick wall that everyone talks about. He handles his racquet as though it were merely an extension of his arm and moves with the grace of a trained dancer. Chuck has been a top-rated amateur for several years now and was the only member of the American Davis Cup team to make any sort of a showing against those masterful Mexicans in 1962. He fought a bad back for a while during the latter part of last year and was a bit of a question mark for our side during the competition "Down Under" in 1963. He started out slowly against the Aussies, losing his first match and getting off to a very slow start in the final one. He fought from behind to grab off a thrilling victory from John Newcombe and brought home victory and the celebrated Davis Cup. McKinley is the second most famous person ever to be a student at Texas' Trinity University (surely Dr. Copeland is its most famous alumnus and has turned down some fabulous offers to join the pro ranks.

Dennis Ralston, known at one time as "Dennis the Menace" to those who followed his colorful antics, is more of a newcomer to the upper circles of amateur tennis but his strong tournament play and the Davis Cup victory have elevated him to the No. 2 spot in the U. S. Lawn Tennis ratings. Ralston is a tall, slender fellow, with the healthy-looking sun tan that all the top players have. As he worked his way up through the various stages of competition Dennis, who is only in his early 20's, came to be infamous for his frequent displays of temper on the courts and was suspended from play more than once for his lack of control. He is reported to have calmed down more and the only evidence of temper he showed last week was the expectable disgust he showed at the very few shots that didn't go quite where he wanted them. Denny was married not too long ago and evidently attributes some of his more recent success to his new wife.

The old man of the foursome was 30-year old Ham Richardson of Dallas, Texas. Richardson hit his peak in the early and mid-50's but still has enough of the old spark to keep his champion companions on their toes. He was also a Davis Cup team member and is still ranked No. 7 although he doesn't spend much time on the courts any more. Although he isn't as fast as he may once have been, Richardson still has an excellent amount of control, particularly on backhand shots, and is able to beat McKinley and Ralston occasionally. Cliff Richey was the most colorful member of the group and he kept the crowd amused as he kept talking to himself about his play. Richey is only 17 and certainly must be considered as the top young amateur around today. He held his own well against his talented teammates and will certainly be counted on in a few years for the Davis Cup team. Richey is also from Dallas and is a member of a great tennis-playing team.

The opportunity to see such talented sportsmen right here in our own back yard was a fortunate one for sports fans in this area. A good many of Maryville's amateur tennis players journeyed to the Coliseum for the match and they were not disappointed at what they saw. The match was held on the floor of the arena where the Knoxville Knights had won their second game in a row from the Greensboro Generals only a few hours before. The ice was removed and the tennis court laid out. The cement floor provided the players with a fast surface for their play but this didn't seem to cause any trouble. The afternoon's festivities began with an informal clinic of basic fundamentals and featured singles matches between Richey and Richardson and between Ralston and McKinley. Then Richey and Richardson teamed up against the other two in a doubles match but the Davis Cuppers were too much for their comrades. The exhibition ended with an informal bull-and-autograph session with the stars and, as we left, Coach Kardatzke was still trying to persuade young Richey to spend his college career at Maryville.

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure

Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.

SEYMOUR'S

Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

For School and Office Supplies,

Excellent Service

and

Fast Delivery

White

Office Machines

"Won't Write – Call White"

College Students

Faculty Members

College Libraries

Printed in BOSTON LOS ANGELES LONDON

SUBSCRIBE NOW AT HALF PRICE

Clip this advertisement and return it with your check or money order to:

The Christian Science Monitor
One Norway St., Boston 15, Mass.

☐ 1 YEAR $11 ☐ 6 mos. $5.50
☐ COLLEGE STUDENT
☐ FACULTY MEMBER

P-GN

Martin's DRUG STORE

401 S Washington St Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.

Offering Maryville College Students

a complete line of cosmetics,

plus

a reliable prescription service

Located just off campus on Washington St.

1964 Tennis Team Schedule

DATE	OPPONENT	LOCATION
March 26 or 27	Tennessee Wesleyan	Athens, Tenn.
March 30 or 31	Carson-Newman	Jefferson City, Tenn.
April 2	Lincoln Memorial Univ.	Harrogate, Tenn.
4	Berry College	Mount Berry, Ga.
6	Indian River Jr. College	Fort Pierce, Flor.
8	St. Petersburg Jr. College	St. Petersburg, Flor.
9	Central Florida Jr. College	Ocala, Florida
11	Florida Presbyterian	St. Petersburg, Flor.
13	Shorter College	Rome, Ga.
15	Tennessee Wesleyan	Maryville
16	Emory and Henry	Maryville
17	Milligan	Maryville
23	Lincoln Memorial	Maryville
25	East Tennessee State	Maryville
27	Cumberland College	Williamsburg, Ky.
28	Carson-Newman	Maryville
30	Tennessee Intercollegiate	Chattanooga, Tenn.
May 1	Athletic Conference
May 1	Tournament

1964 Track Schedule

March 28	Cumberland	Home
April 3	Milligan	Home
17	Carson-Newman	Away
22	Bryan	Away
25	Milligan	Away
28	Carson-Newman	Home
30	Mars Hill	Home
May 1-2	T.I.A.C. Meet at Memphis
7	Bryan	Home

Baseball

March 24	University of Tennessee	Home
25	University of Tennessee	Away
28	Lincoln Memorial University	Away
30	Bowling Green College	Home
31	Bowling Green College	Home
April 2	Lincoln Memorial University	Home
15	Emory and Henry College	Away
16	Mars Hill College	Home
20	Hiwassee College	Home
24	Milligan College	Away
25	Mars Hill College	Away
28	Carson-Newman College	Away
29	Carson-Newman College	Home
May 4	Milligan College	Home
7	Hiwassee College	Away
8	Emory and Henry College	Home
11	Cumberland College	Away
13	Bryan College	Away
16	Cumberland College	Away
19	Bryan College	Home

Net Season Opens; Plan Florida Tour

Coach Lauren Kardatzke's tennis team opened its '64 season on Thursday for what they hope will be one of the more successful seasons in recent Maryville history. This year's season features a long tour through Florida during spring vacation which may be a bit of a strain on our netters. Because of the long period of games away from home there will be a good many home matches toward the end of the season. As the Echo went to press the players were seeded in this order:

1. Todd Owers
2. Lynn Howard
3. Dave Marx
4. Rich Marshall
5. Dale Fischbach
6. Bob Paul

The pairings for the doubles teams were as follows:

1. Owers and Marx
2. Howard and Marshall
3. Fischbach and Marston

Socks and Sneakers

by Ginna Coon

Four more sports and the fight for the trophy is very close. Chi Beta is winning with three events. Theta and the independents are tied with two each.

The Ping Pong and Badminton tournaments have been decided. Ping Pong was won by Arlene Larsen for Theta and Badminton was won by Janet Dearcopp, independent.

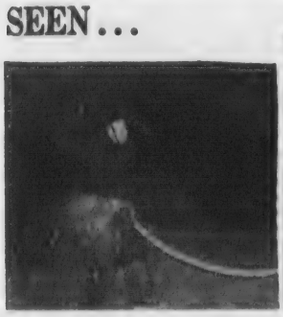
Soccer is being played outside this year and has turned out to be one of the most enjoyable sports in the spring program. The first game ended in a tie one to one, the second game was called because of rain at the end of first quarter with Chi Beta winning one to nothing. By the time of publication the final winner will have been decided.

The next sports include horseshoes, the tennis singles, tennis doubles, and we end our season with softball. So come girls and support your society — the winner of the trophy has not yet been decided.

They that stand high have many blasts to shake them.
—Shakspere

Sorrow breaks seasons and reposing hours,
Make the night morning, and the noontide night.
—Shakspere

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway



WE HAVE FLOWERS
IN EVERY PRICE RANGE
See our Campus Agent. . .
JACK SPENSER
For Lovely Flowers
From
Hartman's Flowers
982-7500 333 E. Broadway

Dr. Livingstone?
What a happy man he would have been if his man Stanley could have brought along a carton of Coke! That cold crisp taste, that lively lift would certainly hit the spot with any tired explorer. In fact, after your next safari to class→wouldn't Coca-Cola taste good to you?
Drink Coca-Cola
BE REALLY REFRESHED . . . HAVE A COKE!
Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by
RODDY MANUFACTURING CO.
Maryville, Tenn.

Birthday Cakes
Pastries of all Kinds
BIG 97 Cent PIZZA PIE
Deliveries Twice Daily
VAN'S BAKERY
Call the Sweetest Number in Town
982-7920 983-4413

SEEN . . .

. . . AND HEARD

All we need is spies . . . what a marvelous heritage we have . . . William Jennings Bryan was sort of Beatle . . . I think the Highland Echo should be made an honorary committee of the Student Council . . . one on each handlebar . . . I'll bet my salary, which isn't much, but then, I don't believe in large lotteries . . . out of the blear, clue sky . . . she's a little young to be bitter . . . ha-ha ditches . . . I can speak quite freely because I haven't even given it a thought . . . don't use me in one class, against me in another class . . . he could have come in green and left his head on.

temper—a gift of God and a most unfortunate one . . . a glass and a scotty . . . bull—no, heifer sessions . . . One of the animals said, "If I ran the zoo" . . . Don't worry about trigonometry—it's as easy as falling off a logarithm . . . marriage is like a steaming bath . . . homogenized culture . . . 20th century medievalists . . . it was pouring down snow this morning . . . for bravery, we would like to award Dr. Harter the purple stage screw . . . Three months from now is graduation. Yeah, but two months from now is comps, and we won't graduate . . . $25,000?

It says absolutely nothing in several words, which is an art! . . . sock decision . . . I didn't have to start over once . . . eenie, meenie, minie, trump . . . talking bed . . . what do you mean—immigrant? . . . no more cameras . . . two little words: transfer . . . born with a suit on . . . the worst type of beast is one who is dull and tries to be witty . . . GRAPEFRUIT and no cheese? . . . snow like marshmallows . . . please don't talk; daydream, it's quieter . . . flaunting her 40,000 pounds . . . the pigeons are restless . . . band orgy . . . CRANBERRY! . . . go to Baldwin for a shower? . . . However . . .

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

WASHINGTON AVENUE

RECORDS

Complete Selection of Jazz, Classical, Popular, and Folk Music in Hi-Fi Stereo.
Quality Repair Work on Radios and Record Players

HITCH RADIO and T.V.

Midland Center

U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

WAYNE SIMMONS

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!

TIP TOP BARBER SHOP

105 Church St. Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop Open 6 Days a Week

SCOTTIE FAVORITES

Deluxe Hamburger with French Fries

Chipped Ham Sandwich

Orange, Lemon or Lime Freeze

Golden Brown Pancakes with Maple Syrup and Bacon

The Best Coffee in Town—

Latest Hit Parade Records on the Juke Box

We now feature our own homemade pies.

Orders of $5.00 or more delivered to the dorms at any hour

We Make Our Own HOL'N ONE DONUTS Fresh Daily

- OPEN 24 HOURS A DAY -

GILBERT'S COFFEE HOUSE

East Broadway In Downtown Maryville

982-1541

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 49 | Maryville, Tennessee, April 25, 1964 | No. 12

New Offices In Anderson Hall Reach Completion

The new suite of offices in Anderson Hall, which were begun before the opening of the fall semester, have reached completion. These offices involve both the first floor and the basement of the left wing of Anderson.

Centrally located on the first floor is the Reception Room. This is the place to which campus visitors will be directed and from which guests may visit the offices, depending on what information they seek. A permanent receptionist will be here to answer calls, give information, and direct people to the various offices.

Also on the first floor are the offices of the President, the Dean, and the Director of Development. There is an office for Dr. Copeland's secretary, Miss Hunter; and Miss Huddleston, secretary to Dr. McClelland, and Mrs. Roberts, secretary to Mr. Brahams, will share an office. Miss Lightfoot, registrar, will be in the office formerly occupied by Dean McClelland.

Downstairs are the offices of the Director of Information Services, Duncan Bennett; his secretary, Mrs. McNair; the Alumni Secretary, Miss Elizabeth Welsh; and David Kidder, here temporarily with the development program fund drive. Later, this office may be used by the admissions counselor, David Styles.

Designed For Efficiency

Efficiency is the theme of the whole building program. The men who work closely together in operating the College will have common files and records. The College vault now has two entrances for increased convenience. There will be one telephone number listed for all the offices. By dialing this number, a caller may be transferred to any of the offices. Only the receptionist will answer the phone, saving time for the secretaries. There are three outside lines, enabling three conversations to be held simultaneously.

There are also two intercom lines and twenty-one intercom stations. There are two conference lines of five people each. Dr. Copeland and Dr. McClelland are on each, plus three others. There is provision for another outside line.

All Offices Air-conditioned

The decor of the offices is in modern style. The ceilings have been lowered to give a modern effect and to make cooling and heating easier. All the offices are equipped with air conditioning.

The President's office, large enough for small group meetings, is finished except for furnishings. Some furnishings for other offices have not yet arrived.

Not Related To Funds Campaign

The new offices were arranged for on a "cost plus" basis, without a contract specifying a definite cost. Since the extent of remodeling to be done was not known at the beginning, this was the most economical way. Therefore, the cost of the work is not yet known.

The building is financed through transfers from other capital assets already owned by the College. Thus the work will come under the capital funds account, rather than in the budget for current operations. The building is not related to the present funds campaign.

Dr. Leroy Martin To Speak At MC Commencement On June 3

Dr. LeRoy A. Martin, President of the University of Chattanooga, will make the June 3 commencement address for Maryville College's 145th year. Dr. Martin, a native of Morristown, Tenn., is former president of Tennessee Wesleyan College at Athens and was for many years a Methodist pastor. The subject of his Commencement address will be "The World Revolutions and the Liberal Arts."

A graduate of the University of Chattanooga, where he majored in English, Greek, biology, and religion, Dr. Martin received the degree of Bachelor of Sacred Theology from Boston University and the Master of Arts from Drew University. He was awarded the Doctor of Divinity from the University of Chattanooga in 1946 and the Doctor of Laws from Tennessee Wesleyan College in 1959.

He served for eight years as University Pastor at Drew University in Madison, N. J., and was later superintendent in the Newark Conference, supervising 119 churches in New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania.

Dr. Martin became president of Tennessee Wesleyan College in Athens in 1950. During his administration the college grew from a junior to a four-year senior college with full accreditation. He is the author of A History of Tennessee Wesleyan College, 1857-1957.

On July 1, 1959, Dr. Martin became President of the University of Chattanooga. One of the outstanding civic leaders in Chattanooga, he is chairman of the Technical Advisory Committee for Chattanooga Urban Renewal, vice president of the Chattanooga Allied Arts Council; a director of the Chattanooga Guidance Clinic, Metropolitan Board of the YMCA, Metropolitan Council for Community Services, Art Association; and is a member of the Executive Committee on the Chattanooga-Hamilton County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Dr. Martin started his teaching career at Baylor School in Chattanooga, and during his career as a Methodist pastor he served churches in Bristol, Tenn.; and Paterson, Hackettstown and Madison, N. J.

Last March, Dr. Martin addressed graduates at the Army Ordinance Guided Missile School at Huntsville, Ala. The graduates were from France, Germany, The Netherlands, Norway and the United States.

Dr. Martin's Commencement Address at Maryville is scheduled at 10:30 a.m. in the Chapel. The commencement ceremony ends the activities of Commencement Week, which starts with Alumni Day on May 30. Baccalaureate Day is Sunday, May 31.

Playhouse To Give 'Teahouse'

Teanouse of the August Moon will be presented by the Maryville College Playhouse on May 1 and 2, and June 2, at 8 p.m. in the Theater. This Pulitzer Prize — winning comedy opened on Broadway in 1953, received enthusiastic reviews, and ran for over twenty-nine months.

The comedy's gentle mockery at the planning arranged in Washington that cannot be made to work in occupied lands thousands of miles away, has caused it to become one of the most entertaining, popular, and significant plays of the present time.

The Maryville College production, directed by Thomas E. Jones, assisted by student director Sharon Walrond, will star Bob McGruther as the well-meaning army captain attempting to instill democratic ideals and prosperity in an Okinawan village during the American occupation of that Pacific island; and Allan Fields as the Okinawan interpreter who roguishly frustrates and harasses the captain.

Bettina Leong will have the principle feminine role, that of a geisha girl who is presented to the embarrassed captain as a "gift." Jeff Slagle, Phil Davidson, and Dave King have the roles of three other army men in the occupation forces.

Others in the cast include Ann Bissett, John Boretsky, Alan Childs, Pat Dobbin, Jean Dorsheid, Denny Edelman, Joe Futcher, Christopher Jones, Vimol Jotikasthira, Karen Keny, Christine Lim, Tom Llewellyn, Hazel Myers, Nancy Pierce, Bruce Pursell, Terry Roberts, Dave Seely, John Weiler, and Virginia Wells.

Bruce Hensley Receives Grant From UNC

Maryville College senior Bruce Hensley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Hensley of Weaverville, N. C., has received a $2,250 grant for two semesters of work at the University of North Carolina in the Graduate School of Education.

Mr. Hensley, scheduled to graduate from Maryville in June, will spend 15 months in the University of North Carolina's fifth year program of teacher education. Part of the time will be spent as an associate teacher in the North Carolina public school system. Mr. Hensley will start the program at Chapel Hill on June 8.

UCCF Retreat To Be This Weekend

The United Campus Christian Fellowship retreat, to be held at Laurel Lake today and tomorrow, April 25 and 26, is a time of evaluation and future planning for the Fellowship. The old cabinet of the obsolete Y program, the new cabinet of U.C.C.F., Nu Gamma leaders, and the Key Men will meet together during this retreat for both serious discussion and fellowship.

The first day will be devoted to the old cabinet, which will evaluate the previous year's work. Saturday night a panel discussion will be held on the change from Y to U.C.C.F. and the work that is involved in such a transition.

Sunday will be devoted to the coming year's plans in an effect to give to Maryville College the most effective religious organization. Fun and recreation, including skits and games, will also be a part of this retreat.

Newly elected officers of next year's U.C.C.F. who will be attending the retreat are president, Richard Boyd; vice presidents, Nancy Buckwalter and Bill Erwin; recording secretary, Anna Belle Minear; publicity secretary, Sara Parker; corresponding secretary, Robert Young; treasurer, Don Elly; representatives to the Religious Life and Activities Committee, Lois Grinstead and Lupton Wood.

MC Artists Series Will Present Alabama String Quartet Apr. 28

On Tuesday, April 28, the Artist Series will present the Alabama String Quartet at 8:15 p.m. in the Samuel Tyndale Chapel. Both the Arts Program of the Association of American Colleges and the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Foundation of the Library of Congress have sponsored this Quartet throughout its twenty years of concert performances in the United States.

The Quartet itself is composed of three violinists and a cellist. Among the violinists is Emil Roab, the present chairman of the University of Alabama String Division; he was at one time with the Stanley Quartet of the University of Michigan. Another of the violinists, Henry Barrett, has performed at the Aspen Festival Orchestra and as a soloist at the Sewanee Music Center.

Michael Gatozzi, violinist, obtained his Master of Music degree from the American Conservatory in Chicago and has done graduate study at Indiana University. He has had wide experience in the field of chamber and orchestral music. Margaret Christy, the Quartet cellist, has been with the group since its founding. She has served with the Brevard Music Center and has coached with the famous cellist Pablo Casals.

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor-in-Chief
CHARLOTTA COOK

Editor this issue
DAVID KING

News Editor — ELENORA EASTERLY
Feature Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Sports Editors — GINNA COON and DAVID KING
Copy Editor — SANDRA SCOFIELD
Art Editor — DEANNA STURGELL
Exchange Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Business Editor — GORDON STEWART
Circulation Manager — JUDY SIVER

Faculty Advisor — DR. CAROLYN BLAIR
Editorial Advisor — MR. DUNCAN BENNETT
Financial Advisor — MR. FRANK LAYMAN

Staff

CONTRIBUTORS and REPORTERS — Sandra Haggart, Carolyn Huff, Sara Humphries, Sandra Briggs, Sandra Chittick, Tom Stanley, Arthur D. Ainsworth, Bob McGruther, Ken Young, Paul Millin, Todd Owers

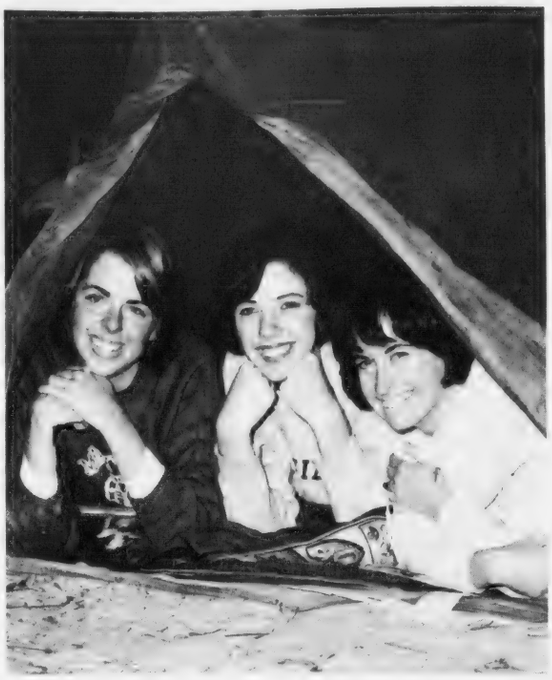
As We See It . . . .

Although you may not have noticed it until this week, it's the time of the year again when we elect our student body and class leaders for the next year. Because of the difficulties involved in meeting deadlines earlier in the week it was impossible for us to include yesterday's student body elections as a part of this issue of the Echo. However, after the results were announced last evening a special mimeographed extra was prepared so that you might be more fully informed of all the latest developments.

As we see it the big job before the new Student Council is to try to somehow convince the faculty and administration that we should have more of a voice in our own affairs. As students this year we've sought for more freedom in our social lives and more responsibility in determining the regulations which govern us, and in so doing we've run up against some of the points of view of the college that we disagree with. The proposal which would have permitted students the privilege of deciding for themselves whether or not they should drink off campus was defeated, as might have been expected. Likewise, the Executive Committee prolonged the cars-on-campus prosposal when, in all fairness, they could have voted it down last year instead of giving us the false impression that they might approve it. This last decision more than anything caused relations between the student and adult population to deteriorate, as the students seriously questioned whether the Executive Committee was acting in good faith concerning our affairs. What happened at the first evening meeting of the February Meetings was a healthy thing for the campus because it let us really voice our feelings in a way that at least might have done some constructive good. Had that not happened it is altogether possible that students' frustrations might have been demonstrated in less constructive ways.

We very definitely agree in principle with those who wish Maryville College to remain unique and not degenerate to the level of some of the education factories of our land. Nevertheless, we cannot agree that the way to do this is to isolate ourselves from the rest of the world in which we live. Our generation is a different one than that of the pre-Depression days and yet our system of regulations seems geared to insuring that we live by social mores prevalent during the '20's. We cannot agree at all that social isolation and temporal withdrawal is the only way for Maryville to remain distinct in the world. We hope that the new student leaders will have more success in convincing the people who make the rules that we mustn't hide from the world which is so rapidly changing around us. This is an unenviable task, to be sure, but one which must be done.

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK



MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

RELIGIOUS READING MATERIALS
TO FIT EVERY STUDENT'S NEEDS
STUDENTS ALWAYS WELCOME!

983-4982

AN ADVENTURE WITH SUN AND SAND

by Sandy
(Chittick, Briggs, Haggart)

Three days before spring vacation our plans for staying in a Florida home fell through. Heartbrokenly gazing at a map of Florida, we spotted St. Andrews State Park in one Panama City in northern, northern Florida. Camping? hmmm . . . Our plans for Florida were rapidly coming into focus again.

Disregarding all sane advice, we begged, borrowed, and stole our limited equipment — Denny Edelman's flashlight, Charlie Cook's two-man pup tent, Pearsons Hall's pot and frying pan, and three sleeping bags, one from veteran camper Webb Spraetz, who also assisted us in our get-away to the bus station.

After a moment of unbelief, the ticket agent dubiously checked our nine pieces of equipment, and we were off.

We arrived in Panama City at 6:15 Monday morning, only to discover that St. Andrews State Park was fifteen miles out of town with no bus coming within eight miles of the campsites. We inquired about the park: "St. Andrews State Park-oh yes — there are a couple of picnic tables out there." "No one camps there at this time of year." "You three little girls can't camp out there, all kinds of bad things happen." (Last comment from hotel owner who was eager to rent a room.)

As a last hope we resorted to the "friend's friend"routine and contacted Dr. Griffith's sister who drove us to the park.

The registering ranger's reaction was typical—he didn't want us. "Tent camping? Where is your chaperone?" No one had told us about this. But convincing him we were twenty-one by flashing a false I.D., he reluctantly gave us campsite no. 60.

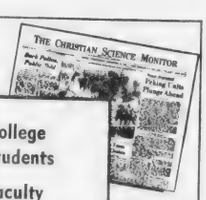
We arrived and were set up for the entire week in about five minutes.

The general plan of the first four days included 8 p.m. to 5 a.m. sleeping hours (if you consider three horizontally in a pup tent sleeping), sunbathing on the white Gulf sand (except for one afternoon's refuge from rain in the bathroom with Moby Dick), singing around a camp fire, — and no boys over six and unmarried except for the garbage collector.

But living in nature can be exciting — the first night it was a huge racoon in our hoarded sweet rolls and bread (we know for a fact it was monstrous because the next night we waited up for it.); the second day we discovered alligators! This was also the day that predatory birds joined the racoons in attacking our food.

Before long we became specialized: Sandy Chittick, cook; Sandy Briggs, cleanerupper; and Sandy Haggart, chief eater and critic. Others recognized our camping inexperience and were especially nice to us. The rangers checked on us each day, other campers in luxurious accommodations donated food, and townspeople gave us rides into the city.

We were fortunate one day in hitching a ride with Mr. Wallace Jones, member of the Panama City Chamber of Commerce. He gave us a tour of twenty-three miles of "the world's most beautiful beaches." and invited us to a fish fry which the C. of C. was giving for the Tennessee Press Association.



By Friday we were ready for some excitement. Our first night on the town was everything we expected and more. The quiet beach town suddenly came alive. And walking back after an evening out, two miles from the locked park gate to a pup tent certainly was a new experience.

The next afternoon our campsite was invaded for the first time by automobiles — three. Good ol' Mr. Jones, attempting to impress the Tennessee Press Association, had brought newspaper and television men to publicize our situation. Later at the fish fry we were treated to raw oysters (ugh!) and given "Expert Girl Camper" awards by the Chamber of Commerce.

Before we knew it the week was over. We reassembled our equipment and sadly bade goodbye to the sand dunes and sea, and the rangers, campers, and all who had made our vacation so great. Well, maybe next year.

How bitter a thing it is to look at happiness through another man's eyes!

Shakspere

College Students
Faculty Members
College Libraries

Printed in BOSTON
LOS ANGELES
LONDON

SUBSCRIBE NOW AT HALF PRICE

Clip this advertisement and return it with your check or money order to:

The Christian Science Monitor
One Norway St., Boston 15, Mass.

☐ 1 YEAR $11 ☐ 6 mos. $5.50
☐ COLLEGE STUDENT
☐ FACULTY MEMBER

P-CN

SCOTS AND SODA

by Tom Stanley

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In an attempt to revive the once popular humor column of this paper, we are including in this issue the first-prize winning after dinner-speech originally delivered by the author at the South Atlantic Debate Tournament.)

For most people the age of twenty-one opens doors for unlimited possibilities. Yet today many people over twenty-one are being denied the happiness of pursuit. This has become a serious national problem and thus we are here to discuss the topic: Resolved that all qualified adults over twenty-one should have the opportunity. First let us consider the history of this topic.

When Christine Keeler was twenty-one she went into cabinet making. At twenty-one Anne Boleyn lost her head over a man. When Lyndon Johnson was twenty-one he went into bird-watching. Columbus at twenty-one won Queen Isabella's jewels in a crap game using alcoholic dice (they were loaded.) At twenty-one Susie went Wong . . . and at twenty-two she went broke because no one had a yen for her. And when Adam turned twenty-one he decided to turn over a new leaf. From history we can see that at twenty-one people should have the opportunity — yet they are denied it in two areas.

Many people can't get drunk when they want to because of a lack of funds. Proof of this comes from Jackie Gleason, president of Alcoholics Unanimous and shot put champion of the world. He says that in low income families people resort to sniffing glue, cokes and aspirin, and canned heat — yet even in high income homes they have potted plants and Beethoven's Fifth. There are also stewed tomatoes in both categories. The U. S. Government is no stranger to this problem — all foreign ambassadors have been stoned at one time or another.

Also, many females are being discriminated against due to an overabundance of natural resources (that is, girls who weigh 200 pounds or more.) In 1963 alone, 450,000 pounds of living female went unclaimed — principally because there was a lack of motivation. As to this problem, there seems to be a concanration in some areas. It's a shame because these girls actually have a lot to be desired.

K. Harrison To Study Languages At Tulane

Kenneth D. Harrison, Maryville College senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Harrison of Enterprise, Ala., has won a scholarship to the Tulane University Graduate School in the Department of Classical Languages.

Mr. Harrison will receive a $1,050 scholarship plus a cash stipend of $1,500. He has been admitted to the graduate school for the term starting in September.

He is a graduate of Enterprise High School. His parents live at 523 North Main St. in Enterprise.

SULLIVAN and PUDGY

by Deanna Sturgell

Faculty Forum

by Mr. Arthur D. Ainsworth

(Editor's Note: In an effort to improve communication between students and faculty we plan to present various articles from time to time written by faculty members on some subject of interest that is within their general field. This week's column features an article by Mr. Ainsworth of our Political Science Department on the presidential primaries held in many states.)

The importance of presidential primaries does not warrant the great amount of publicity which they have received this year. Only fifteen of the fifty states use them, so no definite conclusions can be reached as to the presidential nominees prior to the convention. The political climate can change greatly from the time of the last presidential primaries in California and South Dakota on June 2 and the opening of the Republican Convention in San Francisco on July 13 and the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City on August 24.

The presidential primaries are of two types. The preference type allows the party member to indicate his preference among the prospective presidential nominees whose names are printed on the ballot. Very seldom do the names of all the prospective nominees appear on the ballot. Even though some states make provision for write-in votes, the results tend to be inconclusive. The state's delegation to the national party convention is not bound to follow the results of such primaries.

In the other type of presidential primary the party voters choose the actual delegates who will go to the convention. These delegates may be pledged to a particular candidate or they may be uninstructed. In California, where 86 of the 1,308 Republican convention votes are being contested in the presidential primary, there again will not be a real choice since only Rockefeller and Goldwater slates of delegates will confront each other. This situation prevents the use of the write-in device to nominate delegates. Some states use both types but this is not the case in the California situation. Even with the election of such a slate of delegates to the national convention, the delegates do not have to continue to support their candidate throughout the convention.

Although a person may win a number of presidential primaries he will not necessarily be nominated by the convention. This was seen particularly in 1952 when Estes Kefauver was the winner in a number of primaries but the nomination went to Adlai Stevenson, who had not participated in the primaries. However, defeat in presidential primaries may discourage a candidate, as it did with Estes Kefauver in 1956 and Wendell Willkie in 1944. Nevertheless, spectacular victories, particularly through a write-in vote as in the case of General Eisenhower in Minnesota in 1952, may demonstrate to the convention delegates the voting appeal of certain candidates.

Undoubtedly the voting appeal of Richard Nixon in 1960 will not be overlooked by the Republican delegates in 1964. The fact that he got 49.55% of the vote while Senator Kennedy got 49.71% of the vote cannot be overlooked. In addition Mr. Nixon is looked upon as a middle-of-the-roader at the present time. Historically the major political parties have avoided as candidates persons from the left-wing or the right-wing of the party. At the present time Governor Rockefeller and Senator Goldwater are not regarded as middle-of-the-roaders. Therefore, it seems reasonable that the Republicans may again turn to Mr. Nixon as the nominee of the party even though he has not been a candidate in the presidential primaries.

And as the sun breaks through the darkest clouds,
So honour peereth in the meanest habit.

—Shakspere

WE HAVE FLOWERS
IN EVERY PRICE RANGE

See our Campus Agent. . .

JACK SPENSER

For Lovely Flowers
From

Hartman's Flowers

982-7500 333 E. Broadway

CAPITOL THEATRE

Under New Management

Now run by Harold Robbins
(Better known as 'Harold The Night Watchman")

Sun., April 26-29 One Man's Way

Thurs., April 30 – May 1 Haunted Palace

Sat., May 2 Courtship of Eddie's Father

Sun., May 3-5 Charade

Wed., May 6-8 The Victors

Sat., May 9 Global Affair
Apache

McBRAYER SHOE SHOP

QUALITY SHOE REPAIR WORK

Open 6 Days a Week

Netters go for five in a row

Scots Smash To 4th Straight; Face Tough East Tenn. Today

by Todd Owers

Suntanned and fresh from a fine Florida tour, the Maryville college tennis team returned to the home courts spectacularly last week, as they stroked their way to impressive victories over Tennessee Wesleyan, Emory and Henry and Milligan College respectively. The Scots lay their 7-5 record on the line at 1:15 p.m. this afternoon as they take on dangerous East Tennessee State University.

The current win streak which has seen Maryville shackle four opponents in a row began on April 14th in Rome, Georgia, as the Scottie netmen pounded hapless Shorter College 9-0. The following day found the net squad at home, seeking a revenge victory over visiting Tennessee Wesleyan. Lynn Howard, Dave Marx, Richard Marshall and Dale Fischbach all frolicked to key singles victories that afternoon, while Bob Paul and Richard Marshall put the match on ice with a doubles victory. Todd Owers and Dave Marston followed suit with an insulting 6-0, 6-0 win over their Wesleyan doubles opponents, and the afternoon was a sweet success.

Fresh from their 6-3 drubbing of Wesleyan, the Scots entertained visiting Emory and Henry College the following day to the tune of 8-1. Maryville swept to 5 singles wins and copped all 3 doubles matches in searing Emory's Wasps.

Milligan College was Maryville's next victim, as the Scots romped to a 6-3 win. Lynn Howard and Richard Marshall turned in fine come-from-behind three set singles victories, while Dave Marx, Dave Marston, and Dale Fischbach joined in the winner's circle with victories of their own. Todd Owers and Dave Marston scored Maryville's lone victory in the doubles matches which followed.

The East Tennessee State match this afternoon promises to be a cliff-hanger down to the wire, and will be Maryville's toughest home test to date. Following this afternoon's match the tennis team will journey to Williamsburg Kentucky on Monday to play Cumberland College. Tuesday they will close out their 1964 home season with a match against arch-rival Carson-Newman College.

Baseball Statistics

It is an old adage in baseball that "statistics tell the story." With nine games of the season having been completed, the Scots have only two victories to show for their efforts. The story that the statistics tell is that Maryville's opponents have very little trouble in scoring. They have smashed their way to 99 runs while the Scots have managed only 47, 16 of which came in one game. Further statistics appear below.

BATTING	AB	H	AVG.
Hughes	38	15	.395
Dutton	36	11	.305
Prudhon	33	10	.303
Schiedler	34	9	.265
Banks	28	6	.214
Martin	30	6	.200
Petty	31	6	.194
Webb	24	3	.125
West	16	2	.125
totals	296	69	.237

PITCHING	IP	R	ER
West	41 1/3	43	20
Mullins	21 1/3	30	19
Schiedler	5 1/3	8	7
Llewellyn	10	18	10
totals	78	99	56

Baseballers Out To Snap Losing Streak

After beginning the season with two victories in three games, the Scots have dropped six tough ones in a row: three losses to Bowling Green and one each to L.M.U., Emory and Henry, and Mars Hill. Their record now stands at two and seven.

Against Emory and Henry the bats of the Scots were booming as they rapped out 11 safeties while Emory and Henry collected nine. The Virginia school, however, capitalized on their hits and walked off to an 8 to 4 victory. Catcher Sonny Hughes was the big gun in the Maryville attack. The sophomore backstop collected four hits including a triple in five times at the plate. Prudhon and Dutton each rapped out two safeties while Banks, Martin, and Webb chipped in one apiece. Dave West, Maryville's "iron man," was on the mound. He yielded eight runs. Four of then were unearned. Three errors proved costly to the Scot's cause.

Against Mars Hill it was more of the same. The Highlanders stroked out nine hits and were given four bases on balls, but were able to score only six times. Mars Hill smashed Maryville's pitching staff for thirteen hits. In addition to these, the pitchers yielded Mars Hill eleven walks and the infield contributed five errors. The final score found the visitors from North Carolina on the long end of the 16 to 6 score. Red Prudhon continued his fine hitting with two safeties. Martin, Banks, and Schiedler also chipped in two hits. Bob Mullin's single rounded out the Maryville attack.

The Scots have been hitting well. However, Coach Baird's charges must improve on several counts if they are to start winning. The defense needs to become much more stringent. With opponents scoring almost at will, Coach Baird must find a means of plugging the gap.

Track Team Running Well; Field Events Need Improvement

Won and lost comparisons are not always indicative of the performance of a team. The record of Maryville's track team is a case in point. Although the Scots have participated in three dual meets thus far, they have yet to register their initial victory. However, the 1964 edition of the track team is one of the strongest in recent years. The three meets have been marked by strong individual performances. The most striking aspect of the thinclads is their inadequacy in the field events. In two of their three meets the Scots have rung up large leads in the running events, only to lose the meet on the basis of their showing in the field events.

Alexander Shines

The first meet of the season pitted the Highlanders against Cumberland College. Cumberland is the sternest competition the Scots meet all year. At the end of the day, the Kentucky school had rolled its way to an 89 to 42 conquest. One of the bright spots for the Maryville squad was the performance of Freshman Dave Alexander. The powerful Alexander scored exactly half of the Maryville total. He placed first in the 440 and 220 yard dashes, the broad jump, and the discus. He also took third place in the high jump. The only other Highlander to win his event was Greg Hallen in the javelin. Other Maryville athletes to win points were John Livingston who placed second in the mile and third in the two mile; Jack Smoot who sprinted his way to a second place finish in the 100 yard dash; Rich Reed and Hugh McCampbell who took second and third respectively in the 880; Terry Amon hurdled his way to second place in the 120 yard high hurdles; Gene Smith placed third in the shot put; and Dave Hutchinson grabbed third in the 220 yard low hurdles.

Scots Fare Better

The Scots fared considerably better against Milligan in their second meet, yet still came out on the short end of a 71 to 60 score. The Scot's weakness in the field events was the deciding factor. The field men gathered only 17 of Maryville's points. Once again it was Alevxander who proved to be Maryville's top point-getter, as he ran to first place in the 220 and second place in the 440. He also picked up a first place finish in the broad jump. However, the outstanding individual performance of the day was turned in by John Livingston. Livingston won both the mile and two mile runs. In winning the mile the tall thin junior recorded the fine time of 4:40.3. His winning time in the two mile run was even more remarkable as he raced through the eight laps in 10:21.4. Rich Reed took first in the half mile with a time of 2:06.6 and Bill Hollis valuted 10 feet to win the pole vault. Terry Amon completed the list of Maryville victories as his 17.2 clocking took the honors in the 120 yard high hurdles.

Runners Star

Against Carson-Newman's Eagles the Scots came even closer to victory than they had come against Milligan. The final score was 70 to 60. The meet was split down the middle. Maryville swept through the track events and the Eagles swept through the field events. Carson-Newman placed first in every field event and swept all three places in the shot put and the discus. Maryville, nearly balanced this deficit by winning all but two of the track events. "Fireball" Shultz, Jack Smoot, and Roland McClanahan swept the 100 yard dash; and Hugh McCampbell, Shultz, and Rich Reed swept the half mile. Livingston won both the mile and two mile runs, and Dave Alexander took firsts in the 220 and 440. Terry Amon won the 120 yard high hurdles.

Netters Tour Florida During Spring Break

by Phil Jerome

One of the unique features on the spring sport scene at Maryville College was the tour that the tennis team took through Florida and Georgia. Playing without Todd Owers and Dave Marx, the number one and number three singles players, the Scots, nevertheless managed to post a highly respectable record, splitting the six matches evenly.

Coach Lauren Kardatzke's team launched the Deep South tour with an 8-1 win over Berry College and a 5-4 decision over Indian River Junior College of Ft. Pierce, Florida. The other Florida teams proved to be stiff competition. St. Petersburg won 8-1, Florida Junior College took a 7-2 decision, and Florida Presbyterian stroked its way to a 6-3 victory. Maryville blanked Shorter College 9-0 to finish the trip.

The tour was an important event in the annuals of the tennis team and in the history of the athletic program at Maryville College. The immediate results are the fine play exhibited by the Scots in their most recent matches. On a broader scale, the trip stands as a precedent for possible similar ventures in the future. Coach Kardatzke's team is composed of upstanding individuals who are, in addition, excellent athletes. Trips such as this can not fail to leave a favorable impression of Maryville College on the places that it visits. Such ventures should be both applauded and continued.

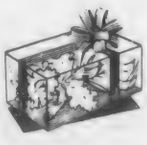
U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

WAYNE SIMMONS

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!

TIP TOP BARBER SHOP



105 Church St. Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop Open 6 Days a Week

FOR THE SPRING FORMAL ---

We feature the finest in cut flowers and corsages.

Sure to please that special someone.

HORNE'S FLORIST

215 W. Broadway 982-2690

Martin's DRUG STORE

401 S. Washington St Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.

Offering Maryville College Students

a complete line of cosmetics,

plus

a reliable prescription service

Located just off campus on Washington St.

The Impartial Observer

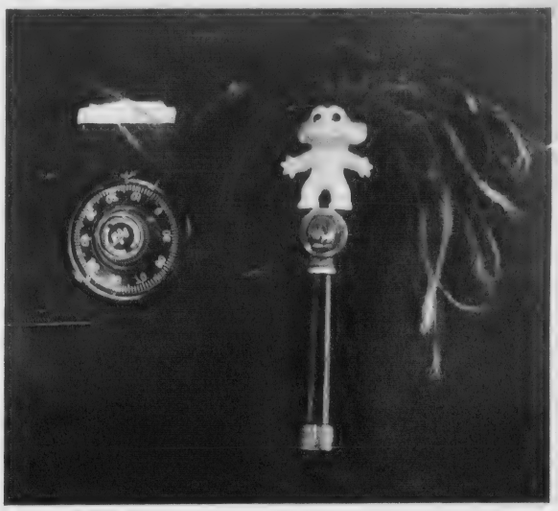
by Ken Young

At present our Highlander baseball team seems similar to the New York Mets in all areas but one — good home attendance. Since our impressive opening game victory over U.T. and another over L.M.U. two games later, our record has been quite discouraging. We have lost five in a row and things are not looking much better as we go along. Things, however, are never as bad as they seem in baseball or in love. A look at statistics (for baseball I mean) shows that a few less errors and a few less walks would have meant a few more victories for the home team. A good case in point is the April 15 game with Emory and Henry. We lost that one 8-4. BUT, only four of their runs were earned. Three crucial errors and 6 walks made the boys from Emory breathe a little easier, and not even our eleven hit attack could overcome those odds. Unfortunately, a mass funeral was required for fourteen men who died on base. Even Yogi Berra would tell you, though, that getting the men on is half the battle. The other half is getting them in and holding the other team. If you have half, can the other half be far behind? I don't think so.

No Beer

Against Mars Hill our better half got nine hits and six runs, but the fans had little else to cheer about, and their was no beer for them to cry in (our vendors are on strike). A combination of wildness, errors, and Martians so big they kept first-baseman Dutton in the shade most of the afternoon put our Scots in a state of shell shock throughout the game. When the dust had cleared from an eighth-inning Mars Hill stampede, nine runs had crossed the plate and the ball was pleading for clemency. The final score was 16-6.

What's Wrong?



What's wrong with our team? Speaking from limited baseball experience (I once set a strike-out record without ever throwing a pitch), it's hard to say. We've had some bright spots not the least of which was our opening victory over that large un-christian university sprawled all over Knoxville. We have some fine individuals on our team, and this seems to be our major problem. To the impartial observor it looks like our boys are playing more for themselves than for the team. But then, why shouldn't they? What's the sense in knocking yourself out for an alma mater that won't yield an attendance over 50? There is no better incentive for an athlete to do well than the cheers of a large crowd; and there is nothing better for the crowd to see than a bunch of good ball players playing together and jelling into a good team. Bring your girl or some ice cream (ice cream is more practical if it's a hot day—our vendors will probably be on strike for quite awhile yet) next Wednesday and help the team knock the — bee boop — out of Carson-Newman. It'll be well worth your time.

I will instruct my sorrows to be proud; For grief is proud, and makes his owner stoop.
Shakspere

SEEN...

...AND HEARD

Byron came from a long line of nuts and was good-looking—if you like that type . . . Thomas Jefferson's birthday . . . I missed my usual main point . . . I think. Therefore, I might as well be . . . religious immortal business . . . us monarchs has got to stick together . . . cron on the cbo . . . I know French; that is, when I see it . . . always wanted to be a horse . . .aesthetic gooseflesh . . . sing along with me—Der Mai ist, gekommen . . . I'll love you forever; until the next one comes along . . . I just heard a bird herd overhead . . . like fox terriers . . . restrained words about Shakspere . . . enjoying an appear . . . two watermelons . . . isn't it about time to elect the Spades? . . . which Carl McDonald? — the real one or the freshman? . . . ! What country is the purple isle? — Grape Britain.

For New Shoes,

Polishes & Dyes
Shoe Shine Equipment
Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Remedies

City Shoe Shop

106 West Broadway

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION...
WEAR

Southern Shoes

Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.

116 West Broadway

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

For School and Office Supplies,

Excellent Service

and

Fast Delivery

White Office Machines

"Won't Write – Call White"

"Coca-Cola" is a registered trade-mark. Copyright © 1960 The Coca-Cola Company.

Dr. Livingstone?

What a happy man he would have been if his man Stanley could have brought along a carton of Coke! That cold crisp taste, that lively lift would certainly hit the spot with any tired explorer. In fact, after your next safari to class—wouldn't Coca-Cola taste good to you?

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED...HAVE A COKE!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

RODDY MANUFACTURING CO.
Maryville, Tenn.

Netters go for five in a row

Scots Smash To 4th Straight; Face Tough East Tenn. Today

by Todd Owers

Suntanned and fresh from a fine Florida tour, the Maryville college tennis team returned to the home courts spectacularly last week, as they stroked their way to impressive victories over Tennessee Wesleyan, Emory and Henry and Milligan College respectively. The Scots lay their 7-5 record on the line at 1:15 p.m. this afternoon as they take on dangerous East Tennessee State University.

The current win streak which has seen Maryville shackle four opponents in a row began on April 14th in Rome, Georgia, as the Scottie netmen pounded hapless Shorter College 9-0. The following day found the net squad at home, seeking a revenge victory over visiting Tennessee Wesleyan. Lynn Howard, Dave Marx, Richard Marshall and Dale Fischbach all frolicked to key singles victories that afternoon, while Bob Paul and Richard Marshall put the match on ice with a doubles victory. Todd Owers and Dave Marston followed suit with an insulting 6-0, 6-0 win over their Wesleyan doubles opponents, and the afternoon was a sweet success.

Fresh from their 6-3 drubbing of Wesleyan, the Scots entertained visiting Emory and Henry College the following day to the tune of 8-1. Maryville swept to 5 singles wins and copped all 3 doubles matches in searing Emory's Wasps.

Milligan College was Maryville's next victim, as the Scots romped to a 6-3 win. Lynn Howard and Richard Marshall turned in fine come-from-behind three set singles victories, while Dave Marx, Dave Marston, and Dale Fischbach joined in the winner's circle with victories of their own. Todd Owers and Dave Marston scored Maryville's lone victory in the doubles matches which followed.

The East Tennessee State match this afternoon promises to be a cliff-hanger down to the wire, and will be Maryville's toughest home test to date. Following this afternoon's match the tennis team will journey to Williamsburg Kentucky on Monday to play Cumberland College. Tuesday they will close out their 1964 home season with a match against arch-rival Carson-Newman College.

Baseball Statistics

It is an old adage in baseball that "statistics tell the story." With nine games of the season having been completed, the Scots have only two victories to show for their efforts. The story that the statistics tell is that Maryville's opponents have very little trouble in scoring. They have smashed their way to 99 runs while the Scots have managed only 47, 16 of which came in one game. Further statistics appear below.

BATTING	AB	H	AVG.
Hughes	38	15	.395
Dutton	36	11	.305
Prudhon	33	10	.303
Schiedler	34	9	.265
Banks	28	6	.214
Martin	30	6	.200
Petty	31	6	.194
Webb	24	3	.125
West	16	2	.125
totals	296	69	.237

PITCHING	IP	R	ER
West	41 1|3	43	20
Mullins	21 1|3	30	19
Schiedler	5 1|3	8	7
Llewellyn	10	18	10
totals	78	99	56

Baseballers Out To Snap Losing Streak

After beginning the season with two victories in three games, the Scots have dropped six tough ones in a row: three losses to Bowling Green and one each to L.M.U., Emory and Henry, and Mars Hill. Their record now stands at two and seven.

Against Emory and Henry the bats of the Scots were booming as they rapped out 11 safeties while Emory and Henry collected nine. The Virginia school, however, capitalized on their hits and walked off to an 8 to 4 victory. Catcher Sonny Hughes was the big gun in the Maryville attack. The sophomore backstop collected four hits including a triple in five times at the plate. Prudhon and Dutton each rapped out two safeties while Banks, Martin, and Webb chipped in one apiece. Dave West, Maryville's "iron man," was on the mound. He yielded eight runs. Four of then were unearned. Three errors proved costly to the Scot's cause.

Against Mars Hill it was more of the same. The Highlanders stroked out nine hits and were given four bases on balls, but were able to score only six times. Mars Hill smashed Maryville's pitching staff for thirteen hits. In addition to these, the pitchers yielded Mars Hill eleven walks and the infield contributed five errors. The final score found the visitors from North Carolina on the long end of the 16 to 6 score. Red Prudhon continued his fine hitting with two safeties. Martin, Banks, and Schiedler also chipped in two hits. Bob Mullin's single rounded out the Maryville attack.

The Scots have been hitting well. However, Coach Baird's charges must improve on several counts if they are to start winning. The defense needs to become much more stringent. With opponents scoring almost at will, Coach Baird must find a means of plugging the gap.

Track Team Running Well; Field Events Need Improvement

Won and lost comparisons are not always indicative of the performance of a team. The record of Maryville's track team is a case in point. Although the Scots have participated in three dual meets thus far, they have yet to register their initial victory. However, the 1964 edition of the track team is one of the strongest in recent years. The three meets have been marked by strong individual performances. The most striking aspect of the thinclads is their inadequacy in the field events. In two of their three meets the Scots have rung up large leads in the running events, only to lose the meet on the basis of their showing in the field events.

Alexander Shines

The first meet of the season pitted the Highlanders against Cumberland College. Cumberland is the sternest competition the Scots meet all year. At the end of the day, the Kentucky school had rolled its way to an 89 to 42 conquest. One of the bright spots for the Maryville squad was the performance of Freshman Dave Alexander. The powerful Alexander scored exactly half of the Maryville total. He placed first in the 440 and 220 yard dashes, the broad jump, and the discus. He also took third place in the high jump. The only other Highlander to win his event was Greg Hallen in the javelin. Other Maryville athletes to win points were John Livingston who placed second in the mile and third in the two mile; Jack Smoot who sprinted his way to a second place finish in the 100 yard dash; Rich Reed and Hugh McCampbell who took second and third respectively in the 880; Terry Amon hurdled his way to second place in the 120 yard high hurdles; Gene Smith placed third in the shot put; and Dave Hutchinson grabbed third in the 220 yard low hurdles.

Scots Fare Better

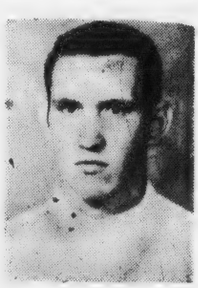
The Scots fared considerably better against Milligan in their second meet, yet still came out on the short end of a 71 to 60 score. The Scot's weakness in the field events was the deciding factor. The field men gathered only 17 of Maryville's points. Once again it was Alevxander who proved to be Maryville's top point-getter, as he ran to first place in the 220 and second place in the 440. He also picked up a first place finish in the broad jump. However, the outstanding individual performance of the day was turned in by John Livingston. Livingston won both the mile and two mile runs. In winning the mile the tall thin junior recorded the fine time of 4:40.3. His winning time in the two mile run was even more remarkable as he raced through the eight laps in 10:21.4. Rich Reed took first in the half mile with a time of 2:06.6 and Bill Hollis valuted 10 feet to win the pole vault. Terry Amon completed the list of Maryville victories as his 17.2 clocking took the honors in the 120 yard high hurdles.

Runners Star

Against Carson-Newman's Eagles the Scots came even closer to victory than they had come against Milligan. The final score was 70 to 60. The meet was split down the middle. Maryville swept through the track events and the Eagles swept through the field events. Carson-Newman placed first in every field event and swept all three places in the shot put and the discus. Maryville, nearly balanced this deficit by winning all but two of the track events. "Fireball" Shultz, Jack Smoot, and Roland McClanahan swept the 100 yard dash; and Hugh McCampbell, Shultz, and Rich Reed swept the half mile. Livingston won both the mile and two mile runs, and Dave Alexander took firsts in the 220 and 440. Terry Amon won the 120 yard high hurdles.

Netters Tour Florida During Spring Break

by Phil Jerome



One of the unique features on the spring sport scene at Maryville College was the tour that the tennis team took through Florida and Georgia. Playing without Todd Owers and Dave Marx, the number one and number three singles players, the Scots, nevertheless managed to post a highly respectable record, splitting the six matches evenly.

Coach Lauren Kardatzke's team launched the Deep South tour with an 8-1 win over Berry College and a 5-4 decision over Indian River Junior College of Ft. Pierce, Florida. The other Florida teams proved to be stiff competition. St. Petersburg won 8-1, Florida Junior College took a 7-2 decision, and Florida Presbyterian stroked its way to a 6-3 victory. Maryville blanked Shorter College 9-0 to finish the trip.

The tour was an important event in the annuals of the tennis team and in the history of the athletic program at Maryville College. The immediate results are the fine play exhibited by the Scots in their most recent matches. On a broader scale, the trip stands as a precedent for possible similar ventures in the future. Coach Kardatzke's team is composed of upstanding individuals who are, in addition, excellent athletes. Trips such as this can not fail to leave a favorable impression of Maryville College on the places that it visits. Such ventures should be both applauded and continued.

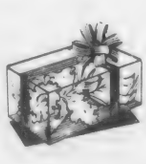
U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

WAYNE SIMMONS

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!

TIP TOP BARBER SHOP



105 Church St. Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop Open 6 Days a Week

FOR THE SPRING FORMAL ---

We feature the finest in cut flowers and corsages.

Sure to please that special someone.

HORNE'S FLORIST

215 W. Broadway 982-2690

Martin's DRUG STORE

401 S. Washington St. Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.

Offering Maryville College Students

a complete line of cosmetics,

plus

a reliable prescription service

Located just off campus on Washington St.

The Impartial Observer

by Ken Young

At present our Highlander baseball team seems similar to the New York Mets in all areas but one — good home attendance. Since our impressive opening game victory over U.T. and another over L.M.U. two games later, our record has been quite discouraging. We have lost five in a row and things are not looking much better as we go along. Things, however, are never as bad as they seem in baseball or in love. A look at statistics (for baseball I mean) shows that a few less errors and a few less walks would have meant a few more victories for the home team. A good case in point is the April 15 game with [illegible]. We lost that and this seems to be our major problem. To the impartial observor it looks like our boys are playing more for themselves than for the team. But then, why shouldn't they? What's the sense in knocking yourself out for an alma mater that won't yield an attendance over 50? There is no better incentive for an athlete to do well than the cheers of a large crowd; and there is nothing better for the crowd to see than a bunch of good ball players playing together and jelling into a good team. Bring your girl or some ice cream (ice cream is more practical if it's a hot day—our vendors will probably be on strike for quite awhile yet) next Wednesday and help the team knock the — bee boop — out of Carson-Newman. It'll be well worth your time.

I will instruct my sorrows to be proud; For grief is proud, and makes his owner stoop.
Shakspere

SEEN...

EXTRA

STUDENT BODY ELECTS MIKE MOYERS, WRITE-IN CANDIDATE, PRESIDENT

Yesterday, April 24, the students at Maryville College elected Mike Moyers, write-in candidate, president of the student body and Jon Hinderer vice president. Mr. Moyers opposed the two official candidates, Frank Jablonski and Will Mitchell. Mr. Hinderer opposed Norman Cleesattel.

Moyers consented to run early this week, after numerous students expressed their desire for him as a third candidate. At the Wednesday evening meeting of the student council, the situation was discussed and council found nothing unconstitutional in running a write-in candidate.

Mike Moyers is a junior history major from Nashville, Tennessee. He has held various positions on the campus, including president of the freshman class, student council representative for two years and chairman of the programs and car committees.

Jon Hinderer, a junior biology major from Philadelphia, served as president of the sophomore class, and served on council this year as chairman of the organizations committee.

OVER

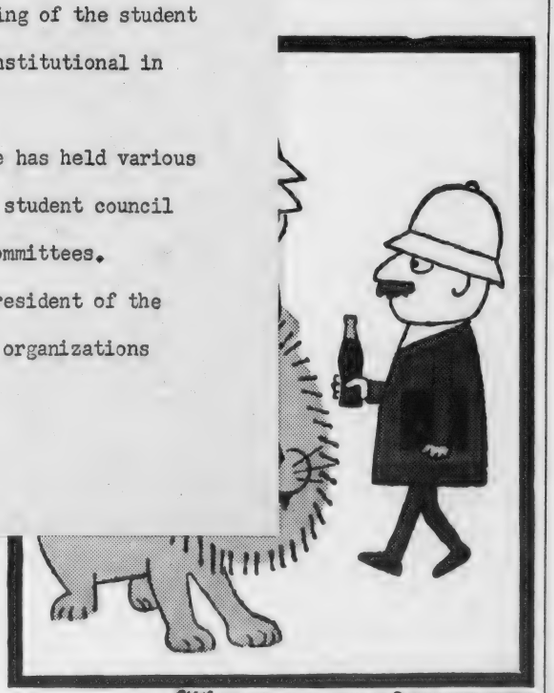
uts and was good-looking—if you son's birthday . . . I missed my nerefore, I might as well be . . . us monarchs has got to stick to- know French; that is, when I see . . . aesthetic gooseflesh . . . sing mmer . . . I'll love you forever; . I just heard a bird herd over- ained words about Shakspere . . . melons . . . isn't it about time to McDonald? — the real one or the he purple isle? — Grape Britain.

116 West Broadway

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

For School and Office Supplies,

Excellent Service



and

Fast Delivery

White

Office Machines

"Won't Write – Call White"

Coca-Cola is a registered trade-mark. copyright © 1960 the coca-cola company.

Dr. Livingstone?

What a happy man he would have been if his man Stanley could have brought along a carton of Coke! That cold crisp taste, that lively lift would certainly hit the spot with any tired explorer. In fact, after your next safari to class—wouldn't Coca-Cola taste good to you?

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED...HAVE A COKE!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

RODDY MANUFACTURING CO.

Maryville, Tenn.

Netters go for five in a row

Scots Smash To 4th Straight; Face Tough East Tenn. Today

by Todd Owers

Suntanned and fresh from a fine Florida tour, the Maryville college tennis team returned to the home courts spectacularly last week, as they stroked their way to impressive victories over Tennessee Wesleyan, Emory and Henry and Milligan College respectively. The Scots lay their 7-5 record on the line at 1:15 p.m. this afternoon as they take on dangerous East Tennessee State University.

The current win streak which has seen Maryville shackle four opponents in a row began on April 14th in Rome, Georgia, as the Scottie netmen pounded hapless Shorter College 9-0. The following day found the net squad at home, seeking a revenge victory over visiting Tennessee Wesleyan. Lynn Howard, Dave Marx, Richard Marshall and Dale Fischbach all frolicked to key singles victories that afternoon, while Bob Paul and Richard Marshall put the match on ice with a doubles victory. Todd Owers and Dave Marston followed suit with an insulting 6-0, 6-0 win over their Wesleyan doubles opponents, and the afternoon was a sweet success.

Fresh from their 6-3 drubbing of Wesleyan, the Scots entertained visiting Emory and Henry College the following day to the tune of 8-1. Maryville swept to 5 singles wins and copped all 3 doubles matches in searing Emory's Wasps.

Milligan College was Maryville's next victim, as the Scots romped to a 6-3 win. Lynn Howard and Richard Marshall turned in fine come-from-behind three set singles victories, while Dave Marx, Dave Marston, and Dale Fischbach joined in the winner's circle with victories of their own. Todd Owers and Dave Marston scored Maryville's lone victory in the doubles matches which followed.

The East Tennessee State match this afternoon promises to be a cliff-hanger down to the wire, and will be Maryville's toughest home test to date. Following this afternoon's match the tennis team will journey to Williamsburg Kentucky on Monday to play Cumberland College. Tuesday they will close out their 1964 home season with a match against arch-rival Carson-Newman College.

Baseball Statistics

It is an old adage in baseball that "statistics tell the story." With nine games of the season having been completed, the Scots have only two victories to show for their efforts. The story that the statistics tell is that Maryville's opponents have very little trouble in scoring. They have smashed their way to 99 runs while the Scots have managed only 47, 16 of which came in one game. Further statistics appear below.

BATTING	AB	H	AVG.
Hughes	38	15	.395
Dutton	36	11	.305
Prudhon	33	10	.303
Schiedler	34	9	.265
Banks	28	6	.214
Martin	30	6	.200
Petty	31	6	.194
Webb	24	3	.125
West	16	2	.125
totals	296	69	.237

PITCHING	IP	R	ER
West	41 1|3	43	20
Mullins	21 1|3	30	19
Schiedler	5 1|3	8	7
Llewellyn	10	18	10
totals	78	99	56

Baseballers Out To Snap Losing Streak

After beginning the season with two victories in three games, the Scots have dropped six tough ones in a row: three losses to Bowling Green and one each to L.M.U., Emory and Henry, and Mars Hill. Their record now stands at two and seven.

Against Emory and Henry the bats of the Scots were booming as they rapped out 11 safeties while Emory and Henry collected nine. The Virginia school, however, capitalized on their hits and walked off to an 8 to 4 victory. Catcher Sonny Hughes was the big gun in the Maryville attack. The sophomore backstop collected four hits including a triple in five times at the plate. Prudhon and Dutton each rapped out two safeties while Banks, Martin, and Webb chipped in one apiece. Dave West, Maryville's "iron man," was on the mound. He yielded eight runs. Four of then were unearned. Three errors proved costly to the Scot's cause.

Against Mars Hill it was more of the same. The Highlanders stroked out nine hits and were given four bases on balls, but were able to score only six times. Mars Hill smashed Maryville's pitching staff for thirteen hits. In addition to these, the pitchers yielded Mars Hill eleven walks and the infield contributed five errors. The final score found the visitors from North Carolina on the long end of the 16 to 6 score. Red Prudhon continued his fine hitting with two safeties. Martin, Banks, and Schiedler also chipped in two hits. Bob Mullin's single rounded out the Maryville attack.

The Scots have been hitting well. However, Coach Baird's charges must improve on several counts if they are to start winning. The defense needs to become much more stringent. With opponents scoring almost at will, Coach Baird must find a means of plugging the gap.

Track Team Running Well; Field Events Need Improvement

Won and lost comparisons are not always indicative of the performance of a team. The record of Maryville's track team is a case in point. Although the Scots have participated in three dual meets thus far, they have yet to register their initial victory. However, the 1964 edition of the track team is one of the strongest in recent years. The three meets have been marked by strong individual performances. The most striking aspect of the thinclads is their inadequacy in the field events. In two of their three meets the Scots have rung up large leads in the running events, only to lose the meet on the basis of their showing in the field events.

Alexander Shines

The first meet of the season pitted the Highlanders against Cumberland College. Cumberland is the sternest competition the Scots meet all year. At the end of the day, the Kentucky school had rolled its way to an 89 to 42 conquest. One of the bright spots for the Maryville squad was the performance of Freshman Dave Alexander. The powerful Alexander scored exactly half of the Maryville total. He placed first in the 440 and 220 yard dashes, the broad jump, and the discus. He also took third place in the high jump. The only other Highlander to win his event was Greg Hallen in the javelin. Other Maryville athletes to win points were John Livingston who placed second in the mile and third in the two mile; Jack Smoot who sprinted his way to a second place finish in the 100 yard dash; Rich Reed and Hugh McCampbell who took second and third respectively in the 880; Terry Amon hurdled his way to second place in the 120 yard high hurdles; Gene Smith placed third in the shot put; and Dave Hutchinson grabbed third in the 220 yard low hurdles.

Scots Fare Better

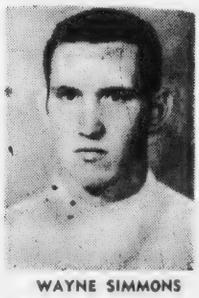
The Scots fared considerably better against Milligan in their second meet, yet still came out on the short end of a 71 to 60. score. The Scot's weakness in the field events was the deciding factor. The field men gathered only 17 of Maryville's points. Once again it was Alevxander who proved to be Maryville's top point-getter, as he ran to first place in the 220 and second place in the 440. He also picked up a first place finish in the broad jump. However, the outstanding individual performance of the day was turned in by John Livingston. Livingston won both the mile and two mile runs. In winning the mile the tall thin junior recorded the fine time of 4:40.3. His winning time in the two mile run was even more remarkable as he raced through the eight laps in 10:21.4. Rich Reed took first in the half mile with a time of 2:06.6 and Bill Hollis valuted 10 feet to win the pole vault. Terry Amon completed the list of Maryville victories as his 17.2 clocking took the honors in the 120 yard high hurdles.

Runners Star

Against Carson-Newman's Eagles the Scots came even closer to victory than they had come against Milligan. The final score was 70 to 60. The meet was split down the middle. Maryville swept through the track events and the Eagles swept through the field events. Carson-Newman placed first in every field event and swept all three places in the shot put and the discus. Maryville, nearly balanced this deficit by winning all but two of the track events. "Fireball" Shultz, Jack Smoot, and Roland McClanahan swept the 100 yard dash; and Hugh McCampbell, Shultz, and Rich Reed swept the half mile. Livingston won both the mile and two mile runs, and Dave Alexander took firsts in the 220 and 440. Terry Amon won the 120 yard high hurdles.

Netters Tour Florida During Spring Break

by Phil Jerome



One of the unique features on the spring sport scene at Maryville College was the tour that the tennis team took through Florida and Georgia. Playing without Todd Owers and Dave Marx, the number one and number three singles players, the Scots, nevertheless managed to post a highly respectable record, splitting the six matches evenly.

Coach Lauren Kardatzke's team launched the Deep South tour with an 8-1 win over Berry College and a 5-4 decision over Indian River Junior College of Ft. Pierce, Florida. The other Florida teams proved to be stiff competition. St. Petersburg won 8-1, Florida Junior College took a 7-2 decision, and Florida Presbyterian stroked its way to a 6-3 victory. Maryville blanked Shorter College 9-0 to finish the trip.

The tour was an important event in the annuals of the tennis team and in the history of the athletic program at Maryville College. The immediate results are the fine play exhibited by the Scots in their most recent matches. On a broader scale, the trip stands as a precedent for possible similar ventures in the future. Coach Kardatzke's team is composed of upstanding individuals who are, in addition, excellent athletes. Trips such as this can not fail to leave a favorable impression of Maryville College on the places that it visits. Such ventures should be both applauded and continued.

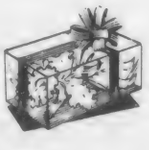
U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

WAYNE SIMMONS

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!

TIP TOP BARBER SHOP



105 Church St. Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop Open 6 Days a Week

FOR THE SPRING FORMAL ---

We feature the finest in cut flowers and corsages.

Sure to please that special someone.

HORNE'S FLORIST

215 W. Broadway 982-2690

Martin's DRUG STORE

401 S. Washington St. Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.

Offering Maryville College Students

a complete line of cosmetics,

plus

a reliable prescription service

Located just off campus on Washington St.

The Impartial Observer

by Ken Young

At present our Highlander baseball team seems similar to the New York Mets in all areas but one — good home attendance. Since our impressive opening game victory over U.T. and another over L.M.U. two games later, our record has been quite discouraging. We have lost five in a row and things are not looking much better as we go along. Things, however, are never as bad as they seem in baseball or in love. A look at statistics (for baseball I mean) shows that a few less errors and a few less walks would have meant a few more victories for the home team. A good case in point is the April 15 game with and this seems to be our major problem. To the impartial observor it looks like our boys are playing more for themselves than for the team. But then, why shouldn't they? What's the sense in knocking yourself out for an alma mater that won't yield an attendance over 50? There is no better incentive for an athlete to do well than the cheers of a large crowd; and there is nothing better for the crowd to see than a bunch of good ball players playing together and jelling into a good team. Bring your girl or some ice cream (ice cream is more practical if it's a hot day— our vendors will probably be on strike for quite awhile yet) next Wednesday and help the team knock the — bee boop — out of Carson-Newman. It'll be well worth your time.

I will instruct my sorrows to be proud; For grief is proud, and makes his owner stoop.
Shakspere

SEEN...

Below are the election statistics as given by Phil Brown, chairman of the elections committee:

	Senior	Junior	Sophomore	Freshman	TOTAL
MOYERS	41	64	101	135	341
MITCHELL	39	59	55	65	218
JABLONSKI	32	20	24	33	109
					668
HINDERER	51	86	125	116	378
CLEESATTEL	58	50	54	111	273
					651
PERCENTAGES	97%	100%	100%	94%

nuts and was good-looking—if you rson's birthday . . . I missed my Therefore, I might as well be . . .
us monarchs has got to stick to-
I know French; that is, when I see e . . .aesthetic gooseflesh . . . sing ommen . . . I'll love you forever;
. . . I just heard a bird herd over-trained words about Shakspere . . .
rmelons . . . isn't it about time to McDonald? — the real one or the the purple isle? — Grape Britain.

116 West Broadway

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

For School and Office Supplies,

Excellent Service

and

Fast Delivery

White

Office Machines

"Won't Write – Call White"

Coca-Cola IS A REGISTERED TRADE-MARK. COPYRIGHT © 1960 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY.

Dr. Livingstone?

What a happy man he would have been if his man Stanley could have brought along a carton of Coke! That cold crisp taste, that lively lift would certainly hit the spot with any tired explorer. In fact, after your next safari to class—wouldn't Coca-Cola taste good to you?

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED...HAVE A COKE!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

RODDY MANUFACTURING CO.

Maryville, Tenn.

Hope Fund News

The Fred Hope Fund Committee is concerned that more of the pledges made to this year's project be paid so that the badly needed money might be sent to Laos and the Stanleys. The following is a recent letter from Dr. and Mrs. Stanley, written before this week's military uprising, to the student body. We hope that students and faculty members will become more aware of the urgency of the payment by reading the letter and will stop by the Student Help Office to pay their pledges.

Dear Friends,

Please forgive me for the delay in writing but a cholera outbreak and the large number of clinic patients have kept me very busy.

Tommy told me of the large pledge to the Fred Hope Fund and we are delighted. Of course, there are many things which need to be done here such as building a ward for patients, a kitchen, an operating room, x-ray, medicines, a boat for river clinic, etc. One of the greatest needs is an operating room-delivery room, and central supply building. This building would have one large operating room, one smaller room for surgery and delivering babies, and a room for sterilizing instruments, etc. It will probably be made of cement with a tile roof. This building will probably cost about $3,000.

Perhaps the Fred Hope Fund could pay for a large part of the cost of this building. It would make me very proud to be able to put a plaque on a new building such as this one, stating that the construction of the building was made possible by a gift from the students and faculty of Maryville College to the people of Laos.

Of course, if you wish to make the contribution for some other specific use, feel free to do so. I do urge that when the donation is sent to the Dooley Foundation office, you give it under the condition that it be used only for the specific project you decide upon. Otherwise, it might never reach Khong.

If there are any specific things we can do to help the Fund Drive please let us know and we will do our best to help. We would love to have letters from any of you. The arrival of mail each week is the big event of our lives now.

Our Best wishes to all of you,
David, Nancy, Paul, and Dan Stanley

Phideas

Kappa Phi is having another great semester! The programs this semester have better than ever. In mentioning just a few of these perhaps Dr. Swenson's talk about "Dating at Maryville" should be mentioned first since it was the first program of the semester). Other programs were Dr. Young's discussion about drugs covering everything from NO Doz to the much stronger hallucinogenics. Dave Powell, Mr. Ramger, and many others have led very interesting programs. Future leaders will be Jim Cummings and Mr. Crawford. Tonight, April 25, Coach John A. Davis will be initiated as an honorary member and then will talk about the role of Athletics in education.

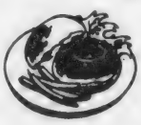
On the 18th of April a dance was held in honor of Kappa Phi's "Leading Ladies" of 1963-64. The evening was a fine success. For those of you who may not know the "Leading Ladies" are Miss Roberta Bryson, Miss Ginna Coon, Miss Phyllis Deloteus, Miss Martha Bess Ellis, Miss Nancy Haley, and Miss Sue Quigg. Once again, congratulations girls!

In addition to programs, the Leading Lady dance, and athletics, Phi has other plans for the semester. Work will be done on both the inside and outside of the House. Along with Chi Beta, Kappa Phi will make a day trip of Cades Cove some Sunday in May (permission has even been granted!). Green Stamp books are coming in fast and furiously for the new T.V. set. That should be in the house by . . .

Campaign In April To Be For JFK Library

In late April, a campaign for funds for the $10,000,000 John Fitzgerald Kennedy Library, to be erected in Boston, will be conducted on 2100 campuses throughout the nation. The library, including a museum, an archive, an institute, and a memorial room, will serve, according to the corporation in charge of the campaign, to "further one of President Kennedy's deepest concerns, . . . to bring together the world of ideas and the world of affairs." On completion, the library will be turned over to the United States Government as part of the National Archives.

The JFK Library Corporation has asked Maryville Student Council to coordinate a student drive. Because of the intensive drive presently being conducted to raise funds for development of this campus, Student Council has decided against active participation, but feels the student body should be made aware of the campaign.

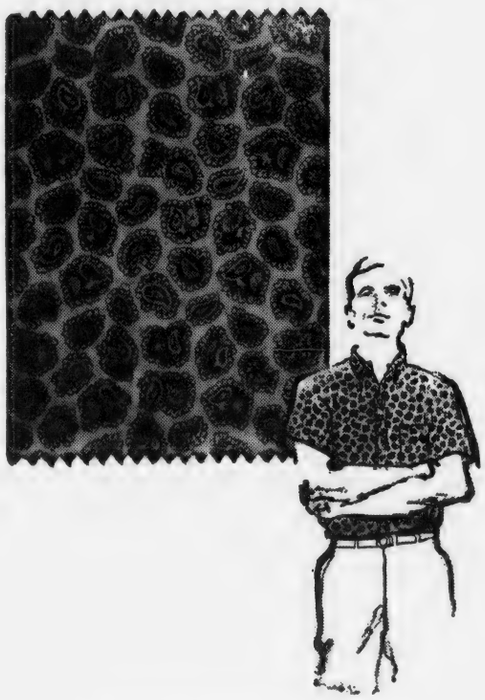


Birthday Cakes
Pastries of all Kinds
BIG 97 Cent PIZZA PIE
Deliveries Twice Daily

VAN'S BAKERY
Call the Sweetest Number in Town
982-7920 983-4413

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable Since 1885"
BANKING SERVICES
★ SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
✓ CHECK ACCOUNTS
★ CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
★ TRANSFER OF FUNDS
— Your College Bank —
Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Dining Designed for Your Pleasure



Whether you are in search of a snack, or a full-course meal, you can't beat our delicious cooking and low prices.
SEYMOUR'S
Open 4 am – 11 pm 982-9921

WGAP
CAMPUS MIKE
Voice of Maryville College
Sunday Evening
9:30-10:00

DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands
OPEN 8:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. to Serve You
Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products
Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses
DIXIE SUPER MARKET
WASHINGTON AVENUE

Proffitt's

Traditional tailoring, smart new design...
ARROW
short sleeve
Paisley print sport shirt
An exciting new Paisley print comes to town in this Arrow all-cotton short sleeve sport shirt. Tailored in authentic University Fashion style, it's cut for maximum comfort, tapered to give the clean, lean look of true Ivy. "Sanforized" labeled to assure lasting perfect fit. The button-down collar features a casual roll, button and box pleat in the back.
$5.00

Proffitt's
Midland Shopping Center

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 49 | Maryville, Tennessee, May 9, 1964 | No. 13

At MC Since 1936

Miss Davies, Head of Fine Arts Dept., To Retire

Miss Katherine C. Davies, Professor of Music and Chairman of the department of the Fine Arts at Maryville College, has announced that she will retire after this year. Miss Davies received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Wooster College, Bachelor of Music from Oberlin College, and her Master's Degree in Music from Eastman College. Before coming to Maryville in 1936, she taught at Westminster College, Muskingum, and Pittsburg. During her career, she has studied in London, Zurich, and Paris.

Miss Davies came to Maryville to organize the Fine Arts department and establish majors in music, drama, and art. It was difficult to persuade music faculty to come to an unaccredited Southern school with a small salary. During these pre-war years, the chapel stage was used for both music and theater productions. In 1942, Maryville became accredited by joining the National Association of Schools of Music.

Soldiers Rescued Piano

During the war years, the Science Hall and Carnegie were renovated; the classes were mostly women; and the Air Force came to the Maryville College campus. During a slight fire in the chapel, Miss Davies remembered that the soldiers carried the Steinway piano out on their shoulders. The music and drama classes met in the basement of the chapel and were greatly limited due to the lack of equipment. Instituted at this time were the bi-weekly recitals, the junior and senior recitals, and Tau Kappa Chi.

"Messiah" Given in Gym

In 1947, Miss Davies was on Sabbatical leave when she received a telegram telling her that the chapel had burned, completely destroying all the equipment. She found in the ashes of the chapel the remains of the new Steinway grand piano. The fine arts were reestablished on the second floor of Anderson with recitals in the Y rooms and plays and the "Messiah" given in the gym.

Feels MC Needs B.Mus.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lloyd of Chicago built and furnished the present Fine Arts Center in memory of an infant daughter. Miss Davies mentioned that it took courage to construct such a modern building at that time. Attending the dedication in 1950 was the president of the National Association of Schools of Music. With the erection of the chapel in 1955, Maryville gained one of the best-equipped college theaters in the United States as it was patterned after that of Yale. An endowment in 1960 from the Lloyds permitted the addition of the instrumental rehearsal and art wings to the Fine Arts Center.

Two things, still, Miss Davies feels Maryville needs. These are a requirement that every graduate take a course in the Fine Arts curriculum before graduation and a Bachelor of Music degree.

Dinner For Seniors To Be May 19

The Alumni Association of Maryville College will give an informal buffet dinner for seniors on Tuesday evening, May 19, at 7 o'clock at the Green Meadow Country Club.

Entertainment will be by Pete Park, folk singer, senior at Maryville High. Other activities of the evening will include the reading of the senior class prophecy.

Local alumni will drive their cars, and will pick up the seniors at 6:30 in front of the chapel.

Those seniors wishing to go should put their names on the sign-up sheet in the development office.

Moyers, Hinderer Discuss Plans For 1964-65 Student Government

Above are shown Mike Moyers and Jon Hinderer, who were recently elected president and vice president of the student body. Moyers was elected by 51.05 percent of the students, by write-in votes. He opposed Will Mitchell and Frank Jablonski. Hinderer polled 58.06 percent of the votes in his race. He opposed Norman Cleesattel.

A "Feel As You Go" Proposition

Student government next year approaches its task with an unusually clean slate, for there will be few projects left over from this year which have to be completed. President-elect Mike Moyers characterizes the plans for next year's student government as a "feel as you go" proposition. The new government will continue some ideas from this year and initiate new plans and projects as the need arises.

Will Use S-F Senate

Moyers and Vice-president-elect Jon Hinderer feel that perhaps the best approach to problems is through the Student-Faculty Senate, rather than by unilateral work by the Student Council. It is best to treat disturbing areas as problems, to discuss them in the Student Council, then to take them to the Student-Faculty Senate.

Some ideas for next year include a liberalized Chapel absence system, further study on the drinking problem, revision of the Student Body Constitution, an informal coffee-house for interested students, published reports of Executive Council meetings, and music for the Dining Hall.

Ideas Include Coffee-house

The new officers feel that a more liberal Chapel cut system, possibly a double number of cuts, could be considered, although this idea has not yet been discussed with the administration. The committee considering the drinking problem is to report in May, perhaps providing grounds for further action.

The bylaws and rules of the Student Body Constitution have been in the process of revision for two years. This project could be brought to completion next year. Moyers suggests an informal coffee-house, where students could gather for casual conversation. At present a good campus location is being searched for. This idea was tried to some degree last year. This could be achieved at minimal cost and would be good in the interval until the new Student Center is built. The new officers hope to work with UCCF and other campus organizations on this project.

Want To Hear Students' Ideas

Another idea to be considered is that the Executive Council might publish its proceedings. Perhaps a brief resume of the minutes of the Executive Council could be read in the Student-Faculty Senate when the Student Council minutes are presented. Next year, Moyers plans to work on the idea of having music in the Dining Hall during meals.

Cont. Page 6, Col. 1

Sen. Gore Of Tennessee To Make Address At AGS Service

Sen. Albert Gore, Senator from Tennessee and member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Finance Committee, and Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, will speak at Maryville College May 15 at the annual recognition service of Alpha Gamma Sigma, the college honor society.

Grad of U-T

His address will be in the Chapel on the college campus at 9:40 a.m. The service is open to the public, which is invited to attend.

Sen. Gore is a native of Jackson County and a graduate of Middle Tennessee State College, the University of Tennessee, and the YMCA Night Law School. He holds the Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Law degrees.

Resident of Carthage

His career of public service began as teacher and later Superintendent of Schools in Smith County, Tenn., and in 1937 he was the State Commissioner of Labor.

Sen. Gore's career in the nation's capital began in 1938 when he was elected from the Fourth Congressional District to the 76th Congress. He was re-elected to all succeeding Congresses until his election to the Senate in 1952, and he was re-elected to his Senate seat in 1958.

A resident of Carthage, Tenn., he owns the Cumberland Feed Mills there and operates a farm nearby.

Address Is Tradition

Alpha Gamma Sigma, the college honor society, was founded in 1932. Each year, students with the highest scholarship standing are elected to membership in the society, and each spring a noted educator, business, church, or civic leader is invited to make an address at a college ceremony in which the new members are recognized for their scholastic achievements.

Classes Elect Next Year's Officers

On Friday, May 1, elections were held to elect class officers for next year's senior, junior, and sophomore classes. Those elected were as follows:

Senior Officers

President, Jerry Stewart
Vice President, Carolyn Foust
Secretary-treasurer, Lorraine Briggs

Junior Officers

President, Hugh McCampbell
Vice president, Reed Tarwater
Secretary-treasurer, Sue Haldeman

Miss Haldeman was elected in a run-off election on Monday, May 4.

Sophomore Officers

President, Dave Hutchison
Vice president, Dave Alexander
Secretary-treasurer, Carol Pusey

Dr. Roberto Koch To Lecture At MC May 22

"Higher Education in Latin America" will be the topic when Dr. Roberto Koch from Lima, Peru, lectures at Maryville College on May 22 at 8:00 in the Music Hall.

Dr. Koch is Professor of Comparative Education and Head of the Department of Teaching Practice at the University of San Marcos, the oldest university in the western hemisphere, founded in Lima in 1551.

Holding the degree of Doctor of Education from the National University of San Marcos, Doctor Koch also studied in the United States in 1943-44 at the University of Michigan and Columbia University. In 1947-48 he studied at the University of London. He made visits to Chile, Argentina, and Uruguay in 1956 and to France and Mexico in 1961.

This year he is Visiting Lecturer under the John Hay Whitney and Fulbright Foundations at the University of Chattanooga.

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Editor-in-Chief
CHARLOTTA COOK

Editor this issue
ELENORA EASTERLY

News Editor — ELENORA EASTERLY
Feature Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Sports Editors — GINNA COON and DAVID KING
Copy Editor — SANDRA SCOFIELD
Art Editor — DEANNA STURGELL
Exchange Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Business Editor — GORDON STEWART
Circulation Manager — JUDY SIVER

Faculty Advisor — DR. CAROLYN BLAIR
Editorial Advisor — MR. DUNCAN BENNETT
Financial Advisor — MR. FRANK LAYMAN

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS — Duncan Bennett, Sandra Chittick, Sandra Haggart, Carolyn Huff, Lois Huffines, Sara Humphries, Phil Jerome, Dave Marston, Dave Powell, Marilyn Rankin, Deanna Sturgell, Ralph Tucker, Ken Young, Barbara McCarter, Teddie Gillespie

LIP SERVICE

Scarcely ever in all our twenty-one years have we become so sick of a subject under discussion as we have of that one being bandied around now—student responsibility. It's been talked about, grossly, for nearly three months, and we haven't heard a rational discussion, much less a solution.

However, Sunday night in vespers Dr. Eby spoke out, and he said at least three significant things: 1) "Beer, beer, beer, said the Private"; 2) You only throw away a crutch or a corset if you don't need it; 3) Student responsibility comes from internal discipline.

* * * * * *

It's a funny thing to write an editorial. There are hazards involved, like the big dream of influencing people being busted, because after all that sweat, nobody read it; or if they did, they didn't know who wrote it. Only we guess the latter shouldn't matter.

It's kind of good, though, to sit down behind a typewriter (or if you're normal, in front) and know that the whole campus and many people in the outside world may read what you write. If you can't think of something constructive to say, or even something to gripe about, you can give vent to those deep-seated frustrations they say we all harbor.

Then there's always the possibility that your subtle humor won't be thought humorous, or that somebody'll put you on the carpet for something you've said, or that you simply have nothing to say.

We've always thought we would like to live dangerously.

— ELENORA EASTERLY

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK

MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER

RELIGIOUS READING MATERIALS
TO FIT EVERY STUDENT'S NEEDS
STUDENTS ALWAYS WELCOME!

983-4982

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES
★ SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
✓ CHECK ACCOUNTS
★ CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
★ TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

During the past few months, the campus environment has been filled with talk concerning student rights, student responsibility, and student maltreatment by other students, instructors, and especially by Maryville College's answer to the House Rules and Means Committee, the Executive Council. At February Meetings and the following weeks, this word responsibility, from college to student and student to college has taken quite a beating, not entirely undeserved.

What are the students' rights? A car on campus and the right to drink. What are the students' responsibilities? Correction of campus policies and self-inflicted martyrdom concerning Miss Ware's culinary art.

It has come to the attention of Student Council, during the past few months, that the average Maryville College-type-student is being cheated out of his inherent social privileges, being educationally mistreated by his instructors, being driven to the point of pecuniary indolence by overburdensome and cruel library fines, and being consciously and sadistically starved and poisoned by Miss Ware and her cohorts, just to mention a few incidents.

Cheating, in and out of, class is apparently about ready to graduate from the minors . . .

Did you get your money from home before M.C.'s own version of the mailbox highwayman struck again?

Are the girls in New Dorm going to become so conditioned by midnight fire drills that whenever the bell rings for chapel they will arrive complete with raincoat and strategically placed towel?

Let's take a look, and grow up, before we start screaming about being so mistreated. How much responsibility is the student body capable of assuming? Judging from the above, one could wonder.

Is the above a true picture of Maryville College? If it is, then definitely something should be done, but is it? Unless I am blind, deaf, and dumb . . . Maryville College is not the institution mentioned above. Two weeks ago, the car proposal was defeated by a very close vote in Executive Council. It was given an open and free chance, and was fairly defeated. To many, this defeat was a harsh blow and insult to student responsibility, or was it? The student concensus was that the faculty and administration are treating the student body like children—beings incapable of accepting responsibility.

How much responsibility are the students of Maryville College capable of accepting? There are around 100 boys who accept the responsibility of drinking on and off campus; they are capable of accepting so much responsibility that many would put the fish of the sea to shame. The night that February Meetings opened, there was a party to celebrate with that good old mountain dew, lead by a graduating preministerial student—one shudders to think about what might have occurred to celebrate the advent of Holy Week.

Cont. Page 6, Col. 2

REVIEW

by Barbara McCarter

"The Teahouse of the August Moon" by John Patrick

It was an evening in another world. We walked across a bridge into a tea garden and found ourselves bowing from the waist and grinning. The lights went down, but the remarkable quality of wandering through an Okinawan village instead of spectating remained. Sakini the interpreter, vivaciously played by Allan Fields, let us in on the wisdom and humor abounding in the story of "American" occupation forces in Okinawa. David King was a remarkably bombastic Col. Purdy III, and the rest of "our boys," Bob McGruther, the Professor of Humanities turned "occupator" of an unsuspecting village, and Philip Davidson, psychiatrist to the former and hayseed farmer at heart, were at their gesticulating best. Lotus Blossom, first-class Geisha girl and gift to the bemuddled and blundering Captain, was gracefully played by Bettina Leong. Character roles were skillfully drawn by Jeffrey Slagle, Nancy Pierce, Lady Astor (an alcoholic goat), Thomas Llewellyn, Virginia Wells, and John Boretsky. All of the inhabitants of Tobiki Village lent color and fun with stylized acting and authentic dialect.

The script was full of quotable quotes, a full range of comedy, and not a little human understanding. Thomas E. Jones, Director, designed the front screens reminiscent of silk prints. The multipurpose sets and the magical Teahouse were designed by Robert Hutchison, who also served as Technical Director, and Sharon Walrond was Assistant Director. The play will be performed on the evening of June 2. Plan to go and perhaps catch a moonbeam in your tea.

The Impartial Observer

by Ken Young

Wanderlust seized me the other day as I was cleaning my room. Actually, anything is liable to seize me when I'm cleaning my room; but this time it was wanderlust so I packed my cheese sandwich (the slice of baloney was too heavy to carry), put on my Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes (unused in four months), and headed for the big city. Unfortunately, I only got as far as Knoxville; but I decided that while I was there, I might as well see the wonderment of the University of Tennessee.

My first area of concern was the aspect of muliebrity (girls for you non-English majors). The girls at U.T. are, on the whole, better looking than Maryville girls. But that's nothing, their boys are better looking than ours and they have cars. If you worry about social bias in dating here, project that into U.T. and add fraternities and cars to the list. There are only three times that a U.T. girl lowers her nose: to look at a frat. pin, to check the make of your car, and to relieve her stiff neck.

The student center conveys a nice atmosphere, especially if you are with a girl. The main entrance bears a distinct resemblance to a hotel lobby. A couple of steps in the wrong direction, however, and the fantasy ends in a mass of humanity standing in line for their junk soup and peanut-butter and jelly sandwiches. I never actually saw the food, but naturally assumed . . . The rest of the room was filled with pseudo-intellectuals (they have them, too) looking over the tops of upside-down books at the length or, rather, lack of it, of the girls' skirts. The only difference between their dining hall and ours is that at U.T. the boys stare at the girls openly.

Having a little time left, I decided to visit the lesser known areas of the campus—the classrooms. Here I found a charm and atmosphere I had never before seen. The floors were a combination dirt and cigarette butts, and the windows were stained glass—dirt-stained. The rooms I saw were bigger than our basketball court and had a much larger seating capacity. A train running right next to (or through for all I know) the building every ten minutes added to the scholarly mood and made one feel right at home—provided, of course, one lives in a railroad station.

As I left Knoxtown, I felt a certain sense of pride. We have things U.T. will never have: an extended vacation for getting caught drinking, tremendous gas mileage (recent trends, however, indicate that Maryville students are paying more for gas, or maybe it's that more Maryville students are paying for gas), a noticeable lack of the root of all evil, and a football team that enjoys playing (they have to, they don't get anything else out of it).

If I had to do it all over again, I'd probably still choose Maryville. They say the grass is always greener on the other side of the fence, but U.T. is more like the other side of the tracks. There seems to me to be a more basic reality in caring enough about something to gripe about it than to have nothing to worry about besides a clean car, a shiny pin, and a Princeton haircut, with or without bleach. It might be nice to worry about them for awhile though — one at a time, of course.

SULLIVAN and PUDGY by Deanna Sturgell

Proffitt's

McGREGOR.

OXCHAM COAT SHIRT has a 100% Pure long-point button down collar, 100% tapered body, 100% Pure box pleat, hang-a-loop and back button. It's authentic! Tropical cotton oxford, chambray finished.

$5.00

Proffitt's

Midland Shopping Center

DR. WARE

or

How I learned to stop worrying and love milk

by Dave Powell

Not too long ago—after an exceptionally heavy round of combined water pistol fire and iced-tea barrage, I went into General Headquarters to apologize to the captain. Miss Ware, that is.

She was eating a baked potato.

"Well," she began, "When I came here 25 years ago there was a lady who actually patroled the dining room. Her job was separate from kitchen work, she would walk up and down the aisles, and gosh, I just couldn't eat like that, could you?

"I didn't like it very much so, I decided never to become conspicuous unless things got out of hand. Now, though, when I do walk down an aisle to tell someone they have a phone call or to give them a message or to investigate a minor disturbance, everyone gets real quiet or else they say 'Here she comes—who's she after? Someone's going to get it.' Now you know I'm not like that, and I don't want to be."

During this account I noticed the men carrying empty milk cases and cans. I have lived for two years in the midst of mass superstition, and I was almost tempted to ask how she got the saltpetre into the sealed cartons. Being a "rural" boy, however, I knew that farm fresh milk out of a 50 gallon milk can leaves deposits of cream on the side of a glass. Moreover, having once used saltpetre to make firecrackers I knew that it had none of the incapacitating qualities attributed to it by generations of Maryville connoisseurs.

Miss Ware continued, "This year I have been trying to concentrate my money in meats. Several weeks ago a general somebody came to visit, and it just so happened that I was having chipped beef that night. Well I went over to apologize, and before I could finish he said, 'That's quite all right. In the army there is constant complaining—in fact, if the complaining ceases you had better start worrying because the next thing is armed rebellion. You know, I have never heard so much young, happy laughter as I have here tonight. These kids are enjoying life like so few people do.'

"Now," she went on, "whenever I hear a lot of commotion I just remember what he said about the 'young, happy laughter,' and I wait to see if it dies down. Usually it does. Of course if it persists I have to move fast because rioting can spread so quickly that even the participants don't realize what is happening."

At that moment the Greenewald Marauders made a dash from the dining room with several cakes. "I used to stop those boys but now I don't unless I have a good chance. If we went on the cafeteria system that cake would cost them fifteen cents a slice, but I fight against the changeoever. It would probably be easier for the kitchen help, but I can budget better this way, and besides—I want what is best for the kids. Those boys take more than their share, but some people are just like that."

When our conversation ended I noticed that we had talked for forty-five minutes. As I was leaving Miss Ware added, "I just love to get to know you folks. I wish more people would realize that the only reason I'm here is to serve them. I have made some nice friends—which reminds me, you're forgiven for everything."

Which reminds me about the time we asked Miss Ware if she knew where Piggy's is. She said she did because one time some boys threw acid on her car and . .

Well, it's a very funny story (except for the acid incident), and only Miss Ware can tell it with the proper mirth. She's really one of the outstanding humanist humorists on campus, you know.

WGAP

CAMPUS MIKE

Voice of Maryville College

Sunday Evening

9:30-10:00

SCOREBOARD

by Dave Marston

After Henry Cabot Lodge, the Philadelphia Phillies and Mike Moyers would have to rank as the biggest surprises of spring 1964. Of course Philadelphians have known for years — 14 of them to be exact — that the Fightin' Phils would be great again. So that's not really a surprise. And for that matter, some people at Maryville have figured that Mike Moyers would be Student Body President since he first arrived here more than three years ago. But virtually no one guessed he would win as a write-in candidate, and this is where the surprises begin.

They don't end here however. Elections often tell nearly as much about the voters as they do about the candidates — indeed, Moyers' victory may actually have disclosed more about the voters than it did about Mike. At any rate, it uncovered at least a couple of pretty significant surprises about the student body of Maryville College.

First and most obviously, they like elections. The excitement and drama of elections at Maryville make them a favorite spring sport — and when declared candidates don't supply drama and excitement in the proper measure, a majority of students are willing to supply it themselves by write-ins.

Second, and not so obviously, the election seemed to say in rather decisive tones that the students of Maryville — at least 341 of them — are not happy with many of the current rules of the college. This hardly comes as a surprise to many, for discontent is often apparently an enduring epidemic in student bodies, rather than an alarming new symptom. Indeed, all three of the candidates put major emphasis on the need for rule changes and their willingness to work for them. The big difference was that Moyers based his entire program on the need for rule changes — and pledged to let the faculty know how students feel whether there is chance for change or not. Beyond this, he had, in his words, "no gimmicks."

Maybe that amounts to something less than magnetic appeal, but it was good enough to win a walk-away victory for Mike. Why? Because students apparently believe strongly that certain rules here need changing, particularly the no-car rule. It was a very open secret that Moyers received demerits in connection with his own personal cars-on-campus program a scant four days before the election — but it didn't hurt his vote total noticeably.

There is one final aspect of the election that is interesting. The junior and senior classes, the classes which knew the candidates and the issues the best, split their votes relatively evenly among the three contenders. But the sophomore and more especially the freshman class voted decisively for Moyers. It would seem likely then that disenchantment with the rules of the college is not something that is taught to freshmen by the upperclassmen, as has been suggested. Rather, it appears to be acquired here rather naturally, and apparently on an

Cont. Page 6, Col. 2

McBRAYER SHOE SHOP

QUALITY SHOE REPAIR WORK

Open 6 Days a Week

Baird Heads P.E. Department

Howard Tomlinson Appointed As New Head Football Coach

At the annual Spring Sports Banquet in the college dining hall on Thursday evening, April 31, President Joseph Copeland announced the appointment of Coach Howard Tomlinson as head football coach for the next year. Tomlinson succeeds Athletic Director Boydson Baird, who will continue as head for basketball and baseball, as well as being associate professor and chairman of the Department of Physical Education. Coach Tomlinson has served for the past four years as line coach for the fighting Scots football team and as head coach for the track team. He distinguished himself as an All-Southern Conference lineman during his college career at William and Mary College.

Move Had Been Rumored

The appointment of Coach Howard ("Monk") Tomlinson as head football coach was a relative surprise, although rumors had circulated in recent months of a similar nature. It was reported that Coach Baird requested the move, feeling that the responsibilities as head coach for three major sports, Athletic Director, and head of the Physical Education Department could be better carried out in this way. Coach Baird, whose '63 football team powered their way to an outstanding 8-1 mark, distinguished himself in his undergraduate days here at Maryville by winning a total of 10 athletic letters. Following the announcement Coach Tomlinson acknowledged the applause and then, in characteristic fashion, commented simply, "Get ready, boys."

Letterman Recognized

Also present at the sports banquet were former Coach Lombe Honaker, for whom Honaker Field is named, and Miss Jesse Herron, a former faculty member and enthusiastic athletic supporter. Each coach introduced the lettermen from his particular squads: Coach Baird, for football, basketball, and baseball, Coach Tomlinson, for tennis, and Coach Davis, for wrestling. Coach Laurin Kardatzke and his tennis team were participating in the T. I. A. C. Tennis Tournament in Chattanooga and were not present for the dinner. It was also announced at the banquet that the Southeastern Conference wrestling tournament will be held on our campus next year.

COACH TOMLINSON

Tennis Anyone?

Scots Place 4th in TIAC Tourney

by Todd Owers

The Maryville College tennis team garnered six team points and a fourth place finish in the Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Tournament held last week at Chattanooga's luxurious Manker Pattern Tennis Center. David Lipscomb's netters ran away with the tournament, easily outdistancing second place Sewanee and third place University of Chattanooga. Maryville came next in fourth place, ahead of fifth place Tennessee Weslevan.

All Maryville netters except Todd Owers drew opponents from Tennessee Wesleyan in the tournament's first round. This is how the Scots fared by divisions:

Singles Results

Division 1. Todd Owers lost to Carl Robinson of David Lipscomb in straight sets. Robinson upset the tournament's top seeded player in the semifinals, but lost in the finals.

Division 2. Lynn Howard won his first match, 6-1, 6-2 and was defeated by top-seeded Artie Jones went to the Division Two tanooga in the second round. Jones went to the Division Two finals.

Division 3. Dave Marx opened with a three set singles victory but lost to Sewanee's Joe Harrison in the semifinals. Harrison won the No. 3 division singles tournament.

Division 4. Richard Marshall lost his match to Wesleyan's Buddy Ellis, 7-5, 4-6, 6-4.

Division 5. Dave Marston won his first match and then lost to Ben White from David Lipscomb. White went on to win the No. 5 division singles tournament.

Division 6. Dale Fischbach defeated his Wesleyan opponent 6-2, 6-4, in the first round and then lost to Sewanee's John Vanderhorst. Vanderhorst went to the Division six finals.

Doubles Results

Division 1. Lynn Howard and Dave Marx received a first round bye and then lost to the Chattanooga duo of Chamberlain-Morris in the semifinals.

Division 2. Todd Owers and Dave Marston won their first round match, 6-0, 6-3, and then lost to the Sewanee team of Harrison-Pelzer, which went to the Division 2 finals.

Division 3. Richard Marshall and Bob Paul opened with a first round victory and then threw a scare into their next opponents from Sewanee. Marshall and Paul nearly pulled off the upset of the tournament but finally were defeated, 6-2, 1-6, 8-6.

Finest Season In 5 Years

Maryville's netters have one match remaining to be played at this writing. To date their record is 9-5; a win will boost it to 10-5 and insure Maryville of its finest tennis season in at least five years. Seniors leaving this year's squad include Todd Owers, Dave Marx and Dave Marston. Richard Marshall, Bob Paul, and Lynn Howard will return to form the nucleus of next year's team.

Socks and Sneakers

by Teddie Gillespie

It seems as though everything now is moving at a fast pace and W.A.A. is no exception. Horseshoes have just about finished out their season with only the final round to be played. In the finals we see Judy Templeton, Chi Beta and Terry Brusstar, independent.

In the next few weeks the last sport of the year, softball, will be played. The first practice was May 7, but both Chi Beta and Theta urge those who wish to play to sign up on a team now. All are welcome.

On May 11 the "M" Club will hold their initiation. At this time new members will be taken in. In order to become a member of this club, one must earn 400 points gained by participation in the various sports offered by W.A.A. Each member of "M" Club must annually earn 300 points in order to keep her membership.

Scots Finish Track Season With Victory

by Phil Jerome

The Maryville College track team ended its 1964 season on a happy note as it defeated Bryan College in a meet held last Monday on the Scots' home track. The 70 to 61 conquest of Bryan was the Highlanders' second consecutive victory and placed their season's record at 2 wins and six losses.

Won In Track Events

As has been the case all season, the Scots' winning total was won in the track events. After the completion of the field events, Bryan held a four point margin. However, Coach Howard Tomlinson's fine assortment of runners piled up a thirteen point budge on the track to more than offset Bryan's early advantage. The Scots were able to take only four first place finishes in the running events. However, they managed to grab second place from Bryan seven times in nine events. Jerry Bell took top honors for the Highlanders in the 440 with a time of 52.5. Hal Shultz also continued his winning ways as he won the 880 in 2.04:8. Billy Evaul copped top honors in the two mile run and Maryville's crack mile relay team of Mike Dalton, Danny Mitchell, Jerry Bell, and Rich Reed won their specialty. In the field events Dave Taylor in the high jump and Greg Hallen in the javelin also took first place. The upset of the meet was that Maryville's freshman standout Dave Alexander was not able to capture a single first place finish. Nevertheless, Alexander managed to earn top scoring honors for the Scots with four second place finishes and a third to compile thirteen points.

Fine Season

In view of their record the success of the 1964 track team seems menial. However, this season must be counted as one of the finest in recent years. Coach Howard Tomlinson uncovered a wealth of material. Dave Alexander in one year has established himself as one of the top athletes in the area. Jerry Bell developed into an excellent quarter miler. Perhaps the most surprising development was the ascendancy of Hal Shultz in the half mile. Many other names deserve to be mentioned. Among them are Hugh McCampbell, Danny Mitchell, John Livingston, Terry Amon, Rich Reed, Greg Hallen, Billy Evaul, Bill Hollis, Denny McGowan, Jack Smoot, Roland McClanahan. Mike Dalton, Dave Taylor, and Gene Smith. Of these, only Smith will be lost through graduation. Tomlinson has plans to step up the track program. In the fall there are plans for a cross-country team, and several invitations have been issued to the Scots urging them to participate in indoor meets. With this added emphasis to the program, the prospects for an outstanding 1965 track team will be rightfully bright.

DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands
OPEN 8:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. to Serve You
Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products
Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses
DIXIE SUPER MARKET
WASHINGTON AVENUE

WE HAVE FLOWERS
IN EVERY PRICE RANGE
See our Campus Agent. . .
JACK SPENSER
For Lovely Flowers
From
Hartman's Flowers
982-7500 333 E. Broadway

For Cards For All Occasions,
Cosmetics, Prescriptions
and Reliable Service
Visit
Byrne Drug Company
120 E. Broadway 982-1461

Baseball Team Still Having Its Troubles

Unable to break away from their losing ways, the Maryville College baseball team dropped four out of five games during the past two weeks. The Highlanders started the five game series in fine fashion, taking an 8 to 4 decision from Hiwassee College. Against Milligan the Scots again performed admirably before losing 4 to 3 in the tenth inning. If it appeared that the Scots had solved their defensive problems, the following games proved otherwise. Mars Hill rolled to a 14 to 2 triumph and Carson-Newman turned back the Scots twice, 10 to 5 and 9 to 2. The single victory and four defeats dropped the Scots' season record to 3 and 11.

Dave West Pitches Game

Against Hiwassee the Maryville squad took advantage of two three-run innings to capture an 8 to 4 decision. The Highlanders opened the game by parlaying a walk, two errors, and singles by Sonny Hughes and Gary Dutton into three runs. Another outburst of runs in the sixth inning cemented the victory for Maryville as Hughes and Dutton again added singles to the cause The Scots rode to victory on a ten-hit attack. Kip Martin led the surge with two singles and a home run in four trips to the plate. Hughes and Dutton each connected twice in four times at bat. Dave West pitched the entire game to register the victory.

Scots Encounter Milligan

Two days later, the Scots traveled to Milligan College with Bob Mullins scheduled for service on the mound. Mullins locked up with the Buffs' Dick Ensar in a closely played game that was not decided until the tenth inning after Dave West had replaced the tiring Mullins. Ron Hansen, Milligan left fielder, led off with a base hit and scored the decisive run on a pinch hit single two batters later. Hansen led the Milligan club, scoring twice and driving in the other two runs with a third-inning triple. Joe Scheideler had three for three for Maryville while Sonny Hughes had three hits in five attempts.

Mars Hill Wins, 14 to 2

Maryville's next encouter was with Mars Hill. The North Carolina school showed little respect for the Highlanders' pitching staff as they battered Dave West and Jack Llewellyn for 18 hits and a 14 to 2 victory. Four hits, three of them for extra bases, in the first inning gave Milligan a lead they never lost. Roger Banks connected for two doubles to lead the Maryville attack.

Two losses to Carson-Newman completed the Scots' five-game schedule over the past two weeks. The power-laden Eagles opened the first game by smashing their way to eight runs in the first inning. The second inning promised to be more of the same as the Eagles pushed two more runs across and had the bases loaded with two outs. However, at this point Coach Baird sent in Jack "the crook" Llewellyn. Llewellyn retired the side and stayed on to pitch three innings of scoreless ball until the game was called in the sixth inning with the Eagles leading 10 to 5 Sonny Hughes continued his fine hitting as he paced the Scots with three hits. The next dav saw the Eagles adopting different methods, but achieving the same results. The Carson-Newman squad piled up a lead by scoring in small bunches rather than in one explosive heap. Although they never scored more than two runs in one frame, they tallied in all but three innings. When the game was over, the Eagles had gained a 9 to 2 triumph, stifling the Maryville hitting attack with a mere two hits.

Track Team Splits

by Phil Jerome

Coach Howard Tomlinson's track team gained its first triumph of the season as it swept past Mars Hill in the final events to out-point the North Carolina school 68 to 63. With the score tied at 58, Maryville's fine mile-relay team ran to a first place finish and Greg Hallen copped first place honors in the javelin to boost the Highlanders above their visitors from Mars Hill. The victory offset a loss earlier in the week to Carson-Newman. The Eagles looked far better than the team that had barely squeezed by the Scots 70 to 60 in a previous meet. This time the Carson-Newman squad moved away to an 87 to 44 conquest of the Scots.

Scots Take Field Events

The Mars Hill meet was not decided until Greg Hallen's victory in the meet's final event. However, several individual performances before the decisive hurl was made are notable. As usual it was Dave Alexander who stood out for the Scots. Alexander took first place honors in the high jump, the broad jump, and the 220 yard dash; and finished third in the 440 and the discus to account for 17 points. Other first-place finishers for Maryville were Jack Smoot in the 100-yard dash, Jerry Bell in the 440, Greg Hallen in the javelin, and Hal "Fireball" Shultz who ran to a fine timing of 2:04.2 in the 880. Maryville's winning mile-relay team was composed of Dave Alexander, Danny Mitchell, Jerry Bell, and Rich Reed. A major factor in the outcome of the meet was the Highlanders' showing in the field events. Coach Tomlinson's forces have had to concede valuable points to its opponents in that area through the season. However, the Scots managed to outscore Mars Hill. In the broad jump Alexander, Mitchell, and Roland McClanahan copped all three places to highlight the Scots' performance in the field events.

Although the Scots turned in a fine showing against Mars Hill, their performance against Carson-Newman left much to be desired. Looking little like the team that had lost to the Eagles by a scanty 10 points in an earlier meet, the Scots went down to an 87 to 44 defeat. The Eagles were especially tough in the field events. In the high jump, discus, and the shot-put, Carson-Newman thinclads grabbed all three places as the Highlanders remained pointless. Further disappointment was found in the distance events as John Livingston, who had grabbed first place finishes in the mile and two-mile runs in the first meet, settled for the runner-up position. Dave Alexander again led Maryville's point getters, grabbing first place in the 220 and in the broad jump. Greg Hallen again won the javelin, and Hal Shultz took the honors in the 880. Denny McGowan in the pole vault and Terry Amon in the 120 high hurdles rounded out Maryville's winning efforts.

Deweese Presents Paper

Bill Deweese, at a meeting of the Eastern Division of the Tennessee Academy of Science held on Saturday April 25 at Tusculum College, presented a paper on the research he had been doing this year under Dr. Young.

The Academy elected John Chaki as next year's president. A meeting will be held at Maryville College next spring.

Sorrow breaks seasons and reposing hours,
Make the night morning, and the noontide night.
—Shakspere

Conscience is but a word that cowards use,
Devis'd at first to keep the strong in awe.
—Shakspere

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!

For School and Office Supplies,

Excellent Service

and

Fast Delivery

White

Office Machines

"Won't Write – Call White"

For New Shoes,

Polishes & Dyes

Shoe Shine Equipment

Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Remedies

City Shoe Shop

106 West Broadway

Birthday Cakes

Pastries of all Kinds

BIG 97 Cent PIZZA PIE

Deliveries Twice Daily

VAN'S BAKERY

Call the Sweetest Number in Town

982-7920 983-4413

"Coca-Cola" is a registered trade-mark. Copyright © 1960 The Coca-Cola Company

Dr. Livingstone?

What a happy man he would have been if his man Stanley could have brought along a carton of Coke! That cold crisp taste, that lively lift would certainly hit the spot with any tired explorer. In fact, after your next safari to class—wouldn't Coca-Cola taste good to you?

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED...HAVE A COKE!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

RODDY MANUFACTURING CO.

Maryville, Tenn.

SEEN . . .

. . . AND HEARD

Left-handed step-child . . . hasn't paid her Fred Hope pledge yet? . . . I maliciously used my spelling, and the printer maliciously used his . . . unwadding . . . ladies should retire with ministers . . . pickle juice . . . purple and spastic . . . room search for what? . . . even if I ate a Skylark . . . obscene, save for religious material . . . the same old whale story? . . . where the Wild Iris Grows . . . a matter of funnybones . . . Portugese Jew . . . grass of the potter's field . . . put your starch here . . . very famous speech—"civis Romanus sum" . . . there are the intelligent, the creative, and the neither people . . . an illegal housekey?—I bet you're popular . . . third guy high . . . Irma la Deutsch . . . greasy kid stuff and paper napkins . . . Romeo, etc. . . . at first Pope liked her, then he attacked her—bitterly . . . better to serve than to be served.

MOYERS, HINDERER
Cont. from Page 1, Col. 5

There is a hi-fi unit, presently unused, which could be repaired and put into operation for this purpose.

Both Moyers and Hinderer like the publishing of election figures, as was done this year.

Moyers sums up the feeling of the new officers by stating that they want to hear students' ideas and are looking for new ways to find out what the student body thinks. Perhaps this could be achieved by polls by the Student Council. At any rate, Moyers says that the new student government is looking for areas in which to apply itself and is willing to try anything that will have value.

Student Art Show To Open May 13

The Maryville College Student Art Show opening, originally announced for May 7, has been postponed to May 13. The show, the work of college students in painting, drawing, and ceramics, is free and open to the public.

The art work is displayed in the Art Gallery of the Fine Arts Center on the Maryville College campus.

LETTER TO EDITOR
Cont. from Page 2, Col. 3

In closing, I would like to make a few desperately needed comments: I have been happy and fairly treated at Maryville College. The concern of the faculty for the student is a unique and enviable position for a college to find itself in. The meals—though not what Mom used to cook—are filling, nourishing, and well-planned; to Miss Ware goes a well-deserved thank you.

The school has met and fulfilled its obligation in the educational purpose of an institution. Many students do not know much about M.C. before Joe Copeland arrived, nor about the many changes this school has undergone in the last three years; perhaps they should inquire before becoming overly abusive. I owe this place a great debt; belonging to the Maryville College family has been a dynamic and wonderful experience. My heartfelt thanks to M.C. and its living personality.

There are, possibly, three views that can be taken about this article: one, that the kid who wrote it does not know what he is talking about; two, that a member of the faculty wrote it using a student's name as a pseudonym; three, that a student has fnially said what has needed to be said for quite a while.

Sincerely,
Bert Randall

SCOREBOARD
Cont. from Page 3, Col. 5

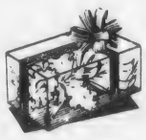
increasingly wide scale.

Perhaps next year student government will be able to make some basic changes here—they are needed. More likely, though, next year will not differ much from this year. Regardless, it seems a safe bet that the student body's desire for change will continue to grow, and will perhaps become increasingly obvious, as it did last February. If last week's election is taken seriously, this should surprise no one as it did in February.

Twenty-One Frosh Awarded Scholarships

Winnners of the Kind Memorial and Four-year scholarships from next year's freshman class have been announced. They include three students from Tennessee—two of these from Maryville.

Those winning the Kind Scholarships are Merry Burlingham, Deerfield Beach, Fla.; Audrey Cousart, Lansdowne, Pa.; Jolly Garland, Rogersville, Tenn.; Ruth E. Kent, Arlington, Va.; Stewart Kunselman, Tionseta, Pa.; Donna Meadows, Braddenton, Fla.; Beverly Minear, Coral Gables, Fla.; Betty Patterson, State College, Pa.; George Patton, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Patricia Pingitore, Trenton, N.J.; Martha Smith, Wilmington, Del.; and John Wintermute, Kansas City, Mo.



Winners of Four-year Scholarships are Helen Beatty, Covington, O.; Frances Bettis, Memphis, Tenn.; Thomas Ellis, Maryville, Tenn.; Wanda Hannah, Maryville, Tenn.; Charlene Lamb, Atlanta, Ga.; Scribner Messenger, Stillwater, Okla.; Betty Milam, Orlando, Fla.; Pamela Rowland, St. Petersburg, Fla.; and Daniel Styles, Arlington, Va.

Friendly counsel cuts off many foes.

—Shakspere

Martin's
DRUG STORE
401 S. Washington St. Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.
Offering Maryville College Students
a complete line of cosmetics,
plus
a reliable prescription service
Located just off campus on Washington St.

RECORDS
Complete Selection of Jazz,
Classical, Popular, and Folk Music
in Hi-Fi Stereo.
Quality Repair Work on Radios
and Record Players
HITCH RADIO and T.V.
Midland Center

FOR THE SPRING FORMAL ---
We feature the finest in cut flowers and corsages.
Sure to please that special someone.

HORNE'S FLORIST
215 W. Broadway 982-2690

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes
designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

WAYNE SIMMONS
ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!
TIP TOP BARBER SHOP
105 Church St. Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop Open 6 Days a Week

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 49 | Maryville, Tennessee, May 23, 1963 | No. 14

101 Seniors To Graduate June 3

Dr. Harter Will Be Chairman Of Fine Arts Department

President Joseph J. Copeland has announced that Dr. Harry H. Harter, widely known as the director of the Maryville College Choir, will be Professor Katherine C. Davies' successor as head of the Department of Fine Arts. Dr. Harter received his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1942 from San Jose State College in California, and made his first college choir tours while a member of that choir under William Erlendsen.

He served in the U. S. Army Air Force as a chaplain's assistant, and spent considerable time training and developing choral groups, both in the service and in communities where he was stationed.

Studied Under Bos

Following World War II, Dr. Harter enrolled at the University of Nebraska, and in 1947 he received the Master of Music degree. While at Nebraska he won the Alpha Rho Tau award for his choral compositions. He has studied composition under Roy Harris and Normand Lockwood; conducting under Nicholas Slominsky, Powell Bereridge, and Ifor Jones; voice under Maurine Thompson, Arthur Westbrook and Lucius Metz and coaching under Coenraad V. Bos in New York.

Organized Opera Workshop

Since coming to Maryville College after his graduation from the University of Nebraska, Dr. Harter has taught voice and directed the Choir. He has also been Choirmaster at New Providence Presbyterian Church. He directs the annual College-Community presentation of Handel's "Messiah" and also organized the Opera Workshop and serves as chairman of the College-Community Artists Series Committee.

Students Elect 14 Representatives To Student Council

The results of the election for student council representatives, held on Friday, May 8, were as follows:

Senior class — Norman Cleesattel, Harold Cones, Martha Cook, Frank Jablonski, Will Mitchell, and runner-up, Gail Smith;

Junior class — Terri Barksdale, Betty Brown, John Mulholland, Hank Seitz, Lupton Wood, and runner-up Adam Deveney;

Sophomore class — Dick Fox, John Kerr, Alice Leeth, Mike Mayo, and runner-up Judy Templeton.

The runner-up on each slate will be an alternate to replace a representative who might not return in the fall, be unable to carry out his responsibilities, or resign his post before October 1, 1964.

Commencement Play: 'Teahouse'

Bettina Leong plays a geisha girl presented as a "gift" to an army captain, played by Bob McGruther, in "The Teahouse of the August Moon." The play will be produced Tuesday evening, June 2, at 8 p.m. in the Theater.

Dr. Bloy's 'Mass' To Be Performed Tomorrow

Dr. James A. Bloy's "Mass for Pentecost," will be performed by the Maryville College Choir at St. Andrews Church for a service of Holy Communion May 24, and will be performed again in the evening at 7 in the college Chapel for the Vespers service.

The "Mass for Pentecost," is an original choral composition of the English communion service. It consists of an Introit, Kyrie Eleison, Gloria in Excelsis, Offertory Motet, Sanctus, Benedictus, Angus Dei, and a Communion Motet.

Costs For 1964-65 To Be About $1330

For students living on the Maryville campus for the school year, 1964-65, the approximate cost for the year will be from $1,330 to $1,360, depending on the dormitory and room occupied. For students not paying room and board, the total cost, excluding books, will be $750.

The anticipated cost for 1965-66 will be $1400, with room and board at $600 and tuition and fees $800.

The following is an itemized list of expenses per semester for 1964-65.

Tuition	$350.00
Student Activities	20.00
Group Hospital Insurance	5.00
Advance class Registration	10.00
Text Books (about)	20.00
Room-Carnegie, Pearsons,
Memorial (average)	95.00
New Dorm	100.00
Baldwin	85.00
Board	200.00
Health Fee	5.00
Other Expenses:
Student Teaching	10.00
Laboratory Fee	6.00
Lab, Art 217 or 317	5.00
Gym suits—women	5.50
Graduation	6.00
Graduate Record Exam.	2.50
Late Registration	2.50
Late Payment	5.00

Alumni Day Begins Commencement Week

Commencement Week at Maryville College will begin on Saturday, May 30, Alumni Day. The day will center around Maryville's past graduates.

Events of the day begin at 8 A.M. with the Senior Class chapel service. At noon, reunion luncheons for the classes of 1914, 1919, 1924, 1929, 1934, 1939, 1944, 1949, 1954 and 1959, will be held at various restaurants in the area.

From 4 to 5 P.M. Dr. Hunter will autograph copies of his book, This Man's Art, in the lounge of the Fine Arts Center. The Highlander Band will present its annual Pops Concert in the Fine Arts Center Amphitheater at 5:30 that afternoon.

The last official event of the day will be the Annual Dinner and Alumni Association Meeting, at 6:30. Here the Alumni Association Citations will be presented

Senior Chapel

Senior class chapel will be at 8:00 on Sat., May 30. The seniors, in charge of the program, will process in cap and gown. Sandra Scofield will play the organ for the processional, "Pomp and Circumstance."

Baccalaureate Day

Baccalaureate Sunday will begin with the worship service at 10:30 a.m. in the Chapel. Dr. Joseph J. Copeland, President, will speak, his sermon topic being "Measured by the Master."

The College Choir will sing the anthems "Oh, All Ye Lands, A Joyful Noise" by Harter and "Create in Me" by Brahms.

At 4:00 p.m. in the Music Hall will be the Senior Music Hour. Participating in the recital will be Carole Cooper, Jean Dorscheid, Martha Hall, Bruce Jenkins, Alice Lewis, and Sandra Scofield.

The speaker at Vespers at 7 p.m. is to be Rev. Victor Brown, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Gary, Indiana, and father of graduating senior Phil Brown. His sermon topic will be "The Changing and the Changeless."

The Choir will sing Paul Christianson's "Wondrous Love" and David Fetler's "In Peace and

Cont. Page 6, Col. 1

Above are 15 of the 16 girls chosen from the junior class to carry the daisy chain in the commencement procession. The girls are traditionally selected by the junior class vice president for their campus leadership. Standing, l to r, are Diane Eneboe, Margaret Hanson, Kathy Burgess, Martha Cook, Judy Wasson, Carolyn Foust; seated, l to r, are Nancy Buckwalter, Linda Schug, Gail Smith, Teddie Gillespie, Elenora Easterly, Jan Melville, Cecelia Bridges, Barbara Pettigrew, and Lorraine Briggs. Not pictured is Annabelle Minear.

Dr. Bloy Receives Degree At Union

James A. Bloy, Assistant Professor of Music at Maryville College and organist and Choir Director at St. Andrews Episcopal Church, has been awarded the Doctor of Sacred Music degree by the School of Sacred Music of Union Theological Seminary in New York.

Dr. Bloy teaches organ and music history at the college, where he has taught since 1953. He holds the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Music degrees from North Central College, the Master of Music from the Eastman School of Music, and has studied the organ in Germany under Helmut Walcha.

His work towards the doctorate in sacred music was concentrated on organ work and on composition. He has given a series of historical recitals in connection with his work for the advanced degree, and he will continue to play organ recitals at Maryville and throughout the area. His knowledge of the structure and characteristics of organs has also made him in demand as a consultant.

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor this issue
ELENORA EASTERLY

News Editor — ELENORA EASTERLY
Feature Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Sports Editors — GINNA COON and DAVID KING
Copy Editor — SANDRA SCOFIELD
Art Editor — DEANNA STURGELL
Exchange Editor — CAROLE BROWNLEE
Business Editor — GORDON STEWART
Circulation Manager — JUDY SIVER

Faculty Advisor — DR. CAROLYN BLAIR
Editorial Advisor — MR. DUNCAN BENNETT
Financial Advisor — MR. FRANK LAYMAN

Staff

REPORTERS and CONTRIBUTORS: Sandra Briggs, Ben Carney, Sandra Chittick, Martha Cook, Norman Cleesattel, Teddie Gillespie, Sandra Haggart, Lois Huffines, Sara Humphries, Dave Marston, Mary Fern Rickloff, John Wolfe, Ken Young, Carolyn Huff, Carolyn O'Neal

her mark

This is the time of year when editors employ the usual swan-songs to lament their long-awaited graduations. We have never been much concerned with dirges and so humbly offer only the suggestion (Dr. Walker's) that personal integrity is the most important factor in any situation or on any campus. Let us therefore not place 100% blame on any given place for our complexes.

—Charlotta Cook

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

In answer to Mr. Randall's lively and informative letter which appeared in the May 9th issue, it seems as though there are a few desperately needed comments which must be made.

Maryville College does provide the student with a first rate education at a popular price, and since Dr. Copeland's arrival many worthwhile changes have been made. However, a good thing can always be improved and there is room for improvement. Academically, we have a good standing and we should strive to maintain and improve our rating. In the sphere of administrative policy — toward which many of our current grievances have been directed—though our administrators have been doing their all in our behalf, there is a need for a re-evaluation of the student-faculty relationship.

The purpose of a liberal arts college is twofold: (1) to provide the best possible academic education for the student; (2) to prepare the student for a place in the adult world. College is a transitional phase between high school and adulthood, it is a time when the student should be preparing himself for life in the grown up world. It is the job of the college he attends to help him in this preparation.

A college does not do this by sheltering the student from life; rather it does so by allowing the student to acquaint himself with life in its varied aspects so that he is not thrust out in the world unprepared. Therefore, in the formation of academic policy, an institution of higher learning has to keep its duty constantly in mind and to constantly improve its policy to best fit the needs of the student. One way that a college becomes aware of these needs is through the voicing of student opinion. Student grievances are an index to student needs. They should be considered and not laughed at or stifled.

Bert, let's take a look and grow up. Part of student responsibility is standing accountable for the consequences of one's actions. Part of it is the accepting of one's duty to himself and society. There is a need for Maryville College to provide a proper atmosphere to promote the development of student responsibility. We don't do this by maligning the student body but by helping the student to prepare himself for living.

"A fourth view of your article is that the Kid who wrote it is just that."

Sincerely,
Norman Cleesattel

SCOREBOARD

by Dave Marston

For student governments, springtime is the moment of truth—the time when next year's candidates tell how this year's job should have been done. And with this helpful stimulus to memory, it seems only natural to look back—over the year, or even the four years—and to evaluate.

Student government this year did not introduce any startling changes to Maryville College—or rather we did introduce a few, but they weren't invited to sit down and stay awhile. Despite this, however, it has been a fairly successful year from the standpoint of student and faculty understanding each other, and it does not seem unrealistic to suggest that next year or the year after, this understanding may be translated into more concrete action.

If this is to happen, it is essential that the lessons learned this year not be forgotten. Perhaps it would be helpful to summarize them briefly—in addition to a few lessons which weren't learned that should have been.

First, students this year realized, or should have, that major policy changes will come to Maryville only when and if the administration is ready for them. Student governments may try to speed this readying process, but it would seem that the basic lesson of the three-year Car Committee was that no amount of careful preparation can pave the way for a change not initially acceptable to the administration. This is not a particularly unreasonable situation—it only seems unreasonable when students lapse into thinking that an energetic student government can change college policy. For it cannot.

Second, students must realize that the faculty and administration for the most part like Maryville College—and they like it the way it is. This is only natural; if they did not, they would be somewhere else. But at the same time, faculty tend to think that if students did not also like Maryville College the way it is, they too would be somewhere else, and here the reasoning breaks down. For in this post-Sputnik age, colleges are more often dictated by necessity than choice, and any number of unchangeable circumstances frequently combine to make transfer a difficult operation. The result: an increasing number of students who are anxious to remain at Maryville College, but who are equally anxious to see changes made here.

Finally, it must be realized that perhaps the main obstacle facing student government is its lack of continuity. Because it changes leadership and program yearly (or oftener), it is difficult to convince anyone that it is a suitable organ for drafting policies to serve the school for several decades. Students, realizing this, must center their planning increasingly around the Student-Faculty Senate; for only there can they plan changes jointly with the faculty members who will be charged with carrying them out. In this atmosphere, progress is possible.

Chalk Up One More

for John Wolfe and Ben Carney

Upon learning that President Johnson and his lovely daughter, Lynda Byrd, were to visit Knoxville, Tennessee, and surrounding poverty-stricken areas, we decided to be unofficial representatives at his reception from one of them — Maryville College.

When we finally sat down to analyze our adventure our thoughts ran something like this:

Well, it all started, Ben, when I realized that my New York Press Card might help us get closer to the President.

Yes, John, and we also realized that some glib speech might come in quite handy if we decided to crash the Presidential Party.

So let's see, Ben, we arrived at the airport fifty minutes early and spent the next forty-five minutes attempting to "con" our way into the restricted Press section.

John, I think it would be a good idea to mention here that we made it quite clear and well known that we were looking for three prominent people in attendance, Mr. Rule, Mr. Pontius, and Mr. Atkin, heads of Press, Secret Service, and Airport respectively.

Yes, and everyone, Secret Service men included, seemed to accept our story and all seemed quite concerned that we obtain our objective, one which they, of course, did not know the exact nature of.

Right, and finally by staying near the Miss Knoxville Queen Contestants, where we looked, I suppose, right at home, and by engaging a State Policeman in pleasant conversation, we managed to get inside the fence behind which the crowd was packed.

And then, Ben, as we watched the Press plane touch down, out of which emerged over a hundred newsmen and photographers, we realized that a good chance to gain access to the President would be to mingle with these reporters and look as inconspicuous as possible.

Check, John, and our chance came when George Reedy, Press Secretary, came from the plane to the Presidential Car. As you nonchalantly strode across the road to take some pictures I approached Mr. Reedy and asked for his autograph. Then you came over, we shook hands all around, and talked in general about the President's visit. I'm sure that in the back of our minds was the thought that as long as we were talking to the Presidential Press Secretary, no one was likely to ask us to leave.

Right, and then almost before we realized it, there was President Johnson, surrounded by Secret Service men, shaking hands over the fence. We proceeded to blend with the mob of photographers and take shots of the President, some of which were fake, so we would look busy. Ben, for a minute I thought I had lost you under the crush of panting newsmen.

Well, that's all right, John; you were getting your picture taken by then, later to be released by United Press International. And where did you disappear to as I was helping the Secret Service men deposit Lynda Byrd in the Presidential Limousine?

Well, Ben, after getting the President's attention and nearly blinding Governor Clement, by reaching across him to shake hands with Mr. Johnson, I was politely, but firmly struck and pushed away by an alert Secret Service man.

Oh, that was that animal-like growl I heard.

Right, and then we ran along side the President's car as it began its sixteen mile trek to Knoxville.

Then, John, the motorcade began to pick up speed and we realized we had to get a ride into Knoxville. A finer idea I don't believe you've had than flagging down a State Patrolman. We accomplished this feat and were commanded gruffly to get in. After explaining that we had missed the Press Bus the patrolman agreed to chauffeur us into Knoxville.

Yes, and that's where the fast talking really came in handy. We had to explain that we were not members of the official Working Press. Our biggest thrill of the ride was the sight of our open-mouthed fellow students who no doubt believed that we had been picked up and were being run into headquarters.

I agree. Then upon arriving in Knoxville, we left the patrol car and caught up to the President for the second time when he stopped the motorcade for some handshaking. And, then again for a third time when we commandeered a ride with three University of Tennessee co-eds who also seemed to believe, quite readily, our official status as newsmen.

Ben, that about raps it up. Once again I think we have proven the statement, "The college student will do it every time." Goodnight, David.

Goodnight, Chet.

Martin's DRUG STORE
401 S. Washington St. Phone 982-9482 MARYVILLE, TENN.

Offering Maryville College Students
a complete line of cosmetics,
plus
a reliable prescription service
Located just off campus on Washington St.

McBRAYER SHOE SHOP
QUALITY SHOE REPAIR WORK
Open 6 Days a Week

The Partial Observer

by Ken Young

The Rape of Memorial Hall
(with apologies to Alexander Pope and Albert Gore)

O, heavenly Thalia, hear me I pray
While I tell of the events of last Mother's Day.
As the violet-thumbed dawn lumbered over the hill,
The men stood impatient and ready to kill
Cockroaches, ants, gnats, and mosquitoes,
All the time feasting on bologna and Fritos.
The armorers stood in the rooms with balloons,
And the fighters stood ready knowing that soon
The day's activities would bring the cry
So dreaded to the ears of wives, lovers and dorm proctors:

HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY!

Two brave Carnegians began the fray
With four well-aimed missiles that missed quite a way.
The fierce Memorialians answered the call,
And water flowed throughout the hall.
Back and forth the battle rowed:
Back to where the water flowed
And forth to bathe the lovely goddesses,
Viewing the battle in their now straight tresses.
All of a sudden, fierce Hutchides was taken
And dragged across the battlefield quite shaken
To the enemy stronghold; and there a quick thrust,
And the warrior lay twitching and squirming in dust
And a lucid pool of dark, crimson chocolate.
Mighty Carnius stormed the Memorialian wall;
But was caught and dragged, kicking, through the hall,
Where amidst the skeletons of mutilated ants,
Carnius was deprived of his only armor—his pants.
Throughout the battle, under a tree,
Stood the one giving protection to me and thee,
Our guardian gnome with his poloroid,
Declaring out-of-bounds balloons null and void.
But suddenly a great clamor out broke
As the gnome and his camera went in for a smoke.
The battle renewed as for trash cans they battled,
Drivers of convertibles going through got quite rattled
As enterprising warriors started a car wash,
Cleaning car, contents and all.
But then a great hush fell over the crowd
As the one who from above was endowed
To stop such foolishness and restore order
Came up in his black chariot (soon to have a toilet paper border).
Great Phineas Apollo called council to determine the fate
Of the armorers, the warriors, and the demerits they rate.
An emissary from another land
Was sending some infants in a little band
To observe the customs of the Maryville students
To decide if to go there was quite prudent.
So in friendly good nature water was spilled,
Shirts were donned, and animosities killed;
Men and balloons waited in windows to see
A prime target, but slyly he Went out the side door no more to be seen,
Except when unwrapping his big, black machine.
So now it seems that at this date
Mother's Day is over—but wait,
You might be on Candid Spy!

SENIOR PROPHECY

by Sandy Chittick

Many of the class of '64 after graduation, armed with scholarships, assistantships, and brains, will move on—right back into school! This year the famed "pre-min" Maryvillians include Bob McGruther, Princeton seminary: Ron Elly, Louisville Presbyterian; Jack Marsh, Louisville; Jerry Cooper, Louisville; and Tom Stanley, hopefully, Emory. Meredith Brewer also hopes to attend seminary.

Math whizzes are Bert Randall, attending the U. of Kentucky under a three year National Aeronautics and Space Administration scholarship; David Allen, holding a U. of K. assistantship; and Bob Clark, also entering grad. school.

Ken Harrison will strive to be a classical languages scholar under a fellowship at the U. of Tulane. Lori Sturmfels will do psych. work under a Woodrow Wilson fellowship at Washington U. in St. Louis.

P.E. majors joining the specialization trend are Jan Dearcopp with an assistantship at the U. of Maryland; Don Peterson, studying physical therapy; and Dave Huffstetler, attending the U. of Indiana.

Martha Bess Ellis will get an M.A.T. at Vanderbilt under a fellowship and Bruce Hensley will do his M.A.T. work at the University of N. Carolina.

Deciding to become lawyers after four years of arguing, Dave Marston will attend Harvard with a grant, Phil Brown will be at the U. of Indiana, and John Showalter will also be at the U. of T.

Rich Murchinson will pack Linda and baby off to the U. of Delaware where he has a $2800 urban affairs fellowship.

Mike Dodson and Harry Heckler, economics majors, plan to study at U.T.

Chris Carlisle hopes to zoom-into radio and television after study at Syracuse University. In the meantime he will help sell houses.

Jean Dorscheid may go to U.T. or New York to study voice. Alice Lewis, another musician, plans to attend grad school. Cynthia Blanchard, sociologist, will be at the U. of Pennsylvania. A history assistantship calls Nancy Haley to U.T.

The mad scientists this year are biology majors Sue Quigg, who has a traineeship in physical therapy at Duke; Jim Skeen, who will be at the U. of Georgia; and Charlie Regan, who hopes to attend U.T. Med. school. Chemistry majors, Terry Morris will be at Boone, N.C., and Sig's "most likely to succeed", Bill Deweese, will study medicine at the U. of West Virginia.

Bill Hodgeson will attend O.T.S. for the Navy at Newport, R.I. Mary Pettigrew will learn about textiles at Drexel Institute of Technology.

Brides-to-be include Gayle Eggers ("I'm honeymooning in Europe on my Honda!"); Pat Anderson, who will live in N.C.; Shirley Mease who will teach in Oklahoma; and Ginny Duval, who will also be a teacher and expects "three years of bacon and beans," while husband is in school.

Barb McCarter, Jo Ann Morey, Carolyn O'Neal, Joan Runyon, Carol Wood will also hear wedding bells.

The Class of '64 did its share in producing much-needed teachers. Mary Dilkes, Nashville; Sally Blair; Margie Loeffler, Jane Reinke, and Allen Russell, California; Webb Spraetz, Ft. Craig; Janet Purcilla, Michigan; Jean Currie, Knoxville; Sharon Walrond, Indiana; Carol Hoerig; Sandy Stewart and Miriam Stults, New Jersey; Phyllis Deloteus, Chicago (Mike's there! — marriage in a year); Phyllis Saurbrey; Mary Gleason, Kentucky; Lois Anthony; Wayne Durham; Sandy Scofield; Kathie Kissler; Carol Rugh, Ozone; and Nancy Thomas will all get behind their desks in September.

Joining the working class are also Margaret Horne, directing youth Christian education at a Knoxville church; Judy Dove, hoping for sociology work at the National Institute of Health, Bethesda, Maryland; Bob Mullins, trying for a government position in social work, and Gene Smith, another social worker. Steve Rago and Barbara Berg are looking (for jobs). Mrs. Mahley (Linda Kenzie) will work in Nashville while Bob attends Vanderbilt. Fred Willocks and Jr. Masingo plan to coach.

"First of all I'm getting married", (comment by Denny Mobbs who will also attend U.T.) is the attitude of many seniors, especially Art Herron and Jane Hickey who will be married after graduation in the Chapel by Jane's dad. Art will study at Louisville Baptist Seminary while Jane teaches. Bev Wells will also teach as hubby-to-be, John Spangler, attends Yale Seminary.

Margaret Dozier has a job at Oak Ridge while her husband, Bill Schellinger, finishes school at Maryville.

Roger Thompson will be assistant carpenter at Parkway Supply, Maryville, and Dave Settlemeyre has a job with A&P.

Adventure lies ahead for Bruce Jenkins as he works in Germany and for Peace Corps-ers Jane Dodez in Nigera and Nancy Pierce in Ecuador.

The "black sheep" are the ones most likely to have fun. Deanna Sturgell isn't telling, but her plans involve "travel, making money, a sports car." Mary Addy and Sally Johnson will tour Europe on a bike and $50. Afterwards? Who knows what goodies Europe may bring?

Ginna Coon plans to be some type worker (your guess), and Karen Fieg has been reduced to selling pencils on a street corner. No one has decided what Sam Walters is good for.

Then there is Charlotta Cook who won't make any comment except to say she has "very little past, some present, and no future," (she has a pessimistic tendancy.)

An optimist would say "no future without happiness and success" for her and all this year's seniors. And when success comes your way Maryville College will still remember you. First of all there is an unfinished student center and then . . .

For Cards For All Occasions, Cosmetics, Prescriptions and Reliable Service Visit

Byrne Drug Company

120 E. Broadway 982-1461

For New Shoes,

Polishes & Dyes
Shoe Shine Equipment
Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Remedies

City Shoe Shop

106 West Broadway

DIXIE SUPER MARKET
Your Home of Nationally Advertised Brands

OPEN 8:00 a.m. - 11:00 p.m. to Serve You

Featuring a Fine Stock of Quality Products Including a Complete Variety of Cheeses

DIXIE SUPER MARKET

WASHINGTON AVENUE

Birthday Cakes
Pastries of all Kinds
BIG 97 Cent PIZZA PIE
Deliveries Twice Daily

VAN'S BAKERY

Call the Sweetest Number in Town
982-7920 983-4413

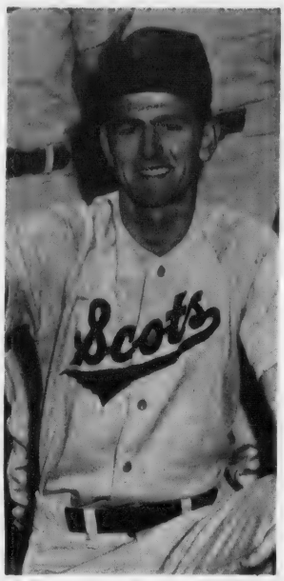
Dave West Notches Final Victory

Baseballers Lose To Cumberland But Down Bryan In Final Game

by Dave King

Maryville College's Highlander Baseball Team, smarting after a double-header loss to Cumberland College last Saturday, snapped back to beat Bryan University, 4-3 last Tuesday. It was Dave West going all the way on the mound for our side as we closed an unfortunate season on a happy note. Saturday's double loss to Cumberland and Tuesday's victory made the final season record stand at 5 wins and 16 losses.

Dutton Steals Home



Last Saturday's double-header here with Cumberland was brought on because an earlier game had been rained out. The first game looked as though it might be a victory for Maryville but Cumberland rallied in the later innings to emerge on top 6-4. Cumberland broke the scoring columns first by scoring two runs against pitcher Dave West in the bottom of the third. However, the Scots bounced back with three incredible runs in the top of the fourth inning to take the lead. The fourth inning was full of excitement and surprises, including the fleet base running of — of all people — Garry Dutton. Roger Banks started the game behind the plate and got on base on a fielder's choice, forcing Sonny Hughes who had led off with a single. Big Garry Dutton, a fair-sized tackle on the football team who also holds down first base during baseball season, got on base with a single and moved to third as Joe Scheidler took a base, with Banks scoring. Suddenly, as Harry Repsher was at bat, Dutton took off for home plate, looking for all the world like a bull elephant during mating season. The Cumberland battery didn't realize what was going on until it was too late (their catcher would undoubtedly have been squashed had he had the ball) and Dutton crossed the plate standing up with a stolen base and a big run. Repsher went on to get a single but was unable to score. Scheidler scored behind Dutton, much like a quarterback might run through a hole that the big fellow had cleared. An additional run in the next inning put us two runs ahead but Cumberland scored a pair in both the fifth and sixth innings, making the final score 6-4.

Second Game Close

The second game also looked as though it might be a Maryville victory but again fate was against us. Jack "The Crook" Llewellen took the mound for the Scots and watched his teammates build up a 3-0 lead for him in the first four innings. A combination of a walk, a stolen base, and an error for Kip Martin, a single for Sonny Hughes, and a double for Garry Dutton pushed across two runs for us in the third inning. The next inning saw Harry Repsher given a base after being hit by a pitch. Repsher eventually scored after a stolen base, a single by Sonny Webb, and back-to-back walks to Kip Martin and Red Prudhon. However, the optimism was short lived as Cumberland hit Llewellen for a single run in the fifth and three big runs in the seventh to walk away with another close victory, 4-3.

"Daddy" West Shines

The story was much different as Dave West, whose wife Barbara had presented him with a baby daughter late last week, took the mound again and put down the visiting Bryan team. West looked as good as he has all season after only three days rest and struck out eight big Bryan batters. Dave only allowed five well-scattered hits and gave up but one base on balls. Maryville drew blood in the first inning as Red Prudhon slammed a double after Kip Martin had struck out. Prudhon was out as Garry Dutton hit into a fielder's choice but Sonny Hughes hit a single, stole second, and rode home on Joe Scheidler's single.

DAVE WEST

The second inning saw our side set another run as Dave West hit a single on his own behalf and scored after a stolen base, a walk to Kip Martin, a fielder's choice by Red Prudhon, and a single to Sonny Hughes. Bryan scored a single run in the top of the third inning and a pair in the fifth on three Maryville errors. We scored again in the bottom of the fifth as Joe Scheidler got on on an error, took second on a wild pitch, and scored as Sonny Webb took a base on an error. The game wasn't decided until the final inning and was won in dramatic fashion. Shortstop Red Prudhon led off getting on base by virtue of an error by the third baseman. The next two batters, Sonny Hughes and Garry Dutton, made outs, and although Prudhon advanced on the basepaths, the prospects of extra innings loomed mighty large. Then Left Fielder Joe Scheidler floated a big single and Prudhon crossed the plate with the big winning run. The win from Bryan finished an otherwise discouraging season on a happy notes for the Scots.

Highland Flings

by Dave King

The 1963-64 sports season started out strong at Maryville College but it got rougher before the year was over. The '63 version of the fightin' Scots' football team was the finest since 1946 and only a dropped pass in the end zone at Emory and Henry kept it from being a perfect season. Despite the unfortunate loss to the E & H Bees, the Scots finished with an 8-1 mark and one of the finest football teams in he area. Opening with a 14-0 trouncing of Mars Hill, the Scots rolled over Centre's Praying Colonels, 20-7, and edged Georgetown before the untimely 13-7 disaster at Emory and Henry. In what looked like another defeat the Highlanders found themselves on the wrong end of a 17-0 halftime tally at Hanover, but pulled it out of the fire in one of their second-half comebacks, 19-17. Guilford College was humiliated here for Homecoming, 20-0, Millsaps bowed, 22-0, and Guilford again lost, this time on their field, 13-7. The finale was a small college classic as Maryville seesawed with arch-rival Carson-Newman before Benny Monroe's field goal made it a 17-14 victory. It was an outstanding season with a great starting eleven and depth to burn. The second half finishes soon came to be a trademark and no one worried when we were behind at the half. A new feature inaugurated this year was the presetation of the Amos Alonzo Stagg Century of Physical Fitness to the week's outstanding athlete. Winners included Clint Abbott, H. H. Linginfelter, Roland McClanahan, Benny Monroe, Donnie Phelps, Wilbur Ramsey, Charlie Thomas, and Ken Berry. Also new this season was the presentation of a Student Body Most Valuable Player Trophy which was well earned by Fullback Ken Berry. At the Spring Sports Banquet in April it was announced that Assistant Coach Howard Tomlinson would replace Coach Baird as Head Football Coach.

Baird Announces '64 Football Schedule

Earlier this week Athletic Director Boydson Baird announced the football schedule for the upcoming 1964 season. The slate is not yet complete, as plans for the opening game are not yet definite. So far, one newcomer has been added to the list of opponents, with the possibility of another for the opener. Livingstone State, a school of about 700 in Livingstone, Alabama, will travel to Maryville on October 17. This year's Homecoming game will be an afternoon game, rather than being in the evening as in past years. Co-captains for bott and Bill Napier. The rest of the schedule is as follows:

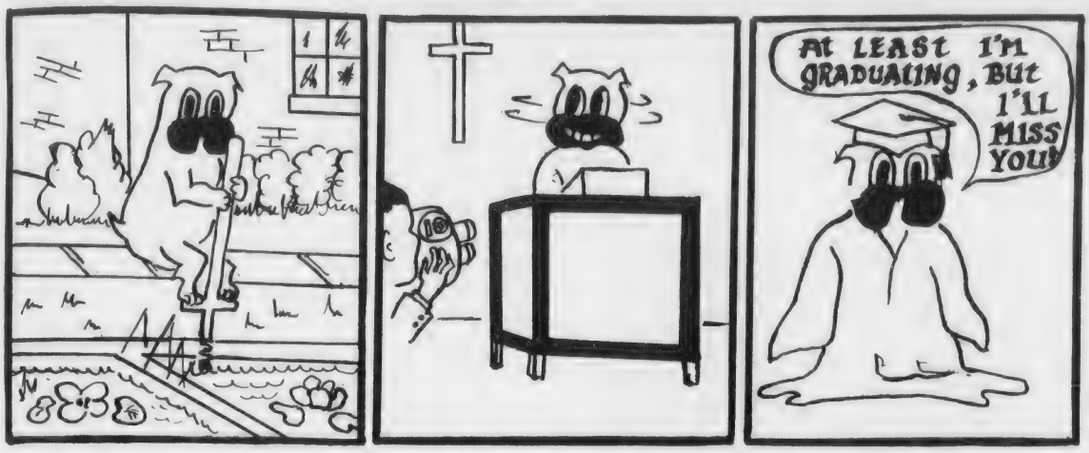
Sept. 26 — Centre	Away
Oct. 3 — Georgetown	Away
Oct. 10 — Emory & Henry	Home
Oct. 17 — Livingstone State	Home
Oct. 24 — Guilford	Away
Oct. 31 — Millsaps	Home
Nov. 7 — Mars Hill	Away
Nov. 14 — Carson-Newman	Away

SOCCER TEAM DID WELL

Running about the same time as the football season, our informal soccer team did themselves proud with a 3 win, 2 loss, 1 tie season. Lacking varsity status the soccer boys came up against some of the better college soccer teams in the country and gave them a run for their money. Prospects for next year are equally bright as only Bob Mullins and PeeWee Tongyai are leaving via the graduation sheepskin. With virtually the whole squad returning, headed by this year's co-captains "Red" Prudhon and Adam Deveny, and the possibility of talented freshmen, Dr. Young and Mr. Ainsworth have every right to feel optimistic.

Fall gave way to winter and sports enthusiasts turned to basketball and wrestling. Unfortunately, Tennessee's SEC contenders almost proved to be more popular over here than our own Scots, who could only manage 2 wins during the whole season. The disappointing showing is hard to understand when it is considered that seven lettermen, including last season's starting five, returned to the hardwood. Taken individually, we had some speedy, tall boys in uniform this year, but taken as a unit they couldn't seem to play enough together to build up any kind of a sustained offense or control of the backboards. Kip Martin, Bill Schellinger, Denny McGowan, Mike Moyers, and Bert Randall usually started the games, with "Bo" Henderson, Dave Alexander, Mike Gregory, who missed much action with a broken ankle, Carl McDonald, Jack Llewellen, and H. H. Linginfelter providing most of the bench strength. Danny Radcliff, an outstanding freshman, transferred at the semester break, to add to Coach Baird's woes.

Wrestlers Had Injuries



Coach "J. D." Davis' "rasslers" looked good on paper before the year began but injuries and stiff competition kept them from living up to some of their outstanding records of past years. It was the lightweights who garnered most of the individual honors. as Chuck Hucknell, Roy

Cont. Page 5, Col. 1

RECORDS
Complete Selection of Jazz, Classical, Popular, and Folk Music in Hi-Fi Stereo.
Quality Repair Work on Radios and Record Players
HITCH RADIO and T.V.
Midland Center

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!
For School and Office Supplies,
Excellent Service
and
Fast Delivery
White Office Machines
"Won't Write – Call White"

SULLIVAN and PUDGY by Deanna Sturgell

Socks and Sneakers

Teddie Gillespie

Here we find ourselves at the end of the semester, but W.A.A. and the "M" Club are still going strong! Sunday, May 17, at Laurel Lake the "M" Club held their annual picnic where the new officers for the coming year were elected. These officers for next year include Nancy White, president; Arlene Pateman, vice-president; Ann Doscher, secretary; Jan Vallem, treasurer; and Annette Sensenig and Mary Lee Dolvin, program chairman. New members were recognized as Arlene Pateman, Jan Vallem, Annette Sensenig, Mary Lee Dolvin. Arlene Larsen, Ann Ruckelhaus, Ginger Proffitt, and Ellen Lankenau.

In W.A.A. Judy Templeton. Chi Beta, was brought into the winner's circle for her participation in horseshoes. Both tennis singles and tennis doubles are still being played. All games should be concluded in the coming week.

This year has been a really exciting and successful one for all who participated in W.A.A. sports. We hope that next year will be an even better one. Next fall W.A.A.'s first sport offered will be soccer played outside. Have an active and "sporty" summer so you'll be in shape for next year!

A task without a vision is drudgery; a vision without a task is a dream; a task with a vision is victory.

—Anonymous

HIGHLAND FLINGS
Cont. from Page 4, Col. 5

Ries, Gary Hall, and Will Mitchell brought most of the individual victories. Injuries to Don Shields, Van Pallis, Bill DeWeese, and a frightening accident on the mats in which Fred Willocks was hurt, kept victories to a minimum. Joe Kucinski began the year at heavyweight but came down to 177 as the season progressed, abdicating in favor of Jim Pryor. Adam Deveny and Gene Dixon were able to see action during the second semester.

Good Year for Tennis

Spring came, bringing with it a fine tennis team, a good track showing and an unfortunate baseball season. The tennis team, virtually overloaded with good players, finished the year at 9-5. Todd Owers, Dave Marx, Lynn Howard, Bob Paul, Dale Fischbach, Rich Marshall, and Dave Marston all played consistently good tennis against superior competition. Coach Kardatzke took his boys on a trip through Florida and Georgia during the spring break and had top-seeded Owers and Marx been able to travel with the squad, the season's mark would have undoubtedly been higher. Owers, Marx, and Marston will leave at the end of the year, leaving Howard, Marshall, and Paul to form up next year's netters.

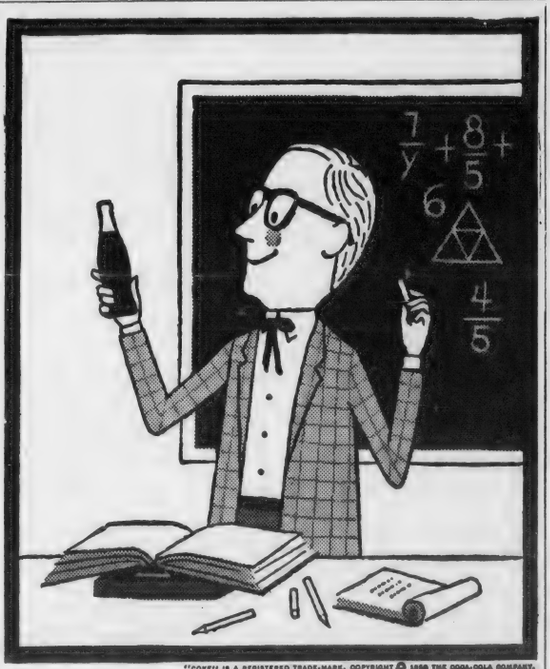
Track Team Runs Well

Despite the fact that Coach Tomlinson's track boys only won two meets, this was one of their better years. The track team was built around state high school champ Dave Alexander, who virtually passed himself running from one event to another. Our meets were generally close in the track events but unfortunately poor in the weights. Terry Amon continued as a sharp hurdler, Hal Shultz surprised everyone with his 880 victories, Jerry Bell developed into a strong 440 man, John Livingston continued as a good miler, Jack Smoot placed consistently in the 100, Dave Taylor's broad jumping could be couned on, Gene Smith earned his letter with the weights, and Greg Hallen continued heaving the javelin. The crack mile relay team of Mike Dalton, Dan Mitchell, Jerry Bell, and Rich Reed was beautiful to watch. Next year looks good, with virtually everyone returning and prospects for a cross-country team and a couple of indoor meets.

Baseball Couldn't Get Going

The Scot baseball team, under Athletic Director Baird, just couldn't seem to get off the ground this year. Even Dave West, usually dependable on the mound, just didn't have it his year and the Scots had one tough break after another. Shuffling the infield around toward the end of the season didn't help and one of the few bright spots was Jack "The Crook" Llewellen's 4 hit, 5-0 pitching victory. Besides Llewellen and West on the mound, Baird had Bob Mullins, whom he also played at third. "Red" Prudhon held down the shortstop position admirably, and Kip Martin ad Buck Petty alternated between second and third toward the end of the year. Big Gary Dutton guarded first and either Sonny Hughes, this year's batting star, or Roger Banks wore the tools of ignorance behind the plate. The outfield was generally patrolled by Hughes, Banks, Sonny Webb, Dave West or Joe Scheidler, depending on who was pitching or catching.

It's still a little early, and perhaps a little too foolish, to make any predictions about next year. Prospects generally look good in all sports but there is no way to make specific predictions. Our best wishes go out to all those participating in varsity and intramural sports next season, particularly to Coach Tomlinson as he takes over the unenviable position of Head Football Coach. We also extend best wishes to Phil Jerome, who takes over the typewriter as Sports Editor, and a special thank-you to all those who have written or helped gather the information presented on these pages during the past year.



WGAP
CAMPUS MIKE
Voice of Maryville College
Sunday Evening
9:30-10:00

THE
BANK of MARYVILLE
"The Old Reliable, Since 1885"

BANKING SERVICES
★ SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
✓ CHECK ACCOUNTS
★ CHRISTMAS CLUB SAVINGS
★ TRANSFER OF FUNDS

— Your College Bank —

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation

"COKE" IS A REGISTERED TRADE-MARK. COPYRIGHT © 1960 THE COCA-COLA COMPANY.

Q.E.D.

Yes, it's been demonstrated time and time again, that for real refreshment it's Coke every time! Add up that cold crisp taste, that lively lift and you really have a drink worth going after. So whenever the crowd has a multiple thirst, make the high sign of good taste . . . pass around the Coca-Cola! Quod Erat Demonstrandum!

Drink Coca-Cola

BE REALLY REFRESHED...HAVE A COKE!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by

RODDY MFG. CO., MARYVILLE, TENN.

U. S. SHOWN

PAUL CAUGHRON

WAYNE SIMMONS

ALL MARYVILLE COLLEGE STUDENTS WELCOME!
TIP TOP BARBER SHOP
105 Church St. Next Door to McBrayer Shoe Shop Open 6 Days a Week

THIS IS THE YEAR THAT WAS

by Martha Cook

This is the year that was. It's almost over— and we'll be glad to let it go . . . Many wonderful things have come to pass this year. We remodeled one side of Anderson Hall to show LBJ that his war on poverty had nothing to do with us—and we were safe 'til they looked at the other side. Dr. Copeland went in the fishpond—fortunately managing not to drip water on his new rug—and was given a red Porky vest for his efforts.

Phyllis Deloteus finally got an engagement ring and set a new record for mistakes in the student council minutes. The week before Homecoming we raised $1000 for a new student center, and Dave Marston lived off the interest for the rest of the year. Speaking of Dave, in spite of many dire predictions, he and Phil Brown got along really well this year. Phil didn't even resign.

We got a NO from the administration and faculty on cars and drinking, but that didn't stop us. Even nine demerits didn't stop some of us. Dean Bushing did step in and stop the Mother's Day Riot, though — with great risk to his personal safety.

We had Lew Briner and Dr. Nakajima as copilots for February Meetings, with long-lasting effects—maybe even two weeks. And the Y changed its name to UCCF—just three more letters to remember, that's all. We had suspense, too. The student body spent a week trying to decide whether Mike Moyers was really a DUD. And if he was, then what about Jon Hinderer? The Duds and Spades didn't seem to accomplish much this year, though one can never be sure. Amazing what a little publicity does for a secret society, isn't it?

In closing, we would like to present three awards to those groups and individuals who have contributed the most to life at Maryville this year. To the women of New Dorm, from the Maryville Fire Department, goes an award for action above and beyond the call of duty. To the sophomore Clods goes the John Clark Mulholland Century of Physical Fitness Metal for their Homecoming float, which bore this slogan: "In the Mature Male . . ." And to Mike Moyers goes the Arthur S. Bushing Citation for Good Citizenship . . . and congratulations on his 51.05% write-in vote.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK
Cont. from Page 1, Col. 5

Joy, I Now Depart."

Commencement Day

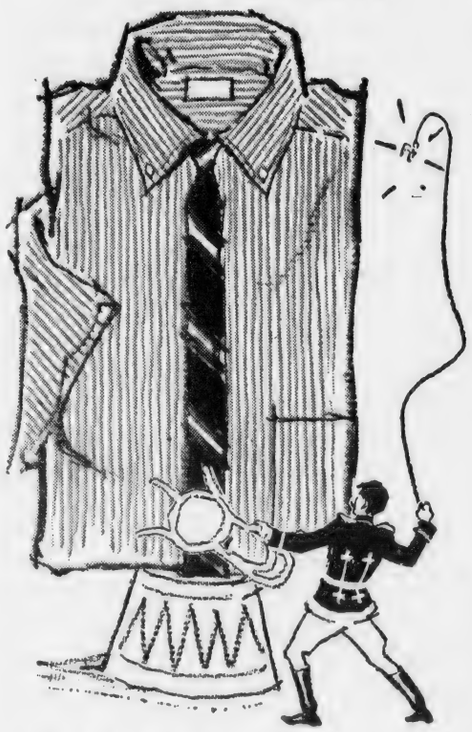
One hundred eight seniors will participate in the 145th commencement exercises on Wednesday, June 3. Seven are expected to graduate in summer school.

The speaker will be Dr. Leroy A. Martin, president of the University of Chattanooga, and former president of Tennessee Wesleyan College, Athens. His address will be "The World Revolutions and the Liberal Arts." Dr. Roland L. Showalter, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Libertyville, Illinois, will assist in the service. Dr. Showalter is the father of graduating senior John Showalter and sophomore, Tom.

The faculty, daisy chain, seniors, and choir will process. The choir will sing Dr. Harry Harer's arrangement of the "Twenty-third Psalm" and Edward Elgard's "Go, Song of Mine."

Behave toward everyone as if receiving a great guest.
—Confucious

HEARD . . .



I mean, was it read in the closets? . . . drunk and mellow . . . I know that's a dirty question . . . I'm amazed to discover that some Presbyterians practice immersion . . . further and further back in history . . . the X, Y, and Z club picnics . . . can anyone think of a more complicated way to do this? . . . the child of a robin is a robin . . . Gibralter—de Gaulle stone . . . Irish Menshichov . . . Afganistaneese . . . We, the Porkies . . . who's to judge morals? . . . the Peace Corps —a glorified CCC . . . I would have presumed it too . . . Ireland— then you must be French . . . you did what to your knee? . . . more Irish knights than Southern democrats . . . the Orange were true-blue Presbyterians . . . Mother's Day Mafeking . . . generalizations are always misleading . . . we walked from Washington to New York—looking for a seat on the train . . . fixed up in fort-shape . . . people always faint in my arms . . . avoidance-avoidance-avoidance situation . . . Eve Black was really quite a girl . . . isn't that ono-metaphorical . . . if that isn't the height of epitome! . . . you can wear the pants, but you can't be the dictator . . . Gotcha!

FOR A FIRM FOUNDATION . . .
WEAR
Southern Shoes
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes designed to please the college student.
116 West Broadway

SEE
City Drug Company
Downtown
for
HALLMARK CARDS

CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK
MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER
RELIGIOUS READING MATERIALS
TO FIT EVERY STUDENT'S NEEDS
STUDENTS ALWAYS WELCOME!
983-4982

Proffitt's
FOR GRADUATION GIVING
ARROW tamed the collar...

...and let the stripes run wild.
Only ARROW knows how to whip those buttons precisely into place so that you get a button-down collar to roll over gently without looking flat and playing dead. The tiger stripe fabric isn't Princeton but actually oxford in a light, breezy cotton batiste. The styling, though, is strictly Ivy – fully tapered body with back pleat, button, hang-loop and a "Sanforized" label to ensure perfect fit. Other wild stripes and solids.
Half sleeves $5.00 Long sleeves $5.00
Proffitt's
Midland Shopping Center

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Vol. 49 | Maryville, Tennessee, July, 1964 | No. 15

WELCOME FROSH

New Offices In Anderson Hall Reach Completion

The new suite of offices in Anderson Hall, which were begun before the opening of the fall semester, have reached completion. These offices involve both the first floor and the basement of the left wing of Anderson.

Centrally located on the first floor is the Reception Room. This is the place to which campus visitors will be directed and from which guests may visit the offices, depending on what information they seek. A permanent receptionist will be here to answer calls, give information, and direct people to the various offices.

Also on the first floor are the offices of the President, the Dean, and the Director of Development. There is an office for Dr. Copeland's secretary, Mrs. Watson; and Miss Huddleston, secretary to Dr. McClelland, and Mrs. Roberts, secretary to Mr. Brahams, will share an office. Miss Lightfoot, registrar, will be in the office formerly occupied by Dean McClelland.

Downstairs are the offices of the Director of Information Services, Duncan Bennett; his secretary, Mrs. McNair; the Alumni Secretary, Miss Elizabeth Welsh; and David Kidder, here temporarily with the development program fund drive. Later, this office may be used by the admissions counselor, David Styles.

Designed For Efficiency

Efficiency is the theme of the whole building program. The men who work closely together in operating the College will have common files and records. The College vault now has two entrances for increased convenience. There will be one telephone number listed for all the offices. By dialing this number, a caller may be transferred to any of the offices. Only the receptionist will answer the phone, saving time for the secretaries. There are three outside lines, enabling three conversations to be held simultaneously.

There are also two intercom lines and twenty-one intercom stations. There are two conference lines of five people each. Dr. Copeland and Dr. McClelland are on each, plus three others. There is provision for another outside line.

All Offices Air-conditioned

The decor of the offices is in modern style. The ceilings have been lowered to give a modern effect and to make cooling and heating easier. All the offices are equipped with air conditioning.

Not Related To Funds Campaign

The new offices were arranged for on a "cost plus" basis, without a contract specifying a definite cost. Since the extent of remodeling to be done was not known at the beginning, this was the most economical way. Therefore, the cost of the work is not yet known.

The building is financed through transfers from other capital assets already owned by the College. Thus the work will come under the capital funds account, rather than in the budget for current operations. The building is not related to the present funds campaign.

Costs For 1964-65 To Be About $1380

For students living on the Maryville campus for the school year, 1964-65, the approximate cost for the year will be from $1,330 to $1,380, depending on the dormitory and room occupied. For students not paying room and board, the total cost, excluding books, will be $750.

The anticipated cost for 1965-66 will be $1400, with room and board at $600 and tuition and fees $800.

The following is an itemized list of expenses per semester for 1964-65.

Tuition	$350.00
Student Activities	20.00
Group Hospital Insurance	5.00
Advance class Registration	10.00
Text Books (about)	20.00
Room-Carnegie, Pearsons,
Memorial (average)	95.00
New Dorm	100.00
Baldwin	85.00
Board	200.00
Health Fee	5.00
Other Expenses:
Student Teaching	10.00
Laboratory Fee	6.00
Lab, Art 217 or 317	5.00
Gym suits—women	5.50
Graduation	6.00
Graduate Record Exam.	2.50
Late Registration	2.50
Late Payment	5.00

Students Elect 14 Representatives To Student Council

The results of the election for student council representatives, held on Friday, May 8, were as follows:

Senior class — Norman Cleesattel, Harold Cones, Martha Cook, Frank Jablonski, Will Mitchell, and runner-up, Gail Smith;

Junior class — Terri Barksdale, Betty Brown, John Mulholland, Hank Seitz, Lupton Wood, and runner-up Adam Deveney;

Sophomore class — Dick Fox, John Kerr, Alice Leeth, Mike Mayo, and runner-up Judy Templeton.

The runner-up on each slate will be an alternate to replace a representative who might not return in the fall, be unable to carry out his responsibilities, or resign his post before October 1, 1964.

Moyers, Hinderer Discuss Plans For 1964-65 Student Government

Above are shown Mike Moyers and Jon Hinderer, who were recently elected president and vice president of the student body. Moyers was elected by 51.05 percent of the students, by write-in votes. He opposed Will Mitchell and Frank Jablonski. Hinderer polled 58.06 percent of the votes in his race. He opposed Norman Cleesattel.

A "Feel As You Go" Proposition

Student government next year approaches its task with an unusually clean slate, for there will be few projects left over from this year which have to be completed. President-elect Mike Moyers characterizes the plans for next year's student government as a "feel as you go" proposition. The new government will continue some ideas from this year and initiate new plans and projects as the need arises.

Will Use S-F Senate

Moyers and Vice-president-elect Jon Hinderer feel that perhaps the best approach to problems is through the Student-Faculty Senate, rather than by unilateral work by the Student Council. It is best to treat disturbing areas as problems, to discuss them in the Student Council, then to take them to the Student-Faculty Senate.

Some ideas for next year include a liberalized Chapel absence system, further study on the drinking problem, revision of the Student Body Constitution, an informal coffee-house for interested students, published reports of Executive Council meetings, and music for the Dining Hall.

Ideas Include Coffee-house

The new officers feel that a more liberal Chapel cut system, possibly a double number of cuts, could be considered, although this idea has not yet been discussed with the administration. The committee considering the drinking problem is to report in May, perhaps providing grounds for further action.

The bylaws and rules of the Student Body Constitution have been in the process of revision for two years. This project could be brought to completion next year. Moyers suggests an informal coffee-house, where students could gather for casual conversation. This idea was tried to some degree last year. This could be achieved at minimal cost and would be good in the interval until the new Student Center is built. The new officers hope to work with UCCF and other campus organizations on this project.

Want To Hear Students' Ideas

Another idea to be considered is that the Executive Council might publish its proceedings. Perhaps a brief resume of the

Cont. Page 5, Col. 4

College Conducting "Largest Financial Effort Ever"

Underway at the present time at Maryville and throughout her constituency is the largest fund-raising effort in the history of the College. Its goal is to secure the needed financial backing for a new science building, complete interior renovation of Fayerweather, increased faculty salaries and scholarships, and a new student center.

President Copeland, in order to more successfully carry on the campaign, has traveled in recent months from coast to coast. He has attended all but one of the many meetings held in areas where a concentration of Alumni is found. The widely scattered gatherings have seen Dr. Copeland in Jacksonville, Coral Gables, Mount Dora, Florida; Chicago; Richmond; Huntsville; New York City; Atlanta; Birmingham, Michigan; Washington, D. C.; Louisville; Winston-Salem; Pasadena; San Francisco; Cincinnati; Philadelphia; and Pittsburgh. The importance of this campaign is clearly evidenced in the extensive travels of the President.

Heading the Campaign Cabinet as General Chairman is David W. Proffitt, well-known area businessman. Assisting him are Joe C. Gamble, Earl W. Blazer, Glen A. Lloyd, Thomas I. Stephenson, Jr., Clifford E. Barbour, Howard E. Lamon, Jr., R. Arnold Kramer, Dr. Copeland, Raymond I. Brahams, Jr., and David H. Kidder.

Each man has an assigned responsibility including solicitation of the Board of Directors, administration and faculty members, students, families, corporations, foundations, and alumni.

Plans at this stage provide for the possibility of construction of the new student center at the same time as the science building, if the necessary funds are forthcoming. Great interest has already been generated by the quick donation by students of over $1000 in one week of giving last October.

The present science building, Fayerweather Hall, will have the entire interior changed to house the departments of home economics, biology, and mathematics. Moving to the new building will be the departments of physics, chemistry, and the earth sciences.

Because of the number of people involved, and the size of the goal in relation to a six months period of time, Dr. Copeland has described this campaign as the "largest concentrated financial effort ever conducted by the College."

The Highland ECHO

Maryville College

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Maryville, Tennessee under the act of Congress of March 8, 1870. Byron's Graphic Arts, printers. Published bi-weekly. $1.00 per semester.

Editor-in-Chief
ELENORA EASTERLY

President's Greeting

This special edition of THE ECHO is designed to provide our new students with information regarding activities at Maryville. At the same time, it affords me an opportunity to extend a preliminary word of greeting to those who will be enrolling at Maryville for the first time.

Let me assure you that I am looking forward to your arrival on campus and to the opportunities of fellowship with you. It is my earnest hope that your experience at Maryville College will be rich, both intellectually and spiritually.

We are living in an era when there is urgent need for fully trained men and women. Only this type of leadership is adequate to deal with the critical national and world problems that confront us. It is our conviction that the opportunities of developing this quality of leadership may be found on our campus. Here the "whole" personality is dealt with.

May God's blessing rest upon you as you become a member of our student body.

Joseph J. Copeland
President

FEBRUARY MEETINGS - 1964

LEADERS AT WORK — Dr. K. Arnold Nakajima and Student Body President Dave Marston chat informally in the Chaplain's Office at the close of February Meetings Wednesday, and Dr. Lewis A. Briner, leader for the first half of the February Meetings, is caught in a characteristic pose in the Chapel pulpit. The evening meetings ended with a communion service Tuesday led by President Joseph J. Copeland

Dr. Lewis A. Briner and Dr. K. Arnold Nakajima were the February Meetings speakers from February 20-26. This was the first time that two leaders have been used.

The Meetings have traditionally made up a religious emphasis week at the College. Outstanding speakers have consistently been chosen, and in recent years, to lighten the job of the leader, outstanding counselors have been invited as well.

Dr. Briner is the Dean of Chapel and Lane Professor of Pastoral Theology and Liturgics at McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago. He graduated from Albright College and received his B.D. at Oberlin School of Theology. Coe College conferred on him the honorary D.D.

Dr. Nakajima serves on the staff of the Board of Christian Education of the United Presbyterian Church. He has taught at Princeton University and Syracuse and served as chaplain of Utica College. Dr. Nakajima is a naturalized American citizen. He graduated from Asbury College in Kentucky and holds B.D. and Th.M. from Princeton. He holds two honorary doctorates, from Maryville and Monmouth Colleges.

Dr. Briner presented ideas about "Man in the 1960's," and Dr. Nakajima spoke on ideas concerning "What Man Can Do in the 1960's." Besides the principal speakers, the four counselors sat on a panel for informal questioning, and also met with students as groups or individually in the dormitories.

Scholarship Winners Announced

Winners of the Kind Memorial and Four-year scholarships from next year's freshman class have been announced. They include three students from Tennessee—two of these from Maryville.

Four-year Scholarships

Those winning the Four-year Scholarships are Merry Burlingham, Deerfield Beach, Fla.; Audrey Cousart, Lansdowne, Pa.; Jolly Garland, Rogersville, Tenn.; Ruth E. Kent, Arlington, Va.; Stewart Kunselman, Tionseta, Pa.; Donna Meadows, Braddenton, Fla.; Beverly Minear, Coral Gables, Fla.; Betty Patterson, State College, Pa.; George Patton, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Patricia Pingitore, Trenton, N.J.; Martha Smith, Wilmington, Del.; and John Wintermute, Kansas City, Mo.

Kind Memorial Grants

Winners of the Kind Memorial Scholarships are Helen Beatty, Covington, O.; Frances Bettis, Memphis, Tenn.; Thomas Ellis, Maryville, Tenn.; Wanda Hannah, Maryville, Tenn.; Charlene Lamb, Atlanta, Ga.; Scribner Messenger, Stillwater, Okla.; Betty Milam, Orlando, Fla.; Pamela Rowland, St. Petersburg, Fla.; and Daniel Styles, Arlington, Va.

CHILHOWEE CLUB MEMBERS TO WELCOME PARENTS

Members of Chilhowee Club and Junior Chilhowee Club will take an active part in welcoming new students and parents to the community this year. There will be a bus tour of the area Sunday afternoon, September 13th.

Literature about the community will be available at the local motels, and members will be at the college to give information or assistance. The Chilhowee Clubs are a local organization composed of women in the community of Blount County and are members of the General Federation of Womens Clubs.

SPECIAL EMPHASIS AT VESPERS

The vespers services at Maryville College this fall have been arranged to cover topics of particular interest to the student body.

Subjects covered will be student responsibility, September; demands of man's loyalty, October; the fine arts: emphasis on feeling, November; social concerns, world in chaos, January; vocations and occupations, February; Easter viewed theologically and breakdown of communciation, April; and international relations, May.

The measure of a man's real character is what he would do if he knew he would never be found out. —Macauley

Ode To An Institution

by Dave Powell

In America the humble college dormitory stands as a living monument to the ravages of baser intellectualism. Time and countless epigrams are etched in its ageless scum-green wall. Scars of hard-fought battles streak its homely facade. Deep in its heart outmoded washing machines rumble on into the night. Aimless feet track the mud of earthy adventures through its ever-open doors. Ceaseless oaths echo down refuse-strewn halls, and the pitiful few who seek knowledge must escape to a barren study room — a room tantalizingly close to sticky Coke machines and guitar strumming goof-offs. Show me the soul who can resist that temptation.

The college dormitory is a loosely tied bundle of cyclic cliches—water balloons, Chinese fire drills, firecrackers, weekly search for the sacrificial victim to appease the gods of the fishpond, apple and orange flings, toilet paper decorations, furniture removals, door removals, banshee scream imitations, hall light globe fallings and crashings, house mother hatings, bridge tournaments, ping-pong tournaments, dog chasing tournaments, crowding the mailbox stuffer, proctor evasions and bike borrowings.

From the rooftop sunbather to the solitary stoop sitter, the lifeblood of the dorm is people — residing people, visiting people, tired people, loud people, machine filling people, newspaper delivering people, couple people, single people, sneakered people, shirtless people, greasy people, watchman people — all shapes, sizes, races and denominators and no two alike though some alove.

Cold in winter, hot in summer, noisy always, never complaining, unbigoted, staunch and proud it stands. Home to the homeless, hideout of wandering minstrels, defender against the elements, keeper of secrets and friendships, heritage for generations of roaches, please no smoking in your room, and guardian of fermenting knowledge — quietly serves the dorm.

And quietly the inmates accept growth, change, fate, failure, loneliness, mononucleosis and cold showers. Gradually an older and wiser, if not more confused, individual comes to realize that his dorm has been but one more home on the journey, and in nesting there he has learned to love it, and leave it after four years with a stronger constitution and no regrets.

Immortal dorms we love you.

Byrne Drug Company

Welcome all New STUDENTS

For all your drug or cosmetic needs

120 E. Broadway 982-1461

Flowers
ALWAYS APPROPRIATE
ALWAYS APPRECIATED

HORNE'S Florist

Whatever the Season...
Whatever the Occasion...

You can convey your message better with flowers
We can supply all your floral needs . . .
See our agent on campus – Rich Boyd
215 W. Broadway 982-2690

Proffitt's

MIDLAND CENTER

Welcome To MARYVILLE COLLEGE

Proffitt's DEPARTMENT STORE
ALCOA, TENNESSEE

Dear Student:

The choosing of a College is one of the important choices of life. We want to congratulate you on having chosen Maryville College as your college. We here at Proffitt's, as graduates and former students of Maryville, are very familiar with the ideals, the traditions, and the accomplishments of the college through the years and feel that you have made a wise choice.

We want you to make Proffitt's your store while you are in Maryville. As Blount County's largest and newest department store we can supply all of your needs, from pins and needles to party clothes. We particularly would like to know you personally and hope that you will come in and get acquainted, for ours is a friendly store. It has always been a pleasure to have the students as our friends.

We have a complete assortment of bedspreads, curtains, lamps, and rugs for your room, if you would like to wait and purchase them here. Many roommates do this, which assures a better decor in their room.

Doubtless you will want to have a charge account with us. If so, just get a letter of authorization from your parents or guardian and this can be easily arranged.

We are looking forward to seeing you in early September.

Very truly yours,

John W. Proffitt
J. W. Proffitt
President
PROFFITT'S DEPARTMENT STORE

COMPLETE DEPARTMENT STORE FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE

* Ready-to-wear
* Sportswear
* Cometics
* Accessories
* Mens Wear
* Shoes
* Housewares
* Draperies and Linens
* Piece Goods
* Furniture
* Women's Budget Shop
* Beauty Salon

Free Bus service from Ellis Ave. (near Campus) to and from Midland Center every 30 minutes.

FILL IN THE APPLICATION AT RIGHT, MAIL TO US, AND YOUR CHARGE ACCOUNT WILL BE WAITING FOR YOU WHEN YOU ARRIVE.

– REGULAR 30 DAY OPTION BUDGET ACCOUNT –

Regular Option Budget accounts are payable within 30-days from bill closing date without service charge, or, if you desire, you may pay a minimum of one-fourth the balance of the account and carry over three-fourths of the balance to the next month. If a portion of the account is carried over to the next month, we will automatically add a small service charge to the amount carried forward.

PROFFITT'S CREDIT APPLICATION
Mail to: Proffitt's Credit Dept., Box 388, Alcoa, Tennessee

Mr.
Miss _____

Home
Address _____

College
Address _____

Parents Name _____

Parents Address _____

Parents Occupation _____

Your Bank _____ Your Signature _____

Parents Signature _____

Dr. Harter Will Be Chairman Of Fine Arts Department

President Joseph J. Copeland has announced that Dr. Harry H. Harter, widely known as the director of the Maryville College Choir, will be Professor Katherine C. Davies' successor as head of the Department of Fine Arts. Dr. Harter received his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1942 from San Jose State College in California, and made his first college choir tours while a member of that choir under William Erlendsen.

He served in the U. S. Army Air Force as a chaplain's assistant, and spent considerable time training and developing choral groups, both in the service and in communities where he was stationed.

Studied Under Bos

Following World War II, Dr. Harter enrolled at the University of Nebraska, and in 1947 he received the Master of Music degree. While at Nebraska he won the Alpha Rho Tau award for his choral compositions. He has studied composition under Roy Harris and Normand Lockwood; conducting under Nicholas Slominsky, Powell Bereridge, and Ifor Jones; voice under Maurine Thompson, Arthur Westbrook and Lucius Metz and coaching under Coenraad V. Bos in New York.

Organized Opera Workshop

Since coming to Maryville College after his graduation from the University of Nebraska, Dr. Harter has taught voice and directed the Choir. He has also been Choirmaster at New Providence Presbyterian Church. He directs the annual College-Community presentation of Handel's "Messiah" and also organized the Opera Workshop and serves as chairman of the College-Community Artists Series Committee.

UCCF OFFICERS TO ATTEND MEETING

The officers of the United Campus Christian Fellowship (UCCF) at Maryville College will attend the UCCF National Council in East Lansing, Michigan, from August 29 until September 3.

The officers are Rich Boyd, president; Bill Erwin, vice president; Nancy Buckwalter, vice president; and Judy Martin, program chairman.

Everything has been thought of before, but the difficulty is to think of it again.

—Goethe

REV. MARK ANDREWS
Redlands, Calif., pastor

JOHN D. HARPER
President of ALCOA

LLOYD E. VARDEN
Photographic expert

Three Get Honorary Degrees

The president of the Aluminum Company of America, a professor in the Columbia University School of Engineering, and the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Redlands, Calif., were awarded honorary degrees by Maryville College in graduation ceremonies June 3.

Mr. John D. Harper, President of the Aluminum Company of America, received a Doctor of Engineering degree; Professor Lloyd B. Varden received a Doctor of Science degree; and the Rev. Mark Lewis Andrews received a Doctor of Divinity degree. The Rev. Mr. Andrews is a graduate of Maryville College, and Professor Varden attended Maryville in 1930-31. Mr. Harper is a graduate of the University of Tennessee.

Mr. Harper, now a resident of Pittsburgh, Pa., is a native of Louisville, Tenn. He has been an employee of the Aluminum Company of America since 1933, serving in the Maryville-Alcoa plants and in Rockdale, Texas. He is a Fellow and past vice president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

A civic as well as a business leader, he is active in the Boy Scout program, a member of the University Club of Pittsburgh, and a trustee of the Mt. Lebanon, Pa., Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Varden has achieved a unique place as the only full professor at Columbia University in New York City without a college degree. One of the world's experts on photographic processes, Professor Varden lectures at Columbia on photographic technology, photographic color processes, and engineering principles of photographic equipment.

A consultant to many chemical and photographic firms in the United States and abroad, he is a Fellow of the Photographic Society of America, which awarded him the Progress Medal in 1961. He is the author of over 300 publications.

The Rev. Mr. Andrews is a graduate of McCormick Theological Seminary and has held pastorates in Ohio, Wisconsin, and Pennsylvania before going to Redlands, Calif. He was an Army chaplain from 1944 to 1946. His present pastorate is a large and growing church near the campus of the University of Redlands, where he works closely with the faculty and students.

Active in community affairs and in the church, he has served as chairman of a committee that visited Occidental College, as a trustee of Carroll College in Wisconsin, and is now a member of the Long Range Planning Committee of the Southern Area of the Synod of California.

MARYVILLE JOINS UCCF

After a long period of study and careful consideration, Maryville College has dropped out of the YMCA and YWCA and has joined UCCF.

For three years a study committee has existed to consider the relation of the Maryville YM and YW to the national Y. Last year a resolution was passed whereby Maryville was to stay in the Y but to study affiliations more closely, especially UCCF. The committee, consisting of both faculty and students, carried over to this year; and last summer John Spangler attended the UCCF conference. During the Christmas vacation, eight MC students attended the Quadrennial Conference, in which UCCF participated, at Athens, Ohio.

After this a recommendation to drop out of the Y and join UCCF was passed and taken to the Advisory Board, consisting of faculty and staff, where it was passed unanimously. The recommendation was then taken to the Y Cabinet, where it was also passed. An amendment was passed providing that Maryville will remain in Y until a new constitution is written. The amended recommendation was then taken to the Executive Council.

Two sessions of the Executive Council acted on the recommendation; at the second one, Dr. Nakajima, who is a secretary of UCCF, was present. He was able to give valuable information, regarding UCCF, and the Executive Council passed the recommendation. As soon as the new constitution providing for membership in UCCF was written, it was submitted to the Y membership for a vote.

There are several basic reasons for this decision: first, UCCF is church related; the Y is not. Second, as a member of UCCF, Maryville can have any type of physical organization desired. There will be only one set of officers, with this organizational unity stressing unity in the church; in Y, separate sets of officers for the YM and the YW are required. Also, YM at Maryville has suffered from a lack of unity with the regional YM.

One of the guiding principles of UCCF is stated thus:

"United Campus Christian Fellowship is called to find ways of living and working together as Christians while being caught up in the day-to-day life of the university — in study, in discussion, in extracurricular programs and organizations, in teaching's rigor, in administrative decisions."

Newly elected officers of next year's U.C.C.F. who will be attending the retreat are president, Richard Boyd; vice presidents, Nancy Buckwalter and Bill Erwin; recording secretary, Anna Belle Minear; publicity secretary, Sara Parker; corresponding secretary, Robert Young; treasurer, Don Elly; representatives to the Religious Life and Activities Committee, Lois Grinstead and Lupton Wood.

LET ONE CALL DO IT ALL!
For School and Office Supplies
and TYPEWRITER REPAIR
Excellent Service
and
Fast Delivery
White
Office Machines
"Won't Write – Call White"

CAPITOL THEATRE
Welcome New Students
Completely Remodeled
and
Under New Management

SHEET MUSIC
RECORDS
HITCH'S
RADIO and T.V.
Complete Selection of Jazz
Classical, Popular, and Folk
Music in Hi-Fi Stereo
Complete line of Sheet Music
Quality Repair Work on Radios
and Record Players
MIDLAND CENTER

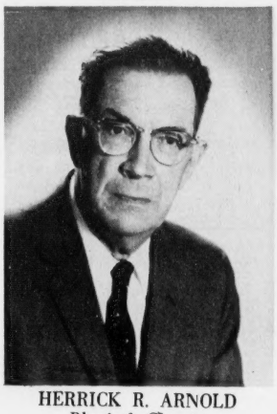
4 Outstanding M C Alumni Recognized

Maryville alumni who have achieved outstanding careers in the fields of teaching and writing, scientific research, business, and law were awarded Alumni Citations during the Annual Dinner and Alumni Association meeting May 30.

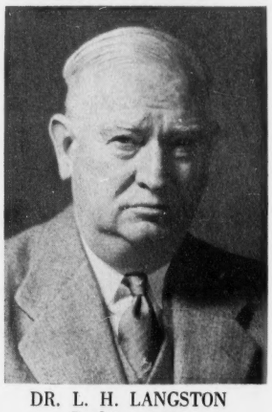
Honored this year were Dr. Nathalia Wright, a University of Tennessee Professor of English; Mr. Herrick Arnold, retired physical chemist for E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co.; Rep. Roy A. Taylor, Member of Congress from the 12th District of North Carolina; and Dr. L. H. Langston. officer and director of Standard & Poor's Corp. and an expert on banking procedures and operation.

Recipients of the Alumni Citation were presented a certificate during the ceremonies, and their names will be added to a plaque which hangs in the Chapel.

Dr. Wright holds the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Yale University. She served on the library staff and English faculty at Maryville for eight years, and has been a member of the faculty at the University of Tennessee since 1949.



Mr. Arnold, now a resident of Wimberly, Texas, spent 33 years devoted to fundamental and applied research with Dupont. His work resulted in the synthesis of meshanol higher alcohols, and intermediates in the manufacture of nylon, Orlon acrylic fibers, and other synthetic plastics. He also spent a year with the Manhattan Project in research on the production of heavy water for the atomic energy program.



REP. ROY A. TAYLOR
Lawmaker

DR. NATHALIA WRIGHT
Teacher and author

HERRICK R. ARNOLD
Physical Chemist

DR. L. H. LANGSTON
Banking expert

Rep. Taylor, now serving his second full term as a Member of Congress, was three times a member of the North Carolina Legislature, where he was known for his support of public education. An active churchman and community leader in his home town of Black Mountain, N. C., Rep. Taylor was a member of the Board of Trustees of Asheville-Biltmore College from 1949 to 1960, and was District Governor of the Lions Club in 1952.

Dr. Langston, who received his M.S. and Ph.D. from Columbia University, is a member of Standard & Poor's Executive Committee and Personnel Management Committee, and is the author of books on "Practical Bank Operation" and "Bank Accounting Practice." He holds the Alumni Medal from Columbia and is a member of the Academy of Political Science and the American Economic Association.

MC RECEIVES $500,000

An alumnus of Maryville College, Algie Sutton of Greenville, South Carolina, has given to the College a gift of $500,000. The school is at present conducting an intensive campaign for funds to build a new science building and to make other improvements on campus.

$250,000 of the $500,000 is being given the college now with the understanding that, including the full amount, a goal of $920,000 must be reached by January.

The $920,000 campaign is part of the 10-year plan begun in 1959 to celebrate Maryville's sequicentennial.

Mr. Sutton, a retired insurance executive and a native of South Carolina, graduated in 1929. Two of his three daughters are also alumni of Maryville.

The new science building, to be built at an estimated cost of $625,000, will be used for chemintry and physics. The present science building, Fayerweather Hall, will be rehabilitated to house the departments of biology and home economics.

New Choir Record To Be Released

A 12-inch LP recording of the Maryville College Choir, the seventh in a series by the Choir will be released this summer and is available to alumni and new students.

The recording includes J. S. Bach's "Be Not Afraid," a motet for double choir, harpsichord, and instrumental ensemble; Benjamin Britten's "Hymn to St. Cecilia," and a number of shorter works including Dr. Harry H. Harter's arrangement of the Palestinian folk song "Zum Gali Gali," Gretchaninoff's "Nicene Creed," "Creep Along Moses" by Gail Kubik, and others.

Anyone interested in obtaining the record may order it by sending $5.00 for the record, packing, and mailing to: The Maryville College Choir, Maryville College, Maryville, Tennessee.

MOYERS, HINDERER
Cont. from Page 1, Col. 5

minutes of the Executive Council could be read in the Student-Faculty Senate when the Student Council minutes are presented.

Both Moyers and Hinderer like the publishing of election figures, as was done this year.

Moyers sums up the feeling of the new officers by stating that they want to hear students' ideas and are looking for new ways to find out what the student body thinks. Perhaps this could be achieved by polls by the Student Council. At any rate, Moyers says that the new student government is looking for areas in which to apply itself and is willing to try anything that will have value.

This Man's Art

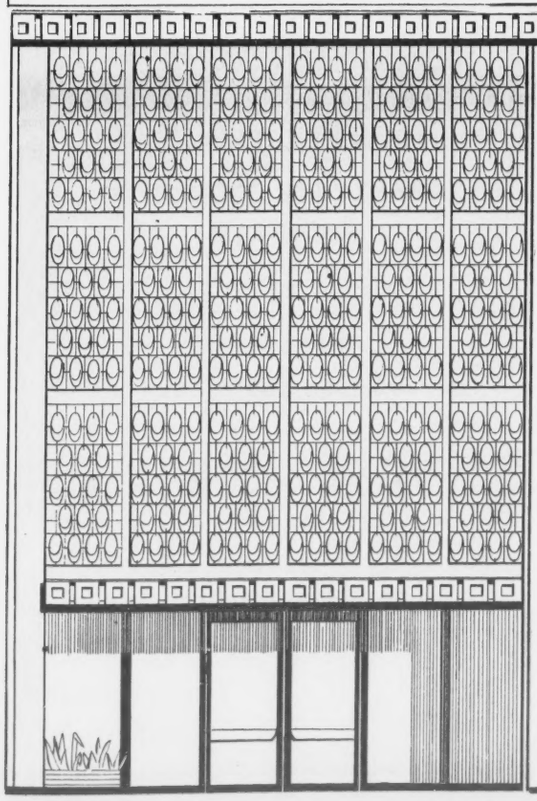
This Man's Art, a volume of 50 poems by Dr. Edwin R. Hunter, retired head of the English department at Maryville College and former Dean of Curriculum, was published this spring.

The original plan for the printing of these poems was formulated by two Maryville College graduates, Dr. John H. Fisher, Executive Secretary of the Modern Language Association, and Dr. Delbert L. Earisman, Professor of English at Upsala College. Writing an appraisal of Dr. Hunter's works, they conclude, "The poems form a remarkable record of poetry from 1911 to the present. Dr. Hunter has recorded campus scenes, historical events, and his own literary enthusiasms in a highly individual poetic idiom. His rich sense of humor and warm humanity pervade his poems . . ."

With the aid of 34 other supporting alumni, Dr. Fisher and Dr. Earisman planned for a limited edition of the poems to be printed. Arrangements and selling of the volumes at Maryville College are being handled by Raymond I Brahams through the Development Office.

The poet has been at Maryville since his student days began in 1911. He graduated 50 years ago with the class of 1914 and returned to become an English instructor in 1918 after receiving his M.A. degree at the University of Chicago. He received his Ph.D. in 1925 from the same university, and Maryville College also awarded him an Honorary Litt.D. in 1944.

Some of the positions Dr. Hunter has held at Maryville include Chairman of the Department of Languages and Literature, Chairman of the Department of English, Chairman of the Committee on Independent Studies, and Dean of Curriculum. Since 1960 he has served as Professor of English in a part-time capacity.



CHRISTIAN BOOK NOOK

Midland Shopping Center

RELIGIOUS READING MATERIALS
TO FIT EVERY STUDENT'S NEEDS
STUDENTS ALWAYS WELCOME

Phone 983-4982

Welcome

MARYVILLE COLLEGE FRESHMEN
TO

Bank Of Maryville

Downtown Maryville

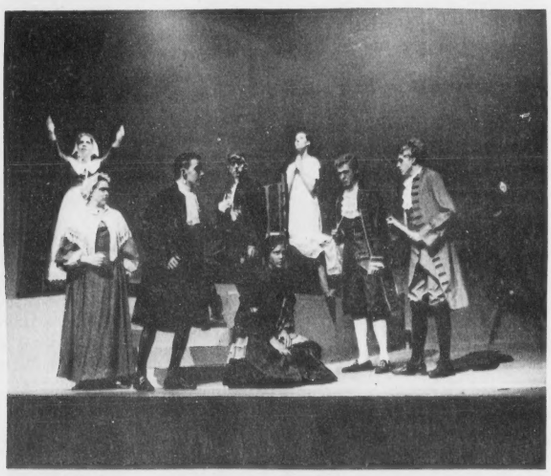
Alcoa Branch

Hall Road, Alcoa

— YOUR COLLEGE BANK —

PERSONAL SERVICE TO ALL STUDENTS

SPECIAL CHECKING ACCOUNTS
REGULAR CHECKING ACCOUNTS
SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
TRANSFER OF FUNDS
TRAVELERS CHECKS



Commencement Play: 'Teahouse'

Bettina Leong played a geisha girl presented to an army captain, played by Robert McGruther, in the Pulitzer Prize-winning play, "Teahouse of the August Moon." The play was produced on May 1 and 2 and as the commencement play on June 2.

KISS ME KATE, a light and exciting "play within a play" opened the 1963 Playhouse season. Cole Porter's musical involves the battle of the sexes, revolving around a play by Shakespeare, "The Taming Of The Shrew."

THE CRUCIBLE, a tragic drama by Arthur Miller set in seventeenth century America during the hysteria and persecution leading to the Salem witch trials. From this powerful play comes much provoking thought for contemporary America. "The Crucible" opened January 10.

1964-65 ARTIST SERIES ANNOUNCED

The Maryville College-Community Artists Series Committee has announced the schedule for 1964-65. The season will open on Tuesday evening, October 20, when Nelson and Neal, duo-pianists, will make their second appearance at Maryville. They were previously here in 1959.

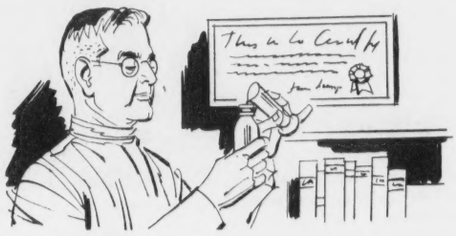
On February 9 the Kaleidoscope players will perform. The third event will be the San Francisco Contemporary Dancers, on March 1. On the final date, March 18, the Knoxville Symphony Orchestra, directed by David Van Vactor, will appear.

Artist last year

Last year's schedule included the United States Air Force Band and Singing Sergeants; Brenda Lewis, Metropolitan Opera soprano; the Columbus Boychoir of Princeton, New Jersey; and the Alabama String Quartet.

Honors Program Revised, Will Include Freshmen

The Sophomore Honors Program, traditionally offered only to certain members of the sophomore class, was revised during the school year 1963-64 to include qualifying second semester freshmen.



The honors program is for the purpose of extending the principle of independent study into the sophomore and freshmen years. The program is on a selective basis, with the intent of making the opportunity available to a few highly qualified sophomore and freshmen students. Only students with a scholarship average of 3.25 are admitted.

The study may take the form of reading, writing, experimentation, or all three. The freshman student may do work in any subject he is taking; the sophomore student normally works in a field other than his major. It is expected that fifty extra hours be spent on the study per semester. For each semester of work a credit value of one hour is designated on the student's transcript and with notation of the work as "with honors."

1964-1965 PLAYHOUSE SEASON

Oct. 23-24 J.B.
Dec. 11-12 HARVEY
Mar. 12-13 HIPPOLYTUS
May 1, June 8-9 The FANTASTICKS

City Drug Company

MARYVILLE'S LEADING PRESCRIPTION STORE
Phone 982-7162

WELCOME FRESHMAN
to
Parks-Belk
Home of Better Values
'Always Your Home of Better Values'
One stop shopping for all your
CAMPUS NEEDS
Our Own Brand Names You Can Always Trust
DOWNTOWN MARYVILLE

WELCOME
MARYVILLE COLLEGE
FRESHMAN
To Leonard's
STEAK HOUSE
in
MIDLAND SHOPPING CENTER
Fine Steaks
Pizza Pies
Rainbow Trout
Lobster Tails
Spaghetti and Ravioli

WELCOME FRESHMAN
Southern Shoes
CAMPUS CHEER-LEADERS IN FINE SHOES
Available in a wide variety of styles and sizes, designed to please the college student
116 West Broadway
A Famous Name for Quality and Value

Past and Present

Scots Go Abroad

This summer for the first time, Maryville College organized a special European vacation for Maryville College students, faculty, and alumni. The tour was offered for $799 per person, including transportation, hotels, meals, and sightseeing.

The group left New York City on June 8 by KLM Royal Dutch Jet Airliner. The intinerary included stops in Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, France, and Great Britain. The group arrived back in the states on June 30.

Summer Conferences

Mid-South Synod of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., has sponsored two conferences on Maryville College campus this summer.

The first, from June 7 to 13, was the Synod Leadership School. Approximately 30 leaders met with 250 delegates in small groups to train leaders for all phases of work in the local church.

The Senior High Conference of the Mid-South Synod met June 22—27. One hundred people attended the conference, at which Bible study and seminars and discussions on a variety of subjects were held.

Blake to be on Campus

Union Presbytery Day, October 25, will be held on Maryville campus. Eugene Carson Blake, past president of the National Council of Churches, stated clerk of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, and consistently a controversial figure, will be the main speaker.

Students Work in Gatlinburg

Again, as in the past, a number of Maryville students spend the summer in Gatlinburg. Gatlinburg is the famous Smoky Mountain resort town located on the border of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park just 38 miles from Maryville. Students find it most enjoyable working in the many restaurants or in the summer theatre. In general they agree that they find it most interesting meeting the other college students from across the country.

Fred Hope Fund

The Fred Hope Fund for 1963-64 was used to support the work of Dr. and Mrs. David G. Stanley, who left in the middle of February for an 18 months' stay as medical missionaries in Southeast Laos with the Tom Dooley Foundation.

The Hope Fund is an annual collection established in 1900 in honor of a Maryville College alumnus who became a missionary to Africa.

The Stanleys set up a 20-bed hospital on an island in the Mekong River. Two American nurses and an interpreter were provided them, but other personnel are native-trained technicians and workers.

The Fred Hope Fund will also be used in a project at home. A worthy Negro student will be provided with a scholarship for education at Maryville College. This was suggested by the Student Council, and standards for the recipient have been set by the council.

Highland Flings

by Dave King

The 1963-64 sports season started out strong at Maryville College but it got rougher before the year was over. The '63 version of the fightin' Scots' football team was the finest since 1946 and only a dropped pass in the end zone at Emory and Henry kept it from being a perfect season. Despite the unfortunate loss to the E & H Bees, the Scots finished with an 8-1 mark and one of the finest football teams in he area. Opening with a 14-0 trouncing of Mars Hill, the Scots rolled over Centre's Praying Colonels, 20-7, and edged Georgetown before the untimely 13-7 disaster at Emory and Henry. In what looked like another defeat the Highlanders found themselves on the wrong end of a 17-0 halftime tally at Hanover, but pulled it out of the fire in one of their second-half comebacks, 19-17. Guilford College was humiliated here for Homecoming, 20-0, Millsaps bowed, 22-0, and Guilford again lost, this time on their field, 13-7. The finale was a small college classic as Maryville seesawed with arch-rival Carson-Newman before Benny Monroe's field goal made it a 17-14 victory. It was an outstanding season with a great starting eleven and depth to burn. The second half finishes soon came to be a trademark and no one worried when we were behind at the half. A new feature inaugurated this year was the presentation of the Amos Alonzo Stagg Century of Physical Fitness to the week's outstanding athlete. Winners included Clint Abbott, H. H. Linginfelter, Roland McClanahan, Benny Monroe, Donnie Phelps, Wilbur Ramsey, Charlie Thomas, and Ken Berry. Also new this season was the presentation of a Student Body Most Valuable Player Trophy which was well earned by Fullback Ken Berry. At the Spring Sports Banquet in April it was announced that Assistant Coach Howard Tomlinson would replace Coach Baird as Head Football Coach.

SOCCER TEAM DID WELL

Running about the same time as the football season, our informal soccer team did themselves proud with a 3 win, 2 loss, 1 tie season. Lacking varsity status the soccer boys came up against some of the better college soccer teams in the country and gave them a run for their money. Prospects for next year are equally bright as only Bob Mullins and PeeWee Tongyai are leaving via the graduation sheepskin. With virtually the whole squad returning, headed by this year's co-captains "Red" Prudhon and Adam Deveny, and the possibility of talented freshmen, Dr. Young and Mr. Ainsworth have every right to feel optimistic.

Fall gave way to winter and sports enthusiasts turned to basketball and wrestling. Unfortunately, Tennessee's SEC contenders almost proved to be more popular over here than our own Scots, who could only manage 2 wins during the whole season. The disappointing showing is hard to understand when it is considered that seven lettermen, including last season's starting five, returned to the hardwood. Taken individually, we had some speedy, tall boys in uniform this year, but taken as a unit they couldn't seem to play enough together to build up any kind of a sustained offense or control of the backboards. Kip Martin, Bill Schellinger, Denny McGowan, Mike Moyers, and Bert Randall usually started the games, with "Bo" Henderson, Dave Alexander, Mike Gregory, who missed much action with a broken ankle, Carl McDonald, Jack Llewellen, and H. H. Linginfelter providing most of the bench strength. Danny Radcliff, an outstanding freshman, transferred at the semester break, to add to Coach Baird's woes.

Wrestlers Had Injuries

Coach "J. D." Davis' "rasslers" looked good on paper before the year began but injuries and stiff competition kept them from living up to some of their outstanding records of past years. It was the lightweights who garnered most of the individual honors. as Chuck Hucknell, Roy Ries, Gary Hall, and Will Mitchell brought most of the individual victories. Injuries to Don Shields, Van Pallis, Bill DeWeese, and a frightening accident on the mats in which Fred Willocks was hurt, kept victories to a minimum. Joe Kucinski began the year at heavyweight but came down to 177 as the season progressed, abdicating in favor of Jim Pryor. Adam Deveny and Gene Dixon were able to see action during the second semester.

Good Year for Tennis

Spring came, bringing with it a fine tennis team, a good track showing and an unfortunate baseball season. The tennis team, virtually overloaded with good players, finished the year at 9-5. Todd Owers, Dave Marx, Lynn Howard, Bob Paul, Dale Fischbach, Rich Marshall, and Dave Marston all played consistently good tennis against superior competition. Coach Kardatzke took his boys on a trip through

Cont. Page 8, Col. 1

Classes Elect Next Year's Officers

On Friday, May 1, elections were held to elect class officers for next year's senior, junior, and sophomore classes. Those elected were as follows:

Senior Officers

President, Jerry Stewart
Vice President, Carolyn Foust
Secretary-treasurer, Lorraine Briggs

Junior Officers

President, Hugh McCampbell
Vice president, Reed Tarwater
Secretary-treasurer, Sue Haldeman

Miss Haldeman was elected in a run-off election on Monday, May 4.

Sophomore Officers

President, Dave Hutchison
Vice president, Dave Alexander
Secretary-treasurer, Carol Pusey

WELCOME FRESHMAN

Birthday Cakes
Pastries of all Kinds

Deliveries Twice Daily

BIG 97 Cent PIZZA PIE

VAN'S BAKERY

Call the Sweetest number in Town
982-7920 Midland Center

MOTEL

TELEVISION
AIR CONDITIONING
TELEPHONE IN ROOMS

JOY

Phone 983-1251
Located on Washington Ave.
2 Blocks from Campus

DRAG or STAG — There is no Better Place
For an Evening of FUN, than

CROWN BOWLING LANES

Featuring:
*16 Fully Automatic Brunswick Lanes
*Special Rates for College Parties
*Free Bowling Instructions
For reservations— —Call 982-4092
Downtown Maryville

Great Scot!

Baird Heads P.E. Department

Howard Tomlinson Appointed As New Head Football Coach

At the annual Spring Sports Banquet in the college dining hall on Thursday evening, April 31, President Joseph Copeland announced the appointment of Coach Howard Tomlinson as head football coach for the next year. Tomlinson succeeds Athletic Director Boydson Baird, who will continue as head for basketball and baseball, as well as being associate professor and chairman of the Department of Physical Education. Coach Tomlinson has served for the past four years as line coach for the fighting Scots football team and as head coach for the track team. He distinguished himself as an All-Southern Conference lineman during his college career at William and Mary College.

The appointment of Coach Howard ("Monk") Tomlinson as head football coach was a relative surprise, although rumors had circulated in recent months of a similar nature. It was reported that Coach Baird requested the move, feeling that the responsibilities as head coach for three major sports, Athletic Director, and head of the Physical Education Department could be better carried out in this way. Coach Baird, whose '63 football team powered their way to an outstanding 8-1 mark, distinguished himself in his undergraduate days here at Maryville by winning a total of 10 athletic letters. Following the announcement Coach Tomlinson acknowledged the applause and then, in characteristic fashion, commented simply, "Get ready, boys."

COACH TOMLINSON

Baird Announces '64 Football Schedule

Earlier this week Athletic Director Boydson Baird announced the football schedule for the upcoming 1964 season. The slate is not yet complete, as plans for the opening game are not yet definite. So far, one newcomer has been added to the list of opponents, with the possibility of another for the opener. Livingstone State, a school of about 700 in Livingstone, Alabama, will travel to Maryville on October 17. This year's Homecoming game will be an afternoon game, rather than being in the evening as in past years. Co-captains for bott and Bill Napier. The rest of the schedule is as follows:

Sept. 26 — Centre	Away
Oct. 3 — Georgetown	Away
Oct. 10 — Emory & Henry	Home
Oct. 17 — Livingstone State	Home
Oct. 24 — Guilford	Away
Oct. 31 — Millsaps	Home
Nov. 7 — Mars Hill	Away
Nov. 14 — Carson-Newman	Away

HIGHLAND FLINGS

Cont. from Page 7, Col.5

Florida and Georgia during the spring break and had top-seeded Owers and Marx been able to travel with the squad, the season's mark would have undoubtedly been higher. Owers, Marx, and Marston will leave at the end of the year, leaving Howard, Marshall, and Paul to form up next year's netters.

Track Team Runs Well

Despite the fact that Coach Tomlinson's track boys only won two meets, this was one of their better years. The track team was built around state high school champ Dave Alexander, who virtually passed himself running from one event to another. Our meets were generally close in the track events but unfortunately poor in the weights. Terry Amon continued as a sharp hurdler, Hal Shultz surprised everyone with his 880 victories, Jerry Bell developed into a strong 440 man, John Livingston continued as a good miler, Jack Smoot placed consistently in the 100, Dave Taylor's broad jumping could be counted on, Gene Smith earned his letter with the weights, and Greg Hallen continued heaving the javelin. The crack mile relay team of Mike Dalton, Dan Mitchell, Jerry Bell, and Rich Reed was beautiful to watch. Next year looks good, with virtually everyone returning and prospects for a cross-country team and a couple of indoor meets.

Baseball Couldn't Get Going

The Scot baseball team, under Athletic Director Baird, just couldn't seem to get off the ground this year. Even Dave West, usually dependable on the mound, just didn't have it this year and the Scots had one tough break after another. Shuffling the infield around toward the end of the season didn't help and one of the few bright spots was Jack "The Crook" Llewellen's 4 hit, 5-0 pitching victory. Besides Llewellen and West on the mound, Baird had Bob Mullins, whom he also played at third. "Red" Prudhon held down the shortstop position admirably, and Kip Martin ad Buck Petty alternated between second and third toward the end of the year. Big Gary Dutton guarded first and either Sonny Hughes, this year's batting star, or Roger Banks wore the tools of ignorance behind the plate. The outfield was generally patrolled by Hughes, Banks, Sonny Webb, Dave West or Joe Scheidler, depending on who was pitching or catching.

It's still a little early, and perhaps a little too foolish, to make any predictions about next year. Prospects generally look good in all sports but there is no way to make specific predictions. Our best wishes go out to all those participating in varsity and intramural sports next season, particularly to Coach Tomlinson as he takes over the unenviable position of Head Football Coach. We also extend best wishes to Phil Jerome, who takes over the typewriter as Sports Editor, and a special thank-you to all those who have written or helped gather the information presented on these pages during the past year.

ORIENTATION WEEK
September 15-17
September 14—
9:00 a.m. Dormitories Open
3:00 p.m. Parents Reception
September 15—
7:00 a.m. Breakfast
9:00 a.m. Orientation

Whatever the Message
Whatever the Occasion
Say it with... flowers

See our Campus Agent
JACK SPENCER
For Lovely Flowers

Hartman's Flowers
982-7500 Washington Ave.

NOTICE

Traveling By Bus To Maryville College

Important – If You Travel By Either GREYHOUND or TRAILWAYS BUSSES, Have Your Luggage Check To:

MARYVILLE COLLEGE
MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE

White Star Bus Lines

Local Bus Service from Knoxville to Maryville
Buses Depart from Knoxvile Greyhound Bus Terminal as follows:

Weekly Schedule Lv. Knoxville		Sunday Schedule Lv. Knoxville
6:30 a.m.	1:00 p.m.	7:00 a.m.
7:00	2:00	9:00
7:50	2:30	11:00
8:00	3:00	1:00 p.m.
8:30	3:30	3:00
9:00	4:00	5:00
9:30	4:30	7:00
10:00	5:00	9:00
10:30	5:30
11:00	6:00
11:30	7:00
12:00 noon	9:00
12:30 p.m.	11:15

FREE BUS SERVICE FROM CAMPUS TO MIDLAND CENTER